A Gentleman

Who formerly resided in Connecticut, but who now resides in Honolulu, writes: "For 20 years past, my wife and I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor, and we attribute to it the dark hair which she and I now have, while hundreds of our acquaintances, ten or a dozen years younger than we, are either gray-headed, white, or bald. When asked how our hair has retained its color and fullness, we reply, 'By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor—nothing else.'"

"In 1868, my affianced was nearly bald, and the hair kept falling out every day. I induced her to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and very soon, it not only checked any further loss of hair, but produced an entirely new growth, which has remained luxuriant and glossy to this day. I can recommend this preparation to all in need of a genuine hair-restorer. It is all that it is claimed to be."—Antonio Alarrun, Bastrop, Tex.

A DISHONEST MAIL CLERK.

ALLEGED WHOLESALE ROBBERIES ON THE NORTHERN.

Mail Clerk Patrick Duffy Locked Up on a Charge of Being the Perpetrator of the Thefts—Postoffice Deposits Depleted in Course of Transmission—To Come Before the Colonel.

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—Patrick Joseph Duffy, aged 33, railway mail clerk, 358 Bathurst-street, is locked up at Police Headquarters charged with robbing Her Majesty's mails.

Complaints have been coming in thick and fast that money sent from branch post-office savings banks failed to reach the head office at Ottawa. The complaints came from stations on the Northern road, the money in such cases being sent to Toronto and from here transmitted to Ottawa. The leak was found to be somewhere north of Toronto.

The sums taken varied in amount. Sometimes only a small part of the remittance was missed again, the whole deposit, deposit slip and all, would be gone. The police claim that Duffy is the man who has been reducing the surplus in this manner.

On Jan. 16 a registered letter was mailed by a private banker, Hunt of Huntsville, containing $625, addressed to the Bank of Montreal, Toronto. When the letter reached its destination and was opened its contents consisted of but $105. The remaining $520 had been stolen while the letter was in transit.

The Postoffice authorities were at once communicated with and Government Detective O'Leary was detailed to investigate. He arrived in Toronto on Friday last. Since then he and Detective Davis have been working on the case. They discovered evidence enough to warrant the arrest made yesterday evening.

Duffy has been a mail clerk on the Northern branch of the G.T.R. for 16 years, running between Toronto and Gravenhurst. He was first appointed Dec. 10, 1878, and was promoted to the rank of second-class clerk in August, 1892. His salary was $720 a year.

The accused is a son of John Duffy, who formerly kept hotel at Carlton and Church-streets. The prisoner is a married man and lived at 358 Bathurst-street. He has two children, aged 5 years and 3 years.

Duffy was arrested in Church-street opposite the Alhambra saloon. He did not appear to be surprised when taken into custody.

It is alleged that for some time past Duffy has been leading rather an irregular life. It is said to be another case of wine, women and gambling. At any rate, there is no doubt but Duffy has been living extravagantly of late.

He will appear before Magistrate Denison this morning.

ARCHBISHOP TACHE WRITES.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—The French Grit organ here, Le Canada, last night published the first instalment of a letter from Archbishop Tache in reply to a series of articles which have appeared in Le Canada on the action of the Dominion Government in not carrying out towards Manitoba the policy laid down by Sir George Cartier when the province was formed. Le Canada said that Sir George Cartier intended Manitoba to be a French province, but Archbishop Tache by his pen discouraged the emigration of French-Canadians from Quebec to the Northwest. As a consequence it has become Protestant and English.

It is in regard to this latter statement more than the strictures as to the policy of the Government against which the Archbishop sets out to defend himself. He says that Le Canada falsifies history in its articles, for instead of stopping emigration into the territories he has done all that he could to bring French-Canadians there.

The Department of the Interior has received from Mr. Anderson, who has charge of the exhibit of the department at the midwinter exhibition at San Francisco, a letter dated 24th inst., in which he says that the exhibition is in a very backward state owing to the heavy rains having interfered with building operations. The agricultural building, in which the grain exhibit of the Northwest was to be displayed, was scarcely habitable when Mr. Anderson wrote, and he says it will be at least three weeks before the exhibition is in good running order.

The local temperance people talk of making a strong effort to induce the Liquor License Commission to follow the lead of Hamilton and largely reduce the number of licenses to be issued this year. Officers of the U. T. A., however, say that no action will be taken by that body until after the meeting of the Provincial Prohibition Convention in Toronto on Feb. 6; and whatever stand is taken by the convention as to the reduction of licenses will probably be adopted by the U.T.A.

Hooper at Three Rivers.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Feb. 1.—The Hooper examination was continued to-day. Hooper was attended by his former lawyer, Mr. Renaud. Dr. Clarke of the asylum, Kingston, gave his testimony as formerly, and also Miss Stapely, the young lady whom Hooper sought to marry. The evidence was the same as at former trials.

It is a Boy.

SOFIA, Feb. 1.—The Princess Ferdinand of Bulgaria gave birth to a son yesterday. The event was announced by a salute of 101 guns.

CUMULATIVE VOTING.

Labor Representatives to Ask Sir Oliver to Introduce This System.

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—A large and representative meeting of local labor men was held in Labor Hall, Simcoe-street, for the purpose of considering the best means of changing the present system of voting, in order that minorities, as well as majorities, would be able to send representatives to Parliament. The different systems were discussed for some time, when a resolution was offered favoring the cumulative system of voting and the grouping of constituencies. The resolution was carried unanimously. The meeting also decided that, in conjunction with the Executive Committee of the Trades Congress, the Legislative Committee of the Trades Council and other local bodies, they would wait upon the Ontario Government at an early date with the hope that such legislation would be effected at the next session of the Ontario Legislature. The deputation will be one of the largest that has waited upon any Government in the interests of labor for some time.

It was stated last night that the Reform branch of the labor party had been working this scheme for some months past in the interest of the Ontario Government.

THE ICE CARNIVAL.

Thousands of People Witnessing Quebec's Winter Sports.

QUEBEC, Feb. 1.—The weather yesterday is fine and large forces of men were busily engaged clearing the snow blockade from the streets, and by night there was very little trace of yesterday's blizzard. The citizens' ball to Lord and Lady Aberdeen at the Parliament House in connection with the carnival took place to-night. Active preparations are under way for the magnificent attack on and defence of the ice palace on Friday night. Instructions for the attack and defence have been issued. Great interest is being taken in the snowshoers' tug-of-war, which takes place this evening in the drill hall between teams from the various snowshoe clubs. The prizes in this competition are a cup valued at $100 and six silver medals for the winning team. Some 2000 people arrived here this morning by delayed trains from all lines.

OCEAN MAIL BOATS RACE.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The White Star line steamer Majestic, from New York, Jan. 24 for Liverpool via Queenstown, passed Daunt's Rock at 4.42 o'clock yesterday morning, having made the passage to that point in 6 days 6 hours and 57 minutes, and left at 5.20 for Liverpool.

It is expected that the mails on board of her destined for London would arrive here by midnight last night. Much interest is felt in the delivery of these mails, for the reason that the American line steamer New York, which left New York on the same day as the Majestic, but bound for Southampton, had a heavy mail, which, it is said, she would attempt to have put down in London before the Majestic's mails arrived.

The steamship New York passed the Scilly Islands at 2.35 o'clock yesterday. She will not reach her dock at Southampton until 1.30 to-morrow morning. The mail she carries will, it is said, reach the London postoffice at 4 a.m.

SUICIDE IN A STREET CAR.

Andrew Ross Died From Carbolic Acid Poisoning.

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—Andrew Ross, formerly an employe of the Ontario Bolt Works at Swansea, who fell from his seat unconscious on a belt line car at midnight Monday, and was taken to the hospital, where he died in a few hours, is believed to have committed suicide.

A post mortem examination of deceased was conducted at the hospital yesterday. The result showed unmistakably that death resulted from poisoning by carbolic acid. The stomach was found to be coated with a thin crust occasioned only by this poison. The swollen condition of the tubes of the throat revealed the presence of the same drug. The odor of the carbolic acid was also discernible.

It is supposed that, after leaving his brother-in-law, Frank Knight, at Simcoe-Queen-streets at 10.45 Monday night, Ross returned to King-street and boarded a Belt line car and took a dose of poison. He had been in ill-health for some time.

The Funeral of Rosina Vokes.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The remains of Miss Rosina Vokes, the popular actress, were conveyed from Ivy Cottage, Babicombe, to London, where the funeral took place yesterday. The departure of the body from Babicombe was made the occasion for the gathering together of a large number of fishermen and their families at Ivy Cottage, where they respectfully witnessed the transfer of the body. Miss Vokes during her lifetime was a most charitable woman and gave away a fortune to the poor, and among the fishermen of the neighborhood of Torquay she was a special favorite.

The Alleged Electric Belt Frauds.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The trial of Cornelius Bennett Harness, James Montgomery Cully and the other defendants in the Harness case ended yesterday in the acquittal of all of the accused. The defendants, all of whom were connected in some capacity with the Medical Battery Company, limited, which has been wound up, were charged with obtaining money under false pretences. The troubles of the company were caused by an expose of its methods published by The Pall Mall Gazette.

MADE INSANE BY WHITE LEAD.

A Peculiar Suit Now On Trial At the Assize Court.

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—Claiming that his health was permanently injured by the poisonous vapors which he inhaled, Samuel R. Milligan is suing his former employers, the Toronto Lead and Color Company, for $1500 damages. The case was commenced before Justice Street and a jury yesterday afternoon and was not finished when court rose.

Milligan, who is a man 40 years of age, was employed in the works during the winters of 1891 and '92. He claims that he inhaled so much white lead that he was rendered unable to work. Soon after he left the lead and color works he became insane and was for a month held in safe-keeping at the County Jail. This, too, he blames upon the lead. He said that although it is now nearly two years since he left the employ of the company, the evil effects of the lead were still left. He thinks his experience should be worth at least $1500 to the company.

The defendants contend that Milligan did not use proper precautions in handling the lead and that he omitted to wear an "inhaler," which would have protected him.

Baron Bass' Daughter Married.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The marriage of Bruce Baillie and the Hon. Nellie Lisa Bass, only child and heiress of Baron Bass of the Brewing Company of Bass & Co. of Burton-on-Trent, took place to-day. The weather was very unfavorable for a social function, a drizzling rain falling. The bridegroom is a Scotch land owner and cousin of the Earl of Elgin, now Viceroy of India. The bride is the prospective heiress of $50,000,000.

The Danbury Strike Is Over.

DANBURY, Conn., Feb. 1.—The hatters' lockout which has been on in this city for 10 weeks and has affected 4000 hatters has been declared off. The union hatters held a meeting last night, at which they decided to go back to work in the independent factories. So many of the hatters have deserted the union since the independent shops opened last Thursday morning that the men had to take this action in order to hold their union together.

BARLEY TAX STILL UNFIXED.

THE INCOME TAX BILL ADOPTED IN COMMITTEE.

The Tariff Debate Closes To-Day—The Bill Expected to Pass With the Income Tax Rider By Twenty-Five Majority — Carlisle's Bond Issue An Assured Success.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—A careful canvass of the House indicates that the Wilson bill will pass to-morrow with the income tax amendment by a fair majority of not less than 20 and possibly as high as 40 votes.

The income tax, which is opposed solidly by New York, New Jersey and Connecticut Democrats, has brought every Populist and crank in the House over to the bill.

Jerry Simpson said last night: "We Populists have got what we want and we will give it ten votes. Without the income amendment we should have voted against it."

Several polls have been made by Congressmen. The majority in its favor is set down at 30 at the lowest estimate, and at 70 as the highest.

Mr. Pickler, the Republican member from South Dakota, says 35 Republicans will vote to put the income tax amendment on the bill. "If we cannot have protection," said he, "and must have internal revenue, the income tax is the best thing for us out West."

The last day of general debate on the tariff bill opened with a fair attendance in the galleries and a rather slim attendance on the floor. After the committees had been called for reports the House went into committee of the whole to consider the tariff.

The House discussed the income tax question, and two or three unimportant amendments were agreed to, after which by a vote of 175 to 56 the income tax feature was added as an amendment to the tariff bill, the entire New York delegation voting solidly in the negative.

Mr. Wilson (Dem., W. Va.) then offered an amendment to increase the tariff on barley from 20 per cent. to 25 per cent., and on barley malt from 30 per cent. to 35 per cent.

Mr. Tracey (Dem. N.Y.) offered an amendment to this amendment increasing the rate on barley from 25 to 35 per cent. To this Mr. Payne (Rep. N.Y.) offered a substitute providing for a duty of 20 cents a bushel instead of 20 per cent., ad valorem, and on barley malt from 30 per cent., ad valorem, to 30 cents a bushel. Mr. Rickler (Rep. S.D.) offered an amendment to this substitute providing for the retention of the provisions of the existing law. The filibustering which was started late last Saturday afternoon on the same question was renewed to-day and the opponents of a higher duty on barley were able to filibuster away the 10 or 15 minutes which remained before the recess. Mr. Wilson finally moved that the debate be closed, and a vote was finally taken on this last motion, but although the Republicans and some of the Democrats rushed to get between the tellers, the hour of 5.30 arrived before a quorum had voted. The House went into recess and the barley schedule again went over.

The tariff debate in the House will close to-day with speeches from a trio of the best-known members of that body. Ex-Speaker Reed of Maine will be the first to address the house. He will speak for an hour and a half. He will be followed by Speaker Crisp, who will occupy the floor for one hour. Mr. Wilson, the chairman of Ways and Means Committee, who made the opening speech on the bill three weeks ago, will close with a short address of 30 minutes.

At the conclusion of these speeches certain of the amendments to the bill will be voted upon, after which will come the crucial test of the bill's popularity—the vote on its adoption.

The Gold Reserve and Deficit.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Gold in the treasury fell $15,000,000 in January, or $500,000 a day, and is now $65,500,000.

Expenditures for seven months $221,000,000; receipts $175,000,000; a deficit of $46,000,000. At this rate it will be $80,000,000 on the year.

At the close of business to-day the offers for bonds aggregated $55,000,000, $5,000,000 more than the amount Secretary Carlisle will sell.

BENHAM MAY RESORT TO FORCE.

France and Austria Support Him in His Actions Against Da Gama.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—A despatch from Rio Janeiro states that the reason the American barques Good News and Julia Rollins did not accept the offer of protection made to them by Rear Admiral Benham, commanding the American squadron, was that G. M. Rollins, an American, who is acting as the agent of an English firm that is supplying the insurgents with money, persuaded the captains of these vessels not to change the positions of their vessels.

The despatch adds that the French naval commander has congratulated Admiral Benham upon the vigorous action he took to protect the American vessels.

The commander of the Austrian warship in the bay, when he saw that trouble was brewing, ordered his vessel to be cleared for action, so that she might be ready to give assistance to the American vessels if it was necessary.

The despatch also says that the prolonged absence of Admiral Mello from Rio Janeiro has given rise to reports that he is dead.

The Daily Telegraph says: There will be very general sympathy with the American's decision not to permit commerce to become absolutely crippled by the wanton struggle waging in Brazil.

His Instructions From Washington Surmised.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Admiral Benham's recent despatches contains no mention of any surrender by Da Gama to Benham. Their chief international import appears to lie in the fact that Benham has refused to recognize Da Gama's paper blockade and has forcibly broken through it. He has intimated that he will use force to protect American commerce, if need be, against the interference of the insurgent fleet.

It cannot be ascertained whether this Government has cabled Benham sustaining his action or not, but from intimations which were allowed to escape before an embargo was placed on the news it is claimed it is highly probable.

Vaillant Not Executed.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—The canaille suffered a disappointment yesterday, it being the second time they have been debarred the pleasure of seeing the anarchist, Vaillant, executed. An immense crowd began to gather in the streets near the Roquette Prison about midnight, and waited patiently in the heavy rain during the night. Shortly after daylight the mob dispersed, when it became known that the execution had been postponed.

President Carnot will to-day consider the appeal for clemency.

Vaillant's mother was alowed a half hour's interview with him late yesterday afternoon. She was trembling and weeping when she left the prison. Vaillant is calm. He has said repeatedly to his keepers today: "Death does not frighten me. I shall walk firmly and fearlessly to the guillotine."

He refuses to see the chaplain, and declares that he will die an atheist. It is certain that he will not be executed to-day

An Anarchist in Priestly Garb.

Loss of Life in the Black Sea.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—A despatch to The Times from Odessa says: There have been severe storms entailing enormous loss of small craft, in the Black Sea. Two steamers have also foundered, and the loss of life as far as known foots up to thirty-eight.

Altogether Disappeared.

GENTLEMEN.—About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking B. B. B., took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine.

EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

A panic is a sudden desertion of us, and a going over to the enemy of our imagination.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Ill-deeds are doubled with an evil word; the sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

What Causes Pimples?

Clogging of the pores or mouths of the sebaceous glands with sebum or oily matter.

The plug of sebum in the centre of the pimple is called a blackhead, grub, or comedone.

Nature will not allow the clogging of the pores to continue long, hence,

Inflammation, pain, swelling and redness, later pus or matter forms, breaks or is opened, the plug comes out and the pore is once more free.

There are thousands of these pores in the face alone, any one of which is liable to become clogged by neglect or disease.

What Cures Pimples?

Cuticura Soap.

It contains a mild proportion of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, which enables it to dissolve the sebaceous or oily matter as it forms at the mouths of the pores.

It stimulates the sluggish glands and tubes to healthy activity, reduces inflammation, soothes and heals irritated and roughened surfaces and restores the skin to its original purity.

This is the secret of its wonderful success.

For bad complexions, red, rough hands and shapeless nails, dry, thin and falling hair, scaly and irritated scalps and simple baby blemishes it is wonderful.

It is preserving, purifying and beautifying to a degree hitherto unknown among remedies for the skin and complexion.

Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin and complexion soaps.

Sold throughout the world.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

THE PATRONS IN EAST HASTINGS

In nominating Mr. James Balcanquel for the Commons and Mr. Alex. McLaren for the Legislature in East Hastings, the Patrons of Industry have selected as their candidates two gentlemen of respectability, and to that extent have done themselves credit. But whether Messrs. Balcanquel and McLaren and the Patrons' platform will compare favorably with the present representatives of the riding in the Commons and in the Legislature, Messrs. W. B. Northrup and Wm. P. Hudson, and the Conservative policy is another question – a question which the electors will answer in due time, after the issues of the day shall have been clearly defined and submitted to the judgment of the people.

INLAND REVENUE.

The inland revenues for the fiscal year 1893 amounted to $8,520,230, as against $8,076,526 in 1892, and $6,905,005 in 1891. The greater part of the increase came from the higher duties on malt and tobacco. In 1891, malt paid $591,399; in 1892 it paid $1,008,130. In 1891 tobacco paid $1,926,987; in 1892 it paid $2,446,130. Thus the increased duties on these two articles gave the Government about a million dollars. Spirits taken from warehouse for consumption during the year amounted to 2,731,896 proof gallons, or rather more than half a gallon for each man, woman and child in the Dominion. The revenue accrued from spirits amounted to $4,142,057. The consumption of domestic and imported spirits during the year was .74 of a gallon per head of the population, against an average consumption of 1.12 gallons since Confederation. Thus, the consumption of spirits has greatly fallen off. On the other hand, the consumption of malt liquors has greatly increased. Last year the average was 3.485 gallons per head, against an average of 2.768 gallons in 1867. For spirits, beer, wine and tobacco, the people paid in excise or customs duties last year $2.21 per head, or more than one-third of all the taxes paid to the Dominion Government.

For the 3,856,955 gallons of spirits made during the year, there were used 8,059,087 pounds of malt, 49,851,784 pounds of Indian corn, 9,883,545 pounds of rye, and small quantities each of wheat, oats and barley.

"The Canadian Horseman."

The above is the title of a new weekly journal which has been established in Toronto by Mr. Fred Abraham, formerly of this office, with Mr. C. Hackling, formerly Canadian correspondent of Clark's Horse Review, Chicago, as Editor. The Horseman will be the only journal in Canada devoted exclusively to the interests of the turf, and in the hands of the gentlemen named it ought to prove of much value to horsemen and a welcome visitor to every lover of the horse. Mr. Abraham is a clever and experienced journalist and a business man of proved ability and marked energy, and his fitness for his new calling as the publisher of a turf and stock journal is guaranteed by the fact that he is a born lover of the horse. Mr. Hackling has no superior in Canada as a writer on the turf, and kindred subjects. He is well known and popular in all parts of the province in that capacity. The Canadian Horseman is a neatly printed, well arranged, clean looking sheet, and we commend it to the favorable consideration of all who are interested in the subjects of which it treats. The subscription price is but $2 per year.

In Olden Times.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

What the Fireman on the "Flyer" Has to do.

(From Harper's Young People)

At least every thirty seconds he throws open the furnace door, and without a false motion or the slightest delay hurls exactly three shovelfuls of coal on the fire. He knows just how to spill and spread it with a dexterous turn of the wrist. Before Albany is reached he must throw 6,375 pounds of that coal into the fire, or nearly forty-four pounds a mile. Then, too, he must know exactly where he is along the road, and when to drop his shovel and seize the bell cord. He must ring the bell in passing through all town or villages. He must know the proper instant to vault into his seat when important curves are reached to watch for signals. He must see that the steam doesn't vary, and he is proud to shout in your ear when you get near Albany, "She hasn't varied three pounds since we left New York." He must watch the water guage of the boiler and is constantly kept changing the pumps and seeing that they do their work properly. All the time he must keep throwing his forty pounds of coal on the fire every mile. It isn't long before he surprises you with another motion. He throws open the furnace door and thrusts a long, double pronged fork into the fire. With a twist he prods the glowing mass, and when he pulls his fork out its teeth are cherry-red. Then comes the whir of the shovel again, and the sound of the hammer as Tompkins breaks up the larger lumps of coal.

When you approach Montrose, near Peekskill, the engine begins to slow down. If you look ahead you will see a narrow trough between the rails filled with water. The engine is going to take on water at a flying leap. Tompkins stands at the side of the tender with his hand on a lever. Engineer Foyle suddenly startles you with a shrill whistle between his teeth that would put to shame the warning signal a New York newsboy gives to his gambling mates when a policeman comes in sight. Instantly the lever flies back, and as you look at the wheels of the tender you see surging up among the trucks a torrent of water.

It splashes and roars, and as you wonder if you won't be carried away, two whistles from Foyle, sharper and shriller than the first, warn Tompkins to pull up the scoop, and that the end of the water-trough is near. Then Tompkins goes back to his coal, his pumps, his pipe, his water-gauge, his bell, his watch for signals, and you wonder what new work he will do next. Before you are aware of it he touches you on the knee, and motions for you to raise your feet, while he turns on a hose and wets the floor of the cab to keep down the dust, after which he sweeps up with a stubby broom. Next he is shaking down the grates with a big steel lever that looks like the tiller of a large sailboat. You now begin to take in what it means to be a fireman. Toward the end of the trip you tap his shoulder, and shout to him,

"This seems to keep you pretty busy."

"I tell you there is no funny business about this work," is his response.

North Hastings Teachers' Association.

A special meeting of the North Hastings Teachers' Association was held in the Model School, Madoc, on the 26th ult. The meeting was called to order by the President, W. Mackintosh. In the absence of the regular Secretary, S. Eagleson was appointed Secretary pro tem. After a few preliminary remarks by the President explaining the purpose for which the meeting had been convened, the question of educational periodicals was dealt with. Subscription rates were given and it was decided by the great majority of those present to subscribe for the New York Teachers' Institute and the Toronto Educational Journal, both of which may be obtained by forwarding to the treasurer of the Association $1.25.

The next question discussed by the President was the Public School Leaving Examination and the fifth class in Public Schools. Teachers were urged to comply with the regulations of the Education Department by teaching the fifth form pupils of their schools. Of course the work of other classes was not to be sacrificed in order to do this, but all classes should receive a proportionate amount of attention. Teachers were advised to write to the Education Department for Circular No. 10 of 1893, which will give all necessary information regarding the literature lessons for entrance and Public School leaving examinations. They were also advised to get sets of last year's Primary and Public School leaving examination papers, which will give an idea of the lines of thought pursued by examiners, and in this way aid them in the preparation of their pupils.

The President then addressed the teachers at some length on such matters as care of school property, the necessity for careful examination on entering new schools, review after promotion examinations were over, preparation of lesson plans at home, professional reading and public examinations. He strongly recommended that teachers read some work on Psychology, especially Welch's and McLellan's books on this important subject.

Messrs. Sagar and Mitts were appointed auditors and instructed to report later on. The meeting adjourned at 12 to meet at 1.30 p.m.

At the afternoon session there were about eighty teachers present. The first question discussed was the Promotion examinations. This discussion was led by Mr. Mackintosh, followed by Messrs. Adshead, Stewart, Williams and others. On a vote being taken it was decided to hold the next Promotion examination in June, but the matter was afterwards reconsidered and on motion by Mr. Williams, seconded by Mr. Herity, it was decided to hold the examination in the third week in April instead of in June.

The teachers present were treated to a short and kindly address from the Rev. Canon Burke, of Belleville. The Auditor's report was received. On motion of Mr. Mackintosh, seconded by Mr. Williams, that it be adopted.—Carried.

The Inspector was authorized by the teachers to appoint delegates to the Ontario Teachers' Association for 1894.

After singing "God Save the Queen" the meeting was adjourned to meet again in May.

Have you Asthma?

Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., will mail a trial package of "Schiffmann's Asthma Cure," free to any sufferer. He advertises by giving it away. Never fails to give instant relief in worst cases and cures where others fail. Name this paper and send address for a free trial package.

Beware of desperate steps; the darkest day, live till to-morrow, will be passed away.

RESIGNATION OF GLADSTONE

ANNOUNCED BY A LONDON PAPER, BUT DENIED.

The Pall Mall Gazette Stated It Was the Premier's Intention to Retire—Mr. Gladstone Replies That He Has Not Decided, But Intimates That Relief From Public Duty Is Desirable.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Political circles are keenly agitated over a rumor that has already gained credence in the Liberal clubs, to the effect that Mr. Gladstone's resignation as Prime Minister is imminent.

The Pall Mall Gazette had the following: "We have reason to know, from an authority that we are unable to disclose, but in which we have every confidence, that Mr. Gladstone has decided to resign almost immediately."

The Gazette adds: "We understand that a letter announcing this resolution will be sent to the Queen by Mr. Gladstone before the reopening of Parliament.

"Mr. Gladstone's decision is due to a sense of his advanced age and to the great strain to which he was subjected during the late arduous session of Parliament. He is also deeply disappointed because of the rejection of the Home Rule bill and the opposition to the Parish Councils' bill by the House of Lords. Domestic pressure also had considerable influence in determining his mind at last. Who will succeed him and what will be the result?"

The Pall Mall Gazette's article caused much excitement in political and other circles in London. The Government offices were besieged by inquirers who wanted to know if the statement was true. As a matter of fact the statement is not regarded seriously.

A reporter showed The Pall Mall Gazette article this afternoon to G. W. Spencer Lyttleton, Mr. Gladstone's secretary. He declared he knew nothing about the report that Mr. Gladstone would shortly resign office. He added that he would telegraph the statement to Mr. Gladstone, who is now at Biarritz, and that he would inform the reporter what reply he received.

Lord Rosebery says he has received three letters from Mr. Gladstone, and in none of them does he make the slightest allusion to an intention to resign.

Mr. Gladstone authorized Sir Algernon West, who is his companion in Biarritz, to send out this evening the statement that follows:

"The statement that Mr. Gladstone has definitely decided or decided at all to resign is untrue. It is true, however, that for many months past his age and the condition of his sight and hearing have, in his judgment, made relief from public affairs desirable. Therefore his tenure of office has been at any moment liable to interruption from these causes, which are in their nature permanent. It remains exactly as it has. He is ignorant of the course which events important to the nation may take, even during the remainder of the present session of Parliament, and he has not said nor done anything which could in any degree restrain his absolute freedom or that of his colleagues regarding the performance of the arduous duties now lying or likely to lie before them."

Mr. Lyttleton, Mr. Gladstone's secretary, had not received at 11.45 any answer to the statement concerning The Pall Mall Gazette's announcement, which he telegraphed to Biarritz. The National Liberal Club and the central offices of the National Liberal Federation have been deluged all the evening with telegrams of inquiry as to Mr. Gladstone's intentions. Scores of personal inquiries have been telegraphed to Mr. Gladstone in Biarritz, among them several from his ministerial colleagues.

The Liberals in London were disappointed by the statement sent out by Sir Algernon West, as they all had hoped for a plain unequivocal denial. Nevertheless the party managers are convinced that nothing warrants the assumption that Mr. Gladstone will soon retire from public life.

The Central News says that the Irish members of the House of Commons are seriously concerned, and the leaders deem it their duty under certain conditions to force the situation.

Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State of War, was expected to make some open statement concerning Mr. Gladstone's intention, when he addressed a Liberal meeting in Dunfermline this evening. His only reference to the subject, however, was a remark about the "Unexampled indecency of the Opposition, who reckoned upon breaking down the health and powers of the Prime Minister and driving him to retirement." Their reckoning, he added, would prove vain.

Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the Unionists, in speaking in Manchester this evening emphasized the necessity of immediate organization, as he said the general elections would soon be held.

The Duke of Norfolk, also in addressing a meeting at Dorking, referred to the approaching elections, and urged his hearers to make their final preparations for the appeal to the country.

HOTBED OF AMERICAN ANARCHY.

MANSFIELD, Pa., Feb. 1.—Ten of the ringleaders of Saturday's riots were captured at Bower Hill yesterday. Among them were the noted Anarchists Beusel, Benish, Charles Perleich, Frank Chour and others. The village appeared to be a hotbed of Anarchists. In every house were found pictures of the Chicago Anarchists and inflammatory literature of all kinds. Guns having evidently been used recently were unearthed from their hiding places and captured. Among the prisoners are three boys who have been identified as those who set fire to the Bridgeville Tipple.

One man said, pathetically: "Take my wife and children, too. I have no work and no grub, and if they lose me they will have no one to steal for them."

The greatest find was made at the house of Benish. Every inch of the walls of the three rooms the shanty contained was covered with Anarchist pictures. Benish was known and handcuffed immediately. As the party was leaving the house they heard one of the children say: "Don't come out yet." They turned back to find out what was meant. The searching party discovered that there was a cave like a room under the house. The key was demanded but refused. A threat produced it, however, and when the door was unlocked the officers started back in astonishment. The interior was arranged as a meeting hall. Guns, all of which had been recently discharged, were arranged about the wall. Here, too, the walls were profusely decorated with blood-curdling pictures. Empty revolver cartridges were thrown about. Charles Perlieck was found hiding behind a pedestal. He was secured and afterwards acknowledged that a meeting had been held in the place on Friday night at which the leaders of the mob made known what they would do.

CLUBS, REVOLVERS AND STONES.

Used by Strikers to Drive Men From Work.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 1.—A number of striking puddlers at Moorehead's Iron Mills, Sharpsburg, attacked 19 or 20 men who were at work in the mill last night. The attacking party, composed of colored and white men to the number of 50, advanced on the men at work with clubs, revolvers and stones and drove them out of the mill across the railroad tracks to the rear and down the river bank. Several shots were fired and one man is reported as being injured, though not fatally. Having accomplished its purpose the mob scattered.

DECEIVED AND DEFRAUDED HER.

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—On the charge of defrauding Miss Mary E. Waterhouse out of $1365 Henry P. Corby was yesterday afternoon committed for trial. A motion for bail will be presented this morning.

Miss Waterhouse said that she first met Corby in 1891. He was engaged in the marble business, and his winning ways soon captured her heart. When Corby popped the question she answered yes, and when in March, 1892, he asked her for a loan of $200 to help him in his business she made no demur. In July, 1893, Miss Waterhouse says, a form of marriage was gone through in Lewiston, N.Y.

When the pair returned to Toronto Corby spoke of an Oregon business, and said that $1100 would fix him up nicely. This, too, his supposed wife produced. He also secured $65 from her to come back. When the cash supply ran out Corby grew cold and went to Windsor, ignoring the appeals of the woman who had trusted him.

The police produced a marriage certificate showing that Corby has a wife in Erie, Pa., but it was held not to be relevant and no evidence was given on this point.

A. O. U. W. Concert.

The Shannonville lodge of the above order held its annual concert last night in the capacious hall belonging to the brethren of that village, and when we say the hall was full we do not half express ourselves, there was not standing room. The chairman Dr. Walker, who is the M. W. of the lodge, opened the proceedings by a neat and effective speech, which he so well knows how to deliver and in which he referred to the prosperity of the order, and especially in Shannonville. The programme was all that could be desired, the humorous singing and recitals, by Mr J. W. Cameron and Mr Harry W. Rich, both of Toronto, being loudly applauded and these gentlemen kindly responded to every encore. Mrs. Dr. Walker and Miss Falconer, of Belleville, sang in their usual happy styles, which are so well known and appreciated by all audiences who are lucky enough to hear them. The Harris brothers rendered some fine instrumental music. Addresses on the aims and objects of the order, explaining its management and results, were delivered by Mr. Geo. Denmark, D.D.G. M.W., of Quinte District, and Mr. W. H. Adams, of Belleville Lodge.. Mr. N. B. Falkiner, who was present, was called on and made one of his usual happy speeches, expressing his great regret that he was not a member of the A O U.W. and advising all who could to join.

Several of the Belleville brethren went down and passed a thoroughly enjoyable evening, returning home during the small hours of the morning. Shannonville Lodge is a live one and we wish it all success.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

John Harrison, of Peterboro', Bought and Used Three Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, Which Cured Him of Kidney Disease of Four Year's Standing.

PETERBORO', Jan. 29.—John McKee, a well-known druggist here, tells of a remarkable cure of one of his customers, John Harrison, by means of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Harrison had kidney disease for four years, and all the remedies he used failed. Three boxes of Dodd's Kidneys Pills routed the disease, and Mr. Harrison is well and happy. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co, Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you got it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

How to Catch a Lion.

A fierce lion, the terror of the Sahara Desert was recently captured by the following simple method: The sands of the desert were passed through a sieve. The Lion of course remained in the sieve. His majesty had in his vest pocket a can of Imperial Cream Tarter Baking Powder, which he was taking home to his Queen.

HE LOVED good bread, pie, and pastry, but his stomach was delicate. SHE LOVED to cook, but was tired and sick of the taste and smell of lard. She bought Cottolene, (the new shortening) and THEY LOVED more than ever, because she made better food, and he could eat it without any unpleasant after effect. Now THEY ARE HAPPY in having found the BEST, and most healthful shortening ever made — COTTOLENE.

OUT TO-DAY!

The tenth edition of "The Canadian Accountant" was published to-day.

The book now contains 369 octavo pages (33 pages more than the ninth edition). It is written, printed, bound and published in our own city. Its contents and its mechanical production are superior to any similar work, and it has a wider demand than any other. These claims for the book are simply statements of fact that anyone may verify.

No printed Key or reference book for "The Accountant" was ever in existence. Written footings and results of the various sets are furnished to teachers, but no printed aid of any kind is available for teacher or student to arrive at these.

"The Accountant" furnishes to the intelligent and industrious student a highway to the mastery of the science of accounts. There is no royal road to the knowledge of book keeping. It is alone by earnest study, well directed, that it can be achieved.

CHAPTER III.
STARTLING FACTS.

For some time past these two men have been worrying very much about KEYS and reference books and what they have been pleased to term "AMERICAN SHALLOWNESS." And they have falsely charged other business colleges with furnishing the same to their students.

The fact is the only KEYS and reference books and GUIDES used in Belleville, as these two men state, are used and advertised for use by these very men.

"The Canadian Accountant"—School authorities ordering the WORK are granted liberal discounts.—Teachers using the BOOK are FURNISHED with a KEY."

"The Canadian Accountant"—"By the Principals of Ontario Business College." "One of the Principals visited various parts of the United States to GATHER the latest AMERICAN IDEAS OF ACCOUNTING."

"The student is assigned his desk." "The Guide is put in his hand * * * * * and he opens books accordingly."

"ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

"The Canadian Accountant"—"Teachers using the WORK are FURNISHED with FOOTINGS and RESULTS for the various SETS."

"ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

N.B.—In the city of Belleville, where the text book, with the KEY or reference book and GUIDE, is published there are 40 students of the Belleville Business College, holding positions as Teachers, Bookkeepers, Stenographers and Clerks. How does this compare with their 13 in Rochester?

SPORTING NEWS

An act was passed by the French Chambers on April 29th last placing an annual tax of $2 on bicycles.

It is estimated that in Great Britain there are 500,000 wheels, in the United States 300,000, and in France the number is being ascertained.

Harry Darrin, the sprinter, who was one of Mitchell's seconds, is going back to England. Charley Mitchell will have to stand on trial Feb. 28 at Jacksonville, Fla.

A large crowd of people witnessed a contest between a wild cat and a bulldog at Huntington, W. Va., last week. The cat whipped the dog in three minutes, putting out one eye and otherwise injuring him. Those interested in the fight will be arrested and prosecuted by the humane society.

Charley Mitchell wishes it denied that his nose was broken or that he was as badly cut up and bruised as described. Mitchell said: "My nose is not broken, never was; I am not badly cut and bruised, as people claim. I never had even a black eye." Mitchell only had an abrasion on his face Monday, and he claims that was due to striking the resin which was scattered on the stage.

Charlie Mitchell and his wife were out in Central Park, New York, on Sunday, when they met champion Corbett and party and exchanged friendly greetings. After Corbett was introduced to Mrs. Mitchell, he said "I suppose you hate me, Mrs. Mitchell, for"——. "Oh, no, I don't," she interrupted. "I see no reason for hating you. I think you are a manly fellow."

Never in the history of the Dominion was there as much money in sight for the trotter and pacer as last year, and the coming season promises to be more glorious than the past one, writes a correspondent in Turf, Field and Farm. This year the circuit in Ontario will open at Tilsonburg on May 23 and 24; St. Thomas follows on May 29-30 and June 1; Stratford follows, then Woodstock, Hamilton and Windsor. The purses will be $400 to $500 each, and some of the clubs intend to open stakes, Windsor four of $1,000 each, St. Thomas four of $500 each for the slow classes. He hardly thinks you will see a free-for-all in Canada this summer. Such nags as Johnston, Cleveland S., Crawford, etc., outclass Canadian warriors, of whom Chimes E. and Doctor M. were about the best, and a 2:13 class will be about the fastest advertised.

A Worthy Tribute.

The Woodstock Sentinel Review, in a lengthy and able article on the dairy industry, says: "In Senator Read we had a connecting link between the past and the present. He is one of those who, as a trader and a farmer and a far-seeing man of business, had a great deal to do with the introduction of co-operative dairying into Eastern Ontario more than 25 years ago. He and others then did for the east what Harvey Farrington, Thos. Ballantyne, Jas. Noxon, E. Casswell, H. S. Losee, C. E. Chadwick and their co-adjutors in the Ingersoll district did for Western Ontario.

A newspaper man claims to have made a discovery that no man was ever bitten by a mad dog who had paid for his local paper a year in advance. We haven't the statistics at hand to verify the truth of this assertion, but nevertheless we think the thing is worth trying. No man with a subscription receipt in his pocket was ever struck by lightning or carried off by a cyclone, or struck by a railway train. Try it.

THEY LOVED EACH OTHER

"LOVE LAUGHS AT LOCKSMITHS" AGAIN.

A Lively Episode from Sidney Crossing—Two Young People Take an Early Train—Were they Married Before their Departure—Both Parties Well Known.

The usually quiet neighborhood of Sidney Crossing, about six miles west of the city on the line of the G.T.R., was thrown into a fever of excitement on Saturday last when it became known that during the previous night an elopment of two well known young people had taken place. In this case it was not the "coachman and pampered heiress," but it came within one of being so.

The facts, as gathered by our reporter, are these: David Lawrence, a man thirty three years of age, said to hail from Seymour, has worked as a farm laborer in the neighborhood for the past two years, having been employed with Mr. Marshal Vandewaters in 1892 and Mr. Austin Hogle, his next neighbor, in 1893. For the past few weeks Lawrence had been working again for Mr. Vandewaters, and hereby hangs the tale. Miss Lillie Vandewaters, a young lady of eighteen, is an only daughter, and her father being well-to-do, was looked upon as a "good match" for any young man. Aside from her happy financial prospects, Miss Vanderwaters is a winsome brunette, as the aching heart of many a horny-handed swain will to-day attest. She is said to have had flocks of admirers, each vieing with the other for even a smile from the dashing and vivacious young damsel. But "there is no accounting for tastes" and the only child took kindly to the hired man. The suspicions of the parents were not aroused and the couple's affair de amour progressed until the climax was reached on Friday night.

The young lady retired as usual and her parents were oblivious of the approaching development. It appears that the wily Lawrence purchased a large trunk and when all was still around the little farmhouse, he crept stealthily under his Juliet's window and gave the notice of his presence as no doubt pre-arranged. The girl raised the sash and threw out her effects and apparel, while Romeo packed the trunk. After these preliminaries had been gone through with and all was in readiness for departure, Lillie and David made good their escape to the little railway station about half a mile distant and took the early morning train west for no one knows where.

Of course the daughter was missed by the parents in the morning, and upon an examination being made the truth dawned upon the stricken mother and father. Inquiries disclosed the fact that the couple had fled as above stated and it is surmised that they have gone to Lawrence's mother, who lives somewhere in Michigan.

Miss Vanderwaters had, it is said, a bank account of her own of $7,000 and her prospects were bright for a handsome legacy from her grandmother, beside the whole of her father's property. Miss Lillie was a clever business woman, having conducted all her father's affairs of late, and she also did some business for her grandmother, Mrs. Thos. Jones.

Lawrence is described as not being prepossessing in appearance, but kindly and winning. He was one of the heirs of the late Abel H. Jones, but the amount he received from that estate would not exceed $300. He is well connected, having numerous respected relatives in Sidney.

It was thought by many of the neighbors that the couple were married previous to their abrupt departure.

The parents are naturally deeply grieved over the affair and they have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood, of which they are highly respected residents.

Miss Lillie was evidently something of a flirt, as she had an engagement with a young man from near the city to go for a drive on Sunday evening, but of course they did not drive.

COMPLIMENTARY "AT HOME."

A Pleasant Evening Spent With the Sons and Daughters of England.

Lydford Lodge S. O. E. and Rose Lodge D. O. E. gave an "at home" in their lodge room in the Robertson block last evening. The hall was filled to the door with an audience that fully enjoyed the splendid programme presented. Chief Newton, President of Lydford lodge, presided. Rev. A. L. Geen gave a short address on the aims and objects of the S. O. E., setting forth the practical and social benefits of the order. Miss Jessie Spence sang a solo in good voice; Mr. Larue gave a humorous recitation, which was well received; Mr. Mackintosh sang "Shamrock, Thistle and Rose," and was loudly encored, to which he responded; Miss Cobb sang "Marguerite"; Mr. Nash gave a humorous reading; Bro. Thos. Waymark spoke briefly on the growth and success of the daughters of England; Bro. S. Burrows, whom the chairman introduced as "always ready to put a thousand on your life," sang "The Union Jack of Old England," the audience joining in the chorus. Miss Curts recited "The Johnstown Flood" in an artistic manner and was loudly applauded; Bro. J. Vickers gave an accordeon solo; after which coffee and cake were served by the ladies. The second part of the programme consisted of a song by Mr. Spence and Mr. Geo. Twining; H. Tammadge championed the cause of the Juveniles in a short address; Masters S. Tammadge and C. Petty sang; Miss M. Robinson gave a recitation; Mr. Wm. Fairman sang and was loudly encored, to which he gracefully responded. The entertainment was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem. Misses Dunn, Spence and Thompson, accompanists.

Quack Advertisments

Are a nuisance and we think it behooves publishers to examine into the merits of many articles puffed up in their columns. We do not deny that many meritorious remedies are properly to be classed under this heading. Take the hundreds and thousands releived from severe sufferings by the use of Polson's Nerviline; would it not be unreasonable to expect them to condemn that far famed remedy? Now we know for a fact that Polson's Nerviline is without exception the most powerful, pleasant and certain remedy in the world for pain. It cannot fail, for it goes right to the bottom of pain, penetrates to the nerves, soothes them into quietness, and affords prompt and permanent relief

Of the neatest and newest porcelain tea sets you ever saw, just opened for the new year. Another fresh shipment of "SILVERWARE" is expected this week. We are quite busy and expect to be, and the times don't seem so bad. Some merchants do the very thing to help make money scarce by constantly harping in their ads, about hard times. Those who have lots of money stop spending it, because everybody says "times are bad," and the saying becomes a bad habit. Any merchant who is always advertising "hard times," "money scarce," "goods must go," &c. &c., makes a mistake.

WALL PAPER!

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper Campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future, you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos to this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long, with a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the drawing room, and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the Wall Paper world for facilitating the handling Wall Paper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year. We can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning, 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

Toronto Testimony.

DEAR SIRS.—Two years ago I had a bad attack of billiousness and took one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and can truly recommend it to any suffering from this complaint. MRS. CHARLES BROWN, Toronto.

Sore Throat Cured.

DEAR SIRS.—I had a very sore throat for over a week and tried several medicines without relief until I heard of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I tried with great success. I think it is a fine medicine for sore throat, pain in the chest, asthma, bronchitis, and throat and lung troubles.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.—C W. Snow & Co., Syracuse N. Y., writes: "Please send us ten gross of Pills We are selling more of Parmelee's Pills than any other Pill we keep. They have a great reputation for a cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint." Mr Chas. A. Smith, Lindsay, writes: "Parmelee's Pills are an excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with severe headache, but these pills have cured her."

The man that doesn't want anything doesn't get it.

Sure but not slow.—People who have used Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil to get rid of pain, find that it is sure but not slow. A cough even, of long standing, is speedily controlled and cured by it. Rheumatism, neuralgia, corns, lame back, and swelled neck rapidly disappear when it is used.

Joseph Rasad, Percy, writes:—I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three years, and found it the best article I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me.

The man who can even pay his respects this year should receive proper credit.

How the Press Views the Assertion and Denial.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The Daily News refers editorially to The Pall Mall Gazette's story as a "silly hoax," and closes by saying: "the world may be sure he has no thought of quitting his place at the head of the Liberal host."

The Standard regards the statement authorized by Mr. Gladstone as of the highest import. "Its effect upon the fortunes of the ministry and its program," says this high Tory daily, "cannot fail to be most damaging and discouraging to his colleagues. They are left virtually without a head, their leader holding himself at liberty to retire at a moment's notice. A Gladstonian ministry, with Gladstone on the shelf, is absurdity, as well as constitutional anomaly. We have this consolation, the position cannot be prolonged."

The Times banters The Pall Mall Gazette a little, remarking that it is sufficiently serious to be reminded officially of the Premier's failing powers and then says: "There is no question, however, of Mr. Gladstone's withdrawing just now, which any person of common sense might have reflected on when reading the transparently uninspired paragraph which caused the perturbation. The moment is an absolutely wrong one. With all his faults Mr. Gladstone has never been wanting in political foresight."

IS ANDY ROHAN IN CANADA?

Another Ticket Agent Who Has Gone Wrong Wanted by the Authorities.

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—Detectives are looking for Andy P. Rohan, late assistant cashier of the Chicago and Great Western Railroad, who disappeared from Chicago after a shortage of $2800 had been discovered in his accounts.

Rohan is a well-appearing young man of 27 and was very popular in Chicago. He was born in Chatham, Ont., where his aged father and mother now live. Rohan is a stylish young fellow, dresses well, and has attractive manners. He has light red hair, wore a dark red mustache of good proportions with a well-trained curl at each end. His complexion is florid and he is about five feet nine inches tall, and weighs about 150 pounds. He is a single man.

TRAIN STRIKES A SLEIGH.

Three Lives Lost on a Fall River Railway Crossing.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Feb. 1.—A shocking triple fatality occurred yesterday afternoon on the Brownell-street crossing of the N.Y., New Haven and Hartford Railroad. A sleighing party made up of 28 members of the Sophomores class of the D.M.C. Durfee High school was returning from a two hours' ride and was within half a mile of home. Just as the horses crossed the track the Boston train came rushing around a bend at a speed of 25 miles an hour. The driver succeeded in getting within two feet of being out of danger. The sleigh was an old-fashioned affair, seats running lengthwise, the rear end having a lumber cart tail board. Durfee, a teacher in the school and in charge of the party, was sitting on a camp stool at the end and on either side of him were Brooks Borden, 16 years old, and Ray Thornton, 17 years old, while Orlson Swift, the 17-year-old son of M. M. B. Swift was sitting in the lap of Henry Hawkins. When the party saw the rushing train the members became terror-stricken. Borden and Thornton jumped over the tailboard only to be struck by the locomotive. Swift was preparing to jump when he, too, was struck. Borden was hurled 40 feet and killed. Ray Thornton was dragged along in the wheels for a hundred yards, his head and right hand being severed from his body. Swift was hurled 30 feet and was breathing but unconscious when picked up. He was taken home in an ambulance, but died shortly after arriving there.

HE SWINDLED MANY DOCTORS.

A Bogus Insurance Agent to be Extradited From Denver.

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—Detective Black left last evening for St. Louis to bring back F. J. Bailey, who is wanted here and in other Canadian cities for fraud and obtaining money under false pretences. Bailey is well known in Toronto, having been for some time agent for the Northwest Masonic Insurance Company.

After leaving the service of this company, it is said, he visited Brockville, Hamilton, St. Thomas and a number of other Canadian towns, claiming to be agent for the Preferred Accident Company of New York. His scheme was to go to a town, hunt out prominent physicians, insure them, appoint them physicians for the company in their town, collect the premiums and leave for fresh fields. When the physicians communicated with the head office they were informed that Bailey was not an agent of the company and had no authority to collect money for them.

A large number of medical men in Toronto and various other places have been victimized.

The Toronto detectives have been wanting him for some time. They sent out descriptive circulars of him to all large places in Canada and the United States. It was through one of these circulars that Bailey was captured in St. Louis.

A newly arrived domestic was secured to do housework by an up town family in Lewiston. In the course of her duties she was told to iron some clothes and hang them upon the horse. A little later the maid appeared before her mistress with the clothes in her hands and a look of manifest perplexity on her face.

"Sure, an I tried to ma'am, but he kept movin, so he did, an they wouldn't stay."

Sure enough, knowing no other horse in her native land, she had gone to the stable and endeavored to hang them upon the restive Dobbin, with the result indicated. The above is a fact.—Lewiston, Me., Journal.

G. W. Childs' Condition.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—A bulletin issued at midnight stated that Mr. Childs was free from fever; the paralysis had improved a little, but the general condition remained the same.

Hooper on Trial at Three Rivers.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Jan. 31.—The preliminary examination of Hooper for the attempted murder of his wife by drowning commenced this afternoon before Judge Barthe. Mr. Donald Macmaster has arrived to prosecute.

Tyndall's Last Letter.

The last letter of the late Prof Tyndall is believed to have been one which he addressed to Mr. Colles, of the Society of Authors, of which body Prof. Tyndall was a vice-president, as well as one of its earliest and staunchest friends. It is dated December 3, and did not reach its destination till after Dr. Tyndall's death. The following portion of the note is published in The Author:

DEAR MR. COLLES,—I have been "shamefully entreated"—lifted on the wings of hope and then let fall like a simple gravitating mass without a pinion. When I reached England from Switzerland six weeks ago my prospects were fair. Three days after my return they became clouded. I was smitten with an attack in the chest, which drove me to my bed, whence I am hardly yet able to rise. This is why I have not acknowledged your friendly note informing me of the kindness of —— in undertaking to look over the poems of ——. Will you thank him on my behalf? Yours very faithfully, JOHN TYNDALL.

There was, we learn, a postscript containing another message of kindness and friendship.

Suddenly Stopping a Train.

If a train moving at the speed of twenty-five miles an hour, were suddenly stopped, the passengers would experience a shock equal to that of falling from a second-floor window; at thirty miles an hour they might as well fall from a height of three pairs of stairs; and an express train would, in point of fact, make them fall from a fourth story

BABIES AND APES.

Some Simple Experiments Showing Surprising Resemblances.

An infant was crowing loudly and lustily somewhere at the back of the house. The sounds were inarticulate to outsiders; but Dr. Robinson, the baby's father, if he heard them, would doubtless be able to interpret them as the interesting remains of the Simian tongue. For Dr. Louis Robinson, whenever during the last two or three years he found a leisure hour in his busy life, has studied the ape in the babe. It was in order to obtain some detailed information on this subject from the author of "Darwinism in the Nursery" that our representative had called on Dr. Robinson at Lewisham:

"The article is intensely interesting," I said to the doctor, "but there is not enough of it. We all want to know more about your experiments with the young apes. What are the actual discoveries your experiments led to?"

"Simply this, that every new born child, unless it is sickly or otherwise imperfectly developed, has a most wonderful power in the flexor muscles of the forearm, and will support the whole weight of its body, during the first few hours after birth, for a period vary from ten seconds to two minutes and a half. Now, everybody knows that in monkeys the power of grip is very fully developed; quadrumana can do anything with their hands and arms, and in cases of danger this power is a chief means of self-preservation. I have now experimented on 150 babies; some of them an hour or two, some a few days old—and in two cases only have they failed to hang by their hands, even the tiniest supporting the weight of its body for ten seconds, most of them much longer, and in a few cases they have clung to a finger or a stick for two minutes and a half. And even in the two cases failure was due to other causes than the infant's lack of muscular strength. I ought to say that I never attempted to experiment on weak children, who might be injured by the exposure. A blanket was placed below the child, so that when it dropped it dropped on a soft, warm surface. Whenever it was possible the experiment was made and the photograph taken in the presence of the mother.

"On the face of one, aged sixty minutes, sat stoic indifference; two more looked energetic, though placid, as they stuck with their round little fists to a branch at the end of which appeared two hands, looking very gigantic in comparison to the very youthful performers. Some others were evidently expressing their feelings in the Simian tongue, for their mouths—tremendous sized mouths they seemed—were wide open. The miniature legs, absurdly small in proportion to the arms, were drawn up; the babes looked indeed like tailless infant apes.

"Observe the big toe," Dr. Robinson went on. "I have noticed over and over again that in the case of young infants it is turned outward, like a thumb, as in the case of monkeys, whose hind feet are an additional pair of hands. And whenever I have held a finger or a stick close to the infant's feet while it was hanging by its arms there has been an attempt at clutching the stick with the feet. This seems to me another instance of the survival of the ape's instincts in the human child.

"Another curious fact that struck me was that even when a child had been hanging by its hands for over a minute—this seems a short period, but just try to hang to a horizontal bar, supporting the weight of your body by your hands only, for a minute or two—it let go more because it wanted to change its position than because it was tired. Sometimes I gave it my finger to clutch as soon as it dropped on the blanket, and I could feel by the energetic grip that the little animal was by no means exhausted."—Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

What they Wanted.

1.—Ladies—Oh, Tom! we want to sit and watch you unhitch.
Tom—All right,
2.—What they got.

Sister Seraphina.

She brings her soul up in the strictest school,
Lacing expansions in with narrow rules.

To swell the fund of needy sisterhoods.

She deems this blood white milk of innocence,
And fasting, findeth hope of recompense.

She tethers thought from flight in open air
To turn the treadmill of repeated prayer.

To make burnt-offerings to the "Hosts of Heaven."

And, seeing beggars serve His golden door,

Behold, her soul is small and pinched and thin,
Surely it shall find crannies and crawl in.

And contrite plead in Heaven's warmer glow,

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

When asked how our hair has retained its color and fullness, we reply, 'By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor—nothing else.'" "In 1868, my affianced was nearly bald, and the hair kept falling out every day. I induced her to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and very soon, it not only checked any further loss of hair, but produced an entirely new growth, which has remained luxuriant and glossy to this day. ## WILSON TARIFF BILL PASSED

BY THE HOUSE WITH A MAJORITY OF 63.

A Wrangle Over the Duty On Barley Which is Fixed at 25 Per Cent.—Speeches by Crisp, Reed and Wilson—A Wild Scene at the Close of the Vote.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The Wilson bill passed the House yesterday on a vote of 203 to 140.

In the House yesterday Ex-Speaker Thomas Reed continued the debate on the tariff amendments. He characterized the Wilson bill, both as introduced and as amended, as odious to both sides of the House. The measure afforded neither protection, nor did it do more than look towards free trade. It opened the United States market to the destructive competition of foreigners. There was no ground for the belief that this bill, bad as it was, could be a resting place where but manufacturing and productive industries might re-establish themselves and have a sure foundation for the future, free from party tinkering and party strife.

Mr Reed then reviewed the history of protection, saying it might safely be assumed that a country which in 30 years has become the richest country in the world, and which during all that period was a paradise for laboring men does not need to try any dubious experiments. He contended that the conditions existing in this country and in England when she adopted free trade had nothing in common. In England manufactures had outgrown her consumption and could not exist on

No nation with capital as great and machinery as productive and wages lower hung threatening over her border. Mr. Reed proceeded to argue the question whether the foreign manufacturer or the consumer pays the tax, and said: "Canada, both under the present law and just after the repeal of the Reciprocity Act, is a witness all along our borders that the foreigner pays the tax. I venture to say that the lumber tax, lowered by the act of 1893, has all of it gone out of our treasury into Canadian pockets. It would be an interesting chapter in economic history if we could have in figures the abatement of foreign prices which have followed every increase of the tariff, for it would show what enormous profits have been made out of us by these people when no protection existed."

Judge Crisp paid considerable attention to Mr. Reed's argument. He said he knew that here and there some benighted Republican believed that the foreigner paid the duty, but the truth was that the idea had been exploded 30 or 40 years ago, and was one of the long line of positions which had been abandoned, one after the other, by the advocates of the protective system.

In 1892, said Mr. Crisp, there were imported into the United States $13,000 worth of cotton goods, the duty on which was $21,000. If the foreigner paid the tax, then foreigners paid $21,000 for the privilege of selling $13,000 worth of goods in the United States and the foreigner paid the freight. [Dem. laughter.] Inconsistencies in the minority report were further developed by Mr. Crisp, accompanied by the remark that he "had never known a Republican, in making a tariff act, to be restrained by the idea of inconsistency."

The effect of the lowering of duties on lumber and sugar was claimed by the Republicans to be no change in prices of lumber, but a fall in prices of sugar. All sunshine and prosperity, the speaker said, was claimed for the protective tariff; but when there are strikes in protected industries, when gaunt famine stalks abroad in the land, then you charge these upon the shadow of reduced duties by the Wilson bill. "You cannot thus escape," declared Mr. Crisp, "from the responsibility for conditions which are clearly the result of your own policy."

Mr. Crisp referred to Mr. Reed's argument on the topic of free labor, stating that he would have the temerity to enter the lists against him. Mr. Reed had said that the emigrant did not bring his foreign rate of wages with him. That was true, said Mr. Crisp, with the exception of the people from China. There they had enjoyed for centuries a system of protection which had resulted in the production of a class of workmen against whom the United States was compelled to raise the barrier of restriction. If the gentlemen want us to look upon the full effects of a policy of attempting to grow rich by trading among themselves we point them to China. [Applause.]

The speaker pointed out the various changes of argument advanced by protective advocates in support of the tariff system, the last one of which is that it is necessary to the welfare of labor. The Democratic theory is that free competition in production will more steadily employ workmen than when it is restricted. We say that $1.50 a day for 300 days in the year is infinitely preferable to $2 a day for 200 days in an industry controlled by monopoly. For 30 years, said Mr. Crisp, the Democratic party had been endeavoring to regain power. They held out to the people the promise and hope of reduced taxation, and after full and free argument the people entrusted them with power to effect their promises. The bill brought in here may not be an ideal bill; every gentleman on this side may find objection to some detail of it. "But with a unanimity remarkable under existing conditions we on this side have decided that this bill is a step in the right direction and that we will support it." [Applause.]

Mr. Wilson (Dem., W.Va.), who closed the debate, said the old arguments had been advanced this afternoon which have always been advanced against every movement of progress and reform. And they have not been stronger or more forceful, more attractive or effective than in the past.

The argument of the gentleman from Maine (Reed), which has been heard at every cross-roads in the country, was that the progress and prosperity of the country was due to protection, due to the passage of a law of Congress rather than to the munificent gifts of Almighty God. But the gentleman from Maine will not go further, than I will in singing the praises of our common country. I wish to remind the gentleman from Maine that we have grown great and have prospered and have increased in numbers and have increased in wealth, not because of protection, but because no law of Congress can stand in the way of history's progress. [Democratic applause.] You may frame McKinley laws, and in the progress of humanity they will be trampled under foot. You cannot muzzle science or banish art. You may place tariff burdens on every industry of the country and still enterprise will persevere and prevail over them.

But I will tell you what your tariff laws are doing and what your tariff laws have done. You cannot prevent the accumulation of wealth in this country, but you can take that wealth from the men who made it and bestow it upon some men who did not make it. [Applause.] You cannot deal out prosperity to all the people, but you can deal out wealth to part of them and poverty to all the rest. [Acclamations.] Daniel Webster said, in a speech in 1850, that five-sixths of the property in the north belonged to the workingmen of the north. Can any of the representatives of the commonwealth of Massachusetts make such a glorious boast to-day? The gentleman from Maine (Reed) in his speech to-day has praised the operation of the protective system, because it gives quite an extensive distribution of the benefits which it brings. Now there is a lesson in the last census of the United States which calls upon every citizen to pause and ponder as to whether this is a time of growing prosperity or a time of decadence. It appears by the last census that of all the men occupying farms in the country to-day one-third are tenants living on farms owned by others, and that of all the people occupying homes other than farms two-thirds live in rented houses. If that is the kind of general prosperity, if that is a proof of diffused welfare, then the protective system is entitled to the credit of it, because I believe that it is in a large measure due to that system. [Dem. applause.]

This is a very old world, Mr. Speaker, but long before human history began to be written the fatal secret was disclosed that there is no easier, no quicker, no more abundant way of getting wealthy and getting power than by exercising the power of taxation over the masses of the people. That secret, when disclosed, was eagerly seized upon before the dawning of human history and is to-day the dominant force in all the world. It is but 200 years ago that men were willing to fight for the idea that Governments were made to serve the governed and not for the benefit of those who govern. Not yet in all the world have men advanced to that point where the Government is operated exclusively and evenly in the interest of all the governed. That is the goal of perfect freedom. That is the achievement of perfect law, and that is the goal to which the Democratic party is courageously and honestly moving in its fight to-day for tariff reform. [Loud applause.]

In all my conferences on the subject of this bill I have heard no man protest that we have been actuated by an unworthy motive or that this great scheme of taxation was undertaken in any class or sectional spirit. Gentlemen (addressing the Republicans' side), I doubt not your sincerity, I doubt not the love of your fellow-man which impels you to champion your side of the question any more than I doubt that which impels my associates on this side. Agree with the gentleman from Maine (Reed) that the question of general welfare and the question of the general wages of workingmen are, after all, the vital questions in this controversy. We are trying an experiment whether in God's name we can establish a country where every man born into it will be born with the possibility that he can raise himself to a degree of ease and comfort and not be compelled to live a life of degrading toil for the mere necessities of existence. That is the feeling which animates all who through danger and defeat have steadily labored for tariff reform. We wish to make this a country where no man shall be taxed for the private benefit of another man, but where all the blessings of free government, of education, of the influences of the church and of the school shall be the common untaxed heritage of all the people, adding to the comfort of all, adding to the culture of all and adding to the happiness of all. [General applause.] In conclusion, Mr. Wilson made a fervid appeal to his party to support the bill, ignoring local issues and local prejudices.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wilson's speech there was enacted a scene of wild enthusiasm such as has never before been witnessed in the House within the memory of the oldest member. The applause which broke out at frequent intervals during the speech overleaped all bounds when Mr. Wilson tried to take his seat. Cheer after cheer rang out again and again, men threw their hats and papers in the air and women their handkerchiefs. Breckenridge (Ark.) embraced the speaker and a crowd of demonstrative admirers, headed by Mr. Bryan (Neb.) and Mr. Tucker of Virginia, raised Mr. Wilson up on their shoulders and carried him in triumph out of the hall and to his committee rooms.

Amid the din and confusion of the House the speakers announced that the debate was closed and that pursuant to the special order the House would vote upon the amendments. Pending this Mr. Burrows called attention to the fact that the House could not transact any business while it was in such an uproar and asked that the floor be cleared. This was accordingly ordered, and in ten minutes after the completion of Mr. Wilson's speech the House was cleared of its visitors and had subsided to its usual state of comparative tranquility.

The speaker announced that the vote would first be taken on Mr. Tawney's amendment raising the duty on barley from 20 per cent. to 22 cents per bushel, and on malt from 30 per cent. to 32 cents per bushel. Mr. Lockwood (Dem., N.Y.) made the point of order that as the amendment had not been considered in committee of the whole it could not be acted on in the House.

The Speaker had the special order read, which provided that the House should consider all amendments adopted in committee of the whole, as those pending at the time the bill was reported to the House should be acted on in the House, and accordingly overruled the point of order.

The yeas and nays were ordered on Mr. Tawney's amendment and it was defeated: Yeas, 120; nays, 197.

Mr. Wilson's amendment raising the duty on barley from 20 per cent. to 25 per cent. ad valorem and on barley-malt from 30 per cent. to 35 per cent. was then voted upon and agreed to. Yeas 204, nays 114.

Separate votes were demanded on the following amendments adopted in committee of the whole:

By Mr. Johnson (Dem., Ohio) on the amendment providing that the wool paragraph should take effect Aug. 2, 1894.

Mr. Charles W. Stone (Rep., Pa.), on the amendment striking out the reciprocity clause of the petroleum schedule, and by several New York Democrats on the income tax amendment.

The other amendments (including the two important amendments to the sugar schedule, that repealing the bounty on sugar and the Warner amendment putting refined sugar on the free list, were agreed to on a viva voce vote.

There was a difference of opinion as to what the wool schedule should be voted on.

Johnson's (Dem. Ohio) provided that the wool schedule should take effect immediately after the bill is passed. This was agreed to in committee of the whole, but later the committee, at Mr. Wilson's instance, adopted another amendment striking out all after the first three words of the Johnson amendment and inserted Aug. 2, 1894, for raw wool, and Dec. 2, 1894, for woolen manufactures.

The Speaker held that as the Johnson amendment had been favorably acted on in committee, it should also be reported to the House. A vote was taken and the Johnson amendment was agreed to. The vote was then taken on Mr. Wilson's first amendment, and it also was [illegible] vote of 205 yeas to [illegible] amendment was also carried on a rising vote. Yeas, 196; nays, 42. The effect is to fix the date of the wool schedule on Aug. 2, and of the woolen schedule on Dec. 2.

The amendments striking off the provision regarding reciprocity on petroleum was also agreed to on a standing vote: Ayes 170, nays 44.

On the internal revenue amendment Mr. Cockran asked if the propositions could be divided and a separate vote taken on the income tax feature, but the Speaker held that it could not. Mr. Cockran then called for the yeas and nays on the entire amendment and it was carried amid applause: Yeas 182, nays 50.

The amendments in committee having all been agreed to in the House the question was upon the engrossing and third reading of the bill, and it was agreed. to Mr. Covert (Dem., N.Y.) offered a resolution of recommittal, and on this demanded the previous question. This ordered without division, but Covert demanded yeas and nays. This demand was voted down, yeas 36, nays 227—not one-fifth seconding the demand.

The motion to re-commit was then defeated by a vote of 103 to 177, the announcement of the vote being greeted with loud applause. The Speaker then put the question, "Shall the bill pass?" and the yeas and nays being demanded on this the roll was called amidst the most intense interest on the floor and in the galleries. As the names of the doubtful Democrats were reached and they voted "aye" or "no" applause, cheers and sometimes good-natured bantering followed their votes. The greatest applause followed Mr. Cockran's vote of "Aye".

When the names of Mr. Wilson and the Speaker were called great cheering greeted their answers of "Aye."

The vote was announced at 5.55 o'clock as follows:

Yeas, 203; nays, 140, so the bill was declared passed, with a wild shouting from the floor and galleries.

Later and more careful examination of the vote showed that 204 had voted for the bill, including the Speaker. The announcement was greeted with cheering and applause in the galleries and on the floor which continued until the House adjourned.

Absentees on this vote numbered 13, of whom Messrs. Hopkins, Pa., and Sweet, Idaho, had been in attendance during the day, but were compelled to leave before the rollcall. A physician was present with Mr. Hopkins. Mr. Stevens, a member of the Committee on Ways and Means did not vote.

The usual motion to re-consider and to lay on the table were made by Mr. Wilson and were carried and the House then at 5.55 p.m. adjourned until to-morrow.

Wrangled Over Barley In Committee.

Mr. Tracey's amendment in the House raising the duty on barley malt to 40 per cent. raised a cloud of amendments.

Mr. Payne (Rep., N. Y.) proposed a substitute changing the duties on barley and malt from ad valorem to specific duties of 20 cents and 30 cents per bushel respectively.

Mr. Pickler (Rep., S.D.) has offered an amendment substituting the provisions of the McKinley law.

Mr. Tracey's amendment was put and defeated: ayes 91, nays 109, and a vote was also taken on Mr. Pickler's, which was also lost: 93 to 137. Mr. Payne's amendment was also lost on a vote by the teller: yeas 91, nays 108.

Mr. Lockwood (Dem., N.Y.) offered an amendment putting barley on the free list and it was promptly voted down. He then offered an amendment putting a duty on barley of 10 cents a bushel, and on barley malt of 25 cents a bushel. This was voted down—13 to 169.

Mr. Payne (Rep., N.Y.) offered an amendment putting a tax on barley of 18 cents and on malt at 28 cents. This was defeated. Yeas 94, nays 135.

Mr. Tawney (Rep., Minn.) offered an amendment proposing a duty on barley of 22 cents and on malt of 33 cents. On this question tellers were demanded and the House was dividing when the hour of 12 arrived, and in accordance with the special order the committee rose.

The tariff changes which affect Canada are:

Barley and barley malt—McKinley law 2 to 45c, Wilson bill proposed 20 per cent., equal to 12 cents; amended in committee 30 cents per bushel; passed by House 25 p.c., ad valorem.

Oats and oatmeal—McKinley law 1c to 25c, Wilson bill proposed 20 per cent.; amended in committee free.

Potatoes—McKinley law 25c, Wilson bill 10c.

Poultry, live—McKinley law 3c, Wilson bill 2c.

All live animals—McKinley law 20 per cent, Wilson bill 20 per cent.

Wool—McKinley law varied according to grade, Wilson bill free.

Logs—McKinley law free, Wilson bill free.

Timber—Hewn and sawn, squared or sided, sawed boards, laths, shingles, McKinley law $1 per m, Wilson bill free.

Iron ore—McKinley law free, Wilson bill proposed free.

Plows, tooth and disk harrows, harvesters, reapers, drills, mowers, horserakes, cultivators and threshing machines—McKinley law 45 p.c., Wilson bill proposed free.

BLAKE IN BOSTON.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., the prominent Irish Nationalist of Canada and leader of the Home Rule cause in the British Parliament, spoke on Home Rule for Ireland in Music Hall last night under the auspices of the Boston Municipal Council of the Irish National Federation. He was greeted by an audience of about 3000 people, and his appeal for funds to aid in carrying on the work of his party resulted in the raising of a little more than $5000. Mayor Matthews presided, and upon the stage were many distinguished citizens of Boston and vicinity. The meeting adopted resolutions to the effect that the citizens of Boston encourage Gladstone in his efforts to free the Emerald Isle and pledge to him their hearty support. This cablegram was sent Justin McCarthy:

Mr. Blake reviewed at length the struggles of the Home Rule party in the past and predicted its success in the near future. He referred to the report of Gladstone's resignation in a way that assured the audience that he did not believe it true. He said that the recent defeat of the Home Rule bill in the House of Lords was expected, and that the party that had supported the measure was not at all dismayed.

Blake Looks For a Rich Harvest.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—Hon. Edward Blake, who was seen at the Windsor Depot last evening on his way to Toronto, returning from Boston, said that his reception in the City of Culture was most gratifying. Despite hard times, $5000 was raised on the floor of the hall. He expects a rich harvest for the Home Rule cause in March and April in Boston and other New England cities.

EXPLOSION IN BOWMANVILLE

MYSTERIOUS IN ITS ORIGIN—TWO STORES WRECKED.

The Explosion Blew Out the Walls and Roof of a Grocery Store and Shook the Town Like an Earthquake—The Damage, Partly From Fire, Will Reach $16,000.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Feb. 2.—This town was the scene of a singular and mysterious occurrence between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning, the result of which is that Mr. Schuyler Edsall's fine hardware establishment has been totally destroyed by fire. Nothing was saved, and the adjoining shop in the same block, occupied by Messrs. Young, Haddy & Allin as a grocery and provision store, has been blown to destruction by some mysterious explosive, the presence and character of which has not yet been accounted for.

Between the two shops there was a very solid brick wall, which still stands, while the north and front walls and roof of Young & Co.'s shop were deposited in thousands of pieces over King street. Some of the firemen who were laying hose to play on the flames issuing from the adjoining building barely escaped with their lives from the falling debris.

So fearful was the explosion that the plate glass front in Mason & Dales' harness shop, Walter Chartran's hairdressing saloon, and S. Burden's office was in each instance shivered in thousands of pieces and the buildings in the centre of the town trembled as if an earthquake had visited the burg.

Various theories are advanced respecting the cause of this explosion, but nothing deserving of credence. The mystery is deepened by the fact that no fire had extended into the building where the explosion took place, hence it could not have been caused by ignition, but must have been from concussion or the generation of some explosive elements.

The losses figure up to $15,000 or $16,000 and the insurance as follows: George Haines, on buildings, $4000 in the Ætna; S. S. Edsall, $4000 in the Liverpool and London and Globe; Young & Co., $1500 in the London and Lancashire; D. T. Tees, Montreal, Milne Block, fully covered by insurance in the Imperial and Phœnix; T. N. Rickard, jeweler, $600 in the Royal; F. Bleakley, building, Nead's Block, in the Aetna, damage not over $300.

IN SEARCH OF HIS WIFE.

She Went With a Younger and Handsomer Man,

TORONTO, Feb. 2—James O'Lear, an engineer of Moosejaw, N.W.T., is in the city in search of his wife, who eloped with William Foster, a printer, aged 23, and came to Toronto, bringing with them valuables belonging to the husband.

O'Lear traced them to Glenwilliams, near Georgetown, where Foster formerly resided. Foster introduced the woman to various people around the Glen as a widow whom he intended to marry.

When he arrived on the scene the couple had left, ostensibly for Rochester. O'Lear learned, however, that they came to Toronto, and yesterday was searching the city for the couple. He promises to make it interesting for Foster when he finds him.

THE EMBARGO REMAINS.

Until the Dominion Government Sends a Reply Satisfactory to Britain,

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Secretary of the Board of Agriculture, in replying to a deputation of gentlemen engaged in cattle buying, yesterday stated that the board was in communication with the Canadian Government as to the measures that should be taken by Canada to satisfy the requirement of the act of 1878. Until the Dominion Government had sent a satisfactory reply, the Secretary said, the present restrictions must remain in force.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—Lieut.-Gov. Carvell of Prince Edward Island is so ill he has reported to the Government that he will not be able to open the new Legislature. An administrator will be appointed.

British Columbia fishermen have reported in favor of Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper's new regulations which give the majority of the licenses to the fishermen. Formerly these fishing licenses were controlled by the canners. Thus the catch was practically limited to the "sockeye" salmon for canning, but now the fishermen will catch the large "Quinnat" salmon and ship them East in a frozen state.

Young William Mooney of Onslow, near Ottawa, fell three times from the top to the bottom of a 50-foot well out of which he was trying to fish a tin saucepan that his sister had dropped in. The first fall broke his leg. When he slipped the second time he struck the bucket and broke his arm. The windlass crank breaking as he was brought to the top the third time, two ribs were fractured. He may recover.

City Treasurer Kirby has been re-elected to the Collegiate Institute Board. W. Y. Soper of electric railway fame was, during his absence, chosen to succeed Mr. Kirby. He resigned and the city treasurer was re-elected. His rejection in the first instance, after many years' service, was said to be due to political feeling.

There was a meeting of the Cabinet last afternoon, but nothing was done about the Northwest Schools bills.

Altogether Disappeared.

GENTLEMEN.—About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking B. B. B., took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine.

EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

A panic is a sudden desertion of us, and a going over to the enemy of our imagination.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Ill-deeds are doubled with an evil word; the sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Beware of desperate steps; the darkest day, live till to-morrow, will be passed away.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

In the editorial yesterday concerning the payment of officials by fees, it was erroneously stated that the 'Provincial Government supports Registrars." It should have read "appoints Registrars."—Brockville Recorder.

No occasion, friend Recorder, for your correction. Your original statement was the plain truth, told inadvertently.

The correspondence on the P.P.A. question has become so personal that we have put a stop to it, after a fair hearing on both sides.

Inspector De Barry is endeavoring to have some twenty Canadian girls, who are training as nurses in the Buffalo hospitals, deported under the Allen Labor law. Nothing seems too small for our big neighbor.

The rate of duty on barley to be fixed by the U. S. Congress is a matter of some interest to our people. Prospects for a large reduction were highly flattering some weeks ago; but there has been an unfavorable change. The Senate will probably be less favorable than the House of Representatives. Happily the matter is not of so much importance as it used to be to Canadian farmers, who find that dairy farming and stock raising form the best and most reliable field for their energies.

The County Council of Elgin last week decided to co-operate with the County Council of Grey in memorializing the Dominion and Provincial Legislatures to reduce the railway rate for first-class passengers to two cents per mile, and for second-class passengers to one and a quarter cents per mile.

Sir Oliver the Unready, his colleagues and his followers, are trembling at the dismal prospect which awaits them at the polls in the coming election. What with Ross's blunders and other sins of omission and commission, the Patrons and the P.P.A., they view the situation with dismay. Sir Oliver is not so aggressive as usual. Blatant Hardy has become apologetic instead of boastful. Even the organs sing small, and popular members of the Legislature, in Messrs. Biggar and Harty, are retiring before worse befalls them. The indications are much less favorable than ever before to the Mowat Government, on the eve of a general election.

THE FEE SYSTEM.

The expensive fee system cannot be better exemplified than in the case of the County Crown Attorney, a political appointment of the Ontario Government, and whose salary is paid principally by the hard working farmers through a system of fees. His office rent is first paid by the county, $37.50 per quarter; then the fee system is set to work. In looking over his account for the year 1892, we find the public paid as fees items as follows:

Notifying 211 Justices of the Peace that the Ontario Statutes are on hand for distribution, $54.86. These notices are printed post cards costing less than 2 cents each, leaving that hard-worked official a trifle over $50 for addressing them. The J. P.'s call for the books, and again the fee system comes into force to the tune of 10 cents each. Every recipient gives a receipt for this book, for filing which the Crown Attorney makes the county pay 10 cents each, or in all 45 cents for placing each copy of the statutes in the hands of those for whom they are intended and to whom they could have been mailed in Toronto at 5c. each. We find, again, such items as the following: Distributing Criminal Code (books worth about 6c. each, wholesale) 182 copies, $47,32; receipts for 60 copies Criminal Code, $6; filing receipts, $6; letter to stationer ordering Jurors' book, 26c; letter with opinion, $2,03. Whether the letter is represented by the $2 and the opinion 3c., or vice versa, is not stated.

Then comes a remarkable charge, only possible under the fee system. Filing 88 general papers during November, $8.80; filing one certified List, 8 sub-divisions, Thurlow, $2,10; do. 6 sub-divisions, Trenton, $1,60; do. 2 sub-divisions, Elzevir, 60c; do. 6 sub-divisions, Hungerford, $1,60.

Then he writes eight letters to J.P.s. asking for returns of convictions for publication, for which he charges $2,23. For entering these returns, when received, in Conviction Book he charges $15,00. Then he makes a general return of convictions for the quarter, for which he charges $4. He then prepares a copy for the printer, charging for same $4. One would suppose that he could with such charges furnish his own stationery and pay postage, but he charges for both. He has copies of the Ontario statutes left after his arduous duties of distributing them at 45c. each, for which he accounts to the county mem- [illegible] and for which he charges the county $2 00

Likewise he accounts for copies of the Criminal Code left, for which service he charges $2 00.

Pages of such charges, which could be possible only under a fee system, bring up his account for the last quarter of 1892 to $625. Here apologists for the system come in and say that a portion of the cost is borne by the Government. True, the county asked them to pay $57 of the amount, of which they paid $22, leaving the balance to be paid by the ratepayers of the county. We don't say that Mr. Henderson has charged in any instance more than the fee system allows, but the possibility of such charges forms the strongest condemnation of the system.

The Orange Mutual Benefit Association.

SIR,—I have before me and have carefully read the Grand Lodge Auditors' report of the receipts and expenditures of the above association since it came under the management of the M. W. O. G. L. of British America about eleven months ago. I have also been looking into some statistics other than the Auditors' report that bears upon the association and, as I take a lively interest in everything that is truly Orange, I trust you will allow me to make a few brief remarks on the subject. I remember writing a letter which you published about the 1st of May last year, and which called forth considerable discussion through the Orange "Sentinel," a large part of which you kindly republished, upon the merits and demerits of the above mentioned association. I then and there pointed out certain hardships that would befall our poorer brethren that became insured in this society, such as "lapses" caused by circumstances over which they would have no control and where they would lose all the money they may have been years in contributing to these funds. The lapses in the twelve straight line insurance Canadian companies for the year 1892 were $9,804,419 and all companies came in for about the same very large proportion of lapses.

Now, it is well known that a large number of our most deserving brother Orangemen are poor men, who will join this society because it is under the patronage of so respectable an institution as the O.G.L. of British America, and many of these will cheerfully deprive themselves of many of the comforts of life that they may leave a $1000 to their families for their comfort when they themselves are no more in this life. But a time comes when perhaps after he has paid premiums for many years into the funds of this society, when his health fails or his wife or his children may be sick, or he may be out of employment, or his employer may not be able to pay him his wages just when it is wanted to pay a premium. A few days pass and a lapse is declared and this poor, honest and deserving brother has his name scored from the books and he loses all he has paid to the funds of the society, even though these sums would aggregate 50, 100, 200 or more dollars, and though tears may run down the cheeks of his poor wife and children the money is gone from them forever.

And then it may please the Almighty to remove some rich brother Orangeman who, while he lived, was willing to pay years of premiums in advance. Now that he is gone, the moneys in the hands of the association which have accrued in part from the lapses of the poorer brethren are taken to pay the $1000 to the widow and family of the richer deceased brother, and immediately it is published in the Sentinel that another $1000 has been paid to a deceased brother's family, but no mention is made of the almost starving and unfortunate brother's family who contributed a part of the $1000 so paid. And to show that this is not an overdrawn picture, I give an extract from the correspondence between Bro. Oronhyatekha, Chief Ranger of the Independent order of Foresters, and W. McCabe, Manager of the North American Life, as published recently in the Mail. Dr. Oronhyatekha, in order to show that lower premiums than those fixed by actuaries are sufficient to sustain a life assurance company, says he relies for extra funds arising from (a) "medical selection of new insurers," (b) on "lapses," (c) on "influx of new blood." He says all these tend to lower the actual death rate experienced below those given in the mortality tables. Now this simply means that the company gets rid of the old, poor, sickly member by "lapse" and gets in his place the young healthy man—"influx of new blood" "secured by medical selection," but the company keeps the money of the poor, old, sickly lapsed member all the same. Now the difference between the company of Independent Order of Foresters and the Orange Mutual Benefit Association is simply that the I. O. F. is a respectable company organized on business principles, while every man who becomes a member of the Orange Association (and none but Orangemen can join the O. M. B. A.) makes a very solemn promise that he will not wrong a brother Orangeman or know him to be wronged without giving him due notice thereof, and preventing it if in his power; and to keep all the money contributed by our poor sick unfortunate lapsed brother to whom we have made this promise, and apply the same toward paying the death claim of the richer widow and orphans, I think is wronging a brother; and I think a part of this money should be given back to the poor Orange brother who loses his money by circumstances over which he had no control.

Another view is, the expenditure of this association which the insured members have to pay. It is a very heavy item; that is for the 11 months under the jurisdiction of the M.W.O. Grand Lodge to the 31st Dec. last, the auditors report a running expenditure of $4,616.82, making $437.90 a month, and leaving on hand only the trifling sum of $1,713.56 to meet the death or any other claims. This is a larger sum than it took to run the whole machinery of the Grand Lodge of British America last year,—and nearly double what it cost to run the Grand Lodge in former years. If this extravagance goes on, there will be little chance for the poor unfortunate lapsed member getting any money from the Society, and not a very bright prospect for the insured members, except by a direct assessment on themselves. I am, very truly yours,

WM. ANDERSON.

MURDERED BY HER BROTHER

DOUBLE EARLY MORNING TRAGEDY IN MONTREAL.

Crazed at the Thought of Dying from Consumption Phineas Dufresne Shoots His Sister Through the Heart, Then Ends His Own Life.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—Phineas Dufresne, 121 Champ de Mars-street, aged 28, shot his married sister through the heart and then shot himself in the temple. Both are dead.

Mrs. Brunelle, the murdered woman, kept the house, four of the rooms being let to boarders. The house is large and is kept in a cleanly manner. Mrs. Brunelle lived apart from her husband. Last fall her brother, Phineas Dufresne, returned from the United States, where he had been for years pursuing his trade as cigar-maker. He was a consumptive. Two weeks ago he had to leave his work in Montreal. Lately he has been depressed and strange in his manner.

The murder apparently was committed about 10 o'clock a.m. Mrs. Hamel, his sister, returned to the house at noon and found Mrs. Brunelle lying in the dining-room in a pool of blood. She ran screaming out of the house, and on returning Dufresne was found dead in a chair with a bullet through his temples. It is supposed he shot himself on hearing Mrs. Hamel scream. Mrs. Hamel says he was despondent of late and feared that on his dying of consumption his sister would starve.

THE G.O.M. WILL RESIGN.

The Pall Mall Gazette Reiterates Its Statement.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes a qualified reassertion of its previous statement. It says it was prepared for contradiction of the statement on the part of the press and Government officials, but was not prepared for the virtual confirmation of the story by Mr. Gladstone himself. Continuing, the paper says it knew Mr. Gladstone's intentions had been conveyed to few, if any, of his colleagues, and adds that whatever change publicity may effect it is now certain that Mr. Gladstone's tenure of office will be limited to months if not weeks.

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—The Freeman's Journal, commenting on the report of Mr. Gladstone's intended resignation, says: The cruel, cowardly canard did not need contradiction. It is lawful to hope and believe that Mr. Gladstone will be spared in the full vigor of his genius until the not distant day when he will see the greatest work of his great career effected."

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Hon. G. W. Spencer Lyttleton, Mr. Gladstone's private secretary, received a cipher despatch from the Prime Minister, who is now at Biarritz, at 5.45 yesterday afternoon. The contents of this despatch were communicated to Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty, and the Right Hon. Herbert Asquith, Home Secretary, both of whom refused to divulge their information to reporters.

The Westminster Gazette says: "In reading Mr. Gladstone's statement sent out from Biarritz through Sir Algernon West, it must be remembered that it is Mr. Gladstone's invariable habit to answer with scrupulous exactness each statement, and to never make a general denial."

AMENDED IN THE LORDS.

THE FRENCH NAVY.

Defended in the Chamber by Admiral Lefevre—Better Armed Than England.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—In the Chamber of Deputies yeterday Admiral Lefevre, Minister of Marine, said the Government recognized that reforms were necessary in the navy. It had, therefore, nominated a commission which had consented to serve and which would have full power to investigate naval matters. He compared the naval expenditures of France with those of the Triple Alliance, quoting statistics prepared by M. Chautemps, a member of the Chamber. The Minister declared that he did not believe that France's ironclads, cruisers and torpedo boats were in a condition of inferiority, as had been asserted by M. Lockrey. Even English authorities admitted that the French navy was better armed with guns and shells than was the English navy. Certain boats were defective, but the navy was equal to any task facing it.

I WILL FIRE AND SINK YOU

Is What Admiral Benham Told the Rebel De Gama.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Secretary Herbert yesterday made public the despatch received from Admiral Benham Monday night, telling of the trouble with Da Gama as follows:

Two American merchant vessels Saturday were prevented from going alongside the wharf. To-day six a.m. sent the Detroit to take position that would protect vessels going alongside the wharf and if fired upon to return fire. My vessel (S.) under way and cleared for action. After the Detroit took position boat from one vessel running line preparatory to hauling was fired upon with muskets from insurgent ship. Detroit returned fire with 1-pounder shot striking under her bow. Insurgents fired broadside gun (S) leeward. Later insurgents fired broadside gun over American merchant vessels. Detroit returned fire with musket, striking insurgent stern-post. Passing by insurgent he was hailed, saying: If you fire again I will return your fire and if necessary will sink you. Detroit anchored to command both vessels—one merchant vessel having been carried to a new position near the wharf and the tug having offered services gratuitously to discharge the cargo. The insurgent leader was notified that that these vessels would discharge from the present positions, but that my determination was not changed to give American merchant vessels full protection to the wharf if they desire to go.

John Harrison, of Peterboro', Bought and Used Three Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, Which Cured Him of Kidney Disease of Four Year's Standing.

PETERBORO', Jan. 29.—John McKee, a well-known druggist here, tells of a remarkable cure of one of his customers, John Harrison, by means of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Harrison had kidney disease for four years, and all the remedies he used failed. Three boxes of Dodd's Kidneys Pills routed the disease, and Mr. Harrison is well and happy. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

JUDICIAL SALE

—OF—

MINING - LANDS

In Marmora, in the County of Hastings.

PURSUANT to the judgment of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice, in an action of Cook vs. Williams, and with the approbation of the Master in Ordinary, there will be offered for sale by public auction, on Saturday, 24th day of February, 1894, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, by Messrs. Dickson & Townsend, at their Auction Rooms, 22 King St. W., Toronto, the following Mining Lands, in two parcels, namely:—

PARCEL 1.—An undivided half interest in Lot No. 8, in the 9th Concession of the Township of Marmora, in the County of Hastings; also an undivided half interest in the west half of lot No. 9 in the 9th Con. of the said township of Marmora; also an undivided seventeen-fortieths interest in a portion of Lot No. 6, in the 8th Concession of the said Township of Marmora, and more particularly described in a certain deed registered in the Registry Office for the County of Hastings, on the 22nd day of August, 1870, as No. 410. (This lastly mentioned property consists of about four and one eight acres, situate on the bank of the Moira River). The mines and minerals on the said Lot No 6 are reserved and will not be offered for sale. There is at present (but out of repair) on this Lot No. 6, what is known as the Dean-Williams crusher.

PARCEL 2.—An undivided half interest in Lot No. 7, in the 9th Concession of the said Township of Marmora, save and except an undivided one-sixteenth interest in the south half of the said lot. The sale of this parcel will be made subject to the interest of the defendant, William Richardson, as mortgagee of an undivided six-sixteenths of the south half, and of an undivided half of the north half of said lot. There was found due to the said Richardson, for principal and interest, by the Master's report, up to 4th January, 1894, the sum of $3,163.54, and also interest at 6 per cent, on the principal from date.

These lands are supposed to contain valuable deposits of gold ore, and are situate about five miles from the Village of Marmora, where a crushing mill is now in operation by the Hastings Mining & Reduction Company, and are situate about three miles from Marmora station on the Central Ontario Railway, and about eight miles from the Village of Madoc and close to the River Moira.

TERMS.—Ten per cent. of the purchase money must be paid to the vendors or their solicitors at the time of sale, and the balance within one month thereafter, without interest into Court, to the credit of this action.

The vendors will not be bound to furnish any abstract of title, or to verify any abstract of title, or to furnish any proofs or evidence of title, other than those which are now in their possession or power.

If the purchaser shall insist upon any objection or requisition which the vendors shall be unable or unwilling to remove or comply with, the vendors are to be at liberty to apply to the said Master to rescind the contract of sale, unless within ten days after notice of such application the purchaser shall by notice in writing withdraw such objection or requisition.

The plaintiff and all parties to the action have liberty to bid at the auction sale of the above property.

The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserve bid on each parcel.

Other conditions of sale are the standing conditions of Court. Further terms and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale, or will be made known upon application to Messrs. LOUNT, MARSH & CAMERON, Vendors' Solicitors, 25 Toronto Street, Toronto, or to Messrs. MACDONALD, MACINTOSH & MCCRIMMON, Canada Life Buildings, Toronto.

NEVER.

Never throughout Canada have dry goods been sold at the low prices they are now being sold at. In every city and town merchants are making great sacrifices to clear out winter goods. We know of some merchants selling certain goods at half cost price, and to get cost is considered a good thing indeed. The general depression owing to the low prices of grains, and the consequent backwardness of country trade, partly account for these slaughter sales. Like other merchants our prices are also down.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

North Hastings Sabbath School Association Meet at Stirling.

The fifth annual convention of the above association was held in St. Andrew's church, Stirling, on Tuesday and Wednesday, January 30th and 31st. The convention was addressed by Rev. Jas. Macfarlane; Rev. Geo. Brown, Madoc; Dr. Harrison, of Keene; Mr. Day; Mr. Wm. Mackintosh, I.P.S., North Hastings; Mr. G. D. Wiggins, Rawdon; Mr. John McEwen; Rev. S. Childerhose. The following officers were elected: President, Rev. S. Childerhose, B.A.; 1st Vice-President, Wm. Mackintosh; 2nd Vice-President, B. Bush; 3rd Vice President, G. A. Meiklejohn; 4th Vice-President, G. D. Wiggins; Secretary, Miss J. Rollins; Treasurer, J. C. Dale; Executive Committee, C. G. Wilson, G. L. Scott, Jas. Harrison, W. F. Campbell, H. Rollins, J. G. Foster, J. B. Morton, Geo. Clarc, P. P. Clark, Wm. Meiklejohn, Thos. Webster, Jas. Henderson, D. Fuller, Henry White and W. Fletcher, with power to add to their number.

THE SIDNEY SENSATION.

The Couple said to have been Married on Thanksgiving Day.

We learned to day from a gentleman who claims to be in a position to know, that Miss Vandewaters and David Lawrence, whose elopement we noticed yesterday, were privately married on last Thanksgiving Day at Roblin's Mills, but they must have kept it very quiet, for none of the relatives of either party were aware of the fact.

It also appears that our informant was in error as to where the sudden leaving took place from. Miss Vandewaters had been spending a few days with her grandmother, Mrs. Thos. Jones, about three miles west of the city., and Lawrence and she came from there to the city and took the train.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

A Respected Resident of Rednersville Found Dead in his Bed.

At an early hour this morning Mrs. Jas. Redner, of Rednerville, awoke and was struck by the apparent lifelessness of her husband beside her, and upon raising his head she found to her horror that he was dead. Deceased had been ill during most of the winter with grip, and his death was no doubt due to heart failure. Mr. Redner was over 81 years of age and highly respected by all who knew him. He had been married twice, his second wife, who survives him, being the widow of the late Peter Brickman.

His first wife was Letitia Anderson, sister of Wm. Anderson, Esq., but he had no children by either wife. He was born and always lived at Rednersville. The funeral will take place from the family residence on Sunday, Feb. 4th, at 2 p.m.

To-night's Decision.

Our citizens, generally, will be interested in the decision to be arrived at by the Sunday school workers and others in John St. Presbyterian church to-night. The inviting of the Ontario Sunday School Association to hold the next convention in Belleville has several sides to it. It meant for the two former ones held here, the contributing of several hundred dollars and the entertaining of the representatives, and a lot of hard work for the committees of management. On the other hand, by such gatherings a place becomes known as in no other way, the hundreds who attend go away with their impress of the place and its people, and a stimulus is given to the local organizations in sympathy with the gathering.

Library Party.

A very enjoyable Library Party was given last evening by Miss Ella Sulman, at which about fifty of her friends were present. At the hour appointed the guests thronged the parlors, some appearing in costume, while others wore badges or emblems representing the title of a book. Miss Sarah Templeton was awarded the first prize, having upon her programme the largest number of correct guesses. At a reasonable hour luncheon was served, after which the company dispersed feeling well pleased with the evening's novel entertainment.

Do Not Pay Fancy Prices.

The man who thinks that there is no clothing fit to wear only what has been especially made for him is a money-loser. Sometimes the very ones who can the least afford to pay fancy prices, pay them just the same. The Oak Hall is gradually working its way right into this class of trade. Every trial means a new customer.

HIS PITIFUL CONFESSION.

A WELL-EDUCATED PHYSICIAN MAKES A PATHETIC STATEMENT.

Liquor Was His Curse—When a Babe He Was Fed upon Stimulants and so Acquired the Taste for Them—He Prayed and Fought Against the Appetite, but Fruitlessly—A Solemn and Pathetic Scene.

The Toronto Telegram gives the following report of a case tried in the interim sessions in that city before Judge Macdougall on January 31st.:

Dr. Wm. C. Finney, of Cloyne, Addington county, early this month boarded at the saloon of S. M. Cates, 200 Queen st. east. When he came to pay his bill he gave Cates a cheque on Molsons Bank for $47, purporting to be signed by Author & Cox, dealers in surgical appliances, of this city. Cates gave him $35 in change, his bill of board being $12. The cheque was not signed by the two gentlemen nor did the bank pay it. Cates then preferred a charge against the doctor of false pretences and he was before the judge on that charge to-day.

The two men swore they did not sign the cheque. The doctor conducted his own case and did so intelligently, evidently being a man of fine education. He is known in connection with a catarrh specific but, unfortunately, according to his own statement, is addicted to drink. He has no recollection of his dealing with Cates. He is a fine-looking gentleman, about 55 years of age, and has a family in Cloyne. He freely admitted a conviction at Lindsay for forgery, for which he served 23 months, "faithfully," at the Central Prison. He said the conviction was a mistake on the part of the Judge and jury. He does not regard his imprisonment "with that degree of mortification attached to imprisonment usually."

Before he left the witness-box he made a statement that deeply impressed every one who heard him, and was, practically, as strong a temperance lecture as was ever given in Toronto. Referring to his drinking habits, he said: "Whether my being drunk is an extenuation or an aggravation of my guilt I leave to His Honor." Alluding to his mother, his voice choked while he falteringly said that she always told him he was a weak, sickly, almost moribund babe, and was fed upon stimulants. With the tears running down his cheeks, the old man continued his story: "I am subjected to something that does not affect other men; I am a slave to physical and mental distress and utterly at the mercy of this power. I try to will against it, but the fatal weakness in my frame resists my will. I have gone out at midnight and prayed God for help to struggle against it It has driven me from home; it has fought me savagely ever since I can remember. Unconsciously I have done things under its baleful influence. I have got into trouble but I never thought I would wilfully perpetrate crimes like this. I do not pledge myself to anything. I know my life is done for; I am not able to repair the past, and I have no brightness in the future. I do not care for myself, but I fret about my children very much. I do not look for respect or consideration or comfort from my fellow-beings."

Only those who heard this pitiful confession can appreciate the solemnity of it. The little court room was crowded with listeners, and many eyes were moistened as they looked upon the grey-haired, intelligent man for whom life is a failure and hope is dead.

While Dr. Finney was in the Central Prison he was highly esteemed by every one and was given responsible duty there which he faithfully discharged. He was found guilty but Judge Macdougall remanded him for a week in order to see Dr. Aikens, the prison physician, and others before passing sentence.

SPORTING NEWS

The championship season of the National base ball League will open on April 19.

Peter Mahar has been matched to fight Lawarence Farrell of Denver, for $500 a side and a purse. The affair will come off at Denver on Feb. 10 or 14.

Schaefer, Ives and Slosson, play a series of three games in Cincinnati, beginning next Thursday. A purse of $1,500 and and the net gate receipts are the stakes.

The Police Department of Chicago will tolerate boxing contests no longer. Dixon will not be allowed to meet any of the Chicago pugilists who have been waiting for him for weeks.

It is rumored in yachting circles that Lord Dunraven will again challenge for the America's Cup and that the contest will take place next year. It is also said that he will build another yacht and hopes it will turn out to be so much superior to the Valkyrie that the Yankees will have a difficult job to defeat her.

The Quinte and Bay City hockey teams will meet to night for a friendly game, and it will doubtless be well contested. These two teams played a tie last week and this will decide the former game.

THE COLTS AT CAMPBELLFORD.

The Local Curlers Defeat Their Northern Neighbors by Three Shots.

The two rinks of the local curling club, who went north yesterday afternoon, returned at noon to-day. The game last evening was close and exciting for both rinks, and it was evident at the start to the local men that they had "their work cut out for them." The game was witnessed by a large number of spectators. The result will be seen by the following:

SOME

Of the neatest and newest porcelain tea sets you ever saw, just opened for the new year. Another fresh shipment of "SILVERWARE" is expected this week. We are quite busy and expect to be, and the times don't seem so bad. Some merchants do the very thing to help make money scarce by constantly harping in their ads, about hard times. Those who have lots of money stop spending it, because everybody says "times are bad," and the saying becomes a bad habit. Any merchant who is always advertising "hard times," "money scarce," "goods must go," &c. &c., makes a mistake.

WALL PAPER!

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper Campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future, you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos to this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long, with a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the drawing room, and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the Wall Paper world for facilitating the handling Wall Paper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year. We can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning, 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

Toronto Testimony.

DEAR SIRS,—Two years ago I had a bad attack of biliousness and took one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and can truly recommend it to any suffering from this complaint. MRS. CHARLES BROWN, Toronto.

Sore Throat Cured.

DEAR SIRS—I had a very sore throat for over a week and tried several medicines without relief until I heard of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I tried with great success, I think it is a fine medicine for sore throat, pain in the chest, asthma, bronchitis, and throat and lung troubles. MARIA MIDDLETON, Bobcaygeon, Ont.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.—C W. Snow & Co., Syracuse N. Y., writes: "Please send us ten gross of Pills. We are selling more of Parmelee's Pills than any other Pill we keep. They have a great reputation for a cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint." Mr Chas. A. Smith, Lindsay, writes: "Parmelee's Pills are an excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with severe headache, but these pills have cured her."

The man that doesn't want anything doesn't get it.

Sure but not slow.—People who have used Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil to get rid of pain, find that it is sure but not slow. A cough even, of long standing, is speedily controlled and cured by it. Rheumatism, neuralgia, corns, lame back, and swelled neck rapidly disappear when it is used.

Joseph Rasad, Percy, writes:—I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three years, and found it the best article I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me.

The man who can even pay his respects this year should receive proper credit.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

FOR SWEET SIXTEEN AND HER SISTER

BY

HELEN M. NORTH.

Sixteen seems a long distance away from sixty, and as a rule sixteen does not care to think of sixty. To a young girl, age means a wrinkled face, gray hair, feeble steps and various other unlovely things which do very often accompany the advance of years. There seems no possible connection between bright, fresh youth and weary age. But it is all in the same line of life, and though you may not realize it, dear girls, at sixteen you are arranging for what you will be at sixty. We are very likely to think that somewhere along in years there will be a great chasm dividing youth from old age, over which we will make a grand leap, and forgetting youth and its delights, settle down into an undesirable and undesired old womanhood, full of unhappiness and discontent.

But there comes no such time. The twenties glide into thirties; thirties melt away into forties, and these in turn disappear in the fifties and sixties, and we are still, at heart, much the same as in the beginning of the long course. Now if we start out at sixteen to make such a beautiful character that its charm will never fade, never grow old, it is quite possible to be exactly as happy, much more beloved and very much more useful. How to do it? The process is not difficult, but it requires certain processes that are much in the hands of every young girl if she will only use them.

What is the first thing that a girl notices in a new acquaintance, and what is the first question that is asked concerning the new room mate or classmate? It is not, Is she bright? or, Is she a good scholar? but, with most girls, Is she pretty? Now this is human nature, and it is quite impossible, even if it were desirable, to destroy the general love of beauty which dwells in the heart of nearly every girl and woman. I have no doubt that Eve was beautiful, and that Adam often told her so. The Garden of Eden was beautiful. The New Jerusalem is described as beautiful beyond anything that the eye has ever seen. The flowers and trees, birds and butterflies, the sky above and the earth beneath are full of beauty either of form or color. It must be that God cares something for beauty, else he would not have spread it about us and given us hearts to appreciate it. And, if reverence will let me say it, I haven't a doubt that in the New Jerusalem every glorified human face will be perfect with a beauty of its own; every feature symmetrical and glowing with a beauty of a Christ-like, heavenly life. There will be no deformity, no lack of symmetry, no deficiency of any sort. The beings who are to inhabit the Heavenly City will not be less glorious than their surroundings.

Personal beauty, then, is to be desired. It is not the best or grandest possession that a girl can have. It is not the most lasting nor, upon the whole, the most admired. It wins friends very readily, but it alone will not retain them. The new room-mate may be beautiful to look upon, a feast to the eyes; but if she monopolizes the looking glass for half an hour before dinner, if she takes three fourths of the closet room for her own pretty dresses, and always chooses the best chair and the cosiest nook, you soon forget how lovely her face is and wonder that you ever admired it. There must be something besides beauty to make one attractive.

But just a few words about personal appearance. It is a bitter drop in the cup of sweet sixteen if she be not fair to look upon. It seems to the plain girl of sixteen that she has been most unfairly treated in being denied a pretty face. Every one expects a young girl to be pleasing to look upon; but a tip tilted nose, a muddy complexion, refractory hair, or a wide mouth, assume the place of more real sorrow to many a nice girl who looks with undisguised envy upon her fairer friends.

Many girls of sixteen who are not beauties might look very much better than they do. There is a great charm in personal neatness. Have plenty of common toilet articles, even if you must omit an extra ribbon, and use them conscientiously, and you can hardly fail to be pleasant to look upon. Nice soaps—the purest white castile and the clean, unscented physicians' and surgeons' soap are nicer than the highly perfumed varieties; an abundance of orris-root powder, which is so inexpensive, yet has the fragrance of Parma violets, and a good supply of fresh, soft water and pure air to bathe, will make any girl sweet and agreeable to her friends, so far as personal appearance goes.

Many plain girls add to their want of good looks by constant undervaluation of the charms which they really possess. If your nose is not of a pure, Greek type, you may have fine eyes, beautiful either for their size or color. Or, your skin may be fair and rosy, your hair soft and abundant, your mouth may have Cupid's curves, or hand, foot or figure may be daintily fashioned. Why not live up to your best features and simply ignore, or at least do not talk about, and so call attention to, those that are less pleasing. Of course, vanity is despicable in any one, and I do not mean that you should be constantly thinking how you look. But only that you should not allow yourself to be unhappy because you are not so beautiful as the most fortunate of your friends.

As you have often been told, one great secret of happiness lies in contentment. Some wise man says: "If you cannot have what you like, be sure to like what you have." The jolliest, most popular girl of sixteen that I ever knew had red hair—good, old-fashioned, clear red—with a mite of a nose, eyes of an indefinite color, and a dumpy figure. Her skin was beautifully fair and delicately tinted, but I doubt if Kitty Waters ever thought of that; indeed, she never seemed to think about her looks at all, but was always so thoroughly in earnest in what she did, so happy in the few pleasures that fell to her lot, that she was wanted everywhere. No company was complete without her, and though she considered herself very fortunate if she could get one new dress in a season, and her funny little face added little to her appearance, yet the first enquiry in the dressing room, when the girls were out for an evening was: "Has Kitty Waters come yet? Has anyone seen Kitty Waters?" But there was nothing in the plain little face to make Kitty a general favorite.

Suppose your mouth and teeth are beautiful, keep them in such perfect condition that people will forget your deficiencies in admiring these excellencies. If your complexion is muddy and beyond the reach of the ordinary healthful remedies, wear clear, strong, rather dark colors, and avoid anæsthetic combinations, which by their vagueness only increase the difficulty. Red hair is so lovely, if rightly dressed, that it is hardly proper to speak of it as if it were undesirable. Yet some red-haired girls complain bitterly over their bright hair, and are very sensitive about allusions to fiery locks. The bright reddish tan shades which are so generally worn these years are extremely becoming to the lucky red haired girls. Be careful to choose a shade that looks well with your hair. An experienced dresser advises that one should dress according to the hair in the daytime and the eyes or skin in the evening. Red hair, when dress and hat are chosen in harmony, is capable of producing most delightful effects. If very bright, the red tan or yellowish terra cotta sinks it down by several tones.

A wide mouth is never unpleasant to look upon if winning smiles and pleasant words are always associated with it. A roly-poly figure may be clothed in hair line stripes, plain cloth with perpendicular trimmings, close short fur, aspiring hats and scanty draperies. The tall, thin girl may successfully wear the large, rich plaids, thick oven checks, voluminous draperies and spreading plumes. A little consideration will enable any sensible girl of taste to dress becomingly. In a Fifth avenue stage, the other day, a young miss entered who attracted universal attention and not a little amusement. Her wide mouth would not have been conspicuous had not she or her milliner had the bad taste to select as an ornament for the front of her hat, a long rather wide and showy gold ornament whose outlines were very nearly the same as those of the mouth, and whose shape and extent, while in the height of fashion, amusingly exaggerated the size and shape of the mouth.

Any girl is happier when she looks well, and a suitable amount of time spent in studying one's face and figure is both desirable and necessary if one would be at her best.

Perfectly Cured.

SIRS.—I have been greatly troubled with headache and bad blood for ten or twelve years. I started to take Burdock Blood Bitters in July, 1892, and now (January, 1893,) I am perfectly cured. HUGH DRAIN, Norwood, Ont.

At least one woman in five believes if she had been in Eve's place Adam would be in the garden yet.

Judge—Your age, Miss? "That your honor, I leave to your kind indulgence."

Dyspepsia or Indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the biliary ducts, loss of vitality in the stomach to secret the gastric juices, without which digestion cannot go on; also, being the principal cause of headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills taken before going to bed, for a while, never fail to give relief and effect a cure. Mr F. W. Ashdown, Ashdown, Ont., writes: "Parmelee's Pills are taking the lead against ten other makes which I have in stock."

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam,

HAGYARD'S Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, and all bronchial and lung troubles. Price 25c per bottle, or five for $1.00.

The carat, the measure of weight used by jewellers, was originally a grain of India wheat.

Gored by a Cow.

A fine colt belonging to Mr. Peter Lindsay, of Nixon, Ont., was badly hooked by a cow. Two bottles of Hagyard's Yellow Oil cured it. This invaluable remedy should be in every house. It cures cuts, sprains, bruises, burns, and all pains and aches in man or beast.

SIGN LANGUAGE.

Understood by All Prairie Tribes from the British Border to Texas.

The sign language is understood by all the prairie tribes from the British border southward to Texas. Without uttering a word, they can express any idea. James Mooney, of the bureau of ethnology, to whom the writer is indebted for his information on this interesting subject, has seen an entire council conducted by signs, seven languages, including English, being represented. The most expert sign-talker on the plains is Lieut. H. L. Scott, U.S.A. The system is surprisingly simple, so that any intelligent person can acquire its rudiments with little difficulty.

The uplifted forefinger is a man. Making a stroke across the forehead and held up, the forefinger is a white man—that is to say, a man who wears a hat. The hand making the motion as of combing out the hair of a woman. A stranger enters the tepee. One of the chiefs present waggles his hand on his wrist, signifying vacillation. That means, "Who are you?" If the newcomer is a Sioux, he passes his hand across his throat. That is the sign of the Sioux tribe, supposed by some to refer to the practice of cutting the throats of enemies.

The sign of the Cheyennes is the motion of cutting off a finger, referring to their practice of chopping off the fingers of enemies for necklaces. The Tonkowa were formerly cannibals, in allusion to which fact they held up a finger to represent a man, and then point the finger down the throat. Different tribes also have pictured symbols. That of the Delawares, some of whom have been driven out of the Indian territory, is a turtle. The eastern tribes revere the turtle, because it brought the world up from under the water. Originally the world was covered with water, all the people and animals being up in the sky. They sent messengers down to find land, but without success. Finally the turtle went, dived and brought up a piece of earth in its mouth, from which the dry land grew.—Washington Star.

An English Novelist.

The author of "The Heavenly Twins" and "Ideala" is of English parentage and of old Quaker stock on both sides. Her father held a coast guard's appointment in Ireland, and it was there that she was born, being the youngest but one of five children. Her father died when she was seven years old, and his widow returned to Yorkshire to live among her own people. Sarah Grand had not much systematic education. She went to school for a little over two years, but she was fond of reading and thinking. She was only sixteen when she married, becoming the stepmother of two boys, the eldest of whom was ten years old. She went with her husband to Ceylon, China and Japan, returning to England after five or six years. In Lancashire she wrote "Ideala" and published it at her own expense. It took two years to write "The Heavenly Twins," and three years to find a publisher for it. It is a book which has aroused more bad temper and antagonistic opinions than any other for many years, and publishers were afraid to take risks with it. An English critic says: "One observes that it is becoming the robust conviction of a large and increasing number of women that Sarah Grand has done an important work for her generation in writing and publishing the book." Mme. Grand now lives near London with her son and two step-sons.

The Greatest Yet.

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

OUT TO-DAY!

The tenth edition of "The Canadian Accountant" was published to-day.

The book now contains 369 octavo pages (33 pages more than the ninth edition). It is written, printed, bound and published in our own city. Its contents and its mechanical production are superior to any similar work, and it has a wider demand than any other. These claims for the book are simply statements of fact, anyone may verify.

No printed Key or reference book for "The Accountant" was ever in existence. Written footings and results of the various sets are furnished to teachers, but no printed aid of any kind is available for teacher or student to arrive at these.

"The Accountant" furnishes to the intelligent and industrious student a highway to the mastery of the science of accounts. There is no royal road to the knowledge of book keeping. It is alone by earnest study, well directed, that it can be achieved.

STARTLING FACTS.

EX-PURSER AND HIS SENIOR PARTNER CAUGHT IN THEIR OWN TRAP.

For some time past these two men have been worrying very much about KEYS and reference books and what they have been pleased to term "AMERICAN SHALLOWNESS." And they have falsely charged other business colleges with furnishing the same to their students.

The fact is the only KEYS and reference books and GUIDES used in Belleville, as these two men state, are used and advertised for use by these very men.

"The Canadian Accountant"—School authorities ordering the WORK are granted liberal discounts.—Teachers using the BOOK are FURNISHED with a KEY."

"The Canadian Accountant"—"By the Principals of Ontario Business College." "One of the Principals visited various parts of the United States to GATHER the latest AMERICAN IDEAS OF ACCOUNTING."

"ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

"The student is assigned his desk." "The Guide is put in his hand * * * * * and he opens books accordingly."

"ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

"The Canadian Accountant"—"Teachers using the WORK ARE FURNISHED with FOOTINGS and RESULTS for the various SETS,"

"ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

N.B.—In the city of Belleville, where the text book, with the KEY or reference book and GUIDE, is published there are 40 students of the Belleville Business College, holding positions as Teachers, Bookkeepers, Stenographers and Clerks. How does this compare with their 13 in Rochester?

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

Altogether Disappeared.

GENTLEMEN.—About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking B. B. B., took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine.

EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

A panic is a sudden desertion of us, and a going over to the enemy of our imagination.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Ill-deeds are doubled with an evil word; the sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Beware of desperate steps; the darkest day, live till to-morrow, will be passed away.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER IS THE BEST REMEDY FOR SPRAINS, BRUISES, SCALDS, BURNS & CUTS.

A Gentleman

Who formerly resided in Connecticut, but who now resides in Honolulu, writes: "For 20 years past, my wife and I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor, and we attribute to it the dark hair which she and I now have, while hundreds of our acquaintances, ten or a dozen years younger than we, are either gray-headed, white, or bald. When asked how our hair has retained its color and fullness, we reply, 'By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor—nothing else.'"

"In 1868, my affianced was nearly bald, and the hair kept falling out every day. I induced her to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and very soon, it not only checked any further loss of hair, but produced an entirely new growth, which has remained luxuriant and glossy to this day. I can recommend this preparation to all in need of a genuine hair-restorer. It is all that it is claimed to be."—Antonio Alarrun, Bastrop, Tex.

TALMAGE ON FESTIVITY.

LUXURIOUS FEASTS PREPARED BY THE GREAT MEN OF THE EARTH.

Lord Leicester and Cardinal Wolsey as Entertainers—But the Grandest Entertainment of All is the One in Which Our Lord the King is the Banqueter and the Angels Cup-Bearers.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Jan. 28.—The usual large audience assembled in the Tabernacle to-day and listened to a sermon of remarkable power and interest by Rev. Dr. Talmage, the subject being "Festivity." The text selected was Luke 14:17—"Come, for all things are now ready."

It was one of the most exciting times in English history when Queen Elizabeth visited Lord Leicester at Kenilworth Castle. The moment of her arrival was considered so important that all the clocks of the castle were stopped, so that the hands might point to that one moment as being the most significant of all. She was greeted to the gate with floating islands, and torches, and the thunder of cannon, and fireworks that set the night ablaze, and a great burst of music that lifted the whole scene into perfect enchantment. Then she was introduced in a dining-hall the luxuries of which astonished the world; four hundred servants waited upon the guests; the entertainment cost five thousand dollars each day. Lord Leicester made that great supper in Kenilworth Castle.

Cardinal Wolsey entertained the French ambassadors at Hampton Court. The best cooks in all the land prepared for the banquet; purveyors went out and traveled all the kingdom over to find spoils for the table. The time came. The guest were kept during the day hunting in the king's park, so that their appetites might be keen: and then, in the evening, to the sound of the trumpeters, they were introduced into a hall hung with silk and cloth of gold, and there were tables a-glitter with imperial plate, and laden with the rarest of meats, and a-blush with the costliest wines; and when the second course of the feast came it was found that the articles of food had been fashioned into the shape of men, birds and beasts, and groups dancing, and joustling parties riding against each other with lances. Lords and princes and ambassadors, out of cups filled to the brim, drank the health, first to the king of England and next to the king of France. Cardinal Wolsey prepared that great supper in Hampton Court.

But I have to tell you of a grander entertainment. My Lord, the King, is the banqueter. Angels are the cup-bearers. All the redeemed are the guests. The halls of eternal love frescoed with light, and paved with joy, and curtained with unfading beauty, are the banqueting place. The harmonies of eternity are the music. The chalices of Heaven are the plates; and I am one of the servants coming out with both hands filled with invitations, scattering them everywhere; and, oh, that for yourselves you might break the seal of the invitation and read the words written in red ink of blood by the tremulous hand of a dying Christ: "Come now, for all things are ready."

There have been grand entertainments where was a taking off—the wine gave out, or the servants were rebellious, or the light failed: but I have gone all around about this subject and looked at the redemption which Christ has provided, and I come here to tell you it is complete, and swing open the door of the feast, telling you that "All things are now ready."

In the first place, I have to announce that the Lord Jesus Christ himself is ready. Cardinal Wolsey came into the feast after the first course; he came in booted and spurred, and the guests arose and cheered him. But Christ comes in at the beginning of the feast; aye, he has been waiting eighteen hundred and ninety-four years for his guests. He had been standing on his mangled feet; he had had his sore hand on his punctured side; or he had been pressing his lacerated temple, waiting, waiting. It is wonderful that he had not been impatient, and that he has not said, "Shut the door, and let the laggard stay out;" but he has been waiting. No banqueter ever waited for his guest so patiently as Christ has waited for us. To prove how willing he is to receive us, I gather all the tears that rolled down his cheeks in sympathy for your sorrows; I gather all the drops of blood that channeled his brow, and his back, and his hands and feet, in trying to purchase your redemption; I gather all the groans that he uttered in midnight chill, and in mountain hunger, and in desert loneliness, and twist them into one cry—bitter, agonizing, overwhelming. I gather all the pains that shot from spear, and spike, and cross, jolting into one pang—remorseless, grinding, excruciating. I take that one drop of sweat on his brow, and under the Gospel glass that drop enlarges until I see in it lakes of sorrow and an ocean of agony. That Being standing before you now, emaciated, and gashed, and gory, coaxes for your love with a pathos in which every word is heart-break and every sentence martyrdom. How can you think he trifles!

Ahasuerus prepared a feast for one hundred and eighty days; but this feast is for all eternity. Lords and princes were invited to that; you, and I, and all our world are invited to this. Christ is ready. You know that the banqueters of olden time used to wrap themselves in robes prepared for the occasion; so, my Lord Jesus hath wrapped Himself in all that is beautiful. See how fair he is! His eye, His brow, His cheek, so radiant that the stars have no gleam, and the morning no brillancy compared with it. His face reflecting all the joys of the redeemed, His hand having the omnipotent surgery with which He opened blind eyes, and straightened crooked limbs, and hoisted the pillars of heaven, and swung the twelve gates which are twelve pearls. There are not enough cups in heaven to drink up this ocean of beauty. There are not ladders enough to scale this height of love. There are not enough cymbals to clap, or harps to thrum, or trumpets to peal forth the praises of this One altogether fair. Oh, thou flower of eternity, thy breath is the perfume of heaven! Oh, blissful day-break, let all people clap their hands in thy radiance! Chorus! Come, men, and saints and cherubim, and seraphim, and archangel—all heights, all depths, all immensities. Chorus! Roll Him through the heavens in a chariot of universal acclaim, over bridges of hosannas, under arches of coronation, along by the great towers chiming with eternal jubilee. Chorus! "Unto Him who hath loved us, and washed us from our sins in His own blood, to Him be glory, world without end!"

I have a word of five letters, but no sheet white enough on which to write it, and no pen good enough with which to inscribe it. Give me the fairest leaf from the heavenly records—give me the pencil with which the angel records his victory—and then, with my hand strung to supernatural ecstasy, and my pen dipped in the light of the morning, I will write it out in capitals of love: "J-E-S-U-S!" It is this One, infinitely, to whom you are invited. Christ is waiting for you, waiting as the banqueter waits for the delayed guest—the meats smoking, the beakers brimming, the minstrels with fingers on the stiff string, waiting for the clash of hoofs at the gateway. Waiting for you as a mother waits for her son who went off ten years ago, dragging her bleeding heart along with him. Waiting! O! give me a comparison intense enough, hot enough, importunate enough to express my meaning—something high as heaven, and deep as hell, and long as eternity. Not hoping that you can help me with such a comparison, I will say: "He is waiting as only the all-sympathetic Christ can wait for the coming back of a lost soul."

Bow the knee and kiss the Son,
Come and welcome, sinner; come,

Again, the Holy Spirit is ready. Why is it that so many sermons drop dead—that Christains songs do not get their wing under the people—that so often prayer goes no higher than a hunter's "hullos?" It is because there is a link wanting—the work of the Holy Spirit. Unless that Spirit give grappling hooks to a sermon, and lift the prayer, and waft the song, everything is a dead failure. That Spirit is willing to come at our call and lead you to eternal life; or ready to come with the same power with which he unhorsed Saul on the Damascus turnpike, and broke down Lydia in her fine store, and lifted the three thousand from midnight into midnoon at the Pentecost. With that power the Spirit of God now beats at the gate of your soul. Have you not noticed what homely and insignificant instrumentality the Spirit of God employs for man's conversion? There was a man on a Hudson River boat to whom a tract was offered. With indignation he tore it up and threw it overboard. But one fragment lodged on his coatsleeve; and he saw on it the word "eternity;" and he found no peace until he was prepared for that great future. Do you know what passage it was that caused Martin Luther to see the truth? "The just shall live by faith." Do you know there is one—just one—passage that brought Augustine from a life of dissipation? "Put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh to fulfill the lusts thereof." It was just one passage that converted Hedley Vicars, the great soldier, to Christ: "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin." Do you know that the Holy Spirit used one passage of Scripture to save Jonathan Edwards? "Now, unto the King, eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, our Saviour, be glory." One year ago on Thanksgiving day, I read for my text, "O, give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good; for His mercy endureth for ever." And there is a young man in the house to whose heart the Holy Spirit took that text for his eternal redemption. I might speak of my own case. I will tell you I was brought to the peace of the Gospel through the Syro-Phœnician woman's cry to Christ: "Even the dogs eat of the crumbs that fall from the Master's table.

Do you know that the Holy Spirit almost always uses insignificant means? Eloquent sermons never save anybody; metaphysical sermons never save anybody; philosophical sermons never save anybody. But the minister comes some Sabbath to his pulpit, worn out with engagements and the jangling of a frenzied door bell: he has only a text and two or three ideas, but he says: "O Lord, help me. Here are a good many people I may never meet again. I have not much to say. Speak Thou through my poor lips;" and before the service is done there are tearful eyes and a solemnity like the judgment. The great French orator, when the dead king lay before him, looked up and cried: "God only is great;" and the triumph of his eloquence has been told by the historians. But I have not heard that one soul was saved by the oratorical flourish. Worldly critics may think that the early preaching of Thomas Chalmers was a masterpiece. But Thomas Chalmers says he never began to preach until he came out of the sick room, white and emaciated, and told men the simple story of Jesus. In the great day of eternity it will be found that the most souls have been brought to Christ, not by the Bossuets, and Massillons, and Bourdaloues but by humble men who, in the strength of God, and believing in the eternal Spirit, invited men to Jesus. There were wise slaves—there were excellent ointments, I suppose, in the time of Christ, for blind or inflamed eyes. But Jesus turned His back upon them, and put the tip of His finger to His tongue, and then, with the spittle that adhered to the finger, He anointed the eyes of the blind man, and daylight poured into His blinded soul. So it was now that the Spirit of God takes that humble prayer-meeting talk, which seems to be the very saliva of Christian influence, and anoint the eyes of the blind, and pours the sunlight of pardon and peace upon the soul. Oh, my friend, I wish we could feel it more and more, that if any good is done it is by the power of God's omnipotent Spirit. I do not know what hymn may bring you to Jesus. I do not know what words of the Scripture lesson I read may save your soul. Perhaps the Spirit of God may hurl the very next text into your heart: "Come, for all things are now ready."

Agani, the Church is ready. Oh, man, if I could take the curtain off these Christian hearts, I could show you a great many anxieties for your redemption. You think that old man is asleep, because his head is down and his eyes are shut. No, he is praying for your redemption, and hoping that the words spoken may strike your hearts. Do you know the air is full of prayer? Do you know that prayer is going up from Fulton street prayer meeting and from Friday evening prayer meeting, and going up every hour of the day for the redemption of the people? And if you should start toward the door of the Christian Church, how quickly it would fly open. Hundreds of people would say: "Give that man room at the sacrament. Bring the silver bowl for his baptism. Give him the right hand of Christian fellowship. Bring him into all Christian associations." Oh, you wanderer on the cold mountains, come into the warm sheepfold. I let down the bars and bid you come. With the Shepherd's crook point you the way. Hundreds of Christian hands beckon you into the Church of God. A great many people do not like the Church, and say it is a great mass of hypocrites, but it is a glorious Church with all its imperfections. Christ bought it, and hoisted the pillars, and swung its gates, and lifted its arches, and curtained it with upholstery crimson with crucifixion carnage. Come into it.

We are a garden walled around
Chosen and made peculiar ground:
A little spot enclosed by grace,

Again, the angels of God are ready. A great many Christians think that the talk about angels is fanciful. You say it is a very good subject for theological students who have just begun to sermonize; but for older men it is improper. There is no more proof in that Bible that there is a God than that there are angels. Why, do not they swarm all out Jacob's ladder? Are we not told that they conducted Lazarus upward? that they stand before the throne, their faces covered up with their wing, while they cry: "Holy, holy, is the Lord God Almighty!" Did not David see thousands and thousands? Did not one angel slay one hundred and eighty-five thousand men in Sennacherib's army? And shall they not be the chief harvesters at the judgment?

There is a line of loving, holy, mighty angels reaching to heaven. I suppose they reach from here to the very gate, and when an audience is assembled for Christian worship the air is full of them. If each one of you have a guardian angel, how many celestials are there here? They crowd the place, they hover, they flit about, they rejoice. Look! that spirit has just come from the Throne. A moment ago it stood before Christ, and heard the doxology of the glorified. Look! Bright immortal, what news from the golden city! Speak, spirit blest! The response comes melting on the air: "Come, for all things are now ready!" Angels ready to bear the tidings, angels ready to drop the benediction, angels ready to kindle the joy. They have stood in glory—they know all about it. They have felt the joy that is felt where there are no tears and no graves; immortal health, but no invalidism; songs, but no groans; wedding bells, but no funeral torches—eyes that never weep—hands that never blister—heads that never faint—hearts that never break—friendships that never weakened.

Ready, all of them. Ready thrones, principalities and powers! Ready seraphim and cherubim! Ready, Michael, the archangel!

Again, your kindred in glory are all ready for your coming. I pronounce modern spiritualism a fraud and a sham. If John Milton and George Whitefield have no better business than to crawl under a table and rattle the leaves, they had better stay at home in glory. While I believe that modern spiritualism is bad, because of its mental and domestic ravages, common sense, enlightened by the Word of God, teaches us that our friends in glory sympathize with our redemption. This Bible says plainly that there is joy in heaven among the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth; and if angels rejoice and know of it, shall not our friends, standing among them, know it? Some of these spirits in glory toiled for your redemption. When they came to die their chief grief was that you were not a Christian. They said: "Meet me in heaven; and put their hand out from the cover and said, "Good-bye." Now, suppose you should cross over from a sinful life to a holy life. Suppose you should be born into the kingdom. Suppose you should now say: "Farewell, O deceitful world! Get thee gone, my sin? Fie upon all the follies! O, Christ, help me or I perish? I take Thy promise. I believe Thy Word. I enter Thy service." Suppose you should say and do this? Why, the angel sent to you would shout upward, "He is coming!" and the angel, poising higher in the air, would shout it upward, "He is coming;" and it would run all up the line of light, from wing to wing, and from trumpet to trumpet, until it reached the gate; and then it would flash to "the house of many mansions," and it would find out your kindred there, and before your tears of repentance had been wiped from the cheek, and before you had finished your first prayer, your kindred in glory would know of it, and another heaven would be added to their joy, and they would cry, "My prayers are answered; another loved one saved. Give me a harp with which to strike the joy. Saved! saved! saved!"

"If I have shown you that "all things are ready," that Christ is ready, that the Holy Spirit is ready, that the Church is ready, that the angels in glory are ready, that your glorified kindred are ready, then with all the concentrated emphasis of my soul, I ask you if you are ready? You see my subject throws the whole responsibility upon yourself. If you do not get into the King's banquet, it is because you do not accept the invitation. You have the most important invitation. Two arms stretched down from the cross, soaked in blood from elbow to finger-tip; two lips quivering in mortal anguish; two eyes beaming with infinite love, "Saying, come, for all things are now ready."

WILSON BILL IN THE SENATE

MATERIAL CHANGES WILL BE MADE BY THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Bill Will Be In Committee For At Least a Month—Interested Industries To Be Consulted—A Hot Fight Expected Over the Income Tax Rider—The Bill Expected To Carry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The Wilson tariff bill was laid before the Senate at 4.15 p.m., and on motion of Mr. Voorhees was referred to the Finance Committee.

The resolution of Senator Stewart denying the right of the Treasury to issue bonds, which became the subject for discussion during the morning hour, succeeded in side-tracking everything else.

Mr. Quay gave notice of an amendment he intended to offer to the Tariff bill which provides for the free coinage of silver under the act of Feb. 28, 1878, the purchase of gold bullion and the issuance of 40-year Treasury notes bearing low interest, all of which promises to renew the financial discussion of the extra session. The Senate adjourned until Monday.

Much interest is manifested as to whether or not the Finance Committee will permit extended hearings to be had on the bill in present shape. In this connection it is said that Senator McPherson returned to the city for the purpose of assisting in the settlement of this question and that his vote will be cast with the reports in favor of hearings.

Mr. Voorhees, it is understood, does not look with very much favor upon the proposition to have hearings on as extensive a manner as they were conducted before the House Committee on Ways and Means. He believes circulars sent out by the committee will do much to obviate the necessity for such work, and that unless some important changes have been made there will be no need of extending hearings.

Republican members of the committee, while admitting that the circulars will do good and throw much light on the pathway of the committee, do not believe that they will accomplish all that is hoped for and, holding to this belief, they will, aided by Mr. McPherson, insist that hearings be had.

The probability is therefore that the bill will be in committee at least a month.

The fight over the income tax promises to be warm and exciting. There are a number of Republicans, notably those who opposed the repeal of the Sherman law, who will vote to keep the income tax on the bill for the reason that, if it is taken off, the decrease in the revenues will, from their point of view, be made by an issue of bonds. So that, while voting to keep this tax on the bill, these senators will vote against the whole measure on its final passage.

So far as can be gathered at so early a date the indications are that the bill will be passed by the Senate by strict party vote, and Democratic members of the Financial Committee assert that they believe a very material change would be made in it.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Daily News says, in a leader on the passage of the Wilson Tariff bill by the House of Representatives: "The bill is a happy augury for an industrial revival in the United States. Still it is far short of what the traders in Great Britain consider a measure founded on rational principles."

Not a Free Trade Measure.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—The Vossische and Freisinnige Zeitung, both radical free trade organs, comment at length yesterday on the passage of the Wilson bill in the House of Representatives yesterday. They agree that although it is impossible to regard the bill as a free trade measure, even the partial reduction of customs duties must be hailed with pleasure by the people of the United States, who soon will feel the benefits from an increase of trade.

Baby's Burning Skin

My little girl was troubled with itching, burning sores. Doctor called it Italian itch. He doctored her three months, did not do her any good. Every part of her person was covered with sores, excepting head. After taking CUTICURA REMEDIES two weeks the itch stopped, and in four weeks the sores were all gone.

Baby Suffers Greatly

My baby boy suffered from birth with eczema. His little neck, arms, and thighs were one raw and exposed mass of red and inflamed flesh. His sufferings were intense. No rest for us day or night. Doctors failed to relieve. Tried CUTICURA. It worked wondrously, relief immediate, cure complete.

WM. A. GARDNER, 184 E. 123d St., N. Y.

Baby's Skin Peeled Off

Short time after birth baby broke out with eruption. The skin was peeled off, the face was almost raw. Family doctor said not much to be done. We tried several remedies, all failed. Then tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. Did not think they would amount to much, but the result was wonderful. One set cured the child.

W. A. BANG, 174 William St., Newark, N. J.

Baby's Awful Eczema

My baby had eczema. Oh, his torturing agonies! Tried two hospitals and seven doctors in this city, no benefit. Tried CUTICURA REMEDIES, relief was immediate. In nine weeks was entirely cured. Now as fair a boy as any mother could wish.

STARTLING FACTS.

EX-PURSER AND HIS SENIOR PARTNER CAUGHT IN THEIR OWN TRAP.

For some time past these two men have been worrying very much about KEYS and reference books and what they have been pleased to term "AMERICAN SHALLOWNESS." And they have falsely charged other business colleges with furnishing the same to their students.

The fact is the only KEYS and reference books and GUIDES used in Belleville, as these two men state, are used and advertised for use by these very men.

"The Canadian Accountant"—School authorities ordering the WORK are granted liberal discounts.—Teachers using the BOOK are FURNISHED with a KEY."

"The Canadian Accountant"—"By the Principals of Ontario Business College." "One of the Principals visited various parts of the United States to GATHER the latest AMERICAN IDEAS OF ACCOUNTING."

"ROBINSON & JOHNSON,"

"The student is assigned his desk." "The Guide is put in his hand * * * * and he opens books accordingly."

"ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

"The Canadian Accountant"—"Teachers using the WORK are FURNISHED with FOOTINGS and RESULTS for the various SETS,"

ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

N.B.—In the city of Belleville, where the text book, with the KEY or reference book and GUIDE, is published there are 40 students of the Belleville Business College, holding positions as Teachers Bookkeepers, Stenographers and Clerks. How does this compare with their 13 in Rochester?

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

THAT ESTATE ACT.

Before the passing of the Mowat "Devolution of Estates Act," if a man died without a will, his goods, chattels and personal property descended to his wife, children, or, if no children, to his next of kin—and, in order to distribute the proceeds, collect in and pay debts, some person had to (as is now required) get letters of administration, and in so doing give a bond, himself and two sureties in double the value of the goods to the Surrogate court. As a rule, this estate would rarely exceed, amongst the rural population, more than $1,000 or $1,500. It was difficult often to coax disinterested, safe bondsmen to join the administrator to secure the value of $2,000 or $3,000. Every person who has taken letters of administration knows, by sad experience, the trouble he has had to induce two others to join him.

Since the passing of the Devolution of Estates Act, if a man dies without a will, under this iniquitous Act the real estate devolves upon and is vested in the administrator. The land and houses, barns, &c., as well as the goods &c., must be valued, and bondmen furnished to double the value of not only the personal but real estate; and if the farm and buildings thereon are worth say $4000 or $5000, and the personal property worth say $1000 or $1500, the administration must be given with two safe sureties to the Surrogate for $10,000 or $12,000, or double the value.

Amongst the most wealthy people, it has been the experience of nearly every man who has had to get administration, that it is next to impossible to obtain bondsmen for such large amounts. If there was any necessity for the bond to extend to the land to secure its value, there would not be so much reason to complain; but there is no necessity whatever for the bond to extend to the land and buildings. They are permanent, immovable, and not liable to be dissipated, if the system of descent had continued as before Mowat altered the law. Why he altered the law, making land to be deemed in law for the purposes of distributing personal property, is a mystery; before the change, if a man died without a will, leaving an infant a day old, it at once inherited the land; it was the true and only owner, and on its arrival at the age of 21 years, the disposal age, the land would be sure to be there for it. As Mowat's law now is, the administrator may sell the land, pocket the money, and skip—as more than one has done in this country—to parts unknown.

There are now and then instances of men dying leaving very young children innocent of their rights, and when they shall have arrived at mature years, will hunt in vain for their land or its value. Time enough has not passed to see the terrible effect this iniquitous law will have in such instances.

One is almost afraid to write upon this subject, through fear of putting it into the heads of dishonest administrators to sell out what so becomes vested in them, and leave.

THE S. S. CONVENTION.

The announcement that the next Convention for Ontario is to be held here this year will be received with satisfaction by the residents of the city in general. The spreading abroad, by several hundreds of prominent ladies and gentlemen who will compose the convention, of their impressions of Belleville and her people cannot fail to benefit the city, whilst our people will derive advantage, instruction and profit from the proceedings of the gathering and the influence of its members. We trust that everything will be done to assist the various committees in the work of preparation for the meeting.

In Olden Times.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

SPORTING NEWS

The Kingston papers say the Athletic hockey club have been twice disappointed by the Y. M. C. A. team of this city, but they will shortly be accommodated with a game that will no doubt be another disappointment to them.

The Quinte's lined up last evening for their game with the Bay City's, but the latter did not put in an appearance.

The following team went to Napanee today on the 12:45 train to play a friendly game of hockey with the team of that town: Phillips, goal; Taber, point; Cook, C. point; Thompson, Weller, Twining and Bogart, forwards; Quay, spare man.

Union of Young People's Associations.

The quarterly meeting of the Union of Young People's Associations was held in John St. Presbyterian church yesterday evening. The proceedings were interesting and well sustained. Miss Minnie Fleming, of John St. Presbyterian Christian Endeavor, read a paper on "Missions to Sailors"; Miss Storey, of Bridge St. Epworth League of Christian Endeavor, one on "The City Mission"; and Miss Bosley, from the Tabernacle Epworth League of Christian Endeavor, one on "Why should we give our money to support Missions." Miss Ketcheson, of the Baptist Christian Endeavor, gave an address on the Missions of the Baptist Church. Each of the papers and the addresses were brief, condensed, original in thought, and well delivered, and these, with the singing of a number of suitable hymns, and several concise prayers, made up a programme of variety and excellence. Mr. David Sinclair, President of the Union, was the chairman, and by his tact and promptness, added to the success of the meeting.

The Two Foes.

In a great war for consecrated ground
One who loved Christ and one who served Mahound
Encountered madly, so that Christian knight
And zealous Moslem fell in that fierce fight
Then, since so wildly they had waged the strife,
Their anger scarce could pass with passing life.
O'er their pale corpses hung their souls, yet wroth
Till a strong angel bent and raised them both.
"What!" shrieked the pagan; "Wouldst thou bear my foe?"
"In angel's arms shall a cursed heathen go?"
Cried the proud knight. The radiant angel bent
His stately head to hush their discontent.
"Know, ye bewildered souls," he softly said,
"All those who bravely battled, being dead,
Praise God alike in one angelic host,
Who to serve truth have counted life well lost.
For men, 'midst whirling clouds of smoke and flame,
God's shadow dimly see, and give it name;
Some on Jehovah call, on Allah some,
And some fight bravely, though their lips be dumb
Learn, faithful spirits, when the strife waxed hot
For the same God ye fought, yet knew it not;
And, now the pangs of death are overpast,

The Convention is to be Held Here

The meeting called by the City Sunday School Association to meet in John St. Presbyterian Church yesterday evening to discuss the propriety of inviting the Sunday School Association for Ontario to hold its annual meeting here, was presided over by the Rev. M. W. Maclean, M.A., President of the Association.

The subject was discussed in all its bearings, the cost, the city's ability to entertain five or six hundred delegates, the practicability of the convention, the gain to the local schools, etc. The chairman, Rev. D. O. Crossley, and Messrs. A. G. Northrup, W. H. Gordon, John Forin, Wm. Johnston, D. Sinclair, F. E. O'Flynn and C. P. Holton being the "chief speakers." The consensus of opinion was in favor of the convention being invited and a motion to that effect was adopted.

Dr. Gibson delivered an address last evening on "Hygiene and Exercise" before a good sized audience of young men. His lecture throughout was pointed and practical in its bearing on the lines of young men as individuals and as members of the community. Next Friday evening it is proposed to give a reception to commercial men, those engaged in offices and stores will be invited and a good time is promised.

The delegates to the Provincial Convention will report at the men's meeting tomorrow afternoon. The Women's Auxiliary meet on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the Board of Directors on Tuesday evening.

THE STORY OF AN OTTAWA BUSINESS MAN.

Afflicted With Deafness and Partial Paralysis—Obliged to Give up His Business on Account of these Infirmities—To the Surprise of His Friends Has Been Fully Restored to Health.

From the Ottawa Free Press

Mr. R. Ryan, who is well known in Ottawa and vicinity, having been until recently a merchant of this city, relates an experience that cannot fail to prove interesting to all our readers. It is well known to Mr. Ryan's acquaintances that he has been almost totally deaf since twelve years of age, and that some time ago this affliction was made still more heavy by a stroke of paralysis. Recently it has been noticed that Mr. Ryan has been cured of these troubles, and a reporter thinking that his story would be of benefit to the community requested permission to make it public, and it was given by Mr. Ryan as follows:—"In the fall of 1883, when I was about twelve years of age, I caught a severe cold in the head, which gradually developed into deafness, and daily became worse, until in the month of July, 1893, I had become totally deaf, and was forced on account of this to leave school. The physician whom I consulted informed me that my deafness was incurable, and I concluded to bear my ailments as well as I could. In 1889 I started a store about two miles from Calumet Island, Que., but not being able to converse with my patrons on account of my deafness I found it almost impossible to make business a success. However, things were getting a little brighter until last April, when I took a severe pain, or rather what appeared to be a cramp, in my right leg below the knee. I was then doing business in Ottawa, having come to the city from the place above mentioned. At first I gave no heed to the pain, thinking it would disappear; but on the contrary it grew worse, and in the course of a few weeks I had to use a cane and could scarcely bear my weight on my leg. I continued to go about this way for two weeks, when a similar cramp attacked my left arm, and in less than two weeks, in spite of all I could do for it, I could not raise the arm four inches from my body and I found that the trouble was partial paralysis. Judge my condition—a leg and an arm useless, and deaf besides. Being able to do nothing else, I read a great deal and one day noticed in one of the city papers of a man being cured of paralysis by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I immediately began the use of Pink Pills and before I had finished the third box I noticed a curious sensation in my leg, and the pain began to leave it excepting when I endeavored to walk. Well the improvement continued, gradually extended to my arm, and by the time I had completed the seventh box my leg and arm were as well as ever, and my general health was much better. And now comes a strange part of my experience. I began to wonder why people who were conversing with me would shout so loud. Of course they had always had to shout owing to my deafness, but I was under the impression that they were beginning to shout much louder. After having bade them "speak lower" several times, I enquired why they still persisted in shouting, or rather yelling at me, and was surprised to be informed that they were not speaking as loud as formerly. This led to an investigation and judge my joy when I found that Pink Pills were curing the deafness which was supposed to have been caused by catarrh. I continued the Pink Pills for a month and a half longer, and I now consider myself perfectly cured after having been deaf for ten years. I can hear ordinary conversation and am fit for business, though I am yet a little dull of hearing, but this is not deafness, it is simply dullness, the result of my ten years inability to hear conversations, which still leaves me with an inclination not to heed what is being said. But I am all right and you may say for me that I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the best medicine known to man, and that I shall be forever indebted to them for my renewed health and strength.

Newspaper ethics usually prevent the publication in the news columns of anything that might be construed as an advertisement, and thus much valuable information is suppressed that might prove of incalculable benefit to thousands. The praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be sung throughout the land, they should be familiar in every household, and newspapers should unite in making them so.

An analysis shows that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after affects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, all diseases depending on vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of any nature.

Dr Williams' Pink Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., and Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes (never in loose form by the dozen or hundred, and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape) at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, from either address.

Visiting Oddfellows.

In speaking of the visit paid Deseronto Lodge by the degree team and brethren of Belleville, No. 1, of this city, the Tribune gives the following concerning the supper and toasts that followed the degree work: After supper a series of toasts followed, and elicited a flood of eloquence. "Our visiting brethren" was responded to by Bro. John Weese, Noble Grand of Belleville lodge, Bro. Jas. Collip, Patriarch of Moira Encampment and the D.D.G.M., of Belleville. "The Grand Lodge of Ontario" drew forth a reply from Bro. Allan McFee, of Belleville, and Bro. H. Aylesworth gave a song in fine style. "The members of the House of Commons," brought up Mr. W. B. Northrup, M. P., who delivered an address of great eloquence and power which was listened to with undivided attention and was frequently applauded. "Sister Lodges," was the next toast. It elicited appropriate speeches from Bro. Scott, of Argyle lodge, Napanee; Bro. Sherry, of Thomasburg lodge; while Bro. E. T. Miller contributed an excellent vocal solo. "The Ladies" was a congenial theme for Bro. Thos. Gault, who eloquently championed the cause of the fair sex. Bro. E. W. Scott, of the Rebekah lodge, also gave an eloquent address in reply to this toast. The proceedings were brought to a close by the National Anthem and the visitors were subsequently escorted to the train. A more jolly lot of visitors never struck Deseronto.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS OF MISSIONARY LIFE IN AFRICA.

Mrs. Bird Wants a Larger House—The Girls Must be Taught—Wise Plans for Converting the Heathen—War Amongst the Blacks—Many Interesting Incidents.

The following letter from Mrs. Bird to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lake, will be read with much interest:

KAVUNGA, Central Africa, Feb., 1893.

MY DEAREST PARENTS,—My thoughts go out to you to-night, as we have received no letters for some time. We are earnestly desirous of having a good sized house built, in which we can have accommodation for at least 20 girls of all ages—for we feel that unless the rising generation is reached in some manner like this, and taught cleanliness, modesty, morality and industry, but foremost and above all Christ Jesus, and kept under a godly influence and life, there is little hope for these women. We know that to follow out our plans will cost much money. And then there would be food and clothing also for the girls, but God is able for this and we wait on Him who alone can meet our expectations. We hope much from them, for they are not steeped in superstitions and fetishness as the older ones are; then again a child has a life-time to spend for Jesus. It is my privilege to answer gifts sent from two different schools by this mail. May God bless the children. On going to an Ocimbundu camp last week I met a crowd of Sundas, with their guns, they were very much excited on seeing my tipola. They turned to me with one accord and came towards me and began speaking in hurried tones, evidently much affected about something. After listening to their story my man informed me that a Sunda slave of the Queen's had stolen one of their women (a free woman) and sold her to an Ocimbundu who was then in camp. She left two children at home and had gone to sell her meal at the camp when this impudent fellow laid hold on her and sold her. One of the Sundas said I was his friend, but not one of them would dare tell the Queen why. I told them to follow my tipola and we would meet Cyril at the next path and see what could be done. We were on our way to have a meeting. C. made known the story at the camp, the woman was put in our midst and the cloth, gun and powder returned and the woman went away joyfully—such is the poor Sunda's life. News arrived that war had broken out on Friday between the Queen's son and a chief, a few days' travel from here. The Queen and her band started on Sunday to help the son (Ciuyama), it rained very hard and the Queen was obliged to return, but the others went on. Late Monday night, Prince Consort, the Queen's husband, was brought back, having been shot in the leg with a bullet of iron (native make). On Tuesday we were sent for to bring medicine to help him. We went and found the leg much swollen. They had made a splint of grass reeds and tied two little strips of boards on each side. Not bad for natives to do, was it? But the leg was turned and crooked. I took off the reeds and sought to probe for the bullet. Well, before we would consent to do anything we told them we would do our best and he must do as we told him and not resort to any fetishness. No one else must doctor him, and with our little knowledge we did the best we could and left. On going up the next day we found the protections removed and the leg turned. They had put on their fetish medicine above and below the fracture, had cupped it and drawn some blood from the lower part of the chest. Of course we objected and told them it must either be us or them who must do the doctoring. They wanted it half and half, but we just asked for our things and left, for if he died, they would blame us, and if he recovered they would say their Fetish Gods did it. Do you blame us for not working with them? We could not think it right to even that far give place to the devil. Wars here don't trouble us much, as a rule they seldom kill any one—perhaps wound a few slaves. We refused to sell any powder for meal while war was going on. The latest request was for just one white man's cartridge to kill the one who shot the Prince, and again the answer was, no. It was wrong to kill one another and we could not help them. The ant hills all around us have been covered with begonias; the mounds were a pretty sight when in full bloom. Our seeds disappointed us much. We got a few Irish potatoes from a native last year and planted them, but they did not come up then. This year to our surprise up they came and although small have pretty full hills. We each had one for tea. Our wheat crop was a failure again this year. The ground is anything but fertile here. The people have their seasons for certain articles of trade; in the dry season they will sell meal for bread or a wee pinch of salt; then in the wet season dried meat or fish, not nice fresh ones, but dried fish partially cleaned and dried in the sun, minus salt of course. Some times you will find one wanting a china button or needle, thread, etc. These people have but little love for one another. You never see anyone go out to take tea with their friends here. When one of our girls was with us a year I told her to ask some of her friends to come and have tea with her. In astonishment she replied whom shall I ask? I said just go and tell your mother to hunt up some one and fetch them down with you. Well, she went and returned in great glee with two little boys, two girls and her mother to take care of them. Well they did eat and and play too. My second girl is looking forward to the day when she will have been here a year, when she can have two or three friends in to take tea with her. Cyril has been away for a few days seeking honey, meat or fish. I was aroused about eleven o'clock by our oxen lowing and sharp reports of guns. What could be the matter, I enquired of the girls. Soon we heard footsteps, and was informed lions were about and they had killed two of the Queen's oxen. It is just a year since we first heard them. The grass is very long now, so they pay this part of the country a visit. The next night the children were afraid to go to sleep, so I took the opportunity of telling them when I had fears I just went to God and asked Him to take it away and to take care of me. I then asked them if they would like me to ask my Father to take care of them and keep the lions away. So we knelt down on our mud floor and had our first prayer meeting in Socale. I could not pray very freely in a strange tongue, but God understood and answered, and the children went singing to bed. What have we to fear? Has His word not told us, "The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear Him and delivereth them, and we believe God." Cyril returned, he found no honey in the country. It is only plentiful every other year. That means we must get an extra load of sugar the year that honey is scarce. So far I have had two women's meetings in Socale. The first was at our place; the second at the Umbala. The queen and her slaves were my listeners; as well as a good crowd of men and boys who came because they were told it was for women, and I did not send them away. My heart was full; it makes one's heart almost burst with joy at the privilege of telling to sinners that Jesus died to rescue them from hell, so that all who will may believe and be saved. Praise God with us that the name that is above every name is being sounded out where it never was heard before.

Hope of earth, and joy of Heaven,"

Why don't everyone jump at it when it is for their happiness and salvation is a marvel to me. There truly will be some saved Africans who will have a claim in Heaven through the blood of Jesus. "From every nation and tongue, kindred and people who will worship him as their Saviour." What a day it will be. Oh to be there!

MARCH.—I am not feeling very well, took a severe chill near noon, fever came on and lasted for several days; bed seemed a most inviting place. Our first man's house was so eaten by ants we were obliged to take it down, and when the natives saw it falling they cried out Nuguage is dead. This evening we went to Umbala to enter a complaint against a slave woman of Sacimyama's who had been cutting down our fence and stealing it for firewood, by making a gap in the fence the goats got out and are at the mercy of hyenas, for it is almost impossible to find them in the long grass. Well, we laid our complaint before her Majesty and after a good deal of plain talking she told Sacimyama that he must pay us a fine of 24 yds. of cloth, which he did. He brought it out in eight yd. lengths and laid it full length on the ground. Cyril took it and told the queen she had done what was right and we were satisfied. Then C. explained to her and the crowd of people assembled to listen to the white man's case, that we came here to preach Christ, that we wanted to be friendly to the people and them to be friendly to us. We did not want their cloth nor anything that was their's. So Cyril handed back the cloth as a present to Sacimyama. His thanks were overwhelming, as he never expected to see his cloth again. The natives vowed their friendship, for they had never known a man to give back cloth after it was paid to him as a fine. This gave us a good opportunity of again telling out the gospel of Jesus Christ.

APRIL.—Cyril is down with fever. I was up most of the night with him. He tried to shake it off, but in vain, we soon found he was in for another attack of remittent fever, vomiting for three or four days, then a day of rest, followed by a night of intense agony. I tried almost everything to stop the vomiting. Some things relieved for a time but soon lost their power. At last I tried hydropathic treatment, and gave hot water 2 tablespoons every five minutes for six hours, which I might say cured him. He was very weak, but thank God, after nine days battling, the fever left him. He looked like a ghost, and it was really an exertion for him to speak. The great difficulty now was to regain strength and be able to digest properly nutritious food. I was thankful for a little goat's milk and some custard powder that was sent to us. Don't bother to send any food, for when we are in health we can manage our own native fare, but if you send anything let it be something for times of illness and convalescence, for that is the time we feel sorely in need of home luxuries, but thank God, our physician both of body and soul, was on hand and was pleased to help us.

Police Court.

In the abusive language case of Mrs. Evans against Mrs. McAdams, the plaintiff and defendant swore in direct opposition to each other, but the Magistrate placed most credence on Mrs. Evans' testimony. Mrs. McAdams got off by promising to reform.

Cynthia Todd was charged by Joseph Yarwood, Murney St., with taking from his house property belonging to him. It appears Mrs. Todd had been in Chicago taking in the world's fair and when she returned her exchequer was depleted and she took up her residence with Yarwood, who is her son-in-law. The Todd woman did the mother in-law act in the proverbial style and succeeded in creating a disturbance between the plaintiff and his wife, the outcome of which was that the women both left his house, taking he alleged nearly everything he had. Cynthia pleaded her own case. The case was dismissed.

Those Wanting Clothing.

Many people think, that in buying clothing this time of the year, they have to select from old stock. This is a mistake so far as the Oak Hall is concerned. Our stock is always bright and new. You cannot possibly consider that stock bought just before Chistmas and in the fall is old. You can buy just as nice clothing now as in two months from now.

A Worthy Object.

The entertainment given last evening in the Oddfellows' hall by the Ladies' Aid of Christ church was a most successful affair. Mr. S.G. Retallack gave a number of beautiful lime light views from Enoch Arden and Rev. Mr. Daw described them in pleasing language. The proceeds will be devoted towards relieving the needy of the church.

Special Committee.

At the meeting last night of the special committee appointed to consider Ald. Lazier's resolution re the assessment system and Ald. Robinson's resolution to amalgamate the offices of Assessor and Street Surveyor, it was decided to recommend to a special meeting of the Council, which is called for Monday evening, "That three Assessors be appointed at a salary of $150 each in place of the present system."

January Weather.

The mean temperature of the past month at Toronto was 28.89, being 5.92 higher than the average of 53 years and 13.63 higher than January 1893. January of last year was one of the roughest and coldest months on record in Belleville. Six times the temperature fell below zero during the month and once it reached zero. The lowest temperatures were 16 below zero on the 11th and 15th, and 15 below on the 21st.

Mrs. James Lannigan Dead.

Letters received in the city to-day announce the death on Tuesday last of Mrs. James Lannigan at Chicago. Her husband for some years was a well known butcher in this city. The deceased lady was much respected by all who knew her, and many friends will sympathise with the family in their bereavement.

The 12th of July, 1895.

We understand that the local Lodges of Orangemen, Prentice Boys and True Blues, contemplate holding a great central gathering of these organizations in this city, on the 12th of July, 1895,—and at the annual meeting of the County Lodge of South Hastings, to be held in the Orange Hall here on Tuesday next, the subject will be discussed.

To Meet at Ottawa.

The Provincial Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, is to meet in the Orange Hall, Ottawa, on Tuesday, the 6th March, and following days.

A Novel Hockey Match.

A number of girls on Taylor's Hill, who don't see "why boys should have all the fun," organized a hockey match for this afternoon, and played from 1:30 to 2:30. To add dignity and importance to the respective teams they were dubbed "Shannonville" and "Canifton." Mr. "Will" Conger was unanimously selected by the young dames as the umpire; quite a compliment to "Will." Shannonville won, the score standing 6 to 1. A number of interested spectators almost "split their sides" with laughter at the passes and misses—we refer to the misses at the puck—"Professor" Lapam declares "it was the hockey match of the season."

Women Meet.

The monthly meeting of the Bridge St. Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society, of the Methodist church yesterday afternoon was replete with interest. Mrs. C. H. Elliott, the President, was in the chair. Several ladies from other churches were present and welcomed at the close.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

MY DEAR SIR.—Permit me to add my humble testimony to the kindness of Mr. Adams, to whom a complimentary concert is to be tendered on Monday night next. During the time that Bridge Street congregation of Methodists were compelled to worship in the Opera House, owing to the destruction by fire of Bridge Street church, Mr. Adams was untiring in his efforts to keep the house warm and comfortable, and on several occasions was obliged to remain up working all night in order to get the place in proper order after entertainments. I hope the Methodists will not forget Mr. Adams' kindness and will give him a bumper house on Monday night. I am

JOHN J. B. FLINT.

HEAD AND SHOULDERS above every other blood-purifier, stands Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. See the evidence of it. It's sold in every case, on trial. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

In restoring your strength, when you're "run-down" and "used-up;" in cleansing your blood from every impurity, whether it's a simple eruption or the worst scrofula; and in building up wholesome flesh, when you're thin and weak—there's nothing to equal the "Discovery." In every disease caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, it's the only guaranteed remedy.

MRS. ELIZABETH J. BUSHWAW, of Sidney, Ohio, writes: "My little boy was so afflicted with liver trouble and other diseases that our family physician said he could not live. In fact, they all thought so. I gave him Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets and they saved his life. We have used the 'Discovery' for throat and bronchial trouble, and found such perfect relief that we can recommend it very highly."

Quack Advertisments

Are a nuisance and we think it behooves publishers to examine into the merits of many articles puffed up in their columns. We do not deny that many meritorious remedies are properly to be classed under this heading. Take the hundreds and thousands relieved from severe sufferings by the use of Polson's Nerviline; would it not be unreasonable to expect them to condemn that far famed remedy? Now we know for a fact that Polson's Nerviline is without exception the most powerful, pleasant and certain remedy in the world for pain. It cannot fail, for it goes right to the bottom of pain, penetrates to the nerves, soothes them into quietness, and affords prompt and permanent relief

Of the neatest and newest porcelain tea sets you ever saw, just opened for the new year. Another fresh shipment of "SILVERWARE" is expected this week. We are quite busy and expect to be, and the times don't seem so bad. Some merchants do the very thing to help make money scarce by constantly harping in their ads, about hard times. Those who have lots of money stop spending it, because everybody says "times are bad," and the saying becomes a bad habit. Any merchant who is always advertising "hard times," "money scarce," "goods must go," &c. &c., makes a mistake.

WALL PAPER!

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper Campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future, you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos to this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long, with a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the drawing room, and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the Wall Paper world for facilitating the handling Wall Paper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year. We can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning, 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

Toronto Testimony.

DEAR SIRS.—Two years ago I had a bad attack of biliousness and took one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and can truly recommend it to any suffering from this complaint. MRS. CHARLES BROWN, Toronto.

Sore Throat Cured.

DEAR SIRS.—I had a very sore throat for over a week and tried several medicines without relief until I heard of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I tried with great success. I think it is a fine medicine for sore throat, pain in the chest, asthma, bronchitis, and throat and lung troubles.

MARIA MIDDLETON, Bobcaygeon, Ont.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.—C. W. Snow & Co., Syracuse N. Y., writes: "Please send us ten gross of Pills. We are selling more of Parmelee's Pills than any other Pill we keep. They have a great reputation for a cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint." Mr Chas. A. Smith, Lindsay, writes: "Parmelee's Pills are an excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with severe headache, but these pills have cured her."

The man that doesn't want anything doesn't get it.

Sure but not slow.—People who have used Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil to get rid of pain, find that it is sure but not slow. A cough even, of long standing, is speedily controlled and cured by it. Rheumatism, neuralgia, corns, lame back, and swelled neck rapidly disappear when it is used.

Joseph Rasad, Percy, writes:—I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three years, and found it the best article I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me.

The man who can even pay his respects this year should receive proper credit.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

GLADSTONE'S RESIGNATION.

The Pall Mall's Report Gains Credence—The Burdens Ahead Too Great.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The Sun's London correspondent says: Opinions differ as to the truth of The Pall Mall Gazette's report. It was received at first with incredulity on all sides. Second thoughts gave it more weight. If Mr. Astor is responsible for the announcement it is entitled to far more credence than the utterance of an ordinary English newspaper. His sources of information include men to whom such momentous State secrets would be known as soon as to anyone. Both personally and as proprietor of a prominent journal he has everything to lose and nothing to gain by startling the country with a gigantic falsehood.

Before the message was received from Biarritz the politicians of both parties eagerly discussed the possible reasons for Gladstone's retirement just at the present moment. His health, by all accounts, is as good as it has been for years. His political measures have taken the course expected by nearly everybody. Why, then, should he suddenly withdraw? The first and most ominous answer which was suggested was that he sees burdens and responsibilities ahead far greater than he can assume. In other words, that The Daily Telegraph was right when it declared three weeks ago: "The authorities have been warned, through the most trustworthy sources of information, that war might be thrust upon England at any moment."

Even Gladstone's friends would be unanimous that the Grand Old Man is unfit to undertake the fearful ordeal of war administration. Likewise it would be a grave error to put the country through the crisis of a change in the ministry on the eve of hostilities.

West's despatch, written of course by Gladstone himself, seemed to confirm this view. If this is the true interpretation of the Grand Old Man's desire to bring his public career to a close, then some recent events in Europe become pregnant with new meaning.

REBEL SUCCESSES IN BRAZIL.

Supplies of Ammunition Received—Control of the Harbor Secured.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Advices have been received from Rio Janeiro that the insurgents have obtained a renewal of their supplies. A brisk cannonade has occurred between the insurgents' squadron and the Government forts. The insurgent ships Almirante, Tamandare and Aquidaban were slightly damaged. Hitherto the insurgents have not had a sufficient supply of rifles to carry on land operations; but now, having received a fresh supply of arms, preparations are being made to disembark part of the insurgent forces. The despatch adds the Government wires have been cut.

The British Government has sent orders to its squadron here to protect to a similar extent all property afloat under the British flag. Rumors of DaGama's capture or surrender are false.

LISBON, Feb. 3.—A despatch received here last night from Buenos Ayres reiterates the statement in yesterday's despatches that Nictheroy, a town across the bay from Rio Janeiro, has surrendered to the insurgents. It adds that the insurgents now occupy a position from which they command Santa Cruz, the important fort at the entrance to the Bay of Rio Janeiro.

The despatch further says the insurgents are blockading Bahia, the capital of the state of that name. It is stated in Buenos Ayres that Admiral Da Gama, the commander of the insurgent forces at Rio Janeiro, has eight torpedo boats steaming about the bay.

The British steamer Orcana, from the west coast of South America, via Montevideo and Rio Janeiro, which latter port she left Jan. 15, arrived here to-day. She reports that before she left Rio Janeiro the Government forces made an unsuccessful night attack upon Illiagrande. She also reports that a whole regiment of Government troops has deserted.

Favors Annexation of Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Following is the text of a substitute which Mr. Blair (Rep., N.H.), member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, will offer for the committee's resolutions on the Hawaiian question:

Resolved that the House of Representatives approves the recognition of the existing Provisional Government of the Hawaiian islands by the last and present administration of this Government and will view with satisfaction the maintenance of a policy which shall tend to consummate in the near future with the consent of their people annexation of the said islands to this country, or some other political arrangement which will fully preserve and promote the mutual interests of both Hawaii and the United States.

The Hawaiian Embroglio.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—A lively discussion was precipitated in the House Friday over a report from the Committee on Rules setting aside the next three legislative days for the consideration of Mr. McCreary's (Dem., Ky.) resolution censuring Minister Stevens and the Republican Administration for their share in the Hawaiian embroglio.

The President's letter transmitting another batch of Hawaiian correspondence was read and referred to the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Freighters Not Interferred With.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The State Department received a cablegram from United States Minister Thompson at Rio de Janeiro stating that ships of all nationalities are coming to the wharves in consequence of the withdrawal of the insurgents' restrictive orders, and that under the influence of the action taken by the United States naval force in protecting American vessels against the insurgents' fire commerce is progressing favorably.

Carnot May Reprieve Vaillant.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The Standard's Paris correspondant says of Vaillant's case: The opinion is growing that President Carnot will not accept the advice of the Pardons Committee to let justice take its course. It is rumored that Premier Casimir-Perrier urges him to commute the death sentence on the ground that it is not usual in France to execute when a man actually has not taken human life. M. Carnot hitherto has not received M. Labori, Vaillant's lawyer, although he never decides in such cases until he has given an audience to the prisoner's counsel.

Burned at Sea.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 3.—The steamer John Wilson, which arrived here yesterday, brings news of the burning of the Morgan steamship Harlan at Bluefields on Jan. 23. The Harlan cleared from here on the 15th with a valuable cargo and a crew of 27 men. The Wilson and Harlan were anchored near each other on the day in question, when flames suddenly burst from the latter and soon enveloped the ship. The crew made a gallant effort to save the vessel, but were driven off by the heat, and many of them were compelled to plunge into the sea. The Wilson put out her boats and succeeded in rescuing all of the crew of the burning ship.

Sudden Death at Brockville.

BROCKVILLE, Feb. 2.—Colonel J. D. Buell retired to bed last night at 11 o'clock apparently in good health. One hour later he was a corpse. Heart failure the cause of death.

Died in His Buggy.

Snowballing May Cause Death.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 2.—At Dorchester the children in the schoolyard were snowballing, when a boy named Robbins, aged 7, who was not engaged in the sport, was struck on the side by a snowball thrown by a lad named Andrews, causing a bad rupture in the side. The little fellow's recovery is doubtful.

Strike of Scotch Miners Imminent.

GLASGOW, Feb. 3.—The owners of the Scotch coal mines have refused to grant the miner's demand for an increase of sixpence per day in wages and a general strike is imminent.

Visiting Her Mother the Queen.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Empress Frederick of Germany arrived Friday at Osborne house, Isle of Wight, where she will pay a lengthy visit to her mother the Queen.

MAGWOOD FOR SOUTH PERTH.

His Mover and Seconder Are Patrons Opposed to the Order's Nominee.

MILVERTON, Ont., Feb. 3.—At the convention of North Perth Conservatives held here Friday, Mr. Thomas Magwood, M.P.P., was unanimously renominated. The nomination is significant, both mover and seconder being members of the Patron order, and together with numerous others intend opposing the nominee of their order.

ALLEGED POISONING.

Was Hotelkeeper Evans of Sharon the Victim of a Plot?

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—On information supplied by a servant girl in the employ of Walter Evans, a hotelkeeper at Sharon village, near Newmarket, supplemented by what the crown claims is corroborative testimony, but which they decline to divulge, Mrs. Walter Evans, the wife of the hotelkeeper, her cousin, George Osman, hostler at the hotel, and Charles Pegg, aged 22, living with his aunt seven miles away, were arrested Thursday charged with attempting to poison the woman's husband.

For some time past rumor has connected the woman, who is a daughter of Patsy Horn, a Queensville hotelkeeper, with the two prisoners. On account of Evans' alleged fondness for the bottle it is said that his married life was not exactly smooth.

A few days ago the authorities were notified that Evans had been ill, and that Dr. Howe, who had attended him, thought there were symptoms of poison.

Private Detective John Hodgins was detailed to investigate the case, and as a result of his enquiries the arrests were made.

All the accused have been remanded by Squire Wingfield until Thursday next.

Mr. Evans, who is the alleged sufferer, utterly disbelieves the story, and stoutly asserts that he was not poisoned. He declares that his wife is innocent, and not only will take no part in the prosecution but has engaged a lawyer to defend her.

Mexican Outlaws Defeated.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 3.—Father Castaneda, who was imprisoned in this city some time ago for complicity in the Neri uprising in Guerrero, but escaped soon afterwards, attacked on Jan. 30 at the head of 400 outlaws a hacienda in Morelos. The inhabitants, however, overpowered the attacking force, killed several of the outlaws including Castaneda and took the rest prisoners.

Death of an Ex-Communicated Priest.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Feb. 3.—Charles Joseph Koch, D.D., a native of Mayance, Germany, died here to-day, aged 85 years. In earlier life he was a Catholic priest, being ex communicated when he married his servant girl. He was an author of devotional and educational works and successfully edited a number of papers.

An Affrighted Horse Runs Amuck.

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Men, women and children were knocked down by a runaway horse on Tremont-street near Winter, yesterday afternoon as though they were ten pins. Dozens of people had miraculous escapes from serious if not fatal injuries, and seven people were injured quite badly, some it being feared having received dangerous internal injuries.

William to Visit Bismarck Feb. 20.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—Many things indicate that Emperor William will visit Prince Bismarck at Friedrichsruhe on Feb. 20. Preparations to decorate and illuminate the Friedrichsruhe Station and the road from it to the castle have begun.

Nobody Is Much Wiser Now.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—An inquest was held yesterday morning to inquire into the facts of Thursday's double tragedy. The evidence was to the effect that Dufresne first shot his sister, Mrs. Brenet, twice, killing her, and then shot himself. The jury returned a verdict of wilful murder and suicide.

A Libel Suit For $5000.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—The Central Press Agency has issued a writ of libel against the Ontario Stereotype Plate Company for circulating untrue reports about their business. The claim is for $5000.

Don't Think Much of Joan.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The Paris correspondent of The Chronicle says: "The French bishops do not consider Joan of Arc entitled to the Papal decree to any special veneration. Certain motives seem to have impelled the Pope to a hurried decision."

Mining Riots in Virginia.

CHARLESTON, Va., Feb. 3.—The Montgomery miners are marching with a force estimated at from 300 to 500 on Stevens' coal mines at Acme to make the miners quit work. Sheriff Silman is on the spot with an armed posse. The miners employed in the Stevens mines turned out 300 strong, armed and prepared to meet the approaching strikers. Two carloads of strikers from the mines above Montgomery, armed with Winchesters, came to Mouth Creek and started for the mines on foot.

A High-Binder Hanged.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 3.—Lee Sam, a Chinese [illegible] was hanged at San Quentin [illegible] for the murder [illegible]

THE KHEDIVE WAS A CRANK.

Vain As a Peacock—Takes No Interest in Public Questions.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—A letter from Cairo says that the Khedive's outbursts of temper terrify his Ministers. He takes offence in the most trivial matters where none is intended. His life consists of trivial interests. His chief interest is in horses and the building of palaces. As long as he can go about in great pomp and see the people clear the road and salute him in awe he cares very little for public questions. The police recently arrested a tourist because he did not salute the Khedive quickly enough.

An Allan State Liner Disabled.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The Allan State line steamer Corean, Captain Main, from Glasgow, Jan. 22, for New York, has put back to Scattery Islands, in the Shannon River, Ireland, with her stoke hole full of water. The steamer is disabled. Heavy seas washed over her and cleared away several of her boats. Her own pumps are not able to free her of water, and a request for pumping engines was telegraphed to the Limerick corporation. A hand engine has been despatched from Limerick to the Corean, going to Scattery Island on a special steamer. There is much excitement in the district adjoining the Shannon River, where the Corean is lying.

Caprivi Advised to Consult Bismarck.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The Munich Allgemeine Zeitung, a Bismarckian daily, suggests that Chancellor von Caprivi might do well to observe the change in Prince Bismarck's relations to the court. "With or without the Emperor's command, it says, Caprivi ought to open communication with Bismarck and get the Prince's current political opinions, and perhaps even his personal intervention, by a speech in the Prussian Upper House. "Thus he might still do," adds the inspired writer, "what he ought not to have neglected to do from the first day on which he took office."

Perfectly Cured.

SIRS.—I have been greatly troubled with headache and bad blood for ten or twelve years. I started to take Burdock Blood Bitters in July, 1892, and now (January, 1893,) I am perfectly cured.

HUGH DRAIN, Norwood, Ont.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the biliary ducts, loss of vitality in the stomach to secret the gastric juices, without which digestion cannot go on; also, being the principal cause of headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills taken before going to bed, for a while, never fail to give relief and effect a cure. Mr. F. W. Ashdown, Ashdown, Ont., writes: "Parmelee's Pills are taking the lead against all other makes which I have in stock."

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

HAGYARD'S Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, and all bronchial and lung troubles. Price 25c per bottle, or five for $1.00.

The carat, the measure of weight used by jewellers, was originally a grain of India wheat.

Gored by a Cow.

A fine colt belonging to Mr. Peter Lindsay, of Nixon, Ont., was badly hooked by a cow. Two bottles of Hagyard's Yellow Oil cured it. This invaluable remedy should be in every house. It cures cuts, sprains, bruises, burns, and all pains and aches in man or beast.

OUT TO-DAY!

The tenth edition of "The Canadian Accountant" was published to-day.

The book now contains 369 octavo pages (33 pages more than the ninth edition). It is written, printed, bound and published in our own city. Its contents and its mechanical production are superior to any similar work, and it has a wider demand than any other. These claims for the book are simply statements of facts that anyone may verify.

No printed Key or reference book for "The Accountant" was ever in existence. Written footings and results of the various sets are furnished to teachers, but no printed aid of any kind is available for teacher or student to arrive at these.

"The Accountant" furnishes to the intelligent and industrious student a highway to the mastery of the science of accounts. There is no royal road to the knowledge of book keeping. It is alone by earnest study, well directed, that it can be achieved.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

Ten years of age, but who declines to give his name to the public, makes this authorized, confidential statement to us:

"When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought that even if I did not die, I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arm. I hurt my finger and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. If I hurt myself so as to break the skin, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong."—T. D. M., Norcatur, Kans.

GLADSTONE GROWING BLIND.

LIBERALS PANIC-STRICKEN AT HIS COMING RESIGNATION.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A cable to The Sun says: The reported decision of Mr. Gladstone to resign his high office disturbed the whole political world. Every hour increased the belief in the truth of the report. Even the newspapers of both parties, which at first denounced the story as a hoax, today changed the tone completely, while the weekly political organs admit, regretfully or otherwise, that The Pall Mall Gazette substantially, though a little prematurely, told the truth.

The leaders of both parties are not deceiving themselves. Balfour's speech last night warned his followers that they must be ready for dissolution at a moment's notice. As a matter of fact, when Gladstone was dictating his peculiar reply to the enquiries to Barritz on Wednesday evening the Liberal leaders at their headquarters in London were preparing a private circular to election agents notifying them to make every preparation for a campaign in view of an early appeal to the country. These circulars were distributed yesterday. The political world is, therefore, in great confusion.

The G.O.M. Made a Similar Denial Before

It has been recalled that Mr. Gladstone made a remarkably similar form of "denial" when the premature announcement was made in Dec., 1885, that he had become a convert to Home Rule, yet within six weeks he was forming a Home Rule Cabinet.

Does Not Intend To Resign, But Can't Say So.

Harold Frederic cables: Gladstone has no more real design of retiring than the Queen has, though, with characteristic curiosity, he cannot say so even now, but dictated a tortuous denial as full of loopholes as a rabbit warren. Anybody who supposes that Gladstone would select such an occasion for retiring to a monastery is too simple-minded for this rude world.

The Pall Mall's Plausible Story.

George W. Smalley cables: It is not known on what authority The Pall Mall Gazette let fly the rumor of Mr. Gladstone's resignation, nor would it matter had Mr. Gladstone's telegraphed denial from Biarritz stopped short at the word "untrue." What follows does in a measure lend plausibility to a story which was probably based on nothing but the known and now admitted fact that Mr. Gladstone's physical condition is not quite what it was.

The story, though discredited and disbelieved, spread a panic among his followers. What, then, must be their feelings on hearing from their leader himself that he has been considering the probable necessity of resigning, that his age and the condition of his sight and hearing having for months past been such that make relief from public cares desirable.

Mr. Gladstone's general health and his vitality are little short of miraculous. Still, for the leadership of the House of Commons, and especially for purposes of debate, good hearing is desirable, and his hearing is no longer good. He does not always collect with entire accuracy what is said, and therefore does not always meet the points raised.

There is a graver matter, and that is the condition of the eyesight.

Mr. Gladstone sent for Dr. Granger of Chester, a physician who is also an oculist. It was Dr. Granger who attended him at the time when the gingerbread nut was thrown at him and struck and slightly injured one eye. He saw him at his house in Downing-street the day before he started. He told Mr. Gladstone, not, I suppose, for the first time, that a cataract had entirely obliterated the sight of one eye and that another cataract had begun to form on the other eye. This last statement was perhaps new to the Prime Minister. He reflected a moment and said: "I wish you to remove the cataract at once." Dr. Granger told him it was not yet far enough advanced for an operation.

"You do not understand me," replied his illustrious patient. "It is the old cataract I wish removed. If that is out of the way I still shall have one good eye when the new cataract impairs the sight of the other."

Dr. Granger hesitated.

Mr. Gladstone continued: "You still seem to not understand me. I want you to perform the operation here and now while I am sitting in this chair."

Dr. Granger still objected. "It might not be successful," said he. "That is a risk I accept," retorted the gallant old man. In the end Dr. Granger, saying that the responsibility must be his as a medical man, declined, giving such reasons as he could. The true reason probably was that such an operation on a patient of Mr. Gladstone's age was too dangerous. It was not performed. But what could be more admirable than the courage and resolution he showed?

Unfounded though The Pall Mall Gazette story be, the political effect of it is considerable.

Its effect on the Gladstonian party is not uniform. The Anti-Parnellite Irish wing received it, though incredulous, as a message fraught with sorrow, apprehension and misgiving. These are "Tay P.'s" words. The rank and file heard it with horror, since it would precipitate a dissolution and general election.

The Radicals bore up better than anybody else. Mr. Gladstone to them is an obstacle. They recognize his usefulness in holding the party together, but are perfectly aware that their aims and his, their views and his, have little in common, nevertheless they would regret to see him disappear at a moment when a general election without him as leader and without his name to work miracles in the constituencies would probably mean disaster. But all these sections of the party are for the first time brought face to face with this possibility and they all recoil from the prospect.

The Conservative comment on the news may be summed up in the sentence, "too good to be true;" nevertheless, the same considerations which have brought dismay to the good Gladstonian have brought comfort to the Conservative. He may not put faith in Mr. Gladstone's express declaration that he may resign "at any moment." He asks himself why, unless there be some near prospect of resignation, Mr. Gladstone should have entered into this curiously minute account of his infirmities. This is a conundrum.

What is obvious to the impartial observer is that the moment is ill-chosen for the launching of this rumor; for Mr. Gladstone to resign now would be a confession of defeat and would, to a hostile eye, look like shrinking from the struggle still before him — neither is in his nature. He has seen the darling measure of his old age rejected by the House of Lords, and party necessities have forced him to postpone for another year another attempt to carry it. He has to look back upon a barren session and forward to one of momentous conflict. Again I say it is not in his nature to accept defeat or to flinch from a prolonged and even desperate contest. The verdict of the nation or the complete failure of certain essential faculties may force him to retire. Short of that I believe he will fight to the end.

SPLIT IN GLADSTONE'S CABINET.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Tory papers publish a rumor that there is a split in the Cabinet on the question of the continuance of the British protectorate over Uganda in Africa, Mr. Gladstone differing with Lord Rosebery, the Foreign Secretary. The report is regarded in official circles as incredible.

LABOR WILL NOT ADOPT ANARCHY.

As Constitutional Methods Are Remedying the Workingman's Condition.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The conference of the Independent Labor party ended in Manchester Saturday. Jas. Kier-Hardie, M.P., presided over the final session. A motion that the conference repudiate all sympathy and relations with the Anarchists was the beginning of a heated discussion. Kier-Hardie participated in it to say that it would not do to call one another names, and that while Anarchist and Socialist methods differed it might be that the Anarchists were more zealous than other reformers. Eventually the motion was amended so as to declare that inasmuch as constitutional methods were remedying the condition of the workingman the Independent Labor party would not ally itself with any party adopting other methods.

EXTRADITED FROM ENGLAND.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Antonio Monsilli, who was formerly connected with the Italian Department of Agriculture, and who was arrested here at the request of the Italian Government, started Saturday for Italy in the charge of the Italian officers. His extradition on charges of complicity in Italian bank frauds was ordered a few days ago by the Bow-street Extradition Court.

RIOT IN FRONT OF ST. PAUL'S.

Idle Hebrews Attempt To Enter the Cathedral.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—A sharp encounter took place yesterday in front of St. Paul's Cathedral between the police and a body of unemployed Jews. About 250 idle Jews marched to the cathedral and attempted to enter. The police drove them back, the crowd resisting. The police were compelled to use their batons, and 12 of the riotous crowd were injured to such an extent that it was deemed best to send them to the hospital for treatment. Repulsed at the cathedral the crowd proceeded to Trafalgar Square, where an important meeting was held. Three of the speakers who addressed the crowd had blood-stained bandages about their heads.

FIREARMS AND BOMBS.

Seized By the Police in Sicily—Imported From Abroad.

ROME, Feb. 5.—The police in Catania, Sicily, have discovered two bombs and a quantity of firearms in a neighborhood where they seized some time ago many daggers and several tons of dynamite. The shape of the bombs and the method of filling them indicate that they were sent to Catania by foreigners. The firearms and bombs were taken to Palermo.

SEALING METHODS OF 15 YEARS AGO

Regulations Similar to Those of the Paris Tribunal Recommended in 1880.

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—After the cry raised by the British Columbia sealers about the injury likely to be done to their business by the regulations adopted by the Behring Sea arbitrators, and especially the abolition of the use of firearms, it is curious to look back at some of the old reports on Behring Sea sealing and see how some of the present regulations agree with the method of sealing 12 or 15 years ago.

In 1880, when only two or three vessels from British Columbia were engaged in the business, Mr. A. C. Anderson, Dominion Fisheries Inspector at Victoria, suggested a series of regulations very similar to those adopted by the Paris Tribunal. At that time the custom was for the sealing schooners to take on board all the way from 10 to 20 canoes manned by Indian hunters engaged at various points along the west coast of Vancouver Island, two Indians to each canoe. Arriving upon the sealing grounds, these canoes were launched and the hunters embarked and noiselessly approached the seal herds, and the process of catching is thus described:

"The animals," Mr. Anderson's report says "are speared while sleeping on the surface, a line being attached to the head of the spear from which the shaft disengages itself as soon as the prey is caught. Much caution is necessary to avoid alarming the main body of the seals, and it is found that the firing of guns especially causes their immediate change of locality and if persisted in soon drives them away from their wonted resorts."

The section of Mr. Anderson's proposed regulation which bears upon the method of catching seals reads as follows: "That any vessel so engaging in the fur seal fishery shall be bound not to employ firearms for the destruction of the fur seals in their established resorts, nor otherwise disturb them by unnecessarily firing while in the vicinity of such sealing grounds."

The inspector was very particular, however, to insist that regulations which he suggested were not rendered necessary by any prospect of depletion of the seal herds, because he found that "the supply of seals appears to be practically inexhaustible, provided only ordinary prudence be exercised."

Mr. W. C. Baker, secretary to the Ottawa Society for the Prevention of Cruelty, today received a telegram from the secretary of the society in Halifax stating that twenty Chinamen who came over the C. P. R. to Halifax, en route to Cuba, were left in the freight sheds without beds or heat, and asking that the Minister of the Interior be asked to instruct the immigration agent at Halifax to look after them. The men are in no sense immigrants, as they are simply passing through Canada, from one foreign country to another, but to prevent their suffering Hon. Mr. Daly, on being shown the telegram, at once wired the immigration agent at Halifax to see that they were kept warm and made as comfortable as possible.

Devoured By Wolves.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—A despatch to The Standard from Odessa says: The weather in the Caucasus for several days has been fearfully cold. The principal ports on the Caspian Sea are icebound. The wolves have become unusually fierce as the result of the cold, and 18 men have been overtaken and devoured by these animals near Erivan.

POLITICIANS ARE ACTIVE.

SEVERAL CANDIDATES PUT IN THE LISTS ON SATURDAY.

Robert Crawford, a Tory and Patriot, Nominated By Peel Conservatives—West Victoria Will Have a Triangular Contest—South Lanark Patrons Will Try the Bye-Election.

BRAMPTON, Ont., Feb. 5.—Robert Crawford, farmer of Chinguacousy Township, President of the County Conservative Association, was this afternoon nominated as the Conservative candidate to contest the County of Peel in the Ontario Legislature.

The Town Hall was filled with an enthusiastic audience and the meeting all the way through was most harmonious, leading farmers from all over the county being in attendance.

Among those who were present were: A. F. Campbell, M.L.A., G. F. Marter, M.L.A., Richard Blain, James Jackson, Eli Crawford, W. A. McCulla, ex-M.P., Robert Crawford, T. M. Graham; John T. Mullin, Mayor of Brampton; Capt. Blain, E. Stonehouse, S. Charters, John Ballantyne, T. J. Blain, James Stewart, W. A. Wright, and the oldest resident of Toronto Township, Thomas Graham, was on hand to give his approval of the candidate.

A. F. Campbell, M.L.A., stepped on the platform and called the meeting to order. Robert Crawford, the president, took the chair and in a few words stated the purpose for which the mass meeting was called. Secretary T. M. Graham called for nominations for the Local House and W. S. Morphy named Robert Crawford. His name was received with applause, and after Henry Burnett had seconded the nomination it was carried unanimously.

After thanking the audience for their hearty reception the candidate said that his position was not altogether clear, in that he knew his name would be placed before the Patrons of Industry convention to be held on Saturday next, and if he were to receive that nomination he would be a much stronger candidate in the event of a three-cornered contest; it might be unwise to imperil the chances of defeating Sir Oliver's man. He was heartily in favor of the Patrons' platform, and endorsed their attack on the Mowat Government. He would accept the nomination if it were not found that for the best interest of the party someone else should be more suitable.

A. F. Campbell, M.L.A., from Algoma, made a rattling speech that brought forth great applause; he was followed by G. F. Marter, who went for the Mowat Government without gloves. He touched on the issues of the day and was loudly applauded.

The meeting broke up with rousing cheers for the Queen and the candidate.

SOUTH LANARK PATRONS.

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., Feb. 5.—A convention of the Patrons of Industry of south riding of Lanark was held here Saturday, when James Fergusson, Reeve of Montague, was made the choice for the Local Legislature. G. Lockie Wilson, Grand Trustee of the Patrons of Industry, said the Patrons will send 30 members to the cross benches, not to smash the Mowat Government, but to insist on legislation on the line of the Patrons' platform.

FIERCE FIRE IN OMAHA.

A Store Enveloped In Flame While Filled With Customers.

OMAHA, Feb. 5.—At 7 o'clock last night while the Boston Store was crowded with customers a slight flame made its appearance in the front part of the store and in a minute the entire front of the store was a mass of flames.

The fire department responded promptly, but the building was on fire from cellar to roof in an incredibly short time and all attempts to do anything towards saving the structure or its contents were hopeless and the efforts of the firemen were devoted to the saving of the adjoining buildings.

The next building north was occupied by the Los Angeles liquor and cigar store, which was already on fire when the department arrived. The fire also communicated to the St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church, which adjoined the Boston Store on the west. The priests' residence and the sisters' school were attached to the church, and all three were quickly licked up by the flames, scarcely anything being saved from the church or convent.

Immediately in front of the burning buildings was a network of electric light wires, which did considerable toward impeding the firemen in their work. The poles burned and the wires melted while the currents were on the wires, and the workers were kept busy keeping out of the way of the falling live wires, which twisted and writhed along the street, emitting flashes of light, especially when crossed by the streams of water.

Within 20 minutes from the time the fire started the Boston Store the walls fell with a crash. Ten minutes later the fire wall separating the Boston Store building from that next door occupied by the liquor store fell, and the interior was entirely destroyed.

A half block in the best business part of Omaha is in ruins, and the total loss will reach at least $350,000.

A CRAZY COLD WATER CRANK.

Seven Villages Take Vows of Abstinence—Licensors Appeal to the Government.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A special cable despatch says: Canadian temperance agitators would not enjoy themselves in Austria. A native of a small village, after a long cataleptic trance a year ago, declared that he had been to heaven and had been commissioned by the Almighty to return and teach the peasants the wickedness of drinking spirits.

The district Governor committed the man to the madhouse, where the doctors kept him for six months and then declared him sane.

He resumed his agitation, and in a short time seven villages had taken vows of abstinence. The result was that a number of liquor dealers to whom the Government had granted licenses refused to keep the contracts.

The district judge gave orders that the dangerous agitator be arrested if caught preaching abstinence. The man has not left his house for weeks. Deputations come to him from far and wide to hear his words and to repeat them when they return home. The authorities are consoling the dealers by declaring that the peasants must soon drink again.

Duchess of Manchester in a Spill.

PAU, France, Feb. 5.—While out driving last evening the Duchess of Manchester was thrown from her carriage and cut on the head and face.

A Chicago Suburb Scorched.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The village of Desplaines, 60 miles from Chicago, was almost destroyed by fire last night.

VAILLANT IS GUILLOTINED.

THE BOMB THROWER DIES AT DAYBREAK THIS MORNING.

Carnival Masquers Awaited the Execution All Night—500 Police and Four Battalions of Mounted Men and Infantry Guarded the Square—Thousands In Waiting To See Him Beheaded.

PARIS, Feb. 5.—Persons living near the prison De La Roquette watched eagerly all day for signs of the approaching execution of Auguste Vaillant, the Anarchist who threw a bomb in the Chamber of Deputies on Dec. 9. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon M. Labori, the lawyer who defended Vaillant at his trial, visited the condemned man in his cell. He left soon, but returned at 7. The persons on watch near the prison interpreted these visits as meaning that the execution would take place to-morrow morning. M. Labori was supposed to have gone to Vaillant with the information that President Carnot had declined to grant the reprieve which the lawyer had requested.

At 9 a mounted messenger from the Minister of Justice delivered a packet to the chief warden of the prison. In the next hour and a half a few persons gathered in the Place de La Roquette. Policemen stood in groups of three at conspicuous points, as they have stood every evening during the last eight days. The crowds were still off in other parts of the city enjoying the foretaste of the carnival, whose approach was being heralded by men and women on the boulevards wearing masks and fancy costumes, throwing confetti and tickling each other's necks and faces with peacock feathers.

Just after midnight a message from the prefecture of police The Figaro office told the group of newspaper men chatting there that the execution would take place at daybreak.

When the reporters started for the place Da La Roquette about 1 o'clock the boulevards were almost empty, as many of the masqueraders had gone home and others had entered cafes to await there the hour for going to the Roquette prison.

From the knots of outcasts loitering in the streets near the prison, men and women had carried the whispered news that Vaillant would die at daybreak. The message had been hurried down the Rue De La Roquette, along the boulevard Voltaire to the rue du Faubourg St. Antoine, and at every corner had summoned groups of listeners, who had at once made ready to go to the scene of execution.

At 1.45 o'clock 500 policemen entered the place de La Roquette by two routes. They placed the barriers to keep back the expected mob. Several hundred persons had gathered, most of them from the lowest quarters of the city. A man with half-starved features left the crowd, stepped to the spot where the guillotine was to be erected and after shaking his tattered sleeves at the crowd, shouted as he uncovered his head: "I am more unlucky than he. Pity me."

Groups of men and women came to the square with increasing frequency. At 2.40 o'clock two battalions of the Republican guards on foot marched up the Rue de la Roquette to the prison. They were followed by a company of mounted guards and soon afterward by another battalion of infantry. All took positions in the square.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

ALBANY, Feb. 5.—Bartholomew Madden, a stonecutter living in Tuckahoe, is locked up here on the charge of murder. He is accused of having killed Maurice Murphy, a fellow-workman. Madden and Murphy had been "on a tear," and on Jan. 7 the two started to walk from Hudson to Albany. Madden admitts starting to walk to Albany with Murphy on the day in question, but does not recollect having fought or quarreled with him. On Jan. 26 the frozen body of Murphy was found in Ferguson's woods at Mount Melino, near Hudson.

ERIE-ST. CLAIR CANAL.

The Company Organized With a Capital Stock of $250,000.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Feb. 5.—The Lake St. Clair and Erie Ship Canal Company was organized in this city yesterday. Preliminary organization was arranged in Duluth several weeks ago, but the incorporation was in Wisconsin, as the company expects to have headquarters in Milwaukee. The capital stock was placed at $250,000. The idea of the company is to build a canal from Lake St. Clair to Lake Erie, thus avoiding Lime Kiln Crossing and other dangerous places, and shortening the route to Buffalo 100 miles.

LOCJKAW FROM FROZEN FEET.

The Victim Said a Farmer Turned Him Out to Die.

ELIZABETH, Feb. 5.—Simon Reitskosky died in the Elizabeth hospital of lockjaw, caused by his feet having been frozen. A week ago he was found in the streets of Elizabeth unable to walk. He said he had worked for a farmer in Linden, and that late at night, when it was very cold, the farmer had given him medicine and turned him out of doors. When he had walked a little way he fell down in the bushes, stupefied by the medicine. When he got up his feet were both frozen.

Edison Wins the Phonograph Suit.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The New York news bureau has received the following cable from London: "The infringement on the phonograph and graphophone patents was decided this morning in the High Court of Chancery before Justices Kennedy and Gray, in favor of the Edison Phonograph Company on all points, and all claims are sustained."

Maryland Wants Free Coal.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5.—The Maryland Senate adopted a resolution yesterday which practically instructs Senators Gorman and Gibson to vote for free coal, an income tax and other features of the Wilson bill.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by druggists throughout the world. 17d&wly

GENTLEMEN.—About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking B. B. B., took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine.

EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

A panic is a sudden desertion of us, and a going over to the enemy of our imagination.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Ill-deeds are doubled with an evil word; the sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Beware of desperate steps; the darkest day, live till to-morrow, will be passed away.

QUINTE'S VICTORIOUS.

The Napaneeans Fall Before Belleville's Twirlers of the Crooked Ash.

The Quinte hockey team, which went to Napanee on Saturday to play a team of that town, made a splendid showing, considering the team they had to play against. The game was called at 2:30 and the teams lined up as follows:

| Quinte's. | Position. | Napanee. |
|---|---|---|
| Phillips | Goal | McCallum. |
| Taber | Point | Palmer. |
| Phippen | Cover point | Maybee. |

W. J. Thomson, Referee.

The first half was not productive of goals, but the Quinte's kept the Napanee goal warm. In the second half the Napaneeans went in for "shinny" and the Belleville boys gave them their medicine in right shape. Phippen scored by a beautiful shot and shortly afterwards Twining also scored, but objections were raised by the opposing team and the referee disallowed the last goal and at the finish the score stood 1—0 in favor of the Quinte's. The decisions of the referee, W. J. Thomson, were well received by both teams. Napanee played three men in their forward line from the Limestone's, of Kingston, viz.: Rockwell brothers and Ashcroft, and they put up great hockey, but they met "foemen worthy of their steel" when they ran against Twining, Taber, Phippen and Weller.

NOTES.

The Quinte's play the Bay City's tomorrow evening, the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday and Napanee on Friday evening. They are also arranging a game with Cobourg.

DEFRAUDED DOCTORS.

It is Said That Some Belleville Physicians Were Amongst the Victims.

Fred J. Bailey, who was arrested at St. Louis on a charge of fraud, has arrived at Toronto. His scheme was to appoint various physicians medical examiners for the Preferred Accident Company of New York and insure them on the strength of it.

It is alleged that in Toronto alone Bailey reaped a rich harvest. The city swarms with medical men, and Bailey is a very plausible man.

When Bailey is put on trial many charges will be preferred against him. Belleville, Brantford and Brockville physicians are said to have been defrauded by him, and it is said that the scenes of his operations ran all through the alphabet.

Enquiry amongst the physicians of the city elicits the fact that Bailey had been here trying to do business, but none of them would acknowledge having had anything to do with him.

J. S. JOHNSON CAPTURES THREE RACES AT MONTREAL.

McCulloch Finished Second to Donoghue and Ahead of Johnson in the Five Miles—Hulse Among the Starters—Nearly 7000 Spectators Present—One Record Lowered.

MONTREAL Feb 5.—The annual meet of the Canadian Amateur Skating Association, which took place Saturday, was one of the greatest events of this kind ever witnessed in America. Nearly all of the great skaters of the world, including Joe Donoghue, Newburg; J. S. Johnson, Minneapolis; Norseng, the Norwegian champion; Harry Davidson, St. Paul; Hulse, Toronto, and McCulloch, Winnipeg, participated.

Nearly 7000 spectators were present. The ice was in splendid condition. The only record lowered was that of 220 yards, which was reduced by Johnson from 21 3-5 seconds to 20⅗ seconds.

The first race was 220 yards. Three trial heats were won by Davidson, Johnson and Joe Donoghue. In the final heat Johnson got the start and kept the lead until the finish, although he was closely followed by Joe Donoghue.

The half-mile was a very pretty race. Johnson, Joe Donoghue and Davidson were the starters in the final heat. Johnson again showed his marvelous powers and easily took the lead from the first. Donoghue made a determined effort to overtake him, but Johnson increased his speed and won easily in 1.31.

In the one-mile Johnson, Joe Donoghue, James Donoghue, Norseng, Davidson, McCulloch and Hulse of Toronto started. Norseng took the lead, followed by Johnson and McCulloch, with the others behind. This order was kept up until the last lap, when Johnson and Donoghue made a spurt and passed the others easily. Johnson again proved superior to Donoghue and passed the finish first, with Donoghue a good second. Time 3.03. McCulloch, the Winnipegger, made a plucky race.

The five-mile race was the most exciting event of the day. Johnson, Norseng, McCulloch, Joe Donoghue and James Donoghue started. On the first lap Johnson took the lead, but evidently preferring not to face the wind for 20 laps fell behind. In the second lap Norseng took the lead, followed by Johnson, McCulloch, Joe Donoghue and Jim Donoghue. This order was maintained until the last lap. Norseng made a great effort to maintain his lead, but it was soon evident that he was not in it with either the Americans or Canadians. Johnson and Joe Donoghue passed him with a lightning gait and made for the finish almost neck and neck, with McCulloch close on their heels. They had almost reached the goal, Donoghue was increasing his speed, when Johnson, to the consternation of everyone, fell within a few feet from the finishing line. His body slid partly over it, but both Donoghue and McCulloch had crossed the line and the judges gave them the race. Johnson's mishap was unfortunate, but those on the track very generally express the opinion that the race in any event would have been Donoghue's, as at the time when Johnson fell Donoghue was passing him. Summaries:

220 yards—J. S. Johnson, Minneapolis, 1; Joe F. Donoghue, Newburg, 2; H. Dawson, St. Paul, 3. Time 20 3-5 secs.

Half mile—J. S. Johnson 1, J. F. Donoghue 2, H. Davidson 3. Time 1.41⅘.

One mile—J. S. Johnson 1, J. F. Donoghue 2, J. K. McCulloch, Winnipeg, 3; A. Norseng, Christiania, 4. Time 3.03.

Five miles—J. F. Donoghue 1, J. K. McCulloch 2, J. S. Johnson 3, A. Norseng 4. Time 16.11.

Skater Smith is a Record-Breaker.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 5.—A. D. Smith of this city has reduced the amateur and professional skating records for all distances from 6 to 20 miles at the Edgerton-street Rink in this city this week. Smith's time is the fastest recorded in any country and will stand as the world's record. The 10-mile American record was previously held by Joseph F. Donoghue and Smith lowered it by 3 minutes and 27 4-5 seconds. The world's record was held by Adolph Norseng and this was broken by about 12 seconds. At five miles the American record made by Axel Paulsen, which was also the world's record, was cut 5 minutes 51 2-5 seconds, and 20 miles, the best previous records were reduced 6 minutes 31 2-5 seconds, being formerly held by Joseph F. Donoghue. The average speed for the first 10 miles was 3.14 per mile and for the entire 20 miles about 3.19 per mile.

Quebec Defeats Montreal.

QUEBEC, Feb. 5.—The greatest hockey match played in Canada was the one Saturday between the M.A.A.A. and the Q.A.A.A. sevens in the championship series. The skating rink was crowded to its utmost capacity. Fully 3000 persons witnessed the great contest. Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Aberdeen watched with keen interest the contest. Montreal scored first after 29 minutes of hard work. Montreal took the second game after 2 minutes and 30 seconds amid the thundering shouts of the crowd. Quebecers were then stirred up to white heat and scored their first game in 45 seconds. The Quebec team scored twice again in 26 minutes and in 9 minutes and 30 seconds. The contest has been noted for fair play and good discipline on both sides. Lady Aberdeen, accompanied by Lord Aberdeen, distributed the prizes won by the champions of the different sports during the carnival week.

BLEW DOWN THE CHURCH.

Thirty Women and Children More or Less Hurt.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 5.—A wind and rain storm which passed over Birmingham last night blew down the Congregational Church at Gate City, six miles from here. The Christian Endeavor Society, composed of 30 women and children, was holding a meeting at the time. The roof crashed in on them, burying them beneath the debris. Nearly every person in the building was more or less hurt. The building was a small frame structure or many would have been killed.

Further details of the storm which swept over this section of North Alabama shows the damage to have been greater than at first supposed. At North Birmingham a dozen houses were blown down. James Smith, a railroad section forman was fatally wounded by the roof of his house falling in. At East Lake-road three houses were blown down.

G. W. Childs' Loss Deplored.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—In many of the churches of the various denominations today the death of George W. Childs was feelingly referred to by the officiating clergymen and his passing away was pronounced a public loss and bereavement. The arrangements for the funeral of Mr. Childs have not been completed yet, but it has been decided that it shall be held at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from St. James' Protestant Episcopal Church, of which Mr. Childs was vestryman for many years.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Those who use Cottolene will be healthier and wealthier than those who use lard—Healthier because they will get "shorter" bread; wealthier because they will get "shorter" grocery bills—for Cottolene costs no more than lard and goes twice as far—so is but half as expensive.

BELLEVILLE - ONT.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT"

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

You can get boys' and girls' laced moccasins for 75c., former price $1.10, children's moccasins at 40c., former price 75cts. at Grant's cheap cash sale.

Haines & Lockett are now busy with their annual stock-taking, and are laying out a number of lines in which they are overstocked, to be sold at greatly reduced prices. Details will be announced in a few days.

The Kingston News is now published by a joint stock company, in which Mr. L. W. Shannon, the former proprietor, retains a controlling interest. There will not be any change in the policy of our excellent contemporary.

The temperature fell during last night to 22° below zero—the coldest of the winter, and 6 degrees below the lowest record of last winter. It was like a Northwest "dip," the air being so dry that the severity of the cold was not realized.

To grow old gracefully, one must live temperately, calmly, methodically; be interested in all that is going on in the world; be cheerful, happy, and contented and above all, keep the blood pure and vigorous by use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's.

You can never tell what a slight cold may lead to; it is best, therefore, to give yourself the benefit of the doubt, and cure it as soon as possible with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. A day's delay, sometimes an hour's delay, may result in serious consequences.

Sight is a priceless boon, but to some it is denied, while others content themselves with imperfect vision, which can be improved with properly fitting spectacles. L. W. Yeomans & Co. are devoting special attention to the optical department, and test the eyesight free of charge.

Gilbert Orser, through his solicitors, O'Flynn & Campbell, has issued a writ for $2,000 for slander against Robert Hazzard. The parties both live in Ameliasburg and the case will create no little excitement. Mr. C. D. Macaulay is acting for the defence.

The most palatable preparation of Cod Liver Oil in the world is Miller's Emulsion and is now being taken by invalids astonishing success. Miller's Emulsion "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis and throat lung troubles. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. $100, at druggists.

Caution.—Beware of any man who offers you an imitation article, no matter what it is, and says it it "just as good as genuine;" they sell all kinds of "sham remedies" in this way upon the reputation of the Pain Killer—be sure and get the genuine made by Perry Davis'. Large Bottles, popular price.

They Had Taken Possession.

When Jos. Yarwood went to his house on Murney St. about 2:30 on Sunday morning, he found that in his absence the place had been entered, and upon going inside found Knowlton Sanford and a young girl named Laura Boyd, asleep in the place. He notified the police, and they were both brought to the police station. At the police court this morning, they were remanded until Thursday.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES.

NOTES OF MANY SERVICES HELD IN THE CITY YESTERDAY.

Crossley and Hunter Going to Brockville—Evangelist Vermilyea's Success at Cataraqui—Ash Wednesday.

Rev. Mr. Baker yesterday morning had something to say about poverty, when he deprecated indiscriminate giving and gave much praise to Mrs. Schuster and to the W. C. A., saying that purse strings should be more readily loosened to these systemized charities, as the ladies often find their monthly allowance almost entirely expended before the month was half through.

The pastor, Rev. D. O. Crossley, conducted both services in the Tabernacle yesterday. The congregations were large, especially so in the evening at the song sermon. The subject of the song sermon was "The Kingdom of Christ." During the service Mr. Crossley sang four times, the selections being: "Not far from the Kingdom," "I am a Child of a King," "The Coming of the Kingdom" and "The Songs of the Kingdom." Much interest was taken in the service.

Last week 140 persons joined the Methodist church, Cataraqui circuit, as a result of evangelistic services conducted by A. W. Vermilyea.

Next Wednesday, Feb. 7th, the first day of Lent, is called Ash Wednesday from a custom in the ancient church of placing ashes on the heads of penitents, who knelt before the officiating minister, while the latter said, "Remember, man, that thou art dust and unto dust shalt thou return."

Crossley and Hunter will open a series of meetings in Brockville on Sunday next.

The Bridge st. Sunday School hour yesterday was enjoyed by 558, and it was reported that in January 64 new scholars joined the school, being the largest number that ever united in one month.

Yesterday morning Rev. M. W. Maclean, the minister of St. Andrew's church, addressed a specially large congregation, among whom many strangers were welcomed. In the evening the first of a course of Sunday lectures on the Bible and higher criticism was delivered and the series will be most interesting and edifying. The text was 1st Thessalonians 5—21, "Prove all things—hold fast that which is good."

In John St. church yesterday Rev. J. L. George, M.A., preached at both services to large congregations, taking for his subject in the morning "Imitation of Christ," and in the evening 1st Corinthians I and VI, "God Gave the Increase."

Mr. Marshall preached yesterday at the Baptist church. In the morning the text was 1st John III. and I., "Behold, what manner of love the father hath bestowed upon us that we should be called the sons of God." In the evening Mr. Marshall spoke to a large congregation from Amos IV and XII, "Prepare to meet thy God."

Rev. Mr. Daw occupied his pulpit at both services yesterday. In the evening Miss Coleman sang a solo in fine voice.

In Holloway st. Methodist church yesterday the pastor, Rev. J. A. McCamus, officiated morning and evening. His subject in the morning was "The Church at Laodicea," and in the evening "Well Doing."

The Rev. W. S. Crothers, of Port Hope, will preach the Anniversary Sermons of Bridge st. Sunday school on the 18th inst.

The Adams Benefit Concert.

Sir,—Allow me a few lines to commend Frederick Adams to the public, and to urge all who can to be present at the concert to-night in the Opera House, not merely on account of the excellence of the entertainment offered, but also in recognition of the faithful services of an official who has done much "behind the scenes" to make those in front of the proscenium enjoy themselves, and who has always done more than his duty by all local entertainments and entertainers in our city Opera House.

Yours, &c., W. N. Ponton.

A Word of Praise.

A short time since there was a gathering of students in the basement of Bridge St. church, when Dr. Wright, in addressing those present, had a kindly word for our fair city. He said there were a thousand students in the city, who should feel it a privilege to secure an education where social enjoyments of a proper sort were as obtainable as in this city, which he claimed was the handsomest that he had ever dwelt in; and he felt it a privilege, when away from home, to describe the beauties of this city by the Bay.

Our High School.

Rev. Mr. Baker, of Bridge St. Methodist church, yesterday morning, after scoring the city for neglecting Front Street, took a hand at School management, particularly the High School, which structure he likened to a box stall, declaring the health of the rising generation demanded better accommodation. He suggested that a new and properly designed High School be built on the Hospital lot. One who should know, has since said that there is good reason for Mr. Baker's criticism of the High School building, which, he says, is heated with coal stoves that emit poisonous gases, which are both disagreeable and unhealthy, as there is no ventilation, except by the windows.

This Evening's Concert.

The benefit concert to be tendered Mr. Fred Adams at the opera house this evening should be well attended. From the rehearsal this morning the prospects are that it will be the concert of the season. All the numbers will be filled according to programme, and those present will hear Belleville's leading vocalists. The house will be comfortable, as there has been fire in the furnaces since Saturday.

Only Three Last Week.

The Oak Hall had only three men last week wanting us to change clothing for them that they had got made to order by "our best" tailors. They would be satisfied with our fine ready-made clothing after they had been "bit" by the tailors. No thanks, we make no exchanges like this. Get your money back for your "ordered" clothing, then let us show you what the Oak Hall can do. No fit, no sale with us.

Died in Arizona.

Chief Newton this morning received a letter from Tombstone, Arizona, announcing the death at that place of George Osborne, a former resident of this city. From letters among his effects the writer learned that his mother was Agnes Thompson and that she still resided here. The cause of death was heart failure.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS OF MISSIONARY LIFE IN AFRICA.

Our daily meeting with the children is one of our little springs in the wilderness; also the children's meeting at the village, where between 50 and 60 attend. I bought a large straw hat from our gardener, he made it himself of red and white straw, so I won't need to send home for hats after all. I preserved some native fruit with honey, also pickles from native cucumbers. White ants and rats are very destructive, neither can you imagine what trouble one can have with native mud houses. To-day we had roast spare ribs, Boston beans and dressing, also corn meal pudding for dinner (a royal feast for Ravougu). If christians at home only had to realize our position out here and what cheer and comfort a letter really is to us, they would seek more often an opportunity to write us. Cyril and I have been jogging along trying to do all we can. Overwork has brought on fevers, but please do not blame us, for we are not trying to partially fill our own corners and of those who ought to be here and are not. Oh the sight of these perishing people who have never heard the sound of Jesus' name makes me our hearts ache, oh pray that God may raise up more laborers for this field—for the need is so great, so many rushing on to a doomed eternity and so few to tell of Jesus, mighty to save. Oh what are three of us among so many? We sadly feel the want of fellow-workers. Kasupa, one of our boys, got tired of being here and went back to his village. He did not like to work but he did like lots of clothes, so of course the two could not go together. Our boxes have not reached us from home yet, but we will see them some day. Clothes for children are always acceptable.

June—We can now boast of a fire-place made out of sun dried bricks Cyril taught some natives to make out of clay. They are fine for work of that kind. An Ocumbundu came in with some rice, we hope to purchase it and be able to grow it here. It is awful the number of slaves in the passing caravans. A sight we will not soon forget met our eyes not long ago. Boys and girls were tied together in threes and fours by a rope around their necks. Cyril and Mr. Shindler told them of their cruelty. Last month we were able to redeem a poor slave girl captured in the Samba country. She had been cruely treated and unable to go on any farther. We find she is a daughter of King Meidi, of Garuagauze, and that her mother fled with her children to the Samba country at the time of his death. We have heavy storms here, but never hear of damage done by lightning. Cyril has been purifying some beeswax for making candles. If we do not get more we will soon have to sit in the dark. The Queen is on as good terms as ever with us. We have a meeting every Sunday in Sooale at the capital, save when Her Majesty sends out word that she is "dead drunk," come to-morrow, (drunk from honey beer), we then go some where else. The Congo free state we can reach in five days' march. Bishop Taylor's Mission is probably some 700 or 800 miles distant from us. Well, the Queen is here asking for another dress. I told her if she wanted a present she ought to send out men for us and bring in our loads—for you had sent a dress from Canada to her. This pleased her much, but she wanted one now, as the one I had given her before the rats had eaten into, and she was going over to her son's village at the Zambesi. So I gave her a wrapper and she was highly pleased.

July.—Sacimyama, who has been made chief of a village not far from here, has been plundering a poor Sunda village close beside his place and captured nineteen people, whom he has made his slaves. Oh, this slave business is heart rending. "Might" is right in this country, as in the case of many people at home only, I suppose, might ought to be money, but some day God will change the order of things. We are getting on very well with the language. Cyril has made an attempt and translated the parable of the sower. Here is the chorus in Sooale of "Jesus Loves Me":

Yi-su—wan-gu—yan-ga
Yi-su—wan-gu—yan-ga
Yi-su—wan-gu—yan-ga
Wam—bu-li la—li-yu-ya-jam-bi.

Perhaps some of the children would like to learn it.

August.—We hear Dr. Fisher, wife and child are coming in to give us a chance for rest. You will praise God with us over this. We hope they are coming to stay. It is eighteen months since I saw the face of a white woman. It is good to know that another woman is coming inland. While at the meeting to-day a rainbow appeared, and we explained to the children the meaning of it. God's covenant with man. They are learning the commandments. We think it well to put God's perfect law before them and the impossibility of man keeping it, having already broken it—also the grace of God.

September.—We have letters occasionally from the two Missionaries at Garaugauze, telling us of their good health and the precious seed of God's word being scattered far and wide. We rejoice over their work and self-denial. They said trade articles, cloth, soap, all gone long ago, and my sheets had to go too. Caravan work has not been a success and we are waiting on our God to remove the difficulties. It is astonishing how little a person can do with here and the more we do without the less we want. Our dinner for many days has been boiled brown beans and sweet potatoes (for luxury cups of tea and milk) minus everything else. Would that many in London had as good. There is a vast difference between Garaugauze and here in the food. Mr. Crawford tells of food being put at the door of his hut, the people knowing he was without a yard of cloth, while here the people would not give you the smallest thing without full pay. They are so indolent and cultivate so little that they want enormous pay for their precious labor, but in spite of all the greed of these people we or the children have never wanted. Could our God fail us since it is written in His precious book My God shall supply all your need—never: and our trust is in Him alone and we fain would keep it there. We have been able to tell out frequently the message of God and many privileges have been given us of speaking with gray-haired old men just on the edge of the grave about Jesus whom they nor their fathers never heard of before and are our most attentive listeners, these old head men. This letter will reach you about the time of our anniversary leaving Belleville three years ago. Precious three years, I would not have them different nor change places with you. Ah yes, I would desire a closer walk with my God, a better acquaintance with Him, and a more consecrated life to cast at His feet that He could better use me in and for Africa. Thank God we have been spared thus long out here and if we may we would still live to serve many a day more. Our continued health has been a source of praise and thanksgiving to our tender Heavenly Father. It is six months since we have had any fever. Cyril has accomplished a good deal through hard labor; it was no easy task cutting through the thicket by the stream just below us, felling trees, etc., building a bridge and making a road to the capital, another year it will be much better. The country is panting for rain, five months without it. The sun is intolerable after 10 a.m, till 4:30 p. m. The old leaves have fallen, and young leaves and blossoms are on the trees, and in the evening the air is sweet with fragrance. Swarms and swarms of locusts have visited this place, helping themselves to what they can get. I can hardly picture it to you, it was like showers of rain, it being the dry season we don't look for much harm from them. They serve as meat for those natives who can catch them, but a visit from them in the wet season would be a bad omen, famine would follow; but our God is over and above all. We look to Him, He cares for us. Young caterpillars cause much mischief, eating all the green leaves just formed on the trees; they make a savory dish for the natives. They also catch and roast mice. Alas! we are not "nativized" yet, so we miss many sweet dishes, don't we? At one of our meetings the other day, there was a very open-faced, thoughtful kind of a fellow. He tried to repeat to the crowd what we had said. If saved, he would make a good preacher of the Gospel. There was also a most interesting Lunda young man who is most anxious to understand what we tell the people, and when he gets hold of the idea, he explains it with his hands clapping, and all kinds of manœuvres and gestures; so that we call him our Salvation Army captain. Would to God that we could soon see them saved to His praise and honor! Our two eldest girls profess to accept the Lord Jesus. We trust it is real, and we are waiting for positive developments. The people here have very dense minds. They know God, but they don't know Jesus or Satan; the latter is well acquainted with them, as their ways and life indicate. Cyril told them that all good things come to us through God's Son—all evil from Satan; God being in heaven; how that He made the world, and everything in heaven and earth. "Oh yes," said one of the men, who evidently laid hold of an idea, "we shoot off our guns when one of our men dies, and God shoots his gun (thunder) when the white man dies." So if a big thunder-storm came on, they would make sure we were big people, getting great honor from God. Oh, pray that God's word may get an entrance into their hearts, then will come light; "The entrance of thy word giveth light." I am afraid I will weary you with my long diary. We thank God and take courage, when we hear that so many friends are praying for us.

Kind love for all. So farewell!

Annie.

About a young man's neck to be a sufferer from nervous exhaustion, nervous debility, impaired memory, low spirits, irritable temper, and the thousand and one derangements of mind and body that result from, unnatural, pernicious habits, contracted through ignorance. Such habits result in loss of manly power, wreck the constitution and sometimes produce softening of the brain, epilepsy, paralysis, and even dread insanity.

To reach, re-claim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness, is the aim of the publishers of a book written in plain but chaste language, on the nature, symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases. This book will be sent sealed, in plain envelope, on receipt of ten cents in stamps, for postage. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

WALL PAPER!

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper Campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future, you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos to this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long, with a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the drawing room, and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the Wall Paper world for facilitating the handling Wall Paper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year. We can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning, 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

THREE MILLION DOLLARS.

This is the largest amount of NEW BUSINESS written by the Company in any previous year, making the total in force over

SEVENTEEN AND HALF MILLIONS.

The above figures bear substantial testimony to the continued and increased public confidence in

THE ONTARIO MUTUAL,

And I am glad to state that this District contributed its full share to the above results thanks to a far seeing and appreciative public. Let us hope that this, our 25th year, will be signalized by the greatest achievements ever yet accomplished in this District, by

Toronto Testimony.

DEAR SIRS.—Two years ago I had a bad attack of biliousness and took one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and can truly recommend it to any suffering from this complaint. MRS. CHARLES BROWN, Toronto.

Sore Throat Cured.

DEAR SIRS.—I had a very sore throat for over a week and tried several medicines without relief until I heard of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I tried with great success. I think it is a fine medicine for sore throat, pain in the chest, asthma, bronchitis, and throat and lung troubles.
MARIA MIDDLETON, Bobcaygeon, Ont.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.—C W. Snow & Co., Syracuse N. Y., writes: "Please send us ten gross of Pills. We are selling more of Parmelee's Pills than any other Pill we keep. They have a great reputation for a cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint." Mr Chas. A. Smith, Lindsay, writes: "Parmelee's Pills are an excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with severe headache, but these pills have cured her."

The man that doesn't want anything doesn't get it.

Sure but not slow.—People who have used Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil to get rid of pain, find that it is sure but not slow. A cough even, of long standing, is speedily controlled and cured by it. Rheumatism, neuralgia, corns, lame back, and swelled neck rapidly disappear when it is used.

Joseph Rasad, Percy, writes:—I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three years, and found it the best article I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me.

The man who can even pay his respects this year should receive proper credit.

There are a number of varieties of corns. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove any of them. Call on your druggist and get a bottle at once.

CHAPTER III.

STARTLING FACTS.

EX-PURSER AND HIS SENIOR PARTNER CAUGHT IN THEIR OWN TRAP.

For some time past these two men have been worrying very much about KEYS and reference books and what they have been pleased to term "AMERICAN SHALLOWNESS." And they have falsely charged other business colleges with furnishing the same to their students.

The fact is the only KEYS and reference books and GUIDES used in Belleville, as these two men state, are used and advertised for use by these very men.

"The Canadian Accountant"—School authorities ordering the WORK are granted liberal discounts.—Teachers using the BOOK are FURNISHED with a KEY."

"The Canadian Accountant"—"By the Principals of Ontario Business College." "One of the Principals visited various parts of the United States to GATHER the latest AMERICAN IDEAS OF ACCOUNTING."
"ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

"The student is assigned his desk." "The Guide is put in his hand * * * * * and he opens books accordingly.'
"ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

"The Canadian Accountant"—"Teachers using the WORK are FURNISHED with FOOTINGS and RESULTS for the various SETS."
'ROBINSON & JOHNSON."

N.B.—In the city of Belleville, where the text book, with the KEY or reference book and GUIDE, is published there are 40 students of the Belleville Business College, holding positions as Teachers, Bookkeepers, Stenographers and Clerks. How does this compare with their 13 in Rochester?

THE WRAITH OF THE McCOY.

BY

MARY KYLE DALLAS.

When I was sixteen years of age I paid a visit to an uncle and an aunt of my father's, who lived on the family estate in Scotland. My grand uncle was well-to do in this world's goods, and had had leisure to devote his life to scientific pursuits and to write about his ideas and discoveries. He had an exceedingly well arranged laboratory, and dabbled in everything. He was, perhaps, of a more practical turn of mind than most scientists, for he not only theorized and experimented, but turned his knowledge to account, and thereby made his home rather alarming to ignoramuses. Doors opened and shut, the bells rang, seemingly as he willed them. He had made of electricity a sort of servant of all work.

The Scotch domestics gave warning in a body the first evening that the hall lamp lighted itself. They considered the proceeding "uncanny," and my aunt confided to me that it was a most expensive illumination.

"However," she added, "a man should be master in his own house, and has a right to spend his money as he pleases, so I say nothing."

For her part she liked going about "among the poor"—not to give alms. Scottish poor folks seldom want that. She helped them to work for themselves; started poor widows in little penny shops: put boys to trades; found places for young housemaids, and lent small sums of money to be paid back in driblets when the honest folks could do it.

The house was well furnished with articles that would enrapture those who are bitten with the present madness for 'old things." Square rugs lay on the polished oaken floors, and great orange-trees grew in tubs in each of the six windows of the drawing-room. Outside, in summer, was a gay little flower-garden.

It was, however, not a pretty part of the country. It was grand and solemn. Beyond lay mountains apt to be covered with dim gray mist. Near by a loch, the waters of which seldom sparkled, and in dull weather seemed perfectly black, and from the heights on which my uncle's dwelling stood, a road descended into a valley, deep and lonely, walled about with great rocks, its vegetation sparse and coarse, and lying here and there so many mighty boulders, that one could fancy that giants had hurled them at each other in the course of some tremendous fight. Far away above all arose a tall, curious shaft-like object, which one could scarcely believe the work of Nature. Its local name was Daffy's Darning Needle, and on its summit was an eagle's nest. The eagles swooped down upon the sheep folds to their owner's cost at lambing time, but were perfectly safe, as the Needle was inaccessible even to the Scottish boys, who can climb anything climbable.

It was my delight to mount my pony, 'Jackanapes,' and go galloping off over the country. No one objected to my going alone. I was quite safe. There was nothing improper in it. Every one I saw knew me, and I gained health and strength by it.

What with oatmeal for breakfast and these rides, my cheeks grew round and rosy, and spirits high. I forgot at last, even, that it might be possible for me to lose myself, until one day I actually did it. At five o'clock in the afternoon, too, with the autumn day suddenly drawing to a close under a cloudy sky, which threatened one of those furious mountain rain-storms which only those who have experienced can appreciate.

Lost—I laughed to myself—but all I have to do is to trust to the pony. Jackanapes certainly could not lose himself so near home.

However Jackanapes had either done that very thing, or was obstinate and determined to make me find my own way. The storm came on. The way grew perfectly dark, and I fancied that I heard a torrent roaring somewhere near me, dashing over a precipice. There was such a thing in the neighborhood, I know. Life was as sweet to me then as to any human being who ever lived, and I succumbed to terror, soaked to the skin, shivering from head to foot, daring to to move either to the right nor to the left, and expecting death at every moment. I threw my pladdee over my face, and burst in to tear. In fact I cried like a baby.

"Oh, me! Oh me!" I moaned. "I shall never see any of them again! What a death to die! What a death to die."

At this instant, I felt my pony tremble beneath me. He trembled as a human being does in mortal terror, quivered all over, and seemed about to fall on the ground. I uncovered my face. All had been dark when I vailed in the great horror of seeing nothing, but now I saw something—a light which resembled very cold moonlight, so white that one might almost call it blue. It shone, strangely enough, at about the height of a man.

What was I? My blood curdled. I saw conscious of that curious condition of skin which either cold or terror will produce, which children call "goose flesh." I could not have spoken a word to save my soul, for the object before me appeared to be a human figure, formed of some transparent luminous substance, and was a more perfect ghost than is pleasant to contemplate in a lonely spot at nightfall.

Almost instantly, however I saw, with a sudden flush of joy that set my blood in motion on the instant, that my terror had deceived me. It was a man who stood there, clad in what seemed to be a white flannel suit, and holding a lantern over his head.

"That is Miss Maisie?" said a voice that was the voice of a gentleman.

"Oh, yes!" said I. "I am lost. I thought I should die. Oh, I am so glad! So glad! Quiet, Jackanapes!" For the pony trembled more than ever.

"The animal was afraid of me," said the figure. "Can you dismount? I dare not approach you otherwise, for if I do Jackanapes will run away and, perhaps, dash you over the precipice. I will retire; dismount, and I will return. Do not fear anything, I will take care of you."

He was gone. Doubtless he only shut the lantern, but he appeared to vanish. Jackanapes ceased to shudder. I left the saddle, though I was hardly able to move for my wet skirts, and stood by his side. Instantly the stranger was at mine, and as he reapperared my pony kicked up his heels and dashed away up the road.

"Never fear, he will take care of him self," said the stranger. "Follow me."

He led the way. The darkness has concealed from me the fact that I was very near a house. A wide door was flung open, within I saw a deep hall floored with oak, at the end of which a fire roared in a great chimney. I was seated in a huge chair, my garments drying with curious rapidity. My host stood near me—a handsome man, with his long curling, golden hair and beard, and a sort of hunting dress of white flannel. He smiled on me but said nothing until I spoke,

"They will be frightened at home," I said.

"It will not be long," said he coldly.

"I am so thankful to you," I hastened to add. "So very thankful."

He did not answer in any conventional manner. His reply was this:

'You have good reason to be. A death in the cold waters of the torrent is not to be desired, nor is a violent death of any sort. Nature seems to forbid it. Thank Heaven for life, little girl."

"And afterwards you," said I.

He bowed, gravely; then went toward some great piece of furniture, on which silver seemed to shimmer in the fire-light, and brought thence a goblet of wine.

"Drink," he said.

I drank. I was warmed, comforted; a sort of dreamy delight stole over me. I heard music; I saw figures pass to and fro. I did no quite comprehend what I saw; a delicious slumber came on the wings of the music and enfolded me. For a while I was delightfully conscious that I slept. Then I was obliterated.

Cries and shouts aroused me. I struggled to open my eyes. I heard my name, "Maisie! Maisie!" shouted from afar. I heard the clatter of hoofs.

"There! There she is! There she is!" in my uncle's voice.

Gored by a Cow.

A fine colt belonging to Mr. Peter Lindsay, of Nixon, Ont., was badly hooked by a cow. Two bottles of Hagyard's Yellow Oil cured it. This invaluable remedy should be in every house. It cures cuts, sprains, bruises, burns, and all pains and aches in man or beast.

IN WEST VICTORIA.

There Are Now Three Candidates in the Field for the Local.

LINDSAY, Ont., Feb. 5.—At the West Victoria Conservative convention held Saturday Robert Bryans, Reeve of Ops, was nominated as the candidate. There are now three candidates in the field for the honor of representing West Victoria in the Local House: Dr. McKay, Liberal; R. Bryans, Conservative, and John Campbell, Patron.

EAST PETERBORO PATRONS.

Listen to Thomas Blezard, M.L.A., Then Nominate a Man to Oppose Him.

NORWOOD, Ont., Feb. 5.—The Patrons of Industry of East Peterboro held their convention in the Town Hall, Norwood, yesternoon. Thomas Blezard, M.L.A., the nominee of the Reform party, was the first speaker and said that though a Patron he strongly supported Sir Oliver Mowat. William Quinn of Douro was nominated and chosen as the candidate for the Local Legislature. John Lang was nominated for the Commons, but has not definitely accepted.

TEMPORAL POWER OF THE POPE.

Essential to the Real Liberty of the People of Rome.

ROME, Feb. 5.—Count Soderini, Privy Chamberlain of the Pope, is about to publish a pamphlet, entitled, "Rome and the Government During 25 Years." His argument is made on the lines followed in the Pope's address of Jan. 28 concerning the recent disturbances in Sicily and Italy. He urges that it is essential to the real liberty of the people that the Pope recover the temporal power over Rome.

KILLED HIS BRUTAL FATHER.

Justifiable Patricide By a Georgia Mute In Defence of His Mother.

COLUMBIA, Ga., Feb. 5.—James Thompson, a machinist living in a suburb of Columbia, returned home drunk, drove his wife and children out of the house and subsequently pulled a pistol on them. A deaf and dumb son, 22 years of age, came to the defence of his mother and cut his father's throat with a razor.

The father died in a few minutes.

Combine of Atlantic Steamship Owners.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—A conference of representatives of all the Atlantic steamship lines has been in progress since Thursday. The object is the formation of a big pool for controlling most of the competitive traffic between the two great countries, and apportioning it out between the different lines according to an agreed proportion.

Vaillant's Head [illegible]

PARIS, Feb. 5.—The Journal des Debates says Casimir Perier, Prime Minister, and M. Dupuy, President of the Chamber of Deputies, support the application that has been made to President Carnot for a commutation of the sentence of death passed upon Vaillant.

TO KILL THE INCOME TAX.

A Poll of the United States Senate Shows the Tariff Bill Rider Will Be Beaten.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The following poll of the United States Senate, made by The Herald, indicates that the income tax will be stricken from the tariff bill by a small majority:

Several senators are out of the city, and a few who are here could not be found today. In many cases other senators have been able to state with absolute certainty how the absentees will vote, and they have been put down accordingly.

There are four vacancies in the membership of the Senate—one each from the States of Mississippi, Montana, Washington and Wyoming. The vacancy from Mississippi will undoubtedly be filled before the vote is reached on the final passage of the Tariff bill, but it is not expected any of the other vacancies will be filled before that time. The probability is that the new Senator from Mississippi, whoever he may be, will be an advocate of the income tax.

|---|---|
| To strike out Income tax | 41 |
| To keep in | 37 |
| Doubtful | 6 |
| Vacancies | 4 |
| Total | 88 |

As to the final passage of the Tariff bill, whether the income tax be stricken out or not, there can be little doubt.

The interviews indicate that if the income tax amendment is stricken from the bill it will be passed by a strict party vote. If that odious and undemocratic feature is retained there is reason to believe that a few Democrats will vote with the Republicans against the bill.

Templeton's Pink Powder.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

A Bright Lad,

Ten years of age, but who declines to give his name to the public, makes this authorized, confidential statement to us:

"When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought that even if I did not die, I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arm. I hurt my finger and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. If I hurt myself so as to break the skin, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong."—T. D. M., Norcatur, Kans.

JOE TAIT WANTS FREE TRADE

"AS FAR AS THE INTERESTS OF REVENUE RENDER POSSIBLE."

He Speaks on "Trade Unity and National Rivalry" at Rochester—Has No Use for Retaliation, But Advises Canada to Legislate Solely in Her Own Interest.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Feb. 6.—"Trade unity and national rivalry" was "Hon." Joseph Tait's subject at the Chamber of Commerce dinner last evening. He prefaced the solid portion of his address by a pleasant reference to the Earl of Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, and a humorous narrative of his experience on a former visit to Rochester. Referring to the importance of such events as the one being celebrated, he said: "It is well that such meetings should take place and such opportunities be thus afforded for a free exchange and comparison of opinions, not only between citizens of one country, but where citizens of neighboring countries, living under different flags, owing allegiance to different forms of government, yet deeply interested in the welfare of all, can meet and discuss matters of mutual interest. Just as business men thrive and prosper amid prosperous neighbors so nations thrive and prosper by cultivating commercial relations with other nations which possess the essential elements of prosperity.

"At home in Canada during the past 15 years, when men have been pointing to the high tariff walls of other countries and saying, Let us build our tariff walls as high as theirs, shouting for retaliation, tit for tat, shut them out of our markets as we are shut out of their markets, my answer has always been, let us do what is best for ourselves. Don't let us foolishly hurt ourselves by attempting to injure our neighbors, but let us continue to legislate solely in our own interests.

"International commerce is not only a desirable supplement of home trade, but an inspiration and an incentive to the advancement and extension of every genuine native industry. To place the trade relations of the United States and Canada in such a position that the natural products and the manufactured articles of each country shall have a fair place in the markets of the other as nearly on a basis of free trade as the interests of revenue will render possible, is my understanding of the sentiment of trade unity that ought to be accomplished."

THE SENATE AND THE TARIFF BILL.

The Committee Will Report the Bill in Ten Days.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A resolution introduced in the Senate yesterday by Mr. Hale directing the Committee on Finance to have hearings on the tariff bill indicates the feeling on the part of the Republicans that perhaps such hearings are to be denied. The frequency of the statements to-day that the Finance Committee would report the bill to the Senate inside of 10 days probably caused this feeling to become a well-grounded conviction. It seems to have been understood that at the last meeting of the Finance Committee a tacit agreement was had that hearings should be given. The indications are that the Democratic members of the committee will prepare their bill and then lay it before the Republican members it its completed state, as was done in the House. Republicans were to-day criticising this proposed plan of the majority of the committee, and they deny that the Republicans have established such a precedent in the Senate. While the Republicans assumed the management of the McKinley bill and shaped its course in committee they say there was no effort to keep anything away from the Democrats.

The statement that the bill will be reported to the Senate within a period as short as 10 days confirms the story that the Democrats have been at work upon a bill for some time, and it is said that Senators Vest and Jones (Ark.), aided by Mr. Mills, have for the past two weeks been at work in Mr. Mills' committee room preparing a bill which has had for its basis the Wilson bill. One of these three Senators made the statement this afternoon that he believed the bill would go through the Senate without material change, and that he was confident the income-tax feature would be kept in the bill.

At the meeting of the Finance Committee to-day the Republicans will insist upon some definite agreement in the matter of hearing.

BOTH SHOT ON SIGHT.

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., Feb. 6.—Just after the adjournment of the Circuit Court for dinner yesterday H. Clay Turner of Morgan and Capt. J. L. Bomar of this city met in front of the court house. Both drew their pistols and began firing. Others joined in and Bomar fell filled with bullet holes in the body and head, from which he died in a few minutes. Turner escaped unhurt, although one ball passed through his coat. H. Clay Turner, Bruce Turner and his son James and Thomas Blair of Morgan are in jail. Blair received a wound in the arm. Bomar had charged Clay Turner with being the cause of separation between him and his wife and their meeting was looked for with dread.

AN URGENT LIBERAL WHIP.

Issued For the Attendance of Members on Monday Next.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—An urgent circular notice has been sent out by Edward Marjoribanks, Liberal whip, to the Liberal members of Parliament. Its substance is that the Liberals must not fail to attend the opening sitting of the House of Commons on next Monday, as the Government expects there will be important divisions on questions concerning the differences between the Peers and Commons.

Anarchist Insurgents Sentenced.

ROME, Feb. 6.—The court martial which is sitting in Massa di Carrara to try the Anarchists implicated in the last outbreak there and in Carrara has sentenced seven of the most conspicuous leaders. The terms of imprisonment to which they were condemned varied between two and eight years. The insurgent leader, Nicolini, and 32 of his followers, all notorious house-raiders, were arrested yesterday at Noceco, near Parma.

Two Burglars Shot in the Legs.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 6.—At Fairville two men, named Joseph Dixon and Henry Allen, received bullet wounds as the result of an attempt to burglarize George Irvine's store. They were caught in the act of rifling the till. The burglars were shot in the legs and captured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—The American ship Louisiana, on which 35 per cent. reinsurance was recently paid, arrived from New York yesterday with a cargo of general merchandise, after a passage of 212 days.

"LONG LIVE ANARCHY."

Shouted Vaillant as He Was Led to the Guillotine.

PARIS, Feb. 6.—With the cry of "Death to the Bourgeoisie!" "Long Live Anarchy!" Vaillant, the Anarchist, whose name has been on the lips of Parisians ever since Dec. 9, when he threw the bomb in the Chamber of Deputies, paid yesterday the penalty of his crime.

The precautions taken by the authorities to prevent any Anarchist demonstration at the guillotine were perfect, and many of the crowd that had gathered to witness the execution, finding that the guards prevented them from seeing anything, left the vicinity of the Roquette Prison. Many persons were standing on the roofs of houses from which a view of the guillotine could be had. Everybody was remarkably silent. There was none of the shrieking that usually marks an execution here.

At 7 o'clock 25 mounted guards advanced to the foot of the guillotine. Muskets were slung across their backs and all carried bared sabres in their hands.

At 7.10 o'clock all the gas lamps were extinguished except the one nearest the guillotine. When they went for him Vaillant was sleeping. He was awakened and told to prepare for death. He appeared to be surprised, and began to reiterate the theories he advanced before the Assize Court. He declared that, though it was easy to suppress him, it was impossible to suppress Anarchist ideas. "My body is nothing," he added, "compared with the progress of my principles. I shall be revenged."

Vaillant was perfectly calm and displayed no fear whatever to the end. He would not see a chaplain, declined wine, and notwithstanding his shackles walked unaided to his doom.

As Vaillant appeared outside the prison wearing only a shirt and trousers everybody bared their heads and the troops presented arms to salute him who was looked upon as already dead. Vaillant advanced steadily until the guillotine was reached, when he sprang forward a little to shout, "Death to the Bourgeoisie!" "Long live Anarchy!" As he shouted his last cry his voice resounded over the whole square. When he had finished he was about three yards from the plank on which his body was to be fastened. It has been customary for the executioners to push the condemned criminals against this plank, but as Vaillant reached it he sprang forward and placed himself against it. The plank dropped, and in a shorter time than it takes to write it, Vaillant's neck slipped under the glistening knife, and the moment he was in position, Diebler touched the spring. There was a flash and the heavy blade descended, and then the spectators saw a head and a bleeding stump of a neck drop into the basket.

Between the time of Vaillant's arrival and the closing of the baskets containing his remains scarcely more than 20 seconds elapsed.

Chanler's African Expedition.

VIENNA, Feb. 6.—Lieut von Hohenl, who was with William Astor Chanler's expedition in East Africa for some time, has arrived here. He says he does not know what effect the desertion of Chanler's porters had upon the expedition. He considers Chanler an eminently competent leader.

William Astor Chanler is a well-known young American, son of the late John Winthrop Chanler, and grandson of the famous Sam Ward. Mr. Chanler started on his African expedition in June, 1892, accompanied by Lieutenant Hernel of the Austrian navy, who had already traveled in Africa with Count Teleki and by a caravan of 200 rifles. George Galwin, Mr. Chanler's servant, is the only other white man in the expedition. He comes from the home of the Chanlers on the Hudson River. The objects of the expedition were purely scientific and the equipment was first-class. Among his appliances Mr. Chanler had a long-distance photographic machine. The expedition started from Lamu up the Tana River.

It was the intention to rest for some weeks at the snow-topped mountain of Kenia, where the expedition would take careful and accurate astronomical observations. After a thorough exploration of the mountain to its summit, if possible, it was intended to plunge into the comparatively unknown region east of Rudolph Lake. This has been considered dangerous ground for Europeans. It was there that Baron Vecken was murdered, and that Revoil, Ruspoli and Ferrandi failed in their efforts to accomplish their aims. The region abounds in warlike tribes.

"I believe," said Mr. Chanler before starting, "that the previous failures were due to starting from the coast. We intend to enter the region from the west after leaving Lake Rudolph and proceed along the Tubba River to the sea. We expect to be absent about 18 months."

Some time ago advices reached the civilized world that the camels that Mr. Chanler had taken with him on his expedition had died, and later information was received that his porters had deserted him. This rendered the further work of the expedition almost impossible, and Mr. Chanler has evidently determined upon abandoning his task. Considerable interest is felt in learning the results of the work that he did accomplish.

Born on the Train.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Laboaton, a Belgian woman en route to join her husband at Nanaimo, B.C., gave birth to a son on the westbound express east of Chapleau. She persisted in continuing her journey, but was humanely detained here by the immigration department.

Stole 804 Silver Dollars.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The count of the silver vault in the treasurer's office has been completed. A shortage of $804 was found, all of which was stolen by Anderson, the young messenger. His friends, who are highly connected politically and socially, are making every effort to have the affair settled, and have agreed to reimburse Treasurer Morgan if the prosecution is dropped.

A Kick From Massachusetts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—In the House yesterday Mr. Morse (Republican, Massachusetts) presented a memorial from the Massachusetts Legislature, protesting against the passage of certain schedules in the Wilson tariff bill as destructive and fatal to the industries of Massachusetts. The House then took up the consideration of the Hawaiian resolution and Mr. Johnson (Republican) addressed the House.

Pistol Duel in the Street.

BROOKHAVEN, Miss., Feb. 6.—James A England and Leonard Smith, neighboring farmers between whom a feud of long standing existed, had a duel in the streets here Saturday with pistols. England received three shots in the abdomen and died yesterday. Smith was fatally wounded in the stomach.

Admiral Gervais Will Resign.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The Daily News correspondent in Paris says that owing to his trouble in the extra parliamentary naval commission on Friday, Admiral Gervais will resign his post at the head of the admiralty and will ask to be sent out for active service.

OUR HAY TRADE IN BRITAIN.

AN INCREASE OF 50,000 TONS EXPORTED LAST YEAR.

England Dislikes Dutch and Russian Hay, Fearing It May Carry Cholera Germs—Canada Took Advantage of the Short Crop to Extend Her Trade.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The statistics of the hay trade of Great Britain for last year, which was one of failure of the home crop, and of consequent scarcity, have just been published. They will interest Canadians as they show that Canada, to a greater extent than any other country, with the exception of the United States, has taken advantage of the situation to extend her trade.

The quantity of hay imported during the year was 263,050 tons, compared with 61,237 tons during the previous year. Of the whole quantity the United States supplied 101,132 tons against 11,588 in 1892, Canada 55,175 tons against 13,120, Holland 28,332 tons, Russia 27,692 tons, the Argentine States 24,594 tons and Australia 49 tons.

The importations from Holland and Russia are regarded with much apprehension, the fear being that they may bring disease, and especially the cholera, which has been more or less prevalent in both countries.

English consumers express a hope that the Canadian and American exporters will in future discard wire binding, as there is danger to the animals from the swallowing of fragments of wire, which are occasionally found in the hay which has thus been tied up.

MURDER IN AN ELEVATOR.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 6.—G. N. Henson, President of the Citizens' Bank, and treasurer of the county, also of the Rockwood and Tullahoma Bank, shot and killed J. B. Wert, a prominent insurance man, aged 50, married, and the father of six children, in an elevator of the Richardson Block, the largest office building in the city yesterday afternoon. Some six months ago Mr. Henson entered a divorce suit against the

The sensation was aired at length in the newspapers, both men publishing cards calling each other liars, etc. The case did not go to trial, Hensen withdrawing the suit on account of his wife and his two children. Mr. Wert, however, was tried by a church council and by a vote of 5 to 2 pronounced guilty and publicly expelled.

To-day they met in the elevator face to face, and when between the first and ground floor Henson shot Wert through the lungs, inflicting injuries which resulted in death soon afterwards.

The news of the shooting spread quickly, and in a short time thousands of people blocked the streets surrounding the building. Medical aid was summoned, but Wert was beyond help. The murderer was at once taken to the fourth floor of the building, where in an attorney's office he remained until removed to jail by the chief of police and sheriff.

At the jail he said he thought he detected Wert in the act of placing his hand to his pocket, and fearing bodily harm he pulled his pistol. An examination of the dead man's clothing failed to show weapons of any kind.

"CUCKOOS" AT WASHINGTON.

Representative Morse Called Down For Using the Word In the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The entire day in the House was given to a discussion of the Hawaiian resolution. The only break in the regular order was a brief speech by Mr. Morse (Rep., Mass.), for which he was sharply called to order by Mr. Outhwaite (Dem., Ohio), for asserting that the cuckoos of the House and Senate were under the control of their master, the President. These words were taken down and declared by the Speaker to be unparliamentary. Mr. Morse thereupon withdrew them.

FATHER AND SON STEAL $20,000.

Absconded From Farmington, Maine—Arrested in Winnipeg With $10,000

WINNIPEG, Feb. 6.—A sensational arrest has been made here. H. A. Hacket and his son have been here for some weeks without any apparent reason, and to-day they were arrested. They are wanted at Farmington, Maine, on a charge of stealing between $10,000 and $20,000 worth of bonds. They had $10,000 worth of bonds in their possession and were attempting to negotiate at one of the city banks. An officer is now on the way from Maine to institute extradition proceedings.

The Pool of Atlantic Liners.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The trans Atlantic steamship companies discussing the pooling question include the American Cunard, White Star, North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American lines. A conference between the representatives of the various lines was held Friday, but nothing was settled. The negotiations as far as they have proceeded point to a favorable agreement being reached. After another meeting, which will be held here, the date of which has not yet been fixed, a conference will meet in Hamburg.

Overdue Steamers.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Feb. 6.—Intense anxiety is felt in shipping circles for the safety of the British steamer Barcelona, which sailed from Liverpool Jan. 10, and is now ten days overdue. She has a crew of 30 and several passengers.

Rampolla Congratulates Count Mun.

ROME, Feb. 6.—Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State, has written a letter to Count Mun, who at a recent bye-election in France was returned to the Chamber of Deputies, congratulating him upon his election. The Cardinal says that his statement is encouraging to social and political action and it is in consonance with the Papal policy in France.

Railroad Collision In Italy.

ROME, Feb. 6.—Two trains on the railroad between this city and Ancona came into collision near Gualdo Tadino, in the Province of Perugia to-day. No one is reported to have been killed in the accident, but a number of persons were more or less severely injured.

Burne-Jones a Baronet.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Edward Burne-Jones, the artist, has been made a baronet. George Frederick Watts, the artist, was also offered a baronetcy, but declined.

A Wrecked British Vessel.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The British steamer Scots Greys, which sailed from Cardiff Jan. 11 for Puerto, Caballos, has been wrecked at Silver Bank. Her crew have arrived at Porto Platte, Santo Domingo.

Dynamite Explosion.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—By the accidental explosion of dynamite cartridges in a cut on section 13 of the drainage canal, near Rome, Ohio, on Saturday, two men were killed and three injured.

REPEAL OF THE ELECTION LAWS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The House bill to repeal the federal election laws was debated in the Senate during most of the session, Mr. Chandler (Rep., N.H.) leading with a speech against the bill, and Mr. Frye (Rep., Maine) illustrated the necessity for such laws by what he called the "twice told tale" of the Tammany election frauds in the presidential election of 1868—the wholesale naturalization of foreigners, the "repealing" and the wholesale false registering. He asked Mr. Palmer (Dem.), whom he had sought out for his special antagonist, whether a system of dishonest practice did not justify the existence of the federal statutes, which the bill proposed to repeal; the Illinois senator refused to make such an admission. The discussion was participated in by several senators, and then the bill went over till to-morrow.

The anti-options question was brought up by a motion to refer to the Judiciary Committee the bill introduced some weeks ago by George (Dem.).

After remarks by Mr. Berry (Dem., Ark.) and Mr. Washburn (Rep., Minn.) no action was taken on the motion, Mr. George not being in the Chamber. The Senate at 4.15 adjourned.

TOO HANDY WITH HIS SWORD.

One Man Run Through, Two Others Wounded by a Lieutenant.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A despatch from Prague, Bohemia, says that Lieut. Ikalovics of the Austro-Hungarian army quarreled with a party of merchants in a beer house in Pilsen yesterday. Ikalovics drew his sword and after wounding two of the merchants run it through another named Koten. Within a few minutes Koten was dead. The officer fled and has not been arrested

The Servian Pretender.

BELGRADE, Feb. 6.—Several demonstrations in favor of the Servian pretender Prince Karageorg have been made in the provinces in the last few days.

DETERMINED TO LYNCH HIM.

But the Sheriff Managed to Save the Man's Life.

LEBANON, Ind., Feb. 6.—Saturday night Frank Hall, a negro, assaulted Mrs. Akers, a widow, who lives alone with her children on a farm four miles east of Lebanon, holding a revolver at her head. He then fled, but was subsequently arrested at his home and brought here. The news that a mob was organizing induced the sheriff to hustle the prisoner away to Indianapolis.

Yesterday morning Hall was returned for a hearing. A mob at once surrounded the jail. At 12 o'clock the sheriff came out of the jail with Hall to take him to the Circuit Court. The mob made a lunge for him. The deputies pulled their guns and a scrimmage ensued. Three of the mob got a rope about Hall's neck, but it was promptly cut. It was constant fight to the court room, several shots being exchanged. Hall was sentenced to 21 years and is now lodged in the judges private office. He implored the officers to save him. The mob has surrounded the court house and declares that Hall will never go to prison alive. Judge Neal has ordered 1000 men deputized to keep the peace.

The prisoner was locked in the judge's chambers until half-past 5. At that time the sheriff with 50 deputies made a rush through the crowd and got the prisoner safely upon the southbound train. He was taken to Indianapolis and lodged in jail.

FRANCE GOT THE WORST OF IT.

British Soldiers Again Fired On In Sierra Leone.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A despatch from Sierra Leone says a detachment of British military police, encamped in the Sofa country, were recently fired upon by a French force. The British returned the fire and killed six of the French forces. Several of the attacking party were captured.

It was only a short time ago that a force of British, consisting of members of the West India Regiment and a detachment of military police, the latter under command of Capt. Lendy, was fired upon by the French force under the command of Lieut. Maritz, near Warina, who, it was subsequently explained, mistook them for natives. Captain Lendy, Lieuts. Liston and Boughton, a sergeant and 26 privates were killed. The British at once responded to the fire and shortly afterwards the French retired. Lieut. Maritz was wounded and was captured by the British and explained that the attack was a mistake on his part, he thinking that the British were natives. The attack was made in the early morning before the sun had fairly risen, and in the dim light the members of the West India regiment, who are negroes, were thought to be Sofas and their officers Arabs. Lieut. Maritz subsequently died from the effects of his wounds and was buried with military honors by the British.

A Big Trolley Scheme.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Herald yesterday morning publishes details of the proposed connection of this city with Philadelphia by means of a trolley system. Two very important movements have been made in the scheme in the last few days. Arrangements have been made to extend the line from Newark to Elizabeth, and franchises have been secured for lines from Philadelphia to Trenton.

Six Victims of Smallpox.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Six persons have died of smallpox in Riverside Hospital since yesterday. Three new cases were reported. One death is reported in a crowded tenement house.

For Over Fifty Years

GENTLEMEN.—About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking B. B. B., took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine.

EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

A panic is a sudden desertion of us, and a going over to the enemy of our imagination.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Ill-deeds are doubled with an evil word; the sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Beware of desperate steps; the darkest day, live till to-morrow, will be passed away.

NOTICE.

THE Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the INTELLIGENCER P. & P. Co'y. (Limited), will be held in the INTELLIGENCER building on Wednesday, the 7th day of February, 1894, at the hour of two o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing Directors and for other purposes.

J. C. JAMIESON, President,
Belleville, Jan. 24th, '94.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A DISINTERESTED WITNESS.

In reply to the question, "Are Canadian Farmers Suffering?" the Ottawa Citizen offers testimony from what, all things considered, it properly calls an unimpeachable source. No one, says our contemporary, is acquainted more thoroughly than Mr. Geo. A. Cox, of Peterborough, with the state of business in Ontario, nor is any one more competent to express a weighty opinion. Mr. Cox is one of the foremost financial authorities in Canada. He is president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in which he holds a large amount of stock. He possesses moreover heavy interests in the Canada Life Insurance Company, of which he has been agent for Eastern Ontario for many years, and he is agent for the American Express, G.N.W. Telegraph Company, and several other concerns.

Not only is Mr. Cox well able from his financial ability and experience to judge of the state of trade and the relative prosperity of different classes of the population, but he cannot be suspected of being biased in favor of the present Government. He is a strong Reformer, and ran in the Reform interest for the west riding of Peterborough, first for the Local Legislature and then for the Dominion, being beaten in each case by a small majority. Now what has Mr. Cox to say about the standing of the farmers? In making his annual statement of the Central Canada Loan & Savings Company, and in moving the adoption of the report, Mr. Cox said: "In this connection I may call your attention to the fact that of the total funds of this company, amounting to $5,035,688.09, no less than $3,096,688.20, or over 60 per cent, belongs to the Canadian public.

"We have noticed during the last year an increasing demand for improved farms from farmers prepared to make substantial cash payment. A good deal has been said, sometimes I fear for political purposes, about the embarrassed condition of our farmers with their heavily mortgaged farms and low prices for farm products. That this is true with reference to a limited number of farmers in every community, no person will attempt to deny; but in deploring this we must not forget the infinitely larger number of prosperous and contented farmers, with unencumbered well-stocked farms with good buildings, well-filled granaries, well-equipped implements and steadily accumulating deposits in the savings bank."

Asthma Sufferers.

Who have in vain tried every other means of relief, should try "Schiffman's Asthma Cure." No waiting for results. Its action is immediate, direct and certain, as a single trial proves. Send to Dr R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., for a free trial package, but ask your druggist first.

A Silent City.

A few years ago the advantages of the Dakotas over our own Northwest, were painted in very glowing colors by the Grit press throughout Canada. And now comes from that promised land a story, it is told in the American newspapers, that has no parallel in the history of the world. We read of the ancient ruins of Mexico, Central America, Baalbeck, Pompeii and Herculaneum; they tell of ancient civilizations and races that are dead; but North Dakota has a city, one called West Lynne, a few years ago inhabited by 20,000 people, that now is without a single human inhabitant. There are buildings that cost from $5,000 to $100,000 apiece, a $200,000 steel bridge and other things in proportion, but their builders and occupants are gone because it was impossible for the farmers to raise crops there and hence it was impossible for the residents of the city to live. But the Dakotas were a paradise in the eyes of the Grit leaders, so long as they thought that by extolling their advantages they could restrain the tide of emigration to our own Northwest.

THE ADAMS' BENEFIT.

A Delighted Audience Listen to the Musical Event of the Season.

Mr. Frederick Adams has every reason to feel proud of the excellent showing made by his numerous friends at the opera house last night. The house was comfortably filled and the programme rendered in a very pleasing and precise manner. The first number was an overture by the I. O. O. F. orchestra entitled "Home Circle." The orchestra this year under Prof. Riggs' pains-taking and efficient direction is better than we remember ever to have heard it before. Owing to a re-arrangement of the programme Mr. Brickman followed with a saxophone solo, which was indeed very well rendered, Miss Chalaunka playing the accompaniment. The Excelsior quartette followed in a selection entitled "Oft in the Stilly Night." This quartette is simply an excellent organization. With time and careful training the possibilities are great. Mr. Dan Young rendered "Dear Heart." Mr. Young is one of the best, if not the best tenor we have had in our midst. He sang for his encore a very pretty slumber song with obligato by Miss Jones. Mrs. Dr. Walker sang "Santa Maria." Mrs. Walker has a voice of rare sweetness coupled with an extremely gracious personality which is very taking. Misses Edith Jones and Blanche Lazier played a violin duet and acquitted themselves like thorough artists. Mr. J. N. Doyle sang "The Yeoman's Wedding Song." Mr. Doyle was in excellent voice and was especially strong in the higher notes. Mr. Fox followed with a comic song "I Dreamt that I was Dreaming," after which the orchestra played "Bonnie Scotland," by Catlin. Between part first and second a very pleasing diversion was introduced in the shape of a fancy dance by Prof. W. J. Sage, the dancing master. Mr. Sage showed marvellous agility and altogether the caprice, with its nautical accessories, was a really artistic little piece of business. The orchestra opened part second and was followed by the Excelsior Quartette in imitative selections. Mrs. W. Hebert Campbell sang Happy Days, by Stackelzl, with violin obligato played by Miss Blanche Lazier. This lady has a fine and soulful voice, the like of which we rarely hear. Mr. T. P. J. Power sang very nicely "The Pink of Perfection." Miss Price sang sweetly Loati's "Beauty's Eyes" with obligato by Miss Lazier. Mr. Doyle followed with another stirring solo entitled "The Arab's Bride." Mr W. C. McLean sang "Anchored." This young man, with care and thoughtful preparation of his work, is the making of a very fine singer. Mr. Fax closed the programme with a comic solo entitled "Do, do, my Huckleberry Do." Nearly every number was encored. The accompanists were Mrs. C. L. Campbell, Mrs. T. P. J. Power and Mrs. Geo. Fax. The violin playing of Misses Lazier and Jones was one of the most pleasing features of the entertainment. Before the last number Mr. W. N. Ponton introduced Mr. Fred Adams who, in a few well chosen words, thanked the audience for their attendance and hoped he would be spared for a long time to assist in their amusement.

TUFTSVILLE.

TUFTSVILLE, Feb 3, 1894.

The new iron bridge on the Midland Division between Stirling and Tuftsville, which will supersede the old wooden structure known as number 3 bridge, is fast nearing completion. The massive iron girder arrived this morning on two flat cars and will as soon as possible be placed in position. A large force of men are engaged in the work under the supervision of Inspector Geo. Mitchell, of Lindsay. The ponderous pile driver, operated by a powerful steam engine, has already done its work, and according to the report of the engineer, has done it well. This powerful machine is capable of striking a blow of 30 tons or of driving a shingle nail and must be seen at work to be appreciated. The approaches to the bridge are of Georgia pine, which is practically indestructible. The entire length will be about 100 feet. These constant and costly improvements along the line are certainly very creditable to the management of the G.T.R., who seem to spare no expense in putting the branch lines in first class condition.—W. H. Clarke, public school teacher at Eldorado, is home on a visit to his friends. Mr. Clarke reports a full school and thinks there is more interest taken in education in the north than in the south.

ADAMS'.

Miss Tillie Bonter has returned to O.B.C. to finish her course there.—J. E. Alyea, V.S., intends leaving soon for Hastings, Ont., where he intends to practice.—Deputy Reeve J. E. Glenn has been elected Warden for our county for term of 1894. He is the right man in the right place. He is in politics a staunch Conservative.—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Raymond, of Trenton, spent Monday and Tuesday last at Mr. Chas. Jackson's.—Miss Emma B Bonter has left to attend High School at Belleville.—Miss Annie Carnrite, of Albert College, spent Sunday at home.—J. M. Roote was guest of Mr. Carrington on Sunday 28th.—Surprise at Mr. Kemp's on Friday night last.

DEMORESTVILLE.

The quarterly meeting held at this place last Sabbath was largely attended.—Rev. R. J. Dunning, of Toronto, is very ill at his father's, Mr. Geo. Dunning, of this place.—Mr. Wm Baker, postmaster, who was very ill, is around again.—Mr. Clayton Gordon, of Chicago, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E Gordon, of this village.—The S.S. Convention of the township of Sophiasburg will be held in the Methodist church, Demorestville, Friday, Feb. 16th, afternoon and evening.—The fall of snow last week has greatly improved the times.—Mr. D. B. Coolidge, having let his farm, purposes following the insurance business.—Mrs. Isaac Crowe, of Big Island, is seriously ill.

MR. BOWELL TO BE KNIGHTED

THE NORTHWEST SCHOOL ORDINANCE NOT DISALLOWED.

Wholesale Migration From Pittsburg to the Northwest—Ottawa Banks Report All Paper Met on the 4th—Customs Appointments and Superannuations.

OTTAWA, Feb. 6.—A rumor is current here that in the next distribution of Queen's Birthday honors knighthood will be bestowed upon that veteran statesman, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, than whom no more fitting subject for honor could be found by Her Majesty. Mr. Bowell is the only minister still in office who entered the cabinet on the return of the Conservative party to power in 1878. He has held office continuously ever since and is the senior Privy Councillor in the Cabinet. He is with, I think, only one exception, the only living member of the Cabinet of 1878 who has not received the honor of knighthood or been elevated to the bench, and it will give great satisfaction throughout the Dominion of his many and valuable services thus realized.

Rev. Dr. Robertson, superintendent of the Presbyterian missions to the Northwest, had an interview with Hon. Mr. Daly, Minister of the Interior, with reference to the settlement of a number of Hungarian farmers now in Pittsburg, Pa., in the Canadian Northwest. It will be remembered that last summer the Rev. Mr. Titlebaum, minister of the Church of England, came to Ottawa and saw the Minister of the Interior with reference to a large number of Hungarians who were in Pittsburg and its neighborhood working in factories, who were all practical farmers who had been attracted to the large cities, but who were anxious to resume rural life if they could do so. Mr. Titlebaum was under the impression these men were Lutherans, but on his visiting Pittsburg he discovered that they were Presbyterians under the charge of Rev. Mr. Kovacks. That did not diminish Mr. Titlebaum's interest and he had done all he could to further the efforts of Mr. Kovacks in making arrangements for the transportation of at least a portion of the Hungarian colony. About 50 families will go to the Northwest in the spring, and they will be accompanied by Rev. Mr. Kovacks, who will resign a lucrative pastorate in Homestead to accompany part of his flock to the Northwest as a missionary.

As was stated in this correspondence two weeks ago would be the case, there will be no interference on the part of the Dominion Government with respect to the ordinance of the Northwest Assembly with regard to Public schools. The order-in-council relating to the matter was passed Saturday and taken down to Quebec by Mr. J. J. McGee, clerk of the Privy Council, for His Excellency's signature. There is therefore no longer any question that the ordinance will not be disallowed.

Notes.

An order in council has been passed superannuating Mr. John Rankin, collector of customs at Bowmanville.

Mr. W. H. Howie has been appointed sub-collector of customs at Sudbury.

Mr. J. R. Philp has been appointed collector of customs at Whitby, vice J. A. Carson superannuated.

Enquiry at the banks here yesterday indicates that no depression or stringency in money matters has struck Ottawa. This is one of the crucial "fourths" of the year when large amounts of paper fall due and the unanimous verdict of the managers here to-day has been that notes have been promptly met. The manager of the Union Bank is very emphatic. He says: "All paper taken up; payments very good; more notes returning to-day than for 10 years or more and all satisfactorily met."

Hon. John Costigan has left for Toronto on a short visit.

WILL BLOCKADE RIO.

Da Gama Gives the Requisite 48 Hours Notice.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A despatch received from Rio Janeiro late last evening says: "Admiral Da Gama has given forty-eight hours notice that he will blockade Rio, and has disposed his fleet accordingly. This step is intended to assert belligerent rights for the insurgents. The action of the foreign commanders is awaited with anxiety."

A Sneaking Sort of Criminal.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The Times publishes an interview with Jabez Spencer Balfour, now under arrest in the Argentine Republic awaiting extradition to Great Britain, where he will be tried for complicity in the Liberator Building Society frauds. The Times correspondent says Balfour declared he was preparing a statement that would incriminate several public men in the frauds. Balfour also expressed his confidence that the Argentine law will prevent his extradition.

A Hint To the Reichstag.

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—Chancellor Von Caprivi's dinner, which preludes the final struggle over the commercial treaty, was held yesterday at Chancellor's Palace, 77 Wilhelm-strasse. Emperor William was present and talked almost constantly with other guests.

Toward the close of the dinner Emperor William spoke concerning the Russian treaty in the Reichstag. He said: "The Reichstag has never before been called upon to make a decision fraught with such important consequences. It is certain that the rejection of the treaty would be followed speedily by a tariff war and later by actual war. Let every deputy realize his responsibility at this time. I say this now so that none may be able to say afterwards, 'I did not know.' The favorable terms granted to us in the treaty which was signed to-day are entirely due to the personal intervention of His Majesty the Czar, to his well-known strong love of peace.

"The treaty bears evidence throughout of that love, which has been strong enough to overthrow the vigorous resistance of the manufacturing and commercial interests of Russia."

DaGama Draws on Rothschilds.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A despatch from Lisbon says it is stated on high authority there that the Rothschilds are furnishing money to Admiral DaGama, the commander of the insurgents at Rio.

An Enterprising Swindler.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 6.—Albert Walton, aged 34 years, a native of New York, who was at one time agent for The British Mercantile Guide, has been arrested here for swindling. It is said over 400 merchants in Hamburg, Berlin, Switzerland and Russia have been victimized.

NATIONALITY OF PRINCE ALFRED.

He is Now a German Sovereign and Not a British Subject.

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—The question of the present nationality of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha (the Duke of Edinburgh), came up in the Reichstag yesterday. Herr Friedberg, National Liberal, asked Chancellor Von Caprivi whether it was in harmony with German interests that the reigning Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha should be at the time a British subject. He further desired to be informed if a foreigner could become a German sovereign.

The Chancellor replied that the Duke had legally succeeded to the German title and the throne of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and had thereby become a German. The fact that he was a German sovereign excluded the possibility of his being a foreign subject.

Herr Bonin, Secretary of State for the Duchies, stated on behalf of the Duke that he was not the subject of a foreign power. He held no obligations towards Great Britain that were contrary to his German sovereignty.

BROOMS! BROOMS!!

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE,

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst, over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. ### OYSTER PATTIES.

MAKE some rich puff paste and bake it in very small tin patty pans; when cool turn them out upon a large dish; stew some large fresh oysters with a few cloves, a little mace and nutmeg; then add the yoke of one egg, boiled hard and grated; add a little butter, and as much of the oyster liquid as will cover them. When they have stewed a little while take them out of the pan and set them to cool. When quite cold lay two or three oysters in each shell of puff paste. Use the Happy Thought Range

ASSESSMENT SYSTEM

THE REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE REFERRED BACK.

A Breezy Meeting—Some of the Aldermen get Personal and are Called Down—The Discussion Pro and Con—The Assessor Eulogized.

The City Council held a special meeting las evening to deal with the report of the Special Committee appointed to consider the resolutions of Ald. Lazier and Robinson re the assessment. Those present were: His Worship the Mayor, Ald. Diamond, Foster, Marshall, Collins, Robinson, Moon, Harte, Petty, Green, Haight, Shevlin, Graham, Lazier, Luscombe, Doyle, Wills, Ponton, Starling, Clarke and La Roche.

The committee recommended that three assessors be appointed at a salary of $150 each per year in place of the present system. And that a by law be prepared and read a first and second time.

On motion the report was received and the Council went into committee of the whole on reports, Ald. Landenberger in the chair.

Ald. Starling said he thought the meeting was illegal, as all the members had not been notified.

The Mayor said every member had been notified.

Ald. Starling said he objected to the meeting and wanted his objection to go on the minutes.

The Mayor said the Janitor was the person to notify the members, and upon his being questioned, he said all the aldermen had been notified.

Ald. Lazier, in moving the adoption of the report, said our assessment system needed looking after and the committee were unanimous on the point of appointing three assessors. But he did not think the report went far enough. His object in bringing the resolution before the Council was to have the personal property, income and real estate assessed equally. But he would support the report.

Ald. Collins said he would oppose the adoption of the report on the ground that the time was too short and that three new men would not be able to do the work in the prescribed time.

Ald. Diamond said if there was to be a change this year the committee had done wisely in calling this meeting, as the assessment must be begun after the first meeting of the new Council and not later than the 15th of February. The committee had brought the Council together so that it could not be said that they had delayed the matter to keep the present assessor in another year. The old system of three assessors was unsatisfactory, as they appointed three men (sometimes new men) every year. But that was now changed. Under the present municipal act, men appointed by the Council could remain in office so long as the Council wished them to. He claimed that three men were better than one. The present assessor was a good judge of a building, but he could not go into a store and judge a stock of goods. If we appointed three men, we might get a business man, a carpenter and a financial man. If the work were done in the prescribed time, the assessor has a long time during the year he had nothing to do. The assessment must be made between about the 15th of January and the 30th of April. He thought three men could do the work in a shorter time than one. He said he would vote for the report.

Ald. Robinson said his scheme was for amalgamation. He claimed the assessment was very poor in regard to merchandise. Some merchants whose stock was nearly all paid for were not assessed much more than those whose stock was bought on credit. He thought they could get good men for $150 each. With this mode the intention was to have one man in the office and the others would report to him and when there was a difference of opinion as to valuation the three could confer together and the majority rule.

Ald. Luscombe said it had been rumored on the street that Ald. Robinson had threatened the present assessor if he did not reduce his assessment.

Ald. Robinson—"It's a lie; there's no truth in it."

Ald. Starling said the present movement was a retrograde one. He wanted to see Belleville get along, not move back. The present assessor had given up his business and gone into the office, and had done well. We should move slowly in this matter. He said the mover had brought the motion before the Council and left Ald. Diamond to explain it. When he brought a motion before the Council he would follow it, and not act as a stool-pigeon. Ald. Lazier objected to this slur, but Ald. Starling did not withdraw it. Continuing he said, some people kicked because their assessment was too high, but this was a proof that the present officer was doing his duty. Ald. Diamond had said that if we appointed three men, we would get a business man. The speaker wanted to know what man could value dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, hardware, etc.? He said there were merchants in this city paying large salaries and carrying large stocks, and if their assessments were raised they would reduce their stocks. He would oppose the report.

Ald. Collins moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Wills, that the report be referred back for further information.

Ald. Diamond said when Messrs. Harold, Davey, and others, were assessing, there were more appeals to the Court of Revision than now.

Ald. Starling said the appeals were the outcome of wrong assessments, and not because they were too high.

Ald. Clarke said the committee had not reported on the subject submitted to them. They had simply recommended the change from one assessor to three. They had not reported anything as to the present system of assessment. They had not said that the present system was not right. There are not three men living in the city, capable of judging of the value of property throughout the city. We have had an assessor who has been learning the value of property by long association with the office. He said that it would be difficult to find men who would make a proper assessment for $150. The committee had not been unanimous, but they had agreed to this report because they could not get what they wanted. He quoted figures to show that the assessment had been increased from the first year the present assessor had been in office. He would support the amendment.

Ald. Graham said it was hard for either one man or three to please all the people. He had been appointed assessor himself once and he thought one man could do the work as well as three. He had been on the Court of Revision lately and he thought Mr. McKay had done his work well.

Ald. Luscombe said he would support the amendment. He had signed the requisition for holding this meeting without thinking and Ald. Lazier had buttonholed him as to how he would vote on the report.

Ald. Lazier said he had not asked Ald. Luscombe how he was going to vote. He had nothing personally against Mr. McKay, but he did not think the assessment was properly made.

Ald. Landenberger said he had heard it rumored that Ald. Lazier was looking after the office of assessor himself.

Ald. Lazier said he wanted to know Ald. Landenberger's authority for this statement. He had no idea of looking for the office; he was not fit for it.

Ald. Wills wanted to see the system modified, but he thought we should have more light on the subject and he would support the amendment.

Ald. Starling said we should not burden the business men of the city, but if they would move to raise the assessment on the income of men who had their money invested in mortgages he would support the movement.

Ald. Ponton said the present assessor had raised the assessment, while the population had increased only two hundred. He said this was a retrograde movement. Assessment was not valuation. This movement was the old reduction of salary question in another form. P. T. C. he said, represented the names of the parties who were now virtually appointed in the minds of the movers in this matter.

Ald. Diamond insisted that the remark made by Ald. Landenberger concerning Ald. Lazier be withdrawn.

Ald. Landenberger accepted Ald. Lazier's denial of the rumor.

Ald Petty said there was not a workingman's house in the city that was not assessed to its full value. The Council had given $150,000 to boom Belleville.

Ald. La Roche said it was the people who had voted that sum, not the Council.

Ald. Petty—"I don't want to be interrupted by any jack ass."

Ald. Ponton rose to a point of order and the chairman requested Ald. Petty to retract his statement. He retracted and continuing said that the Council had voted $30,000 for the bay bridge to boom the city. But the assessment system was not right and he would support the report of the committee.

Ald Shevlin was not in favor of going back to the old system and he would support the amendments. He said if they could get an assessor who would please everybody he would guarantee him $5,000 a week in a museum. He wanted to know if the Council would go back to oil lamps if they got them cheaper.

Ald. Clarke said it would be a good idea to advertise the assessment before the Court of Revision sat so that appeals might be made for increase as well as decrease. He thought it was unfair to assess a man who owned his stock more than the man who bought his stock on credit, when both men carried the same amount of stock.

Ald. Doyle said people had complained when there were three assessors. He would vote for the amendment.

Ald. Harte said he had seconded the resolution and he thought it was in keeping with their duty. If there was anything wrong with the present system they should find it out. He thought three men could do the work better and for less money. He would support the report.

Ald. Robinson said he had called the attention of the assessor to certain merchants who were not assessed high enough, but he (Mr. McKay) had said it would be poor policy to raise the assessments of these men.

Ald. Collins said if Ald. Robinson knew the valuation was wrong he should not come to the Council and bark for votes, but should go to the Court of Revision.

The Mayor stated that the assessor had raised the assessment last year on personal property and income, but the Court of Revision had taken off a large amount of it. This was not the assessor's fault.

The amendment carried and the committee rose and reported. Report received and adopted.

Ald. Starling asked for the yeas and nays on the adoption of the report and they were:

NAYS—Petty and Robinson.—2.

Post Office Guide.

Readers will have missed the post office advertisement from our columns since the 1st inst. The reason is that there will hereafter—as in the large cities—be issued in place of it a large and beautifully printed "Post Office Guide" in sheet form, in which full information is contained as to postage rates and all local postal information is given. Copies will be furnished to all business men who are box holders and can be obtained on application at the post office. The "Guide" will be issued on the 1st of each month.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Pictures.

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

Good Clothing Only.

Once in a while we have customers leave our clothing, claiming they want something cheaper. The Oak Hall lay claim that they sell the cheapest clothing in Belleville, but shoddy we have no use for. Now when these customers get tired of buying trash we will be pleased to sell them honorable clothing, in the meantime we have the "solid" trade, those who appreciate good clothing.

Question.

If the piano duo given by Mrs. Col. Campbell and Professor Dingle at the Philharmonic concert was so delightful; what will be the effect of two duos by the same talented artists and one quartette on two pianos by Mrs. Col. Campbell, Miss Mabel Wilson, Professor Dingle and Mr. E. Bogert.

A SAD CASE

A Mother and Step-father Charged with Cruelty to Children.

Constable Cole brought to the city this morning Jas. Blair and his wife, of Crookston, charged with cruelty to the two children of Mrs. Blair. The woman is the widow of the late Alex. Mitts, who committed suicide last summer and she had since married Blair. The children were in court and are exceptionally bright and playful. They are aged one and two years respectively. In the absence of the Magistrate the case was enlarged until Friday.

The Canadian Accountant.

The tenth edition of this standard work, the publication of which was begun a few days ago, is being issued as rapidly as can be turned out from the INTELLIGENCER bindery, but it will take a few days yet to overtake orders. Already the publishers and authors, Messrs. Robinson & Johnson, of the Ontario Business College, have filled orders from these countries: Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York and all parts of Ontario. The demand for the "Accountant" is now greater than ever before—a fact which forms the best testimonial to its excellence.

SPORTING NEWS

The final curling matches for the Ontario Tankard will be played in Toronto on Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

WALL PAPER!

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper Campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future, you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos to this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long, with a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the drawing room, and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the Wall Paper world for facilitating the handling Wall Paper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year. We can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning, 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

Sure but not slow.—People who have used Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil to get rid of pain, find that it is sure but not slow. A cough even, of long standing, is speedily controlled and cured by it. Rheumatism, neuralgia, corns, lame back, and swelled neck rapidly disappear when it is used.

Joseph Rasad, Percy, writes:—I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three years, and found it the best article I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me.

The man who can even pay his respects this year should receive proper credit.

THE WRAITH OF THE McCOY.

BY

MARY KYLE DALLAS.

I saw half a dozen mounted riders approaching over the fresh sun-lit slope of a great hill, and I saw that I sat amongst ruins, close to the time-worn, weather bleached wreck of an old chimney, the high mantel of which projected over my head. The roof of the house was gone; only one wall remained. About me lay stones and mortar, blackened wood and all the tokens of a dwelling destroyed by fire and abandoned for years to the elements.

There was no wide hall, no glowing fire, no sideboard laden with silver, no host attired in white to offer me beakers of wine; but I was dry, warm and comfortable, notwithstanding.

My uncle burst into tears, clasped me to his heart, and in doing so changed his tune and lectured me for losing myself. Jackanapes had come home riderless. My aunt thought me dead on the road, and was ill with grief and terror. And how did I find the ruins? And what a mercy that I had not gone over the precipice near by! So they bore me home. And I kept my own counsel, and said not one word of my experience until our kindly neighbors had been breakfasted and gone their ways. Then I related it.

'It must have delirium,' I said. 'Yet it seemed so real.'

'My dear Maisie,' said my uncle, 'in Scotland we are astonished at nothing. I have myself heard this story before from four people who were rescued in the same way, and saw the same wraith and the same restoration of those ruins that you describe. My grandfather, a poor country-woman with her babe in her arms, Mrs. McLynn of the Heights and my sister Constance have narrated the same adventure. Everybody knows the Haunted Ruins, but we have a special interest in it. Long ago, a handsome young man, by name Alexander McCoy, was sole heir to the place, then the handsomest residence hereabout, as one may well imagine. He had all that could make life happy: but he chose to fall in love with an ancestress of ours, who flirted with and jilted him. Her portrait hangs on the library wall, a saucy, dark-eyed girl in her teens. He thought life worthless without the jade, and the night she married some one else, set fire to his old house and committed suicide by jumping over the precipice into the torrent. It is said he also appeared to her at midnight, but that he said: 'I forgive you.'

'The fancy is that it is the spirit of the suicide, who thus expiates his sin, and that when he shall have rescued a certain number of persons, he will be permitted to rest. The story is alway the same. The luminous object, the figure with the lantern the great hall, the delightful fire, the wine, the handsome host with his white costume and golden beard, the wakening amongst the ruins. If a horse or a dog be present the animal quivers in abject terror as your pony did. Horses assuredly either see spirits or think that they do. They have more supernatural terrors than men or women.'

'But, uncle,' said I, 'I really am afraid I am not quite Scotch enough to understand all this. The ghost of the suicide is all very natural, but the ghost of the house, of an oaken floor, of a blazing fire, of glimmering silver; the ghosts also of delicious wine, and of a great arm-chair in which I slept delightfully—can these things be? Had I not better call it a dream?'

'You may call it what you like,' said my uncle. 'Science has yet found no name for these mysteries, though I believe she will some day. But what the people hereabout will say, will be just this: Miss Maisie has seen the wraith of the McCoy.' That is what they call it, my dear.'

Spiritual Healers Poisoned.

"A spiritualist who undertakes to heal subjects himself to terrible dangers," said an investigator in the physic realms. "They very rarely know what kind of a case they have to deal with and are liable at any moment to take on the conditions of the sick person. My wife had a call for treatment from a man which almost cost her her life. The patient's system was filled with poison, and immediately after he left she exhibited the same symptoms as he, only in more violent form. We worked with her two hours before we were able to banish the poison.

"I saw a wonderful case of healing a snake bite some time ago which, in a manner, illustrates the philosophy of spiritual healing. While in the country the patient had been bitten on the foot by a copperhead snake, and notwithstanding the efforts of the doctors, the foot and then the leg swelled up to enormous size. At last a spiritualist was called in to try his hand. After he had manipulated the injured members a short time the sufferer was relieved of his terrible pain. A peculiar thing was noted in the effect of the treatment upon the healer himself. The longer he manipulated the leg the more contracted his hands and arms became, until when he had finished he was bent up and twisted just as if he had rheumatism. We then had to make passes over him until his arms assumed their normal condition. Spiritual healing would be more largely followed if it were not for this danger.'—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Stamps and Their Prices.

The following are a few of the "fancy" figures paid for stamps at a recent auction in Chancery lane, London: Great Britain, eightpence, brown, an unused strip of three, £16; two shillings, salmon, an unused block of six, £18; a Tuscany three lire, yellow (a matchless specimen), £25 10s., and a brilliant unused specimen of a two soldi (the first in this condition ever offered at an English auction), £14; British Guiana, circular issue, four cent, lemon yellow, one corner mended, £25; same issue, eight cent, green, £13; Canada, twelvepence, black, slightly mended, £23; Antioquia, three specimens of the first issue, two and a half cents, five cents, and ten cents, a total of £36 10s.; Peru, medio peso, rose, £11 10s.; United States, 1869, fifteen cents, brown and blue, £17, and same issue, twenty-four cents, green and lilac, £18 10s.; Mauritius, 1848, twopence, blue, early state, a fine specimen of the "Penoe" error, £10; Cape of Good Hope, wood block error, one penny, blue, £26, and the other error, fourpence, red, £18 10.; Buenos Ayres, five pesos, orange £11 10s.; New Brunswick, the "Connell" stamp, unused, £20 10s.; British Columbia, twopence halfpenny, pink, imperforate, £15 10s.

Uses of Peanuts.

If you grind the goober, you get a sweet quality of flour, with which the housewife makes delicious biscuit. If you squeeze it, you will obtain a valuable oil, resembling olive oil, and used for similar purposes. This oil also enters largely into the manufacture of the better grades of soap. The kernels are roasted for coffee. The roasted kernels are also used in the manufacture of some kinds of chocolate. The confectioner helps to ruin our digestion in boyhood days with peanut candy. The Georgia cook alone knows how to make rich pastry of pounded peanuts. The artist, with paint brush, silks and satins, creates novel and beautiful peanut ornaments, so that peanut dolls and other curios may be seen in the shop windows of New York, especially around holidays. These are some of the ways in which the leguminous nut is useful to us.—New York Journals.

A STRANGE PICTURE OF PERSIA.

The Peculiar Conditions That Obtain in the Land of the Shah.

An article published in The Nouvelle Revue by Achmed Bey gives an unattractive picture of the conditions extant in modern Persia. It is, perhaps, well for Montesquieu, the brilliant author of "Lettres Persanes," that he is no longer among the living. The story told by the bey would be painful reading to the Frenchman, who pictured the land of the shah as a Utopia of freedom and happiness. Achmed makes it a land of slavery, despotism and bribery.

"All the ills suffered by Persia," says the writer, "its division, its degradation by foreign powers, the destruction of its commerce, of its industry and its art, have been caused by the neglect and evils of the government. The hakims of the provinces are usually members of the ruling family; they have nothing to do and have no relations with the people. The real governors, or statthalters, the pishkars, are all in all tax collectors, judges and executive officers. Hakims and pishkars purchase their offices. They turn with well filled purses to the 'heavenly court' of the shah, who protects the fishes in the water and the stars of heaven. He who offers the most becomes statthalter. But outside of the shah there are also other important personages in Teheran—eunuchs and ministers—who demand their share. The statthalters receive no salaries, and, despite this, are obliged to make yearly presents to the ruler and ministers. Who pays for them it is easy to surmise. If no other way will do, the houses, property and clothing of the subjects are sold.

"As to the ministers, they are numerous, but their duties are light. One is minister of roadways and communication, of which there is none in Persia; another is the distinguished member of royal photography; a third calls himself 'minister of museums.' There is, in fact, a 'minister of electric apparatus.' As a matter of course, all these great men demand presents, and a court of cycophants, for which the people pay, surrounds them. There are no judges in Persia. Matters in dispute are settled by the molla, and the scales of justice always incline toward the side where the money is. The so called army includes generals, colonels and soldiers. The latter wear no shoes and nourish themselves as well as they can from booty. The office of army commander is also to be had for money. Thus a terrible anarchy reigns in the land. The Persians emigrate in masses to find homes abroad. They do well to do so. Now and then there are revolutions. Under the present ruler there have been no less than 30. They were suppressed, and their leaders were killed in a cruel manner. But the Persian people, who possess good and praise-worthy qualities, have not spoken their last word."

WATERPROOF MASONRY.

What was at first considered a doubtful experiment, viz., the use of coal tar as a means of rendering masonry impervious to water, especially in positions exposed to direct contact with the latter, has proved a practically valuable resort, says the National Builder. Used as a coating for masonry built up of very porous stone, tar renders it quite impervious, even at a depth of some 50 feet of water, and, according to one opinion of those whose experience has been extensive with it, the article should be utilized in all public buildings, particularly those designed for the preservation of works of art, the dissolving action of water, even upon mortar of superior quality, being well known, and also the unfavorable effect of the exudation of water charged with lime salts from the mortar. Two methods of using the tar are named, viz., in a boiling state in one or several layers, this being suitable for surfaces exposed to the air or it may be made to flame up before using, this being appropriate to surfaces which have to be covered up. It is stated that when boiling coal tar is employed in three coats on masonry the result is a black and very brilliant varnish, which perfectly resists the action of frost, water and sun, being likewise absolutely impervious; and the tendency of the black coating to absorb heat may be overcoming by white dusting the whole before the tar is quite dry.

Perfectly Cured.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the biliary ducts, loss of vitality in the stomach to secret the gastric juices, without which digestion cannot go on; also, being the principal cause of headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills taken before going to bed, for a while, never fail to give relief and effect a cure. Mr. F. W. Ashdown, Ashdown, Ont., writes: "Parmelee's Pills are taking the lead against ten other makes which I have in stock."

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam,

The carat, the measure of weight used by jewellers, was originally a grain of India wheat.

Gored by a Cow.

A fine colt belonging to Mr. Peter Lindsay, of Nixon, Ont., was badly hooked by a cow. Two bottles of Hagyard's Yellow Oil cured it. This invaluable remedy should be in every house. It cures cuts, sprains, bruises, burns, and all pains and aches in man or beast.

Templeton's Pink Powder.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

A Bright Lad,

Ten years of age, but who declines to give his name to the public, makes this authorized, confidential statement to us:

"When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought that even if I did not die, I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arm. I hurt my finger and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. If I hurt myself so as to break the skin, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong."—T. D. M., Norcatur, Kans.

HE PROMISED PROHIBITION.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT MAKES A DEFINITE STATEMENT.

Will Pass a Prohibitory Law Should the Privy Council Decide the Province Has Jurisdiction, or a Partial Prohibitory Law if It Be Considered Sufficiently Effective.

"If the decision of the Privy Council should be that the province has the jurisdiction to pass a prohibitory liquor law as respects the sale of intoxicating liquors I will introduce such a bill in the following session if I am then at the head of the Government. If the decision of the Privy Council is that the province has jurisdiction to pass only a partial prohibitory liquor law I will introduce such a prohibitory bill as the decision will warrant, unless the partial prohibitory power is so limited as to be ineffective from a temperance standpoint."

Hon. A. S. Hardy, who was present, endorsed this declaration, and said that it embraced the united opinion of all the members of the Cabinet who were in town.

It was 5 o'clock when the delegation, which comprised nearly 100 prominent men and women of the temperance movement, reached the Parliament Buildings. They filled the members' reception room and waited for the appearance of Sir Oliver. Their mission was to present to him this resolution:

Resolved, That a deputation be appointed to wait forthwith upon the Ontario Government and respectfully request them to declare in favor of the total prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating liquor to the full extent of the power vested in the Legislature.

The deputation was chosen by the convention.

The Cabinet members were in council and the deputation waited uneasily for their appearance. Feeble attempts were made at jests, but they fell rather flat. The deputation were not at all sure of the result of their mission and talked as if in suspense.

When Sir Oliver Mowat, followed by the Hon. Messrs. Dryden, Hardy, Ross and Harcourt entered, the deputation rose and greeted them with applause. Sir Oliver was evidently in merry mood and the corners of his mouth twitched into a smile as he gazed upon a little piece of typewritten paper he had in his hand.

E. J. Davis, M. L. A. for North York, introduced Rev. Mr. Kettlewell, chairman of the committee, and Rev. Dr. Potts made the first speech.

"We represent to-day a convention of about 1400, who come from all parts of Ontario. As you know the majority for prohibition at the late election was over 80,000. The magnitude of this movement is sufficient to impress every one who is interested in the welfare of this province. Those who are in this room represent every creed and every political party. All are united to demand one thing, total prohibition of the liquor traffic." [Applause.]

Mrs. Thornley made an eloquent and impressive speech, which brought forth long-continued applause.

John Cameron of London was the third spokesman of the temperance people, and stated that he was a strong Conservative, but no less strong a prohibitionist.

There was an ominous silence when Sir Oliver, still smiling, rose to reply. He said:

"I have listened with much attention to the eloquent words which have been addressed to us on this occasion. After so decided a vote as that of the plebiscit I consider that no Government would be justified in disregarding it. I observe that it is said that if all who were entitled to do so had voted on this question the result might have been different, but that is always the case in a vote of this kind. The vote is a remarkable one and is extremely significant. I think it is impossible not to regard the effect, on the whole, as expressing the strength of public sentiment of this country. You know to what a large extent my sympathies have been with you in this matter. I perceive that an immense proportion of the misery, suffering, disease, crime, vice and poverty of the world has resulted from intemperance. Men who perceive that and do not concur in your method of reaching the end must regard it with interest and regard with the utmost respect those of you who are in favor of it. No matter what the result has been in other countries or states, I think prohibition is worth trying and the vote removes all difficulty in the way of its being demanded by the people. Legislation is limited by what the people demand, but on this subject it is plain that the people have been educated. [Applause.] I do not gather that you expect, or even propose that I should bring in any measure for this purpose pending the decision by the highest authority of what your rights are. I think it would not be in the cause of temperance to pass an Act before we are sure of our rights. I am against doing anything in this matter until I know what our jurisdiction is. It has been said that in some discussions we should pass an Act first and test it afterwards, but that is a much more cumbrous way than the one in which we are now proceeding. I may mention further that in preparing the questions to be submitted to the Supreme Court, and on which its decision is necessary, every care was taken to have them cover the whole ground. With that view I sent a copy of them to Mr. MacLaren, and he says that they are exactly right. I do not know that I need say much further."

Then Sir Oliver turned to his little slip of paper and read the paragraph which begins this article. There was wild applause, and as the Premier left the room the audience gave three hearty cheers.

Mr. Hardy announced that all the members of the Cabinet present were of the same opinion as Sir Oliver, and there was more cheering.

AT THE CONVENTION.

Fourteen hundred prohibitionists gathered in the Pavilion yesterday. The meeting was a remarkably harmonious and enthusiastic one.

R. J. Fleming called the meeting to order at 10 o'clock. The report of the Plebiscit Committee, detailing the work of the campaign, was read and approved of. The next was the report of the Union Committee and it brought forth some discussion.

The first clause in the committee's report called upon all representatives of the party to use their influence to secure the election of prohibitionists to the Local and Dominion Houses.

The following clause was the one providing that a deputation wait upon the Ontario Government. There were several amendments to this.

J. W. St. John moved in amendment that a deputation be appointed to wait upon the Ontario Government and request them to declare now in favor of the restriction and prohibition of the liquor traffic to the full extent of their power.

Dr. Sutherland's amendment proposed that the deputation enquire if it is the intention of the Government to introduce a prohibitory law if the Supreme Court decide such action is within the power of the Provincial Government.

G. F. Marter, M.L.A., said that he did not think the resolution was a proper one. The Provincial Government should not be asked to do impossibilities and they should not be asked to do more than they have legal right to do. If the convention were to ask the Government for total prohibition when the Ontario Government had not that power, the demand would be both unreasonable and absurd. The friends of prohibition should be ready to accept such a measure as would best restrict the liquor traffic.

F. S. Spence was in favor of the main resolution and called for total prohibition. The advocates of temperance were advancing and demanded sweeping measures.

J. C. Pomeroy of Preston spoke in favor of total prohibition. Nothing else would be accepted and it would be a mere waste of time to look for anything else.

When the question was put on the amendment of Mr. St. John there was an overwhelming number of noes. Dr. Sutherland's amendment met with the same fate. The original resolution was carried amid a whirlwind of cheers.

The report of the committee submitting a list of 33 names of members of the deputation was handed in and it was decided to enlarge the deputation to 50.

The next clause provided that a deputation call upon the Dominion Government, asking them to at once take steps toward the passing of a prohibitory law. This was followed by a resolution calling upon the convention to forward a memorial to the Dominion Government protesting against the ratification of a treaty with France, reducing the duties on certain classes of wines. This was carried by a large vote.

The next clause expressed the pleasure of the convention that the women of the Province had declared so strongly in favor of prohibition and hoping that in the future women would be given the privilege of voting at the municipal and parliamentary elections.

Mrs. May Thornley, president of the Ontario Women's Christian Temperance Union, spoke in favor of woman suffrage. She said that there were many defects in the lists of female voters and women were not given a fair chance. Many elements combined to make the polling booth an unwelcome place for women, but they would rise superior to that and would wait until they were given a fair chance at the ballot.

Other speeches were delivered in favor of this resolution and it passed with applause.

The gathering was a jubilee and the temperance people spoke in loud voice of their victory. The audience was enthusiastic to a degree and applauded with a will.

Rev. Mr. Kettlewell opened the meeting by telling of the interview with the Premier and of its results. As he read the words of Sir Oliver the audience broke into a tempest of wild applause that lasted for several minutes.

Rev. Mr. McKay introduced a resolution calling upon the temperance men to elect candidates representing their views to the Local and Dominion Houses. This was politely shelved by being referred to the committee on resolutions.

Mrs. Thornley, J. J. McLaren, Joseph Gibson, T. Watkins, Rev. J. H. Hector and Mrs. Commandant Booth made short addresses. They urged the necessity of keeping up the fight until the law is on the statute books. A vote of thanks to the chairman and hearty cheers brought the meeting to a close.

LIED ABOUT CANADA AND THE C.P.R.

One Maddock Raises a Storm in the Imperial Institute.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—There was a very exciting meeting at the Imperial Institute last evening. Sir Henry Tyler was chairman and Mr. Maddock, the lecturer of the evening, had chosen for his subject "Our New Highway."

The lecturer made a savage attack on the founders of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He aspersed the loyalty of the Canadians, and said they, as a nation, possessed all the vices and none of the virtues of the Yankee. This latter statement was received with loudly expressed disapproval. If the history of the Canadian Pacific Railway were written, the lecturer said, the Panama Canal scandal would be thrown far into the shade.

Sir Henry Tyler presided at the meeting and at the close stoutly defended Canada. He denied that the Canada Pacific leaders, such as Lord Mount-Stephen, Sir Donald A. Smith, R. B. Angus or W. C. Van Horne, had injured Canada as charged by Maddock. He knew Canada, he said, much better than Maddock, and there were no more loyal people in the empire.

Canadian members are threatening to resign their fellowships, and are preparing a memorial asking the committee of the Institute to disavow responsibility for the lecturer's statements. Sir Charles Tupper is very indignant.

Mr. A. Baker of the C.P.R. says Maddock's request for a pass to Japan was refused, and that he has had it in for the C.P.R. ever since. He considers the lecturer's statements grossly libellous and thinks legal proceedings probable.

LONDON POLICE THREATENED.

With Dynamite if They Interfere With Socialists on Saturday.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Williams, the Socialist leader, Tuesday addressed another meeting of the unemployed on Tower Hill. He repeated the incendiary speech he made yesterday and again threatened that if the police interfered with the demonstration proposed to be held on Saturday they would be blown up with explosives. He delivered a long harrangue, in the course of which he said that men without work had a perfect right to be dangerous.

France Was the Aggressor In Sierra Leone

LONDON, Feb. 7.—In the House of Lords Tuesday the Marquis of Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies, stated that despatches had been received confirming the report of an engagement between a body of the British military police and a French force in the Sofa country, in the interior of Sierra Leone, in which six of the French troops were killed. According to the despatches the French were the aggressors, having attacked the British.

Advices from Sierra Leone say that the French have annexed the town of Half-Covalley, adjoining the Liberian frontier, and that this action has incensed the Liberian authorities, who claim to have obtained ownership by conquest months ago.

Homer From Papyrus Fragments.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Prof. Nichols of Geneva has published the text of the papyrus fragments of Homer recently purchased in Egypt. These fragments show notable variations from the known text. In one case 13 additional lines are inserted among 70 lines of the ordinary text of the Iliad.

HAVE A LOT OF GRIEVANCES.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CENTRAL FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Want Timber Limits Auctioned in Small Quantities—Ask for the Abolition of Statute Labor in Municipalities Settled Over 50 Years—Reduction of Duties on Certain Commodities.

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—The seventh annual meeting of the Central Farmers' Institute of Ontario was opened in Shaftesbury Hall yesterday afternoon. Owing to the illness of the president, Thomas Lloyd Jones, James McEwing Drayton acted as chairman.

The treasurer's report was then introduced showing a balance on hand of $736.39. One of the items in the report brought out a discussion. It was for $209.15, expenses of a delegation that went to Ottawa to interview the Government re importation of British goods. Many of the members thought the amount high. Then all the items were overhauled. The report was finally adopted.

Then motions were introduced faster than the secretary could read them, which were all referred to committees to report on. By Messrs. Clinton and Lick, that the Executive Committee investigate the question of having the duty on certain commodities reduced; by Messrs. Heaslip and Robinson, re a policy of free trade such as prevails in Great Britain; by Messrs. Hanley and Stokes, asking the Government to abolish statute labor in municipalities settled over 50 years; by Messrs. Hogarth and Ketchum, reducing the number of delegates; by Messrs. McFarlane and Fleming, recommending the Government to change the law so that only owners of municipal property vote at municipal elections; by Messrs. Stokes and Hanley, to memorialize the Ontario Government to auction the timber limits in small quantities; by Messrs. McCrae and Pawling, urging the Government to endeavor to have our cattle admitted to markets of Great Britain and the United States; by Messrs. Hill and Goodwillie, memorializing the Government to change the law re testing grain; by Messrs. Smith and Raynor, declaring for prohibition; by Messrs. Hanley and Stokes, thanking the Ontario Government on Employers' Liability Act; by Messrs. Linton and Irwin, on the blotting out of all scrub animals.

Evening Session.

The first business discussed was the motion of Messrs. Stokes and Hanley re memorializing the Ontario Government to sell some of the timber limits in smaller quantities, so that local mill owners could participate in the business, thus doing away with monopoly in lumber. It was considered at some length. The motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. Allen Pringle, Selby, read a paper on "Agricultural Exhibits at the World's Fair," for which he was accorded a vote of thanks.

The motion by Messrs. Smith and Raynor, favoring prohibition, was next taken up. A resolution was passed in favor of a prohibitory liquor law, and asking the Ontario or Dominion Parliaments to pass such a law as soon as the question of jurisdiction was decided.

A committee composed of the president, vice-president and secretary of 1894 was appointed to act in conjunction with a committee of the delegates from Manitoba re the duties on certain commodities which would be beneficial to the farming community, being reduced.

THE SENATE AND THE TARIFF.

To Avoid Delay the Reason For No Hearings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. .—After the conference of the Democratic members of the Senate Finance Committee yesterday Senator Voorhees, its chairman, gave out a prepared statement assigning the reasons why the Democratic members had decided not to have hearings. The statement is in part as follows:

Prompt and speedy action on pending tariff legislation is required at this time by every patriotic and business consideration. The majority of the Finance Committee charged with the responsibility of the pending measure intend that no delay shall occur which it is possible to avoid. We are determined that the business men of the country of all classes shall at a very early day have full and clear insight into the laws of tariff taxation which shall hereafter prevail.

It is all idle pretense that any right is denied to anybody by the course the committee has determined to take. We will report our bill to the Senate without delay and then full hearings will take place. Already more than a million circulars, embracing interrogatories touching every branch of business known to the census of 1890, have been addressed to all our industries, and abundant streams of information are pouring in for use in discussion in the Senate. In addition to this nearly all the protected manufacturers were heard before the Committee on Ways and Means of the House and the testimony there taken is in print and in the possession of the Senate. The whole subject is very familiar to the American mind and needs no further elucidation than will be incident to a full and free debate. The country needs action, action!"

As soon as the Republican members of the committee learned of the statement issued by Mr. Voorhees they decided to meet it with one giving the Republican point of view, which reads:

The minority of the Finance Committee are greatly surprised at the character of the statement furnished by the majority of the committee in regard to their refusal to give hearings on the tariff bill. The Republican members of the committee, relying on the assurances given them by the chairman of the committee, has supposed that hearings would be given, and had so informed all parties desirous of being heard.

The matter came up in committee this morning upon the request for a hearing made by one member in behalf of the farmers and wool growers of the United States who are now present in Washington in large numbers for the purpose.

The minority believe that all parties, farmers, workingmen, merchants, manufacturers, importers and all others, whether for or against the bill, interested in the rates fixed by the House bill, rates of which they could have had no knowledge before the final vote in the House should be heard upon matters so vitally affecting their interests.

The right to be heard has never before, so far as we are aware, been denied and the refusal to give hearings is both unwise and and unjust and should be resisted.

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—George H. Simon, commonly known as "old Simon," formerly electrician of the Lake Shore Railway, was fatally burned in his shanty at New Toronto Sunday morning while endeavoring to extinguish a fire which had broken out in the building. Simon was 87 years of age, feeble and partially demented. He had lived in the vicinity for half a century. His widow and son, from whom he was separated, reside in Buffalo.

Simon was found lying on the floor of the hut, his hands and face badly burned. He was assisted to the house of a neighbor, Mrs. Jackson, where he died Monday morning.

Devonshire Opposes Salisbury.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The Radical papers devote considerable space yesterday to a speech made by the Duke of Devonshire in the House of Lords last evening in opposition to an amendment to the Parish Council's bill which Lord Salisbury had strongly advocated. These papers dilate upon what they call the Liberal-Unionist revolt and desertion. This exaggeration of the incident may possibly weaken the Tory opposition to the bill, but it is noteworthy that Lord Salisbury himself opposed amendments advocated by the Duke of Richmond and other Tories.

THE KHEDIVE'S PATRIOTISM.

CAIRO, Feb. 7.—The Khedive yesterday opened the general assembly in person. In his speech opening the session the Khedive commented on the good work the Government had achieved within the past two years. Taxes, he said, had been reduced and the railway system extended. He declared his devotion to his people and his country.

Riaz Pasha, the Prime Minister, led in the cheering upon the conclusion of the Khedive's speech. Maher Pasha, the assistant Minister of War, who, it was charged, had incited the Khedive to make hostile criticisms on the British forces in Egypt and who was removed from office by the Khedive on the demand of Lord Cromer, the British diplomatic agent, has been decorated with the order of the Osmanich and appointed to the lucrative post of Commissioner of Domains.

TO SEIZE HERAT.

Russia Concentrating Troops on the Afghan Frontier.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 7.—The correspondent at Constantinope of The Independence Belge telegraphs that Russia is making preparations for the immediate seizure of Herat, Afghanistan. The correspondent adds that 41,540 troops, mostly Cossacks, under command of Gen. Krapoukatine, are concentrating on the Afghan frontier. The correspondent does not give any authority for the statements he makes.

Dutch Bank Note Forgers Captured.

THE HAGUE, Feb. 7.—The police have unearthed an enormous forgery of bank notes. Eight men, including the leader, a man named Krauss, have been arrested. Notes to the value of 227,000 guilders have been seized. Gompertz, one of the eight men arrested, committed suicide last night. A search made of the house of Krauss resulted in the finding of the plates, presses and other apparatus used in making the counterfeit notes. Bank experts who have examined the forged notes declared that they are masterpieces of imitation.

The Campbell Inquest at Georgetown.

GEORGETOWN, Feb. 7.—At the adjourned inquest on the body of Daniel Campbell the jury rendered an open verdict to the effect that the deceased Daniel Campbell came to his death by blood poisoning caused by injuries, but how or by whom he received said injuries the jury were without evidence.

Mattawa Warmed Up.

MATTAWA, Ont., Feb. 7.—Timmons Bros.' store was burned yesterday morning. Nothing whatever was saved out of the store. The contents of the lower flat of the storehouse were saved in good order. The loss will be heavy, partly covered by insurance. Charon & Gilligan's buildings on the opposite side of the street were in great danger for a time, owing to the high wind which prevailed.

Sewing Machine Men Skip.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Feb. 7.—W. H. Cunningham, agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Company of this city, has absconded with $500. His clerk, Robert Ellis, has also skipped after collecting as much of the company's money as he possibly could. Ellis came from Eastern Canada.

Altogether Disappeared.

GENTLEMEN.—About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking B. B. B., took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine.
EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

A panic is a sudden desertion of us, and a going over to the enemy of our imagination.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Ill-deeds are doubled with an evil word; the sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Beware of desperate steps; the darkest day, live till to-morrow, will be passed away.

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The Arnprior Chronicle and the Renfrew Mercury advocate holding the municipal elections at a season of the year other than the Christmas holidays, when every one is busy. The suggestion is worthy of careful consideration.

A draft insolvency bill has been prepared by the Dominion Government, and will be submitted to Parliament at the approaching session. It has 128 clauses, and is divided into six parts.

Mr. Flavien Moffet, a member of the Separate School Board of Ottawa, has replied to Archbishop Cleary regarding the ballot system in elections for Separate School Board trustees. He cites the fact that the ballot is used in the election of the heads of monasteries and convents, as well as the election of the Pope, as a reason why its use should be extended.

Thirteen members of the Nova Scotia Legislative Council, appointed by the Fielding (Grit) Government, pledged themselves in writing before they were appointed, to vote for the abolition of that body. When the question came to a vote the other day, only five members of the upper house could be induced to vote for abolition. The others went back on their written pledges. Comment is needless.

The returns from all parts of the province giving the vote on the plebiscite are now in, and, except that the total may be very slightly changed by a different classification in one or two instances, the figures now given may be taken as final. The total majority in Ontario is 81,730. Sir Oliver can act, if he sees fit, with a free hand, so far as the people are concerned. But how as to the question of jurisdiction?

The directors of the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association have unanimously passed a resolution declaring that whereas "the work done by the Dairymen's Associations of Eastern and Western Ontario and the Provincial Creameries Association, is every year running more and more along the same lines—especially since the introduction of winter butter making into cheese factories—are of the opinion that the dairy interests of the Province would be promoted by a reunion of the Creameries Association with the two dairymen's associations, inasmuch as such a union would give increased strength and funds for the carrying on of the work which is now being done by these three bodies. In order to carry out what we believe would be a beneficial reunion and amalgamation of interests, we hereby request the directors of the Eastern Dairymen's Association and the Creameries Association to appoint a committee to meet with a similar committee from this association, to consider the question of such union, and to confer with the Provincial Minister of Agriculture on the subject." The object seems to be a desirable one, and the able men interested will no doubt arrive at a wise decision.

LIVE STOCK.

There were about 600 head of butchers' cattle, 50 calves and 200 mutton critters offered at the East end abattoir to-day The cattle market was very bad and comparatively few sales were made during the early part of the day and prices were lower all round, excepting for choice beeves, which seem to keep up their value pretty well. A few prime cattle sold up to 4½c per pound, but there not many sales made at over 3½c, and from that down to about 2c per pound seemed to be the rates generally paid.

Prime veals are in active demand at high rates, but the "bobs" are not much sought after. Good lambs sell at from 4 to 4½c per pound and mixed lots at from 3½ to to 3½c per pound.

Fat hogs continue to sell at from 5c to 5½c per pound.

A NOVA SCOTIAN'S STORY.

Mr. Abel Wile, says the Bridgewater, N.S., Enterprise, is a well known farmer residing a few miles out of town. It is known that Mr. Wile had a narrow escape from death, and our reporter meeting him in the best of health and spirits asked him as to what he owed his renewed condition. Mr. Wile at once exclaimed "I might express it all by saying that I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life. Last spring I was violently thrown from my wagon, and though I escaped having bones broken, I sustained a severe strain in my right loin which seemed to paralyze that part of my side and stomach. I experienced great pain and weakness, which despite all efforts of different remedies, grew steadily worse and for two months I suffered terribly. I could not properly digest my food, and got little sleep at night, and at last began to think that it was only a matter of a few weeks when I should go the way of all men. But a happy day came and ended my misery. My wife went into town and purchased several boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and from the first they seemed to go right to the root of my trouble and it was not long before I could sleep good sound refreshing sleep, for the first time in eight weeks. I continued taking the pills and soon found myself completely cured, and from that out I went about my everyday duties as well as ever, and I think the Lord that such a boon as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has been given to mankind to help rid them of disease.

Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and all nervous diseases are readily cured by a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as a tonic for building up the blood, they surpass all other known remedies. If your dealer does not keep them they will be sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2,50 by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Do not be imposed upon with imitations.

The reason assigned for the small stocks of cheese in England, is the abnormally high price of coal, which has forced the poorer class of consumers to use bread and cheese, as a substitute for meat, being available for eating without the aid of coal, and cooking.

The year 1893 will pass into history as one having the largest number of failures ever recorded in the United States. According to Bradstreet's reports the total number of failures last year was 15,560, an increase of over 50 per cent. over that for 1892. This does not include some 240 banking institutions which were forced to suspend.

THE NORTHWEST SCHOOL BILL

NO SUFFICIENT REASON WAS ADVANCED FOR DISALLOWANCE.

The Report Recommends the Executive Council and the Northwest Assembly to Examine the Claims of the Minority and Take Steps to Redress Any Grievances.

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—Mr. J. J. McGee, clerk of the Privy Council, returned from Quebec Tuesday with the Order in Council relating to the Northwest school ordinance signed by His Excellency. The order is understood to deal very fully with the subject and to take up each of the grievances which were referred to in the petitions for disallowance presented by the Roman Catholic minority in the territories. These petitions were at first referred to a sub-committee of council composed of Hon. Mr. Angers, Hon. Mr. Daly and Hon. Mr. Foster as mentioned some time ago in The World, but this reference was subsequently cancelled, and the matter was considered by the whole council at Saturday's sitting.

The petitions were dealt with in detail, and most of the grievances were found not to have so solid a foundation in fact, as the petitioners believed, or at least to be capable of a different construction to what they put on them. There was, therefore, not the ground for disallowance, which the petitioners supposed there was.

The main objection to the ordinance and the chief cause of apprehension on the part of the petitioners lay in the fact that by the ordinance both of the two school boards hitherto existing in the territories are abolished and their functions will be performed by the Executive Council of the territories, acting as a council of public instruction. The petitioners pointed out that there is no Catholic member of the Assembly in the Executive Council, and in their opinion Catholic representation was necessary. It is pointed out, however, in the order in council that the ordinance provides that there shall be two Protestants and two Catholics appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor as members of the Council of Public Instruction and they are to meet with the Executive and advise, but will not have the right to vote.

With regard to the prayer of the petitions that in the event of the ordinance not being disallowed it should be considered by the Governor-General in council, it is pointed out that there is no appeal to the Governor in council provided for in the case of the Northwest Territories for remedial legislation as is the case in Manitoba, and therefore, the Governor-General in council could not amend the ordinance. It is, however, provided in the order in council that a request be made to the Lieutenant-Governor and the Executive Committee of the territories and to the Northwest Assembly to carefully enquire into the complaints of the petitions in order that relief may be given by such amending ordinances or amending regulations as may be found necessary to meet any grievances or any well-founded apprehensions which may be ascertained to exist.

To sum up the whole matter in a few words the council has not found sufficient reasons in the petitions of the minority to warrant the disallowance of the ordinance, but it has suggested to the Executive Council and the Northwest Assembly that they look into the matter and if they find any just cause for complaint on the part of the minority they should take such steps as are necessary to redress the grievances or allay the apprehension of the minority. This will probably appear to all reasonable persons, not bigotted or prejudiced, as the most fair and proper course the Dominion Government could pursue, as it does not in any way interfere with territorial legislation, but simply suggests that if any just cause for complaint has been given by the ordinance, such cause of complaint should be inquired into, and, if necessary, removed.

Durham Patrons Nominate a Reformer.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Feb. 7.—The County Association of the Patrons of Industry met yesterday to elect the officers for 1894 and to consider the advisability of bringing out a candidate for the Local House. The unanimous choice fell on Mr. Jonas Thornton of Kirby, Clarke township, who has been a lifelong Reformer. If he decides to stand it is doubtful if the Liberals will bring out a man.

Kent Patrons Select a Candidate.

CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 7.—The convention of the Patrons of Industry of the County of Kent was held yesterday. As candidate for the Legislature T. L. Pardo of Raleigh was accepted, and he being absent a deputation was appointed to wait upon him and inform him of his selection.

CAUGHT BY A TEST LETTER.

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—Two cases which have developed during the week prove that the man who robs Her Majesty's mail is bound to be caught. Following close upon the heels of the arrest of Mail Clerk Duffy was the arrest yesterday of Robert Hodgins, aged 41, for 14 years past a letter carrier attached to the Toronto post-office, for stealing money enclosures from letters.

Hodgins has been suspected of rifling letters for some time past, and Inspector Burnham laid a plot to catch his man by placing marked money in a test letter given him to deliver.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning a letter containing a $5 bill and a 25 cent piece, both marked, was posted to an address in Bracondale. It was part of the duty of Hodgins to close the Bracondale bag, and when he had completed this work at 1.30 p.m. he was arrested and searched, both the quarter and five dollar bill being found in his possession. The bill was secreted in the toe of his overshoe.

Hodgins lived at 60 Robinson-street. He will have a hearing before the magistrate this morning.

Hodgins is a married man with two children. He owns the house in which he lives and had deposits aggregating $1800 in the city banks. His salary was $600 a year.

Nine stylographic pens were found in his pocket.

U. S. WHISKY FRAUDS.

Charged With Refilling Canadian Labelled Bottles With Trashy Liquor.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The first step towards suppressing a wholesale system of fraud in connection with the sale of whiskey was taken yesterday when Justice R. H. White held Thomas R. Eger, a Randolph-street saloonkeeper, to the grand jury in $700 bond on the charge of refilling "Canadian Club" whiskey bottles from the distillery of Hiram Walker & Sons, Walkerville, Ont., with cheap liquor and selling it as the original contents. The defendant waived examination and was released on bail.

10 HOURS WORK FOR 8 HOURS PAY.

Causes a Small But Lively Strike In St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—When the carpenters on the new union station went to work yesterday they were told by the contractor that 10 hours' work would be expected for eight hours' pay. The union men quit work, leaving 10 non-union men behind. When the day's work ended the union men made a rush for the men who refused to join the strike. A general melee took place. Police used their clubs and the strikers any missiles that came to hand. One of the non-union men was beaten and trampled in a terrible manner and was taken away by friends. Four of the strikers show rough usage. More trouble is looked for.

SUICIDE AT SEAFORTH.

ROBLIN'S MILLS.

Feb. 5th, 1894.

Our local sports are taking advantage of the recent fall of snow to exercise their steeds and to display their horsemanship. —A number of our local sportsmen of the township met recently and organized the Ameliasburg Rod and Gun Club, having for its object the protection of fish and game by having the laws properly enforced. The club now numbers about 30 members. The following officers were elected: President, H. W. Weese; 1st Vice Pres., Geo. Roblin; 2nd Vice Pres., Mark Sprague; Sec., W. H. Stafford; Treas., David Stafford; Directors, W. R. Weese, S. Allen, J. W. Gibson, Fred Redner, W. B. Redner, George Sprague. Matches will be shot weekly, both with live birds and clay pigeons. The club rooms are fitted up in fine style.—Harry Chase, of Consecon, was the guest of Mr. F. C. File last week. —Chas. Roblin, of Bloomfield, was visiting his parents in the village last week.—Mr. Owen Roblin, postmaster, is still confined to his bed, though he is improving slowly. —Miss Effie Allison, of Napanee, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Samuel Allen.—Mr. Jno. Patterson, of Consecon, spent Sunday in town, the guest of Mr. W. O. Dolong.—Miss Lena Cunningham is the guest of Mrs. Mark Sprague this week. She is looking hale and hearty and always meets with a warm reception from our young folks.

PLAINFIELD.

PLAINFIELD, Feb. 6th, 1894.

Rev. Mr. Saunders, of Lonsdale, favored us with an interesting sermon at the quarterly meeting on Sunday last.—The Oddfellows' oyster supper was a grand success. On the 7th inst. the remains of the late J G Latta are to be conveyed from the vault, Foxboro, to their last resting place in the Plainfield burial ground. —The members of Thurlow Lodge A. O. U. W. are to have a private oyster supper for themselves and wives at their hall on the 6th inst.—Our village has a business hum at present, as our saw mill is running daily and the grist mill is being compelled to run nights to satisfy the wants of its customers. —We are sorry to say that grip has a dangerous hold on Robert McCready.—Something over 150 teams passed here for Belleville on Saturday last.—The average attendance at the Sunday school at the A. O.U.W. hall was 52 during the month of January. — Almost everybody is sick or trying to be.—The Smith family are to give an entertainment here on the 17th.—Mrs. J. G. Latta was presented to day with a $2,000 cheque by our Workman Lodge.

DESERONTO.

Feb. 6.—Revival services are in progress at the Methodist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. R Taylor.—The Citizens' band had a full house at their concert on Friday evening.—The following are the officers of the Citizens' band for 1894: President, W. Wales; Vice do., B. Hull; Rec. Sec'y, A. Parnham; Fin. Sec'y, T. Moyse; Business manager, S. Cronk.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Emerson, of Gladstone, Man., have been visiting friends here during the past week. —Mrs. Jno. Baker, of Fourth Street, on Sunday evening last walked into an open trap door in the dark, and fell through into the cellar, sustaining severe cuts and bruises on the head and shoulder.—Dr. Oronhyatekha has purchased Capt. John's Island, half a mile from Deseronto, and workmen will soon be engaged building cottages, etc., and transforming the island into a beautiful summer resort.

MADOC.

Feb. 6, 1894.

The county L.O. Lodge of Central Hastings met in the Orange hall, Madoc. It was the largest gathering in years and great interest was taken in the reports from the different districts, each of which shows a gain for the year. The election of officers resulted as follows: Jas. English, W. M.; John Tanner, D.M.; A. Harry, Chaplain; J. R. Orr, Rec. Sec.; Wm. Martin, Treas; J. Haliwell, Fin. Sec.; Henry Good, D.C.; T. B. Reynolds, Lecturer; Jas. English, Delegate to the Grand Lodge. In the evening L. O. L. No. 160, Madoc, gave a concert, the hall was crowded and the concert was a complete success in every way. —Mr. Stevenson, an employe of the Review office, had his foot caught in the large press, crushing it severely, which will lay him up for some time.

Annual Meeting of Orangemen of South Hastings.

Tuesday, Feb. 6, was the day appointed for the annual meeting of the Orangemen of South Hastings. The weather being all that could be desired and the roads in good condition, representatives from Tweed in the north, Deseronto in the east, Trenton and Frankford to the west, met at one o'clock in the Orange Hall, Belleville. Delegates were present from every district and almost every primary Lodge in the County, and all gave evidence that the Society was increasing both in membership and financially. Among many resolutions adopted, it was agreed to hold a mammoth celebration of the Battle of the Boyne in the city of Belleville, on 12th July, 1895, and invitations will be extended to adjoining counties as far west as Toronto, Brockville on the east, Prince Edward County to the south, Lindsay, Peterborough, and the northern section of this and the adjoining Counties. Efforts will be made by local brethren to make this one of the largest demonstrations ever held in Ontario.

The following brethren were elected to fill the various offices for 1894: County Master, W. H. Gordon, Belleville; Deputy do., W. H. Cook, Corbyville; County Chaplain, D. T. Rutledge, Belleville; Co. Secretary, Robert Duffin, Belleville; Co. Treasurer, Thos. Wills, Belleville; Co. D. of C., Arch. Collins, Halston; Co. Lecturer, W. Embury, Tweed; Co. Deputies do., S. B. Clarke, Deseronto, T. Thompson, Belleville. The next place of meeting, decided on, was Belleville.

The Misses K. and L. Morris, of Belleville, who have been visiting their many friends in town, returned to their home in that city to day.—Peterborough Examiner.

Mr. J. J. B. Flint and Mr. S. G. Retallack went to Picton this afternoon to give a World's Fair entertainment.

Alderman G. H. Allen, Inspector of the Standard Life Insurance Co. of Kingston, and J. W. Russel, Inspector of the Canada Permanent Loan Co. of Toronto, are in town on business and guests of Mr. S. D. Lazier.

Mr. and Mrs. White of Tweed, were in the city to day.

Mr. Robt. Gordon of Tweed is in the city.

W. J. Corbett, of Boston, is at the Queen's. Mr. Corbett is something of a ball tosser, having once filled the box in a game played at the D. & D. Institute.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce, has accepted an invitation of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to address them on the question of Australian trade at a luncheon to be tendered to him at Toronto on Wednesday, February 14, by the association, immediately previous to the regular annual meeting of the association, to be held on that day.

Mrs. Geo. F. Hope is seriously ill.

Mr. J. K. McCargar is visiting his father at Bishop's Mills. He will shortly leave for England on a two months' business trip.

Mr. S. A. Hyman is in Napanee.

Mrs. Sam Halls, of Chicago, is the guest of Mrs. E. L. Palen, Dunbar St. Mr. Halls is one of the successful Canadians in the Windy City, being a prominent building contractor.

Mr. S. Burrows left this morning for Toronto on business.

Mr. S. Boyd, Prescott, is registerd at the Huffman House.

A Suspended Sentence.

Police Magistrate Flint arrived home yesterday afternoon and learning that the parties in the Blair case were still in the city, he decided to hear the case. The mother and father pleaded guilty to common assault on their children and were allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Constable Cole, who brought the family to the city, is not likely to get off so easily. When he appeared before the Magistrate with the prisoners he was very much under the influence of a potent exhilarator, and his worship reprimanded him warmly. Cole also led the man and his wife up and down Front street hand-cuffed. Mr. Flint says he will write the judge explaining the case and ask for his discharge from the service of the county. Cole has bought several such cases to the city at the county's expense.

Comic Opera at Popular Prices.

Lovers of high class amusement will hail with delight the coming of the California Opera Co. at the Queen's opera house Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 15, 16 and 17, with a grand matinee Saturday. A repertoire of unusual excellence has been selected. The opening opera "Said Pasha," by Stahl, is an ideal musical romance in two acts, filled with beautiful solos, charming duets, ecstatic trios, mellifluous quartets, and ensembles that furnish glorious outbursts of sweet song. The company is made up of well-known operatic artists, a chorus well drilled and equipped. "Girofle Girofla," "Chimes of Normandy," and "Bohemian Girl," will be sung during this engagement. The prices are phenomenally low, 15, 25, 35 and 50c.

FOXBORO.

The sleighing is excellent and the people are drawing their wood as rapidly as possible.—Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Brown spent Sunday at Sidney Crossing, visiting friends.—Mr. W. Hawley and cousin spent Sunday at Mrs. Gibbs'.—Rev. Eli Woodcock, of Belleville, is assisting in the revival services this week.—There is considerable talk of erecting a new church, thus uniting the two congregations.—May I ask what has become of the Epworth League? Is it entirely dead or just merely taking a rest?

A Narrow Escape.

Mr. S. Eustace's dwelling, near the city limits in the 2nd con. of Sidney, had a narrow escape from destruction by fire yesterday afternoon. A coal stove in the dining room upset, and in a few moments the place was on fire. Mr. and Mrs. Eustace were at their store in town, but their eldest daughter, aged 15, bravely fought the flames until the younger sister secured the assistance of the neighbors, by whom the fire was extinguished. Damage to the extent of $150 was done. The loss is covered by insurance in the Western.

A New Industry for Corbyville.

Mr. H. Corby, M.P., with his usual progressive spirit, is about to start a large hop yard at Corbyville. The poles are now arriving at the rate of thirty loads per day, and he has ordered 60,000. He will pole thirty-two acres this year and will have twenty-two acres planted and ready to pole next year. He will build a hop house with four kilns capable of holding the product of sixty acres. The yard, during the picking season, will give employment to between 200 and 300 persons.

Celebrities on Coffee.

The artist at his easel, the author at his desk, the preacher from his pulpit, the toiling mechanic, the worried business man, the tired laborer, the humble cottage wife, nay, the Queen on her throne have one and all to acknowledge and express gratitude for the grateful and invigorating infusion—Coffee, Dr. Day. Try Stroud's French coffee, only 30c per lb. It is fragrant and delicious. No breakfast table is complete without it. Stroud's tea store.

Buy Overcoats Now.

If you do not need a new overcoat this winter, you will next. The Oak Hall are willing to take cost for any overcoat or ulster in the shop. Do not think we are not anxious for profit, in fact profit is what we want, but we are not so rich as to be able to carry over heavy goods. We want to see the man with a little money and who needs an overcoat.

Ash Wednesday services were held in al the Anglican churches and in St. Michael's this morning.

That foot-bridge gangway is a nuisance that should be abated. Ladies are in fear of their lives to pass through it lest they may be run against by teams and sleighs.

Jas. F. Simpson, of Trenton, through his solicitors, Messrs. Ostrom & Abbott, has issued a writ for $20,000 damages against Dr. J. A. Stevenson, for haboring and keeping his wife away from him.

Asthma Sufferers.

Who have in vain tried every other means of relief, should try "Schiffman's Asthma Cure." No waiting for results. Its action is immediate, direct and certain, as a single trial proves. Send to Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., for a free trial package, but ask your druggist first.

A Good Man Gone.

Dr. G. H. Boulter, ex-M.P.P. for North Hastings, died at his residence, Stirling, on Thursday, January 18th, from congestion of the lungs, after an illness of only 9 days. The doctor was born on Big Island, Sophiasburg, County of Prince Edward, July 17th, 1825, was second son of the late George Boulter, Esq., one of the earliest settlers of the county and on his mother's side of U. E. L. descent. He attended the Public School, Picton, in 1842 under the tuition of a Mr. Blake; then at Victoria College, Cobourg; and graduating at McGill College, Montreal, in 1852, and commenced the practice of his chosen profession, medicine, at Stirling in 1853, where he remained until his death. Of a genial, kindly manner and a courtesy which was never failing, he soon won the esteem of even his political opponents. Always earnest for the welfare of the town, he was soon elected its Reeve and elected Warden of the County, was nominated for the first parliament of Ontario in 1867 for North Hastings by a Conservative Convention, was elected and successfully represented this constituency continuously for 16 years. Upright, honorable and reliable in all things, his life afforded an example which it would be well for all to follow. In public positions, as in private life, he was ever true and steadfast on the side of the right, and never did he neglect or swerve from any duty which he had undertaken to discharge. He was associated with the volunteer force for the past 25 years, and held the position of Senior Major of the 49th Batt., Hastings Rifles, at his death, with the rank of Lieut.-Colonel. On Saturday last his remains were, at 9 o'clock, conveyed to the Presbyterian Church, of which he was an elder, and lay in state until twelve o'clock, viewed by thousands of his friends. Rev. Dr. Smith, of Queen's University, Kingston, of which institution Dr. Boulter was for years a trustee, conducted an impressive funeral service, after which the body was taken charge of by the 49th Batt. The pall bearers were all old personal friends of deceased, officers of the 49th Batt. Lieut.-Col. the Hon Mackenzie Bowell, Lieut.-Col. Brown, Captains Farley, Graham, Orr and Major Lennox. The batt. was in command of Lieut.-Col. Hambly, and the firing party in charge of Lieut. Halliwell, proceeded to the cemetery followed by over 2,500 friends of the deceased and laid at rest by the side of his first wife, with full military honors. The School Board, in which the deceased had taken a life-long active interest, followed the remains in a body, and members of the cricket club, in which the deceased was an honorary member, were conspicuous by their mourning badges. A special train from Belleville carried out many friends of the deceased, whilst every part of the county contributed representative men, among whom were noted Harry Corby, M.P., A. W. Carscallen, M.P., A. F Wood, M.P.P., James Duncan, Esq., ex-Warden, and many other prominent men. The village was represented by the Reeve, W. S. Martin, ex Reeve, F. B. Parker, and almost the entire body of citizens, who, by their presence, showed their last token of respect to one whom each considered in life a personal friend. The service at the grave was held by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Gray, and with bowed heads as the words "Dust to dust, ashes to ashes" was said the great concourse of people felt that the country at large and the village in particular had lost a guiding hand in the passing away of Dr. Boulter, and over his tomb kindly hearts would join in the universal benediction, requiescat in pace. He leaves one child, Mrs. Geo. A. Skinner, of Los Angeles, California, who in her far away home mourns the loss of a kind and affectionate father. Deceased was a brother of N. J. Boulter, Esq., Big Island, and our townsman, W. Boulter, Esq., to whom the Gazette extends the greatest sympathy.—Picton Gazette.

AN AFFECTING SCENE.

The Foster Father of Laura Boyd Comes to Take her Home.

Alexander Weir, of the 2nd con. of Hungerford, came to the city this morning to intercede on behalf of Laura Boyd, the girl arrested on Sunday morning in company with Knowlton Sanford in a house on Murney st. Mr. Weir is the foster father of the girl, having adopted her when she was quite young. He says the girl's mother was a widow at the time he took her, but she has since married a man named Lancaster, and they now live in Sidney, but they would not take the girl. Mr. Weir stated that Laura was unknown to city life, having only been here three times in her life prior to this last visit, and he had never heard a word said against her character. She had become dissatisfied and left his home a few weeks ago and came to the city, where she fell in with some parties of ill repute, hence her arrest. When the girl was brought down from the gaol by Sergt. McCrudden and confronted by Mr. Weir she threw her arms about his neck, kissed him and wept bitterly. She was anxious to return to the home she had left, and the Magistrate let her go. No doubt she has received a lesson which she will not soon forget, and her ambition to live in the town curbed for the present. The charge against Sanford will no doubt be abandoned.

Raw Furs.

The local trade is almost dead, although a few prime skins have been received at very low figures and there is still a strong tendency to lower prices in the English market. We quote the following prices as being the best obtainable in the present depressed state of the market. We quote as follows:—Beaver per lb. $3 to $3.50; bear per skin in large $10 to $15; bear cub $2 to $4; lynx $1 to $2; marten 80c to $1; mink $1 to $1.50; muskrat 10c to 12c; otter $8 to $12; raccoon 50c to 75c; skunk 50c to 75c.—Trade Bulletin.

Entertainment in St. Michael's.

An entertainment under the auspices of the Guild of St. Michael's church, was held in the basement last evening, and was well attended. The programme consisted of vocal music, and was concluded by a laughable one act comedy entitled "An odd lot." All the numbers were exceptionally well carried out, and the proceedings were of a most enjoyable nature.

WALL PAPER!

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper Campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future, you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos to this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long, with a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the drawing room, and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the Wall Paper world for facilitating the handling Wall Paper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year. We can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning, 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst., over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

BLOODHOUNDS ON THE TRAIL.

The Thoroughbred Brute Never Lays Hold of His Rundown Victim.

Some time ago I had the privilege, in company with Dr. Sydney Turner, the well known authority on hounds and judge for the principal shows in England, and Edwin Brough, the foremost breeder of bloodhounds in the world, to witness an exhibition of trailing in the country seat of the latter. It was an afternoon in late September. A thick haze lay in the valley, and the breath of air which might have released imprisoned nature from its spell had not come the entire day. The ground, which had not felt the sun for 24 hours, was in favorable condition.

A runner having been dispatched over an intricate and circuitous route, we three mounted a hillock which commanded a view of the whole field. We watched him threading his way through pastures and swamp and across a stream which demanded a running jump; thence over fences and stone walls and through cover, leaving no device untried for throwing off the trail of his expected pursuer. Half an hour having been granted him, the signal was waved from the hill and the hound released from the kennel. It was Champion Bono, one of the dogs entered at London against Jack the Ripper. He came down the hill in an easy trot, conscious of the task which had been prepared for him and with an air of perfect willingness to undertake it. The attendant, having removed his collar, gave him the word and laid him on.

The conclusion which the writer had made from accounts of these man trailers was that their work was slow and laborious. Judge of his purpose, then, to see the dog start as though shot out of a catapult, with as determined a gallop as a thoroughbred and as the pace of a foxhound.

This was maintained over the entire course, checked only when the scent gave out at the stream. One or two casts up and down the banks were made, and then, with the assurance of a logician reasoning from the two judgments to the immediate inference of the syllogism, plunged in and found the trail on the opposite side. The hound ranged with great freedom, giving himself, while at top speed, a latitude sometimes of 40 yards to leeward of the trial. At fences and wall, however, he was particular to cross directly at the spot taken by the runner, and having caught the scent on the other side gave himself up to the careless curveting of a skater.

A flock of sheep which had crossed the trail and entirely obliterated it brought him down to hard work, and for a time he did some very serious thinking and a deal of most commendably interesting experimentation. At last, having picked up the lost thread, he let out a long, wild cry of triumph, which came floating to us through the quiet valley for a mile and a half. Shortly after this the dog was lost to sight, but in due time pursued and pursuer appeared together. The boy had met a friend on the road who had detained him and was overtaken while in his stride. He was not aware of the hound's approach until he felt his cold nose in his hand. This is as much satisfaction as the St. Hubert bloodhound demands. He never under any circumstances lays hold of his man. Having thus designated him, he feels that his duties are over, and if his services are valuable others must develop results from this point.—Philadelphia Times.

Kitchen Conveniences.

Any convenience in a kitchen is appreciated by the busy housewife. In a house where there is no hall, a closet adjoining a kitchen is a great convenience. If it is large enough, have a window, have hooks for coats, hats, etc., and boxes for shoes, rubbers, and such articles; a workstand, or shelf, with looking-glass hanging over it, also a washbowl, towel, comb, and brush, an umbrella stand, chairs, and a large paper holder, for holding paper sacks and wrapping papers that come from the stores.

If there is no other suitable place, the clothes-basket, clothes-pins, and ironing-board may be stored away in the closet. Of course, such a closet would be convenient in a house where there was a hall, but in such a case there would not need to be an umbrella stand, nor many hooks for coats, etc. There could be a door, or a curtain made of canton flannel, or denim, instead.

If the kitchen is large enough, have some kind of a couch, with a paper rack close by, with the latest magazine or paper in it; likewise have a letter holder somewhere in the kitchen. A closed cupboard for lamps, a clock, and calendar should always find a place in the kitchen. A bag for holders is more convenient than nails or a shelf.

Do not burn every bit of waste paper that comes into the house, and every time you want a piece of paper have to hunt an hour for it. If the sacks and large pieces of paper are folded nicely and laid away, they are useful for a good many purposes, and the pieces that are torn can be used to kindle fires, singe poultry, etc.

Another convenient appendage to a kitchen is a shady porch, with a cozy seat, where the tired housewife may sit and rest on a warm day. Vines may be trained over it, and even a rosebush near by; and I dare say it will be appreciated equally as well as though it were over the sitting-room door.—The Housekeeper.

About the Eyes.

Don't allow a cold wind to strike the eyes.

Don't have colored shades on the lamps; use white or ground glass.

Don't go directly from a warm room into a cold raw atmosphere.

Don't open the eyes under water in bathing especially in salt water.

Don't strain the eyes by reading, sewing, or any like occupation, with an imperfect light.

Don't bathe inflamed eyes with cold water; that which is as warm as can be borne is better.

Don't sleep opposite a window in such manner that a strong light will strike the eye on awkening.

The Corsican Clan.

The Corsican loves not work, nor is he greedy for gold, but he is ambitious, an eager politician, keenly desirous of place and power, of anything, in short, that may set him above his fellow men. The word "politician," however must be understood in a local sense. The questions that agitate the continent have small concern for him. His politics begin and end with the triumph or aggrandizement of his clan The chief of a clan has no sinecure. He is expected on all occasions to exert himself for the interests of his clients.

If an adherent wishes for a post, it is the duty of the chief to obtain it for him; if he has incurred some fine or penalty, the chief must use his influence to get it remitted. His clients in return (as to public matters) will obey his lead implicity. He may be a republican today, be may turn monarchist to-morrow, but it will make no difference in their allegiance, nor will he lose a single follower thereby. It is an understood thing that what he has done he has done for the good of the clan, and as in former times they would have followed him to the battle so they will follow him to the ballot box to-day.—Contemporary Review.

CHAMBERLAIN ARRESTED.

Will Be Taken to Winnipeg to Answer a Charge of Perjury.

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—Charles Chamberlain of this city, who was arrested in Winnipeg on a charge of wholesale personation and fled to Dakota, leaving his sureties, Philip Green and Robert Brown, in the hole for $250 each, was arrested by Detective Burrow in Yonge-street yesterday.

Government Detective Greer has been looking for Chamberlain for some days, the Attorney-General's office having been communicated with by the Winnipeg authorities when the latter learned that the man had returned to Ontario. Government Detective J. M. Clark will arrive from Winnipeg in a few days to take Chamberlain back. He will be charged with perjury, having sworn at one polling booth in Winnipeg on Nov. 22 that he was Matthew Leggatt of Hamilton.

FOUR HUSBANDS IN TWO YEARS.

All of Them Are Living and None Have Been Divorced.

HENDERSON, Ky., Feb. 7.—Mrs. Celia Livers has been convicted of bigamy by the Simpson County Court at Franklin, Ky. She is but 18 years old and has been married to the fourth husband within the past two years, without having secured a divorce from any of them, and all are alive.

Tin Platers Decline To Resume.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The tin platers of Blain, the largest tin plate works in Monmouth, which have been closed for months, have declined to resume work at a reduction of 20 per cent. in their wages.

In the Same Boat.

Mendicant—Pity, kind sir! I am in great need of help.

Mr. Subbubs—So am I. Been to every intelligence office in town this morning, and can't get help of any kind.

If you want a good ending to a little party take all the guests into the dining-room and turn out the gas. Make them all sit around the table in the middle of which place a soup plate. In the soup plate put some common salt and a little alcohol. Light the alcohol and then look at each other's faces. They will look natural at first but as the alcohol burns out and the salt becomes ignited the flame changes from yellow to blue and the changes in the faces are very startling. They all take on a ghastly look. Eyes stick out and the skin looks as though drawn tight like parchment. Then the faces become almost black and when the flame dies out and you go out into a lighted room you unconsciously try and wipe the black off. But it doesn't come. It's all the light from the salt.—Hartford Post.

Clever Pleading.

A gentleman, dying, left all his estate to a monastery, on condition that on the return of his only son, who was then abroad, the worthy fathers should give him "whatever they should choose." When the son came home he went to the monastery, and received but a small share, the monks choosing to keep the greater part for themselves. A barrister to whom he applied, on hearing the case, advised him to sue the monastery, and promised to gain his case for him. In arguing before the court the ingenious lawyer said, "The testator has left his son that share of the estate which the monks should choose; these are the express words of his will. Now, it is plain what part they have chosen by what they keep for themselves. My client, then, stands upon the words of the will. 'Let me have,' says he, 'that part they have chosen, and I am satisfied.'" This plea gained the suit.

Perfectly Cured.

SIRS,—I have been greatly troubled with headache and bad blood for ten or twelve years. I started to take Burdock Blood Bitters in July, 1892, and now (January, 1893,) I am perfectly cured.

HUGH DRAIN, Norwood, Ont.

At least one woman in five believes if she had been in Eve's place Adam would be in the garden yet.

Judge—Your age, Miss? "That your honor, I leave to your kind indulgence."

Dyspepsia or Indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the biliary ducts, loss of vitality in the stomach to secret the gastric juices, without which digestion cannot go on; also, being the principal cause of headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills taken before going to bed, for a while, never fail to give relief and effect a cure. Mr. F. W. Ashdown, Ashdown, Ont., writes: "Parmelee's Pills are taking the lead against ten other makes which I have in stock."

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam,

HAGYARD'R Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, and all bronchial and lung troubles. Price 25c per bottle, or five for $1.00.

The carat, the measure of weight used by jewellers, was originally a grain of India wheat.

Gored by a Cow.

A fine colt belonging to Mr. Peter Lindsay, of Nixon, Ont., was badly hooked by a cow. Two bottles of Hagyard's Yellow Oil cured it. This invaluable remedy should be in every house. It cures cuts, sprains, bruises, burns, and all pains and aches in man or beast.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Pictures

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

Templeton's Pink Powder.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,

A Bright Lad,

Ten years of age, but who declines to give his name to the public, makes this authorized, confidential statement to us:

"When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought that even if I did not die, I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arm. I hurt my finger and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. If I hurt myself so as to break the skin, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong."—T. D. M., Norcatur, Kans.

STIRRED UP A HORNET'S NEST

FARMERS' INSTITUTES SHOULD NOT BE POLITICAL CAUCUSES

A Lively Time At the Meeting of the Central Institute Yesterday On the Introduction of a Free Trade Motion—Two Cents a Mile—The Election of Officers.

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—The second day's session of the Central Farmers' Institute opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The appearance of the well-dressed, contented and prosperous crowd belied the expressions of poverty and depression among the farming class made later in the day during the debate on free trade.

President—James McEwing, Drayton.

Vice-President—T. G. Raynor, Rose Hall.

Secretary-Treasurer — A. H. Pettit, Grimsby.

Directors—J. C. Dance, Kingsville; Hon. Charles Drury, Crown Hill; J. F. Beam, Black Creek; D. McCrae, Guelph; J. D. Ewing, Dartford; R. J. Jelly, Jelleby, and Andrew Kennedy, Dundas.

Auditors—Thomas A. Good, Brantford, and B. E. Aylesworth, Bath.

A motion moved by Mr. Clinton, seconded by Mr. Henderson, was referred to the Legislative Committee, to the effect that the meeting approve of the action of the Dominion Government in deferring ratification of the French treaty, and that the Government be petitioned not to ratify that treaty.

A motion in favor of the Torrens system of transfer was referred to the Legislative Committee.

"How can the Government best further the interests of agriculture," was an interesting paper by President McEwing, advocating a higher standard for rural schools and touching on many other points. He said it is the duty of the Government to see that the public school be arranged so that a sound practical business education can be attained. This may be so in towns and cities, but it is doubtful if it is so in the country. Improved methods of agriculture should be taught.

A motion by Messrs. Smith and Walker to the effect that the Government be petitioned to reduce the grants to higher education was lost after a long discussion.

A motion by Messrs. Heaslip and Robinson, that the policy of free trade, as prevails in Great Britain, is beneficial to Canada, brought out a protracted debate.

Mr. Heaslip advocated the abolition of all duties on necessaries of life and the raising of the revenue by duties on luxuries.

After several of the faithful had advocated the free trade motion, Mr. Walker said he regretted that this question of free trade had been introduced. The trade question at the last election was the dividing line between the two parties. He said it was no place to discuss political questions.

Mr. Cumming spoke in favor of the free trade motion.

Mr. Chambers objected to the discussion, as the institute is an institution supported by public money.

Mr. White said this was the first time he had attended an institute meeting, and he was disgusted at the turn affairs had taken. If free trade prevailed nothing was left but direct taxation, and he as a farmer objected to that.

Mr. Kells vigorously protested against the discussion of these questions in the Farmers' Institute. He had been a member since the organization of the institute, but if these questions were to be discussed continually the Conservatives would leave the institute.

After some further discussion an amendment was moved by Messrs. Hanley and Jamieson that the delegation representing the Central Institute at Ottawa impress on the Government that the institute favors the application of the principles of free trade with all countries as far as possible, consistent with the necessities of revenue and the general interest of the country. This was carried.

"What improvements can be made in general farm practice that will most promote the present and future prosperity of the farmers of Ontario?" was an interesting paper by Mr. John S. Fraser of Burford, in which he said that to be successful farmers they must practice economy, industry and contentment. The paper also dealt with the credit system, and impressed the policy of "pay as you go." There should be a system of keeping accounts, and all unprofitable lines should be dropped. He concluded by saying that little heed should be paid cries of depression and hard times, as the farmers of Ontario are far outstripping all other professions.

A motion was passed to the effect that the Ontario Government be requested to do all in its power to promote the bee industry.

A motion was introduced and referred to the Committee on New Business suggesting that the Legislative school grants to Public schools should be increased and the executive of this association take steps to secure this end.

It was moved by Mr. J. Cumming, seconded by Mr. James Bissell, that the Dominion Government be urged to legislate in the direction of reducing the maximum rate of railway passenger fares and freight charges, so that the people of Ontario may not be required to pay more for the same service than the residents of a foreign country.

This motion was referred to the Committee on New Business, and will come up for discussion this morning.

A motion by Messrs. Currie and Island, that the proper authorities be petitioned to have printed and posted within easy reach of weigh scales the limit of fees that may be charged by the lessee or weighmaster of public scales, was referred to Committee on New Business.

A communication was received from Mr. J. D. Edgar wishing to learn the opinion of farmers as to whether the proposed Insolvent Act is wanted by them, or whether it should be passed with its application limited, as is proposed, to trade alone. The letter points out that no machinery is suggested in the bill by which any farmer can obtain a discharge from his liabilities, however honest and unfortunate he may have been. Referred to Legislative Committee.

President Mills of the Ontario Agricultural College read an interesting paper on "The Future of Farmers' Institutes." After giving a history of the institutes since their formation, he said that the country has been stirred up to a deeper, broader and more intelligent interest in the great subject of agriculture. The first deputations sent out from the college consisted entirely of professors, but the work increased so rapidly that the college soon had to employ outside help, general farmers, cattlemen, fruit growers, dairymen, sheep men, horsemen, swine men, etc., a few of the best men in the country to assist the professors, and some of these men have been found equal to the best of the professors. He then referred to the formation of institutes and their conduct, saying that the most important officer of an institute is the secretary. A slow secretary means a slow institute. He impressed the necessity of developing the local talent, urging the members to get local members to prepare papers at their meetings. He also advocated the holding of two-day meetings.

The paper was discussed at some length, after which President Mills was accorded a vote of thanks.

A motion was passed to the effect that two day winter meetings of local institutes with two delegates, and a third delegate at other meetings, be held during the season; also a general meeting, or "round up," at or after the close of the winter trips.

Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, delivered a short address. He drew attention to the fact that notwithstanding the large amount of dairy products which are now being produced, the price remains the same as some years ago, when there was not nearly so much produced. Canada's fruit and honey are better known to-day than ever before. We are just beginning to realize what are the possibilities of this great province. He concluded his remarks by saying: "I am delighted to think that—although some of our people don't like it—the farmers are beginning to think and act for themselves."

SENATE ABOLISHES THE FREE LIST.

The Wilson Bill To Be Changed in Every Particular.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Finance, consisting of Senators Jones (Ark.), Mills and Vest, got to work to-day, and went over a number of the schedules in the Tariff bill, suggesting changes in a number that are merely tentative, pending final action by the full committee. It has been said that the bill might be reported to the Senate next Tuesday, but this was denied by a member of the sub-committee, who said that despite whatever progress had been made it would be utterly impossible to have the bill ready by that time. Speaking of the bill generally this Senator declared that when the measure was reported to the Senate it would be a strictly revenue bill, yielding sufficient revenue for the Government under an economical administration of affairs. This meant that there would be a duty on sugar, which was in line with the Democratic policy as enunciated in the Mills bill, and an increased whisky tax.

The bill has been practically divided into five sections or schedules—a, b, c, d and e. In the first schedule will be placed all articles bearing compound or combined specific and ad valorem duty, and the remaining duties will be all ad valorem. In schedule B will be placed all articles bearing a duty of 40 per cent., in schedule C those bearing 30 per cent., in schedule D those bearing 20 per cent., and in schedule E those bearing 10 per cent. The bill, when reported, will contain no free list. Every article mentioned in it will be subject to a duty of some kind, and those not named in the bill will be admitted free of duty.

The sub-committee are going carefully through the Wilson bill and selecting the largely imported articles. As these articles are picked out they are placed in the schedule, which in the judgment of the committee will cause them to yield the greatest revenue.

During the afternoon the whisky schedule was briefly discussed. The talk was as to the advisability of increasing the tax and extending the bonded period. No agreement was reached, but it was decided to have a talk with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue on the subject. One point appears very clearly as the result of the sub-committee's labors up to this point, and that is that the Tariff bill which they will present to their Democratic associates on the Finance Committee for approval will bear a very slight resemblance to the original Wilson bill.

The reason for the extensive changes in contemplation and already made is to be found in the decision of the three sub-committeemen to be governed by the plan of the Walker Tariff Act, and so place the duties as to secure the largest amount of revenue which involves, of course, reductions in some cases increases, perhaps, in others, and a very restricted free list, if indeed, any articles entering largely into consumption are permitted to enter duty free.

The Senate to-day passed the act repealing the Federal election laws of 1870. The vote was 39 to 28.

In the House McCreary's Hawaiian resolution was adopted by 177 to 75. Only two Democrats opposed the resolutions. Boutelle's resolution censuring the President, which has been a thorn in the side of the House since the opening of the present session, was defeated: Yeas 91, nays 161.

The McCreary resolution censures Minister Stevens' course, approves the President's principle that American interference in Hawaii is contrary to our institutions and pronounces against annexation or protectorate.

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK.

Commercial Depression in Great Britain Causing Great Anxiety.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The publication of the Government Board of Trade returns for 1893 has produced a profound impression throughout the country and has deepened the gloom caused by the present commercial depression.

The total imports last year were £405,069,690, as compared with £423,793,882 in 1892 and £435,441,264 in 1891. The value of re-exports of foreign and colonial products declined last year by nearly £6,000,000 as compared with 1892. Hence the country not merely imported less for its own consumption, but lost the handling of a large amount as brokers and the usual profit thereon. The value of British exports in 1893 was £218,490,246, as compared with £27,077,053 in 1892 and £247,235,150 in 1891. The apparent balance against the country was £127,627,852 in 1893, as against £126,409,521 in 1891. One of the leaders of the social democratic federation declared to-day that the present conditions would materially advance the cause of radicalism and republicanism in Great Britain. Said he: "We have lost the markets of the world, thanks to the capitalist greed and the war between capital and labor. Our much-vaunted free competition has over-reached itself. We have taught our rivals the blessed principle of buying in the cheapest and selling in the dearest market to such purpose that they have set up business on our own lines and are never at a loss to find an Englishman who will help to ruin his country's reputation for the sake of personal gain. Individualism stands to-day a confessed failure, and Mammon, bankrupt, will soon have to put up the shutters."

Gladstone in the Best of Health.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Sir Algernon Edward West, Mr. Gladstone's friend and companion in Biarritz, arrived here last evening. He said he left Mr. Gladstone in the best of health and he would return to London probably on Feb. 10.

Bimetallism the Only Remedy.

MANCHESTER, Feb. 8.—At the annual meeting of the Bimetallic League resolutions were adopted declaring that the only remedy for the growing evil is bimetallism on an international basis at a common ratio, to be mutually settled.

TARIFF REVISION A BENEFIT

BUT CANADIAN INTERESTS WILL GOVERN ANY CHANGE.

Sir Adolphe Caron Addresses the Macdonald Club in Ottawa—He Reviews the Political Issues of the Day and Shows How the National Policy Has Tended to Canada's Prosperity.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—The first of the series of political lectures to be delivered by ministers before the Macdonald Club was given to-night by Sir Adolphe Caron in St. James' Hall before a very large audience. Sir Adolphe spoke for just an hour, and made an excellent address, replete with useful information and containing much good advice to young Conservatives to stand by their party and be ready to fight for it when the next general elections take place.

He began by reviewing the dark days of the Mackenzie Administration and the evolution of the National Policy under the guidance of Sir John Macdonald, to whose memory he paid a graceful and eloquent tribute.

He compared the state of Canada in 1878 with what it is to-day, and claimed that it was nonsense for the Opposition to talk of hard times or to say that the people were suffering when they gave such unmistakable evidence of prosperity as were shown by the enormous increase in the volume of trade, the addition of over $150,000,000 to the savings of the people and the fact that the trade and credit of Canada remained unimpaired while almost every other nation, and especially the United States, was suffering from severe commercial depression.

As to the National Policy, he said that it had undoubtedly done great good to the country, but it was not an unalterable law. He belived tariff revision would do good, but he assured his hearers that the broad lines of protection to Canadian interests would be adhered to, and that the Government would continue in the future as it had done in the past always to consider the interest of Canada as of paramount importance.

With regard to the Manitoba school question he asked if any of his hearers had ever been able to find out what Mr. Laurier's policy on that question was. He had never been able to do so. The position of the Government on the question was very clearly defined. It was to stand by the constitution. The man who would not uphold the constitution of his country was a coward. Mr. Blake had suggested that questions of this kind should be referred to the highest tribunal in the land, the Imperial Privy Council. The Manitoba school question would be so referred, and he for one was prepared to abide by the decision of that tribunal and the Government would abide by it. [Applause.] He deprecated the attempts made by the Opposition to stir up racial, national and religious strife in some of the provinces, and pointed to the Province of Quebec as an example of how two peoples of different race, language and religion could live together in peace and harmony. It was our duty to be tolerant towards each other, as to unite our efforts to building up one Canadian nationality.

He touched on the Northwest school question, and said that inasmuch as the school ordinance did not exceed the powers conferred on the Northwest Assembly it could not be disallowed by the Dominion Government. The complaint of the minority was more against the regulations than against the ordinance itself, and representations would be made to the Executive Council of the Northwest so that they may alter those regulations if they saw fit. In conclusion he urged on the club the importance of organization to enable them to again carry the Conservative banners to victory at the next general election. Sir Adolphe was frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause and was enthusiastically cheered on taking his seat. A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mr. J. J. O'Meara, seconded by Mr. George Howe, and was happily responded to by Sir Adolphe. The next meeting of the club, a week from to-night, will be addressed by Sir John Thompson.

POSTOFFICE PROSECUTIONS.

Duffy, the Mail Clerk, Sent For Trial—Hodgins Remanded.

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—Patrick J. Duffy, ex-mail clerk, was yesterday committed for trial by Magistrate Baxter. His counsel asked for bail, but the application was refused.

The first witness was Hugh Gilchrist, assistant postmaster of Huntsville. He told of the sending of the letter from which Duffy is charged with taking money. The letter contained 67 five dollar bills, 28 tens, $625 in all, and started from the office on its way to the Montreal Bank at Ottawa.

Gracie Evans, a sprightly young lady, who lives in King-street west, met Duffy three weeks ago. On Jan. 6 the prisoner gave her $10 and produced a large roll of bills. He said he was celebrating his birthday and that he had just received $600 from his father's estate. He said that he had given Mrs. McLeod, the landlady, $62. Mr. Duffy also bought several bottles of champagne.

Postoffice Inspector Sweetnam produced the envelope from which the money is alleged to have been taken. He said the letter had been opened before it reached Ottawa, and gave as his reason for saying so that when the envelope had been opened in transit the paper had been split, and when closed the bottom part was allowed to protrude slightly. When the Ottawa stamp was used a portion of the impression was left on the under part of the split paper, thus proving that the letter was opened before it reached Ottawa.

Hodgins Remanded for a Week.

Robert Hodgins, letter carrier, charged with abstracting $5.25 from a letter addressed to a Bracondale resident, secured a remand for a week at the Police Court yesterday.

FRANCE MUST WANT TO FIGHT.

A Violent Article Against England in a Paris Journal.

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The Siecle yesterday contains a violent article against England. The writer says Great Britain has acted in Newfoundland, Egypt, Madagascar, the Soudan and Siam as though the world belonged to her. He adds that the time for an explanation from Great Britain is approaching.

Must Settle With France Without Delay.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Pall Mall Gazette, commenting on the latest news from Sierra Leone, says: "We cannot have these things happening weekly. No time should be lost in settling this affair with France."

The Sierra Leone Affair.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The encounter between British and French military police in Sierra Leone Monday probably occurred between native police and not Europeans, as there is no expedition in that locality.

HURRICANE IN BRITAIN.

Damage by Wind on the Coast—Floods in Scotland and Kent.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—A violent hurricane is prevailing along the coasts of most of the countries bordering on the North Sea. Many casualties have been reported. Some have occurred even in the harbor of Hamburg.

In Great Britain a gale is blowing, accompanied in some places by heavy rain. Reports from Inverness and Perthshire, Scotland, state floods have occurred there.

The sea dykes along the Strait of Dover between Dungeness and Dymchurch were damaged by the heavy seas that pounded against them. At Appledore, Devonshire, the lowlands were flooded for a distance of eight miles from the sea.

The immense embankment that was built to protect Romney Marsh, in Kent, against the incursions of the sea did not avail to keep the place from being flooded to-day. The Romney Marsh parish church was this evening surrounded by deep water. Two hundred vessels were compelled to seek refuge from the storm at East Bay, Dungeness.

Several cottages at Sheffield, Yorkshire, were blown down and at Llandudno, Wales, a new Baptist chapel was wrecked. The Scarborough Peak Railway station was completely destroyed by the wind. So heavy was the gale that the waiting rooms and the stationmaster's office were blown over a wall into a field.

SALISBURY BLUNDERED.

The Duke of Devonshire Coming to the Front as a Leader.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Commenting upon the refusal of the Duke of Devonshire, leader of the Liberal-Unionists in the House of Lords, to support Lord Salisbury in an amendment, favoring the interests of landlords, to the Parish Councils bills, which refusal led to the withdrawal of the amendment and to a declaration by Lord Salisbury that it was useless to persist in the face of opposition of the Duke of Devonshire, the Daily News says.

"The sturdy independence of the Duke of Devonshire perhaps saved the bill, and it will increase his reputation for prudence, sense and sagacity." Lord Salisbury, it says, has no political courage.

The Chronicle says: "Lord Salisbury's conduct has deprived him of the smallest title to statesmanship. The Duke of Devonshire, on the whole, is a stronger man. He succeeded in preserving the Unionist alliance at the cost of exasperating the old Tory guard and discrediting the late Premier as possible leader of any future coalition ministry. The sooner Mr. Gladstone returns from Biarritz to silence rumors damaging to his character as a leader the better for the democracy."

BURIED IN A NOONDAY BLAZE.

Mrs. Daniel Caswell Disfigured for Life In an Attempt to Save Her Property.

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—Mrs. Daniel Caswell, wife of a commercial traveler who occupies rooms above H. & C. Blachford's shoe store at 83-85 King-street east, was frightfully burned about the hands and face in a fire which originated from the upsetting of a lamp at noon yesterday.

Caretaker George Ferber discovered the fire, which originated on the third floor, and gave the alarm. All the tenants succeeded in escaping, but Mrs. Caswell returned to secure some valuables and was overpowered by the smoke. While she lay unconscious the fire reached her. Ferber rushed to her assistance and carried the unconscious woman to the street. She was taken into a drug store, where Dr. Cowan attended her, and she was then removed to the hospital, where it was found that her hands were burned to the bone and the face terribly disfigured. It is thought, however, that she will recover.

The damage to Blachford's stock will not exceed $4000, fully covered by insurance. The other tenants, Fred Karn, novelties; Philadelphia Optical Company, and B. B. Miller, solicitor, suffered little damage.

Altogether Disappeared.

GENTLEMEN.—About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking B. B. B., took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine.
EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

A panic is a sudden desertion of us, and a going over to the enemy of our imagination.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Ill-deeds are doubled with an evil word; the sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Beware of desperate steps; the darkest day, live till to-morrow, will be passed away.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

BROOMS! BROOMS!!

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

MATCHES! MATCHES!! MATCHES!

Don't pay 12c. for the same, when you can buy the best in the city from us for 10c per box. Everyone a striker.

Don't forget that we are headquarters for Pressed and Pieced Tinware, and Peddlers' Sundries.

For the next two weeks we will give special value in our CELEBRATED TOWEL SOAP.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY FEB. 8

WANTED—A RAILWAY.

One of the most pressing wants of Belleville at the present time is an electric street railway. It is necessary to the comfort and convenience of our people, to the prosperity of our business men, and the progress of our city. During the years that have elapsed since the uprooting of the horse car line which disgraced our leading streets, efforts have been made, but without success, to secure the construction of an up-to-date electric railway, and there is nothing in the air at present amongst the rumors that are floating about, to indicate anything more favorable for the near future, unless a business-like policy is pursued by the City Council.

The rock upon which the project split in the past was, it appears to us, the determination to have a belt line over the hill, and the firmness of the aldermen in imposing conditions which might be very well in a place of five or ten times the population of Belleville, but could not be complied with in a city of ten thousand inhabitants, and widely scattered at that.

If we are rightly advised, the Council will shortly be called upon to consider the subject in all its bearings. In such case, it is to be hoped that the city will not be allowed to suffer from the over-zeal of our aldermen in insisting upon impossible restrictions, but that they will deal with the matter in a business way, remembering that there is a mutuality of interest in the project, between the city and the proprietors of the railway, to the extent that there can be no benefit to the city in a road which is not earning fair interest on the capital invested in it.

We cannot presume to advise as to details, but would, speaking in a general way, urge that if a belt line cannot be secured, let us do without it for the time being, if an otherwise advantageous bargain can be secured; for the belt line, if it would be likely to pay, would not long be neglected.

We believe that the best policy is to deal with a company—of local men for preference. If no suitable bargain can be made with a company, then Mayor Walmsley's proposal that the city shall build the line from the Grand Trunk station to the wharf should be considered.

BAYSIDE.

At the last meeting of the Quarterly Board of Bayside circuit the following resolutions were passed: Moved by Chas. Saylor, seconded by O. S. Hicks, and resolved that the Quarterly Board expresses its grief and records its sense of the loss the Methodist church has sustained by the decease of Bro. Wm. McMaster, one of its honored and devoted members, who for many years has been a light in and a blessing to this circuit, and pray that the declining years of sister McMaster may be brightened by the constant presence of God, who has very graciously promised to be a husband to the widow, and that the sons may prove themselves worthy of the name of their sainted father by faithfully following his God and Saviour.

Also moved by G. A. Zufelt, seconded by C. R. Ostrom, that this Quarterly Board desires to express its regret at the removal of Bro. Fred Spafford from Bayside circuit, and to place on record its high appreciation of him as a true man and a Christian, and of his valuable services as a class leader and Sabbath School Superintendent and trust he may be prosperous and useful in his new sphere and residence.

Humorous.

George—You would marry the biggest fool in the world, if he asked you, wouldn't you?

Ethel—Oh, George, this is so sudden!

Easily Flattered: "I received a magnificent tribute to my skill the other day at the exhibition."

"What was it?"

"You know my picture, 'A Storm at Sea?' Well a man and his wife were looking at it, and I heard the man say, 'Come on my dear; that picture makes me sick.'"

Rupert—I think I'll pour some cologne in this medicine bottle.

Mamma—Why?

Rupert—Why, to take the taste out of its mouth.

"Good-morning, Janet. I am sorry to hear you did not like my preaching on Sunday. What was the reason?" "I had three vera guid reasons, sir. Firstly, ye read yere sermon; secondly, ye didna read it weel; an', thirdly, it wasna' worth readin at a'!"

Little Clara was out with her mother, taking dinner at a neighbor's house, and the hostess in an attempt to be entertaining asked her if she liked kittens. The little miss shocked those gathered at the table by looking suspiciously at the chicken pot pie, and replying, "I does not,—dess I'd rather have cake."

Postal Clerk—This letter is too heavy, Miss; you want to put another three-cent stamp on it.

Miss Innocence—But won't that make it heavier still?

"John," exclaimed the nervous woman, "do you thing there is a burglar in the house?"

"Certainly not. Why, I haven't heard a sound all night."

"That's just what alarms me. Any burglar who wasn't foolish would keep perfectly quiet so as not to excite our suspicions. Indeed, John, I do so wish you would get up and look through the house."

Dr. Emdee—Your trouble, my dear madam, seems to be with the liver.

Mrs. Slimdiet—I don't see how that can be. The boarders don't complain, and I never eat it.

A pretty Mexican lady recently purchased some yards of "material" at one of our large dry goods stores. At the time of her visit she was not fully conversant with English, and an American friend made her purchases for her. Last week, happening to be in the city and in want of "gingham," she went to the same establishment, this time alone. "Haff you ze jimjams?" she inquired. Of course the gentlemanly clerk was very much astonished. "No," said he, "never." "Vy," exclaimed senora, earnestly, "you had 'em ven I vas here last, and you had 'em bad, too. Zey ripped out."

HIS EXCUSE.

Old Bullion—Don't you think, sir, that you are rather impudent to ask me for the hand of my daughter?

Mr. Nocash—Yes, sir, and I wouldn't have done it if she hadn't positively refused to ask you herself.

SCHOLASTIC ITEM.

The Man (with an only son)—What kind of scholars do you turn out at this institution?

Principal—Those who won't study.

A WISE DOCTOR.

"Doctor, I have a frightful cold in the head! What shall I take for it?"

Doctor (after reflection)—A handkerchief.

THE CRUEL TEST.

"Sire" cried the herald, "Her Majesty's mother has arrived in safety."

The King bowed coldly.

"Now," he observed, turning to the court logician, after the messenger had retired, "to resume our discussion of yesterday. You were contending against the efficacy of prayer. Perhaps you are right, after all."

EQUALITY.

He (angrily)—Look at this bill. Forty dollars for perfumery—for mere odors that fade away forever!

She (calmly)—Gone to meet the smoke from the last eight boxes of cigars you have consumed during the last three months.

DUBIOUS AS TO HIS JOB.

THE WICKED PARTNER ON CUMULATIVE VOTING.

He Thinks the Adoption of the Plan Might Give the Balance of Power to An Independent Power—Sir Oliver Is Non-Committal—The Labor Party Go and See, But Fail to Conquer.

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—Cumulative voting and the establishment of a Government printing bureau were the subjects of a conference between the representatives of the Ontario Government and a labor deputation last night. To the requests of the labor men Sir Oliver Mowat made a reply that was non-committal.

The large delegation, which represented the Trades and Labor Council, The Trades Congress of Canada, District Assembly 125, K. of L., Typographical Union No. 91, the Bookbinders International Union and other local labor organizations.

The delegation entered the Attorney-General's office, where sat Sir Oliver Mowat and the Hon. Messrs. Hardy, Harcourt, Dryden and Ross.

Thomas Banton said that the people were sufficiently educated to understand the principle of cumulative voting. All the people should be represented, and this system was one by which proportional representation could be secured. This was one of the most important reforms that is now being pushed forward. It is in use now in England, and gives the minority a chance to return their man. The system now in vogue is not one that is perfect, and has not kept pace with the progress of the times. Under the present system it has been calculated that two-fifths of the electorate are disfranchised.

John Armstrong said that many labor bodies both in Toronto and elsewhere had endorsed the cumulative system. It was one which would be especially adapted to Toronto.

Hon. A. S. Hardy wanted to know how the plan would work in connection with responsible government. A party might be elected which would hold the balance of power.

Mr. Armstrong did not think this would be possible. There was a little merry badinage and Mr. Armstrong sat down.

J. Strachan said that under the new system the party which had the most votes would secure a majority of representatives. It would benefit every other class fully as much as the labor party. Wherever the cumulative ballot has been in existence it has never been given up.

Mr. Hardy again repeated his objection to the vote because of its likelihood of sending half a dozen parties to the House, any one of which would not be able to form a government.

D. J. O'Donoghue said that under the new system the electoral districts might be enlarged and a smaller number of representatives represent the electors of the province. If this vote were for the best interest of the people, even if it were in opposition to the constitution, it should be adopted. The constitution might be changed. [Applause.]

Robert Glockling then spoke to the Cabinet on the necessity for the establishment of a Government printing bureau. The approaching re-letting of the contracts for the printing of the school books made the question a live one. One clause should be inserted in the contract which would secure to the men the union rates of wages. The declaration of the many departments of the Imperial Government in favor of union wages was cited as a good example. The establishment of a printing bureau would do away with the profits of the middleman.

Sir Oliver said that he hardly thought a Government could manage such a department well, as other Governments might use the bureau for political purposes. [Laughter.]

G. W. Dower said that there need be no danger of the bureau degenerating into a political machine. A practical man at the head of affairs would keep things right. The Ottawa bureau was a success both from the standpoint of an investment and from the laboring man's point of view.

James Reid said that many states and provinces had established their offices, and in no case had they been found a failure. He knew that in New York State printing contracts had been a source of much political corruption.

"But all that is much different in Ontario," said Mr. Hardy, and there was a ripple of laughter.

In reply Sir Oliver said:

"I have been much interested in the discussions, and am very glad to have heard you to-night. If we can do anything that is fair and proper to secure reasonable wages for workmen we should be delighted to do so."

The members of the delegation had to be satisfied with this answer and left smilingly.

CLYDESDALE BREEDERS.

Annual Meeting and Election of Officers Yesterday—The Wilson Bill.

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—There was an air of good, solid fellowship about the members of the Clydesdale Horse Association of Canada who gathered in the Albion Hotel yesterday afternoon. The meeting was a thoroughly representative one, nearly every breeder of the heavyweights in Canada being present.

Vice-President Arthur Johnston of Greenwood acted as chairman. President Davies' report was read by Secretary Wade. It dealt clearly and succinctly with the events of the year of interest to the horsemen. Referring to the exhibit of Clydesdale at World's Fair, he claimed for Canada the first place in that department. The United States horses, he said, were bred on showy lines and not for usefulness. He strongly denounced the action of the American Association in regard to the action they have taken in compelling the Canadian breeders of Clydesdales to register in the United States stud book. He hoped that the Washington authorities would alter the state of affairs. The action of some Michigan horse owners who tried to send inferior horses to Canada was condemned.

Messrs. R. Miller of Brougham and David McCrae of Guelph reported that steps had been taken to secure a repeal of the present United States laws regulating the importation to that country of thoroughbred horses and high-class breeding cattle, and that it had been decided to send a deputation to Washington for the purpose of having the duty removed and increased facilities afforded for the importation of stud horses and cattle with a record into that country. The Dominion Government has been requested to co-operate.

These officers were elected for 1894: President, Robert Davies; vice-presidents, Ontario, Arthur Johnson, B. Greenwood; Quebec, Robert Ness, Howick, Nova Scotia, William O'Brien of Windsor; New Brunswick, A. S. Murray, Fredericton; Prince Edward Island, Hon. Joseph Clow, Murray Horton; Manitoba, John E. Smith of Brandon; British Columbia, H. D. Benson, Ladnew's Landing; Alberta, N.W.T., John Turner, Calgary; Saskatchewan, N.W.T., J. M. McFarlane, Volglumo. Directors: Robert Graham, Claremont; Robert Blith, M.P., Bowmanville; Robert Davidson, Ashbourne; Robert Miller, Brougham; Peter Christian, Manchester; Alexander Cameron, Ashbourne; Alfred Major, Whitevale.

Earl of Feversham's House Ablaze.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The north wing of Duncombe House, Duncombe Park, Helmsley, Yorkshire, the historic seat of the Earls of Feversham, was burned yesterday. A quantity of valuable antique tapestry was destroyed.

Board of Health.

The Board of Health met yesterday afternoon for organization. Present: His Worship Mayor Walmsley, Dr. Tracy, Messrs. Wm. B'sind, Jas. Meagher, A. T. Petrie, S. A. Moore, Thos. Wills and Chief Newton, Sanitary Inspector.

A. T. Petrie was elected chairman of the Board.

A circular from the Provincial Board of Health, setting forth the necessity of vaccination as a precautionary measure against small pox, was read. In view of the fact that England and the United States have for some time been grappling with this virulent disease, it was deemed advisable that all heads of families should see that their children were vaccinated. Although Belleville has no case of small pox it was eminently proper to make preparation against it. Physicians can secure pure vaccine by addressing A. Stewart, M.D., Palmerston.

Moved and seconded, that the attention of the Council again be called to the necessity of the continuation of the sewer from Hotel street along Front street to the upper bridge.

Board adjourned to meet again at the call of the chairman.

Butter and Cheese.

Mr. D. Derbyshire, of Brockville, in reference to the proposed amalgamation of the Creameries Association with the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Associations, says: "I have no idea that the Association will consent to it. The Association is doing a good work in the encouragement of butter manufacture, and the amount being made is nearly 200 per cent, greater than four years ago. Canada can make the finest butter in the world, as well as the finest cheese, and the Creameries Association has a great work yet before it to educate the people along this line. The making of butter is not meant to interfere with the manufacture of cheese, but winter dairying is intended to supplement the income of every farmer. Good cheese cannot be made in the winter, but the finest quality of butter can and is being made every day. Oh, no. You can say that the Creameries Association has no notion of quitting business at present."

Mrs. Ecclestone's Sufferings from Kidney Disease Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills—A Medicine that Produces Good Results for Both Old and Young.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 5.—Mrs. F. E. Ecclestone, aged 69, a well-known resident of this city, has for some time been afflicted with kidney disease, the symptoms of which were severe pains in the small of the back. She is now perfectly cured. This happy result is due to the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the famous and infallible remedy for all kidney disorders. Mrs. Ecclestone says the pains have never returned since her recovery, and her happiness over her restoration to sound health is indescribable. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2 50.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works

JUDICIAL SALE

—OF—

MINING - LANDS

In Marmora, in the County of Hastings.

PURSUANT to the judgment of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice, in an action of Cook vs. Williams, and with the approbation of the Master in Ordinary, there will be offered for sale by public auction, on Saturday, 24th day of February, 1894, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, by Messrs. Dickson & Townsend, at their Auction Rooms, 22 King St. W., Toronto, the following Mining Lands, in two parcels, namely:—

PARCEL 1,—An undivided half interest in Lot No. 8, in the 9th Concession of the Township of Marmora, in in the County of Hastings; also an undivided half interest in the west half of lot No. 9 in the 9th Con. of the said township of Marmora; also an undivided seventeen-fortieths interest in a portion of Lot No. 6, in the 8th Concession of the said Township of Marmora, and more particularly described in a certain deed registered in the Registry Office for the County of Hastings, on the 22nd day of August, 1870, as No. 410. (This lastly mentioned property consists of about four and one eight acres, situate on the bank of the Moira River). The mines and minerals on the said Lot No 6 are reserved and will not be offered for sale. There is at present (but out of repair) on this Lot No. 6, what is known as the Dean-Williams crusher.

PARCEL 2.—An undivided half interest in Lot No. 7, in the 9th Concession of the said Township of Marmora, save and except an undivided one-sixteenth interest in the south half of the said lot. The sale of this parcel will be made subject to the interest of the defendant, William Richardson, as mortgagee of an undivided sixsixteenths of the south half, and of an undivided half of the north half of said lot. There was found due to the said Richardson, for principal and interest, by the Master's report, up to 4th January, 1894, the sum of $3,163.54, and also interest at 6 per cent, on the principal from date.

These lands are supposed to contain valuable deposits of gold ore, and are situate about five miles from the Village of Marmora, where a crushing mill is now in operation by the Hastings Mining & Reduction Company, and are situate about three miles from Marmora station on the Central Ontario Railway, and about eight miles from the Village of Madoc and close to the River Moira.

TERMS.—Ten per cent. of the purchase money must be paid to the vendors or their solicitors at the time of sale, and the balance within one month thereafter, without interest into Court, to the credit of this action.

The vendors will not be bound to furnish any abstract of title, or to verify any abstract of title, or to furnish any proofs or evidence of title, other than those which are now in their possession or power.

If the purchaser shall insist upon any objection or requisition which the vendors shall be unable or unwilling to remove or comply with, the vendors are to be at liberty to apply to the said Master to rescind the contract of sale, unless, within ten days after notice of such application the purchaser shall by notice in writing withdraw such objection or requisition.

The plaintiff and all parties to the action have liberty to bid at the auction sale of the above property.

The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserve bid on each parcel.

Other conditions of sale are the standing conditions of Court. Further terms and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale, or will be made known upon application to Messrs. LOUNT, MARSH & CAMERON, Vendors' Solicitors, 25 Toronto Street Toronto, or to Messrs. MACDONALD, MACINTOSH & MCCRIMMON, Canada Life Buildings, Toronto.

LA DIVA PATTI.

The Patti troupe carried away $7000 in red gold from Toronto, proceeds of one concert. The lowest price for tickets was $2, standing room after 7:30, $1. I found myself in company with seven hundred of the lieges of the city enthroned among the gods in a comfortable seat. The gods were, however, conspicuous by their absence—two dollars was rather too rich diet for them. A large number of ladies and gentlemen in full dress arrayed for the Bal Poudre, were glad to have a seat in the gallery. It is not too much to say that a hundred well dressed people at the entrance to the gallery struggled for standing room in a place where nothing of the stage could be seen. Seven hundred people filled the place, which afforded comfortable seats for five hundred. What was the cause of the rush? Why did people struggle and fight for a position where they might hear, but could certainly not see anything, but heated eager faces? To hear the most celebrated singer in the world. To hear the artiste that for a quarter of a century has charmed every country. There stood the little lithe creature tripping about the stage—looking not a day older, and singing as sweetly as when I first saw her in London in 1869. Her corsage (pink in color) was literally covered with diamonds. Her train was of pink satin—her dress cream satin, striped with brown and gold. Her Home Sweet Home, Last Rose of Summer, and second act of Flotow's Martha were sung as she alone of all the women in the world can sing them. All you can say after you have heard her is, that no matter how high you have placed your ideal, she satisfies you. You are simply ravished with delight—you can ask or desire nothing more. Some people talk of a little falling off in her upper notes. It is not true.

It is said that she retires shortly from the stage. How can she retire when the world is at her feet? Recall after recall. She is simply worshipped. Hours after hearing her, in the silence of the night, her sweet tones would repeat themselves. But alas, how treacherous is memory! How soon all that is brightest fades away and becomes a beautiful dream. Fabbri was grand, Galassi Novara excellent, but what I wish to point out to your readers is, that Mr. Durward Lely's tenor is the most remarkable music I have heard. The critics do him scant justice. His singing was a revelation. I have heard nearly all the best tenors, including "good old Sims Reeves," but hazard the statement that Mr. Lely will achieve a most brilliant success in his coming tour of the States and Canada. Wherever he sings go and hear him and you will thank me for having told you to go. His voice is light but so sweet, capable of such modulation, intonation and expression, that you can find no words to express your delight. Of all the tenors before the public I think Lely will wear the honors.

AMUSEMENTS

Stahl's comic opera, which is based on a "why," but which passes by the name of "Said Pasha," was well rendered at the Boyd's Theatre last night by the California Opera Co. Mr. Tuck Springer as the "Pasha," made a remarkeble good representation of the role. His voice is excellent. Mr. W. E. Hubbard, as "Hassan Bey," Mr. John Saunders as "Hadad," the gentlemanly and tramp-like liar, and Mr. John Henderson as "Nockey," the "Why," were all very good. Miss Josephine Stanton, a pretty blonde, played the role of "Serena," and in the kissing song made a huge hit. The others in the company are Miss Rita Harrington, Queen of Alti, Miss Adella Barker, Ballah Sajah, who played their respective parts very well. The chorus is strong and well drilled, and the costumes gorgeous. A crowded house should greet the company at every performance.—Omaha Bee. At the Queen's Opera House on Thursday, Friday, Saturday matinee and evening, Feb'y 15, 16, and 17. Change of opera every performance. Prices 15, 25, 35, 50c.

Had to Pay Costs.

A decision of some interest to Telephone Subscribers and Advertisers has lately been given in Toronto in a suit brought for damages against the Bell Telephone Company, on account of their having omitted to insert in one of their half-yearly issues of their "Subscribers' Directory," an advertisement, which had been ordered by a Subscriber, and also his name in the proper order in the Alphabetical List.

Although the omission was purely accidental, and the Company, on being notified of it, had at once taken steps to correct the error, the Subscriber relentlessly persisted in his action. The result, however, was that after a trial, which lasted for part of two days, judgment was given in favor of the Company; and the Subscriber gained nothing by his suit, except the privilege of paying his lawyer's bill of costs. He is now probably a sadder, but perhaps a wiser man.

A Happy Event.

About forty persons assembled at the residence of Officer Cook, Charlotte St., last evening to witness the marriage of his niece, Miss Hester Cook, to Mr. R. C. English, Melrose. The groom was assisted by Mr. E. Cooley, of Geo. Ritchie & Co's., while Miss Alice J. Cook, daughter of the genial police officer, acted as bridesmaid. Rev. Mr. McCamus performed the ceremony, after which the company sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper. The friends spent the evening in social intercourse and in viewing the numerous beautiful presents. The happy couple left about midnight for their future home in Melrose.

Not a Prosperous Year.

The total traffic receipts of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company in 1893, were $610,971.65, the expenses $583,802.99—leaving a balance of $27,268.63, which, added to the balance of last year, $84,456.73, amounts to $111,725.39, out of which is appropriated for interest $29,183.88, accidents $19,259.33, net sundries $2,995.94, leaving still a balance to credit of profit and loss account of $60,286.24. The result of the past year's operations is disappointing, in comparison with the record of previous years.

Money Talks These Days.

The man who has a little money to spend these dull days, can get quite a lot with it. Come to the Oak Hall and buy a nice overcoat or suit. Our stock is well assorted and prices are away down. Odd pants, odd vests and odd coats of every description. See our boys' strong, heavy school suits.

True Merit.

Nothing succeeds like success and nothing more quickly ensures success than true merit. We believe a good article at a fair price is the right thing to recommend to the public. Try Strouds' May pickings Japan or English Breakfast Black at 40c per pound and you will have a good tea at a fair price; it stands upon its own merits. —Strouds the Tea Dealers.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

They Meet and Organize—Mr. Hugh Walker Re-elected Chairman.

The Board of Education met last evening at 7 o'clock for organization; the following members were present: Hugh Walker, I. Diamond, S. T. Harris, Wm. Johnson, W. Kemp, T. Wills, J. Martin, S. A. Moore, S. S. Moore, W. H. Gordon, W. C. Reid, W. Tennent, Dr. Tracy, John Doyle, and Rev. Canon Burke.

Moved by Wm. Johnson, seconded by S. A. Moore, that Mr. Hugh Walker be re-elected Chairman. There being no other nominations, a ballot was taken, and Mr. Walker was declared unanimously elected.

Rev. Canon Burke and Mr. I. Diamond were named a committee to conduct the newly elected Chairman to the chair.

On taking the chair, Mr Walker in a neat speech thanked the Board for the honor they had conferred on him by re-electing him Chairman.

Moved by I. Diamond, seconded by Rev. Canon Burke, that the following gentlemen be a committee to strike the standing committees for the current year: Rev. Canon Burke, Dr. Tracy, Messrs. S. A. Moore, Wm. Johnson, S. T. Harris, John Martin, W. H. Gordon.—Carried.

They reported as follows:

Report received and adopted.

Board adjourned until next Tuesday evening.

SPORTING NEWS

Upon one point which appears to have come up for discussion in sporting circles many times since the big battle at Jacksonville, Corbett had something to say the other day. It was reported that in the ring Mitchell had applied a vile epithet to the American. The English boxer denied this, and so did "Honest" John Kelly, and on top of this Corbett adds his denial.

The arrangement of dates for the big trotting meetings in the Eastern Circuit will probably be as follows: July 16—22, Detroit, Mich.; July 23 28, Cleveland, O.; August 1-11, Buffalo, N.Y.; August 13-18, Rochester, N.Y.; August 20 25, Springfield, Mass.; August 27 31, Hartford, Conn.; September 3-8, New York City; September 10-15, Boston, Mass.; September 17 22, Providence, R.I.

What line of business pays as well as being a champion? In the last two weeks James J. Corbett has picked up something like $50,000. His fight with Charlie Mitchell at Jacksonville one week ago last Thursday netted him $25,000, his boxing entertainment at Madison Square Garden the Saturday night following was a big winner, and his share was something like $15,000, while he has showed the past week in Boston to over $10,000. At this rate it won't take James J. long to become a millionaire. He has already a good start. He is now worth something like $100,000.

Several Belleville gentlemen visited the neighborhood of Tuftsville on the 3rd inst. for a rabbit hunt, and under the guidance of that veteran hunter, W. S. Clarke, had an excellent day's sport, one of the party bagging four pairs of rabbits, and returned a happy man.

Race meetings will be held at Toronto and Hamilton on the ice on the following dates: Toronto, Feb. 20, 21 and 22; Hamilton, Feb. 27, 28 and March 1.

The cutter Britannia, owned by the Prince of Wales, has had a new mast stepped at Southampton, and is now at Cowes, where her fitting out will be completed.

The Oxford-Cambridge crews are to take their first practice spin of the season on the Thames on Saturday. From then until the day set for this year's big race the crews will indulge in daily practice over the course.

At Norwood on the 7th, D. Lake's Black Jess was second in the named race. Last Chance was third in the 2:40 trot.

Mr. S. Curry's Rowdy Boy, which has been a success on the ice, will trot at the Ottawa meeting.

Police Court.

Ed. Welsh, of Prince Edward, drunk and disorderly, fined $2 and costs.

Joseph Fox, plain drunk, remanded for one week to sober up.

Joseph Cox charged Paul Deslane with assault, but the plaintiff not being present, the case was enlarged for a week.

O'Reilly vs. Graham was another case of assault. The evidence was directly against the plaintiff, and the Magistrate dismissed the case.

In the case of Queen vs. Hodgins, the defendant elected to be tried summarily, but in the absence of material witnesses, the case was further enlarged for one week.

WALL PAPER!

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper Campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future, you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos to this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long, with a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the drawing room, and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the Wall Paper world for facilitating the handling Wall Paper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year. We can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning, 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT, SOAP MAKERS TO HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN

If you wish your Linen to be White as Snow, Sunlight Soap will do it.

Why,

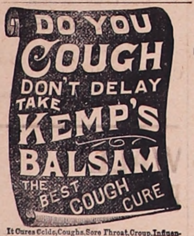
Because SUNLIGHT SOAP is perfectly pure, and contains no Injurious Chemicals to injure either your clothes or your hands. Greatest care is exercised in its manufacture, and its quality is so appreciated by the public that it has the Largest Sale of any Soap in the World.

How,

Can you test this? If you have never tried SUNLIGHT SOAP, ask those who use it what they think of it, then try it for yourself. The result will please you, and your clothes will be washed in far less time, with Less Labour, Greater Comfort, and will be whiter than they have ever been before, when you used ordinary soap.

Is That

not the best way to decide the matter? First by enquiring what the experience is of those who already use it. Secondly, by a fair trial yourself. You are not committed in any way to use the soap; all we ask is: Don't Delay, try it the next washing day.



It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst., over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

In the published histories of Louisiana we find an account of twelve brave men who were punished by Don Alexander O'Reilly, at New Orleans, in 1769, on account of the part they had taken in forcing Don Antonio de Ulloa to leave the state.

The names of the men arrested were Focault, Noyau Bienville, Boisblanc, Lafrenière, Joseph and John Milhet and Villere.

Of these men, five were shot, Villere was brutally murdered on board a vessel in the Mississippi River, and the others were transported to Havana, where they suffered greatly as prisoners, receiving the most inhuman treatment. This was almost the first public act of O'Reilly after assuming command of the Spanish colony in Louisiana. The men upon whom his vengeance fell belonged to the best French families of New Orleans and the surrounding country, and no calamity could have caused more consternation among the Creole population. Gloom and mourning were in almost every house. No one knew where the tyrant's malignant vengeance would next fall, nor did there appear any hope for the French residents save in abject submission to Spanish domination, which meant a sort of slavery but little above the thraldom in which the negroes were held.

One man, who took a very active part with Villere and his companions above enumerated, is not mentioned in his histories. His name must have been suppressed by order of O'Reilly, for reasons best known to him; and, it has failed to reach the attention of those whose labors have done so much to preserve the singularly romantic story of the days when New Orleans was a small town in the midst of a wilderness, and peopled with the most adventurous and courageous men and the most daring (and it is said the most beautiful) women ever thrown together as companions in alternating happiness and misery. Just what part this unrecorded individual played in the ill-considered proceedings which precipitated O'Reilly's wrath, is certainly not known; but he was the youngest of the insurgents, and, as the story goes, the handsomest man at that time in the colony. Tall, slender, dark, with curling hair and a drooping, black mustache, he had added many manly accomplishments to the natural grace and the magnetism of his presence. He was an unerring marksman, a daring and brilliant rider, and, among his companions, a matchless swordsman.

At the time the others were arrested he eluded O'Reilly's grasp. Some say that he remained for many days hidden in a small house on the outskirts of New Orleans, where he was taken care of by an old colored woman; but another story is that he had a rude tent under a great live oak in the midst of a swamp a mile or two outside the town. One thing, however, is well known: O'Reilly gave orders for his capture dead or alive, and threatened death to any person harboring or assisting him directly or indirectly. Furthermore, after a time, when every effort to secure him seemed about to fail, a large reward in gold was offered for his head.

It was while matters stood thus that O'Reilly held a reception at his house, which was a somewhat pretentious building, and called together a large company of the best people in the colony. His invitation was regarded by those receiving it as an order, and none, especially if French, dared disobey. Bitter as was the thought and hard to meet as was the humiliation of accepting hospitality from the man who had struck such a blow to their hearts, they felt that anything was better than to call upon themselves again the visitation of that monster's absolute cruelty. The mere name of O'Reilly was a terror, and but a suggestion of displeasing him sent a chill to the very marrow of the bravest of the chivalrous men in New Orleans. So it came about that the parlors of the commander's house were filled at the appointed time, and every body strove to appear gay, as became the distinguished occasion.

By common consent, the belle of the evening was Mademoiselle Hortense Faurie, only daughter of Alfred Faurie, a wealthy refugee from another French colony. Hortense was but seventeen; but, although slender and by no means tall, she bore herself, as the diary left by a member of the family states it, 'with the air of a queen in the midst of her court.'

The commandant's house was beautifully decorated with flowers, palm leaves and festoons of gray moss. There was music, and the dancing began early. To quote from the diary again; 'One would have thought one's self in Paris, as one looked about at the courtly men and richly dressed ladies.'

Don Alexander O'Reilly, himself by no means an ordinary personage in address and bearing, graciously approached Mademoiselle Faurie, and engaged her in light conversation. Many an eye noted this.

The young lady found herself, indeed, the central figure of the occasion, thus specially honored by the terrible and yet singularly fascinating man who mingled in his deportment the courtesy and grace of the gay cavalier with the grim reserve of a merciless master.

Again and again during the evening, Don Alexander and Mademoiselle Faurie led the dancing; and when refreshments were announced, the beautiful girl was once more accorded the highest honor by the host. Her beauty and gentleness, her sweetness of voice and ready sparkle of wit seemed to fascinate him completely. Doubtless, the fact that she spoke the Spanish with a pretty French accent greatly enchanced the singular witchery of her conversation.

As was the custom then, especially in the Louisiana colony, wine flowed freely, adding its deceptive exhilaration to the occasion.

O'Reilly drank to the health of Mademoiselle Hortense more than once, and even insisted upon lifting glasses with Monsieur Faurie, her father.

There were those present who whispered furtively to one another that this marked attention to the Fauries must have some sinister under-meaning. They had learned to expect sudden and dreadfully tragic results when O'Reilly did something apparently based in kindness or even friendliness.

This surmise, however was without any foundation in fact. O'Reilly had no desire to visit further punishment on the French population; on the contrary, having shown them by one fell blow the extent of his power and the inexorable swiftness and certainty of his executive ability, he was anxious to exhibit, if permitted, the other side of his strong nature.

But beyond this the loveliness of Mademoiselle Faurie had softened his heart and called into new life the tender and long since almost smothered fires of his passionate soul. She affected him, as beauty will sometimes affect a powerful character, strangely and deeply.

Long before the evening's festivities had ended, and while yet the music and the dancing were at their height, a thing happened that caused O'Reilly to wonder.

A half-breed Indian boy stalked into the broad hall and went directly and silently, as if by instinct, to Mademoiselle Hortense Faurie and handed her a folded bit of paper, then turned about and was gone like a flitting shadow.

'With your generous permission I will read this,' he said.

He bowed assent with a word or two of soft politeness, at the same time noting the play of flush and pallor on her face and the trembling of her jeweled hands as she glanced with ill-controlled eagerness at the writing.

Opium Smuggling at Black Rock.

BUFFALO, Feb. 8.—Complaint has been made to the Deputy Collector of Customs at Black Rock that 200 pounds of opium were smuggled across the Niagara River from Canada last week, and on the strength of this a report is being circulated that systematic smuggling is going on across the border at this port.

A Universal Telescope Stand.

The construction of a good and simple universal mounting for small telescopes has been the aim of many instrument makers, and it is pleasing to note an advance in this direction made by a firm in Vienna. In their new so-called "universal station" they have overcome many of the main difficulties. The chief point about this special kind of mounting is that the observer can either use the telescope as a theodolite—that is, with circles reading altitude and azimuth—or by a slight adjustment he may have the equatorial mounting where the circles read right ascension and declination. This end is gained by hinging what would be the polar axis on to a pivot at the side of the stand, thus allowing the axis to be moved from the horizontal to the vertical or any intermediate position. A strong metallic arc fixed on the top of the stand supplies a means of clamping this axis and giving it a slight adjustment. With the axis vertical, we have then practically a theodolite mounting. With the axis out of the vertical, a parallactic mounting. It is needless to say that this mounting is only for small telescopes, and indeed its application to large ones is not needed.—Nature.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

SHARON POISONING CASE.

THE SERVANT GIRL GIVES SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE.

A Doctor Says Evans' Suffering May Have Been the Result of Poison, But May Have Been Caused by Half a Dozen Other Things.

TORONTO, Feb. 9.—Before an audience that filled every part of the county court room, Magistrate Wingfield yesterday commenced the preliminary examination into the charge of conspiracy to murder Walter Evans, hotelkeeper at Sharon, York County, made against Mrs. Lottie Evans, Charles Pegg and George Osman.

The first witness called was Miss Margaret Reid. She said:

"I was for three months general servant at Walter Evans' hotel at Sharon. Lottie Evans, the female prisoner, is the wife of Walter Evans. George Osman was hostler at the hotel. Walter Evans was taken sick the day after New Year's. Pegg was there more than once, generally calling on Saturday nights. Sometimes he called during the week. Walter was away often during the week and always managed to get home before daylight.

"Before Jan. 21 I heard a conversation between Mrs. Evans and Osman. They were talking about Walter Evans, and she called him a —— drunken fool. I heard her say she would rather draw a knife across his throat than see him draw a line over her horse. I have often heard her say she wished to God she could kill him or get rid of him some way or another.

"I was very friendly with Mrs. Evans. I called her 'Lot.' She said she hated the name of Evans worse than she hated poison.

"I saw Charlie Pegg upstairs in the parlor with a little bottle, and Mrs. Evans gave him her penknife. George Osman got some paper from me, saying he wanted to make a perfume bottle cork. Pegg made three powders. This was two or three weeks before Jan. 2.

"Mrs. Evans' father brought her a bottle of laudanum and oil of cedar. I saw those between Christmas and New Year's. They were labeled. They (Mrs. Evans and her father) tried to put the laudanum in Walter Evans' tea. I saw Mrs. Evans' father drop the laudanum into a spoon and put it in the tea. She left the tea on the sideboard. Walter tasted it and wanted to know what was the matter with it and his wife told him it was some of George Osman's medicine. I took some and Mrs. Evans said, 'My God, Maggie, you haven't drunk that?' She got me some liquor and milk and tried to make me vomit.

"Between Christmas and New Year's Lottie sent George Osman to Bradford to a drug store. I heard her telling him to go, and she told me that he went. This was five or six days before Jan. 2. He brought a bottle about 3 inches long. He gave it to Mrs. Evans. It contained white stuff and looked like salts. I do not know what was in the bottle. I heard Lottie asking George if he had got it. He said yes. She wanted to know how she would give it to him. George said, 'You will have to see Pegg first.' George put the bottle back in his pocket. I heard him say that he told the druggist he wanted it to poison foxes. After Walter Evans was taken sick Osman broke the bottle. Mrs. Evans called him a coward.

"Walter Evans was out hunting the day he was taken sick. He got back in good time for supper. He ate some oysters, which George had brought from Newmarket. When Mrs. Evans went downstairs to get the oysters she remained about five minutes. Mrs. Evans dished up the oysters for herself and her husband. I know Walter ate some of his. I don't think he had eaten anything else. He said he felt sick, and shortly afterward we put him to bed and sent for the doctor.

"I heard a talk between Pegg and Mrs. Evans. I heard Pegg say the only way now is to try it in oysters. This was before Walter took sick. Mrs. Evans corresponded with Pegg and showed me the letters. In one of the letters she asked Pegg to be sure and get the stuff that started with "s." The next letter Pegg said he could not get it in the city, but to send George to Bradford or Mount Albert. When Walter Evans ate the oysters he said they were bitter. Mrs. Evans told me to throw what oysters were left out and not to put them into the swill that was fed to the pigs. The oysters were pink before they were put on the table. George Osman remained until 1 Saturday, when Mrs. Evans said she sacked him. On Thursday I heard her sending George to Bradford again. Walter's sister came while George was out and asked me if George had got back from Mrs. Evans' father's. Lottie told me to say 'No,' and I did so. It was pretty near dark when George got back from Bradford. When he got back he and Lottie were whispering together as usual. I saw George with a bottle, smaller, but with the same colored stuff as was in the big one. I do not know what they did with the bottle. The next day Mrs. Margaret Evans went after Walter's mother. This was on Friday. While they were away Dr. Howe left some brown and white powders and Lottie told me to fetch her one of these powders. I brought her one and she sent me out of the room. She was in there four or five minutes and then called me in again. She gave me the powder and told me to lay it on the table in Walter's room. She told me that if anyone gave him a powder to be sure and tell them to give him that one. I did not open the powder and do not know what was in it. She cut a nick in the end of the powder so that she would know it. At this time Mrs. Margaret Evans was attending to Walter in the house."

"Was his wife looking after him?" asked Mr. Dewart.

"Not very much, I don't know she ever gave him medicine but once. At that time she went to pour it out in a glass. There was some white powder in the bottom of the glass, and the doctor drove into the shed. As soon as she knew it was him, she burned the medicine out of the glass and sent me downstairs to wash the glass out. She burned the medicine in the little box stove in the parlor."

"When did this occur?"

"Do you know whether this powder that Walter's wife had had was given to Walter?"

"Yes, Mrs. Margaret Evans gave him the powder after Mrs. Lottie Evans had shown her what one to give him. After he took the powder he got worse and his legs and arms grew stiff again, just as when he first got sick. They then sent for Mr. Evans' sister and for the doctor. Walter was in bed at this time. I think the doctor came the same night."

"Do you know what became of the contents of the second bottle?"

"Mrs. Lottie Evans had been carrying my purse for a couple of weeks. As soon as Walter took sick the second time she told me to take the purse downstairs and burn it. She told me not to open it and I did not do so. It sparkled somewhat like salt when burning.

"Did you have any conversation with Mrs. Evans about this time?"

"Yes. On Saturday Dr. Howe and John Cavanagh or Frank Evans were reading a book, and I heard one of them mention 'poison.' I told this to Lottie, and she said, 'My God, they're not mentioning poison, are they?' She turned as white as a sheet and trembled all over. She said afterwards that if he had died before Saturday they would not have known he was poisoned."

"When did you leave the hotel?"

"About two weeks ago. I left on Friday, went back on Saturday and left for good."

"Did you have any conversation with Mrs. Evans, the prisoner?"

"Yes. When I came back on Saturday Mrs. Evans called me upstairs and asked me if I had come back to stay. I finally told her no. She asked me how I came back and I told her Frank Evans had brought me. She wanted to know if he had come to tell Walter anything. I asked her what she meant and she said anything about Pegg and her or about this poisoning affair. I told her he had come to tell Walter all. She shook all over and asked me not to tell, and above all not to tell on Pegg and 'Cooney.' We used to call George Osman 'Cooney.' When I told her I had not come back to stay she called Mrs. Evans at the Royal Hotel a vile name. She said: 'It's them at the Royal that has coaxed you not to stay.' She offered me $20 if I would stay with her until Monday so she could get out of the house. She sent me to get her coat and hat so that if Frank told anything she could leave. She had sent her trunk away before that. All that day she coaxed me not to tell on her. I told her I would not tell unless it was necessary. She gave me a silver watch after Walter took sick the first time. She had promised me the watch for some time and she said she would give it to me if I would promise never to tell on her, and I promised not to tell on her unless I had to."

"Did she ever give you anything else?"

"Yes, a ring. One night they had a ball and she lent me the ring. That night she and Pegg were in the bedroom and parlor and all over the house and she gave me the ring, making me promise not to tell on her."

"Did you have any conversation with Mrs. Evans about the oysters before they were purchased?"

"Not that I can remember. I remember that Pegg said to Mrs. Evans that the only way to try it now was in the oysters."

Mr. Dewart then handed the witness to the tender mercies of Wallace Nesbitt, who commenced the cross-examination.

"When did you first see any poison?"

"When the laudanum was put in Walter Evans' tea. At that time Mrs. Evans said she would like to put him to sleep."

"Do you remember anything else of this matter?"

"Yes. One night Mrs. Lottie Evans got Walter some toast and black currants for his supper. He did not touch the black currants. When they were brought downstairs and left upon the sideboard and I tasted them, she said: 'You fool, do you want to croak, too?' Then she put them in the stove. Walter Wilson was sitting behind the door and when she saw him she said, 'The doctor spilled some powder in them.'"

Miss Reid then took a seat and listened to the other evidence with much interest.

Dr. Lewis H. Campbell keeps a drug store at Bradford. He knows the prisoner George Osman. He said:

"On Dec. 26, 1893, I sold him 30 grains of strychnine for foxes. On Jan. 4, 1894, he purchased 20 grains of strychnine for the same purpose.

Dr. Francis M. Howe of Newmarket was the next witness. He said: "On Jan. 2 I got a telegram to attend Walter Evans at Sharon. When I got there Mr. Evans was suffering from something that did not agree with him—something of a poisonous nature. He had spasmodic affections of the muscles, twitching of the muscles of the face and limbs. When the spasms came on he threw his head back and seemed nervous. He remained in this condition about an hour. During the time between the spasms he was quite sensible."

"Who was the first person you saw when you got there?"

"Mrs. Evans."

"What conversation did you have with her?"

"She said that he had been drinking heavily. She said he was in debt and thought he would not get out of it. She said he had been out hunting that day and had come home and eaten a supper of oysters. She said that after eating some of the oysters she had noticed they were pink and they made her sick. She started to take them from her husband and he said he would eat them if they killed him. She said that she then took them and threw them into the yard." Thursday I saw him and he said he was feeling well. On Friday afternoon I got another telegram and reached Evans' about 6 o'clock. When I got there his mother was there. I found him suffering from a similar attack to that of Tuesday. He was weaker and worse. No cause was given for his condition. I do not know whether he had taken any powders.

"Were the conditions that you found on Tuesday and Friday consistent with the use of strychnine?" asked the Crown Attorney.

"Well, yes, they were."

Wallace Nesbitt then asked Dr. Howe if the symptoms were not those of many other conditions and the witness said they were.

To Mr. Nesbitt the doctor said : "I left several powders, morphine, opium and nitrate of potash, with directions how to take. After Friday night he steadily improved. The state in which I found Mr. Evans might have been caused by a bad cold and exposure, and to this I attributed the spasms. I understood he had been away from home a good deal the week before. The second attack may have resulted from the same cause as the first."

After Dr. Howe had finished his testimony the hearing was adjourned until 10.30 this morning.

THE KEARSARGE WRECKED.

The Corvette Which Sunk the Alabama Founders Off Nicaragua.

The Kearsarge was ordered on Jan. 27 to proceed from San Domingo to Bluefields, Nicaragua, to protect American interests that were alleged to be endangered by the trouble between Honduras and Nicaragua. Roncador reef, on which the Kearsarge is supposed to have struck, is some 200 miles to the northeast of Bluefield. Everybody on board was saved.

The Kearsarge was one of the historical vessels of the American navy. She it was who on Sunday June 19, 1864, fought and sunk the rebel privateer Alabama off Cherbourg, France.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Secretary Herbert has received a cable from Lieut. Brainerd at Colon, who says that the mail steamer City of Para will proceed to the relief of the shipwrecked crew of the Kearsarge.

The Kearsarge was a third-class wooden cruiser of 1550 tons displacement. She was attached to the North Atlantic squadron.

ENGLAND'S NAVAL PROGRAM.

HER SUPERIORITY OVER OTHER NATIONS TO BE MAINTAINED.

Details of the Proposed Strengthening of the Fleet Will Not Be Published, As France and Russia Would Immediately Place New Vessels On the Stocks—England Can Outclass Them All.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Mr. Edmund Robertson, one of the Lords of the Admiralty, addressed a meeting at Dundee yesterday. He said that the naval program of the Government for 1894 and 1895 would show no intention to forfeit or even risk in the slightest degree Great Britain's position of superiority over other nations. The estimates that would soon be published would satisfy the rational advocates of a strong navy. These estimates would only be for a year, though part of the program for a period of years had been elaborated in all its details.

There was good reason, Mr. Robertson added, for the refusal of the Government to publish all the details of its program. When the last naval defence act was announced France and Russia immediately increased the expenditures to keep pace with Great Britain. The net result was that Great Britain had been left in a position relatively the same as she had before occupied. England, he declared, could always build quicker and keep the lead in completed ships, besides choosing types of vessels that would outclass those of other countries.

THE PARISH COUNCILS BILL

Passed Through the Committee Stage In the House of Lords.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The House of Lords this evening passed the Parish Councils bill through the committee stage. It is reported that Henry Fowler, President of the Local Government Board, immediately after the House of Commons assembles on Monday will move rejection of all the amendments made by the Upper House.

LIBERALS AND THE LORDS.

The National Federation to Discuss the Upper House.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Daily News says that the principal subject to be discussed at the meetings of the National Liberal Federation in Portsmouth next week is the House of Lords. The Federation is expected to express strong and advanced opinions on the prerogatives, usefulness and recent conduct of the Peers.

Unionists Ready for a General Election.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Speaking at a meeting of Liberal-Unionists held in Birmingham Joseph Chamberlain said he hoped to see the formation of a national party that would sink all minor differences for the common interest of the country. The Unionists, he declared, were better prepared now than ever for a general election.

Conservative Plans For Ireland.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Marquis of Londonderry, Conservative, in speaking in Greenwich last evening, said that the next Unionist Ministry ought to settle the Irish land question. Steps should be taken to facilitate purchase and to enable the tenant to become owner. The establishment of a Board of Agriculture and Instruction would help develop Ireland's resources. These and a few other steps along the same line would stop the source of trouble in Ireland.

MADDOCK SEEKING NOTORIETY.

He Reiterates His Charges Against the C.P.R.

LONDON, Feb. 9—[Telegram special.]—The last has not yet been heard of Mr. Maddock's lecture concerning Canada at the Colonial Institute on Monday evening. Mr. Maddock this morning publishes a letter in The Times in which he challenges Archer Baker and Sir Henry Tyler to prove that his statements regarding corruption in connection with the C.P.R. are unfounded.

Gladstone to Consult Dr. Granger Again.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Dr. Granger of Chester, a physician and oculist who has before attended Mr. Gladstone, has been summoned to meet the Premier at his Downing-street residence as soon as the latter returns from Biarritz. Dr. Granger will examine Mr. Gladstone's eyes, his sight being, it is understood, in a precarious condition.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Gen. Kitchener of the Egyptian War Department and Mr. Scott, Judicial Adviser to the Khedive, have each been made a K.C.M.G. Gen. Kitchener recently took exception to some criticisms made by the Khedive, and resigned his command. The Khedive apologized, and the general withdrew the resignation.

Milton Reformers' Candidate for the Local.

MILTON, Ont., Feb. 9.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Halton Reform Association was held here yesterday for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the county in the coming local election. Stafford D. Marlatt of Oakville was the unanimous choice of the convention.

Sharpe to Again Contest Parry Sound.

BURK'S FALLS, Ont., Feb. 9.—A meeting of the Reform Association of the Parry Sound district was held in the Court house yesterday, when James Sharpe, M.L.A., was re-nominated.

MAY WIPE OUT THE INCOME TAX.

The Senate Committee Will Seek Other Means of Raising the Revenue.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The cardinal principle of the sub-committee in charge of the tariff is a bill for revenue only, and one of the senators said this morning that when the bill was reported it would be found to be in accordance with the Chicago platform, and would yield sufficient revenue to meet the needs of the Government.

There is said to be some opposition in the sub-committee to the income tax, and enormous pressure is being brought to bear upon the sub-committee to provide for revenue in some other way.

Mr. Jones of Arkansas is an advocate of the income tax and is still firm in the belief that it is best. He will, it is understood, yield to the judgment of his colleagues if he is convinced the bill will be endangered by its retention. It is not unlikely then that when they present their draft of the bill to their Democratic colleagues, this section, which was the cause of much contention in the House, may be found missing.

The memorial of the National Wool Growers' Association presented to the Senate by Mr. Sherman to-day raises the objection that free wool will drain away our gold to the amount of $30,000,000 annually. It is also contended that the present duties are a revenue and not protective duty and that free wool will not give cheaper clothing.

The act repealing the Federal elections law was signed by the President shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon.

There will be no further attempt made by the Democrats who are opposed to the passage of the Bland Seigniorage bill to prevent its consideration in committee of the whole.

CHEAPER PASSENGER RATES.

The Central Farmers' Institute Unanimously Favor the Movement.

TORONTO, Feb. 9.—The third day's session of the Central Farmers' Institute opened at 10 a.m. yesterday. The business was rushed through, as the members were anxious to leave for home on the afternoon trains.

A motion condemning the system of superannuation of Government officials was carried.

A proposal to make the teaching of agriculture in the Public schools compulsory was lost, Hon. Mr. Drury saying that to make it compulsory would result in the subject being very badly taught.

The motion endorsing the action of the Dominion Government in deferring the ratification of the French treaty was carried. A rider was attached requesting the Government not to ratify the same.

Messrs. Currie and Island's motion re the limit of fees that may be charged, and having the same posted in a conspicuous place, which was referred to the Legislative Committee, reported that as municipalities regulate the tariff fees further legislation is unnecessary.

Messrs. Hawthorne and Garbutt's motion, that the delegates urge upon the Legislature the placing of colored engravings of the principal noxious weeds in each post-office throughout the province to assist those who are anxious to keep their farms clean and which was referred to the Committee on New Business, reported that the Executive Committee take the necessary steps to secure the carrying out of the suggestions contained in the resolution.

"The Improvement of Our Public Roads," by J. F. Beam, Black Creek, was a very interesting paper on this question. It was closely listened to throughout.

A motion by S. B. Goodwillie and A. P. McDougald, that the Legislature be memorialized that no rural municipality be required to make the traveled portion of any road more than 24 feet in width, was carried.

A motion by P. Stewart and A. P. McDougald, that settlers on timber lands be entitled to all timber on their lands after buying the same, was deferred till next meeting.

Mr. A. Pattullo of The Woodstock Sentinel-Review, who has taken a great deal of interest in the question of road reform, delivered a short address on this question.

Mr. James Cummings' motion to urge the Dominion Government to legislate for cheaper railway rates, both in fares and freight, was carried almost unanimously.

A motion was carried which was presented by Mr. John Hunter, favoring reciprocity with the United States.

A motion was introduced for the abolition of statute labor, which occasioned a long discussion, but as the matter is now in the hands of the municipalities no action was taken. This concluded the business of the meeting.

SIR OLIVER IN WHITBY.

WHITBY, Feb. 9.—Sir Oliver Mowat spoke for an hour and a half at the town hall crowded full of people from all over Ontario County and many from West Durham with not a few from East York. His speech was largely historical, recounting his early experiences when South Ontario sent him to Parliament for the first time in his long political life. He devoted most of his time to discussing Ontario's financial status, and claimed credit for economical management of Ontario's wealth of timber and also for the erection and maintenance of charitable institutions.

At the close of his address a resolution of confidence in himself and members of his ministry, especially Farmer-General Dryden, who represents this constituency, was carried by nearly everybody standing at the request of Chairman Reeve Mowbray of East Whitby, who is president of the Reform Association for the riding.

Mr. Dryden addressed his constituents at considerable length.

GENTLEMEN.—About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking B. B. B., took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine.
EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

A panic is a sudden desertion of us, and a going over to the enemy of our imagination.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Ill-deeds are doubled with an evil word ; the sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Beware of desperate steps ; the darkest day, live till to-morrow, will be passed away.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY FEB. 9

TURN ABOUT.

Referring to the action of the Dominion Government in not disallowing the Northwest ordinance, the Patrie, of Montreal, a French Rouge journal, makes a bitter attack upon the Cabinet, saying that they are dominated by the Protestant Protective Association, and that the French Ministers have betrayed their trust by acquiescing in the decision of the English members of the Cabinet.

Next week it will be the turn of the ultra-Protestant opponents of the Government to denounce our Premier on the ground that because he is a Roman Catholic, the poor weak-kneed Protestant members of the Cabinet are assenting to a "Popish ascendancy."

Such are the tactics of the Grits, which form the best evidence of the fact that Sir John Thompson and his colleagues are not influenced by sectarian considerations in governing the country.

SONS OF SCOTLAND.

Installing the Officers of Camp Rob Roy.

"Lealty, loyalty, liberality," is the motto of the Sons of Scotland Benevolent Society, a subordinate camp of which, under the cognomen of "Rob Roy," was instituted in this city about three years ago, mainly through the efforts of Dr. Wright, Mr. W. Smeaton, and a few other enthusiastic Scots. Last evening, in their room, in the Robertson Block, the officers elect for the ensuing term were finally installed by Bro. Smeaton, who has lately been deservedly elevated to the position of District Deputy Grand Chief, having several counties in his jurisdiction: A. Mathison, Chief; Dr. McColl, Past Chief; W. B Walker, Chieftain; John McLay, Chieftain; J. A. Chisholm, Rec.-Sec.; Arthur McGie, Fin.-Sec.; John McIntosh, Treas.; John McKenna, Marshal; W. Mallock, Standard-bearer; James Falconer, Senior Guide; W. C. Robertson, Junior Guide. The D.D.G.C. followed up the installation ceremonies with some valuable advice to the camp, which the members will doubtless find profitable and useful. The camp is making gratifying progress in membership, but although of comparatively recent origin, it laments the loss of a few highly valuable and promising members, three of them by death.

The Game Laws.

As it is probable that some changes will be made in the game laws at the approaching session of the Legislature, and as Mr. Biggar, M.P.P., has invited suggestions from or through the Forest and Stream Club, a meeting of the Club will be held at their club rooms on Tuesday evening next to discuss the subject. All sportsmen, whether members of the Club or not, are invited to attend and state their ideas, which will be candidly considered.

Division Court Clerkship.

The First Division Court clerkship is again vacant and once more an unseemly conflict is being waged by some forty or fifty eager applicants. The office is a pretty fat one and is in the gift of the Mowat Government. It is claimed, on one side, that inasmuch as the late clerk was a Roman Catholic, the plum should in all fairness fall to one professing the same religious belief; while, on the other hand, it is as stoutly contended, that since the office before Mr. McManus' time was occupied by a Protestant, it is only justice that it should be handed over to its rightful representative—a Protestant. Of course, the Conservatives have no voice in the matter, although they are interested in seeing a competent man appointed to the office. Mr. George C. Curry, in the meantime, is filling the office in a satisfactory manner. Possibly the prize will be dangled before the electors until after the local election. Such things have been done before and we do not know that the wicked partners have grown tired of "ways that are dark."—Picton Gazette.

Married at Cataraqui.

A very pleasant event occurred at the residence of William Richardson, Cataraqui, when Miss Eliza Richardson was united to J. C. Bell, of Belleville. The Rev. F. Chisholm, of Cataraqui, performed the marriage ceremony. The bride was tastefully attired in [illegible] travelling dress and was given away by her brother, Edward Richardson. Miss Ella Johnson acted as bridesmaid and Charles Purdy did the honors as best man. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents. After the bridal repast the happy couple took their departure amid a shower of rice and good wishes, for Belleville, Toronto and Niagara Falls.—Whig.

A Home for the Poor.

SIR,—I have for some years in my humble manner, both through the press and in private, tried to agitate for a home for the poor of our County. Could some of our County Councillors but see the destitution and state of the poor unfortunates dumped in the County Gaol with criminals of all classes, where, as Dr. Dorland is now, a poor helpless imbecile, they would wonder. He is constantly attended by gaol inmates, who have ever, to their lasting praise, been kind to the poor unfortunates committed to their charge, watching over them day and night, cleaning them, often 3 or 4 times a day, and that, too, without murmuring. They perform services I could not for the City of Belleville. The officers of the gaol have their share in oft repeated cleaning and drenching in the bath tub. Well, you will say, they are paid to do so, not to look after lunatics, paupers and unfortunates, but even if they were let us give you a sample of one of these unfortunates, Thomas Wyndon. First his cattle were starving, then his wife complained she could not keep him any longer. I went out for him, found him in bed filthy, no fire in the house and not much to eat. I got him out and told him he would have to go to gaol. Why, he said no key was ever turned on me, must I go to gaol sir, no help for it, what a land to live in, said he, I once had a home and farm in Thurlow; I have never committed a crime; now to be shut up as a criminal because you're poor and can no longer work. I said, how old are you? Eighty-seven years. What church do you hold to? For many years a Wesleyan Methodist, but since I have lost my property I could not get good clothes, and no man cares for my soul. I took him to the police office. Mr. Flint, who has a heart of sympathy for any man, with much misgiving consented to my request and committed the struggling old man to the County Gaol for six months for vagrancy. I asked for six because I do not think he will live half the time, now that he can no longer see the world he has looked on so long. A young girl is now confined in gaol; she is physically and mentally deficient, and her friends will no longer care for her; she is the associate of any outcast or criminal sent to gaol; all this not in Africa or India, but in one of the most prosperous sections of Ontario—and the Government offering to contribute 25 p. c. up to $4,000 towards a home for these very cases. Truly,

"Man's inhumanity to man
Makes countless millions mourn"

In my next I will try (as I did in your contemporary a couple of weeks since,) to show that I believe a Home would be self-sustaining.

G. S. JOHNSON.

A PLEASANT EVENING.

The Young Ladies' Bible Class of Bridge Street Church Entertain a Large Gathering.

It has often been said, and truly, that the Young Ladies' Bible Class of Bridge Street Church never do anything by halves and their entertainment last evening is only another proof of this statement. The commodious rooms in the basement of the church were crowded and everyone was made to feel perfectly at home. Oysters were served from seven to eight o'clock, after which the programme was successfully carried out. The first number was an overture by the I. O. O. F. orchestra, "Home Circle," which was well received. The star of the entertainment was Miss Edna Wilson, B. E. Elocutionist, graduate of the Philadelphia College of Elocution, and her appearance was greeted with loud applause. Miss Wilson had a difficult task to perform, coming as she did so soon after Miss Jackson, a talented elocutionist, who recited recently before nearly the same audience as that of last evening, and the manner in which she acquitted herself in her first selection showed plainly that she will compare favorably with the leading elocutionists of Ontario. Miss Wilson in her selections showed careful, studious training and we predict for her a brilliant future. Owing to the illness of Mr. Young, the Excelsior Quartette were unable to appear, but the number was well filled by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell and Mr. Fax in a trio. The piano duet of Mrs. Col. Campbell and Mr. Dingle was exceptionally well executed. Although it had been announced that no encore would be responded to, Mrs. Campbell was called back after her vocal solo "Maying." The I. O. O. F. orchestra rendered "To-night we say Farewell." In part II Mr. Riggs gave a cornet solo with orchestral accompaniment. Miss Wilson gave another recitation, which was loudly applauded. Mrs. Col. Campbell, Miss Mabel Wilson and Messrs. Dingle and E. Bogart played a piano quartette. Miss Mabel Wilson again appeared in the number set down for the Excelsior Quartette. The next number was a piano duet by Mrs. Col. Campbell and Mr. Dingle. Mrs. W. H. Campbell, sang in exquisite voice "Happy Days." The orchestra concluded the programme with a medley and one of the most enjoyable entertainments of the season was brought to a close by singing the national anthem.

WILL BE NO TARIFF REVISION

SO SAID D'ALTON McCARTHY AT MILTON LAST NIGHT.

McCarthy, O'Brien and Godfrey Address a Halton Audience, But Advance No New Arguments—Not a Word on Separate Schools—McCarthy Predicts No Changes in the Tariff.

MILTON, Ont., Feb. 9.—The arguments of the strife-workers change but little, the personnel of their party changes even less. It was D'Alton McCarthy and Colonel O'Brien when the Third Party was brought into existence in Ottawa two years ago, it was the same D'Alton McCarthy and the same Colonel O'Brien that formed the head and tail of the party at Milton yesterday. A young man, J. M. Godfrey, accompanied the two strife-workers, making a trio of what would otherwise have been a duet.

The proceedings opened with the presentation of a bouquet to the guest of the evening.

After Mr. McCarthy had accepted the bouquet, Rev. P. T. Mignot, rector of Milton, came forward and read an address of welcome in honor of Mr. McCarthy. address wished him godspeed in whatever effort he might make for the advancement of the country and trusted he would do what he could to make Canada one of the most brilliant gems of the British Empire. Mr. McCarthy acknowledged the compliment and then the serious business of the evening began.

Young Mr. Godfrey opened the ball and unloaded a few political generalities on the audience. He stated during his remarks that war was a thing that no nation, Canada at all events, should bother its head about in the least. To give any heed to the possibility of war was superfluous on the part of statesmen. This he said in answer to the argument that a country should become as self-contained as possible so as to rely on its own resources in case of war. Mr. Godfrey ended up with a poetical effusion on the ballot box.

Col. O'Brien followed in a half hour address.

He went over the old ground almost verbatim. He stated that they were not only disturbers of the peace, but they intended remaining so. He went for the French, said we must have tariff reform and introduced his joke about Sir John Thompson being the head and Clarke Wallace the tail of the Government.

The band, which had ascended by step ladder to an elevated platform in one corner of the hall, struck up a brassy air, at the conclusion of which the speaker of the evening rose up and faced the audience. He was liberally applauded. Mr. McCarthy early in his remarks took occasion to emphasize the fact that both The Empire and Sir John Thompson had ruled him out of the Conservative party. He went over the oft-told and well-known story of his gradual severance from the party. He seems to take special delight in referring to Sir John Thompson's post-prandial remark at Belleville, when he said he was glad that the Conservative party was well rid of him (McCarthy). This remark seems to be nuts to D'Alton, as he never fails to bring it up. Mr. McCarthy took credit for having instituted the demand for tariff reform. He didn't believe the Government was going to reform the tariff, and the people would see in the course of a few weeks that he was correct.

He ridiculed the Government for delaying calling Parliament together, and attributed the delay to their being unable to decide in what way the tariff should be reformed or because they were waiting to learn the fate of the Wilson bill at Washington.

Mr. McCarthy produced and read a copy of the report of the Winnipeg Board of Trade about the tariff. He dwelt on the reference in the report to combines and agreed with the suggestion therein contained for preventing such combines. He made the sweeping statement that combines were in all departments of manufacture in force to keep up the price of articles to the highest notch that the tariff permitted. He instanced the case of cotton, stating that cotton goods which could be got for $10 in England cost about $13.75 in Canada, which is just about 25 cents less than the $10 with the duty and freight added. He maintained that combines operated in the same way in regard to all other articles.

The speaker referred to the tariff on blankets. The duty on these articles is both ad valorem and specific and operates in such a way that the duty on blankets worth 40 cents a pound is just 40 per cent., while the duty on blankets worth 16 cents in England was 82 per cent. This same blanket, which sold for 16 cents in England, cost 25 cents in Canada, or a difference of 65 per cent.

Mr. McCarthy quoted statistics to show that 20 per cent. of the population were engaged in manufacturing pursuits and 50 per cent. in farming. He stated as strongly as he could that the policy of the Government was a policy that supported the 20 per cent. at the expense and out of the pockets of the remaining 80 per cent. Every 90 persons in this country, said he, have to suffer that the remaining 10 may live. He stated that Canada was pre-eminently an agricultural country, and it must look to agriculture and not to manufactures for its future development.

What is the destiny of Canada? said Mr. McCarthy. What is the destiny of the great Northwest with its fertile soil? For what purpose have we spent seventy million dollars on the building of the C.P.R. if we impose such taxes on the people as prevent them from going there to live? What statesmanship is there in a policy of that kind?

The true policy of Canada will encourage agriculture. You farmers have created a great cheese industry, and in the cattle trade you have been gaining ground in foreign markets. With these and other agricultural industries awaiting development, are you farmers going to allow yourselves to be hampered and bled in order that a few manufacturing industries may flourish in a few cities here and there? The manufacturers of this country must live consistently with the rights and privileges of all the rest of the community. It Canada is to become a great country it will be by adding to the population of the Northwest and not by raising up at an expense that is killing, at an expense that is destructive, a few manufacturing industries which after all can never amount to much. Your towns will grow when the country back of them is settled, your towns will be commensurate with the wants of the farming country adjoining them. What must be secured to the farmers of the country is freedom from taxes, so far as it can be done, and the cheapening of transportation. These are the great policies that are worthy of true statesmen. [Applause.] Mr. McCarthy wound up with a few highly seasoned remarks about his French fellow-countrymen.

Dr. Freeman proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. McCarthy and Mr. P. D. Scott seconded the motion. It was carried.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Feb. 9.—A trolley car on the Niagara Falls Park and River Railway became unmanageable on a steep grade near Queenston Heights yesterday and flew down the hill at frightful speed until it reached a curve near an old deserted church of historic fame. Here it jumped the track and crashed into the church building, demolishing a considerable portion of the walls. Fortunately there were no passengers in the car and the motorman jumped before the car got well started.

BARRIE, Ont., Feb. 9.—The Simcoe Hotel here was badly damaged by fire yesterday morning. The fire started in the cellar and soon spread to the ground floor. Some of the guests were unable to find their way out owing to the dense smoke, and had to be taken through the windows. Loss about $1500; insured.

RELEASE OF THE PARIS FUND

No Grounds Now For Quarrelling Over the Money.

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—United Ireland says yesterday that the Paris Fund of the Irish Parliamentary party is about to be released. Munroe & Co., the Paris bankers, who are the custodians of the fund, have agreed to the conditions for the release of the money that will leave no ground for controversy between them and Justin McCarthy, the leader of the anti-Parnellite section of the party.

Friction Between Italy and Switzerland.

LONDON, Feb 9.—The Berne correspondent of The Central News says: "The present friction between Switzerland and Italy arose from the latter's decree as to the payment of customs duties in gold. This decree almost paralyzed Swiss exports. The Federal Council protested and eventually demanded the withdrawal of the decree as contrary to the existing commercial treaty between the countries, otherwise the council advocated arbitration. Italy declined. The council is now discussing what course it shall pursue. The newspapers and the public show much excitement."

WE ARE A SOCIAL PEOPLE.

BELLEVILLE ASSOCIATIONS AND THEIR PRESIDING OFFICERS.

The Church Organizations Lead the List—Secret and Beneficiary a Good Second—Sporting and Athletic and Minor Societies.

We publish below a list of the societies and associations of the city, with the presiding officer of each. The list has been compiled with no little effort and will no doubt prove interesting to our readers. As will be seen, the religious organizations compose about half of the whole number, while the secret and beneficiary societies rank next in point of number. Belleville has also a large number of sporting and athletic clubs, but there is ample room for more. The list aggregates a large number and speaks well for the thrift and sociability of the citizens of Belleville.

Campbellford To-Night.

The Campbellford "colts" are expected to arrive this afternoon, to play the return game with two rinks of "youngsters" of the local club. The game promises to be exciting, as Belleville duly defeated their opponents of to-night last week by three shots. The game is called for 7:30. and as no admission will be charged, there should be a large attendance. The ice at the curling rink is in capital shape, and our curlers promise to put up a good game.

We Mean Cost.

When the Oak Hall advertise anything you can depend we will do just exactly what we say. Overcoats, ulsters and all winter goods at exactly cost. Who would ask for anything better than this? If you want heavy clothing, buy now. You will appreciate our low prices.

Civic Committees.

The Public Works Committee met last evening and passed the pay sheet and ordered that advertisements be inserted in the city and Peterborough papers asking for tenders for 100,000 feet of hemlock plank, 100,000 feet or more of pine plank, and 60,000 feet of cedar scantling.

The Market and City Property Committee recommended the payment of the account of Thos. Stewart for coal. They also recommended that a register be placed in the Police Magistrate's office and that a slide be constructed to carry papers to the office of the Chief of Police, the whole to cost about $12.

The Water and Gas Committee recommended the payment of the accounts of Robt. McCoy and W. H. Pearson, jr., and also that the pump in the well near the Merchants Bank be removed and the well filled up.

The special committee on the reduction of Wards recommended the former report, which was as follows: That the number of wards be reduced to four; No. 1 ward to consist of Foster, Samson, and that part of Ketcheson lying south of Campbell Street and west of Church St.; ward No. 2 to consist of the balance of Ketcheson ward and Baldwin ward; ward No. 3 to be composed of Bleecker ward and that part of Coleman ward lying east of Coleman Street; ward No. 4, the balance of Coleman ward and Murney ward.

The total assessment of ward No. 1 would be $1,254,697; ward No. 2, $1,410,043; ward No. 3, $622,705; ward No. 4, $698,891. The population of ward No. 1 would be 2,251; ward No. 2, 2,511; ward No. 3, 2,626; and ward No. 4, 2,798; being a total population of 10,181.

More Cheap Shoes.

Special one day sale of boots and shoes at Haines & Lockett's to-morrow. On any ladies' or gentlemen's fine boot or shoe—regular price three dollars and upwards—one-fifth will be taken off, and on any other boot or shoe in the store, one-tenth will be deducted. This sale for next Saturday only.

False Balance.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, Inspector of Weights and measures, has laid a charge against Michael Kerby, public weigher of Stirling, for having in his possession a weighing machine that is false and unjust. The complaint was laid by a number of farmers who weighed hogs on the scales in question on Jan. 12th. The Magistrate has decided for the convenience of most of the parties to hear the case at Stirling on Monday, Feb. 12th.

—The act repealing the Federal elections law was signed by President Cleveland yesterday afternoon.

follow good health while low spirits, melancholia, impaired memory, morose, or irritable temper, fear of impending calamity and a thousand and one derangements of body and mind, result from pernicious, solitary practices, often indulged in by the young, through ignorance of their ruinous consequences. Nervous debility, and loss of manly power, not infrequently result from such unnatural habits.

To reach, reclaim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness, is the aim of an association of medical gentlemen, who have prepared a treatise, written in plain but chaste language and treating of the nature, symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases.

A copy of this useful book will, on receipt of this notice, with 10 cents in stamps, for postage, be mailed securely sealed in a plain envelope. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst, over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

MADEMOISELLE FAURIE'S CHOICE,

MAURICE THOMPSON.

He was a deep and shrewd man, with a memory that never lost anything. Instantly he recalled that he had been told a few days agone the story of a romantic love existing between Mademoiselle Faurie and the one fugitive from his vengeance Emile Delpit. A grim half-smile passed over his face, and he touched his smooth, firm chin with his forefinger, a gesture characteristic of him when some new thought arose suddenly in his mind.

Mademoiselle Hortense read and re read the short missive with nervous rapidity and thrust it into the folds of her dress. When she looked up into the commandant's face, there was a strange brilliance in her eyes, and on either cheek burned a bright red spot, that made the rest of her face look pale as marble; but she spoke lightly:

'A small thing to interrupt our pleasure,' she said, touching his arm. 'Are we too late for the dance?'

'It is never late when beauty calls,' he responded, in the mode of flattery prevalent at the time. 'I hope there was no bad news in your note?'

'Nothing of the kind, I assure you,' she replied, with a return of a certain archness very becoming to her; 'it would make you smile to read it.'

'But not for the world would you let me see one word of it.'

'But commandants sometimes have a way of demanding mysterious papers, even from beautiful young ladies.'

There was a tremendous meaning in his soft, firm voice, it seemed to her, and she felt a thrill of something like terror fly throughout her frame, and her limbs became suddenly weak; but she controlled herself by calling up all the forces of her will.

She took his offered arm, and as they went to join the dance, she looked up into his eyes. He probably never forgot that glance. A man of his years, a soldier accustomed to all the hardships and hardening circumstances of military experience in a time when war meant rapine, plunder and, indeed, acquisition by any means fair or foul, could not be expected to have very tender feelings, and, certainly, he was not in the least a sentimentalist; but, as the diary continues: 'A flush was soon to suffuse his strongly furrowed cheeks, as he bent low and said something to her.'

What Dom Alexander O'Reilly said was meant to reassure her, but it failed to have that effect. It was:

'Never mind, Mademoiselle Faurie; even a rough old soldier may speak lightly.'

'Do not try to deceive me,' he gravely responded. 'I know who wrote your letter. A lover is a lover, no matter if a price is on his head.'

She tried to nerve herself, tried to be brave and show no distress; but her strength failed her; she could not dance, and the commandant led her to a seat.

He bent over her again, and speaking in a measured tone, said:

'Control yourself. I do not wish a scene; and, moreover, I assure you that I have not meant to cause you pain.'

He turned and walked away, leaving her sitting somewhat concealed from the rest of the company by a tall tuft of palmetto leaves. Doubtless, he felt that she would recover her self-possession more readily in his absence.

No sooner was he gone, than she drew forth the crumpled note, and read it again and again.

No young lady, perhaps, ever received a more surprising missive under more exciting circumstances. She had not seen Emile Delpit since just before that dreadful day when O'Reilly had summoned the ill fated French conspirators to his headquarters.

This note, which was not only in his well known handwriting, but bore his picturesque signature in full, she read as follows:

'Be prepared to dance with me at precisely twelve o'clock. I shall walk right in and claim your hand; we will dance, and then I shall bid the company and the distinguished host au revoir, and depart. Bear yourself bravely.

'Always and always yours,
'EMILE DELPIT.'

The spirit of this writing was entirely in accord with the young man's character, and it suggested but another exhibition of his audacious courage and self-reliance.

Mademoiselle Faurie knew well that promptly at the hour designated her lover would stalk into the midst of that company with as little hesitancy as would trouble the breast of an actor of melodrama on the stage of a theatre.

What was she to do? It was already half-past eleven.

It appeared absolutely impossible that an act so desperate could end in anything but disaster, and to her suddenly heated imagination the whole terrible scene arose like a reality—the capture, the hasty trial, the swift execution, the coffin of her lover borne to the grave, the desolation of heart, the end of hope in this life.

What could she do?

She must do something, and that, quickly; but what?

If she had known where to find Delpit she would have fled to him at once with the hope of preventing this rash adventure; but she could have no hint to his whereabouts, or from what direction he would come. She thought of going out to watch for his approach, but a moment's consideration disclosed how foolish this would be; for it was impossible that she could leave the house unobserved.

It was while she was resolving a thousand conflicting and refractory suggestions in her strained and throbbing brain that Don Alexander O'Reilly returned to her side and said:

'I hope you feel better Mademoiselle Hortense.'

The tone of his voice struck her as almost parental; there certainly was a strange gentleness in it; or was it the condition of her own feelings that lent the sympathetic ring to his words?

She looked up with eyes that appeared to light the whole face with a flame of appeal, and without speaking handed him the letter.

He read it quickly, showing no change in any line of his calm countenance, then turned on his heel and left her as abruptly as he had come, taking the letter with him.

Suddenly it flashed into the girl's heart that she had betrayed her lover, and the terrible self-rebuke gave her strength to rise and follow the commandant, whom she now saw passing among his officers, a number of them happening to be grouped near the farther end of the hall. The bland smile on his face had given place to a look which to the girl's eyes was sinister beyond anything she had ever seen. It was an expression of the most resolute and unalterable determination combined with an indescribably brutal cunning. Under different conditions, perhaps, she might not have noted this change; for it seemed that the rest of the company, even the officers, were unaware of it, although the latter appeared to be giving earnest attention to some communication he was making to them.

To Mademoiselle Faurie every moment was like an age, and yet, so paradoxical are the moods of misery, time seemed to be flying all too fast. Ten minutes more and her lover would appear; for it never entered her mind to doubt that he would come.

Remembering but too vividly the fate of the other plotter against Ulloa, she realized perfectly the certain doom that awaited Delpit the moment he should put his reckless plan into execution, and wildly, almost madly she strained her imagination to conceive some means of rescue or precaution.

Scarcely knowing what she meant to say or do, she hastened toward O'Reilly; but he appeared not to notice her and walked away, his countenance masked with an expression that baffled and terrified her and yet drew her on.

As she passed the officers, they looked curiously at her, as if some sudden interest had attached itself to her; but they, too, avoided her.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam,

HAGYARD'S Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, and all bronchial and lung troubles. Price 25c per bottle, or five for $1.00.

The carat, the measure of weight used by jewellers, was originally a grain of India wheat.

Gored by a Cow.

A fine colt belonging to Mr. Peter Lindsay, of Nixon, Ont., was badly hooked by a cow. Two bottles of Hagyard's Yellow Oil cured it. This invaluable remedy should be in every house. It cures cuts, sprains, bruises, burns, and all pains and aches in man or beast.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Pictures.

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

Asthma Sufferers.

Who have in vain tried every other means of relief, should try "Schiffman's Asthma Cure." No waiting for results. Its action is immediate, direct and certain, as a single trial proves. Send to Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., for a free trial package, but ask your druggist first.

The Modern Invalid

He tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician; if constipated he uses the gentle family laxative, Syrup of Figs.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

—BY—

Templeton's Pink Powder.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

Altogether Disappeared.

GENTLEMEN,—About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking B. B. B., took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine.

EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

A panic is a sudden desertion of us, and a going over to the enemy of our imagination.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold, Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc, if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course, generally prove the forerunner of more dangerous diseases. Nine tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Ill-deeds are doubled with an evil word; the sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

A Wonderful Cure.

Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a severe cough and had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore, but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness was entirely gone and my general health is excellent I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Beware of desperate steps; the darkest day, live till to morrow, will be passed away.

"When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought that even if I did not die, I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arm. I hurt my finger and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. If I hurt myself so as to break the skin, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong."—T. D. M., Norcatur, Kans.

A VISION OF HEAVEN.

DR. TALMAGE SPEAKS ABOUT THE FUTURE WORLD

The Speaker Has a Dream, a Dream of God, a Dream of Heaven—Talmage Takes an Eternal Trip to Heaven and Tells All About It.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Feb. 4.—In the Brooklyn Tabernacle this forenoon the hymns, the Scripture lessons and the prayers, as well as the sermon, were about the future world more than about this world. Rev. Dr. Talmage took for his subject: "A vision of Heaven," the text being: Ezekiel 1, 1:—"Now it came to pass as I was among the captives by the River of Chebar that the Heavens were open and I saw visions of God."

Expatriated and in far exile on the banks of the River of Chebar, an affluent of the Euphrates, sat Ezekiel. It was there he had an immortal dream, and it is given to us in the Holy Scriptures. He dreamed of Tyre and Egypt. He dreamed of Christ and the coming Heaven. This exile, seated by that river Chebar, had a more wonderful dream than you or I ever have had, or ever will have, seated on the banks of the Hudson, or Alabama, or Oregon, or Thames, or Tiber, or Danube.

But we all have had memorable dreams, some of them when we are half asleep and half awake, so that we did not know whether they were born of shadow or sunlight; whether they were thoughts let loose and disarranged as in slumber, or the imagination of faculties awake.

Such a dream I had this morning. It was about half-past five, and the day was breaking. It was a dream of God; a dream of heaven. Ezekiel had his dream on the banks of the Chebar; I had my dream on the banks of the Hudson. The most of the stories of heaven were written many centuries ago, and they tell us how the place looked then, or how it will look centuries ahead. Would you not like to know how it looks now? That is what I am going to tell you. I was there this morning. I have just got back. How I got into that city of the sun I know not. Which of the twelve gates I entered is to me uncertain. But my first remembrance of the scene is that I stood on one of the main avenues, looking this way and that, lost in raptures, and the air so full of music, and redolence, and laughter and light, that I knew not which street to take, when an angel of God accosted me and offered to show me the objects of greatest interest, and to conduct me from street to street, and from mansion to mansion, and from temple to temple, and from wall to wall. I said to the angel, "How long hast thou been in heaven?" and the answer came, "Thirty-two years according to the early calender." There was a secret about this angel's name that was not given to me, but from the tenderness, and sweetness, and affection, and interest taken in my walk through Heaven, and more than all in the fact of thirty-two year's residence, the number of years since she ascended, I think it was my mother. Old age, and decrepitude, and the tired look were all gone, but I think it was she. You see, I was only on a visit to the city, and had not yet taken up residence, and I could know only in part.

I looked in for a few moments at the great Temple. Our brilliant and lovely Scotch essayist, Mr. Drummond, says there is no church in Heaven, but he did not look for it on the right street. Saint John was right when in his Patmosic vision, recorded in third chapter of Revelation, he speaks of "The Temple of my God." I saw it this morning; the largest church I ever saw; as big as all the churches of the earth put together, and it was thronged. Oh, what a multitude! I had never seen so many people together. All the audiences of all the churches of all the earth put together would make a poor attendance compared with that assemblage. There was a fashion in attire and headdress that immediately took my attention. The fashion was white. All in white, save One. And the headdress was a garland of rose, and lily, and mignonette, mingled with green leaves culled from the Royal Gardens, and bound together with bands of gold.

And I saw some young men with a ring on the finger of the right hand, and said to my accompanying angel, "Why those rings on the fingers of the right hands?" and I was told that those who wore them were prodigal sons, and once fed swine in the wilderness, and lived on husks, but they came home, and the rejoicing Father said, "Put a ring on his hand."

But I said there was one exception to this fashion of white pervading all the auditorium and clear up through all the galleries. It was the attire of the One who presided in that immense Temple. The chiefest, the mightiest, the loveliest person in all the place. His cheeks seemed to be flushed with infinite beauty, and His forehead was a morning sky, and His lips were eloquence omnipotent. But His attire was of deep colors. They suggested the carnage through which He had passed, and I said to my attending angel, "What is that crimson robe that He wears?" and I was told, "They are dyed garments from Bozrah," and "He trod the wine-press alone."

Soon after I entered this temple they began to chant the celestial litany. It was unlike anything I had ever heard for sweetness or power, and I have heard the most of the great organs, and the most of the great oratorios. I said to my accompanying angel, "Who is that standing yonder with the harp?" and the answer was, "David!" And I said, "Who is that sounding that trumpet?" and the answer was "Gabriel!" And I said, "Who is that at the organ?" and the answer was "Handel!" And the music rolled on till it came to a doxology extolling Christ himself, when all the worshippers, lower down and higher up, a thousand galleries of them, suddenly dropped on their knees and chanted, "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain." Under the overpowering harmony I fell back. I said, "Let us go. This is too much for mortal ears. I cannot bear the overwhelming symphony.

But I noticed as I was about to turn away that on the steps of the altar was something like the lachrymal, or tear-bottle, as I had seen it in the earthly museums, the lachrymals, or tear-bottles, into which the Orientals used to weep their griefs and set them away as sacred. But this lachrymal, or tear-bottle, instead of earthenware as those the Orientals used, was lustrous and fiery with many splendors, and it was towering and of great capacity. And I said to my attending angel, "What is that great lachrymal, or tear-bottle, standing on the step of the altar?" and the angel said, "Why, do you not know? That is the bottle to which David, the Psalmist, referred in his fifty-sixth Psalm, when he said, 'Put Thou my tears into Thy bottle.' It is full of tears from earth; tears of repentance; tears of bereavement; tears of joy; tears of many centuries." And then I saw how sacred to the sympathetic God are earthly sorrows.

As I was coming out of the Temple I saw all along the pictured walls there were shelves, and golden vials were being set upon those shelves. And I said, "Why the setting up of those vials at this time? They seem just now to have been filled," and the attending angel said, "The Week of Prayer all around the earth has just closed, and more supplications have been made than have been made for a long while, and these new vials, newly set up, are what the Bible speaks of as "golden vials full of odors, which are the prayers of saints. And I said to the accompanying angel, "Can it be possible that the prayers of earth are worthy of being kept in such heavenly shape?" "Why," said the angel, "there is nothing that so moves heaven as the prayers of earth, and they are set up in sight of these infinite multitudes, and more than all, in the sight of Christ, and He cannot forget them, and they are before Him world without end."

Then we came out, and as the Temple is always open, and some worship at one hour and others at other hours, we passed down the street amid the throngs coming to and going from the Great Temple. And we passed along through a street called Martyr Place, and we met there, or saw sitting at the windows, the souls of those who on earth went through fire and flood, and under sword and rack. We saw John Wickliffe, whose ashes were by decree of the Council of Constance thrown into the river; and Rogers who bathed his hands in the fire as though it had been water; and Bishop Hooper, and McKail, and Latimer and Ridley, and Polycarp, who the flames refused to destroy as they bent outward till a spear did the work, and some of the Albigenses, and Huguenots, and consecrated Quakers who were slain for their religion. They had on them many scars, but their scars were illumined, and they had on their faces a look of especial triumph.

Then we passed along Song Row, and we met some of the old Gospel singers. "That is Isaac Watts," said my attendant. As we came up to him he asked me if the churches on earth were still singing the hymns he composed at the house of Lord and Lady Abney, to whom he paid a visit of thirty-six years, and I told him that many of the churches opened their Sabbath morning services with his old hymn, "Welcome, Sweet Day of Rest," and celebrated their Gospel triumphs with this hymn, "Salvation, O the Joyful Song," and often roused their devotions by his hymn, "Come we that Love the Lord."

While we were talking he introduced me to another of the song writers, and said, "This is Charles Wesley, who belonged on earth to a different church from mine, but we were all now members of the same Church, the Temple of God and the Lamb." And I told Charles Wesley that almost every Sabbath we sang one of his old hymns, "Arm of the Lord, Awake!" or "Come, let us join our friends Above;" or "Love Divine, all Love Excelling." And while we were talking on that street called Song Row, Kirk White, the consumptive college student, now everlastingly well, came up, and we talked over his old Christmas hymn, "When Marshalled on the Nightly Plain." And William Cowper came up, now entirely recovered from his religious melancholy, and not looking as if he had ever in dementia attempted suicide, and we talked over the wide earthly celebrity and heavenly power of his old hymns, "When I can Read my Title Clear," and "There is a Fountain Filled with Blood."

Some one says, "Will you tell us what most impressed you in Heaven?" I will. I was most impressed with the reversal of earthly conditions. I knew, of course, that there would be differences of attire and residence in Heaven, for Paul had declared long ago that souls would then differ "as one star differeth from another," as Mars from Mercury, as Saturn from Jupiter. But at every step in my dream in Heaven I was amazed to see that some who were expected to be high in Heaven were low down, and some who were expected to be low down were high up. You thought, for instance, that those born of pious parentage, and of naturally good disposition, and of brilliant faculties, and of all styles of attractiveness, will move in the highest range of celestial splendor and pomp. No, no. I found the highest thrones, the highest coronets, the richest mansions were occupied by those who had reprobate father, or bad mother, and who had inherited the twisted natures of ten generations of miscreants, and who had compressed in their body all depraved appetites, and all evil propensities, but they laid hold of God's arm, they cried for special mercy, they conquered seven devils within and seventy devils without, and were washed in the blood of the Lamb, and by so much as their contest was terrible and awful, and prolix, their victory was consummate and resplendent, and they have taken places immeasurably higher than those of good parentage, who could hardly help being good, because they had ten generations of preceding piety to aid them. The steps by which many have mounted to the highest places in heaven were made out of the cradles of a corrupt parentage. When I saw that, I said to my attending angel, "That is fair; that is right. The harder the struggle the more glorious the reward."

As I walked through those streets I appreciated for the first time what Paul said to Timothy: "If we suffer, we shall also reign with Him." It surprised me beyond description that all the great of heaven were great sufferers. "Not all?" Yes, all. Moses, him of the Red Sea, a great sufferer. David, him of Absalom's unfilial behavior and Ahithophel's betrayal, and a nation's dethronement, a great sufferer. Ezekiel, him of the captivity, who had the dream on the banks of the Chebar, a great sufferer. Paul, him of the diseased eyes, and the Mediterranean shipwreck, and the Mars Hill derision, and the Mamertine endungeonment and whipped back and the headsman's axe on the road to Ostia, a great sufferer. Yes, all the apostles after lives of suffering died of violence, beaten to death with fuller's club, or dragged to death by mobs, or from the thrust of sword, or by exposure on barren island, or by decapitation. All the high up in heaven great sufferers and women more than men, Felicitas, and St. Cecelia, and St. Agnes, and St. Agatha, and Lucia, and women never heard of outside their own neighborhood, queens of the needle, of the broom and the scrubbing brush, and the wash-tub, and the dairy, rewarded according to how well they did their work, whether to set a tea-table or govern a nation, whether empress or milkmaid. I could not get over it, as in my dream I saw all this; and that some of the most unknown of earth were the most famous in heaven, and that many who had seemed the greatest failures of earth were the greatest successes of heaven. And as we passed along one of the grandest boulevards of heaven, there approached us a group of persons so radiant in countenance and apparel I had to shade my eyes with both hands because I could not endure the lustre, and I said: "Angel! do tell me who they are?" And the answer was: "These are they who came out of great tribulation and had their robes washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb."

My walk through the city explained a thousand things on earth that had been to me inexplicable. When I saw up there the superior delight and the superior heaven of many who had on earth had it hard with cancers, and bankruptcies, and persecutions, and trials of all sorts; I said, "God has equalized it all at last; excess to enchantment in heaven has more than made up for the deficits on earth."

Then I passed on amid chariots of salvation, and along by conquerers' thrones, and amid pillared majesties, and by windows of agate, and under arches that had been hoisted for returned victors. And as I came toward the walls with the gates, the walls flashed upon me with emeralds, and sapphires and chrysoprases and amethysts, until I trembled under the glory, and then I heard a bolt shove, and a latch lift, and a gate swing, and they were all of pearl, and I passed out loaded with raptures, and down by worlds lower and lower, and lower still, until I came within sight of the city of my earthly residence, and until through the window of my earthly home the sun poured so strong upon my pillow that my eyelids felt it, and in bewilderment as to where I was, and what I had seen, I awoke.

Reflection the first—The superiority of our Heaven to all other heavens. The Scandinavian heaven—The departed are in everlasting battle, except as restored after being cut to pieces they drink wine out of the skulls of their enemies. The Moslem heaven as described by the Koran—"There shall be Houris with large black eyes like pearls hidden in their shells." The Slav's heaven—After death the soul hovers six weeks about the body, and then climbs a steep mountain, on the top of which is Paradise. The Tasmanian's heaven: A spear is placed by the dead, that they may have something to fight with, and after a while they go into a long chase for game of all sorts. The Tahitian's heaven: The departed are eaten up of the gods. The native African heaven: A land of shadows, and in speaking of the departed they say, all is done forever. The American aborigine's heaven. Happy hunting grounds, to which the soul goes on a bridge of snake. The philosopher's heaven: Made out of a thick fog, or an infinite don't know. But harken! and behold our heaven, which though mostly described by figure of speech in the Bible and by parable of a dream in this discourse, has for its chief characteristics, separation from all that is vile; absence from all that can discomfort; presence of all that can gratulate. No mountains to climb; no chasms to bridge; no night to illumine; no tears to wipe. Scandinavian heaven, Slave heaven, Tasmanian heaven, aborigines' heaven, scattered into tameness and disgust by a glimpse of St. John's heaven, of Paul's heaven, of Christ's heaven, of your heaven, of my heaven!

Reflection the second: You had better take patiently and cheerfully all pangs, affronts, hardships, persecutions and trials of earth, since if rightly borne they insure heavenly payments of ecstacy. Every twinge of physical distress, every lie told about you, every earthly substraction if meekly borne, will be heavenly addition. If you want to amount to anything in heaven, and to move in its best society you must be "perfected through suffering." The only earthly currency worth anything at the gate of heaven is the silver of tears. At the top of all heaven sits the greatest sufferer, Christ of the Bethlehem caravansary and of Pilate's Oyer and Terminer, and of the Calvarean assassination.

What he endured, oh, who can tell?
To save our souls from death and hell.

Oh, ye of the broken heart, and the disappointed ambition, and the shattered fortune, and the blighted life, take comfort from what I saw in my Sabbath morning dream.

Reflection the third and last: How desirable that we all get there! Start this moment with prayer and penitence and faith in Christ, who came from heaven to earth to take us from earth to heaven. Last summer, a year ago, I preached one Sabbath afternoon in Hyde Park, London, to a great multitude that no man could number. But I heard nothing from it until a few weeks ago, when Reverend Mr. Cook, who for twenty-two years has presided over that Hyde Park out-door meeting, told me that last winter going through a hospital in London he saw a dying man whose face brightened as he told him that his heart was changed that afternoon under my sermon in Hyde Park, and all was bright now at his departure from earth to Heaven. Why may not the Lord bless this as well as that? Heaven as I dreamed about it, and as I read about it, is so benign a realm you cannot any of you afford to miss it.

360 FRENCH WERE MASSACRED.

The Column Near Timbuctoo Was Surprised in the Night.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—The Journal des Debats Friday gives details of the defeat by members of the Nomad tribe, known as Tuaragas, of the French force near Timbuctoo. The column was commanded by Col. Bonnier, commander of the force on the Upper Niger, and was surprised at night. The colonel, 11 other officers and 250 privates were massacred by the Tuaragas. The Government intends to hold Timbuctoo, and has ordered that reinforcements be sent for that purpose.

A Few Escaped.

The latest despatches from St. Louis say that Col. Bonnier left Timbuctoo on Jan. 12. On the night of Jan. 15 he and his column, while asleep, were surprised and surrounded by Tuaragas. Capt. Nigotte, who was wounded, and a few native riflemen escaped. Nigotte rejoined the detachment which under Lieut. Sarda was guarding the captured herds a few miles in the rear. Captain Philipe will await the arrival of the column under Commander Joffre. He has sufficient food to last until the commissariat that left Segou on Jan. 10 reaches him.

The mixed populace of Timbuctoo regards the French force with varied feelings. Many are said to favor the occupation.

THE SHARON POISONING CASE.

The Poisoners Charged With Conspiring to Murder Sent For Trial.

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Lottie Evans, Charles Pegg and George Osman were yesterday afternoon committed for trial by Magistrate Wingfield. As at Wednesday's hearing the courtroom was thronged by a curious crowd.

The evidence given was not of a startling nature, being chiefly in corroboration of the minor points of Miss Reid's remarkable story.

John Kavanah, postmaster at Sharon, said that on Jan. 2 Osman came to his place and telegraphed to Newmarket for Doctor Howe. Osman told the witness that Walter Evans was sick, and he went over to see him. The symptoms were spasms and twitching of the muscles. Evans was quite sensible except when the spasms came on. Mrs. Evans worked very hard to relieve her husband, and was crying all the time.

"The medicine was changed after Dr. Howe came. He called me into a room and asked me: 'Do you suppose there is any chance of this man being poisoned?' He showed me a book where the symptoms of poisoning were described.

"A few days afterwards Mrs. Evans called me up to the bar and said, 'Do you know what racket they've got on now?' I said I had not heard of any. She said, 'They've got it reported around that I poisoned Walter.' I told her I had not heard it. Mrs. Evans was in a great hurry to get the doctor there both times Walter was sick."

Mrs. Wilson, who keeps a bakery at Newmarket, sold two pints of oysters to a young man on Jan. 2 or 3. They had used oysters from the same pail with no ill-effects. She did not know who the young man was, but he said he was from Sharon.

Walter Wilson gave the most important testimony of the day. He is a nephew of Walter Evans and lives in Toronto. He said: "I was up in Sharon on Saturday, Jan. 6, and stayed at Walter's hotel.

"On the Tuesday or Wednesday following Mrs. Evans sent the girl upstairs to get some black currants for Walter's supper. Mrs. Evans took the currants to Evans in a glass dish, with some toast. When she brought them down 10 or 15 minutes afterwards she set them on the sideboard. She said that he just tasted them, but he never ate of them. Maggie Reid went to take a spoonful of the preserves and Mrs. Evans stopped and said, 'Do you want to croak, you —— fool.' Mrs. Evans got up and put the currants into the stove. I was sitting behind the kitchen door. Mrs. Evans did not see me there. She did not see me until she went to throw the currants into the stove, when she said: 'The doctor spilt some powders in the jar.' She said this to Maggie Reid and did not speak to me."

Frank Evans told of his brother's illness. He was present and heard Maggie Reed accuse Mrs. Evans of having been locked in a room with Pegg for two hours. Mrs. Evans admitted that this was true and said she was sorry. She also said that she was going to sack "Cooney" and be a different woman. This was about three weeks ago.

Mrs. Margaret Evans gave some damaging testimony. On Jan. 2 Mrs. Lottie Evans was talking with Pegg and so engrossed were they in their conversation that witness had to call her sister-in-law four times and tell her Walter was dying before she would come. Mrs. Evans told her husband she had been talking to Rodney. Continuing, the witness said:

"On Wednesday evening Mrs. Evans asked me to give Walter his powder, as he bossed her and would not take it. She told me just where to get it, and I gave it to him in some apple sauce. He had been sitting up in bed before taking this, but became much worse and we had to send for the doctor. Evans was very much worse when the doctor arrived."

Mr. Dewart asked that the prisoners be committed, and the magistrate formally committed them for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

USE SKODA'S DISCOVERY,
The Great Blood and Nerve Remedy.

LARGE SORES ON FACE

Lost Use of Hands from Blood Poisoning. Physicians and Remedies No Benefit. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I have used your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and can truthfully say that they are everything and more than you represent them. Last spring I was greatly troubled with blood poisoning caused by Diphtheria. Large sores made their appearance on my face, and my hands were in such a condition that I could not use them. After trying numerous physicians and remedies and receiving no benefit therefrom, I was advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and did so, and I am now free from all my skin trouble. I cannot speak praise enough for your remedies.

BABY SEVERELY AFFLICTED

My baby was severely afflicted with some dreadful skin disease. Its head, face and hands for awhile were nearly one solid sore. I had doctors prescribe for it, tried several remedies, but all seemed to do no good. I saw an advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and concluded to try them. I bought a complete set, and began using, and now my little girl seems to be completely cured.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

BROOMS! BROOMS!!

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

MATCHES! MATCHES!! MATCHES!

Don't pay 12c. for the same, when you can buy the best in the city from us for 10c per box. Everyone a striker.

Don't forget that we are headquarters for Pressed and Pieced Tinware, and Peddlers' Sundries.

For the next two weeks we will give special value in our CELEBRATED TOWEL SOAP.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

UNTRUTH EXPOSED.

The Ottawa Citizen candidly and moderately, but with all the greater force on that account, takes a leading Grit to task and exposes falsehoods uttered by him on the public platform.

Mr. David Mills made a speech at Ridgetown the other day. It was long enough to fill four columns of the Globe. It was thoughtful and forcible in many parts, but it abounded in lively efforts of the imagination such as it seems impossible to keep out of Grit eloquence. Thus, he said among other things that the Conservatives since 1878 have driven away from the country upwards of a million people.

Now the American census shows that in 1890 there were only 980,941 Canadians in the United States. If the present Government has driven over a million of the population away, where have they gone? Then the pretence that those who have left the country have been forced out of it by misgovernment requires a great deal of hardihood in him who makes it. Mr. Mills was playing upon the credulity of his hearers. The assumption running through his remarks was that if the Liberals had remained in power, no Canadian would have emigrated. The Liberals were in power for five years from 1873 to 1878. Was there no exodus during that period? So far from this being the case, it went on more vigorously than ever. In 1870 there were in the United States 483,464 born Canadians. In 1880, Mr. Mackenzie having been in power during half the decade, the number had grown to 717,157. In 1890 the figures stood at 980,941.

It is evident therefore that the flow of population across the border has proceeded steadily under low tariff and high tariff, under Grit rule and Tory rule. How dishonest it is then for Philosopher Mills to gull the public with the idea that the Conservatives have driven a million of our population across the border.

A HOPEFUL PREDICTION.

It is remarked by the New York Herald that the fall in the prices of all products and commodities during the past twenty years has given rise to no end of contentions among economists and statisticians and has been explained in various ways.

From the time of opening the California mines up to 1870 there was a greatly increased output of gold, and its plentitude was accentuated by the suspension of specie payments in the States during the civil war and in France during the war with Germany. During the next ten or fifteen years, on the contrary, there was a heavy decrease in the production of the precious metal, while the demand for it was increased by the adoption of the gold standard in Germany, the resumption of specie payments by France and the United States and the accumulation of gold by Italy, Russia and Austria-Hungary.

Recently, however, the output of the precious metal has been increasing. The new South African gold fields last year yielded about twenty-six million dollars, the new Indian mines about three millions and the new fields of Western Australia about two millions, and coincident with the development of these new sources of supply there will be diminished demand, and the great military governments cannot carry their hoarding much farther. Hence the conclusion that the fall in prices has ended and an upward movement is due.

LIFE IN A LUMBER CAMP.

The Hardships and Dangers Which Beset these Sturdy Toilers—An Accident that Caused Years of Pain and Suffering.

Mr. James Fitzgerald, a prosperous and respected merchant of Victoria Road, a pretty little village in Victoria County, has for years suffered from the effects of a peculiar accident which happened him while in a lumber camp. To a reporter of the Lindsay Post, Mr. Fitzgerald said that when a boy in his teens he had a strong desire to spend a season in a lumber camp, and prevailed upon his parents to let him join a party of young men who were leaving for the woods fifty miles distant. It proved, for him, an unfortunate trip. One day while he was binding on a load of logs, the binding pole broke and he received a heavy blow on the elbow of the right arm. As there was no surgeon within fifty miles of the camp, he was attended to by the best means his fellow workmen could provide. After a few days, thinking he was all right, he went to work again. The exertion proved too much, for in a short time the pain returned, and continued to get worse every day, until at last Mr. Fitzgerald was forced to return home, where he got the best of care and medical attendance. This, however, did not relieve him, as the pain had become chronic and by this time affected his whole arm, and partially the right side of his body. He thus suffered for years, unable to get any relief, his arm becoming withered and paralyzed, and he was forced to give up his farm and try various light commercial pursuits, and abandoned all hope of ever having the arm restored to usefulness. In the fall of 1892 he was induced to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. Mr. Fitzgerald's first order was for half a dozen boxes, and before these were gone he began to experience the beneficial effects. The pain from which he had suffered for so many years began to lessen. He procured another supply, and from that out the improvement was constant and rapid, and he not only recovered the use of his arm, but is enjoying as good bodily health as he did before the accident, seventeen years ago. Mr. Fitzgerald feels that the cure is thorough and permanent, and as a natural consequence is very warm in his praise of Dr. William' Pink Pills, which have been the means of benefitting many others in his neighborhood, who have seen what they have done in Mr. Fitzgerald's case. For cases of partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and all nerve troubles, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the only certain cure. They act directly upon the blood and nerves, thus striking at the root of the trouble, and restoring the system to its wonted vigor. Sold by all dealers or sent post paid for 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Refuse all imitations which some unscrupulous dealers may offer because of the larger profit from their sale.

The Stoke-Holds of Ocean Racers

From Harper's Young People.

Well, in these days of great mechanical improvement, stoke holds are losing their terrors. They are getting to be quite comfortable. Great strides have been made in the last twenty years in increasing speed of ships, and it isn't too much to say that most of it comes through better and stronger boilers. Twenty years ago the boilers of the fastest ships sustained only 70 lbs. of steam-pressure to the square inch, but now they sustain with ease 165 pounds. This means more than double the amount of steam than formerly and much faster twisting screws. It also means more coal and more stoking, but not near so much in proportion to the gain in steam. This is because furnaces have also been improved, but the work of feeding their angry throats is hard enough; so hard, indeed that steamship owners have found that it pays to look after the comfort of the stokers as well as others of the crew, and hence stoke-holds are beginning to be ventilated and to be more comfortable as working places. The temperature of stoke holds is still above 100° when brisk work is going on, but ventilators keep pouring fresh cool air into the place, and the stokers almost never suffer from exhaustion on the new steamships.

The stoker works only eight hours a day and this is divided into two "watches" of fours each. That is, he works four hours, then has eight hours' rest, and then works four hours, and doesn't think his lot such a bad one after all. To be sure, on merchantmen he has to be hounded all his time to do his work properly, and he expects it, for he has a chronic objection against working without being driven to it, and oftener than not doesn't think it worth while to wash his face in his eight hours' interval of rest. He probably wouldn't thank you for your sympathy if you tried to tell him that his life is hard.

A Mother's Heart.

A little dreaming such as mothers know,
A little lingering over dainty things,
A happy heart wherein hope all aglow
Stirs like a bird at dawn that wakes and sings,
And that is all.

A little clasping to her yearning breast,
A little musing over future years;
A heart that prays "Dear Lord, thou knowest best,
But spare my flower life's bitterest rain of tears'
And that is all.

A little spirit speeding through the night,
A little home grown lonely, dark and chill;
A sad heart groping blindly for the light,
And that is all.

A little gathering of life's broken thread,
A little patience keeping back the tears;
A heart that sings Thy darling is not dead,
God keeps her safe through His eternal years,
And that is all.

Big Pay, But They Earn It.

The Brockville Recorder says: "In conversation not long ago with a local official of the Grand Trunk Railway, some interesting facts were developed regarding the money earned for the past year by engineers on that road, and these figures probably apply to other roads as well. The men are paid so much a round trip from here to Montreal and from here to Belleville and, with steady work, they can and do earn every month a very tidy income. A well-known Brockville engineer walked up to the counter at the close of December and was handed $157 as the result of a steady month's work. Last month and this month most of the drivers will put in enough work to draw upwards of $100 each. They earn it, however, and no one will be averse to them getting it."

BAYSIDE.

The residence of Rev. James Faull, Belleville, Methodist minister, Bayside circuit, was the scene of a very happy gathering on Thursday evening, 8th inst, the occasion being a surprise party by the members of a part of the circuit. About forty arrived at a few minutes to seven o'clock with well filled baskets and merry hearts and took possession. Mr. Faull and his estimable wife and family have the faculty of making everyone feel at home, and the party spent one of the most enjoyable evenings of their lives.

NO DEPRESSION IN CANADA.

ALL SOURCES OF PUBLIC REVENUE SHOW AN INCREASE.

Dutiable Articles Liable to Be Affected By Tariff Changes—Merchants Buy Cautiously, Causing a Slight Falling Off in Customs Returns—Statement of the Debt and Note Circulation.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 10—The statements of revenue and expenditure for the month of January and for the first seven months of the fiscal year shows that the cautious policy adopted by merchants with regard to the importation of dutiable goods, in view of pending changes in the tariff, has had a perceptible effect on the customs revenue, both for the month and for the seven-month period; but the fact that all other sources of revenue, excise, postoffice and public works, show considerable increases, is evidence that there is no great depression of trade in Canada, but merely an exercise of caution in the importation of those classes of dutiable goods which may be affected by any changes to be made in the tariff. The revenue for the month was $3,098,843, a decrease of $114,734, which is almost wholly in customs. For the seven months the revenue has been $21,414,553, a decrease of $358,047, which is accounted for as follows: Decrease in customs $332,866, and miscellaneous $83,041; increases, excise $20,429, postoffice $21,945, public works, including railways, $15,486.

The expenditure for the month was $5,553,749, and for the seven months $19,391,899 an increase of $202,036 caused by the heavy expenditure on the Sault Ste. Marie and Soulanges canals.

The public debt on Jan. 31 stood: Gross debt, $303,542,457; assets, $61,570,106; net debt, $241,972,351. This shows an increase during the month of $2,377,164, but an increase of only $291,312 since the close of the last fiscal year, this increase being caused by the heavy expenditure on public works, as well as to the falling off in revenue. The expenditure in January, it must be remembered, is always exceptionally heavy, as in that month the provincial subsidies are paid in advance to June 30 next.

The statement of circulation and specie for January shows the amount of Dominion notes outstanding at the end of the month to have been $19,832,436, or within $167,564 of the amount limited by law, specie and guaranteed debentures held against this still show an excess of nearly $5,000,000 over the amount required to be kept by statute.

To-morrow's Canada Gazette will contain a general order from the judge of the Exchequer Court of Canada with reference to consent in writing by the parties, or their attorneys, being with the permission of the registrar filed and made an order of the court. Also that whenever a claim is referred to the court by the head of any department of the Government of Canada a consent in writing signed by the parties or their attorneys that such claim shall be heard without pleadings may be filed with the registrar and shall thereupon become an order of court. The court may on the application of any party order that any such claim shall be heard without pleading. Every such claim shall be ripe for hearing as soon as such order is taken out. Rule three of the Exchequer Court of Canada is repealed and the following substituted therefor: Rule three, special case may be stated for opinion of court.

"The parties to any cause or matter may concur in stating the questions of law arising therein in the form of a special case for the opinion of the court. Every such special case shall be divided into paragraphs numbered consecutively, and shall concisely state such facts and documents as may be necessary to enable the court to decide the questions raised thereby. Upon the argument of such case the court and the parties shall be at liberty to refer to the whole contents of such documents, and the court shall be at liberty to draw from the facts and documents stated in any such special case any inference, whether of fact or law, which might have been drawn therefrom if proved at trial."

A meeting of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council was held this morning, Hon. J. G. Haggart presiding, and the other Ministers present being Sir John Thompson, Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. J. A. Ouimet and Hon. T. M. Daly. The application of the Lake Temiscamingue Colonization Railway Company (leased by the C.P.R.) to bridge the Ottawa River at Mattawa was granted, subject to the approval of the plan by the Public Works Department. The application of the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway for an extension of the time in which to build two bridges over the C.P.R. in the Township of Nepean, was granted, the first of July being the date fixed for completion. The crossing of the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. tracks by the Toronto Electric Railway was laid over to the next meeting of the committee, as was also the matter of building a bridge over the tunnel out at Sarnia, and the opening of a new street as agreed between the Grand Trunk and the city. The committee adjourned for two weeks.

H. Gilchrist, secretary of the Dominion Live Stock Association, telegraphed Hon. A. R. Angers this morning stating that owing to unforeseen circumstances the delegation of cattle exporters that were to wait upon him to-day had to postpone their visit.

Mr. R. Prefontaine, M.P. for Chambly, and Mr. O. N. Armstrong interviewed Hon. Mr. Haggart, Minister of Railways, to-day in reference to the granting of a subsidy in aid of the Great Eastern Railway.

Two delegations waited on the Tariff Committee to-day. One asked that the duty on malt be reduced. It is now 1 cent per lb. The other delegation held a conference in regard to paints. Solicitor-General Curran introduced both delegations.

Wrecked Off Liberia.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The German steamer Adolph Wermann has been wrecked at Nifu, Liberia. Everybody on board was saved. The cargo was lost. The steamer sailed from Hamburg Jan. 11 for African ports. Among the passengers were Herr Zimmerer, Governor of the German colony of the Cameroons, and two other German officials.

A Spy Sentenced to Death.

KISHENEFF, Russia, Feb. 10.—Col. Gregorieff has been convicted here on the charge of being an Austrian spy and sentenced to death.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The Standard's St. Petersburg correspondent says: "The report of the commission of enquiry into conditions at the convict station at Onor, Saghalien, reveals numerous instances of merciless floggings and of fingers and arms lopped off with sabres. Cannibalism prompted by famine is a common occurrence. Murder followed by cannibalism is frequent, committed solely with a view to procuring execution as a termination of the misely of life. Several convicts sometimes dispute before the officials for the responsibility of guilt. During 1892 almost a continuous string of convoys with mutilated corpses passed from Onor to Rykovskaya, where the officials reside. No enquiries were made, but the bodies were forthwith buried. Neither of the two doctors in Rykovskaya ever visited Onor. A band of convicts in 1893 were committed to the charge of an inspector who was unable to read or write to construct a road from Onor to Rykovskaya. Their failure fully to accomplish the work was punished with a reduction of rations. When they were unable to work longer they were shot with a revolver and the deaths were entered as "From disease." The chief author of these atrocities was the convict Rhakoff, a favorite of the commandant, who created him an inspector-general and lately recommended him for his good conduct."

AMUSEMENTS

"The Bohemian Girl" is being given this week by the California Opera Company. Henry Hallam is the Thaddeus and sings excellently. W. E. Hubbard is the Count, and sings the role well indeed. John Henderson is a good Florestein. Josephine Stanton as Arline thoroughly pleases her audience. The balance of the cast are competent. The chorus is excellent, and the concerted numbers are given with admirable dash and swing.—Buffalo Courier. At the opera house Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Matinee and evening, Feb. 15, 16, 17. Prices 15c, 25c, 35c and 50c.

Assistance Asked.

The Peterborough Review says: "In a local yesterday a well-known Peterborough gentleman, a member of the Canadian Institute, calls to his assistance in the preparation of a scientific and historical paper upon the Valley of the Trent from Balsam Lake to the Bay of Quinte, the cognoscenti all along the line. The writer aims at a description of the geological, mineralogical and geographical features of the district, together with an account of its historical remains. The period of history embraced will extend from the first record of the Indians to the present day. It is absolutely impossible for this paper to be worthy of the district and of the learned body before whom it is to be read unless assistance be given by anyone who knows anything really worth describing or recording, such, for instance, as the voyage of Champlain, Indian mounds, etc. It is hoped that the various newspapers along the route will lend a hand to make this request known. Communications may be addressed to "B," care of Review office."

Mrs. Ecclestone's Sufferings from Kidney Disease Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills—A Medicine that Produces Good Results for Both Old and Young.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 5.—Mrs. F. E. Ecclestone, aged 69, a well known resident of this city, has for some time been afflicted with kidney disease, the symptoms of which were severe pains in the small of the back. She is now perfectly cured. This happy result is due to the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the famous and infallible remedy for all kidney disorders. Mrs. Ecclestone says the pains have never returned since her recovery, and her happiness over her restoration to sound health is indescribable. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2 50.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

THE ROARING GAME.

Campbellford Colts Defeated by Two Rinks of Belleville Curlers.

The curling game attracted a large crowd at the rink last evening, considering the inclement weather. One rink from Campbellford arrived on the afternoon train from the north, but the other rink were unable to catch the train and came down on a freight. The freight made the usual time and consequently the men from the north did not reach here until about ten o'clock. Rink No. 1 began play shortly after eight o'clock and skip Wills' men played an exceedingly steady game. They continued to play for twenty ends, when the Belleville rink had a majority of 13 shots. In the meantime the other Campbellford rink arrived and play was begun on rink No. 2. Skip Pope's men made a four end to start with and then Campbellford got in a three. This rink played twelve ends, and it being then about midnight it was decided to call the game. Campbellford had a majority of five shots on rink No. 2, giving the game to Belleville by 8 shots. Towards the finish of the game the ice became very sticky and it was difficult for some of the weaker players to get over the "hog." The rinks and the scores were as follows:

RINK NO. 1.

Maj. for Belleville 8

At the conclusion of the game the visitors were taken to Mr. John Fleming's restaurant, where a neat spread, consisting of oysters, cold meats, fruits, etc., had been prepared. About three hours were most enjoyably spent in songs, speeches and congratulations, and the party broke up by singing "Auld Lang Syne." The visitors were then escorted to their headquarters at the Queen's and bid good-night. They left on the early train this morning for home. The Campbellford curlers extended a hearty invitation to their Belleville brethren of the stone and besom to visit them at an early date. The "colts" from the Trent Valley are a jolly, whole-souled lot of fellows and they spoke in the highest terms of their entertainment while here.

Wedding Bells.

St. Mary's church, Marysville, was the scene of a very happy event, Monday, Jan. 29th, when Miss Jane Nealon, daughter of Mr. Dennis Nealon, of Lonsdale, and Mr. Geo. Sexsmith, of Hungerford, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Quinn at 10 o'clock a.m. in the presence of many friends and acquaintances of the contracting parties. The pretty bride was attended by her sister Miss Rose Nealon, while Mr. John Sexsmith performed the duties of best man. After the ceremony the wedding party returned to Lonsdale, where a sumptuous dinner was served. The popularity of the bride was evidenced by the large number of wedding presents, including a handsome gold brooch from the groom and other valuable presents, from members of her own family.

Belleville Talent.

The Tweed News, in speaking of a concert given by the I.O.O.F. of that village, says: "The musical part of the programme was furnished by a number of accomplished artists from Belleville and by the Tweed orchestra. Mrs. Heber Campbell delighted the audience with her rich soprano voice, which displayed her ability as a soloist. The duet 'The Hunters,' by Miss Edith Canfield and Mr. H. W. Canfield, was well received, Miss Canfield possessing a sweet and well trained voice. Mrs. Fax sang to a hearty encore in 'Past Twelve O'clock.' Mr. Geo. E. Fax is a real funny man and greatly pleased the audience, while the male quartette of Messrs. Canfield, Campbell, Fax, and Lalonde were highly appreciated."

Police Court.

Richard Dewsberry was summoned to appear on a charge of carting without a license. But the evidence disclosed the fact that he was doing the work under contract and was therefore not liable.

James O'Neil, hotelkeeper, was charged with selling liquor during prohibited hours. Case enlarged until Tuesday to secure more evidence for the prosecution.

Clarke vs. Dagineau, was a wage case in which the defendant claimed $6,80 for work performed for the plaintiff. The plaintiff had to pay the account and costs, amounting in all to $15.

Susie Hanley was summoned to appear at the police court on the charge of keeping a house of ill fame. She did not appear and a warrant will be issued for her arrest.

In the City.

The Rev. H. T. Crossley gave his brother, the Rev. D. O. Crossley, a pleasant surprise last evening at 6 o'clock, by making him a visit. He remained until 12:45 to-day, when he found the Rev. J. E. Hunter on that train, and they both proceeded to Brockville, to commence work there to-morrow. They expect to be five weeks in Brockville, and to begin meetings here on Sunday, 18th March. Several friends met them at the station. Both gentlemen are in the enjoyment of good health. They have just returned from most successful meetings in the Hanson Place church, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Death of a Napanee Man.

Vancouver, Feb. 8.—C. Z. Perry, manager of the Sun Life Insurance Company, died this morning. He was a native of Napanee, Ont., moved to Winnipeg, and later to Vancouver. He was captain in A. Company of the Hastings battalion, a prominent Mason, being first principal Z. of Vancouver Royal Arch Lodge, and was widely known and respected. He was aged 40, and leaves a wife and three children.

Y.M.C.A. Notes.

Rev. Mr. Manning, of Trenton, will address the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A reception was tendered the business men, accountants, and clerks, at the Y.M.C.A. rooms last evening. The Ladies' Auxiliary served refreshments, and a most enjoyable time was spent by those present.

Celebrities in Tea.

Tea would always in a manner most miraculous banish all my fatigue and diffuse through my whole frame comfort and exhilaration.—Tom Howitt.

Stroud's new seasons teas are making more friends every day at 30, 40, 50, and 60c. per lb. They are sterling value and finest in quality.—Stroud's tea store.

Money Makes Money.

How fortunate the man is that has plenty of ready money. When the opportunity presents itself that requires a little "hard" cash, he is to the front. Now this season of the year when the Oak Hall are selling ulsters and overcoats at exactly wholesale prices, how nice it is to have a few dollars to invest.

License Commissioners.

Messrs. Sidney Way, George Anderson and Harris Phillips have been gazetted license commissioners for East Hastings for the year 1894.

Rev. H. T. Crossley, the evangelist, was in town last night, making a brief visit to his brother, the Rev. D. O. Crossley. He was on his way to Brockville, where evangelistic services will be opened to-morrow.

Mr. W. P. Hudson, M.P.P., was in town on Wednesday and favored us with a friendly call. The member for East Hastings is looking very well. He leaves next week for Toronto to attend to his duties in the Legislative Assembly.—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Salder, of Belleville, have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Gammon during the past week.—Des. Tribune.

Glenco Hulme, son of Lt.-Col. R. Croft Hulme, of this city, who has has been connected with the Bank of Commerce here for the past four years, left this morning for Simcoe, to which place he has been transferred. Mr. Hulme has been a general favorite both in social and athletic circles, being a prominent member of the Bay City hockey team and cricket club. He will return shortly to marry one of Belleville's fairest daughters.

Remarkable Prophecies.

Thomas the Rhymer made the following prophecies over 300 years ago: That there should come a time when—1. A Scottish sovereign, and that a woman, should sit upon the throne of England for over fifty years. 2. At the same time a Scotchman would be the Archbishop of Canterbury, another Scotchman Prime Minister of England, a third married to the Queen's daughter. 3 That carriages would run without horses. 4. That men would learn to fly in the air. 5. That ships would go through the water without sails. 6. That men would travel under the ground. 7. That men would send a message 100 miles in five minutes. All are now fulfilled as follows: 1. The Queen's descent is from James I. (James VI. of Scotland.) 2. The late Archbishop Tait was a Scotchman; so is Mr. Gladstone, who is the Prime Minister; so also is the Marquis of Lorne, husband of the Princess Louise. 3. Our railway trains. 4. Balloons. 5. Steamships. 6. The underground railway. 7. The telegraph.

Off to London.

The Toronto Star of February 9th says: "Mr. George E. Reid, cashier of the Sun Life Insurance Company, is leaving to-day for London, England, to take charge of the company's financial business. The agents and staff presented him with a handsome travelling case and opera glass at the office this morning. Mr. Reid has been connected with the company here for seven years." Mr. and Mrs. Reid and daughter and Miss Annie Hickey, Mrs. Reid's sister, will leave on Tuesday for their future home in London. The best wishes of many friends here will accompany them.

A Promise with a String to it.

[Hamilton Spectator.]

Sir Oliver has never done anything in a straight forward way, and does not seem to be able to. In his carefully prepared answer to the prohibitionists he has attached a string to his promise, by which he can pull it back when political exigency demands. Either the guileless prohibitionists did not see this string, or seeing it professed to be satisfied, in order that the temperance vote might remain with their friend Sir Oliver. "I will give you as much prohibition," says the wily little christian statesman, "as the courts permit me to give—provided I and my wicked partners deem such legislation to be effective from a temperance standpoint." There's the whole promise.

Parlor Social.

A parlor social and entertainment was held last evening at the residence of Mr. D. Urquhart, Bridge St., under the auspices of the Royal Templars. Mr. W. W. Chown occupied the chair. The ladies furnished light refreshments during the evening. Following was the programme: Vocal solos by Miss Falconer, Mrs. J. F. Dingman and Mr. MacIntosh; duets by Miss Falconer and Mr. MacIntosh; recitaby Miss Robertson; Quartette by Mrs. Dingman and Miss Nettie Yeomans and Messrs. Baker and Booth; vocal solo with accompaniment, Mrs. J. F. Dingman and and Mr. Booth.

W. C. T. U.

The thanksgiving meeting held by the W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon was well attended, considering the unfavorable weather. An interesting programme was presented and a most encouraging report of the prohibition convention in Toronto was read.

Before the close of the meeting a collection was taken up, as a thank offering for the result of the recent plebiscite.

More Care Needed.

Exporters of hay complain of the bad condition in which shippers of hay at country points in Ontario have recently sent the article forward to New York for shipment. One exporter has 128 cars of hay on the track in New York, much of which is rotten and which the steamship company there refuse to receive, although freight has been paid on it. They say if this growing trade is to be kept up hay must be sent forward in better condition.

SPORTING NEWS

One hundred and forty-seven Percheron horses and three trotters perished in the flames which destroyed one of W. L. Ellwood's big stock barns at De Kalb, Ill., Wednesday. The barn was located beyond the reach of the fire department.

The entry list for the bench show of the Westminister Kennel Club, which opens in Madison Square Garden, Feb. 20, has closed. The list is the largest in the history of the club.

Two great pigeon shooting matches have been arranged between New York and Philadelphia marksmen, four men a side. The men are: New York—E. G. Murphy, "Lon" Thompson, Fred Hoey and George Work; Philadelphia—C. McAlester, T. Dando, R. A. Walsh, T. Dolan.

John L. Sullivan has the opportunity of once again trying to reach the throne by meeting Frank P. Slavin in the prize ring and contending in a fistic battle for £400 a side, the amount Slavin agrees to fight for. Slavin proposes to meet him and if he defeats him challenge the winner of the Corbett and Jackson fight.

The featherweight champion, George Dixon, and Johnny Griffen are to box six rounds. A few weeks ago Tom O'Rourke, Dixon's manager, made a proposition to Griffen for a six-round bout with Dixon in New York. Griffen accepted. It will take place in Madison Square Garden Feb. 24.

At the New York sales of trotters the leading prices were: Hazel Wilkes, 2:11¼, $5,500; Una Wilkes, $3,400; Kingcorette, $1,500; Sarah Meade, $3,850; Freedom, with a record of 2:29¾, as a yearling, brought only $710. He is now five years old and is by Sable Wilkes—Laura Drew.

Bailey Committeed.

Fred C. Bailey, the bogus insurance agent, who is said to have defrauded a number of people throughout the province, including several well known physicians, was brought up before Magistrate Baxter at Toronto on Friday and committed for trial. The specific charge was made by Dr. Elliott, of that city, who accused Bailey of obtaining $20 from him by false pretences.

—It is reported that C. F. Gildersleeve, of Kingston, has been made manager of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company.

A PALE FACE comes from poor blood. Your blood needs to be enriched and vitalized. For this there's nothing in the world so thoroughly effective as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Children who are weak, thin, pale, and puny are made strong, plump, rosy, and robust by the "Discovery." It's especially adapted to them, too, from its pleasant taste. It's an appetizing, restorative tonic which builds up needed flesh and strength.

In every blood-taint or disorder, if it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I will say that I used the "Medical Discovery" for my little girl, and she is entirely well. I cannot praise your medicines too highly. You may rest assured that you will always have my support.

IMPORTANT!

THE PROPER SELECTION OF A STOCK

This is especially so in the Dry Goods business, where not only the quality, style and blending of shades have to be considered, but a thousand other things that would not occur to the uninitiated.

OUR FACILITIES

and experience enable us to place before our customers the very choicest selection of goods in our different lines that the markets of the world can produce. Mr. Ritchie is now in Europe visiting all the head centres of trade, and our Mr. Brown is this week in New York and Philadelphia making selections for his department of the newest products in Curtains, Rugs, Mats, Brass Goods, Poles and all kinds of House Furnishings.

CASH.

Buying our goods as we do from the best makers in the world for spot cash we do not hesitate to say that we cannot be undersold by any house in Canada.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst, over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow student's first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION.

INITIAL STEPS TOWARDS IMPROVING THE COUNTRY HIGHWAYS.

An Association Formed With Mr. Andrew Pattullo of The Woodstock Sentinel-Review as President—Interesting Papers by Mr. Alan McDougall and by City Engineer Campbell of St. Thomas.

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—A large number of prominent men from all parts of the province who are interested in the improvement of roads met in the Canadian Institute yesterday with the object of forming an association to disseminate their views on this question. It will be known as "The Ontario Good Roads Association."

The main objects of the association are:

1. To combine the efforts of all persons engaged in the work of road reform.
2. To awaken interest in the subject.
3. To receive, publish and discuss any well-considered plans for local, provincial or national action.
4. To aid in providing for a proper road exhibit and instruction in road-making at all Farmers' Institutes and other association meetings.
5. To obtain and spread information regarding recent legislation for road improvement.
6. To obtain and publish full information regarding methods of road-building as practised in various parts of Canada, the United States and other countries.
7. To procure and furnish to local associations at reduced prices all valuable publications on the subject of roads and road legislation.

The immediate formation of county associations is recommended. County secretaries will be appointed by the Executive Committee.

Mr. Alan McDougall made the opening address, and explained the purpose of the convention. Mr. McDougall said that for the past two years this question had been widely discussed, both on the platform and in the public press, and he hoped that the result of the meeting would be that substantial progress would be made in road reform. The Canadian Institute felt that the time had arrived for a start to be made, and had invited those present to gather together to see if what had been floating abroad could not be crystallized into effective action. He then dealt with the statute labor question, and held that the common public highways occupy to the country the same relation that the smaller veins and arteries do to the human system, and the country can no more get on without rural roads than can the body without its veins. Those interested in cheese factories can calculate what increased profits they would get if the roads were good and the transport of milk were cheaper. It has been said the extension of electric railways will solve the matter, but he differed with this, for the electric railways would be to the highways what the railways are to the electric road. The electric railway will help personal locomotion and transportation of light freight, but for the transport of staple articles the public highway is necessary, and there should be a good road which could be traveled upon all the year long. The question was one for the engineer, the municipal officer and the farmer alike as to methods of building and planning, as to the money to be spent and as to the method of raising that money.

The meeting was then organized, when Mr. A. Pattullo of The Woodstock Sentinel-Review was elected chairman and Mr. Alan McDougall secretary.

Mr. A. Pattullo then read an interesting paper on "Good Roads," in which, after referring to the importance of the subject, he said that the United States have surpassed Ontario in the matter. Fourteen states have recently passed new laws on the subject and others are moving in the same direction. The Americans have gone to work as well, and have in many places made good roads. Essex County, N.J., has in 25 years spent $170,000 on roads; Union County, N.J., in one experiment spent $350,000 in macadamizing highways; Staten Island has spent $300,000 in the same way; in these the work done has paid for itself. The present system in Canada is that of statute labor. It is a system which may have done well enough in the old pioneer days, but which has long outlived its usefulness, and should be modified at once. The defects of the statute labor system are that it places work requiring skill and intelligence under the direction of those who may possess neither and who seldom have any special training for such duty. However, he would not abolish the system until there was something better to take its place, and vastly better work can be done on the average under it, especially by using the power the municipalities have of commuting it. The question of supervision is the important one, as is that of continuous repairing and maintenance. Mr. Pattullo then went into figures extensively, showing the losses in the United States and Canada by bad roads. He would not advocate the macadamizing of roads over the whole country, since the cost would be too much. The leading roads where traffic is greatest should be macadamized and would serve as object lessons; but well-made gravel roads would be quite good enough for some time to come, and even mud roads can be so improved as to answer purposes of light traffic. Mr. Pattullo concluded by saying that the movement is in the interest of farmers and should result in an organization with clear and well-defined aims. Such an organization should get information, should keep up the work of education, should interest the Department of Agriculture and get Government aid to guide the course of legislation.

A discussion of over an hour took place on Mr. Pattullo's paper, in which Mr. James Hill, Gainsville; Nelson Monteith, Stratford; James Sheppard, Queenston; P. Mahon, South Wellington; S. P. Zavitz, Middlesex, and L. Buckton, Welland, gave their views on the statute labor system and the mode adopted in the several places of building roads.

Mr. A. W. Campbell, P.L.S., C.E.A., M.C.S., city engineer of St. Thomas, read a very exhaustive paper on "Improvement of Country Roads." After describing the necessities in times past of the statute labor system, he said it should now be as readily and perfectly discarded as the old system of invited labor. It is unfair, because it recompenses inferior hands the same as those who are good workers; it compels each man to work on the public road for so many days. The actual cost of maintenance is greater than under any other system. The payment of taxes in labor is not profitable. The paper then dealt with the cost of building different kinds of roads, and of the systems adopted in different parts of the country. The paper would take up four columns of The World, consequently it is impossible to give any idea of the great amount of information it contained.

A constitution was then adopted and permanent officers elected as follows:

President, A. Pattullo, Woodstock; first vice-president, J. F. Beam, Black Creek; second vice-president, A. P. McDougall, West Middlesex; secretary-treasurer, K. W. McKay, St. Thomas.

Executive Committee, James Beatty, Campbellton; Alan McDougall, Toronto; J. C. Judd, Leeds; A. Hunter, Frontenac; William Jelly, Shelburne; F. Reid, North Grey; D. Derbyshire, Brockville; James Sheppard, Lincoln; P. Mahon, Wellington; James McEwen, Drayton.

These delegates were present: James Hill, Monk Farmers' Institute; John E. Cohoe, Monk Farmers' Institute; H. C. Garbutt, West Peterboro Institute; James Sheppard, Lincoln County Council; Nelson Monteith, Downie; P. Mahon, South Wellington Farmers' Institute; James A. Bell, County Engineer, Elgin; A. W. Campbell, St. Thomas; J. C. Judd, South Crosby, Leeds; F. Birdsall, East Peterboro; George E. Fisher, Burlington; S. Pedlar, Toronto; W. N. Howell, West Huron; J. F. Beam, Western Dairymen's Association; Harold Eagle Western Dairymen's Association; A. D. McGugan, Rodney; James Beatty, Dutton; James Steam, Churchill; B. Stone, Stayner; M. B. Barnhard, Welland; R. G. H. Gardner Buckner, Toronto; R. Wilson, Cobourg; Hiram Goodwillie, Welland Farmers' Institute; L. Buckton, Welland; J. C. Clark, Agincourt; K. W. McKay, St. Thomas; Frank Reid, North Grey, Annan; A. P. McDougall, West Middlesex; J. N. Sipes, Waterloo. Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, came in during the afternoon and made a short address.

POISONED HIS SECOND WIFE.

Then Staff-Sergeant Grant Shot Himself With His Rifle.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 10.—News of a tragedy at Jamaica has been received here. Before the West Riding Regiment left Halifax two years ago Staff Sergeant Grant married a Halifax girl, who accompanied him to Jamaica. She returned to her home in Halifax soon afterwards. A short time ago she received word from Jamaica that her husband had married another woman at that place. This woman was also from Halifax, having gone to Jamaica as a nurse. Mrs. Grant wrote to her husband that she would go to Jamaica and prosecute him. The steamer Alpha on her last voyage arrived at Jamaica last night.

Before the vessel landed her passengers, Grant was missed. His quarters were broken into, and the dead bodies of himself and the woman he had married in Jamaica were discovered. The woman had been poisoned and Grant had shot himself with his rifle.

Making a Stand At Timbuctoo.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—The latest advices from St. Louis, Senegal, say that despatches bearing the date of Jan. 27 have reached there from Timbuctoo. These despatches say that Col. Bonnier of the Marine Artillery, who was in command of the French troops who had captured Timbuctoo, had, with nine commissioned officers and two European sergeants, 61 native sharpshooters and six native sergeants, been killed by the Tuaragas. When the despatches left Timbuctoo the city was surrounded by Tuaragas, who appeared here and disappeared, thus making it impossible to form any accurate estimate as to their number. Capt. Philipe, upon whom the command of the French forces devolved after the death of Col. Bonnier, sends notice to the Governor of Senegal that he is holding Timbuctoo with 300 rifles and six cannons and that he intends to hold out until reinforcements arrive.

Deputy Couchard will interpellate the Government in the Chamber to-day concerning the Timbuctoo massacre.

FURTHER TROUBLE FEARED.

The Revolt in the Cameroons Has Undone a Year's Work.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The Tageblatt publishes a letter from the Cameroons under date of Jan. 4. It gives the details of the recent troubles and says that only two rebels were hanged. It said that it was feared that the Dahomeyans would cause further trouble. The revolt, the writer said further, had undone a year's work. It was impossible to hope for success in the colony until the present incapable regime was abolished and replaced by men able to cope with a difficult situation. A letter from Windhoeck, dated Dec. 27, says that the military operations against Wilbooi continue without appreciable sign of success.

The Reichstag to Investigate.

BERLIN, Feb. 10—In the Reichstag Friday the Minister of Foreign Affairs promised that the investigation of the Cameroons mutiny should be extended to the conduct of Governor Zimmerer, who according to assertions was equally responsible with Chancellor Leist for the practice of flogging the wives of native policemen.

HAD TYLER KNOWN

What Maddock Had to Say He Would Not Have Presided.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—[Telegram special.]—Sir Henry Tyler, in a letter to yesterday's Times, says he cannot too strongly condemn the expressions concerning Canada which Mr. Maddock used in his lecture before the Colonial Institute on Monday night.

"Had I known beforehand what Mr. Maddock was going to say," said Sir Henry, "I should certainly have declined to take the chair."

CROFTON ON TRIAL.

The Man Who Forged Notes on the Bank of Toronto.

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—Algernon Francis Blake Crofton last October presented at the First National Bank, Chicago, for payment a draft for $7000 drawn on the Bank of Winnipeg, Man., by the Bank of Montreal at Toronto. The Winnipeg Bank paid the money to the Chicago bank, who paid it to Crofton. The draft subsequently proved to be a forgery. In November Crofton was arrested in El Paso, Texas, and brought to Chicago. He had spent a large amount of the money.

Yesterday in court his attorney said that he would enter a plea of guilty if he could be sent to the Reform School. Crofton is not yet 21 years old, but soon will be. The State objected to the plea of guilty with the attached proviso, as that would be practically no punishment, for the moment Crofton became 21 years old he could demand and obtain his liberty. Crofton's attorney insisted that under a plea of guilty it was obligatory upon the court to sentence the prisoner to the Reform School. The case was continued.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Pictures

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

Saved Her Life.

Mrs. C. J. WOOLDRIDGE, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"One of my children had Croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it strangling. It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicines given, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and, in a short time, she was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

DESPERATE FIGHT FOR LIFE.

BATTLED WITH HEAVY SEAS AND THE SHIP ON FIRE.

What the Men on the Corvet Kearsarge Went Through After the Ship Struck—How the Crew Reached Shore On Finding the Ship Breaking Up.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—A special to The Herald from Colon says: Further particulars concerning the wreck of the Kearsarge show that magnificent discipline was maintained on board during the terrible scene that followed her striking on the reef.

It was about 7 o'clock in the evening of Feb. 2 the cathead lookout reported breakers ahead and on the port bow. The ship was then steaming at half power and was under topsails, foresail, jib and spanker, going with a nearly beam wind on the starboard tack, making about a ten-knot speed.

On hearing the hail, "Breakers ahead and on the port bow!" the officer of the deck ordered the helm aport, but it was too late to escape the reef and in an instant the ship struck with a force that jarred her from stem to stern and brought every soul on deck except those whose proper stations were below.

The engines were at once backed and simultaneously the sails were clewed up and the men sat aloft to furl them. Then the top gallant yards were sent down, followed immediately by the top-gallant-masts. While these duties were being rapidly yet thoroughly done the ship was pounding terribly on the reef, the seas being heavy enough to lift her and let her down with tremendous force. It was useless to think of saving her, and all efforts were devoted to saving the ship's company.

The further inshore she drove the less she would feel the waves. The main pennant tackles were hooked into slings under the historic 11-inch quarter deck gun, which had been pivoted to port, and it was hoisted overboard to lighten the ship aft. To lighten her forward the captain ordered Lieut. Hood to cut away the foremast. The lanyards of the weather shrouds were cut and before the mast was wholly cut through above the deck it crashed over the side, carrying with it, as was expected, the main topmast and the maintopsail yard.

By this time the sea had forced the vessel further up on the reef, and she lay on her port bilge, the waves running very high and breaking over the poop deck and her nearly submerged port rail. Attempts were made to lessen the breaking of the heavy sea by the use of oil over the stern, the effect being perceptible by the time the waves had run as far forward as the mainmast.

Owing to the sharp careen to port fire broke out in the boiler room, the burning coal having been thrown out of the furnaces. First Lieutenant Ingal of the marine corps led a party of volunteers below, and in spite of the smoke and terrible lurching and striking of the vessel succeeded in putting out the flames.

As it was impossible to tell how long the ship would hold together, Lieutenant Hood got a party of petty officers and seamen at work making rafts out of small spars, ladders and gratings, and provisions were brought up on the forecastle from the hold.

All night the grinding and crashing of the hull on the reef went on. The great beams and live oak frames could be heard snapping into kindling wood as the ship pounded and plunged. It was a terrible night. As the hull yielded to the blows, and the waves swept higher and higher, it became necessary to abandon the after part of the vessel altogether, but forward the men crowded beneath the forecastle wet, weary and bruised, and waited for morning.

At daybreak fire was started in the galley and all hands had hard biscuits and coffee. Then they went to work to get ashore. The gig was lowered, and a volunteer crew under Coxswain P. Deery tried to take a line ashore through the surf. When the boat had nearly reached the shore the waves were so heavy that it was necessary to cut the line to save the boat from being swamped. The gig then anchored just outside the last line of breakers and a line was floated ashore on a grating. Deery and the gig's crew got ashore and made fast the line to a solid piece of sunken coral. The first cutter and the second cutter had been swept from their davits and stove in. The steam launch was successfully put overboard, but was then stove in and sunk by the butt of the foremast floating alongside. The sailing launch and third cutter were lowered at the lee side in good condition.

Lt. Brainard took a volunteer crew in the sailing launch and pulled for the beach, getting through the breakers by the aid of the beach line. The third cutter, commanded by Ensign Magruder, also got ashore by hauling on the beach line.

Lt. Brainard took charge of the party on the beach and collected everything that came ashore. All kinds of canned provisions were lashed to gratings, ladders and light spars and were thrown overboard from the ship. The surf carried them upon the beach, where they were picked up and stowed in the boats. The whaleboats soon afterward came ashore with eight men and at last the life-saving catamaran was rigged with double-hauling lines and was pulled back and forth between the ship and the shore, landing six or eight men each time. Ensigns Gates and Magruder and Lieut. Brainard with some of their men waded into the surf and helped each party to the shore.

Commander Hyermann and Lieut. Forse were the last to leave the ship. When all were landed a camp was formed, although there was no shade and no shelter.

The cay is 600 feet long by 300 wide, and consists of coral formation, with little or no vegetable growth. The most serious deficiency is the lack of fresh water.

Although no one was seriously injured all hands suffered from minor cuts, bruises and exposure. All personal effects were lost. Most of the men had only one or two pieces of clothing.

No Word of the Rescue of the Kearsarge's Crew.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Secretary Herbert was anxiously looking all day for a despatch announcing the return of the rescue steamer, City of Para, to Colon with the officers and crew of the wrecked corvet Kearsarge, now lying upon Roncador Reef, 250 miles away, but up to a late hour this evening no despatch had come to hand.

Royalty in the Salvation Army.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The forces of the Salvation Army have just been strengthened by one of the most notable converts it has ever made. This time it is a member of the royal family. Prince Galitzin of Russia has succumbed to the earnest requests of the lads and lassies to live a better life. Prince Galitzin has not only been converted but has consecrated himself to the work of the army for life. He will thus sever his family connections, reject all earthly honors, give up home, income and comfort for the salvation of mankind in Siberia.

WORK ON THE TARIFF BILL.

The Senate Finance Sub-Committee Meeting With Much Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The sub-committee of the Senate Finance Committee engaged in the formulation of a Tariff bill for the consideration of the full committee finds it a difficult task to arrange a bill that will prove satisfactory to the conflicting elements in their own party. About the time they believe they have a certain schedule settled it meets the opposition of some Senators and the whole thing has to be considered anew. This appears to be the case particularly with sugar; and the Louisiana Senators have been loud in their protests against all the suggestions relative to this tax so far made by the sub-committee.

There is some evidence of a combination of sugar, iron and coal Senators, and their demands on the committee are causing it no end of trouble. The impression is growing that mutual concession will be the result.

Saturday the committee took up the subject of barley malt, and came to the conclusion that they would equalize the matter by fixing a duty of 30 per cent. on barley and barley malt, the bill as it passed the House putting barley malt on the dutiable list at 35 per cent. It is not now expected that the bill will be in shape to lay before the full membership of the Democrats at the meeting of the Finance Committee Tuesday. The impression is gaining ground that the income tax may be reported to the Senate as a separate measure.

The one event of the week is expected to be the vote in the House on the Bland Seigniorage bill, providing that measure is not side-tracked before the last legislative stage is reached. It is not expected in any event that a decisive vote can be had before Wednesday afternoon, and probably not before Thursday.

In the Senate there may be some renewal of the Hawaiian debate, as Senator Daniels and Senator Gray, the latter a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, have given notice of speeches on that subject, which will not probably be deferred until the report of the committee is made.

An adjournment over from Thursday till the following Monday is to be expected in order to give the committee now engaged in the revision of the tariff bill further opportunity to complete their labors. In the event that the Committee on the Judiciary should dispose of the Peckham nomination at to-morrow's meeting there may be a short but savage contest in executive session.

THEIR VAST INCOMES.

Millionaires Who Would Help Pay the Income Tax.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The Income Tax bill which passed the House of Representatives, and which is now in the United States Senate, provides, in its present form that incomes of $4000 and less shall pay no tax. Incomes of more than $4000, derived from whatever source, will pay a two per cent. tax only on the excess over $4000. The possessor of an income of $5000 must pay two per cent. on $1000. The tax upon corporations includes every phase of corporate stock. This tax is general; is without the $4000 redemption allowed on individual incomes. It is provided that in collecting the tax on corporate the corporation shall pay the tax and deduct the amount from the dividends of the stockholders.

There are in New York City, at a conservative calculation, the surprising number of 1157 individuals and estates that are each worth at least one million dollars. There are in Brooklyn 162 individuals and estates each worth at least one million. In the two cities there are then 1319 millionaires.

It is estimated that other millionaires would pay income taxes as follows: Russell Sage, $90,000; Henry M. Flagler, $60,000; Frederick W. Vanderbilt, $35,000; John Jacob Astor, $50,000; Louis C. Tiffany, $35,000; C. P. Huntington, $20,000; William Rockefeller, $60,000; Mrs. E. E. Shepard, $20,000; Mrs. Hetty Green, $40,000; Moses Taylor estate, $50,000; Robert Goelet, $25,000; Ogden Goelet, $20,000; I. M. Singer estate, $30,000; Pierpont Morgan, $25,000; David Dowes estate, $20,000; Elbridge T. Gerry and Mrs. Gerry, $20,000; Schemerhorn estate, $25,000; estate of Jabez A. Bostwick, $20,000; Theodore A. Havemeyer, $20,000; estate of W. Slaone, $20,000; Mrs. W. D. Slaone, $20,000; Henry Hilton, $20,000; Andrew Carnegie, $20,000; Mrs. McK. Twombley, $20,000; George W. Vanderbilt, $30,000; William C. Whitney, $20,000; estate of William P. Furness, $20,000; D. O. Mills, $20,000; Percy P. Pryne and Mrs. Pryne, $30,000; and many others whose estates are valued at $15,000,000 down to $1,000,000.

Congressman Wilson a Very Sick Man.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 12.—Saturday a change for the worse came in the condition of Congressman W. L. Wilson, who arrived in this city yesterday morning on route to Mexico. Mr. Wilson came to Kansas City to fill an appointment to speak here last night. At 7 o'clock last evening Dr. Porter positively forbade his leaving the hotel. To-day he felt better, and this evening the doctor thought Mr. Wilson could continue his journey Tuesday, but to-night the great tariff reformer was attacked by a high fever and is now a very sick man. It is doubtful if he will be able to leave here this week.

HIS FOOTSTEPS IN THE SNOW.

How Montreal Police Captured a Fur Store Burglar.

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—Messrs. Grose and Libervitch's fur store, 34 St. Henri-street, was broken into Saturday, and two men have been arrested for the crime. Mr. Moise Bastien, who lives over the store, was awakened by the noise and came down the stairs in time to see three men disappear with bundles under their arms. He called the police, and Constable McGrath arrested Thomas Dinnery, a moulder, living in Hermine-street, and telephoned for Detective O'Keefe. The latter traced footprints in the snow from store to store to 35 St. Maurice-street, where Samuel Dwyer lives. There was a light burning in the house and officers knocked for admission, but there was no response. Through the keyhole they could see the bundles of furs, so they broke open the door and arrested Dwyer. They found the furs hidden in various corners and took them to the police station. Before Judge Dugas this morning Dinnery and Dwyer both pleaded not guilty and were remanded.

TELEPHONES AT $1 PER MONTH

A New Phone Invented, But Not Yet Known in Canada.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—A special to The Sun from St. Louis, Mo., says: A new telephone company, to be known as the Harrison Telephone Co. of Missouri will be organized this week. It promises to supply a much improved telephone at a rental which will not exceed $1 per month, and perhaps be even lower.

WAR ON THE HOUSE OF LORDS

TO BE VIGOROUSLY PUSHED BY BRITISH LIBERAL LEADERS

Significant Speeches By Four Members of the Gladstone Government—Editorials In the Liberal Papers—Britain On the Eve of a Fierce Struggle.

It seems quite clear from speeches made last night by four members of the Gladstone Government and strikingly similar editorials in The News and Chronicle of this morning and The Speaker, a Liberal weekly organ, that the Liberal leaders have at last determined to make a vigorous and probably immediate war upon the House of Lords.

The House of Commons will meet again next Monday, and the annual meeting of the Liberal Federation will begin at Portsmouth on the same day. The program of the Federation, published to-day, indicates that "ending or mending" the Lords will be almost the sole topic of discussion and that the House of Commons must forthwith decide whether to accept the amendments by the Lords to the Employers' Liability and the Parish Councils bills, or by insisting on the original bills as passed by the Commons precipitate an ominous conflict between the two bodies.

Abolition Means Revolution.

The Chronicle frankly says the abolition of the House of Lords means revolution, adding: "The Lords have temporarily wrecked the three great measures of the session. They have rejected the Home Rule bill for the pacification of Ireland by such just redress as can now be offered for centuries of outrageous misrule. They have mangled the Employers' Liability bill in frank contempt for the virtually unanimous claim of the workers to effective protection of life and limb.

"They have mauled the Parish Councils bill, in sheer disgust that any part of village and parish administration should be taken out of the hands of the landlord and the parson and be conducted by the people themselves in their own way.

"The second chamber is an effete institution. It is useless and dangerous, and ought to be abolished with all convenient despatch."

The Controversy Calls for Immediate Settlement.

"Let the quarrel come," it exclaims. "We need hardly say what the quarrel is. It is the old controversy between the representative principle and the hereditary principle. That controversy has now reached an acute stage and calls for immediate settlement."

"Present appearances," says The Speaker, "indicate that we are on the eve of one of the fiercest struggles on record between the representative chamber and the body that represents only the absurd and exclusive privileges of a narrow caste."

"No Compromise," Cries Bannerman.

Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary for War, spoke at Newcastle last night of the fashion in which the unrepresentative Lords have emasculated bills passed by the popular majority in the representative Commons.

"The Lords," he said, "have asserted the obsolete privileges of their order and the selfish interests of themselves and their friends. Let the quarrel come. There must be no compromise and no yielding upon it."

Arnold Morley at Nottingham and Attorney-General Russell at Wisbeach used substantially the same terms, while Prof. Bryce, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, author of "The American Commonwealth," and regarded as the most conservative member of the Gladstone Government, expressed, perhaps, more radical views than his colleagues.

A Bar On Which Legislative Vessels Are Wrecked.

"The Liberal party," he said, "would have preferred to proceed with measures of social reform rather than be driven to mend the machinery of the government, if the Lords themselves had permitted them to do so. But if the Lords choose to force a conflict the conflict must be faced and an effort must be made to clear away this bar, on which so many vessels freighted with useful legislation have been wrecked. What would be the issue of a struggle between the hereditary House and the Commons of England few could doubt, and the Liberal party would be true to its best traditions in accepting it with promptitude and courage."

All this, in the present excited state of popular feeling, may presage startling events within the coming fortnight.

The Lords' Decisions Command no Respect

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The Daily News says that the immediate business of the Liberals is to fight the House of Lords, which cannot be reconciled with the theory or practice of representative government. After remarking on the "intolerable condition to which the peers have reduced public affairs" The News adds:

"The Lords are faithful only to the selfish interests of their class. Therefore their decisions command no respect. Since 1832 they have been almost purely mischievous."

John Burns' Radical Talk.

John Burns, M.P., said in a speech to his Battersea constituents this evening: "The country which sent King Charles to sleep without a head would stand no veto from Queen Guelph or Lord Salisbury. Let the people present to the Lords such a front as will induce the Queen and the Prince of Wales to tell Lord Salisbury: 'Imperil your own existence if you like, but do not damage our right of succession.'"

Gladstone Calls a Cabinet Council.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Summonses were sent to the Cabinet Ministers Saturday at Mr. Gladstone's direction for a council meeting on Monday, at which business of the most important nature is to be considered.

Gladstone Denies the Paris Interview.

Mr. Gladstone declares that the alleged interview with him which was published by The Paris Patrie on Feb. 8 was pure fiction. In this interview Mr. Gladstone was represented as saying that he would retain his office to lead the attack upon the House of Lords.

Revolutionary Placards In London.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Anarchists posted revolutionary placards on walls throughout the city Saturday morning. One man was arrested.

NATURALIZED A CHINAMAN.

The Action of a Kansas Judge Said to Be Illegal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Treasury officials are much exercised over a recent decision of a Kansas local judge who naturalized a Chinaman. The case has been called to the attention of Attorney-General Olney, who will make a thorough investigation into the matter. Under the law of 1882 Chinamen are prohibited from being naturalized by either State or Federal Courts and the action of the Kansas judge is regarded as inexplicable.

NEW YORKERS INSULT BLAKE

PARNELLITES ACCUSE HIM OF COVERTLY SEEKING OFFICE.

A Series of Questions on Irish Politics Prepared, But the Parnellites Were Not Admitted to the Reception—A Deputation Waits on Mr. Blake.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Hon. Edward Blake, M.P. for South Longford, Ireland, was tendered a reception by the New York council of the Irish National Federation of America at the Hoffman House on Friday, as previously reported.

It had been announced in advance that Mr. Blake would deliver an address upon the Irish cause and explain his own position and that of the Irish Nationalist party with reference to the attitude of Mr. Gladstone and the Liberals towards Home Rule. With this in view there was a meeting of Irish-Americans held at No. 158 East Forty-second-street Feb. 7, at which J. C. O'Connor, editor of The New York Club and Society Journal, presided and J. F. O'Grady acted as secretary. A series of questions on the present aspect of the Irish political situation was drawn up and printed for distribution, and it was announced they would be propounded to Mr. Blake at his reception.

The Blake people heard all about this, and as a result every precaution was taken to prevent Irishmen of Parnellite tendencies from attending the reception. A big policeman guarded each entrance to the banquet-room, and at the elevator and the staircase there were members of the Federation, who watched carefully to see that no enemy came up unawares. Ex-President Gleason said to the reporters that if any one insisted upon asking any questions he would be escorted out and little ceremony shown him in the process.

The Parnellites subsequently sent two of their number to wait on Mr. Blake at the home of Dr. Emmet, No. 89 Madison-avenue, and there submitted their views. To the first of these queries, which suggested that Mr. Blake was covertly seeking office under the British Government, Mr. Blake said: "This question is a direct insult, and as the others seem to be of the same tenor, I shall decline to answer any of them."

The deputation withdrew.

TWENTY-SEVEN MEN BURNED.

A Fire-Sergeant Burned to a Crisp—Many Others May Likely Die.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—A workingman upset a lamp at 10 o'clock yesterday in Vilmorin & Andrieux's seedstore in the Rue de Reueilly. The store caught fire, but firemen put out the flames before they reached any of the large receptacles of oil kept in the building. Afterwards the firemen went through the building to ascertain whether any sparks had been left. They carried safety lamps, but the workingmen who aided them had candles.

A workman inadvertently struck a candle against a receptacle containing 600 litres of oil. An explosion followed, and 10 firemen and 17 workingmen were thrown to the floor and more or less burned.

Fire Sergt. Bochat was killed instantly and his body was burned to a crisp. A fireman who stood beside him when the explosion occurred was so badly burned that he died a few hours later.

The eight other firemen and the 17 workingmen suffered severe injuries, which in several cases are likely to result in death.

Fire Caused By Lightning.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 12.—About 8 o'clock last evening, when the severe electric storm was passing over this district, the residence of Mr. Alexander Russ, farmer, lot 21, concession 6, Yarmouth, was struck by lightning and took fire. The building was burned to the ground. The building was valued at between $2500 and $3000. The loss will be at least $3000.

One Life Lost, Two Endangered.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 12.—One life was lost and two persons seriously burned in a fire at Corinth, Miss., yesterday. The residence of Mrs. W. E. Nichols caught fire and before the inmates could be rescued an invalid sister of Mrs. Nichols perished and two children received injuries which may prove fatal.

Colts' Firearms Factory Damaged.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 12.—Colts' Patent Firearms Manufacturing Company's factory was partially destroyed by fire involving a loss of nearly $250,000.

Tobacco Factories Go Up in Smoke.

HENDERSON, Ky., Feb. 12.—The tobacco factories of J. H. Parrett & Co. and R. H. Soper were destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $200,000; insurance, $79,000.

DEATH OF REV. DR. DOUGLAS.

The Blind Man Eloquent Called to His Long Home.

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—Rev. Dr. Douglas died at 3.30 p.m. Saturday. He passed away quietly, having been unconscious for a couple of hours. He was, no doubt, the most remarkable figure in the pulpit of Canada to-day. It is only a few months since he appeared in the pulpit, and his remarkable address on the social evil to the Christian Endeavor convention last summer will be remembered.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—A southwest gale has blown over Great Britain for the last 24 hours. In many districts trees have been uprooted, roofs have been lifted and chimneys and light buildings wrecked. Many accidents are reported from the coast and interior.

Storm On the California Coast.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—A frightful storm took place at Redondo yesterday and shipping in the harbor was badly damaged. Two fishermen lost their lives at Santa Monica. Shipping at Newport was also badly damaged.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Signed, T. S MCINTEE.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. C. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont, writes:—'I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

He that is never idle will not often be vicious.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by druggists throughout the world. 17d&wly

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, FEB. 12.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The Ontario credits the INTELLIGENCER with an extracted article which appeared in these columns a short time ago, but fairness has never been a characteristic of that journal.

Our contemporary locates the deserted town of West Lynne in Manitoba, instead of in Dakota, as stated in the extract referred to, but even if true that does not affect the assertion that it was impossible for people to live there because the farmers could not raise crops in that locality.

"The Grits never belittled our North-west," says our contemporary. By whom, then, was it said that that fair and fertile portion of the Dominion was "cursed with an arctic climate?" Was it a Tory or was it the Hon. Edward Blake who said so?

The Hansard for 1881, when the C.P.R. contract was under discussion, will best show what the Grits thought of the North-West. Mr. Mackenzie, after having gone over the line and seen fine crops on the alkaline lands, supposed to be barren, made an ample apology for his unfavorable remarks.

Memories of a famous controversy are recalled by the death in South Africa of Mrs. Colenso, widow of the celebrated Bishop of Natal, who was deposed from the episcopacy and excommunicated by his Metropolitian, the Bishop of Cape Town, for his great work on Biblical criticism, entitled "The Pentateuch and the Book of Joshua Critically Examined," which condemned the placing of the Biblical account of the Genesis on the same level of authority as the precise historical researches of modern times.

The remarkable discovery of a copy of a map by Columbus drawn on a letter written from Jamaica in July, 1503, is recorded by Nature. This, although only a rough pen and ink sketch, shows excellently the opinion of Columbus himself as to the part of the world he had reached, which he believed to be the east coast of Asia. The original map, drawn by Columbus and his brother Bartholomew, was presented to a priest named Hieronymo, who gave it, together with a subscription, to Alexander Strozzi, a noted collector of early voyages.

Longevity is by no means a thing of the past in England. The average age of the persons whose obituaries appeared in the London Times during the course of a whole week last month, was between 80 and 86 years, and such a record is said not to be uncommon. A person who lives a regular life, keeps employed, and does not worry, may expect to live long, if a start is made with a good constitution.

The Hop Trade.

This market is well supplied with hops, which are difficult to sell, especially the bulk of the offerings, which are only of medium quality. Brewers are buying very sparingly, now and then taking a small parcel of choice, which are scarce at 20c to 21c. Holders are trying to work up an export trade, and it is to be hoped that they will succeed, as the shipping of a good lot out of the country would no doubt materially help the present dull market here. A lot of Prince Edward county hops was sold recently at a very low figure, said to be in the neighborhood of 15½c laid down in Toronto, although it is reported the same lot was held for 23c last September. Here prices range from 14c to 16c, for medium grades of 1893, which are almost unsaleable; and if this class of hops could be got rid of by shipping them out of the country, a healthier state of affairs might be expected. Brewers can pretty well dictate their own terms on the bulk of the hops held here; but owing to poor quality they do not need them.—Trade Bulletin.

Correspondence.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

SIR,—In Saturday's Ontario a very interesting subject attracted my attention, a subject on which you have occasionally dwelt yourself, and on which you will please permit me to make some few remarks, that is, that the citizens of Belleville are anxious for a change in the municipal division of the city by lessening the number of wards, hoping thereby, as it is freely expressed, to lessen the number of incompetent aldermen, or in other words, wipe out Bleecker, Foster and perhaps Coleman or Murney wards with their representative incumbrances, and that the city's interests would be better managed without them by a few good and true men, wise as serpents and as harmless as doves and not unlike the scriptural shepherds hailing from the east, men who can be selected out of the offices on the line of Front street preferred, in whom is concentrated much of the wisdom of the city, more particularly in the distribution of offices, the regulating of salaries, and the giving of bonuses. Trifles in themselves which are sometimes magnified into mountains by those incompetent and refractory aldermen, which some people, in their simplicity and innocence, are so anxious to have their names stricken from the city's management.

I am aware, sir, that a small majority of the people voted in the affirmative on this question. I am also aware, from conversing with many of them, that it was done without proper reflection, and therefore counts for very little. Did it ever occur to those twelve gentlemen who were interviewed on the subject that the change contemplated was rejected without a dissenting voice when Belleville threw off its baby bandages and assumed the status and responsibility of a city?

Belleville's debt and high taxation were not caused by having too many Aldermen, but on the contrary a few more might have toned down those public spendthrifts who occupied the Council chamber at that time. The nest egg bequeathed to us then we are still hatching; are you still desirous to add to it another? The whole movement is for the concentration of power, non progressive and therefore not in the interest of the city, and we only hope it will get the six months' hoist when it is fairly before the Council.

The Council chamber is already fitted up for its present number of occupants. They may not be all versed in law or physic, but they are good common sense men, capable of judging fairly well. They cost the city nothing for their services; they look after the interests of their respective wards, which might otherwise be neglected, and as far as I can see, nothing but a restless diposition inherent in our very nature, would cause us to make the contemplated change.

JAS. MEAGHER.

Belleville, Feb. 12, 1894.

DEAR SIR,—The Women's Christian Association wishes to apologize through your paper to those tried friends whose gifts to the Hospital and Home have not been acknowledged in the last annual report. Owing to the Secretary's absence at the time the report was being prepared for publication various mistakes occurred. Among others a generous gift of twenty (20) cases of canned fruit and vegetables, value ($38,50) from Messrs. Carson, Morden & Anning, of the Belleville Canning Factory, was left unacknowledged and several donations were undervalued. We trust that all who find their values omitted will accept this apology. Thanking you for space I remain

A MURDEROUS MILITARY MACHINE.

The Invention of a Peaceful Private Citizen—A Cannon Ball Carrying Knives—A Machine For Mowing Down Men.

A Peterborough citizen, whom few would credit with cherishing truculent designs upon the enemy or of devising means of mowing six feet swaths through an army, has suggested Byron's description of one of his heroes—"The mildest mannered man that ever scuttled ship or cut a throat." Mr. O. B. Smith has invented a terrible engine of destruction for military use, the very sight of which sends shuddering squads of chills down a civilian's spine. Mr. Smith's invention consists of a cannon ball, to which are affixed two strong steel knives which, at rest, are folded something like the closed blades of scissors. In this form it is placed in the cannon, the points of the knives towards the muzzle. When the cannon is fired, the moment the projectile leaves the muzzle, by the action of springs, the knives expand laterally, assuming a shape something like this ——o——. In this shape the murderous missile speeds on its way, the ball being so poised that the blades go edge front, and mow a swath in width proportionate to the length of the knives. For a six inch ball the knives will be six feet in length from point to point. The destructive character of this missile may be easily imagined or the havoc it would make flying through the rigging of a ship. Mr. Smith's invention is to be submitted to the military authorities, and as the object of modern warfare is to kill as fast as possible, the merits of this mowing machine for men should command attention.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

A woman named Watson, who arrived in the city from Belleville on the mixed train last night, and put up at the Anglo-American hotel, was found dead in her bed at 11 o'clock this morning. Undertaker Reid took charge of the body.

The above item was taken from the Kingston News of Saturday. When the paragraph was shown to Chief of Police Newton he said he thought the woman was a Mrs. McDonald, who arrived in this city on Feb. 3rd and put up at the City hotel. She said she was a cook and had worked in Cavanagh's hotel in Peterborough. The woman, he said, had been drinking while in the city. She kept to her room until the 5th and was out and in until Thursday, when one of the servants missed some wearing apparel. Information was not laid with the police until Friday, when the articles were found in a second-hand store, but the woman McDonald had left the city. She had a trunk, but no money, and a gentleman advanced her money to buy her ticket to Kingston. The Chief also gave a minute description of the woman. Her left eye was sore and bloodshot; hair streaked with grey, banged in front; weight about 140 lbs; black hat trimmed with yellow feathers; Astrachan jacket ¾ length; blue dress. The chief is confident that "Mrs. Watson" and Mrs. McDonald are one and the same.

A BULLET THROUGH HIS HEART.

Lakefield's usual quiet was shockingly broken yesterday by a most deliberate suicide. About four o'clock William Mowry, a young man twenty-four years of age, ended life by shooting himself through the heart, while, it is supposed, he was temporarily insane.

The scene of the tragedy was a bedroom in the unfortunate young man's father's residence. It was about four o'clock when the report of a revolver was heard and upon investigation the prostrate form of the young man was found lying in a pool of blood which was oozing from a bullet hole directly over the heart. The revolver with which the deed had been committed, was lying beside the dying man. He had evidently been smoking just before or at the time he fired the fatal shot, as his pipe, still quite hot, was lying beside him. Dr. Bell was summoned immediately but death had claimed its victim before he arrived, the ball having penetrated the heart.

The deceased young man was a son of Mr. Augustus Mowry and was married about a year ago to Miss Kate Williams. About two or three months ago his wife left him. This affected Mowry and the reports of his matrimonial troubles which were in circulation seemed to depress him. He had been in a melancholy mood, and no doubt committed the act of self destruction while under one of these depressions.

An inquest was not considered necessary.

A Stroke of French Diplomacy.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The Chamber of Deputies Saturday, on motion of M. Casimir-Perier, Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs, voted 40,000 francs for the benefit of the families of the Italians who lost their lives in the riots at Aignes Mortes. There was no debate on the motion. The application of this money is considered to be a stroke of diplomacy, as it will enable France to avoid discussion and disputes with Italy over the attacks of the rioters on Italian subjects.

FELL DEAD IN HIS GIRL'S ARMS.

Rival Love Causes a Murder—The Assassin Also Shot.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 12.—At Johns, a mining town near here, Dennis Clements and Will Barge, rivals for Miss Cora Burgess, met at her house. A quarrel ensued and Barge drew a pistol and sent a ball through Clements' head, Clements falling dead in the arms of the girl. In resisting arrest Barge was shot dead.

Improving an Opportunity.

A man who was somewhat the worse for frequent libations boarded a Market street car the other day, and while he rode he kept the other passengers convulsed. After he had comfortably seated himself two young ladies got on. There was no room for them to sit down so the inebriated man remarked to two young men next him, "Why don't you fellowsh gesh up and givesh ladies sheat?"

Seeing that they did not move the man addressed himself to the two young ladies in about this style, 'Girlish, 'f I could shtand, you could have my sheat."

Here the conductor thought it time to interfere and admonished the well meaning fellow to be quiet under pain of being put off. This seemed to have the desired effect, for he kept still after he had said: "Conductor, I'm married man. Have to talk now, for after I get home my wife won't give me a chance."—Philadelphia Call.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and also you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Asthma Sufferers.

Who have in vain tried every other means of relief, should try "Schiffmann's Asthma Cure." No waiting for results. Its action is immediate, direct and certain, as a single trial proves. Send to Dr R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., for a free trial package, but ask your druggist first.

PARLIAMENT MEETS MARCH 15

THE DATE DECIDED UPON AT A CABINET MEETING SATURDAY.

By That Time it is Expected the Sub-Committee on the Tariff Will Have Finished its Labors and the Proposed Changes Will be Ready.

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—Parliament has been called for despatch of business for Thursday, March 15, by which time it is expected that the sub-committee on the tariff will have finished its labors and prepared such changes as it is intended to submit to Parliament.

The Government has decided that there will be no change this year in canal tolls.

Ottawa's Catholic paper, United Canada, comes out in favor of the ballot for Separate Schools. Under the caption of, "We are for the ballot" it says: "To deny the merits of the ballot system in school matters would be equivalent almost to denying the franchise to men who would be free in matters of state. The subject should be the sentinel of the state, but the crown should be the guardian of the subject. * * Our schools are the equal of any. We are convinced that the ballot would improve rather than affect the progress of our schools. We do not believe that many of those who asked for the ballot years ago were bad Catholics for so doing. We do not believe that the Separate schools would become less Catholic were the trustees elected by ballot in future. We are convinced that the ballot would bring to the Separate school boards an infinitely better qualified class of men."

PEEL PATRONS.

BRAMPTON, Feb. 12.—The Patrons' convention here Saturday decided to leave the fight in Peel to the two old parties.

Reformers Nominate Their Candidate.

The Liberals held their annual convention here Saturday. There was a very large representation from all parts of the county and no difficulty was found in the selection of candidates, Mr. Featherstone, M. P., and John Smith, M.L.A., being again nominated to contest the county at the next election for each House.

Field, M.L.A., Renominated In W. Northumberland.

West Kent Reform Candidate.

CHATHAM, Feb. 12.—The Liberal convention on Saturday nominated Mr. J. L. Pardo of Raleigh as a candidate for the Assembly.

WAS HANGED, YET LIVES.

Cut Down After 30 Minutes' Suspension and Revived By Physicians.

CAMDEN, N.J., Feb. 12.—A singular case is puzzling the physicians of this city and vicinity. Joseph Fowler, a carpenter, hanged himself to a tree in the woods near Lanesboro, Thursday. It is said that after Fowler had been hanging to the tree for half an hour he was discovered by two men and cut down. His body seemed lifeless. The coroner was notified and the remains were taken to his home. A doctor examined the body and thought he discovered a slight sign of life, and after working on Fowler for two hours revived him somewhat. He, however, had convulsions which continued all day. Several physicians have pronounced it a wonderful case and as yet cannot tell whether Fowler will recover or not.

SENTENCED TO BE HANGED.

Two Italians to Die May 10 For Killing a Compatriot at Grenfell, N.W.T.

GRENFELL, N.W.T., Feb. 12.—A. E. Jedino and Antonio Luciono, two Italians, were convicted on Saturday of the murder of G. Petralla, an Italian scissor-grinder, on or about June 10, 1893. The Crown examined 50 witnesses and the defence 40. The prisoners were sentenced to be hanged at Regina on May 10.

ASSAULTED BEFORE THE ALTAR.

A Brooklyn Priest Twice Struck by His Assistant During Mass.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 12.—A sensation was caused yesterday in St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church by an attack upon the pastor, Rev. William J. Hill, by his assistant, Rev. Patrick V. McDonald. Dr. McDonald had been appointed by Pastor Hill to celebrate the mass at 10 o'clock and also the high mass at 11 o'clock. During the celebration of the former the worshippers were amazed to see Dr. McDonald approach Father Hill, who entered to assist at the celebration and strike him a violent blow, felling him to the floor. Before Father Hill could arise Dr. McDonald came to the chancel rail, and gesticulating wildly exclaimed that there had been a conspiracy between Father Hill and Bishop McDonnell to drive him from the diocese. He then turned and again assaulted Father Hill. Parishioners finally rushed forward and held him until the arrival of officers. He was subsequently taken to St. Peter's Hospital for treatment in charge of an officer.

PLEADED GUILTY TO FORGERY.

Clarence Bigelow Signed Two Names to a Promissory Note.

HAMILTON, Feb. 12.—At the Police Court Saturday Clarence Bigelow, a young man, was arraigned on a charge of forgery. It was alleged in the indictment that he forged the name of Peter Ray and James Crane to a note for $100, dated Dec. 7, 1893, and payable six months after date. The note was made payable to Bigelow, and after being endorsed by R. O. Bigelow and the prisoner it was discounted at the Bank of Hamilton.

Bigelow pleaded guilty. The magistrate remanded the prisoner until to-day.

A Story of Blackmailing.

ROME, Feb. 12.—The trial of Pinto, the grain merchant, Chauvet, manager of the Exporto Romano, and Gallina, a treasury inspector, for defrauding the Government of 225,000 lire, has been continued daily since it began on Wednesday. Yesterday Chauvet caused a sensation by telling how Itala Del Popolo, a Radical journal in Milan, had blackmailed him. The management had got hold of photographs of several compromising letters sent by the witnesses to Pinto and had threatened to publish them. Chauvet eventually paid 2985 lire for the photographs of the letters and thus saved them from publication.

GAVE HER $4000.

For Alienation of a Husband's Affections Which Resulted Disastrously

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—For the alienation of her husband's affections Mrs. Julia Ethel Elliott received a judgment for $4000 at the Assizes Saturday afternoon.

Julia Ethel Elliott was married to W. O. Chute, a King-street tailor, in November, 1891. She claims that Mrs. Effie Giles came between her husband and herself and stole away his affection. Mrs. Chute says that her husband became so enamored of the other woman that go deserted his lawful spouse and left her to earn her own living. She claimed from Mrs. Giles $2500 for the alienation of her husband's affections and $1500 for depriving her of her means of support.

Mrs. Chute, who is a very prepossessing young woman, told her story. Her husband said that Mrs. Giles was his favorite because she reminded him of his first wife Ida. Mrs. Giles' side of the case was not gone into, Mr. Tytler, who was her counsel, saying that he did not know the whereabouts of his client. The jury returned judgment for the $4000 claimed.

TOTALLY ECLIPSED.

PORTLAND, Feb. 12.—The people of this neighborhood have not yet finished talking of the remarkable cure of diabetes effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills in the case of Dr. E. A. Rose, of this village. The doctor is authority for the statement that his case is totally eclipsed by that of a lady, a patient of his, whom Bright's disease had brought to the verge of the grave. He prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills for her, and thanks to them, she is now cured. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents a box, or six boxes for $2 50.

SPECIAL MENTION.

IF HEADACHE IS MISERY, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

THERE IS NO ARTICLE IN THE LINE OF medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

AN OLD RESIDENT GONE.

Mrs. Margaret Thompson Succumbs to an Attack of Pneumonia.

It is with regret that we announce to-day the death of Mrs. Margaret Thompson, relict of the late Alexander Thompson, and mother of Mr. M. M. Thompson, the genial manager of the Water Works and the Gas Works. The cause of death, which occurred Saturday, was pneumonia. The deceased was born in County Derry, Ireland, seventy-seven years ago, coming to this country with her parents, at about four years of age, and settling near the village of Brighton, where she lived about twenty years, when with her husband and children, she removed to Sidney township, about half a mile west of this city. Her husband died about six years ago, and she is survived by their two only children, Mr. M. M. Thompson, and Mrs. Harris, of Wilson, N.Y. Mrs. Thompson had been for several years a staunch member of Bridge Street church, and was highly respected by all who knew her. The funeral will take place to-morrow, from her late residence, 2nd con. Sidney, at 2:30 p. m., to the cemetery.

DIED AT CAMPBELLFORD.

An Esteemed and Charitable Lady Who Will be Greatly Missed.

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., Feb. 12.—Mrs. Gibb, one of the oldest, best known and most highly respected residents of this place, died suddenly on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Gibb and her deceased husband were among the first settlers here. She was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church for many years, being one of the first communicants. She was of a most charitable disposition and will be greatly missed by all. She was about 60 years of age and will be buried in the English church cemetery at 2 o'clock on Tuesday.

A Narrow Escape.

While Wesley Weese and some friends, of Rossmore, were going home last night from a visit to some relatives in Mountain View, their horses broke through the ice at a place about two miles from Massassaga Point school house, and the whole party came near being drowned. The horses were in the water for some time. They had to send for assistance to the farmers in the neighborhood, and after about one and a half hours succeeded in getting the team out, but not before they were thoroughly chilled. By rubbing, and running them about, however, they are getting around all right.

In going to Picton, parties driving on the marsh road should be careful, because it is very boggy in some places, and it is better to take the main road if possible.

She Made Many Friends.

Mrs. Braithwaite, of Barbadoes, who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ince from Bermuda as nurse, left our city at 11:50 to-day, much to the regret of many friends. While here she endeared herself to all whom she met, especially the people of Bridge st. Methodist church, who a few evenings ago expressed to her through the pastor and other representative members the influence her life had had on that church. And yesterday her going away was referred to in Sunday school, and in Mr. C. P. Holton's class a farewell service was held. Several gifts to Mrs. Braithwaite also testified to the esteem in which she was held.

A Favorable Opinion.

The Brockville Times says: "Belleville is again agitating for an electric railway. Mayor Walmsley proposes that the city should build a line on the Main street. Peterborough's line has given most encouraging results to an unexpected degree, and Belleville, with its depot at one, and its steamboat wharf at the other end of Front street, should be a bonanza for an electric road. The excursion traffic in the summer season would carry the company through."

A Narrow Escape.

The three-year old daughter of Jos. Farrell, proprietor of the Ontario House, Tweed, narrowly escaped being burned to death one day last week. Her clothes caught fire, and she was in a mass of flames, when her screams were heard by two men, who, running to her assistance, tore her clothes off, thus saving her life. She was badly burned about the hands and arms.

Union of Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Lorne W. Marsh went east on Saturday afternoon on a happy mission. This evening at Point Fortune, Quebec, he will be married to Miss Euretta Smith, a young lady who graduated at Ontario Business College last year. The happy couple will return to Belleville Wednesday evening.

CIRCLE OF CHURCHES.

INTERESTING SERVICES IN ALL THE CITY PLACES OF WORSHIP.

Song Service in John St. Presbyterian Church—Rev. Mr. Manning in Bridge St.—Miss Beach Sings at the Tabernacle.

The text of the morning sermon of Rev. M. W. Maclean, minister of St. Andrew's Church, was Nicodemus, a master of Israel,—St. John III : 11, "We speak that we do know and testify that we have seen." In the evening the second of the series of lectures on the higher criticism was given, the subject being "The Authorship of the Pentateuch." Next Sunday evening the story of the creation will be considered. The text was John v : 39, "Search the Scriptures." The sermon was a most able exposition of the positions assumed by those who, by deductions and inferences, sought to impugn the authorship of the books of the Bible and dealt with the arguments of the learned men who held these opinions in a very fair spirit, the speaker at the same time upholding and indicating the faith and the belief in the canonical scriptures. This course of addresses is proving most attractive, interesting and instructive, and it is to be hoped that Mr. Maclean will publish the result of his study and thought. The St. Andrew's Church Association hold an interesting meeting to night at which views of Westminster Abbey will be shown by Messrs. McRae and Biggar, together with a musical and literary programme.

The services yesterday in the Tabernacle were largely attended both morning and evening. Mr. Crossley, the pastor, preached at both services. The special feature of the services, however, was the singing of Miss Beach, graduate of Boston Conservatory of Music. In the morning she sang very sweetly "Nearer, my God, to Thee." In the evening she sang "The Holy City," in which her voice showed to great advantage. Many expressions of satisfaction were heard on every hand. It is seldom so sweet a voice is heard in our city. It clearly bears the mark of her eminent instructor, W. L. Witney, of Boston. Miss Beach sings again to-night at the concert and recital to be held in the Tabernacle. No doubt many will be attracted on account of her presence.

Rev. J. L. George, pastor, occupies the pulpit in John st. Presbyterian church both at morning and evening services, taking for his text in the morning 1st Chronicles IV., 9—10, subject "A Noble Prayer," and in the evening the Rev. gentleman preached an eloquent sermon on "Christian Manliness." At this service the music was particularly fine, the choir giving three anthems and a quartette, in which Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Miss E. Coleman and Mr. Fax took part, all of which were rendered in a manner well worthy the reputation of this choir, the time and expression being excellent. A very large congregation was present and much enjoyed the entire service.

Rev. R. Marshall at the Baptist church yesterday preached in the morning an instructive sermon from Romans VIII., 16—7, "The Spirit Himself beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God." Mr. Marshall treated separately some of the marks of our sonship. In the evening in the presence of a large congregation he spoke from John 8—2, "The truth shall make you free."

Rev. Mr. McCamus, the pastor, preached at both services in Holloway St. Methodist Church yesterday. His morning subject was "Religion and Moral Purity." In the evening he took for his subject "The Way, the Truth and the Life" The quarterly love feast took place at 9:30 in the morning and the sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered after the evening service.

In the absence of Rev. E. N. Baker yesterday, Rev. Mr. Manning, of Trenton, occupied the pulpit of Bridge St. Chuch in the morning and in the evening Rev. A. Baker, of Albert College, preached.

Rev. Mr. Manning, of Trenton, addressed the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon. There was a large number present and the words of the words of the Rev. gentleman were highly appreciated.

Rev. A. L. Geen preached at both services in Christ Church yesterday to good congregations.

KILLED ON THE RAIL.

Samuel Cook, of Brockville, Had Both Legs Cut off.

Samuel Cook, a brakeman of Brockville, met with a fatal accident on Saturday night about 12 o'clock at Napanee. He was going east on a way freight and when the train reached Napanee they had to take out a car, and in doing so they made what is know as a "flying shunt." Cook went down to pull the pin out to let loose the car, but his mate had already pulled it and he slipped and fell on the rail before the moving train. One leg was cut off entirely and the other horribly mangled. The sufferer died at 4:30 Sunday morning. His wife arrived half an hour later and her grief can be imagined. He leaves, besides his wife, nine children.

THE CALIFORNIA OPERA COMPANY.

"Said Pasha" abounds with sparkling music, and the ensembles furnish glorious outbursts of sweet song. Miss Josephine Stanton possesses a beautiful soprano voice of wonderful range. Miss Rita Harrington made a majestic Queen. Miss Adella Barker's acting was excellent, and her deep contralto voice was heard to good advantage. Mr. Henry Hallam's magnificent tenor voice delighted the audience. Mr. Tuck Springer gave a superb rendition of Said Pasha. The comedy roles are in the hands of those competent comedians, Messrs. Saunders and Henderson.—Chatham, Ont., Planet, Jan. 2, '94. At the Queen's opera house Thursday, Friday, Saturday matinee and evening—Feb. 15, 16 and 17. Prices, 15, 25, 35 and 50 cts.

Corrections.

In the list of city organization published in these columns on Friday last those of St. Andrew's church were somewhat mixed. Following are the societies and their presiding officers: St Andrew's Mission Band, Mrs. Thos. Stewart; W.F.M.S., Mrs. M. W. Maclean; Young Women's Guild, Mrs. A. Matheson; Supt. Sunday School, Rev. M. W. Maclean.

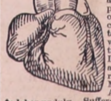
THE HEART



is liable to great functional disturbance through sympathy. Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, often causes it to palpitate in a distressing way. Nervous Prostration, Debility and Impoverished Blood, also cause its too rapid pulsations. Many times, Spinal Affections, cause it to labor unduly. Sufferers from such Nervous Affections often imagine themselves the victims of organic heart disease.

ALL NERVOUS DISEASES, as Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Epilepsy, or Fits, St. Vitus's Dance, Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Debility, Neuralgia, Melancholia and Kindred Ailments, are treated as a specialty, with great success, by the Staff of the Invalids' Hotel. THE PROPER SELECTION OF A STOCK

This is especially so in the Dry Goods business, where not only the quality, style and blending of shades have to be considered, but a thousand other things that would not occur to the uninitiated.

OUR FACILITIES

and experience enable us to place before our customers the very choicest selection of goods in our different lines that the markets of the world can produce. Mr. Ritchie is now in Europe visiting all the head centres of trade, and our Mr. Brown is this week in New York and Philadelphia making selections for his department of the newest products in Curtains, Rugs, Mats, Brass Goods, Poles and all kinds of House Furnishings.

CASH.

Buying our goods as we do from the best makers in the world for spot cash we do not hesitate to say that we cannot be undersold by any house in Canada.

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst, over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C, where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

MADEMOISELLE FAURIE'S CHOICE,

BY

MAURICE THOMPSON.

As is sometimes the case with persons subjected to a great pressure of dread, there came to Mademoiselle Faurie on the moment the stimulus of desperation, that, like some powerful drug, strengthened as if by magic every source of her bodily and mental energy.

If Delpit came, she would meet him calmly, as if he were a guest arriving late; she would dance with him, if possible, and if he should have to die, she would die with him.

The thought and the resolve, strange to say, brought her back to her composure, and afforded her a comfort that made her face glow, while her eyes, as the old diary expresses it, 'burned with splendid radiance remarked by all the company, so enhancing her exquisite beauty and loveliness that she looked like a very angel of light as she moved about strangely silent and smiling.'

O'Reilly regarded her furtively from a distance; his eyes, usually cold and steady flashing now and again a most intense feeling.

There was a suppressed but significant start, a rustle throughout the assembly, as promptly at the moment of midnight, Emile Delpit entered the hall.

A hush followed, and the mocking-birds singing their night-songs in the orange-trees hard by, were plainly heard. Surely, those tender phrases, as they rippled through the open windows, had something incomparably significant in them; for they seemed to be rendered in perfect accord with the undermeaning of the occasion.

O Reilly and Delpit met near the middle of the spacious hall. All eyes were upon them. They bowed low, and exchanged some words not heard by others, and then Delpit passed on, looking about, eagerly though calmly enough, for Mademoiselle Hortense, who had seen him the moment he came in, and was vainly trying to move toward him.

Despite all her courageous efforts, she stood like a statue, powerless, almost breathless, her heart rising to her throat and a deadly pallor overspreading her face. So soon as Delpit saw her, he sprang toward her, for he knew at a glance that she was suffering. He reached her too late. With a 'great cry, and flinging her arms above her head,' says the diary, 'she fell backward, and lay as one dead.'

Two physicians chanced to be present and by their orders Mademoiselle Faurie was borne to a couch. The rooms were soon cleared, for it was announced that the young lady had ruptured a blood-vessel; so the reception was at an end, and the unconscious cause of the sudden termination lay white as a corpse, unable to bear removal from O'Reilly's house.

Days and even weeks passed before Mademoiselle Faurie recovered herself sufficiently to know where she was or what had happened to her. Meantime her lover lay in prison; for he had been arrested promptly and put in chains. O'Reilly had shown no sentiment in the matter, but as soon as the company had departed and while the young man was still bending over Mademoiselle Faurie and holding her cold hand an officer with two soldiers seized him and took him away.

The affair caused a profound sensation in New Orleans, particularly among the French population; but there was scarcely anything said about it in public. The people were used to romantic and thrilling experiences, and they were too deeply impressed with the merciless power of O'Reilly to show any disposition to meddle with his administration, or to risk any, even the slightest, movement in behalf of Delpit.

Quietly, almost secretly, the young man was tried and condemned to death.

It was on the day set for his execution that the physicians informed O'Reilly that Mademoiselle Faurie's recovery was hopeless. Up to this time they had answered his; constant inquiries with encouraging words but now they frankly stated that nothing short of an almost miraculous turn could save her.

'She asks to see you at once,' said one of them, 'and I beg that you go.'

The firm face of the commandant changed expression, and he walked back and forth for a while in silence. He had not seen Mademoiselle Faurie since the night when she was borne senseless from the hall.

'What does she want?' he demanded, turning and confronting the doctor.

'I do not know; she is very weak, and simply asked to see you.'

O'Reilly motioned to the physicians to leave him and then continued to stalk to and fro, his eyes bent upon the floor. His countenance did not betray what thoughts might be in his mind.

Presently he lifted his head, as if some sudden resolve had been made, and forthwith sought the room where Mademoiselle Faurie lay like a pale, dying flower. Her mother sat by her bedside, and a maid-servant stood near. A window was open, through which the fragrance of roses and the gay twittering of birds came in on a gentle, balmy swell of air.

O Reilly bowed to Madame Faurie and went directly to the bedside. The poor girl smiled faintly and feebly extended her hand. He did not take it, but stood looking down at her. She motioned to her mother and the servant to leave the room, and when they were gone she turned to O'Reilly and said:

'I am sorry to be troublesome to you—very sorry; but I believe I am dying, and I feel that I cannot go without thanking you for the kindness you have shown to me.'

The man looked at her. A little crucifix of gold and ivory lay upon her breast, rising and falling to the feeble fluttering of her breath. His eyes fastened themselves upon that cross, and for a time he was like one in a dream. His whole past life arose befor him.

'One little favor I would ask,' the girl presently murmured.

He looked at her eyes with a start.

She toyed unconsciously with the cross.

'Get a dispensation, so that Emile may be buried beside me.'

O'Reilly began to walk to and fro. Presently, he stopped before her, and said, very softly:

'You are not going to die, Mademoiselle Faurie.'

'Yes I wish it. I am glad to die.'

'Glad to die?'

'Yes; at the very hour that he dies.'

She smiled and looked etherially beautiful as she said this.

He stooped and spoke a few words in a rapid whisper, as if he were afraid to trust himself to utter them aloud.

She raised both hands, drew down his head and kissed him.

'From that moment,' goes on the old record, 'Mademoiselle Hortense revived and grew better and better until she was quite restored to health. Emile Delpit was quietly released from prison, and there was a very happy wedding soon after.'

The account closes with a transcript the magical words whispered in the ear of Mademoiselle Faurie by O'Reilly:

'If you live I will spare Delpit; if you die I will have him shot an hour later. Make your choice.'

THE END.

THE FRENCH AND TIMBUCTOO.

Reinforcements Are on the Way From Algiers and Other Places.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—In the Chamber of Deputies Saturday M. Casimir-Perier made a long statement in regard to the disaster to the column, commanded by Col. Bonnier, near Timbuctoo. The Premier said that the Government had nothing to concede and it did not minimize the gravity of the situation, but this was not the moment, he added, to enquire whether there had been any act of excessive courage or imprudence. On learning that Timbuctoo had been occupied by the French troops the Government telegraphed to Col. Bonnie to return to France as soon as the circumstances permitted. In the meanwhile they counseled Col. Bonnier not to undertake any fresh act of aggression, and suggested that all possible prudential measures be taken. The Premier remarked that after having read the official despatch from the Governor of the Soudan he did not know whether the French officers were dead or whether they were only missing. But instructions had been sent to the Governor of the Soudan and to other Governors, with the result that reinforcements were on their way from Algeria and from other places, and it was expected that the French force at Timbuctoo would soon be relieved. There could be no question of evacuating Timbuctoo. [Cheers.] The incident, he added, conveyed a lesson to France, and she would not forget that the necessary measures should be taken to prevent its recurrence. "We are convinced," the Premier finally remarked, "that the Chamber does not desire to discuss the merits of the case at the present moment."

The interpellators then agreed to postpone any further discussion of the Timbuctoo question and the Chamber of Deputies adjourned.

There is a very strong impression that the news of the occupation of Timbuctoo has not been welcome to the Government. The Paris Eclair remarks that no one could tell exactly why Timbuctoo had been taken. A colonel was passing that way and he walked in. Colonels in the Soudan go up and down, describe a variety of zigzags, fight battles, take towns and sign treaties, and usually the Government does not interfere. Sometimes the Government ventures upon some remark, but it is understood that the colonels shall pay no attention to it. The Chamber may vote all the resolutions it likes, but the colonels will continue to wander about at their own sweet will. This regime has been in vogue for years, and this is what worthy colonists in Parliament call "Our great Soudanese policy," adds The Eclair with frankness.

Preparing for an Emergency.

MADRID, Feb. 11.—The cabinet yesterday discussed for hours special despatches received from Gen. Martinez Campos, in relation to his mission to the Sultan of Morocco. It is said these despatches state that the Sultan, while dilatory, accepts the principle of Spain's demands, though he quibbles over some of the details. As a result of the cabinet meeting, it has been deemed expedient to give Gen. Campos full powers for bringing to an end negotiations with the Sultan in consonance with the honor of Spain. The commanders of the Andalusian army corps and of the Spanish fleet have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for an emergency.

BLIZZARD IN KANSAS.

Two Feet of Snow—Street and Rail Traffic Suspended.

SALINA, Kas., Feb. 12.—The blizzard that set in at an early hour last evening has raged with great fury throughout the day, and to-night the snow is six inches deep on the level.

EMPORIA, Kas., Feb. 12.—The worst storm had here in the experience of old inhabitants now prevails. Over two feet of snow has fallen, with no signs of abatement. A terrific northwest wind blows. All trains in every direction are blockaded.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 12.—One of the fiercest snowstorms ever known of in this section began at noon Saturday and is still raging. Traffic on all street car lines was blocked by 6 o'clock this afternoon. Trains are from one to four hours late, with the condition rapidly growing worse.

Lobengula Reported Dead.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—A despatch from Cape Town to a news agency in this city states that Lobengula, King of the Matabeles, who was defeated and driven toward the Zanbezi River by the British South Africa Company's forces, is dead.

WILL BE SORRY HE SPOKE.

Fined and Imprisoned for Hoping M. Carnot Would Be Dynamited.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—M. Bretone, a writer on The Parti-Socialist, has been sentenced to two years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of 1000 francs for saying that if M. Carnot approved of the death of Vaillant nobody would pity him if his wooden carcase was dislocated by a bomb.

Amnesty For Sicilian Rioters.

ROME, Feb. 12.—Semi-official authority confirms the report that after the military tribunals in Palermo and Massa shall have finished their work, King Humbert will declare an amnesty for all those convicted by the tribunals, excepting the men found guilty of murder or pillage or other common crimes of a serious nature.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,

Saved Her Life.

Mrs. C. J. WOOLDRIDGE, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"One of my children had Croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it strangling. It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicines given, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and, in a short time, she was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

WILL BE A FIGHTING SESSION.

REFORMERS EXPECT IT TO BE THE LAST OF THIS PARLIAMENT.

The Country Will Be Flooded With Electioneering Literature From Ottawa in Anticipation of the Next General Election—Prince Edward Island Wants the Mail Subsidy Increased to $10,000.

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.—Speaking of the coming session of Parliament, The Journal last night said: "As far as the Liberals are concerned, it will be the fighting session, as they will count upon it to be the last of the present Parliament, whether that turns out to be the case or not. The country, therefore, will be flooded with electioneering literature from Ottawa preparing the people for the next general election campaign."

The Free Press, in commenting on the session, gives expression to the following oracular utterance: "The papers seem to be unanimous in prognosticating a long session, and if a dissolution is not ordered in two or three months it undoubtedly will be."

A deputation from Prince Edward Island is here to interview the Government with respect to getting the subsidy for carrying the mails between the Island and the mainland during the summer restored to $10,000, which was the amount paid up to last year, when it was reduced to $5000.

In the Exchequer Court this morning in the Queen v. the Great Eastern Railway Company the plaintiffs moved for costs, and the motion was allowed.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell left for Montreal this afternoon en route for Toronto, where he will attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association on Wednesday and deliver an address on his recent visit to Australia.

Mr. J. S. Larke, executive commissioner for Canada at the Chicago World's Fair, has been invited by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to attend their annual meeting on Wednesday and tell them something about the fair. He will leave for Toronto to-morrow night.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

All Ready for the Opening of the Session To-Morrow.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—The rather staid and unfrequented passages of the Parliament Buildings have assumed during the past few days an appearance of unwonted activity, as preparations are being made for the approaching session of the Legislative Assembly, which opens at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

The lofty chamber in which the provincial legislators hold their deliberations has since last spring been completely finished in accordance with the designs of the architect, and the carving which has been placed on the galleries, although not very showy, is quite appropriate for the purpose in view.

All the Ministers will be at their posts to-day, and everything is in readiness for the duties of to-morrow.

It is understood that the escort of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be furnished by A troop of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, under command of Col. Turnbull, and by No. 2 Royal Canadian Infantry, under command of Lieut. Laurie.

MRS. MORRISON WAS GRIEVED

On Finding That She Had Advanced $6000 For Two "Gold Bricks."

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Harriet Morrison of Jackson, Mich., a wealthy widow of 74 years, accompanied by Charles Helling, the husband of her adopted daughter, and Dr. Blanchard, the family physician, presented themselves at the United States Mint yesterday with two heavy bars of metal which they supposed to be gold and worth $30,000.

The men carried the metal, which weighed 85 pounds, in a grip and the trio announced that "they had gold bullion to sell." The mint attaches made an assay of the metal and discovered that it was nothing more than a low grade of copper and zinc and worth but eight cents a pound.

Thirteen years ago Mrs. Morrison advanced $6000 to a nephew, and recently a stranger came to her with two cupola-shaped bars, which he said were mined by her nephew in British Columbia and were worth $30,000, which the nephew wanted to give her as security for an additional loan. Mrs. Morrison paid the intermediary $6000 and then the trio named above started East to sell the "gold."

RAMMED PIEXOTO'S TRANSPORT.

LISBON, Feb. 13.—The British steamer Iberia, from South American ports, arrived yesterday. She sailed from Rio Janeiro Feb. 28, and brings advices to that date. According to these advices, which come from insurgent sources, the insurgent cruiser Republica had come up with the Government transport Itaipu, which was conveying several hundred troops and munitions. The Republica is said to have rammed the Itaipu, cutting her down to the water's edge. The transport, it is asserted, filled almost immediately and went down, carrying every soul on board with her. It was previously reported via Buenos Ayres that the insurgents had captured the Itaipu.

Admiral Mello, aboard the insurgent warship Republica, is off Rio Janeiro. President Peixoto has stopped the water and gas supply of Cobras Island, which is held by the insurgents, and Admiral Gama has threatened to fire at the President's palace unless the supplies be restored. The Government's arrangements for loading and unloading merchantmen have been suspended and traffic has been temporarily stopped.

JILTED A MILLIONAIRE.

A Kansas Belle Elopes and Weds a "Society Boy."

EMPORIA, Kan., Feb. 13.—Last evening Eva Baxter, an acknowledged belle of the best society, left her home ostensibly to visit a friend and was driven to a minister's and married to Frank Folson, a society boy. Over a year ago a Mr. Dean, a millionaire of Chicago, became infatuated with Miss Baxter, proposed and the parents insisted on the marriage to Miss Baxter's dislike. The wedding was to occur in April. Yesterday it was arranged for Miss Baxter to go to Kansas City to buy her wedding clothes. When she learned that Dean was there and her parents would insist on her marrying him immediately, the elopement followed.

Sudden Death in St. Catharines.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 13.—Joseph Cameron was feeling quite well yesterday and was out around the cemetery in the afternoon. In the evening some of the members of the family went to church and after they returned Mr. Cameron was taken suddenly ill with pains about his heart and in 15 minutes he was dead.

STORMS ON TWO CONTINENTS.

Gales Throughout Europe—Blizzards in America.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The gale which set in in Great Britain late Saturday night continued to gain in violence during yesterday, and in the afternoon the wind was blowing with hurricane force.

Telegraphic communication has been greatly interfered with and details of the damage done are being received slowly.

A peculiar feature of the storm was the destruction wrought among the churches.

At Teignmouth, in Devonshire, a church in course of erection was entirely destroyed. The spire of St. Mary's Church at Shrewsbury, County of Salop, was blown down. At Peterborough, County Northampton, the pinnacle of the parish church of St. John was blown over, and the glass roof of the Great Eastern Railway station was destroyed. The English Presbyterian Church at Holywell, Flintshire, Wales, was also among the buildings wrecked. A boarding school and many dwelling houses in the town were also blown down.

At Newport, in South Wales, the roofs have been blown off a number of houses.

It is feared that there have been many wrecks along the coast. Several vessels have gone ashore off Margate and Ramsgate, Isle of Thanet.

At Dudley, in Worcestershire, a number of factory chimney stacks were blown down. In several instances the falling chimneys struck the factories, causing great damage. In this town many persons were injured and scores of houses were unroofed.

Communication between London and the Continent is completely cut off.

A broken lifeboat with the word "Liverpool" painted on the bow has been washed ashore in Sangland's Bay.

Hartlepool, County of Durham, which is situated on an almost insulated promontory, was exposed to the full force of the storm, and considerable damage was done in the town. Tall chimneys of dwelling houses in the town were blown down. The bricks crashed through the roof of one, falling upon the family, who were congregated in the top story. Two children were instantly killed and their parents were badly injured.

At Stockton-on-Tees, also in the County of Durham, a number of dwelling houses and shops were unroofed.

The Resolver went ashore yesterday. The Caistor lifeboat succeeded in taking off the 75 persons on board.

A tremendously high sea was running in the Channel, and steamers plying between England and France and England and Belgium were more or less delayed. Those steamers plying between New Haven and Dieppe did not venture out of port.

Despatches are coming in from various places reporting the wrecking on Saturday of vessels. Fortunately there has been thus far small loss of life.

The schooner Brilliant went ashore at Cairnyan, County Wigton, Scotland. It is thought she will be got afloat again.

The Prince of Wales' yacht Britannia, which is to sail in the regatta at Nice, was compelled by stress of weather to put into Plymouth Sound, where she will remain until the storm abates sufficiently to allow her to proceed.

The roof of a house at Iron Bridge, Shropshire, fell in, crushing the occupants beneath.

The wall of a factory at Oldham, Lancashire, was blown down. Close beside the wall there stood three cottages. Upon these the huge mass of brick and mortar fell, injuring many people.

A despatch from Greenock states that the Norwegian barques Bertie and Tancred have been wrecked there. A quay at Port Glasgow was carried away.

The British barque Wilhelm Tell, from Calcutta, which was discharging cargo at the Alexandria Dock, Hull, was sunk by the gale.

In West Cork the gale has caused immense damage to property.

Two girls who were in bed asleep at Wolverhampton, Staffordshire, were instantly killed by a chimney falling upon them through the roof of the house. Five persons were injured by a falling roof.

The wind overturned a tramcar running between Wolverhampton and Dudley. Twenty passengers were slightly injured.

FREE TRADE FOR FRANCE.

Deputy Roux Declares That Protection Is Ruining the Country.

PARIS, Feb. 13.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday Jules Charles Roux, a well-known manufacturer of Marseilles, a member of the Tribunal of Commerce and Chamber of Commerce of that city, made a speech in opposition to the corn tax proposals of the Government. He declared that the acceptance of these proposals would lead to the destruction of French commerce and would increase the price of bread, which was already much dearer in France than in any other country. Protectionism, he declared, was ruining the country. The statistics showed that since a protective policy had been adopted there had been a yearly falling off of 2,000,000 tons in the amount of freight carried in France. This policy was a suicidal one, and he urged that the Government go back to some form of free trade.

HIS PRISONER DIED.

And the Policeman Had to Read the Burial Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The steamer Alps which arrived here from Jeremie, Hayti, where recently 45 buildings were destroyed by a fire believed to have been started by people dissatisfied with the Government, reports that all was quiet at that place at time of departure. One of the incendiaries, it was learned, was tried, found guilty and sentenced to be shot, which was carried out.

The Alps brought as passenger United States Marshal Henry, who went to Hayti for the purpose of arresting a man named Huntington, who is said to have stolen $20,000 from Cleveland, Ohio. Huntington at last consented, after much urging on the part of the marshal, voluntarily to board the Alps. On the day he was to have gone aboard he died and Mr. Henry, instead of acting as his custodian, attended the funeral and in the absence of a clergyman officiated as the minister at Huntington's grave.

MURDERED IN A CHURCH.

One Negro Shoots a Rival While Service Is in Progress.

FLEMINGSBURG, Ky., Feb. 13.—At a negro church at Nepton, in this county, Sunday night about 8 o'clock, while services where in progress, a quarrel arose between two young colored toughs over a young colored woman in the congregation and a general fight ensued.

Pandemonium reigned supreme for a quarter of an hour and song books flew in every direction. The deacons and preacher shouted for order, and the fight came to a climax by a young negro of a tough reputation jerking out a revolver and shooting Walker Bradley between the eyes, killing him instantly. In the general rush from the house that followed the murder he made his escape and has not yet been captured.

FIGHT AGAINST THE LORDS.

"A HOUSE OF HEREDITARY LEGISLATORS INTOLERABLE."

A Resolution by the National Liberal Federation That the House of Lords Has Existed Too Long—A Survival of Mediævalism, Says The Daily News.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—After the Cabinet council concluded yesterday the Executive Committee of the National Liberal Federation obtained permission to put a resolution before the annual meeting of the Federation on Thursday declaring that no further mischievous meddling by the House of Lords shall detract from the work of charter reform which the representative House is authorized to carry out. It is reported that the delegates will be asked to approve a resolution declaring that the continuance of a House of hereditary legislators has become intolerable and that the House of Lords has been allowed to exist too long.

DAY OF FORGIVENESS IS PAST.

Even Should the Peers Repent It Is Too Late.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The meeting of the National Liberal Federation in Portsmouth opened yesterday. Robert Spence Watson, the president, said in his introductory address that he rejoiced in the recent conduct of the peers. The had acted in the manner best calculated to bring to the front the question not of mending but of ending them. The day for forgiving the iniquities of the peers, even if they should repent, had gone.

Upper House a Danger to the State.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Liberal and Radical Union at its meeting to-day passed a resolution denying the right of the House of Lords to return to the country the bills passed by the House of Commons. The resolution also condemned the institution of the Upper House as a danger to the state.

Insulted by a Survival of Mediævalism.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Daily Chronicle, commenting on the re-opening of Parliament, remarks that "there could scarcely be a more humiliating position for a popular assembly than is the case in Great Britain with the House of Commons, baffled and insulted by a survival of mediævalism which exists for no other reason under heaven but to afford a cover for anti-popular, reactionary and despotic sentiment.

BRITISH ELECTIONS IN A MONTH.

Rumor That Gladstone Will Go to the Country at Once.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—A meeting of the Cabinet was held at the official residence of Mr. Gladstone in Downing-street yesterday, prior to the re-assembly of the House of Commons. It is stated that Mr. Gladstone proposes to drop the Parish Councils bill and the Exempt Employers' bill and to make an appeal to the country within a month.

DEVONSHIRE AND SALISBURY.

Will the Former's Party Support Salisbury Against the Commons?

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Duke of Devonshire, leader of the Liberal-Unionists, has called a meeting of his Parliamentary party for Thursday. This meeting will be asked to decide whether or not the party shall support Lord Salisbury against the Commons. Joseph Chamberlain, Liberal-Unionist leader in the Commons, will advise the peers to surrender rather than provoke the decisive conflict.

BLOWING 80 MILES AN HOUR.

People Blown Against Walls and Posts in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—The worst blizzard that ever struck this city, so far as the weather bureau records show for 23 years, is raging here. Street traffic is greatly impeded and walking is accompanied with great danger to life and limb. Many persons have already been injured by being blown against walls and street posts by the wind. The velocity is 80 miles an hour, the highest ever recorded for this city and almost double the velocity of the wind which is blowing a blizzard in the Western States.

Dozens of women were lifted off their feet or blown to the ground or pushed across the streets until they came in violent contact with walls, posts and other obstructions.

Mrs. Brahany of 361 Clinton-street, a charwoman at the Art Institute, was lifted in the air and dashed against the fire plug on Dearborn-street. Two of her ribs were broken and it is believed she is internally injured. She lay in the snowdrifts until men rushed to her assistance and she was taken home. Civilians and policemen became a volunteer brigade and on the principle that in union there is strength they locked arms with the belated office workers and crossed in fifties.

50 PERSONS ON TRIAL AT ONCE.

The Pittsburg Rioters Arraigned—Two of the Crowd Plead Guilty.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 13.—All of the foreigners of the Mansfield Valley seemed to be present at the court house yesterday, either as witnesses or spectators, at the trial of the 58 men charged with riot. Judges Ewing and Magee occupied the bench. The trial of 58 men at one time is something unprecedented in the history of Allegheny County. The jury was completed by 11 o'clock, and Mr. Burleigh opened the case for the prosecution. He announced that two of the prisoners had pleaded guilty. A number of witnesses swore to the destruction of property and identified a number of the men as being in the mob.

CHAMPION GAUDAUR TALKS.

He and Hanlan Will Go to England in July—Jake's Movements.

ORILLIA, Ont., Feb. 13.—Jake Gaudaur was seen yesterday in regard to his future movements.

"I have just had a letter from John Crotty of Austin, Texas, telling me that the regatta there will be held about May 20. It is likely, therefore, that I shall leave for Texas on April 1. After the Austin regatta I will probably row at Boston on July 4, and then leave for England, where myself and Hanlan will row Sullivan and Harding, and if Hanlan is as good as he was last year we will make a team fast enough to row any pair in the world.

"I received a cablegram from Sullivan a few days ago challenging Hosmer and myself to row on the Thames for $25,000. I have replied that I would take Hanlan for a partner and accept the challenge and I expect an answer in a few days. If this double scull race is not arranged I shall go to England any way in July and try to get on some single races. As near as I can tell now we will be in England early in July and will be ready to row double or single any time after the first of August."

The Dodging Churchman.

BY JENNIE SAYERS.

I'm a temperance man, I will do what I can,
I will earnestly talk and pray;
I will labor with might for the cause of right,
But I cannot vote that way.

With eloquence warm I will urge reform,
Let all the world take note;
I never shrink from temperance work
Excepting when I vote

I will labor so that the world may know
I'm a zealous temperance man;
I will talk of laws that will aid the cause,
But I cannot vote the plan.

My tongue will delight to talk of right,
I will speak its praise each day;
I will urge it strong on the listening throng,
But I cannot vote that way.

Archdeacon Farrar's Testimony.

It is a fortunate thing for England that one of its most honored and most respected divines, Archdeacon Farrar, the honored Chaplain of the British House of Commons, and one of the ablest dignitaries in the Church of England, has had his soul fired on the great Temperance question as few other men have. He seems instant in season and out of season in his efforts to promote the Temperance movement in the nation, not only by moral influences but by legal enactments. He is thoroughly convinced, as every Christian worker should be, that legal enactments must be invoked to assist in the removal of the terrible temptations which destroy so many otherwise excellent people.

In a recent thrilling address the Archdeacon related the following facts in his own experience, which tended to rouse up his zeal in the work: "At the entrance of one of our college chapels lies a nameless grave; that grave covers the mortal remains of one of its most promising fellows, ruined through drink. I received not very long ago a letter from an old school fellow, a clergyman, who, after a long and arduous labor; was in want of clothes, and almost of food. I enquired the cause; it was drink. A few weeks ago a wretched clergyman came to me in deplorable misery, who had dragged down his family with into ruin. What had ruined him? Drink. When I was at Cambridge, one of the most promising scholars was a youth who, years ago, died in a London hospital, penniless, of delirium tremens, through drink. When I was at King's College I used to sit next to a handsome youth who grew up to be a brilliant writer; he died in the prime of life, a victim of drink. I once knew an eloquent philanthropist, who was a very miserable man. The world never knew the curse which was on him; but his friends knew that it was drink. And why is it that these tragedies are daily happenings? Is it through the fatal fascination, the seductive sorcery of drink, against which Scripture so often warns? It is because drink is one of the surest of "the devil's ways, and of man's ways to the devil."

HIT THE JUDGE ON THE NOSE.

A Paris Anarchist Defiant While Being Sentenced.

PARIS, Feb. 13.—An Anarchist named Boisson, one of the many arrested during the recent police raids on Anarchist haunts, was placed on trial yesterday and convicted of having explosives in his possession. The judge sentenced him to four months' imprisonment. Boisson stood in a defiant attitude while sentence was being pronounced. As the judge concluded the prisoner, who had a large piece of bread in his hand, drew back his arm and threw the bread at the judge. The missile struck the judge on the nose. As Boisson threw the bread he shouted, addressing his remarks to the court and attendants: "You are a crowd of pigs. We will blow you all up. Long live Anarchy!"

The act of the prisoner created great excitement in court, many of those present thinking the piece of bread was a bomb.

RUPEE PAPER RALLIES.

The Times of India Calls the Silver Policy a Scandal of the First Magnitude.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Rupee paper is quoted at 58½, as against 57 yesterday.

A despatch from Calcutta notes that The Times of India severely condemns the policy of the Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for India, saying:

"A decline of three halfpence in exchange will result before the end of the year in a loss of 216 lakhs of rupees. Thus, to sell 48 lakhs of rupees the Earl of Kimberley has thrown away 216 lakhs. The whole question must be dealt with by Parliament directly it assembles. It is a scandal of the first magnitude."

Declaration of Independence Filed Away.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Yesterday the original copy of the declaration of Independence was withdrawn from public exhibition in the State Department library, made into a roll and placed in a tin box for filing in the archives of the Government. The rapid fading of the text of the declaration and the deterioration of parchment on which it is engrossed from exposure to the light and on account of age rendered it impracticable for the department to allow it to be exhibited or be handled longer. In lieu of the original document a fac simile will be placed on exhibition.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Signed, T. S. MCINTEE.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. C. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tight ness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

He that is never idle will not often be vicious.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY FEB. 13

THE REV. DR. DOUGLAS' DEATH.

As might be expected in so great a centre of Methodism as this city is, the illness of the Rev. Dr. Douglas has been watched with interest, and the intelligence of his death has created profound sorrow. As a pulpit or platform orator, and a commanding personalty, he does not leave his peer behind him, in that church. While many of his large circle of intimate friends often differed with him in the opinions he so fearlessly expressed, none doubted his sincerity. Unlike many men of strong intellect, he was the opposite of exclusive. His affections for persons and places were ardent, and from well informed sources we learn that this city was one of the places that came near his large heart. He has often been heard to say that he never refused an invitation to visit Belleville if in his power to accept it.

With the Rev. Dr. Ryerson, and the Rev. Dr. Lachlin Taylor he dedicated, in 1865, the Bridge St. Church, and when he returned in May, 1887, to dedicate it after the fire, his references to the first dedication and the men who were with him were many and touching. Who of the hundreds that were present in the Bridge St. Church on the evening when the vote was taken which decided, after so many days of debate, whether the Methodist Church of Canada would accept the basis of union for uniting the different Methodist churches in one, will ever forget the historic scene when Dr. Douglas arose to speak, and the effect of his eloquence on that conference and the multitude who listened to him. Up to that hour the decision hung in the balance, but when he declared "we cannot go back, the voice of God says, go forward," the Union question was settled. In his death the most numerous Protestant denomination in this land loses her greatest man and every Protestant church and philanthrophic society one of their most eloquent champions.

SATISFACTORY BUT SAFE.

"Sir Oliver Mowat promised everything the wildest prohibitionist could have asked him to promise, and yet he promised nothing which it would have paid him to refuse, and nothing which is likely to cause him the slightest inconvenience in the future.

"According to promise, Sir Oliver, if he is in power, will pass a prohibitory law if the Privy Council decides that the province has power under the British North America Act to prohibit the manufacture, sale and importation of liquor.

"The Privy Council is not likely to decide that the province has such power, and Sir Oliver will never be inconvenienced by that clause in his pledge.

"Then, if the Privy Council limits the power of the province, Sir Oliver Mowat promises to give as much prohibition as the law will allow, if the temperance people want that.

"But the temperance people will not take partial prohibition. The Privy Council will not allow the Ontario Government to give them total prohibition. The end of it all will be that Sir Oliver, if he lives and remains in power, will see the prohibitionists leaving him alone and clamoring at Ottawa for an act to complete the prohibitory law which the Ontario Legislature is willing to pass."

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

Rev. Simon Roundtree, a colored Baptist preacher, of Lincoln, Neb., although 99 years old, thinks matrimony is far from a failure. He was recently married for the eighth time. The latest Mrs. Roundtree is forty-four years his junior.

The total majority for prohibition in the Province was 81,730. Northumberland and Durham gave the largest majority for the act, 4,882, and Prescott and Russell the largest against, 1,619. Three counties, one city and one town gave majorities against.

An English paper which has been taking a ballot on the subject of favorite names for the boys and girls, received 4,000 replies. A list of thirty-one boys' and thirty-three girls' names was submitted, and the voting showed Harold and Dorothy to be the two most popular appellations.

The celebrated "Queen's pipe" at Portsmouth, a furnace in which for many years all seized contraband tobacco has been burned, has just been abolished. The tobacco will in future be supplied to the troopships, for the use of troops during passage from port to port, and possibly to the ships of the navy in general.

St. Andrew's Church Association.

The entertainment given last night by St. Andrew's Church Association was heartily enjoyed by those who were brave enough to face the stormy night—which quite a number did. The programme given was excellent and consisted of a piano solo by Mrs. J. L. Biggar. Miss Fanny Casswell rendered beautifully a song entitled "A Bunch of Cowslips." Mr. Maclean, who was in splendid voice, sang 'Bonnie Doon.' Mrs. York, in her own charming way, gave 'Ave Maria.' A feature of the evening was stereopticon views of Westminster Abbey, shown by Mr. J. L. Biggar and Mr. T. W. R. McRae, and a short historic account of the venerable building by Mr. Maclean. Miss Casswell again gave another pretty song, after which refreshments were served. The singing of Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem brought to a close a happy pleasant gathering.

A Sad Death.

Many persons in the city, especially the legal fraternity, were shocked to hear of the death of Wm. H. Nesbitt, of the law firm of Riddell & Nesbitt, of Brighton, which sad event occurred late on Friday night last. Mr. Nesbitt cut his hand some days ago, but the wound was not thought serious until blood poisoning set in, which caused his death. The deceased was thirty years of age and had been practising his profession about five years. Sadder still is the fact that he was shortly to be married to an estimable young lady of Brighton. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was largely attended, a number of prominent people being present from Trenton.

Two Funerals To-day.

The funeral of the late James Campbell took place at 11 a.m. to day, from the Gibson House to the cemetery. Rev. D. F. Bogert officiated. The bearers were Messrs. Jas. Harold, A. T. Petrie, M. Donohue, C. Hudson, — Conlin, and John Bonar.

The funeral of the late Margaret Thompson, which took place at 2:30 this afternoon, was largely attended. Rev. E. N. Baker conducted the services at the house, and at the cemetery. The bearers were, Messrs. G. S. Johnson, Allan McFee, W. Brenton, H'y Vandewaters, Anson Jones, and Samson Young.

The Anglo-American.

It will be learned with satisfaction by the travelling public that the Anglo-American hotel has been leased by Mr. S. A. Hyman, representative of the Ashton estate, to Mr. Daniel Coyle, the present tenant, for a further term of seven years. Mr. Coyle has been a highly popular landlord and has largely increased the business of the house, which he has conducted in a very satisfactory manner. We wish him continued success.

A Boon and a Blessing to Men.

Tea is an agreeable exhilarator of mind and body combined with a feeling of contentment and placidity and a cool and fresh feeling of the body.—Dr. Newton, New York. The pedestrian's best beverage, familiar and oft caluminated, tea.—Lord Lytton.

Stroud's teas are imported direct from the tea gardens. They will please you when others fail.—Stroud's Tea Store.

No Fit, No Sale.

No matter how much we advertise, no matter how much we talk, some men still have a prejudice against made up clothing. Like everything else it has improved and the Oak Hall are now able to give you as nice a suit as a tailor at a much lower price. You have the privilege of trying on every garment before parting with your money.

Artificial Condimental Foods.

The best English authority, Stonehenge, reviewing this subject, states that these foods costing on an average of $200 per ton, are not as good as the oil cake, costing only one-fourth as much, or $50 per ton, but he says if the farmer must have these foods why not make them himself and not pay manufacturers and middlemen from two to three hundred per cent. profit; and in order that the farmer can manufacture it himself Stonehenge gives the following as being the best in use in Great Britain at the present time:

| | Lbs. |
|---|---|
| Locust bean, gound | 600 |
| Indian corn | 900 |
| Linseed cake | 300 |
| Powdered turmeric | 40 |
| Sulphur | 40 |
| Saltpeter | 20 |
| Liquorice | 27 |
| Ginger | 3 |
| Aniseed | 4 |
| Coriander seed | 10 |
| Gentian | 10 |
| Cream tartar | 2 |
| Carb of soda | 6 |
| Antimony | 6 |
| Salt | 30 |
| Peruvian bark | 4 |
| Fenugreek | 22 |
| | 2000 |

Looking at this composition we find that the first three ingredients constitute ninety per cent., the balance being a few spices and drugs that are of mighty little account. This costs in England one cent a pound to manufacture and no doubt a good deal less in this country. So you see the manufacturer and retailer can laugh in their sleeves at the farmer when he sells him the wonderful food at several cents per pound.

If the farmers who read this article will take a fool's advice they will raise more roots and in place of feeding artificial rot at several cents per pound get the oil cake, or what is better, the pure linseed meal, that is far more fattening and several times cheaper for all kinds of stock,

Yours truly
D. H. Ackerill, V.S.,
Belleville.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC TIME.

Presentation and Address by the Students of Ontario Business College to the Principals.

There never was a more enthusiastic meeting held in the city than that which took place at 3:30 yesterday afternoon at Ontario Business College, when the students crowded into the large assembly hall for the purpose of presenting an address and other tangible marks of their esteem and gratitude to the worthy principals, Messrs. W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson. The address, which was admirably read by Mr. R. J. Templeton, is as follows:

Messrs. Robinson and Johnson, Principals of Ontario Business College, Belleville

Gentlemen,—On behalf of the students at present attending the Ontario Business College, we, the undersigned, take this opportunity before departing from your institution to tender you our joint recognition and appreciation of your abilities as preceptors, and of the many kindnesses we have received from your hands. The course of study pursued we believe to be of a high order, possessing all the essential requisites to enable an intelligent man or woman to efficiently fill any position in the commercial world. Many who have preceded us, profiting by your instruction, have made life a success; we also hope to follow their footsteps and do credit to your tutorship, but if we fail the fault will be our own, for you have performed your duties faithfully and well. As a tangible proof of our gratitude we beg you to accept these gold-headed canes. We know that you will prize them for their associations, not for their intrinsic worth. Let them remind you of our genuine regard and friendship, of our confidence and approval, and of the high estimation in which we hold your integrity and capacity. Accept with them the good wishes of those who carry away pleasant recollections of your fidelity, zeal and courtesy.

Signed on behalf of the committee,
R. A. O'Meara,
Chas. L. Clark,
R. J. Templeton,
M. Anthony,
J. E. Dickson,
W. Caldwell,
D. Whyte.

Accompanying the address were two gold headed canes, each handsomely engraved.

Messrs. Robinson and Johnson responded in language which showed how deeply they felt this purely spontaneous and unsought manifestation of the high regard entertained for them by their students, as well as the appreciation manifested for the skill and personal devotion which characterize the performance of their duties as principals.

Following Messrs. Robinson and Johnson, speeches were made by the other members of the staff, Messrs. W. N. Ponton, W. S. Morden, W. J. Osborne, A. C. Baker and Mr. Robinson for Miss York. Messrs. M. Anthony, R. A. O'Meara and R. J. Templeton also spoke for the mass of students.

Three cheers for the O.B.C. were given at the conclusion, which was heard a long way up Front and Bridge Sts.

The Canadian Magazine for February.

With the current number (Feb.), the Canadian Magazine completes its first year of publication, and with a record for excellence and financial prosperity, not equalled in the history of Canadian Magazine literature. The number is a strong one, and several of the articles are of remarkable merit, while interest attaches to every contribution in the number. The illustrations, too, are excellent. Prof. John Campbell, of Montreal, leads with a comprehensive, scholarly and most interesting paper on "The American Indian, What and Whence," a paper which should rank amongst the very first in the magazines of the month. "The Schools of the Olden Times," by one of the Boys (Hon. David Mills), gives a pleasing glimpse into the rural Ontario of fifty years ago. "The Soul Snake," is a literary gem from the graphic pen of a well known Canadian poet, Rev. Frederick George Scott. Madge Robertson Watt gives a lot of interesting personal reminiscences of people "On Board the Aquidaban," now famous as the leading vessel of the rebel fleet of Brazil. The illustrated articles are: "The Eldorado of British Columbia," a glimpse at the West Kootenay Country, by Mrs. E. Molson Spragge; "Dunfermline Abbey," by Fred T. Hodgson; "Men and Things in Mexico," by Allan Leigh; "The Cocoanut Palm," by Allan Eric; and the Rev. Dr. Scadding's paper on pioneer literature in Ontario. A contribution remarkable for its charming naturalness and vividness, its peculiar and sometimes thrilling incidents, and its sustained interest is "The Journey of a Solitary," translated by Miss Helen Hicks from Alphonse Daudet. Miss Agnes Maule Machar (Fidelis), Principal Rand, and others, contribute poetry. The Canadian Magazine is published by the Ontario Publishing Co., Ltd., Toronto. $2.50 per annum.

Have You Neuralgia?

If you are suffering the agonies of neuralgia, and have failed to get a remedy that will afford relief, we want you to try Polson's Nerviline. No remedy in the market has given anything like the same degree of satisfaction. Its action on nerve pain is simply marvellous, and as it is put up in 25 cent bottles no great expense is involved in giving it a trial. Polson's Nerviline is the most pleasant, powerful, and certain pain remedy in the world. Sold by druggists and all dealers in medicine, 25 cents a bottle.

The Modern Invalid

He tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician; if constipated he uses the gentle family laxative, Syrup of Figs.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. Dandruffine works quick and sure, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

THE REDUCTION SCHEME

THE QUESTION THOROUGHLY GONE INTO LAST NIGHT.

The Aldermen Did not Vote Themselves out of Office—Several Other Divisions Proposed—The Whole Matter Referred Back—Other Minor Business.

At the regular meeting of the City Council last evening the following members were present: His Worship Mayor Walmsley, Ald. Collins, Diamond, Foster, Graham, Green, Haight, Hart, Landenberger, Luscombe, Moon, Petty, Robinson, Shevlin, Wills, Lazier, Marshall, Starling, Ponton, LaRoche, Clarke.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from Robt. McGuinness asking for the city's co-operation in securing a lease of the old market building.

A number of accounts were read and referred to their respective committees.

The reports of the several committees, as already published in these columns, were read.

The Council went into committee of the whole on reports, Ald. Starling in the chair.

In regard to the clause of the Public Works Committee's report recommending that tenders for lumber be advertised in the local papers and the Peterborough papers, Ald Ponton said he did not see the need of advertising in the Peterborough papers. He said we were at the mercy of a few big concerns and he thought the City Clerk's correspondence would do more towards securing us a fair contract.

Ald. Collins said he did not think business men looked in the small papers of one-horse towns for ads. of that kind. Better send out circulars to the firms.

Ald. Landenberger and Robinson thought for all the extra expense it would amount to it would be expedient to advertise in outside papers.

Ald. Wills said he did not think it necessary to advertise in the Peterborough papers, but would move in amendment that tenders be advertised for in the local papers, and that marked copies be sent to outside firms.—Carried.

The recommendation of the Market and City Property Committee, that a register be placed in the Police Magistrate's office was passed with the addition of this clause: That the Magistrate find no further fault with the foul odors arising from the police cells.

Ald. Landenberger asked that it be referred to the Public Works Committee.

Ald. Diamond asked that it be laid over till the estimates were brought down.

Ald Lazier said he thought it was the proper course to refer it to the Public Works Committee.

Ald. Ponton said we should use the business portion of the city differently from the residential part. This sewer was a necessity and should be referred to the Public Works Committee.

The matter was referred.

The communication of Robt. McGuinness was referred to the Market and City Property Committtee.

THE FOUR WARD SCHEME.

The recommendation of the special committee on ward reduction has already been published in these columns.

Ald. Ponton said they were discussing this scheme because it had been decided by a plebiscite vote by a large majority of the rate payers. The matter was quite simple. The scheme could not come into force before 1895. He said the equalization in population would be about fair. The representation as it at present exists is not represention by population. The city had been subdivided simply by streets or sets of people, but we wanted the city divided on a fair basis and he thought the division as reported would be equitable. He said it would be much preferable in case a fire alarm system was adopted. Public opinion demanded some change and the committee were unanimous on this division.

Ald. Wills gave the following figures to show how the division reported would affect the equalization:

AS IT NOW IS.

| | Assessment. | Population. |
|---|---|---|
| Foster.......... | $ 250,000 | 1080 |
| Ketcheson........ | 1,162,000 | 1100 |
| Baldwin.......... | 650,000 | 1534 |
| Bleecker......... | 379,000 | 1400 |
| Coleman.......... | 323,000 | 1400 |
| Murney........... | 620,000 | 2500 |

AS PROPOSED BY REPORT.

| | Assessment. | Population. |
|---|---|---|
| Ward No. 1...... | $1,200,000 | 2300 |
| Ward " 2...... | 1,400,000 | 2500 |
| Ward " 3...... | 625,000 | 2600 |
| Ward " 4...... | 700,000 | 2703 |

Other schemes had been talked of but none of them could compare with this plan in equalization. The vote taken at the municipal elections was strongly in favor of the reduction and he thought that a dozen men could do the work just as well as twenty-one. In referring to the communications of Mr. Meagher in a local paper last evening he thought the arguments were very poor.

Ald. Clarke said the argument that the proposed plan would give a cipher system for a fire alarm was a poor one. In Ward No. 4 when an alarm of fire was rung a person might look anywhere between the north pole and the Bay of Quinte for the fire and so in the other wards. He said he had no doubt of the truthfulness of Ald. Wills' figures, but it was a question whether the division was fair to the people of all the wards. The five ward scheme would, in his opinion, be nearer equal in regard to population, that is two wards on the west side of the river, and three on the east side. Then we would have boundaries by natural, not by imaginary lines. They were elected to look after the interests of the city, and also to see that their wards got a fair proportion of the money expended. He said the aldermen were not forced to come there, but came of their own will. He said the equalization as it now exists, is unfair. Murney Ward has 25 per cent. more voters than Foster and Samson together; a fairer division could be arrived at by dividing the city from east to west. In this plan they would not have a business ward and a rural ward, and by this division the fire alarm system could be simplified by giving each ward two numbers, one on the east and one on the west. He thought that five wards would be much preferable to the proposed plan.

Ald. Diamond said that he was sure the report could not be carried with the present composition of the Council, and he wanted to get the next best thing possible. He moved in amendment, that the city be divided into five wards, two on the west side and three on the east side of the river; and that it be referred back to the committee to report on the boundaries—and that the committee report at the next meeting of the Council.

Ald. Landenberger said the city should be divided according to population. He thought Ald. Diamond's amendment was the best solution of the question. He said Ald. Wills had said when he introduced this scheme last winter that we would get better men as representatives under this plan. He wanted to know what alderman was not fit to sit in the Council.

Ald. Collins said some of the aldermen were afraid they would not get back if they reduced the wards. If the people did not want him he was willing to get out. They could reduce the number to three wards if they wanted to and he would vote for it. He wanted a reduction of wards because the people wanted it.

Ald. Graham said it had been said that the reduction would get better men. During the time of twenty-one aldermen not a single wrong act could be brought against the councils. But when there were twelve men one alderman had got $5,000 and another had "put down" $2,000. They had also driven Rathbun from the city and done other bungling. He would vote against the report.

The Mayor said he had a vote on this matter and he would vote for Ald. Diamond's amendment. He believed five wards were preferable to four. He said if valuation were taken into consideration we might have a man in one ward who was worth $4,000,000, and he would have as much to say as the rest of the city.

Ald. Robinson said the division now before the Council was the only scheme known to the people. He said if the city was divided from east to west they would have some small ends, especially in the ward next to the bay. He would support the report.

Ald. Luscombe said he would vote for Ald. Diamond's amendment. He did not care whether he was returned another year or not.

Ald. Green said if the voice of the people meant anything it was the duty of the Council to reduce the wards. But he thought there was no particular hurry in the matter, and if the question were deferred the aldermen could probably ascertain from the people their wishes in the matter. He thought Murney was at present out of all proportion to the other wards. Some of the aldermen from Murney ward may not be as well educated as some others but the people appreciated honest work by manly men. He would vote for Ald. Diamond's amendment.

Ald. Lazier said the matter should be referred back to the committee for report on some other division and not commit themselves to five wards. Then they would have the two schemes before them and could decide on either.

Ald. Diamond said the principle was whether they would have four wards or five wards.

Ald. Wills moved, in amendment to Ald. Diamond's amendment, that the city be divided into four wards without defined boundaries.

Ald. Wills' amendment was carried.

The committee rose and reported. Report received, but on motion that it be adopted, Ald. Clarke moved in amendment Ald. Diamond's previous amendment.

Ald. Ponton did not think it wise to shackle the committee with the stipulation that the city should be divided into five wards. Why should the river be brought into the question? It was not even a natural boundary; it was only a stream of water. The river had always been a bugbear in municipal politics, and he was in favor of letting the committee decide the matter and report.

Ald. Green said he thought that representation by population was the better plan; but the assessment should also be taken into consideration.

Ald. Wills moved in amendment to the amendment, seconded by Ald. Ponton, that the report of the committee of the whole be not now adopted, but that the report be referred back for the purpose of fixing the boundaries of the four wards.

Ald. Starling said he believed the best plan would be to reduce the number of Aldermen to two in each ward.

Ald. Wills' amendment carried on the following division:

NAYS—Ald. Clarke, Diamond, Graham, Luscombe, Haight, Hart, Landenberger, Petty, and Shevlin—9.

The committee of the whole resumed.

Ald. Wills moved that the question of the reduction of wards be referred back for further report.

Ald. Diamond moved in amendment that the city be divided in five wards, two on the west side of the river and three on the east side, and that the matter be referred back to the committee to report on the boundaries.

On motion the committee rose and reported progress and asked leave to sit again.

Ald. Diamond moved, it being now eleven o'clock, that the time of the Council be extended half an hour.—Carried.

The committee of the whole resumed.

Ald. Clarke moved in amendment to the amendment, that the report be referred back for the purpose of fixing the boundaries of four wards from east to west or any other division the committee may deem advisable.

Ald. Wills withdrew his motion.

Ald. Diamond's amendment was lost.

Ald. Ponton moved that the whole question of the reduction of wards be referred back to the special committee for further consideration.—Carried.

The committee rose and reported. Received and adopted.

The rules were suspended for the introduction of the following motion:

Moved by Ald. Diamond, seconded by Ald. Collins, That in view of the falling due of debentures amounting to $20,000 on the 25th inst., this Council authorize His Worship the Mayor, the Treasurer and the chairman of the Executive Committee to make arrangements with the Bank of Montreal as to advancing the amount until the 21st day of December next, when the third series of debentures fall due; and that such proposed arrangements to be reported to the Council at its next meeting.

Ald. Robinson gave notice that he would at the next meeting of the Council introduce a by-law for the purpose of appointing an assessor or assessors and fixing the salary for the service.

Ald. Landenberger moved, seconded by Ald. Luscombe, that Messrs. H. Corby, M.P., and W. B. Northrup, M. P., be asked to wait upon the Railway Committee at the next session of Parliament to get a removal of the obstruction of the railway crossing on Franck St. and that the City Solicitor be instructed to prepare a brief for that purpose to be given to W. B. Northrup, M.P.—Allowed to stand as a notice of motion.

Council adjourned.

A VERITABLE BLIZZARD.

The Storm Delays Traffic by Rail and Road – The River Rising.

Yesterday afternoon and last night witnessed one of the worst snow storms that has struck this section in many a day. A fine dry snow propelled by a gale from the northeast combined to make it most uncomfortable for those who were compelled to be out. The snow piled up in fantastic drifts, and billows in every doorway and nook. Front St. on the east side was covered by a continuous drift averaging from three to four feet in depth, while on the west side there was comparatively little. In fact the east side of almost every street in the city running north and south was almost impassable.

The trains were all more or less late to-day, but last night they hardly got here at all. The midnight from the west did not arrive until nearly five o'clock this morning.

The only stage that had arrived at the time of writing was the one from Trenton.

Owing to the heavy fall of snow and the forming of anchor ice on the water above Coleman's dam, the river has raised to an alarming extent. The water at one o'clock was over four feet higher than it was yesterday, and was still coming up. Cellars on the west side of Front St. are in danger of being flooded in a few hours. The water has backed up to within about 14 inches of Coleman's dam, and Walker's foundry was nearly at a standstill at noon. There seems to be no relief for the water at the mouth of the river, and unless it gives way soon, considerable damage will follow.

Last year we sold over 1,200 at our great 25 cent tie sale. This year we expect to beat it.—A. E. FISH.

G.T.R. Coal Tenders.

The Grand Trunk Railway has announced some of the awards in the coal tenders. The following contracts have been awarded, the coal to be delivered at the Suspension bridge: Morgan, Brown & Bain, Pittsburg, 150,000 tons; Osborne & Sager, 150,000; C. N. Shipman & Co., Buffalo, 50,000 tons; Evan Morris, Youngstown, O., 50,000 tons; Washington Coal Company, Pittsburg, 50,000 tons. Mr. Anthony Force, of Montreal, representing the Willis Coal Company, of Detroit, was awarded the contract for 75,000 to be delivered at Detroit and Point Edward. It is stated that in the history of the Grand Trunk Railway, from its inception, they never purchased cheaper coal than this year.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT"

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst., over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

Signed on behalf of the students of B. B. C.:
CLARENCE WOOD, Nova Scotia.

BY

MATTIE DYER BRITTS.

'Hello, Kate!'

'Yes!' answered a voice above stairs, as Charley Grant called from the cosy little hall below.

'Come down here! I've got something to tell you!'

Charley's handsome face was bright enough to tell anybody that his news pleased him greatly, as he stood waiting for his wife to come down. And why not, since his pretty cousin, Jessie Kingsbury, had come at one time very near filling the place which Kate had now?

But Kate was as sweet and pretty as ever Jess had been—at least, she used to be, before Baby Johnnie came—and—and—well, Kate appeared at an instant, and even Charley could not call her pretty, now.

Her golden hair was all bunched up and tucked back with an ugly comb, her wrapper unbelted, no collar on, and her small feet thrust into clumsy slippers.

Charley's friends used to say he was a perfect fiend on the subject of untidy women, and he couldn't help a shade crossing his fence as he remembered how trim and nice Kate was when they were first married.

But the shade passed as swiftly as it came, and he stooped to give her the usual kiss, as he said:

'Busy, to day?'

'Yes. Hush, Charley! Don't speak so loud, you'll wake the baby!

'Oh, bother the baby! He's always going to sleep or waking up, or doing something to make life miserable for other folks!'

'Why, Charles Grant! Aren't you ashamed to say that of your own blessed little son?'

And Kate's eyes began to fill, while her cheeks reddened.

Charley hastened to undo his mischief by saying, tenderly:

'Now there! You know I was only joking, dear! He's the finest baby ever lived, no doubt! Isn't supper ready! I'm as hungry as a hunter!

'Yes, it is waiting. I'll ring it up at once. What was it you wanted to tell me, Charley?'

'There! Bless my soul, if I hadn't forgotten! Who do you think is here?

'I couldn't guess, so I wont try. Tell me?'

'Cousin Jessie Kingsbury! She is over at Brother John's now. Came to-day!'

'Did she?'

There was no very intense interest in Kate's tone, for she was not over glad to hear of the young lady's arrival. Guests were troublesome, but she felt obliged to say, as Charley waited:

'Will we have to invite her here?'

'Why, of course, Kate! We'll do our part of the entertaining, with Stella and John. We must call to morrow and set a time for her to come to us. She will stay a month or two. Jess is so lively, we can't be dull while she is here.'

Kate was just conscious of a queer twinge at Charley's words, but she led the way to the table, and poured the tea with her usual pleasant manner.

'There! I forgot something else to,' cried Charley, suddenly clapping his hand on his pocket. 'I've got a treat for us to-night.'

'What is it?' asked Kate.

Charley took two small squares of pasteboard from his pocket and held them up to her.

'What are they?' said she. 'Theatre tickets?

'Yes. 'Faust' by a splendid company. I knew you always wanted to hear 'Faust', so I got 'em on purpose for you.'

Charley looked pleased, but Kate's fair face clouded, as she answered:

'Well, I'm sorry you spent the money. I can't go.'

'Can't go! Why in the world can't you, then? You are so fond of good opera. I thought this would be a real treat.'

'So it would, Charley, if I could leave the baby'

'But I thought you had a good girl?'

'Well, I have a perfect treasure.'

'Well, don't you think she might manage to rock the baby for two hours on one occasion?' asked Charley, seriously.

'Oh, but, Charley, he might be taken sick or something.'

'Yes, the house might burn down; but I don't think it will,' returned Charley, more shortly than he often spoke to Kate. 'I'm very sorry you won't go,' he added, as he rose from the table, his appetite quite spoiled. 'It is a disappointment to me.'

'Why, you can go I'm sure, Charley. I shall not care at all.'

'No; I'll stay with you, and we can have our own music. I have not heard you sing for a month.'

Kate hesitated a moment, and then said:

'But, Charley, I must stay up in the nursery. I never trust Johnnie to Sarah of evenings.'

Charley frowned, stood irresolute an instant, and said:

'Oh, well, then, I don't see why I shouldn't get some pleasure, if I can. I'll just drop over to John's and see if they are going. As I have two tickets, if Jess cares to go we might all make a party of it.'

'Yes, certainly; go, Charley. I don't want you to stay at home because I have to.'

'You know I had rather be with you, my dear. But its dull work sitting downstairs alone all the evening.'

Then Charley kissed her, put on his overcoat and went away. But after he was gone Kate began to be conscious of a lonely uneasy feeling, and to wish she had gone, too. Of course, Charley was as loyal and true-hearted as a man could be. But, to think of him sitting beside that dashing black-eyed Jess all this evening, and showing her all the little attentions which he knew so well how to give a woman; it worried her, somehow, and she could not help it. She was not jealous. Oh, no! She had told him to go, and really hoped he would enjoy it. But—but—she did wish she had left Johnnie to Sarah for one evening, and made one of that opera-party with the rest.

As for Charley as he walked rapidly over to his brother's, he wondered if he wasn't a precious rascal for wishing that blessed baby had never come into his house. To be sure, it was a bright little thing, sweet and cute, and he would have loved it dearly and been very proud of it (as he was after all, if he had only known it), but since it arrived, Kate had been no companion at all for him. She was everlastingly up in that nursery, and she neglected her dress and her hair, and never read or sang to him or went out with him, and he was feeling the change sadly.

'Of course, it is right to be a devoted mother,' he said to himself; 'but I do wish the mother had not so entirely displaced the wife. I don't wonder men get tired of their wives, if they all do the same way'

Just then Charley ran against a passer-by, and as he glanced up to apologize, saw his brother.

'Ah, John!' was his greeting. 'I'm just on my way to your house.'

'Well, I'm on my way to yours,' replied John, laughingly. 'Well won't you and Kate to go with us to hear 'Faust' to-night.

'No use to go on,' returned Charley. 'I have been trying to induce Kate to go, but she won't.'

'She won't! Why not?'

'She can't leave that precious youngster. I got her a ticket, but it was no go. So I was coming over to say if you want to hear the opera, my tickets are at your service.'

'Not unless you go with us, Charley. Of course you will, though. And Jess can use one of your tickets.'

'Why I hardly know about going myself, John. I don't like to leave Kate at home alone, you know.'

'Nonsense! It is her own fault. Come, I won't hear word more. Forward, march! It's time to be off.'

Charley submitted, feeling a little reproached, for, though he had set out with the intention of going to the play, when he took a second thought, he did not care to go without Kate. But Miss Jessie was very willing to be escorted by her handsome cousin.

THE URGENCY DEFICIENCY BILL.

Passed by Congress—It Provides for Enforcing Chinese Exclusion.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Consideration of the Bland seigniorage bill in the House was deferred until to-day, and the committee on the district of Columbia had the right of way for the disposition of local measures. The Urgency Deficiency bill, carrying $388,958, was passed. Among the items appropriated by the bill are $50,000 to aid in carrying into effect the provisions of the Chinese Exclusion Act, $11,958 to repair Ford's Theatre, and $50,000 to be expended by the Secretary of the Navy in repairing the gunboats Castine and Machias.

In the Senate Senator Gray (Dem., Del.), a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, discussed the Hawaiian question yesterday for three hours. Mr. Gray treated the question largely as one of international morality, and declared that a treaty of annexation with the Provisional Government of Hawaii would be inconsistent with the honor and dignity of the United States, and would be in violation of the plainest obligations of the international morality as well as of the settled practice and traditions of the Government of the United States.

Notice of a substitute to be offered to the Wilson Tariff bill was given by Mr. Gallinger (Rep., N.H.), the substitute being a declaration that, in view of the widespread industrial depression, it is unwise to attempt any change in the tariff laws.

It is apparent that the committee is anxious to dispose of the sugar question and one or two other articles that will yield a considerable revenue if made dutiable before going over the whole schedule. With this purpose in view the sugar question was discussed thoroughly, and a number of tentative propositions advanced. The senators from Louisana made forcible arguments before the committee, and insisted that a duty must be placed on that article if they were to support the bill.

It is not understood that the coal duty has been definitely fixed as yet, and there are various rates mentioned, ranging from 35 to 50 cents per ton.

The iron ore people and the advocates of a duty on wool have not yet been able to bring the sub-committee around to imposing a duty on either of these products, and it is probable that when the bill is reported to the Senate they will both be on the free list, as they were placed by the House. Lumber and salt will also be on the free list, as far as can be learned at the present time.

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,

Saved Her Life.

Mrs. C. J. WOOLDRIDGE, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"One of my children had Croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it strangling. It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicines given, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and, in a short time, she was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

THE ANTI-LORDS AGITATION

INCREASING DAILY — MEETINGS HELD THROUGHOUT ENGLAND.

A. H. Dyke-Acland, M.P., Says the Government Has Determined to Negative All Amendments by the Peers and Will Not Submit to Their Dictation—The Commons Flouted and Insulted.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—A number of Radical meetings were held in the provinces last evening, at which the consensus was in favor of abolishing the House of Lords. The agitation against the Lords is increasing daily. The best columns of the Radical newspapers are filled with accounts of the movement, the ordinary news of the day being curtailed.

Mr. A. H. Dyke-Acland, M.P., who holds the office of Vice-President of the Committee of Council on Education in the present Ministry, raised a furore of enthusiasm in a speech at Portsmouth this evening by declaring that the Government had determined to negative all amendments made by the House of Lords. The Government will not submit, he said, to being dictated to by the peers.

High Time the Lords Were Called to Account.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—A great meeting of the London Reform Union to protest against the existence of the House of Lords was held last evening. Sydney Buxton, M.P. for the Tower Hamlets and Parliamentary Secretary to the Colonial Office, made a speech, in which he said that the Lords had flouted and insulted the people's delegates and that it was high time they were called to account. Similar speeches were made by Sir Wilfrid Lawson, Henry Labouchere and others.

THE BRUNSWICK SUCCESSION.

Duke of Cumberland Resigns All His Rights in Favor of His Son.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—The Hanover Tageblatt says that Emperor William and the Duke of Cumberland have agreed upon terms settling the question of the Brunswick succession. The Duke of Cumberland resigns all his rights to the succession in favor of his eldest son, George Ludwig, who, beginning immediately after Easter, will study at Dresden. Later he will serve in the Prussian army, and upon coming of age he will succeed to the title of Duke of Brunswick, first renouncing all claims to the throne of Hanover.

APOLOGISED TO SIR CHAS. TUPPER.

For Allowing Muddock To Attack Canada and the C.P.R.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Lord Herschell, chairman of the governing body of the Imperial Institute, has written to Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner, expressing great regret that Mr. Muddock had been allowed to make use of the institute platform from which to attack those concerned in founding the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Government. He says that the feeling of indignation which was excited by Muddock's address was quite natural. In the future every caution will be taken to prevent the reoccurrence of such an incident.

Earl of Kintore Coming to Canada.

LONDON, Feb. 1 .—The Earl of Kintore, Governor of Western Australia, intends spending a fortnight in Canada next month prior to his sailing on the Canadian-Australian liner Arawa from Vancouver, B.C., to the Antipodes on April 16.

THIS BEATS BINDER TWINE.

Prisoners in An Italian Jail Found Making Counterfeit Coin.

ROME, Feb. 14.—The Government has discovered that some of the prisoners in the jail at Bergamo have been making counterfeit coin. The prisoners maintained extensive relations with outsiders through the jailers and were kept supplied with the necessary materials. The guilty jailers and outsiders have been arrested.

GOT AWAY WITH $200,000.

A St. Louis Forger Who Came to Toronto and Had a High Old Time.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—On Jan. 23 Inspector Stark received a telegram from Chief of Police Harrigon of St. Louis asking him to arrest Louis J. Silva, alias "Lewis," who was wanted on a charge of forgery and embezzlement. He was described as being 33 years of age, five feet eight inches in height, dark complexion, hair and mustach. The telegram also stated that Broker John J. Dixon, King-street, could give some information about Silva. Silva had been for a number of years confidential clerk for Rainswater, Boogher & Co. of St. Louis, and by false entries, forgery and embezzlement he had gone through them for over $100,000.

Detectives Davis and Cuddy were detailed on the case. Some time previous to the receipt of the wire from St. Louis Detective Davis had become suspicious of a young man who went by the name of Lewis and spent most of his time in the pool rooms and was traveling a pretty rapid gait generally. When the message was received the description fitted the mysterious Lewis like a glove, and Detective Davis thought all he had to do was to walk out and put his hand on his man.

Lewis had been living in a furnished house in Park-road, Rosedale, for a few weeks with his wife, her brother, aged 12, and an old lady. When Detective Davis went to the house Lewis was not in. When he went up next day the house was dark and the inmates gone. They bought tickets to Detroit and from there to St. Louis.

Yesterday Inspector Stark received a telegram from Chief Harrigan stating that Silva had surrendered.

TASMANIA'S WORLD'S FAIR.

Canadian Exhibitors Can Obtain Entry Forms From Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—At the request of the High Commissioner for Canada the Minister of Agriculture is about to cause the publication of a notification in The Canada Gazette for the information of Canadian exhibitors at the Hobart International Exhibition, to be held at Hobart, Tasmania, commencing on Nov. 15 next, and to remain open for about six months, to the effect that on application to the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa forms of application and the regulations framed for the guidance of exhibitors, with other information in relation to the proposed exhibition, will be forwarded by mail. It is stated that this exhibition is likely to be seen by a large proportion of the whole of the population of Australasia, the opening up of trade with which is now attracting attention.

Fire in a Stratford Hotel.

STRATFORD, Ont., Feb. 14.—Yesterday morning fire was discovered on the second floor of the Albion Hotel, but the flames were happily confined to a comparatively small space.

AFTERMATH OF THE STORM.

Thirty Deaths in Oklahoma—Loss of Life and Damage to Property in Germany.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 14.—Reports received yesterday from Oklahoma and the Indian Territory make it almost certain that at least 30 lives were lost during the great storm of Sunday. Many isolated homesteads where the families were poorly prepared for the winter cannot be heard from for days and possibly weeks, and there is reason to believe 30 will not represent the total number of the dead.

Besides two families reported frozen near Cross an unknown man was found near the Poncas Indian agency frozen stiff. Near Stillwater a man was frozen to death under his house and south of Cleveland in County O a family of three perished. Two Tonakawa Indians are reported to have been found dead in a hut. Near Andarko three Indian children, who were caught out in the storm, perished. The number of dead cattle will reach thousands.

EL RENO, O.T., Feb. 14.—Three Indian school children lost their way in the heavily falling snow and perished Saturday night.

In Alva more than 100 head of horses and cattle were frozen.

A family named Sears, residing on a claim near Woodward has been found frozen to death.

Miss Jennie Johnston, a young Indian teacher, was caught in the blizzard and died from exposure.

Many Fatalities in Germany.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—Reports of loss of life and damage to property by yesterday's storm continue to be received from all parts of the country.

At Radeberg a scaffolding upon which a number of men were working was blown down, and four of the workmen were instantly killed and a number injured.

At Penzlin a house was blown down and all the inmates were buried in the ruins. The debris was soon cleared away, when it was found that seven children had either been crushed to death or suffocated.

At Rinteln the chimney of the Stove and Glass Works was blown over and some of the bricks struck three persons killing them instantly.

At Sonderburg a bridge collapsed and several persons were killed.

SUPPRESSION OF ANARCHY.

To Be Actively Undertaken in the French Government.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—In the Chamber of Deputies Tuesday M. Auguste Bouge, a Radical Republican, questioned the Government respecting the manifestations that have been allowed to be made at the grave of the executed bomb-thrower Vaillant. He made particular reference to the fact that the sympathizers with the dead Anarchist had unfurled a red flag at the grave. What, he asked, is the Government doing to protect society? He declared that the threats of the Anarchists would be followed by their fulfilment.

M. Clovis-Hugues, Socialist, frequently interrupted the speaker, but M. Bouge paid little attention to him. Amid tremendous applause M. Bouge declared that the time had come for the Government to take action to suppress revolutionary manifestations, no matter who made them.

M. Raynal, Minister of the Interior, replied that the visits to Vaillant's grave had only assumed a seditious character on Sunday. He had immediately taken measures to prevent a recurrence of the manifestation. In the present struggle with the enemies of society the Government would defend the law-abiding people and would banish all the sensitiveness which he admitted perhaps prevailed in the ministry.

This statement was greeted with deafening applause.

The Government has stopped the pilgrimages of Anarchists to Vaillant's grave in Ivry Cemetery.

The Pressesays that Public Prosecutor Bertrand has received a number of threatening letters and that his residence is now guarded.

A Reply That Should Be Effective.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 14.—Hon. A. R Angers informed your correspondent that a very long and interesting report on the Canadian cattle export trade had been forwarded to the Imperial Government. Until such time as it reached the Colonial Office it would not be made public, out of deference to the British authorities. It is understood that the report goes to establish beyond contradiction that there is not now, nor has there been at any time since the whole controversy started between the two Governments, any pleuro-pneumonia in Canada. This is shown by reports of Government's veterinary inspectors and others appointed to investigate the matter. Every point raised by the British Board of Agriculture has been answered satisfactorily. There is therefore a strong hope in official circles that the report will be the means of removing the embargo imposed against Canadian cattle by the British Government.

FAVORS THE FRENCH CABLE.

Australia Will Not Support Either of Sandford Fleming's Three Schemes.

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 14.—Postmaster-General Kidd of New South Wales, speaking of the reported abandonment of all three of Saudford Fleming's proposed Pacific cable routes as impracticable, says he has all along foreseen this, and that even if the great stretches intended were workable it would be impossible to repair a cable once laid on account of the great depth. He favors a route from Bundaburg, in Queensland, to Fiji, thence to Samoa, the Fanning Islands and Honolulu. He thinks Fleming's proposition is not likely to meet with any favor from the Australian colonies, because they will not take it up as a Government undertaking, and he, therefore, will have to form a syndicate to carry out his views. In the meantime Audley Cote, manager of a rival scheme promoted by the French Government, is in England working, and appears to have made arrangements for continuing the French cables. He is expected to forward a proposal for carrying out the extension to Vancouver, the cable to be worked and managed from Fiji onward under the direction of British officials. Mr. Kidd thinks such a proposal would meet with favor in Australia.

KILLED WIFE AND CHILDREN.

Rather Than See Them Die From Cold and Starvation.

GUTHRIE, O.T., Feb. 14.—A report comes from the northern part of the Territory that six persons of one family were murdered by the father to prevent their suffering while dying of the cold. The seven bodies were found in the house with their throats cut.

The father left a note that he had killed his wife and children to save them from freezing. He would commit suicide, and the evidence of his wounds and a knife clutched in his right hand bears out his promise.

Stamped Wife and Son to Death.

TELL CITY, Ind., Feb. 14.—At breakfast yesterday, in the presence of his five children, William Hartman, a farmer, stamped his wife to death.

The eldest boy, aged 12, defended his mother and suffered her fate. Hartman then laid down on the floor of the summer kitchen and was found by neighbors, who had a hard time securing him. A religious excitement caused the trouble.

BY A BARE MAJORITY OF TWO

AN AMENDMENT TO THE EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY BILL CARRIED.

In the Lobbies the Bill is Regarded as Lost—No Change To Be Made in India's Silver Policy—The Mints to Remain Closed—No Tax On Silver Imports.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—In the House of Commons Mr. Edward Gourley asked if the Government of India intended to levy an import duty on silver in bars or coined.

Mr. G. E. Russell, Parliamentary Secretary of the India Office, replied that all the proposals relating to taxation in India would be announced in the annual budget. The proposals for the coming year had not been definitely fixed.

Replying to questions on the subject Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, declared that it was not intended to reopen the mints of India to the free coinage of silver nor to re-adopt a minimum rate for the sale of India Council bills. The Government did not intend to tax imports of silver or to change its present policy.

The Indian Government has not exhausted its borrowing powers, being inside of the limit of £9,500,000 sterling.

The Government accepted the amendment offered by Mr. Cobb to the Employers' Liability bill suspending for three years the operation of the bill in cases where there are existing workmen's insurance funds.

Mr. Cobb's amendment to the Employers Liability bill was carried by a vote of 215 to 213. The announcement of the figures was received with wild Unionist cheers. The smallness of majority was due largely to the absence of Irish members. The incident, although it will not affect the Government, is certain to induce the Lords to adhere to the Earl of Dudley's contracting-out amendment by rejecting Mr. Cobb's amendment. In the lobby of the House of Commons the Employers' Liability bill is regarded as lost.

The Indian Currency Association has presented to the Government a memorial protesting against Lord Kimberley's dilatory policy. The memorial says that the closing of India's mints to silver was harmless, although it caused a temporary disadvantage, owing to the abnormally large imports of silver.

Other causes, say the memorialists, were more potent in bringing about the present disorder. The minimum rate for council bills was abandoned, they declare, at the very moment when success was assured. "The result has been the present panic," they add. "The minimum must be fixed at once and the importation of silver for private account must be prohibited, while the sale of bills should be entrusted to a special appointee."

PASSED THE LORDS.

The Parish Bill Given Its Third Reading in Amended Form.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—The Parish Councils bill passed its third reading in the House of Lords Tuesday. The bill was greatly mutilated by the amendments made to it in the Upper House.

JOHN MORLEY MAY RESIGN.

His Position as Irish Secretary Both Irksome and Distasteful.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Edmund Yates, in his weekly cable letter, says: "I have abstained from noticing the rumor lately which is whispered from John Morley's desire to escape from his present position, but that it has now been published I need not undertake to speak of it. Whether he has at any time contemplated resignation I do not pretend to know, but I have reasons for saying that his position in the Irish office has been proving more and more difficult and distasteful. It could not well be otherwise, even with a less sensitive man than he. He has found himself compelled to adopt the very action which formerly he denounced in such unmeasured terms. In the recent murder case in Dublin he has been obliged to sanction recourse to the Explosives Act to obtain the very powers which under the Crimes Act he might have used openly but for his wild denunciations of that enactment. He recognizes that England is more opposed to Home Rule than ever, and that the agitation in its favor in Ireland is hollow and unreal, and the revival of Fenianism is a serious discouragement to him."

FIRE UNDERWRITERS.

Rates to Be Advanced If Better Protection Is Not Obtained.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—There was a large gathering of insurance men in the council room of the Board of Trade yesterday. All the fire companies, Canadian, British and United States, to the number of about 35, doing business in Canada, were represented. Mr. T. R. Wood of the Ætna was in the chair. The chief subject under discussion was the heavy losses accruing to the different companies the past year. These losses in 1893 were about 74 per cent. of the gross premiums, and as it cost 30 per cent. to get the business the net result is not very satisfactory. It was unanimously agreed to acquaint the different municipalities that they will have to take action for the better protection of property, and failing this insurance rates will have to be raised.

Another meeting will be held to-day, and in the evening the Toronto board will give a dinner in the rotunda of the Board of Trade to their brethren in convention.

Chamberlain Will Be Tried To-Morrow.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 14.—Charley Chamberlain of Toronto, who is charged with personating and perjury in connection with the recent Dominion election here, arrived in Winnipeg this morning in charge of the of Police. His trial has been fixed for Chief Thursday.

WILL BE LYNCHED IF CAUGHT.

Public Excitement in Essex Against the Four Leamington Fiends.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 14.—The whole of Essex County is wrought up over the dastardly actions of the four Leamington men, charged with assaulting 10 little girls, John and Joseph Munger and John Jones are under arrest and Devore, a Leamington storekeeper, has skipped. The men are all over 60 and their victims are all under 14. The people threaten lynching in case Devore should be caught. The men under arrest are held for trial without bail to appear in the March session.

FOR THE HEROES OF BATOCHE.

Proposed Monument to the Victims of the Northwest Rebellion.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—A deputation consisting of Mesdames McLean Howard, James Mason, Moss and John Fletcher waited on the Ontario Government yesterday for the purpose of enlisting their sympathies in a project to erect a monument to the memory of the volunteers who fell in 1885. The Attorney-General gave them a very indefinite answer.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. O. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tight ness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—'I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

He that is never idle will not often be vicious.

HARD TIMES IN THE STATES.

The following extract of a letter received a few days ago by Mr. and Mrs. W. Ward, of Sidney, from their niece and nephew, Ella and Perry Baragar, who live in Minnesota, is of interest, as showing that times are very much harder in that vaunted paradise for the farmer, than in this much abused Canada of ours:

KERHOVEN, Minn., Jan. 30, 1894.

DEAR UNCLE AND AUNT,—Oh, such hard times! can't sell anything. Wheat is only 48c; butter 10c; eggs 15c.; can't sell cattle or horses at all. We had 54 acres of wheat in, and when we threshed we only had 200 bushels. We have not got much snow here yet, but have had a very cold winter. There are a good many sick with la grippe; do you have it where you live?

Kerhoven has grown some—a new school, very nice one, with 40 scholars; two nice churches. There was not any when you were here. One church is Presbyterian, which we belong to, and the other is Lutheran (Norwegians); flour mill. And the beauty of our town is that it has no saloons in it. We have a homestead of 160 acres. Our time is out next October.

Montreal Markets.

MONTREAL, Feb. 13.—Flour—Receipts, 900 bbls. Market quiet and unchanged. The quotations: Patent winter, $3 40 to $3 60; patent sp ing, $3.50 to $3.70; straight roller, $3.00 to $3 10; extra, $2 65 to 2.85; superfine, $2.45 to $2.65; strong bakers', $3.40 to $3.50; Ontario bags $1.35 to $1.50.

Grain—Wheat—No. 2 Manitoba hard, 70c to 72c; corn, 54c to 56c; peas, 66c to 67c; oats, 39½ to 40c; barley, 50 to 55c; rye, 50c to 53c; oatmeal, $2.00 to $2.10. Provisions—Pork—$16 to $17; lard 10 to 12c; bacon 11½ to 12½; hams, 12 to 13; cheese, 10½ to 11½c; butter—townships, 21c to 23c; western, 18 to 20c; eggs, 12 to 15c.

LIVE STOCK.

There were about 500 head of butchers' cattle, 50 calves and 15 lambs and sheep offered at the East end abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in considerable numbers and trade was somewhat better, with higher prices than last Thursday, but it required very good cattle to bring 4c per pound, which was the top price here to-day. A few very fine large bulls were sold at 3½c per pound; rough steers and oxen sold at from 3 to 3½c. and the leaner beasts at from 2 to 2½c per pound.

The calves offered to-day were a rather poor lot and prices ranged from $2 to $8 each.

There were about 360 fat hogs for sale at the railway depots this morning, and prices continue at about 5½c per pound.

Good lambs sell at from 4 to 4½c per pound, and sheep at from 3 to 3½c per pound.

QUINTE'S WIN.

They Played a Picked Team and Defeated Them 2—1.

The Quinte hockey club have without doubt the strongest team in the city. Last evening they played a picked team from the Bay City and Y. M. C. A. clubs and defeated them by 2—1. Following are the names of the players and their positions:

| Quinte's | Position | Picked Team |
|---|---|---|
| Phillips | Goal | H. Hamilton |
| Cook | Point | Taber |
| Phippen | Cover Point | L. Hamilton |
| TwiningWellerCampbellNash | Forwards | H. KelsoPowellC. ArmstrongH. Armstrong |

W. J. Thompson, Referee.

S. Hyman and J. McDonald, Goal Umpires.

The play was fast and furious throughout, and both teams showed up strong. Phippen scored the only goal in the first half, while in the second Phippen again scored and Kelso also put through one for the picked team. For the Quintes Phippen, Twining, Campbell and Nash put up good hockey, as did also Kelso, Taber and H. Armstrong for the picked team.

NOTES.

Napanee hockeyists must anticipate a warm reception at the hands of the Quintes and are taking plenty of time to prepare for it. On two occasions they have disappointed the Belleville team. They were to have played here last evening, but at the last minute, when all preparations had been made, they telegraphed they could not come. The Quintes went to some expense in cleaning the rink and had sold tickets for the game.

The Y. M. C. A.'s and Bay City's play a game this evening.

COOPER

This is the name of the post office in the Allen Settlement, a very prominent place in Madoc Township, in which there are one church, L. O. Lodge, saw, shingle, and cracking mills owned run by D. S. Reid. He has a gang of men in the woods cutting and sawing logs, and teams drawing for about six weeks. But he is going to put on a new gang. The boys do not suit Dan; he is a worker.—I see the general store is alive too. The travellers are coming and going with trunks full of samples for Dick to choose from. He intends to rush things this season.—The school also is well filled this winter. The boys and girls make the snow balls fly sometimes.—The blacksmith is in good humor this week; there has been a little soft weather. He is hoping for a freeze, lots of ice is better for his trade.—Mrs. McKnight is visiting friends in Huntingdon.—Miss Wilkins, from Montreal, and Miss Nettie Farrell were the guests of Mrs. R. R. Hannah last week.—Miss Minnie Noyes, of Ivanhoe, was the guest of Miss Ida McKnight last week.—Miss Ethel Rollins has been very ill with inflammation of the lungs. Glad to hear that she is better.—Miss Annie Vankleek was home from school last week.—The mail carrier, Mr. Wm. West, is on time in every kind of weather—no squealer for drifts.—There was an oyster supper surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Green. The boys and girls were welcome and had a good time.

TUFTSVILLE.

TUFTSVILLE, Feb 13, 1894.

We received a friendly call from the Warden last week.—Mrs. W. Clarke was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. W. S. Clarke, last week.—R. T. Bennett was home on Sunday and returned to the city on Monday.—Mr. and Mrs. Alcock, of L'Amable, are visiting at Samuel Stapley's.—E. O. White and family have moved and are now living at Campbellford.—Notwithstanding the hard times that we occasionally hear of but seldom see, our farmers can afford to spend money on improvements. W. Bird is drawing brick for an addition to his already fine residence. John Prest is building a new barn. John Juby has just completed a large drive house.—Mr. Corby has the best wishes of the people for the success of his hop garden. More power to his elbow. We want more men of his stamp and less chronic grumblers, who go around inventing visionary poverty and who have not got the stamina to start some industry that would give a man work.

HILLIER.

HILLIER, Ont., Feb. 12th, 1893.

Miss Mabel Blanch Young left for Fulton, New York a few days ago and intends staying a few weeks there visiting relatives and friends.—Mrs. Geo. Smith, who was ill for a few days last week, is slowly gaining.—Mr. Bentley Lord and sister, Blanch, of Warkworth, spent a few days here.—Stone and brick have been drawn to the village for the erection of a new evaporator.—The Hillier Gloverdale cheese meeting was held on Wednesday last. — Mr. Stephen Leavens and sister, Mabel, started for Roslin on Saturday to spend a few days at Mr. Carter's.—Mr. Samuel Tittus and family, who arrived from Manitoba a few weeks ago, will remain here. Samuel intends working his father in law's farm. (Mr. A. Garrett), on the lake shore, near Wellington.

SPRINGBROOK.

Quite a number of the brethren attended the Orange county meeting held at Madoc last Tuesday. Springbrook lodge is preparing to hold a large demonstration on the coming 12th July.—People are taking advantage of the late good sleighing and are hauling large quantities of saw logs and shingle bolts to Morgan & Caldwell's mill, which is running steadily.—The Rev. D. Balfour closed his special meetings on Thursday evening, 8th inst. There were sixty five who professed a desire to lead Christian lives, the most of whom joined the church.—It is rumored that we are going to have another merchant soon.—The house of John A. Green, of this place, was burned, with its contents, on Monday, 12th inst. Very little saved. Have not heard whether insured or not. The family were all away but one boy.

DEMORESTVILLE.

DEMORESTVILLE, Feb. 12th, 1894.

Mr. J. Van Blaricom and wife, of Bloomfield, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Van Blaricom, of this place.—Mr. Henry Goodwin, of Picton, was in town on Sunday.—Mr. N. Sprague is visiting his son, Dr. Sprague, of Stirling, and his daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) R. Duke, of Ivanhoe.—Horse trading appears to be the latest thing out.—Mrs. Crowe, of Big Island, still continues ill.—A tea meeting will be held at Big Island, (Bayside). Feb 20th.—Mr. Percy McConnell, of this place, spent Wednesday in Belleville.—R. J. Dunning died on Saturday night at his father's, Mr. Geo. Dunning.

DORSET.

Feb. 12.—Dorset is booming. There are two hotels, two stores, one boot and shoe store, two churches (English and Methodist), and all of Gilmour & Co.'s buildings.—The G. N. W. have their line of telegraph running in Gilmour's office; it is doing a good business.—The snow is about four ft. deep, and fine fresh weather.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

SPORTING NEWS

Two rinks of colts from Peterborough defeated about the same rinks of the Campbellford Club that played here on Friday night last by a score of 41—15.

A meeting of sportsmen was held last evening in the Forest and Stream Club rooms and was fairly attended. No recommendations were framed, it being the opinion of the meeting that the present law was generally satisfactory. Those present strongly favor the continuation of the law against the sale of partridge.

Rev. Dr. Douglas' Funeral.

MONTREAL, Feb. 13.—The funeral of the late Rev. Dr. Douglas, Principal of the Wesleyan Theological College, took place at 2:30 this afternoon, and was most largely attended.

Before the public ceremony in the Convocation Hall, a private service was held at the bedside, to which none but the Rev. Dr. Potts, who officiated, and the members of the deceased's family, were admitted. The following relatives were in attendance: Mrs. Douglas, Miss Douglas, Miss Mina Douglas and Mrs. Vibert (widow and three daughters), Mr. Jas. Douglas and Mr. John Douglas (brothers), Mr. Vibert (son-in-law), two daughters of Mr. James Douglas, Capt. John Vibert, Deputy Port Warden, Mr. Arthur Vibert, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hall, the Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Clarkson.

After the close of the private service, the body was taken into the Convocation Hall, where the Rev. Dr. Hunter, pastor of St. James' Methodist church, of which the late Dr. Douglas had been a member, conducted the service. Hymn 855 was sung, after which prayer was offered up by the Rev. Dr. Jackson. A Scripture reading by the Rev. William Hall followed, and addresses by the Rev. Dr. Carman and the Rev. Dr. Potts. Dr. Potts read the funeral service. The procession from the hall was headed by Messrs. John and James Douglas and Vibert, who were followed by the pall-bearers and ministers. The cortege proceeded by Milton street to Park avenue and thence to the cemetery.

The pall-bearers were the Rev. Dr. Shaw, the Rev. Dr. Williams, Rev. Canon Henderson, Principal of the Diocesan Theological College; Rev. Dr. MacVicar, Principal of the Presbyterian College; and Messrs John Torrance, Samuel Finley, James Ferrier and J. B. Clarkson.

At the request of the Rev. Canon Norton, Rector of Montreal, the bell of Christ Church Cathedral was tolled during the service.

"The Way of the Transgressor."

Frank Green, the now notorious thief and swindler, is serving his time at the Central Prison and Warden Massie will be a disappointed Scotchman if he's prisoner again manages to leave before his time is out. By a curious circumstance the prisoner's true name and address have been discovered and his record exposed. After his escape from Toronto he "worked" several towns on the front, but was finally captured in Brockville. His last act was to rob a fellow prisoner of his rubbers. When he arrived at the Central he was taken to the bath room. Sergt. Frank observed a piece of paper fall from the prisoner's clothing, but Green quickly picked it up and tore it to pieces. The official secured the fragments, pieced them together and made out the following message: "My name is not Frank Green. It is Geo. W. Patterson, No. 53 Court street, Utica, N. Y." Inquiries were made and it was found that Green had twice been convicted of theft under the name of Patterson. It was also found that this man, a few days after his committal, had escaped from Onondaga county prison at Syracuse some five or six years ago, and that in November last he broke gaol in Rochester. He now toils in the broom factory at the Central and wears shackles with a fifteen pound ball attached.

Letter of Thanks.

To the Officers and Members of the Supreme Court of I. O. F.:

FRANKFORD, Jan. 22, 1894

GENTLEMEN,—Permit me through you to express my very sincere thanks to the members of Court (Sidney) No 83, Frankford, for the kind and fraternal attention shown to my late husband during his last illness, and to me since his decease. His loss to me is irreparable, but the remembrance of the brotherly care and attention to him by the officers and members of the Court of which he was a member, will ever be cherished as a bright spot in my past sad hours of affliction. That your most noble Order may continue in its present prosperity, is my earnest wish. I have also to express my acknowledgment of the receipt of cheque for $1000, being the amount of endowment payable to my daughter Jennie, and for the prompt payment of the same, being within sixteen days. Again wishing you increased prosperity, I remain yours sincerely,

(Signed) Mrs. JERUSHA PERKINS,

SPECIAL MENTION.

—Ottawa escaped Monday's blizzard.

IF HEADACHE IS MISERY, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

—Over 18 inches of snow fell at Buffalo on Monday night.

—The recount of votes in the Montreal mayoralty election has resulted in increasing Mr. Villeneuve's majority from 176 to over 300.

THERE IS NO ARTICLE IN THE LINE OF medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

COUGHS AND COLDS.—At this season when coughs are so prevalent, an effectual remedy and one easily obtained, is Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer. It is no new nostrum, vended by unknown agents, but has stood the test of over fifty years; and those who use the article, internally or externally, will connect with it grateful recollections of its worthy inventor.

WALLBRIDGE.

A young man, who went to Uncle Sam's dominions to make money, was glad to return to his father's house, where there was bread enough and to spare.—The churches in our village had a fair attendance last Sabbath. We have excellent singing in the Presbyterian church, led by Mrs. Chas Ketcheson, who is the organist.—Miss Maud Ketcheson plays the organ well in the Methodist Sunday school.—Mrs. H. Spencer and daughters, of Trenton, are visiting at Mrs. D. R. Ketcheson's, as is also Miss Mills, of Belleville.—Mr. John Canning is making permanent improvements in the property which he purchased lately.—John E. Ketcheson, our village merchant, is doing a fine trade. The laboring men have plenty to do this winter.

SEVENTEEN MEN ENTOMBED

BY THE CAVING IN OF A WILKES-BARRE COAL MINE.

The Cave-in a Mile in Area and There is Little Chance of Reaching the Men Within Two Weeks—Rescuers at Work.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 14.—It is reported that 17 men have been killed by an explosion in a mine near Plymouth.

The caved-in portion of the mine covers an area of 30 acres. Thirteen men are positively known to be entombed behind the obstructions which block the gangways, with no chance of reaching them inside of two, and perhaps three, weeks. Great excitement prevails about the mine openings and in the town of Plymouth. Business generally was suspended in the anxiety to learn if the men are alive.

The most heroic work must be done before the men can be reached and their fate ascertained.

A number of mine foremen and their assistants led by John B. Davis, superintendent of Gaylord Workings, who had been in the mine all afternoon came out at 5 o'clock and reported that all the outlets in the mine are closed, also the rock tunnel and all the entrances. The cave-in is now reported to have taken place in what is known as the five-foot vein, seven-foot vein and Kennet vein.

The cave-in covers an area of about a mile, it having extended since noon to-day and affects the central portion of the town of Plymouth. A few cracks can be seen on the surface, but this has not become seriously affected yet. The rescuing party were obliged to retreat on account of the further caving-in of the mine. The men who are familiar with mine working are at the scene of the disaster ready to go into the mine when ordered to aid in rescuing the entombed men if possible. The mules were taken from the shaft this evening, as the cave-in was extending close to the foot. Should the shaft be closed all hope of rescuing the men will have to be abandoned for an indefinite time.

The 13 timber men who went into the mine and who are now imprisoned there were warned yesterday that there was danger ahead, but they were of the opinion that the danger was not sufficient for them to stay out. They said, however, to the hoisting engineer as they went down the pit that, "Should anything occur you will find us in the big branch in the Bennett vein." This, however, is also closed and there is no way to reach them.

The scene about the mine late to-night is heartrending, and from the present outlook there will be 11 widows and plenty of orphans to suffer the loss of their support as all the men but two were married.

The officials are hard at work to devise some plan or means of rescue, but in order to get the men they will have to penetrate through hundreds of feet of coal and rock. It is thought by the superintendent and other officials that the men are on the big plane in the Bennett vein, which is about 700 feet from the foot of the shaft.

The work of digging their way through the coal from the foot of the shaft to reach the entombed men began this evening. It is not known how long it will take and it is possible that they will never be reached or found.

BRETON THE BOMB THROWER.

Refuses To Answer Questions—Detectives Seeking To Identify Him.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—M. Bertillon, Chief of the Anthropometric Department of the Paris police, searched all the morning through the records of that department in the hope that the measurements and other details of criminals kept there would throw some light on the identity of Breton. He found nothing to show that the prisoner had ever before been in the hands of the police. Breton's hands are white; the palms show that he has not performed any manual labor for some time. From the manner in which he carries himself and from other traits in his demeanor it is believed that he has been a soldier.

Breton was taken before Judge Meyer, an examining magistrate, to-day. He was plied with questions, to all or nearly all of which he refused to make any answer. It has been evident ever since his arrest that Breton does not intend to furnish the authorities with any information, he having told them that it was their place to find out themselves whatever they wanted to know about him.

M. Giard, Chief of the Municipal Laboratory, says that the bomb thrown by Breton was made of a one-pound meat can. It contained, he declares, eight ounces of chlorate of potash and picric acid. The "green powder" that was used by Vaillant in making the bomb he threw in the Chamber of Deputies was not used by Breton. Detective Houillier says he believes he has seen Breton in England. All the persons wounded by the explosion are making good progress towards recovery.

Breton admitted to Judge Meyer this evening that he had given a wrong account of himself. He gave a number of names, all of which are believed to be false. Detective Houillier believes that Breton has just arrived from London. The speaker speaks English and wears an English shirt and other linen marked "A. M." His body was very clean when examined and otherwise showed that he had been accustomed to decent life. His education is above the average. On seeing Detective Houillier on Monday night Breton exclaimed:

"Hello, Houillier! It's you; I know you well."

Detective Houillier admits his belief that he is on the verge of an important discovery in connection with the case.

M'KINLEY FOR PRESIDENT.

Ohio Republicans Start His Boom for 1896.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 14.—Governor McKinley was nominated over and over again in the convention of Republican Clubs of Ohio to-day for President of the United States and when he appeared, in response to an invitation and addressed the delegates briefly, the delegates wildly cheered him.

In the course of his remarks the Governor compared the condition of the country to the case of a landlord with a bad tenant whose lease had some time yet to run with no provision for forfeiture, and concluded as follows:

"This country will not, however, have long to wait—too long, I fear, for many interests—until it can commence the work of ousting. In November next the people will have a chance to deal with the House of Representatives. Free trade domination will give way to a protection majority. British policy will be dethroned and genuine Americanism enthroned, and the final work will be completed in November, 1896, in the restoration of the Republican party, which through pique and passion and prejudice was hurled from power in 1892."

TOTALLY ECLIPSED.

A Case More Wonderful than Dr. Ross's—A Lady Dying of Bright's Disease is Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PORTLAND, Feb. 12.—The people of this neighborhood have not yet finished talking of the remarkable cure of diabetes effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills in the case of Dr. E. A. Rose, of this village. The doctor is authority for the statement that his case is totally eclipsed by that of a lady, a patient of his, whom Bright's disease had brought to the verge of the grave. He prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills for her, and thanks to them, she is now cured. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

VALENTINES.

Good old St. Valentine's day seems to have gone forever. No more do we sing that the rose is red, the violets blue, and declare our valentines had all the sweetness of sugar. Perhaps the very low price of sugar had something to do with it. But boys nowadays are more practical. Instead of writing poetry about their beloved's pretty eyes and pink lips, the seem to prefer showing their feelings by good practical applications (!!) in modern style. Thus the world grows wiser with experience.

A HORSE'S EYE CUT OUT.

Dr. Embury's Horse Smashed Through a Plate Glass Window.

A horse belonging to Dr. Embury and attached to a cutter, became frightened near the Bank of Montreal and ran down Hotel street at about 4:30 this afternoon. It became detached from the cutter and ran through the show-window of Nathan Jones' dry goods store and was brought to a standstill by a pile of dry goods in the centre of the store. The horse's right eye was put out by falling glass and the animal was badly cut in other places.

Mrs. Philip Denyes was sitting at the counter making purchases when the runaway entered and the horse fell towards her and her foot was caught under it, spraining it severely. There were a number in the store, but no one else was hurt.

Marriage Chimes.

MARSH—SMITH.

Mr. Lorne W. Marsh was quietly married last evening to Miss Euretta Smith, in the Township of East Hawkesbury, Ont., by the Rev. J. Fredra. The wedding was quiet and unlooked for, and will be a pleasant surprise to the many friends of the groom in this city. The happy couple met while in attendance at the Ontario Business College in this city, and the result is as above noted. The handsome and accomplished bride made many friends during her stay in Belleville, and they will be pleased to know of her permanent return. The groom has for the past few months been in the employ of the G. & J. Brown Mfg. Co. in this city, in the capacity of book keeper. The happy couple will arrive in the city by this evening's train, and after a few days' residence with the parents of the groom, will take up their residence on Charles St.

HUTCHISON,—SYMONS.

A happy event occurred at the Bridge St. Church parsonage this morning, being the marriage of Mr. W. J. Hutchison, of Montreal, to Miss May Symons, a popular young lady of this city. The Rev. Mr. Baker performed the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives, after which the happy couple left for Toronto and Niagara followed by the best wishes of a host of friends. Mr. Hutchison was a student of the Ontario Business College a short time since.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE LIEUT. GOVERNOR'S SPEECH AT THE OPENING.

A Not Very Instructive Review of Last Year's Events—Some Minor Measures Promised—A Commission on the Fees Question—Expenditure Below the Estimates.

PARLIAMENT HOUSE,
TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 14th.

The fourth and last session of the 7th Parliament of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario was opened at 3 o'clock this afternoon by His Honor Lieut. Govenor Kirkpatrick. His Honor, who was accompanied by Commander Law, Lt. Col. Otter, and the officers of the Queen's Own, Grenadiers and 48th Highlanders, arrived promptly at 3 o'clock, at once proceeded to the Legislative Chambers and delivered the following

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

It is with much pleasure that I once more meet you assembled for the despatch of the business of the province, and the legislation which the public interests require. While in the last year the grain crops and the live stock trade have not been as remunerative as in former years, I am pleased to know that the products of the dairies are steadily increasing, and by reason of their improved quality, command higher prices than at any time in recent years.

The numerous agricultural organizations which are aided by the Legislature, have been increasingly active. The membership of most of them has largely increased, and the demand for their reports, published by the Department of Agriculture, is evidence of the interest taken in the good work in which these organizations are engaged.

The attendance at the Agricultural College is larger than at any time in its history. The accommodation for the regular course has been taxed to its utmost. The summer course for teachers proved a most successful experiment and will be repeated during the present year. The large number in attendance at the special dairy school has fully justified your action in providing increased accommodation.

The signal success of the province at the world's Columbian exposition has been a matter of just pride and satisfaction to our people. By our exhibits of live stock, grain, fruit, honey, cheese, minerals, timber, natural history and education we have shown that Ontario possesses great natural resources and in their development has kept pace with wealthier and more populous countries.

The lumber trade continued active and the markets good during the early part of the last year and until the monetary stringency in the United States caused much depression in business in that country. Prices since then have not been so high, nor the markets so active. Notwithstanding this the receipts from woods and forests have, I am pleased to say, more than equalled the estimated revenue from that source.

A considerable area of fertile land has now been surveyed on the shore of Temiscamingue, easy of access and capable of sustaining a large population. During the year a crown land agency has been established at Haileybury, at the northern end of the lake, and several townships have been opened for sale to actual settlers. There is reason to hope that an important settlement may soon be found to take advantage of the great natural resources of this northern portion of the province.

Satisfactory progress has been made in the erection of the new buildings at Brockville intended for the accommodation of the steadily increasing number of insane patients, for whom provision must be made. It is expected that before the end of the present year the main building will be ready for occupation.

The act passed during the last session of the Legislature for the prevention of cruelty to and the better protection of children has been favorably received and a gratifying disposition has been manifested by the public to take advantage of its provisions. The rescuing of children from lives of crime and placing them in the way of becoming useful and honorable citizens is a work which may well engage the best consideration and attention of the community.

Amongst the bills in preparation for consideration are a bill respecting the representation in the provincial assembly; a bill making further provision againt the personation of voters; a bill for the organization of the judicial district of Nipissing; a bill to further facilitate the administration of justice in certain matters; a bill respecting councils of conciliation; a bill affecting mining interests; a bill respecting the management of Upper Canada College; a bill respecting the law of libel; a bill respecting bills of sale; a bill respecting goods entrusted to agents; and a bill to make Rondeau Point a public park.

The bills to consolidate and amend the drainage laws and the ditches and water courses act prepared by the commission on the drainage laws, with some changes, will again be submitted to you.

There having been considerable discussion of late with respect to the mode of remunerating and appointing certain provincial officials and with respect to the extent of their allowance, it is my intention to issue a commission for the purpose of collecting the facts bearing on the various views which have been expressed on the subjects, including the practice and experience of other countries, the commissioners to report thereon with all convenient speed.

The plebiscite upon the question of prohibition was, in pursuance of the act of last sesion, duly taken at the recent municipal elections, and a large majority pronounced in favor of prohibition. The proceedings necessary for obtaining a final and conclusive judgment with respect to the jurisdiction to pass a prohibitory liquor law are being pushed forward with all practicable diligence.

The public accounts for the past year will be promptly laid before you, and you will be pleased to learn from them that the expenditure has been less than was provided for by the estimates, and that the receipts have exceeded the amount anticipated.

The estimates for the current year will, without delay, be submitted for your approval. They will be found to have been prepared with a due regard to economy and the necessities of the public service.

I feel assured that your deliberations and conclusions, while affording proof of your wisdom and patriotism, will contribute to the continued developing of the resources of our province and the prosperity and happiness of all classes of our people.

The weather was fine and the attendance very large, all the galleries being crowded. A large number of spectators occupied seats on the floor of the chamber. The Lieut. Govenor's escort consisted of a group of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, under command of Lt. Turnbull, and No. 2 Royal Company Canadian Infantry, under command of Lt. Laurie.

Sudden Death.

Mr. John Graham, an old and highly respected resident of Huntingdon, died suddenly on the 11th inst. and was followed to the tomb on the 13th, by a large number of friends. The deceased had lived in the township for a great many years, and engaged in cattle dealing as well as farming.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A New High School Building Movement—The Election of Trustees.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education held last evening the following members were present: Chairman, Hugh Walker, Rev. Canon Burke. Messrs. Wm. Clarke, W. H. Gordon, John Hunter, Wm. Johnson, J. H. Mills, John Martin, S. A. Moore, Henry Pringle, W. C. Reid, Wm. Tennent and Thos. Wills.

The minutes of the inaugural meeting were read and confirmed.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of a number of accounts, and laid before the Board a statement of receipts and expenditures for the High and Public Schools for the year 1893.

Mr. Johnson gave notice that a resolution would be moved at the next meeting of the Board that the nomination and election of Public School Trustees take place at the same time and in the same manner as those for aldermen.

Mr. Johnson also gave notice of a resolution that a committee composed of a High School representative, and the chairmen of the Finance, School Management, Sites, Building and Repairs, and Printing and Supply Committees be appointed to secure a lot for the building of a High School building.

The Board adjourned.

The Evangelists.

Messrs. Crossley and Hunter had highly successful opening meetings on Sunday at Brockville, where they will remain for five weeks. On Monday their meetings were also very largely attended. The evangelists are well pleased with the results so far.

Imitation the Sincerest Flattery.

The Oshawa Vindicator says: "Mr. Hezzlewood's notice of motion to introduce a different method of disposing of town relief has more merit than appears on the face of it. In Belleville some years ago an organization, known as the Women's Christian Association, was formed. It was non-denominational and the main object was to care for the needy. At first members of the City Council opposed turning the work of relief over to their hands, but time has shown that the Council did wisely and the ladies have proved themselves worthy of the trust. They have not only better distributed relief by inquiring minutely into all application for help, but require less money from the public treasury than was paid before they organized. Private parties, able and willing to give, cheerfully contribute now that they know the money will go to relieve worthy cases of distress. Besides caring for the poor this same organization has built and equipped a hospital and home for the friendless at a cost of some $24,000.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN 'ACCOUNTANT"

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst., over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

WORTH WINNING WORTH KEEPIG

BY

MATTIE DYER BRITTS.

And Charley did not see the laughing light in her eyes, as she whispered to Stella:

'Mrs. Kate had better be careful of her property where I am here. I might take him away from her.'

'For shame, Jess!' answered Stella; but in her heart she did wish Kate would give Charley a little more of her time.

'She is making a mistake,' was her thought. 'But people never get any thanks for interfering, so I won't do it. If she makes her bed, she will have to lie on it.'

There was plainly nothing to be done or said. And if in the flashes of Jess's dark eyes and brilliant wit, Charley almost forgot Kate sitting at home with the baby there was no one to blame unless it was Kate herself, for leaving her rightful place to be filled by another woman.

Kate had gone to bed before he got home, and he would not disturb her. But at breakfast next morning he told her what a grand time they had enjoyed.

'Yes? I am very glad, Charley,' said Kate, rather faintly.

'Oh, yes. We only missed you, dear. But Jess is so lively, one couldn't help having a gay time with her. By the way, Kate, she says, as you are so busy with the baby, she will not stand on ceremony and wait for you to call on her. She is coming over with Stella to day. We must have her stay here, you know. If you can't spare time to entertain her, why, I can.'

A sudden feeling, which she could not explain, fixed Kate's heart, and made her say, with some spirit:

'I shall do my part, of course, Charley.'

'That's a good girl!' he returned, in tones of real pleasure. 'I hnew you would if—if that—wretched—'

'Charles Grant!'

'Oh, excuse me—that precious baby—did not absorb all your time. Then you'll invite her to stay when they call?

'Yes.'

'You're a darling! Wish I could be here, too. But you can make them stay to dinner. Good bye!' A kiss, and he was off.

'Oh, yes! She'll stay fast enough!' sighed Kate, as she went upstairs. 'But what I wished is that people would just stay at home as I do. However, as Miss Jess has no husband and baby to keep her at home, it is to be expected that she will go anywhere where she can find amusement, not to say anything of a nice little flirtation.'

And then Mrs. Kate nodded her head, and her eyes had an unusual sparkle in them, as if she had suddenly come to some resolution which she was determined to carry out.

Jess Kingsbury was the very princess of pretty flirts, as Kate well knew, and Chaley had once had a fancy to her. Who knew now, especially if she had the chance which Kate seemed bent on giving her to work her siren spells?

'Charley is as good as as gold,' said Kate. 'But men are men, and women are women sometimes! Sometimes they are little fools. Perhaps I will be one, perhaps I won't, Miss Jess!

Kate flew around in her nursery that morning with a will; and before her callers could possibly be expected she had taken off her untidy wrapper, curled her hair and made herself as pretty as she could. If she took a bit of a cry while she held the curling-iron, it might have been because that small instrument of torture was too hot.

They came, and it seemed to Kate that Jess looked slightly surprised at her appearance.

'Why, they told me you had grown quite domestic, dear! Given up society, and all that!' the young lady cried, settling her silken plumage in Kate's cosiest chair. 'But I declare, you look as fresh and blooming as ever! I am quite vexed with Charley.'

'I hope you enjoyed the opera, last night?' observed Kate, rather coolly, not replying to her words.

'Oh, yes, indeed! It seemed like old times to be with Charley again. Oh, by the way, did he tell you he was going to take me out riding this afternoon? she rattled on. 'I told him he ought to take you, but he said you wouldn't go.'

'Not to day. Some other time, with pleasure,' answered Kate. But her usual 'I couldn't leave the baby' was not spoken, and Stella stared a little, and then smiled and nodded her head, as if she had suddenly chanced upon a bright idea.

Kate gave the invitation Charley had suggested, but the visitors declined to remain to dinner, that day. Miss Jessie promised to come in a few days and spend a week or two with them; and, as they were taking their leave, she said archly, to Kate:

'Perhaps you will wish I had not come at all! What if I coax Charley away from you?

Stella was absolutely frightened, for a minute. But Kate only said, very calmly, and with a smile as bright as Jessie's:

'You may, if you can!'

'Kate, you're a trump,' whispered Stella, when she bent to kiss her sister-in-law good-bye. And Kate gave her hand a little squeeze, but said not a word.

She ran back to her nursery as soon as her callers had gone, and took little Johnnie on her lap with a thoughtful face.

'No! she shall not have my husband's heart,' she murmured. 'I have been at fault—I can see that, now. If Charley were not just as good and true as he is—well—I'm thankful I have had my eyes opened in time! Thanks to you, too, Miss Jess! And now, my darling baby, you must be very, very good, indeed. For you will have to divide your empire with papa, after this. And I'll have a dressmaker in the house, before to-morrow night.'

At noon, instead of Charley, came the office-boy, bringing a little note, to say that she need not wait, for he would not come to dinner. Had an engagement for the afternoon, but would come home early to supper.

'An engagement? Yes; to ride with his cousin!' said Kate, to herself with a smile. 'All right, Mr. Charley! The next time, I rather think I will be of the party.'

She was very busy that afternoon. But when Charley came up at tea time, it was the old Kate who met him in the hall, with fluffy hair and faultless dress, as he had not seen her for months.

'Why Kit!' he cried, his handsome face all aglow. 'Has any one come? Are you going out?'

'Yes, I thought if you cared to go, we would run 'round to Stella's awhile, this evening,' she answered, putting her hand, on which her diamond ring again shone, on his broad shoulder.

'But, the baby?' asked Charley, doubtingly.

'Sarah can do very well with the baby,' said Kate, though her cheeks reddened under his glance.

'Sarah? Why, Katie, what does at all mean? Is it possible—'

'Yes, it is quite possible that I am not going to neglect you any more, Charley, my dear,' she interrupted, blushing redder.

'Hallelujah!' And Charley caught her to him in a swift embrace. 'Kate, I'm the happiest fellow in town just this minute!'

'Then I shall take care to keep you so,' said Kate. 'Come to supper, silly boy.'

She kept her word—and her husband. Miss Jess found it of no avail to cast her sweetest spells around her handsome cousin, for his wife was wide awake and learned, before it was too late to save a heart-break, that 'worth winning was worth keeping'—especially when one has a home treasure to defend.

THE END.

A CHAT WITH SAM JONES

HE GIVES HIS OPINIONS ON LEADING TOPICS OF THE DAY.

How He Would Make the Churches More Effective Instruments for Good—The True Solution of the Labor Problem—The Advanced Theology—The Evangelist and the Good He Does.

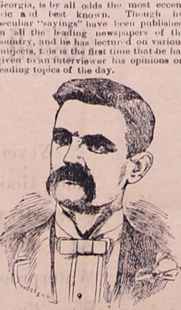
Among the half dozen American evangelists "Sam" Jones of Cartersville, Georgia, is by all odds the most eccentric and best known. Though his peculiar "sayings" have been published in all the leading newspapers of the country, and he has lectured on various subjects, this is the first time that he has given to an interviewer his opinions on leading topics of the day.



REV. SAM JONES.

"Do you think that the churches today are doing all that should be done for the cause of religion?" I asked.

"The Church, as an organized body, is little more than able to take care of itself. It is true that there are a great many consecrated, active ministers and members of the various churches, but the body of the church is made up, largely, of either inactive, indifferent, or careless members, and many more who are positively wicked in their lives, dishonest in their business transactions and hypocritical in their religious professions. I am speaking of all denominations.

"What is the cause of this state of affairs?"

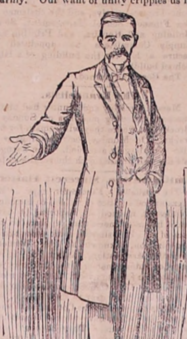
"We may start with the apostles; one in the twelve was positively vicious. A church of five hundred members that has in it forty vicious members is in the line of Apostolic succession, as the Episcopalians would say. Some churches profess to be peculiar in doctrine and habit, but there are many things that are common among them. All churches have their members who get drunk, tell lies, swindle in business, and in sin and devilment no church can claim a patent right for being peculiar. They all sin alike."

"Is this unspiritual condition partly due to the fact that the church in its endeavor to get the world's money, shuts its eyes to the more common sins of its members?"

"A man's life is never better than his heart. What a man loves and what a man hates determines his character. The Scripture teaches that the children of the flesh mind the things of the flesh. The doctrine of regeneration does not appear to be a necessity to-day. As the world looks upon the Church each man will say—I can live the life of that man in the Church without any regeneration. Very few men were well born in their first birth and, knowing nothing of the second birth and caring less for it, it is no wonder that the baptized host in the church is running after the world, the the flesh and the devil. The consecrated pastors in the various evangelical churches admit that there must be a revolution in the Church and a consecration to the work of God before the conquest of the world can ever be brought about. I have scarcely had a close personal conversation with any pastor who has not admitted the facts as above stated and bewailed the state of things in his church. Our preachers are not cowardly or backslidden but they seem to be at a loss to know how to manage the problem, or bring about a different state of affairs."

"How do you think the present church organization could be reformed so as to bring about the best spiritual results?"

"Our numbers make us an unwieldy army. Our want of unity cripples us in our plans. We all agree that something ought to be done, but we can never agree upon methods. Year after year the saloons multiply, gambling hells flourish, shameless houses get in their work. The rank and file of the church are idle, and the captains of the hosts of Israel cannot agree upon any plan of battle, or as to the methods by which the church can be led on to victory. Some prefer stagnation, some sensation, and prudence and conservatism dominate the church to-day. The Salvation Army is the most effective Christian force in the world at the present time. They do not stickle for methods, but all are united on the proposition that sin is a disease, universal in its influence, and that Jesus Christ is the only divine Saviour. Without creed or doctrine they go at the world with those two propositions. They use drum and fife, they wear red shirts and sing popular songs to attract attention and draw the multitude to their places of worship. Meanwhile, the dignified doctor of divinity stickles for decency and order; seventy-five is a full house, and eighty is a turbid jam in his church."



"SIN IS A DISEASE."

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,

Saved Her Life.

Mrs. C. J. WOOLDRIDGE, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"One of my children had Croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it strangling. It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicines given, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and, in a short time, she was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

THE STRIFEMAKERS SCORED

BY THE PREMIER AT OTTAWA LAST NIGHT.

Canada Has Escaped the Depression, But the Agitator and the Demagog seize on the Low Price of Wheat to Set One Section Against Another.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—St. James' Hall was more than filled last night on the occasion of the Right Hon. Sir John Thompson's address to the Macdonald Club. The platform was filled with members of the Cabinet, the representatives for the city and the officers of the club. The body of the hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, and the stairway was packed almost to the street, while many had to go away disappointed at being unable to obtain admission.

President Code, in introducing the speaker of the evening, said that he knew the gathering of the immense audience he saw before him was caused by the great popularity of the Premier not only in the city, but throughout the whole Dominion. [Applause.]

Sir John Thompson on rising was greeted with prolonged applause, and after this had subsided he briefly thanked the club for the resolution passed at its annual meeting congratulating him on the mark of honor which Her Majesty had been pleased to bestow on him and attested to the fact that although he had been long a resident of Ottawa this was the first time he had addressed a political meeting outside of the House of Commons. He referred in feeling terms to "The greatest statesman the empire had produced," after whom the club was named, and said that when he died he had left no successor, and none aspired to succeed him, but what they did aspire to was to uphold the principles of the Liberal Conservative party as laid down by Sir John Macdonald. [Applause].

The present was a most momentous time for us. Party lines were not as tightly drawn now as they need to be, and in view of the loosening of party ties, in view of the quickening of the public pulse, which was noticeable, it behooved every Liberal-Conservative association to see that the interests of the party were attended to. It was not enough to sign the roll and attend an occasional meeting—they should look after the voters' lists; they should try to increase their membership; they should be present on the platform and make their power felt through the press; they should be proud to belong to the Liberal-Conservative party and ready and eager to uphold its principles. [Cheers.]

The day was gone by when measures were settled by Parliament. Long before they reached Parliament now they were discussed in the press and on the platform, and public opinion was formed so that Parliament, when it did act, only recorded what the public feeling had already decided. He wanted every member of every Liberal-Conservative association to bear this in mind and to assist to the utmost of his ability in moulding public opinion on the principles of the Liberal-Conservative party—those principles which had been so well maintained in the past and which he hoped and believed would be again sustained at the polls in the not very far distant future. [Great cheering.]

There was very much in the present condition of the country to call for renewed activity on the part of the Liberal-Conservative party. Canada was in a peculiar condition. The state of the country was exceptional. The whole civilized world was passing through a period of commercial depression amounting in some countries to absolute stagnation of business, and as in the case of the United States to actual suffering and distress. The Dominion of Canada had escaped this ordeal better than any other country in the world. [Applause.]

We did not hear this admitted by the Opposition as politicians, but in their individual capacities as heads of banks, heads of governments, not always friendly to the Dominion Government, and in their ordinary business capacities they were bound to admit that Canada was more prosperous than other countries. The English press proudly admitted it and said it was marvelous how Canada had weathered the commercial storm which had almost wrecked other nations.

At the same time there were large areas in Canada which were suffering, not from the causes which obtained in other countries but from the low price of wheat caused by the immense production of that cereal. Our peculiar position was that while Canada had escaped the general commercial depression, portions of the country where the wheat crop was entirely depended on were suffering on account of the low price of that article and the farmer was not getting any reward for his toil. This was the great opportunity of the agitator, this was the grand chance of the demagog. These gentlemen have nothing to say about Canada having escaped the general commercial depression, but they have a great deal to say to the farmer about the low price he gets for his wheat. [Laughter and applause]

For fifteen years the cry had been that what was wanted was that this should be a country to live in, but now the agitators' great grievance was that wheat was not still one dollar a bushel. It was not to the interest of any one section of the community that it should be unduly prosperous at the expense of another section. The farmer did not benefit by the workingman's getting small wages, nor did it benefit the workingman that the farmer should get nothing for his produce. Each should be a help and assistance to the other. But that did not suit the agitators. It was their congenial task to set one section of the community against another—to tell the farmer that he was being robbed by the wicked Government, the cotton kings, the sugar barons and the iron lords. They told the people that they should change the Government, change the constitution of the country, even change their country's flag.

He could give the names of men in Ontario and Quebec who were paid by men in the United States for the propagation of such doctrines, but he would leave them to the contempt which was deserved by those who tried to sell their country for money. [Applause.]

He contrasted the state of the country in the period from 1873 to 1878 with its present state and answered the favorite Opposition argument—that it was foolish not to allow a man to sell you $2 worth of goods for $1—by saying that the result of such a policy would be that, after our factories were closed, we would have to pay $3.50 for the $1 article. [Applause.] We had had an experience of the policy for five years, and he would remind his hearers of the Spanish proverb that he was a fool who broke his leg twice over the same stone. [Laughter.]

Referring to Mr. Charlton's speech about combines, Sir John said that where manufacturers exist combines may spring up, but it was the duty of the Government to see that the traffic was not used for the purpose of being made to bear unjustly on the consumers.

He briefly reviewed the policy of the Conservative party during the last 15 years in opening up the Northwest by building the C.P.R., the enlargement of the canals, the erection of public buildings and other public works, and contended that by this policy the credit of Canada had been raised to a point never reached before.

He pointed to the increase in our foreign trade and the opening of the steam communication with the far east and Australia, and in this latter connection said he had received a cablegram to-day from the Premier of New Zealand asking when the conference with the Australian delegates would be held, as New Zealand wished to participate. [Cheers.]

He dwelt at some length on the National Policy, taking up and answering the speeches of Mr. Laurier at Quebec and Mr. Mills and quoting from the past utterances of these gentlemen, as well as of Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Charlton, Mr. Patterson and other leading lights of the Opposition, to show that they had not always been free traders, but had favored moderate protection, and could scarcely be considered sincere in their present affection for free trade.

As to the policy of the Government he declared that it would continue to be that of protecting the Canadian workman in preference to the foreign workman, and developing Canadian industries as much as possible. Sir John spoke for nearly two hours and at the conclusion of his speech was warmly applauded, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed.

TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA.

Address by Hon. Mackenzie Bowell on This Topic.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—Speeches, brilliant with oratory and replete with sound common sense, were heard at the luncheon of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association yesterday afternoon. Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce, was the guest of honor and the extension and development of Canada's business was the chief subject of discussion.

When Mr. Bowell rose to respond there was an outburst of applause. After thanking the members for their good-will he said:

You are well aware that the policy of the present Government has been to establish, so far as the means of this country would justify, closer connections between Canada and other portions of the world. We had a standing offer of $100,000 per annum to aid in the establishment of a line between British Columbia and Australia. Mr. Huddard was informed of this and the result is that we have changed the law so as to give it to anyone who would undertake this enterprise, and our friend has put two of as fine steamers on that route as there are on the Atlantic, with the exception of the greyhounds.

"The Government thought it advisable to send some one to Australia and spy out the land and see if any profitable trade could be built up. On that trip I learned much that I think will be of benefit to our country. The question arises, 'What is the trade of Australia?' I say to you you must not expect that any Government can be a purely paternal government. I take it for granted that they put upon the statute book laws which establish a line by which you can reach foreign markets and you must do the rest yourselves. What I think you ought to do is to select a good practical man, a man who thoroughly understands, not only the manufacturing industries, but the resources of Canada, and send him there to act in concert with the manufacturers of this country. I would like the manufacturers to adopt some means by which they could have an establishment in the principal colony, to which place you could send whatever you have to sell. The only expense would be the sending of the articles. I have not the slightest doubt that if that policy were followed you would build up a trade in five or 10 years that would astonish you. If you want an example look at how the Massey-Harris Co.'s Australian trade has grown.

"The total trade of Australia for the year 1891 amounted to £41,408,315. Their exports for the same year were over £43,000,000. Of the imports Great Britain sent over £33,000,000. Other countries sent to Australia only about one-fourth of the whole trade. In all the statistics there is not one figure to show that they sent one dollar's worth to Canada. What you are perhaps most interested in is to know what part of this trade is sent to the United States, and of which you might take a part. The share of the United States in the Australian trade was in imports £2,920,115 and in exports £3,269,261. In 1892 the United States returns show that there was exported to Australia £11,246,474 and imported $8,492,306, of which $3,029,000 was for wool.

"Although Australia is a warm country the United States sent $60,000 worth of stoves there, I know that the Canadian article is equal to that of United States manufacture and has carried off prizes all over the world. You have to begin yourself and not wait for some-one else to begin for you. Australia may have a high tariff, but if the United States can send goods there at a profit you can do the same thing. [Applause.] What I tried to impress upon the Australian people was that we should try and deal with each other. [Applause.] It was a pleasure to me to find that this feeling was as strong among the Australians.

"There is a large trade being built up with the Sandwich Islands, with whom in the past we have not done any business. They are a consuming population almost exclusively. Since the establishment of the Pacific line of steamers the trade has increased in six months from $16,000 to $70,000.

"What is necessary to make this trade a success is the establishment of a cable system from Canada to Australia and Honolulu. There are many routes that are available, but I would never favor any line which was not completely under British control. [Applause.]

"To you manufacturers I say 'Go on!' The motto of Australia is 'Advance, Australia!' Let us advance Canada. [Applause.] This can be done by bending all your energies to building up a trade in Canada that will be an advantage to you, to posterity and to the country." [Loud applause.]

James Huddard, head of the Pacific Steamship Company, made a speech full of vim. He urged the necessity of improved methods of transportation and said that the Canadian Government had acted a statesmanlike part all through the negotiations. He thought the men of Canada had begun the exploiting of Australasia's possibilities in the proper manner. Already the Canadians have begun to supplant the United States manufacturers. In two years Canada could place a line that would make communication between England and Australia a matter of 30 days. A fast Atlantic service, a mail steamship line from Vancouver and the Canadian Pacific Railway would form one unbroken roadway through British possessions. [Applause.] Concluding Mr. Huddard said:

"You have the territory, you have the opportunity, and I am sure that you will rise to the occasion and carry out your work." [Loud applause.]

INCREASED TRADE WITH BRITAIN.

A Jump of 135 Per Cent. During the Month of January.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The imports from Canada show a remarkable increase during the month of January. They totalled up to £173,049, an increase of 135 per cent, as compared with the imports of the corresponding period of 1893.

Wheat advanced £12,000, bacon £15,000, cheese £21,000, fish £36,000 and wood £20,000. No eggs or animals were entered during the month.

The exports to Canada during January from Great Britain totalled £351,111, a decrease of 10 per cent.

COMMONS TO BE PARAMOUNT

DECLARATION OF WAR ON THE PEERS BY SIR WM. HARCOURT.

"Is the National Will to Be Controlled by the People or by a Selfish Class?" —The Government Will Endure Dictation no Longer—Platform of the National Liberals.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The caucus of the National Liberal Federation at Portsmouth continued its session yesterday. Resolutions adopted declared in favor of the one-man-one-vote system, a reform of the registration laws, the payment of members of the House of Commons, the holding of all Parliamentary elections on the same day and direct popular control of liquor licenses.

One of the resolutions adopted declared that the House of Lords by its habitual disregard of the national will had become an unbearable abuse and assured the Ministry of the enthusiastic support of the Federation on any measures that the Government may adopt to secure to the House of Commons paramount authority in the state.

The conference of the Liberal Federation closed with a great public meeting. More than 5000 persons were present. The principal speech was made by Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

"It has never been more needful," he said, "that Liberals should stand shoulder to shoulder. The party is about to enter a great struggle from which it will finally emerge victorious. Is it this nation's will to be controlled by the representatives of the people, or by a chamber representing nothing but a selfish class? I especially regret the recent actions of the bishops. 'Property, property' has been the chant of the Lords temporal, and 'Amen' has been the response of the Lords spiritual. Lord Salisbury has thrown down the gage of battle. The Government will not shrink from the conflict. It is the business of the Liberals to convince the Lords that the people will not allow them longer to override the people's will."

This declaration of war upon the peers was loudly applauded.

The Earl of Dudley, who offered the contracting out amendment of the Employers Liability bill in the House of Lords in speaking in Crewe this evening, referred to the change which the House of Commons, on the motion of Henry Cobb, made last evening in this amendment. It would be out of the question, he said, that the House of Lords should recognize an amendment carried by a majority of only two.

Harcourt's Speech Satisfies the Liberals.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Daily News says: "Sir William Harcourt's assurance in his Portsmouth speech that the Government will not endure the dictation of the House of Lords fully satisfied his audience. It will also satisfy the Liberals throughout the country. It is the Peers' own fault. They have made themselves impossible."

Monstrous Hereditary Adhesion.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Daily Chronicle says: "To argue with the Lords as though they had a title to discuss their claims with the Commons, is to admit their right of existence. That right, however, cannot longer be tolerated. The time has come, thanks to Lord Salisbury and the Archbishop of Canterbury, to cleanse the constitution of this monstrous hereditary adhesion.

TO SWEEP THE COUNTRY.

John Redmond Thinks the Liberals Have a Great Opportunity.

DUBLIN, Feb. 15.—At a meeting of the National League yesterday John Redmond said that the only cause for delay in the release of the money known as the Paris fund was the technical point raised by the McCarthyites to embarrass Mr. Dillon. Continuing, Mr. Redmond said that the Government now had a great opportunity, which it might not have again, of dissolving Parliament and carrying the country. In Mr. Redmond's opinion the Government ought to reject the Lords' amendment, prorogue Parliament, call a new session immediately and pass a new registration bill. Then, whether the bill passed the Lords or not, the Government should appeal to the country on Home Rule and on the Lords' mutilation of English bills. If this was done, Mr. Redmond believed that the Liberals would sweep the country and still have Mr. Gladstone as their leader.

THE WAR OFFICE WINS.

In Manufacturing Cordite Nobel's Patent Was Not Infringed.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Justice Sir Robert Romer of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice yesterday gave a decision in the case of the Nobel's Explosives Company against the War Office for alleged infringement upon Mr. Nobel's patent for the manufacture of ballistite. The plaintiff claimed that the Ordnance Department of the War Office had in manufacturing cordite appropriated to its own use Mr. Nobel's invention of ballistite. Justice Romer finds that cordite is not produced by the methods used to manufacture ballistite, and consequently there had been no infringement of Mr. Nobel's patent. Judgment was accordingly given for the War Office.

LIEUT.-GOV. CARVELL DEAD.

Sudden Death of the Lieutenant-Governor of Prince Edward Island.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Feb. 15.—Lieutenant-Governor Carvell died this morning, aged 61. He went to bed as usual last night. About 2.30 he called for his son, who had no sooner come than his father expired before the other members of the family could be summoned.

The funeral will take place Friday.

Hon. L. C. Owen, Senator Howlan and Judge Hensley are spoken of as successors.

THE ENTOMBED WILL STARVE.

Before the Energetic Rescuers Can Hope to Reach Them.

WILKESBARRE, Feb. 15.—There were no new developments yestreday at the Gaylord mine in Plymouth. The rescuers are working hard through the solid coal to reach the entombed miners. So far they have been unable to communicate with them in any way. Should they all be alive now it is safe to say they will starve to death before they can be reached. In this event 11 widows will be left to care for 45 orphans.

Allotment of India Council Bills.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—India Council bills were allotted to-day at 1s 1¼d per rupee. This is a decline of 9 32d, the price at which the last allotment was made being 1s 2 1-32d.

Judge (to witness)—What is your age, senora?

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered And How He Was Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. C. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

MARKETS FOR OUR PRODUCE.

It will surprise some people who have not closely followed the course of transatlantic trade, to learn that the United States last year shipped a much larger quantity of hay than Canada to the English market. This is not an exceptional condition of things, either, as the United States exports of hay to England are generally larger than those of Canada. This is true, also, of nearly every other article of agricultural produce, and animals and their produce. The United States exports to England more live cattle and beef than Canada; more butter, more pork, more wheat, more oats, more flour; in fact, the only article produced on the farm or in connection with the farm, of which Canada exports a larger quantity to England than the United States is cheese, and our greater export of it arises from the fact that Canadian cheese is a better article, and has a high reputation abroad. These are instructive truths for the farmers of this country. They teach that the United States cannot, under the most favorable reciprocal conditions, become a market for many of the more important products of our farms. A country that produces a surplus and beats our farmers out in the supply of an independent market, is not likely to become a customer to any very great extent. The true policy for Canada is the National Policy, which builds up the home market, opens up trade with countries whose products are unlike our own, and at the same time is willing to treat with the United States for such a measure of reciprocity as would be mutually beneficial. It would be unwise policy to sacrifice everything for the sake of free admission of our potatoes, our barley and our eggs, to the markets of the United States; and the wisdom of the National Policy is shown by the tariff changes now in process across the border. Such Canadian products as the people of the United States do not themselves produce to advantage, they will sooner or later be willing to admit free, or at a comparatively low rate of duty. This is a cardinal principle of the National Policy of Canada which is being extended, as rapidly as the revenue necessities and other conditions will admit of.

SIR OLIVER'S VALENTINE.

The valentine which Sir Oliver Mowat addressed to the people of the Province, in the form of his programme for the session of the Legislature, as contained in the speech from the throne, with which the sitting was opened, is not of a very acceptable character. Like most of the pronunciamentoes issued from the same source, it has great length but very little breadth.

Sir Oliver evidently realizes that he will have a hard fight at the ensuing election, and has taken precautions accordingly. A gerrymander bill is promised, in which he will, as he did ten years ago, carve up the constituencies so as to secure the greatest possible advantage for his party, and at the same time he will evade an issue on the fees question and the mode of appointing certain of the officials, by referring the subject to a commission. This is a very cunning dodge of the old gentleman, but it betrays his fear of the ventilation of the subject.

Sir Oliver has had a long career, but the indications are that his political course is about run; and not before time, for his administration of public affairs has at all times been bad, and only by corrupt means and the creation of an army of henchmen who have done the dirty work in the elections, have he and his party been able to retain themselves in office.

—The Reichstag, by a large majority, has adopted a proposal to introduce in Germany the Australian method of polling.

—The officers and crew of the U. S. warship Kearsarge, wrecked lately, have left Colon on the steamer City of Para for New York. They are all well.

—James Galbraith, a well-known resident of Guelph, formerly a traveller for James Turner & Co., Hamilton, died at Guelph yesterday.

IF HEADACHE IS MISERY, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

—Sister Alvina, one of the nurses at the Chicago Smallpox Hospital, died Tuesday night. She contracted the disease while caring for the patients.

—A St. Catharines young man eloped with a clairvoyant, who has been carrying on business in that city. The event has caused much excitement.

PAIN FROM INDIGESTION, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

—Mrs. Myra Bradwell, editor of Legal News, and the first lady lawyer admitted to the bar of Illinois, died at Chicago at noon yesterday, aged 63 years.

—East Kent Patrons of Industry yesterday nominated James Leslie as their candidate for the Legislature. Mr. Leslie will consider the offer for two weeks.

Have You Neuralgia?

If you are suffering the agonies of neuralgia, and have failed to get a remedy that will afford relief, we want you to try Polson's Nerviline. No remedy in the market has given anything like the same degree of satisfaction. Its action on nerve pain is simply marvellous, and as it is put up in 25 cent bottles no great expense is involved in giving it a trial. Polson's Nerviline is the most pleasant, powerful, and certain pain remedy in the world. Sold by druggists and all dealers in medicine, 25 cents a bottle.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Asthma Cured

By Schiffman's Asthma Cure. No waiting for results. Its action is immediate, direct and certain. Price 50 cents and $1 of druggists or by mail. Trial packages to convince the most skeptical, free. Address Dr. Schiffman, St. Paul, Minn.

Asthma Sufferers.

Who have in vain tried every other means of relief, should try "Schiffman's Asthma Cure." No waiting for results. Its action is immediate, direct and certain, as a single trial proves. Send to Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., for a free trial package, but ask your druggist first.

THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

New Bills.

Sir Oliver Mowat, seconded by Hon. Mr. Hardy, moved for leave to introduce a bill, entitled, An act to provide for the administration of oaths of office to persons appointed as justices of the peace. The bill was read a first time.

He also moved, seconded by Hon. Mr. Hardy, and it was resolved, that the speech of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to this House be taken into consideration to-morrow.

He also moved, seconded by Hon. Mr. Hardy, and it was resolved, that select standing committees for the present session be appointed for the following purposes: (1) On privileges and elections; (2) on railways; (3) on miscellaneous private bills; (4) on standing orders; (5) on public accounts; (6) on printing, and (7) on municipal law, which committees shall severally be empowered to examine and inquire into all such matters and things as shall be reported to them by the House, and to report from time to time their observations and opinions thereon, with power to send for persons, papers and records.

Mr. Gibson of Huron and Mr. Kirkwood introduced the newly elected member for the North Riding of Bruce, Mr. McCallum. The House adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Notice of Motion.

Mr. Conmee has given notice of motion of his intention to introduce to-morrow a bill entitled "An Act to amend the Separate Schools Act."

WILL BE GIVEN THE BALLOT.

Justice for Separate School Supporters—Mr. Conmee's Bill.

Mr. Conmee, the member for Algoma, who, as is well known, is a prominent and trusted member of the Roman Catholic Church, is known to have been in consultation with members of the Local Government recently. Yesterday, quite possibly in consequence of these consultations, he gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill which has for its main object the granting to the supporters of the Separate schools all the privileges now enjoyed by Protestant voters in the use of the ballot.

It is quite certain that the change now proposed to be made, and one which has long been openly favored by a strong section of the Separate school supporters, is not advanced without having at least the strong sympathy of the wily Sir Oliver.

Mr. Conmee says he will also propose certain minor changes in the Separate school law, but he would only particularize an alteration which will simplify the system of registration for Separate school voters. He, however, explains that the other changes will merely affect matters of pure routine. A reporter found him last evening at the Rossin House and the impression left by the interview was that the bill in question is not yet drafted. Mr. Conmee added that he had intended in 1885 to introduce this same bill, but did not do so.

THE TOWNSHIP FAIR UPHELD

The Exhibition Association Votes For Its Continuance With An Extra Grant.

TORONTO, Feb 15.—A special meeting of the Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibitions was opened in the Walker House last night.

The first motion introduced was one moved by W. D. Law and seconded by L. Beaton that the Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibitions represent to the Government of Ontario that the time has arrived when the Government grant to the Agricultural and Arts Association should be discontinued.

After a protracted and animated discussion, in which the majority of the delegates spoke in favor of asking the Government to discontinue the grant to the old provincial show, the above motion was carried.

A delegation will accordingly be appointed this morning to wait on the Government.

The next motion introduced disturbed a veritable hornets' nest, as if it had been carried it would virtually be a request to the Government to do away with the township shows. But the delegates from the townships were evidently in the majority, as the motion was lost. Here it is:

Moved by James Reith, seconded by J. A. Goodall, that the Government of Ontario be asked to increase the grants to the agricultural societies of the province by such sum as they may deem advisable; that the total grant for agricultural purposes be equally divided among the several ridings or county societies, and that each riding grant be divided between the riding and branch societies pro rata according to membership.

After a long discussion this amendment was carried:

Moved by William Laidlaw, seconded by W. Rae, that the Government be asked to give an additional grant to electoral societies and that the whole be divided as previously provided among township and electoral district societies.

All the delegates seemed to be of a mind on at least one thing, and that was that it is a favorable time to "strike" the Government for an increase. The following delegates are

TO KEEP OUT SMALLPOX.

A System of Vaccination to Be Inaugurated at All Ports.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—The quarterly meeting of the Provincial Board of Health was opened at Dr. Bryce's office in the Parliament buildings yesterday, with Dr. Cassidy in the chair.

An informal discussion on smallpox and the quarantine system took place, and Dr. Rae moved, seconded by Dr. Kitchen, that on account of the prevalence of smallpox in Europe, and in view of the fact that a number of ships arrived in quarantine during the past season with the disease on board, the board wishes to recommend to the authorities the necessity of inaugurating a system of vaccination in all cases at the ports of departure.

$35,000 Fire in Toronto.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—A fire which is believed to have originated in the elevator shaft of the second floor occasioned $35,000 damage to the storeroom of the James Morrison Brass Manufacturing Co. (Ltd.), at 89-97 Adelaide-street west, last evening.

The storeroom, which contained a large stock of plumbers' and engineers' supplies and the workmen's tools, was totally destroyed.

Pussy.

Did you ever think why we call the cat puss? A great many years ago the people of Egypt, who had many idols, worshipped the cat. They thought she was like the moon, because she was more active at night, and because her eyes changed, just as the moon changes, which is sometimes full and sometimes only a little bright crescent, or half-moon, as we say. Did you ever notice your pussy's eyes to see how they change? So these people made an idol with a cat's head, and named it Pasht, the same name they gave the moon, for the word meant "the face of the moon." That word has been changed to pas or pus, and has come at last to be puss, the name which almost every one gives to the cat. Puss and pussy-cat are pet names for kitty everywhere. Whoever thought of it as given to her thousands of years ago, and that then people bowed down and prayed to her?

Bobby's Scriptural Poser.

Fond Parent—Yes, Bobby; the angel of death passed over the houses and smote the first-born of each Egyptian family.

Bobby (after a moment's silence)—Pop, what did the angel do when it was twins?—Harlem Life.

TOTALLY ECLIPSED.

PORTLAND, Feb. 12.—The people of this neighborhood have not yet finished talking of the remarkable cure of diabetes effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills in the case of Dr. E. A. Rose, of this village. The doctor is authority for the statement that his case is totally eclipsed by that of a lady, a patient of his, whom Bright's disease had brought to the verge of the grave. He prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills for her, and thanks to them, she is now cured. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

—Great loss of life owing to Monday's hurricane is reported in the northern part of Germany.

—Two men were killed and several others injured at Liege, Belgium, by the explosion of a cannon.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

No one need pity you if you die of consumption, without having tried Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary diseases. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles 50c and $1,00, at all druggists.

—Owing to the low prices, wheat deliveries throughout Manitoba have entirely ceased.

—The funeral of the late Sheriff McKellar of Hamilton took place at Chatham yesterday.

Fatal Results of Delay.

Sickness generally follows the path of neglect. Don't be reckless! but prudently take a few doses of Scott's Emulsion immediately following exposure to cold. It will save you many painful days and sleepless nights.

—Fire caused over $30,000 damage at Bedford, Que., on Tuesday night.

—The Emperor and Empress of Japan will celebrate their silver wedding on March 9.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Picture.

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

She Looketh Well

to the ways of her household." Yes, Solomon is right; that's what the good housekeeper everywhere does, but particularly in Canada.

But her ways are not always old ways. In fact she has discarded many unsatisfactory old ways. For instance, to-day she is using the New Shortening, instead of lard. And this is in itself a reason why "she looketh well" in another sense, for she eats no lard to cause poor digestion and a worse complexion.

COTTOLENE is much better than lard for all cooking purposes, as every one who has tried it declares. Have you tried it?

JUDICIAL SALE
—OF—
MINING - LANDS

In Marmora, in the County of Hastings.

PURSUANT to the judgment of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice, in an action of Cook vs. Williams, and with the approbation of the Master in Ordinary, there will be offered for sale by public auction, on Saturday, 24th day of February, 1894, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, by Messrs. Dickson & Townsend, at their Auction Rooms, 22 King St. W., Toronto, the following Mining Lands, in two parcels, namely:—

PARCEL 1.—An undivided half interest in Lot No. 8, in the 9th Concession of the Township of Marmora, in in the County of Hastings; also an undivided half interest in the west half of lot No. 9 in the 9th Con. of the said township of Marmora; also an undivided seventeen-fortieths interest in a portion of Lot No. 6, in the 8th Concession of the said Township of Marmora, and more particularly described in a certain deed registered in the Registry Office for the County of Hastings, on the 22nd day of August, 1870, as No. 410. (This lastly mentioned property consists of about four and one eight acres, situate on the bank of the Moira River). The mines and minerals on the said Lot No 6 are reserved and will not be offered for sale. There is at present (but out of repair) on this Lot No. 6, what is known as the Dean-Williams crushr.

PARCEL 2.—An undivided half interest in Lot No. 7, in the 9th Concession of the said Township of Marmora, save and except an undivided one-sixteenth interest in the south half of the said lot. The sale of this parcel will be made subject to the interest of the defendant, William Richardson, as mortgagee of an undivided six-sixteenths of the south half, and of an undivided half of the north half of said lot. There was found due to the said Richardson, for principal and interest, by the Master's report, up to 4th January, 1894, the sum of $3,163.54, and also interest at 6 per cent, on the principal from date.

These lands are supposed to contain valuable deposits of gold ore, and are situate about five miles from the Village of Marmora, where a crushing mill is now in operation by the Hastings Mining & Reduction Company, and are situate about three miles from Marmora station on the Central Ontario Railway, and about eight miles from the Village of Madoc and close to the River Moira.

TERMS.—Ten per cent. of the purchase money must be paid to the vendors or their solicitors at the time of sale, and the balance within one month thereafter, without interest into Court, to the credit of this action.

The vendors will not be bound to furnish any abstract of title, or to verify any abstract of title, or to furnish any proofs or evidence of title, other than those which are now in their possession or power.

If the purchaser shall insist upon any objection or requisition which the vendors shall be unable or unwilling to remove or comply with, the vendors are to be at liberty to apply to the said Master to rescind the contract of sale, unless within ten days after notice of such application the purchaser shall by notice in writing withdraw such objection or requisition.

The plaintiff and all parties to the action have liberty to bid at the auction sale of the above property.

The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserve bid on each parcel.

Other conditions of sale are the standing conditions of Court. Further terms and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale, or will be made known upon application to MESSRS. LOUNT, MARSH & CAMERON, Vendors' Solicitors, 25 Toronto Street Toronto, or to MESSRS. MACDONALD, MACINTOSH & MCCRIMMON, Canada Life Buildings, Toronto.

The previous best time was 2:25 made in 1877 by Deck Wright over a mile track on Leamy's Lake in Hull.

W. D. Grand's combination sale of high-class saddle and harness horses, held on Tuesday at the American horse exchange, was largely attended, buyers being present from Washington, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore and other outside places. The Canadian horses from the Montreal stables were a good lot, their manners being especially good. The 17 realized $4,692, an average of $276

Pugilist Fitzsimmons is going to England to look for a match. If he can't get one he will go to work at his trade, blacksmithing.

The match race which was arranged between King Forest and Last Chance and which was to have come off on Friday last did not materialize for some cause or causes unknown.

At Ottawa yesterday Peacock was an easy winner in the Reserved class—best time 2:46¾. The free for all was a grand race. The old pacer Budd Doble was the favorite, but Money Maid won the first heat. The second was a dead heat between the Maid and Ben. B., who won the third. Money Maid won the fourth. Ben. B. won the fifth, with Joe Martin up behind him, and the race went over until to-day. Best time 2:26¼, in the last heat.

As an outcome of the rivalry engendered by the big shooting contests at Monte Carlo, O. Hannam, a well-known European racing man, and F. Hardy, of Manchester, England, met at Nice on January 27th to shoot at 31 pigeons each for $4,000. The Englishman won by five birds, although he stood three metres further off than his opponent.

The presidents of the Oxford and Cambridge athletic clubs have agreed to hold the annual inter-university games on Saturday, March 17th, after the big boat race has been decided.

Richelieu and Ontario.

At a directors' meeting of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company held in Montreal on the 14th, Mr. Julien Chabot, who has been for some years general manager of the company, tendered his resignation and the same was duly accepted. No one has yet been appointed to replace Mr. Chabot, as the directors feel it their duty to exercise the greatest care in the selection of so important an official. It is thought, however, that the right man for the position will be found before very long. It was also decided by the directors to place the steamer Columbia on the route between Chippawa, Ont., and Buffalo, N. Y., during the coming season, running the coming season, running in connection with the Niagara Falls electric railway, which carried in four months of last year. The Magnet will run as last year, between Hamilton and Montreal by the bay of Quinte route. The new board's management will, in fact, be a very vigorous one.

Police Court.

The assault case of Jos. Fox vs. Paul Deshane, was dismissed with costs.

The Pope-Hodgins seduction case was called this morning, but the defendant did not put in an appearance, and the case was enlarged until 2:30 this afternoon. At that hour Hodgins did not respond, and Mr. L. H. Henderson, the Crown prosecutor, asked the Magistrate to note the non-appearance of the defendant for the purpose of estreating his bail. The case was further enlarged until Monday next.

The River Overflowing.

Owing to the storm of last night and this forenoon anchor ice again formed on the river and as a consequence the water has risen at the mouth of the river. The boat houses along south Front St. are flooded and water was running into the windows of the steam yacht "Startled Fawn" this morning. The business portion of Front St. is in no danger.

We Make Money for You.

The Oak Hall are selling lots of overcoats, notwithstanding the lateness of the season. We will sell winter goods at cost, a snap for the buyer, and we have the money to use. We need cash, if you have a little to spare buy your heavy goods for next winter.

PROBABILITIES

Toronto, Feb. 15.—Fresh to strong northeast to northwest winds; at first light snow at most places, afterwards clearing and colder.

—Some of the consuls lately appointed by President Cleveland are dissatisfied at the lowness of their salaries.

—The United States Senate has rejected the nomination of Benjamin Lenthier, of Massachusetts, as consul to Sherbrooke, Q.

—The French Government claims that the second fight between French and English forces in Sierra Leone was due to the British invading French territory.

—Lady Aberdeen and Mrs. Cummings, Corresponding Secretary of the Dominion Women's Council, addressed a meeting in London Grand Opera House last night.

—The re-count of the ballots in the Montreal Mayoralty contest was concluded last evening. Mr. Villeneuve's majority was made 214 instead of 176. Mr M. Shane, however, says he will contest the election.

AMUSEMENTS

DRAMA FOR A WEEK.

The Sawtelle Dramatic Company, after an absence of nearly six years, will pay a visit to this city next week, opening at the Queen's opera house Monday evening in "The Golden Giant Mine," to be followed by a different bill nightly. The prices will be 15, 25 and 35 cents. The company is the finest and best equipped cheap priced company now travelling. The Peterborough Examiner says of them: "The Sawtelle Dramatic Company—an excellent dramatic organization—have been playing at the opera house every night this week to large and delighted audiences. The plays which the company have put on nightly have been of a very high order of merit and value. Last evening the presentation was "Lost at Sea," and every part was well sustained throughout, while the songs and specialties were numerous and catchy."

COMIC OPERA AT POPULAR PRICES.

Miss Josephine Stanton, prima donna of the California Opera Co., who begin a three nights' engagement at the Queen's Opera House to-night, has caught the popular fancy everywhere by her rich voice, that seems to linger in her hearers' minds. Miss Stanton was first discovered, so to speak, by Col. Mapleson, and subsequently made her American debut with the Emma Abbott Opera Co. Not only does the lady sing sweetly, but she is filled with rare dramatic power, that is usually lacking in prima donnas. Mr. Harry Hallam, lyric tenor, late of the New York Casino Co., possesses a mellow voice of rare tone and compass. "Said Pasha" will be the opening opera, and should be greeted by a large audience. Prices are popular, 15c, 25c, 35c, and 50c.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Mr. F. Sprague, Ameliasburg, left yesterday for Gainsville, Texas.

Mr. J. K. McCargar leaves shortly for the Old Country on business.

Mr. Frank Dolan is confined to his house by illness.

Mrs. Isaac Pettit and daughter, Libbie, are visiting friends in Prince Edward county.

Mr. Robt. Wilson left for Picton this morning to take charge of the repairing of the boilers of the str. Alexandria, the G. & J. Brown M'f'g Co. having the contract.

Miss Aggie White, a young Woodstock lady, who has been visiting her aunt on the Sidney road, Mrs. A. Matheson, D. & D. I. since the Christmas holdays, left at noon to-day to visit friends in Montreal.

Mrs. M. Bonisteel, Alexander St., who has been very seriously ill for the last few days is somewhat better to-day.

Mr. James Haggerty, Reeve of Huntingdon, and his son Richard, were in town to-day.

Rev. Dr. Burwash, chancellor of Victoria University, leaves on Tuesday next for a three months' visit to Europe.

Miss Leslie, of Montreal, is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vandervoort, Dundas St.

The Canadian Mute says: "We regret to say that Mr. Ashley has had a slight relapse and his physician has ordered absolute rest for a time. He was so anxious to be with his pupils that he resumed teaching before he was thoroughly well and in this way overtaxed his strength with the result noted. We hope to have him with us again shortly."

M. W. Malley, Brockville; A. W. Dudley, Colborne; H. C. McMullen, Picton, are at the Anglo-American.

The California opera company arrived from Peterborough this morning and are stopping at the Queen's and the Huffman House. Mr. John Henderson, a former Belleville boy, is one of the leading comedians of the company, and was welcomed by many old friends.

Mr. M. Sweetnam, Inspector of Post Offices, is at the Huffman House.

Have you Asthma?

Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., will mail a trial package of "Schiffmann's Asthma Cure," free to any sufferer. He advertises by giving it away. Never fails to give instant relief in worst cases and cures where others fail. Name this paper and send address for a free trial package.

Tea Meeting at Plainfield.

A very successful tea meeting was held last night at Plainfield, under the auspices of Plainfield Lodge L.O.L. After all had eaten, a splendid programme was put on, consisting of addresses by the chairman, P. Mather, P.C M., W.C. Mikel, W.B. Northrup, M.P., and the Rev. W. Wilson. Mr. Honeywell, a talented young elocutionist, rendered several recitations, which were received with hearty applause, and Mr. Crapeau gave a humorous recitation. Instrumental music was furnished by the Riggs family, and vocal music by Misses Campbell, Farnham, and Poucher. W.C. Mikel introduced the new Plainfield choir, which sang "Bohankas and Bohunkus" in a manner that brought tears to the eyes of their friends.

Another Wedding.

A happy event occurred yesterday at the residence of Mr. Jos. Blackburn, Coleman St., yesterday afternoon, being the marriage of his step-daughter, Miss Edna Smith, to Mr. Samuel Gliddon, contractor, of Oshawa. The bride was supported by Miss Frankie Blackburn, while Mr. Will Hunter did the honors of groomsman. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. O. Crossley in the presence of a few friends, after which the happy couple took the evening train for their future home in Oshawa amid the best wishes of their many friends. A number of handsome presents were received by the bride.

Why Drink Poor Tea?

You want good tea, tea like our forefathers drank, and for which they paid more dollars per pound than we do quarters, tea that is not insipid with earthy taste, or unpleasant with astringency, but tea in its most perfect quality, full, rich flavored and fragrant. Then try Stroud's fine English Breakfast, Black, Oolong, Indian and Ceylon or May pickings Japan tea at 40c, 50c and 60c per lb, they are delicious. Stroud's Tea Store.

Concert in St. Michael's.

The Guild of St. Michael's church gave a concert last evening, in the basement of the church. The attendance was large and the entertainment a most enjoyable one. The programme consisted of vocal selections by Misses Tisdale, Bawden, and little Frankie Mackie, and Messrs. W.C. McLean and J. N. Doyle; Mr. H. Foltz gave a musical trio, after which the farce "An Odd Lot" was presented, to the amusement of the audience.

A Handsome Office.

Mr. H. Corby, M.P., is remodelling his office on Bridge St. and when completed, will be one of the finest in the city. The private office will hereafter be in the rear, while the business office will be composed of the two rooms in front. Mr. Corby's private quarters will be handsomely fitted up, and the whole of the rooms on the first floor will be re-decorated.

Some Early Locomotives.

Speaking of the locomotive exhibit made by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at the World's Fair, Mr. J. C. Trautwine, Jr., in Cassier's Magazine for February, gives an interesting account of some of the early forms of engines shown. To begin with, he says, there was the Newton's idea of propulsion by means of the relief pressure obtained by allowing a jet of steam to escape backward from the boiler. This, so fa ras known, was the first suggestion for steam travel on hand. Next in order came the Cugnot, dating back to 1769. This engine was originally designed and constructed by Nicholas Cugnot of the French army, and was used for transporting artillery. There were in this engine two vertical, self-acting cylinders, which communicated with each other by levers and acted upon the front wheel by means of a circular rack arrangement. The front wheel carried the entire weight of the boiler, and was used for steering the craft which, being built before the days of railroads, were used upon common roads. Owing to the smallness of the boiler, the engine could only run a short time without stopping. The Murdoch of 1784 had only one cylinder, and the piston acted upon the single pair of driving wheels through an overhead beam. As in the Newton and Cugnot, the single front wheel was used for steering. The upright cylindrical boiler was heated by a spirit lamp. Further along was the engine designed and patented in 1791 by Nathan Reed, of Salem, Mass., the inventor of the multitubular boiler. This engine had two horizontal cylinders which acted upon the driving axle by means of a rectangular frame attached to the piston rod and containing a double rack which engaged with a semi-pinion upon the axle.

Richard Trevithick's various early engines were represented by a number of models, one of them dating back to 1800. A later engine, labeled "the first locomotive on rails in the world," was used on the Merthyr Tydvil tramway in South Wales. It had a horizontal cylinder acting upon the driving wheels by means of gearing. Some of the three-foot cast-iron edge rails and the rough stone blocks to which they were attached were shown, as were also two of the four-wheeled iron cars which were drawn by the engine. Another one of Trevithick's engines, bearing the pretentious name "Catch Me Who Can," was shown in the same group. This had a single vertical cylinder placed on the boiler and worked, without gearing, upon a single pair of drivers.

—A meeting of apple buyers and exporters of Ontario was held in Toronto yesterday, and it was decided to organize an association for the improvement of the system of carrying on the business.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst, over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and references books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

A CHAT WITH SAM JONES

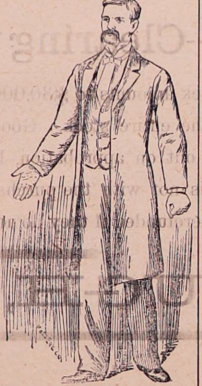
"Does not the spirit of sectarianism keep the churches from working in common?"

"I do not think that sectarianism is so much in the way. It is no more difficult to unite the different branches of the church than it is to unite the Methodists and the Baptists upon any religious question. If we ever conquer the world for Christ we must adopt business methods and intelligent plans of work. Take a town of twelve hundred people and there you will find Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians and Congregationalists, each denomination having a church—five preachers and five churches to take care of twelve hundred people, babies included. Suppose that a large life insurance company should work on the same method and plant five agents with their offices in a little town like that? They might pursue that course and do as some pastors do—cut the rate. Many preachers have cut the rate to glory; they propose to take a fellow through to Heaven on a much cheaper and easier basis than their neighbor, the pastor around the corner. In other words, if one pastor stands up for doctrine and for discipline and right living in his church and thereby produces friction and disaffection, another pastor around the corner will say to the disaffected members, if you cannot have peace over in your church come over and join mine; I won't bother you about those little indiscretions. We either ought to pool rates, or else appoint a committee that would impose a heavy fine on any man who cuts the rates."

"Do you think that the churches of to-day reach the poor."

"If the church does not reach the poor, it is more the fault of the poor than the rich church members. Frequently, the rich feel more kindly toward the poor than the poor do toward the rich. This ought to be true, whether it is or not. It is a very hard matter to make a fellow out of a job, and almost out of rations for himself and family, think very kindly of the millionaire who never knows a want or a care in his financial life. Business conditions separate men but the church does not unite them."



"YOU HAD BETTER NOT TURN THE LAMB IN WITH HIM."

"Do you think that the contest between capital and labor is an ethical question to be settled according to Christian principles, or is it to be relieved according to the rule of supply and demand?"

"As to the great question of capital and labor, I notice that the further off the business world swings from the ten commandments and the Sermon on the Mount just in that proportion difficulties multiply and the breach between Capital and Labor widens. I can take the Sermon on the Mount and solve all problems, social, political and financial. Selfishness is disintegrating. Capital is moved by selfishness, so is Labor. There is no point at which friction can cease and peace reign while selfishness is the motive that produces the labor strike, upon one side, and that strikes on the other. But when the golden rule shall be applied to both sides of this question it will make the world a common brotherhood, and the millionaire and the common laborer friends indeed. The lion and the lamb will lie down together and a little child will lead them. But until something is done for the lion you had better not turn the lamb in with him; and, really, I don't think that the lamb wants to go in at the present stage of the game."

"What is your opinion of the effect of the Higher Biblical Criticism and new methods of Scriptural interpretations?"

"I think that advanced theology is a result rather than a cause. Men made creeds to begin with, and they will change them at their convenience. The Apostles' creed was formulated when Christianity meant something. Let me read a man's creed and I will write his biography, Creeds are not so much the result of careful study of the Bible as they are the expression of the lives of those who write them. Primitive Christianity is satisfied with the Apostles' creed; modern Christianity must revise its creeds or quit the church."

"It is said by the representatives of the Higher Criticism that the old literal and incorrect interpretation of the scriptures prevented many from entering the church and that henceforth Christianity will be strengthened and simplified."

"Modern theologians with their creeds are trying to teach men how to swim into a river. Primitive theologians and their creeds taught men that they might swim after they got into the river, but there was no process by which they could swim into the river; you must run and jump in, then do your swimming."

"Have you anything to say in regard to the criticism that evangelists sometimes do harm to the church by interfering with the regular methods of church work?"

"That statement is true, just as it is true of the fisherman sitting on the banks of a creek, fishing with his hook and line, and a company of boys coming down the creek with a seine and seining the hole where the fisherman sits with his hook and line. The boys do interfere with the fellow's lonesome job. The seine catches the fish; the fellow with the hook and line sometimes doesn't get a bite. So, sometimes, a good, quiet old doctor of divinity sits with his silver-tipped pole, silk line and red painted cork. He admits that he gets a few bites but hasn't caught anything, and when the evangelist comes along with the gospel net and bags all the fish it interferes with the old doctor's fishing; generally, the fish are caught, and souls are saved. But there ought to be no clash between pastor and evangelist; they are both ordained of God. One man soweth and another reapeth; he that soweth and he that reapeth shall rejoice together."

"What is your opinion of modern methods of church work, providing in large churches reading rooms, gymnasiums, halls for drilling, etc.?"

"I think all appliances such as libraries and other healthful social features in church work are crowned instrumentalities to help men to be good, to do good, and to keep good. But, after all, the church has but one business in the world and that is to pitch in and roll up its sleeves and bring the world to Christ. If you stop short of that then it is a literary society, or a benevolent institution; Christianity is revolutionary or it is nothing. You might as well take a cholera patient to a fashionable restaurant and ask him to eat a big meal, as to expect a gymnasium or a library to erase the stain of sin on the human heart, or to reform the wicked habits of bad men."

"Sometime since a Methodist clergyman proposed that the basements of churches should be used as billiard rooms to draw young men away from the regular resorts, and in Jersey City there is a church house which has a bar, where temperance drinks are sold. What do you think of these enterprises?"

"The pastor who would put billiard tables in the basement of his church, or open a Christian saloon so as to draw men towards the better influences, is like the foolish farmer who had a rotten potato and said he would pack a thousand sound potatoes around it and try and save it. A short time afterwards he went to the pile of potatoes and they were all rotten. I do not believe that the best way to manage evil is to pull it in and make it respectable. To taboo it, denounce it, eliminate it, cast it out is the only true method of procedure. Be not unevenly yoked together. There is not an infernalism practiced by men that the devil would not rejoice to see it fostered and protected by preachers and churches."

"What is your opinion of the Prohibition party?"

"The prohibitionists advocate the extermination of the liquor traffic. They differ from all other parties on that point. As a Prohibitionist myself, I would be willing to adopt every plank in the three other platforms presented by the three other parties, without a word of remonstrance, if we could enforce the one idea of the Prohibition party. What matters it about the tariff." What would the discussion between labor and capital amount to if the $1,200,000,000 wasted on drink could be emptied into the pantries and upon the tables of all our homes. If whisky was banished from our land no more children would cry for bread; and the reason children cry for bread to-day is because their parents do not cry for beer—they have all they want.—George J. Manson.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT"

was issued.

Since then we have shipped 'The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

It is not a Condition Powder

EMPIRE STOCK FOOD

Is not intended to take the place of the ordinary food of the farm, but to supply relishes lacking, and enable all the ration to be thoroughly digested, which is not the case in ordinary feeding. Thus when Empire is added less other food is required to maintain the animal. It is neither laxative nor constipating, but brings about a healthy action, tones up and strengthens the digestive organs, increases physical power and capacity to assimilate food, and where rapid improvement is desired, either for the show ring, for fat, or for milk, the gain is very marked.

It prevents disease. Scours in young animals is unknown where it is used, and other complaints caused by indigestion seldom, if ever, occur where Empire is a part of the ration. A run down beast is quickly restored. It is a general source of economy, filling a real want in animals, and by no other means can such marked improvement in health and form be secured at such a small cost For sale at

This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. Testimonial from the wife of John Creigh J. P.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Saved Her Life.

Mrs. C. J. WOOLDRIDGE, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"One of my children had Croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it strangling. It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicines given, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and, in a short time, she was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

MR. MEREDITH'S POLICY

Clearly Defined in a Masterly Speech.

HOT SHOT FOR SIR OLIVER.

The Timber and Mining Policies Criticized.

Posing as a Prohibition Government But Levying Upon License Holders for the Sinews to Carry on an Election Campaign—A Demand for an Honest Ballot—Biennial Sessions of the Legislature and Fewer Cabinet Ministers—The Premier's Reply.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Mr. Peter McCallum, the newly-elected P.P.A. member for East Lambton, was introduced in the Ontario Legislature yesterday by Donald McNaughton, the newly-elected Patron member, and George Campbell, the Equal Rights member for East Durham.

Mr. Wood of Brant moved the adoption of the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. After craving the indulgence of the House he gave expression to his sentiments of profound loyalty, and declared that the people of this country would never surrender the independence of this grand country to any people or to any nation in the world. The present depression was due to the very low prices prevailing for the products of the farm, due to various causes. And it was necessary for the farmers to adopt new methods and to put on the market new productions at less cost than had been the case. He dwelt at some length upon the importance and great value to the farmers of Ontario of the Agricultural College at Guelph, which was not intended to be a money-making but an educational institution. The attendance this year had reached 280. He proceeded to discuss the great usefulness attending the holding of farmers' institutes throughout the province. At Chicago, not only in cheese, which added largely to the income of the farmer, but in almost everything else, Canadians had swept the board; and the name of Ontario was written at the very top of the list of contestants, showing that Canadians in every department feared no competition and only demanded a fair field and no favor. [Cheers.]

For his part he did not quarrel with the policy of the leader of the Opposition, that the assets of the province in the shape of timber lands should be preserved for the benefit of future generations, but the advance of settlement and the needs of the province necessitated the utilization of a portion of our timber preserves from time to time. He was glad to say that our standing timber was worth many millions of dollars. He proceeded to touch briefly upon the other topics contained in the address. He was strongly inclined to the view, that if, in cases where the fees collected were excessive, the system was so amended as to give a fair percentage of those fees to the municipalities and to the province, very little fault could be found in the present system of appointment of officials.

He believed that the Government was thoroughly in earnest in regard to introducing the strongest measure of prohibition of the liquor traffic at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. Conmee seconded the motion. He hoped that the measure respecting the mining industry, which was foreshadowed, but of which he knew nothing, would be of the right kind, and have in it something practical. Its first clause should be that all royalties heretofore imposed on minerals should be abandoned and that all minerals in this province hereafter should be free from royalties forever. Half a million from the surplus should be loaned at four per cent. to improve and develop our mining lands on somewhat the same basis as the drainage and debenture fund. There should be a department and minister of mines, as our mining interests had never received the attention their importance deserved. Agriculture and mining were our two greatest industries. Why did Canadians leave the country? Owing to lack of profitable employment. A home market should be developed for the inmates of the factory and for our working classes; and the development of our mining interests would give much assistance. He defended the Government warmly against attack on the ground of its great extravagance, and held that the Government was to blame for not spending more of the surplus in aiding in the opening up and development of the newer portions of the Province. He did not believe in the election of officials, as demanded by the Patrons of Industry. And he deprecated strongly the enforcement of a prohibitory law under the superintendence of officials elected by the people. He did not believe that the resulting state of affairs would be at all satisfactory.

Mr. Meredith Defines His Policy.

Mr. Meredith, the leader of the Opposition, when he rose to address the House, was received by his supporters with hearty cheers. He congratulated the mover and seconder of the address in reply on the manner in which they had performed their duties, but must express his surprise, because he had never yet heard the mover and seconder address themselves to the topics contained in the Speech from the Throne, without referring to a single item of legislation proposed in the Speech from the Throne. [Hear, hear.] Although the speech dealt with the important question of the readjustment of the representation of the people of this province, not one word of explanation was vouchsafed by either gentleman with regard to that or any other of the half a dozen measures referred to in the Speech from the Throne. Not one word was said touching the Board of Conciliation—[laughter]—which was proposed to prevent legislation and establish peace in the land. But both gentlemen merely dealt in generalities calculated to square themselves with the different sections of people who were making noisy attacks on the Government at the present time. The Speech from the Throne stated that certain measures were to be considered by the people's representatives, and the mover and seconder, who were supposed to voice the sentiments of the Administration of the day, should have given further information to the House as to the lines on which the principal measures were to be shaped. He congratulated the hon. gentleman, who had last spoken, on having exhibited the other side of the shield. They had, the mover declaring that the Government was pledged to prohibition and that the voice of the people of this province had been unmistakably in favor of prohibition. And then they had the seconder, a more important supporter of and more closely connected with the Administration, declaring that prohibition was a sham. [Laughter.] The hon. gentleman had lifted the veil of secrecy and exposed the tactics of hon. gentlemen opposite. [Cheers.]

As in the past, these gentlemen hoped to yoke together the honest temperance people of this province with the licensed victuallers and retain the support of the majority of that body, whose votes and money had been so useful to them in the past. [Cheers.] This could not be exposed more clearly. [Hear, hear.] He fully coincided with the mover in his observations regarding the striking success of this province in matters agricultural and manufacturing and educational at the recent World's Exposition.

While he agreed to a certain extent with the declaration as to the temporary depression due to the low prices prevailing, yet they must judge these things by comparison; and looking upon other countries they could well appreciate the proud and satisfactory position in which the farmers of this country stood. It was not due to the labors of this government that our great industries had been fostered and promoted; but this was due to the intelligence of those who were engaged in these interests and to the industry and application of the great body of the farmers of this country. [Hear, hear.] The excellent position occupied by the farmers of Ontario compared with the farmers of other countries was one of which the people of this country ought to be proud, and was wholly due to the intelligence and industry of our people. [Hear, hear.] This Government had no right to claim any credit. [Hear, hear.] He hoped they would have from the Attorney-General some statement as to the nature of the measures to be introduced. The Government had recently received two pretty serious blows in different parts of the province. An organization had grown up which these hon. gentlemen were anxious to appease, and they were now very much alarmed lest the new elements which had appeared on the political field would disturb their power. They reminded him of the old couplet and of that gentleman of whom it was said, "When the devil was sick, the devil a saint would be." [Great laughter.] But if the people of this province were foolish enough to return them again to power, again would the hon. gentlemen opposite prove to be like the gentleman of the couplet, for "When the devil got well, the devil a saint was he." [Great laughter.]

The hon. gentlemen who had spoken had talked a good deal about what the Government had done for the people of this country. They had touched upon the mining interests and the timber reserves, and to the administration of these reserves. He was sure the House would pardon his referring to these two questions. The Attorney-General had proclaimed that from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 worth of timber were yet standing on the reserves throughout the Province, and said that all this enormous amount of property prevented any necessity for stringent economy. Yet upon what did the hon. gentleman base this valuation? He gave no proofs, and this in face of the fact that more than once the hon. gentleman had denied what the members of the Opposition demanded, the appointment of a commission to determine accurately in order that the people might thoroughly understand the value and extent of our timber and other reserves. And the gross maladministration, by hon. gentleman opposite, of these valuable reserves would be made an issue in the coming campaign. [Applause.] He would read an extract from a statement made by the first Finance Minister of this province with regard to these timber reserves, and they would see how the policy, which had been pursued wrongfully by hon. gentlemen opposite, compared with the policy at that time outlined. This was so long ago as Dec. 10, 1869. How did the then lately founded Government of the province propose to deal with this question? It was then thoroughly discussed what this province had to rely upon to meet the ordinary expenses from year to year. And instead of dealing, as honorable gentlemen opposite had done, with the proceeds of crown lands as money to be expended on capital account, they proposed to keep the capital intact permanently, the interest on which would be used to provide income for the ordinary expenditures of the province. [Hear, hear.] The then Finance Minister, after speaking of the permanent revenue of the province, amounting to about three millions per annum, said:

The Crown timber reserve I look upon as permanent. The Crown lands are passing away, but the Crown timber, if the policy of the present Government is carried out, and of course it is the correct policy—[hear, hear]—of preserving the timber as much as may be on lands which are not suited to agricultural purposes, will prove a source of revenue not only to the present, but to future generations. Timber is now a cash article the world over. In this part of the world its value is constantly upon the increase and I put it down that during the next quarter of a century Crown timber will yield a net revenue of $300,000 per annum.

Hon. Mr. Richards: I expected much more than that.

Hon. Mr. Wood: Well, I think that is a safe estimate.

Hon. Mr. McMurrich: Above all expenses?

Hon. Mr. Wood: Yes. I do not think that some members of this House have any idea of the immense value to this province of its timber. Hon. gentlemen who have taken the trouble to read the report of Mr. Wilson in the public lands office at Washington see how immense has been the destruction of timber in the northern part of Michigan and in the West. He speaks not only as regards the injury done to the country through the waste of timber, but also of the land itself being rendered less capable of culture by reason of all shelter from winds and storms being swept away. It is a matter of the very first importance to this province, therefore, that we should be careful to protect its timber. I do not mean to protect it in such a way as to prevent the progress of civilization and agriculture, but where the country is unsuited for agricultural purposes in my opinion it is the duty of the Government and of future generations to husband and to take care of its timber. I take the interest on the outstanding grammar-school lands at 5 per cent., being the principal of the sale of these lands at $100,000, and interest at $73,000; that is the principal and interest on all outstanding grammar-school lands sold, making a total amount of $173,000. The interest upon this at 5 per cent. may be looked upon as a permanent revenue to the province—an annual income of $8650. Then we have the interest on the Crown lands at 5 per cent., the principal being $500,000 and interest, $400,000 with interest at 5 per cent. I take it, we may look upon this as a permanent source of income to the Province of $45,000. I think it is safe to regard that as worth 5 per cent. annually to the exchequer. This leads me to remark that there is now a very small quantity of Crown lands unsold from which a revenue might be expected. The greater portion of Crown lands which yielded a revenue are now nearly disposed of, although some revenue may be derived from those remaining unsold; yet as to that, if sufficient is realized from them to pay preliminary expenses, as surveys, etc., it is all we can expect. Therefore I do not count upon anything being realized as permanent revenue from Crown lands except from those that have been already sold. The next permanent source of revenue is interest on the outstanding grammar school lands, 5 per cent. interest being 5-9 of the principal, $700,000 and interest $500,000 set apart for common schools. Of the purchase money due for these lands there remains uncollected principal and interest $1,200,000. Of this amount, I assume that Ontario is entitled to 5-9; interest at 5 per cent. on this amount is $35,000. That I look upon as a permanent source of revenue.

What he (Mr. Meredith) wished to point out was that the Crown land reserves were to be kept as a permanent source of revenue to the province, and the condition was that they should husband these reserves and not put them on the market in those districts which were not fit for settlement. But this policy had been entirely reversed by the Government of the day. Time and again, despite the energetic protests of the Opposition, the Government had kept it in their power to place millions of dollars worth of timber, the domain of the province, upon the public market without consulting the representatives of the people. [Hear, hear.] This was essentially opposed to the principles of democratic government and an infringement on the rights of the members of this Legislature. [Cheers.] The Government had arrogated to itself the right to say that lands worth two three, four or five millions of dollars of the patrimony of the province, with its value increasing by leaps and bounds as years went by, should be placed on the market, without deigning to consult the people's representatives. [Hear, hear.] If not suited condemnation could be voted. Hon. gentlemen opposite had taunted the Opposition with want of success in their appeals to the electorate, but the people were beginning to wake up and shake off their party shackles. [Cheers.] The charges made against hon. gentlemen opposite did not now fall upon deaf ears. [Hear, hear.] And the ears of the people were open, particularly to an understanding of the grave maladministration of the most glorious patrimony of any country on this continent, shown by the conduct of the Government in dealing with the timber reserves of this province. [Cheers.] These hon. gentlemen had converted 16 million dollars worth of our timber into money. True, they pointed to the buildings they had erected, etc., but these limits of 20 years ago, when these hon. gentlemen came into power, if unsold, would now sell for from 20 to 30 and 40 times as much as they had actually brought. [Hear, hear.] These buildings were no doubt creditable, but they represented an annual tax upon the revenues of the province. And how much better would it have been if, instead of sacrificing these timber reserves, they had borrowed the money and had allowed these reserves to increase tenfold in value at this time! [Cheers.] And the money could have been got at a low rate of interest. [Hear, hear.] No part of the policy of these hon. gentlemen was more worthy of condemnation. [Hear, hear.] Then the Government had received nearly $1,800,000 from the Crown lands, $704,000 odd from the clergy lands, $810,000 from the common school lands and $135,000 from the Grammar school lands, which made nearly $3,500,000 more of our capital obtained from the reserves of the province, which these hon. gentlemen had expended. [Hear, hear.] Hon. gentlemen would see that our timber reserves originally were to be treated as a permanent, not temporary, source of revenue, and he would now call attention to the expenditure of the Crown Lands Department, which was utterly unjustifiable. From 1870 to 1892 $844,746 had been expended in the survey of new townships. Here they had for 22 years an expenditure of nearly $40,000 a year paid out to the favorites of hon. gentlemen opposite for the purpose of surveying numerous townships in the wilderness, in the majority of which there was not a settler to this day for settlement. [Hear, hear.]

There had been an enormous expenditure of over three and four millions, which was utterly unjustifiable, and a serious waste of the moneys of the province. [Hear, hear.] He agreed with the hon. gentleman from West Algoma, that the Government ought not to be niggard in developing the resources of the country, and he agreed with the hon. gentleman that regarding the great mining interests of this province, while they had been recklessly improvident in managing our timber resources, they had absolutely neglected the development of our mining interests. [Hear, hear.] Hon. gentlemen would recollect the eloquent words of the member for West Algoma, touching the effect on the people of West Algoma when the news flashed across the wires that, owing to the exertions of the First Minister, it was made part of Ontario. The hon. gentleman said strong men wept—[laughter]—and that women hugged their children. [Laughter.] He ventured to say that these strong men, knowing of the utter neglect of that great section of the country by this Government, instead of weeping, were now inclined to curse the hon. gentlemen opposite. [Great laughter.] And the women, instead of hugging their babes for joy, would now be inclined to snowball the hon. gentlemen opposite. [Hear, hear, and laughter.] He declared, with all seriousness, that the Government had entirely neglected the development of the mining interests of this great Province. [Hear, hear.] In 1892 the value of the mineral product was $5,374,139, of which $2,591,344 represented wages paid to employes. It would be seen that, outside the development of these resources, which, without the application of labor, would lie dormant and useless, employment was given to labor. But it was matter for great surprise that the bulk of the five millions reported from the Bureau of Mines was derived from the manufacture of stone, $880,000; the manufactures of lime gave $350,000; brick yielded $1,689,355, and petroleum $1,400,435. But not one single dollar was given in the report for 1892 as the product of the iron mines of this rich province from one end of it to the other. [Hear, hear.]

It seemed to him that this state of things demanded the most serious attention of this Legislature, and of any government charged with the administration of the affairs of this Province. [Hear, hear]. But the hon. gentlemen opposite said they were powerless to do anything. They had understood towards the close of last session some hon. gentleman had persuaded them to come down with a proposition favoring substantial aid to our mining industry. It was even said that the Minister of Crown Lands had a measure prepared, but pressure from some quarter was such that the Government had been compelled to abandon that proposition and to leave the mining industry to struggle on, as was the case to-day. The argument was that to aid this interest savored of protection and interfered with the views of the party in Dominion politics, in these hon. gentlemen said that each industry must stand upon its own bottom. But these hon. gentlemen had been unpatriotic and unwise. [Hear, hear.] They were part proprietors of large sections of this Province, having vast undeveloped wealth; and, as a prudent owner of a property should do, they should have shown that this industry was well worthy of profitable development. [Hear, hear.] But these hon. gentlemen had been too anxious about a question on which a commission was issued to obtain information regarding provision made for their friends—[laughter]—and this important question, involving the interests of the great northwestern section of this province, was sat upon and hon. gentlemen said they could do nothing—[hear, hear]—and all these riches must lie dormant. He, for one, would never have consented to the imposition of a royalty on mining lands save on the understanding that hon. gentlemen opposite would aid in developing our mining industries.

Touching prohibition, he would not charge his hon. friend, the leader of the Government, with a desire to deceive any one; but he did say that if it was the intention to wait before putting into force what the hon. gentleman said he and his Government were in favor of until the Privy Council decided upon the mysterious iniquities of the license system, as it was carried on by this Governmet, then this must not be permitted. These hon. gentlemen sought to go to the country as a prohibition Government, and yet to get the sinews of war from the licensed interest. [Hear, hear.] They did not know how long this question might be delayed, and it was plainly the duty of the Government and of the people, too, to see that the license system was removed from partisan influences and put on a correct and proper basis. The question of prohibition was not in sight at all. [Hear, hear.] The temperance people were being congratulated that they no longer supported a Government upheld by the liquor sellers of the country, for to a large extent this Government had been maintained in power by the licensed victuallers and their money contributions. [Hear, hear.]

He now came to the question of the secrecy of the ballot. The Opposition desired to see the next election fought with an honest ballot. [Cheers.] So long as the numbered ballot existed, so long hon. gentlemen could be charged with maintaining a system calculated unduly to favor themselves and to prejudice their opponents. [Hear, hear.] Even if it were secret, the prevailing opinion that votes could be followed by the numbers on the ballots defeated a free expression of opinion. [Hear, hear.]

He now came to the question of income and expenditure. He presumed no one would dispute that despite the very large sums received from sales of timber and Crown lands, etc., the income of the province was not now sufficient to meet the ordinary expenditure. Then prohibition legislation within a year or a year and a half would reduce the receipts $300,000 more, so there would be from year to year a considerable deficit.

He would suggest, as one means by which they could in some measure provide against this deficit, the meeting of the Legislature only once in two years. This very question had been discussed 20 years ago, and if feasible then the advanced state of legislation made it 10 times more feasible to-day. Not only judges, but lawyers and almost everybody, were of opinion that there was altogether too much tinkering with the laws of the country. [Hear, hear.] And he did think there was much in this argument. It was true that more money must be then voted at a time, and the Government must take more responsibility, but it was clear that this reform was quite capable of accomplishment, and this would save at least $100,000. And in cases of emergency extra sessions could be called. Such was the practice in all states, save six or seven, on the other side of the line. [Hear, hear.]

He remembered when hon. gentlemen opposite went about the country declaring that nine and less than nine ministers were sufficient to carry on affairs at Washington, and what were 13 members required for at Ottawa? Yet this Government, beginning with five, had eight members now. No doubt routine work had increased considerably, but still several of the departments could be amalgamated and a considerable saving could thus be made. [Hear, hear.] Then the Minister of Agriculture could be connected with another department, as his work on the stump showed he was not fully employed. [Hear, hear.] And the Minister of Education could be well dispensed with, though they would be very sorry to lose his engaging personality. [Hear, hear, and a laugh.] The placing of the Educational Department under a political head had been followed by the evils predicted, political partisanship had crept into the management of the department and was the cause of general and grave dissatisfaction. [Hear, hear.]

The Attorney-General had recently made the charge that the Opposition had raised the "No Popery" cry, though the Premier well knew that there was not a shade of a shadow of foundation for the charge. [Hear, hear.] This was ungenerous. It was unmanly. [Hear, hear.] Never had a member of the Opposition uttered a word that would jar on the feelings of any Roman Catholic. [Cheers.] Never had they attacked the religion of any man. Never had they attempted to ostracise any man on account of his faith.—[Cheers.] Yet while this was the case, they could not be prevented by any such false charge from raising their voice against what they believed to be an encroachment upon the rights of a majority and an injustice to people in this province. Hon. gentlemen opposite had taunted him with not proclaiming a policy. But he would tell these hon. gentlemen that from the records of the debates of the House they had not a line to erase or a vote to be ashamed of. [Cheers. It should be his proud boast if he led his party in the coming contest that there should be inscribed on the banners of the party the resolutions and principles of the policy upon which they fought the last election. [Cheers.] They had been called religious bigots and fanatics. Why? Because they desired legislation to give the ballot equally to the Roman Catholic and the Protestant. [Hear, hear.] But they were now amply justified. When a member of this House, belonging to that communion, proposed to give the ballot to the Separate school supporters—[cheers]—was that hon. gentleman less a fanatic when he (Mr. Conmee) proposed what he (Mr. Meredith) had proposed? [Cheers.] He would not prophesy. But the Premier had been boasting that again would he (Sir Oliver Mowat) be victorious at the polls. The Opposition had had to fight against a dishonest division of constituencies, against gerrymander, against the introduction of a minority representation, a scheme which so stank in the nostrils of decent Reformers that last session the Government had for very shame been compelled to abandon the trick. [Cheers.] The whole weight of the liquor interest had been against them. [Hear, hear.] At the last election they had en-

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy. I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured ; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs. colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont , writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

BAY OF QUINTE BARLEY.

It is remarked by the Kingston News that the Washington correspondent of the Toronto News telegraphs that this week, Secretary of Agriculture Morton will promulgate an order for the purchase of many thousand bushels of Canadian barley, to be supplied to many farmers of the U. States who are willing to experiment in raising "the superior qual ty now grown in Canada." The kind named, it is said, "is that known here as Bay of Quinte barley, which the Agricultural Department says is the best grown on this continent." This seed will be distributed among the farmers of the barley growing section, which is mostly confined to Wisconsin, Minnesota, and other Northwestern States. The purchase will be made from the new crop for seeding next Fall.

During the debates on barley two or three weeks ago, one of the representatives of Minnesota stoutly maintained that the barley now raised in that State was quite as good as any raised in Canada, but Mr. Lockwood, of Buffalo, quickly put an extinguisher on this claim by pointing to the undeniable fact that Bay of Quinte barley brought about 10 cents a bushel more in the American market than any barley whatsoever grown anywhere in the United States. If any further proof were needed of the superiority of the Canadian article, it is to be found in the confession of the Agricultural Department at Washington, that before American farmers can even attempt to raise barley equal to the Canadian, they must come to Canada for seed.

They will find, however, that the possession of the right kind of seed will not alone ensure success. Certain conditions of soil and climate are also requisite, which conditions are to be found in their perfection in the Bay of Quinte district. Indeed it may be said that the seed which is to be purchased has been evolved out of these conditions. Ordinary barley might be improved by similar advantages anywhere, but it cannot be hoped that in the absence of those advantages Bay of Quinte barley can be naturalized in the United States merely by distributing samples of it among the farmers of Minnesota and asking them to sow it. In grain-sowing, habitat counts for much more than seed. Minnesota farmers might try till doomsday to produce as good a wheat as the Manitoba variety, and they would fail. Manitoba, in turn, cannot hope to rival the Saskatchewan valley in wheat-growing, and the Saskatchewan valley cannot hope to rival the Peace river district. North of the Saskatchewan, by the way, is a district which will one day be the great barley-growing region of the world. The wonderfully fertile soil of the Northwest extends much farther north than the limit of possible wheat production. Beyond a certain point wheat will not ripen before it is caught by frost. As barley matures more quickly than wheat, the prolific prairie soil beyond that point can be utilized during the shorter season of the extreme north. The resources of the Dominion seem almost endless. Canadians themselves are only beginning to realize them, and sooner or later our American friends will learn that Canada is something more than a bleak and barren fringe of land along their northern border.

Huntingdon Council.

Town Hall, Moira, Feb. 5, '94.

Council met on the above date, members all present. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Patrick Murphy asked that his taxes be remitted, on account of his barns and crop being destroyed by fire. On motion of Mr. Downey, seconded by Mr. Morton, his taxes other than School tax were remitted, amount $6.06. The auditors presented their report, which was read and examined. Owen McEvoy asked to have his and Samuel McEvoy's statute labor applied on the side road between lots 6 and 7, con. 40.—Granted.

A by-law appointing pathmasters, poundkeepers and fenceviewers for 1894, and a by-law appointing J. H. Salisbury, J. M. Ashley, and W. Tummon members of local Board of Health, with Dr. E. D. Harrison medical health officer and Hector Wood sanitary inspector, were passed and numbered. An order was given R. Downey for $8 for Wm. Herrington, as charity.

Council adjourned.

How Mr. Hume Manages His Herd.

(From the Canadian Live Stock Journal.)

Some time ago a representative of the Journal called on Mr. Alexander Hume, Burnbrae, Northumberland County, Ontario, and obtained from him a promise to give the readers of the Journal the benefit of his method of managing his herd, which is composed of very high-class purebred and grade Ayrshires. This Mr. Hume has now done, and a perusal of his letter below will show that he has mastered the method of making farming pay. His experience, as given, will be read with interest by our many readers who are striving to do likewise. The conditions under which this satisfactory result has been achieved are such as are met with every day by the ordinary farmer. There were no extraordinary figures realized by Mr. Hume for his stock and products, but merely the general price paid for milk at the creamery and factory, and fair prices for the stock sold. Mr. Hume writes as follows:

Our herd, which numbers forty in all, has done well the past year—never better, all things considered—and the cows are now in the best possible condition for the dairy. We oversee our herd personally, bestowing the best of care and attention on them, and strictly enforcing the same on all persons connected with the farm. Each animal is closely watched, and fed what she can assimilate, even to liberal feeding. We have no cast-iron rule for feeding, only as above. Our herd has been closely culled every year for the past fifteen years, and to-day we have not a cull. I might say that we fed grain and bran during the whole year, the usual mixture being 100 pounds of peameal and 130 pounds of bran, of which we fed from 2½ pounds to 8 pounds per cow per day, with the exception of a few cows that were dry in pasture. Our cows come in at all seasons of the year, and we milk them from ten to eleven months. A few were not dry at all, but we consider it a mistake not to give them a rest of from five to ten weeks. Those that we continued milking without giving them a rest did not do as well as when they had a rest, and we shall avoid it in future. What do you think about it Mr. Editor? [We are certainly in favor of giving every cow a rest of six weeks or so before calving.—Ed]

We have not got water in the stable as yet; consequently we let the cattle out to drink at a pump. We consider well water better than creek water in winter, being warmer when freshly pumped; but the cattle are only allowed out in lots of eight or ten at a time, and each lot is put in as soon as they quench their thirst. When cows calve in winter the water is carried to them for four or five days afterwards, as we do not care to risk any chills from exposure. We have not lost a single cow for the past eight years, although they are now forced to their utmost, and many visitors say that they never saw a herd with such bags. I attribute this state of affairs largely to the close attention given them, and to the fact that they are a naturally strong and healthy herd. We feed at both ends of the day. Before breakfast, straw, or, if to fresh-calved cows, hay, is given. When that is eaten, or in an hour's time, ensilage and a grain ration on it is fed. In the afternoon the cattle are watered and fed ensilage and grain, and as soon as that is eaten either rough hay or straw. This plan is pursued through the winter until early spring, when they are watered twice a day. I would like to have the opinion of other practical dairymen on our method of feeding. I am not sure that it is the best, especially as regards the watering, and the order in which the feed is given.

The following is a full and detailed account of the earnings of the herd, and also the actual cost of keeping the entire herd, including cows, bulls, and young things, leaving the herd with one cow less than we commenced the year with. The milk of twenty-four cows was sent to the creamery and cheese factory, less the milk fed to the calves that were sold. These were kept from one week to five weeks. One cow raised calves all the season. No less than six fed on her for the year, a pair at a time. We sold them when six weeks old, except the last pair, which we are keeping, and which are now getting skim-milk. One three-year-old Ayrshire cow which went to Chicago was shipped here three days after calving, and, of course, only arrived home on December 11th. She won third place, and her prize was placed to her credit in the herd.

Another one's bag went wrong, and she was fatted early in the fall and killed. Her beef value is also allowed. The milk at the creamery and cheese factory is clear of all expenses, except drawing, which we do ourselves. We have imported and added to the herd Eva of Barcheskie, which was served in Scotland, but have not included her cost against the herd, as that would go to capital account. No allowance is made for calves on hand, as we have the same number with which we commenced the year. Our prices for calves are moderate. Those sold were mostly grade calves, the service fee being $1 00. The springers sold were all grade cows, except one, and went to Montreal, and, as you will see, the milk was not sold in a city, but realized the ordinary price paid at cheese factories and creameries.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

MR. MEREDITH'S POLICY.

Unfair motives had been ascribed to them. [Hear, hear.] And the Government, besides all this, had had the vast mass of a great religious body behind their backs. [Hear, hear.] But this time hon. gentlemen opposite would not have all these elements in their favor. [Cheers.] The people were awakening, and he ventured to say that at the next election these hon. gentlemen would have different elements to reckon with. [Cheers.]

In North Bruce and East Lambton the Government met defeat from the independent vote. This independent sentiment was being developed and would speak again, and constituencies hitherto considered safe for hon. gentlemen opposite would fall from under their feet. [Cheers.] He would not be at all surprised to find the Government relegated to opposition. [Cheers.] And this would be eminently in the interest of the whole province. [Cheers.] And he and his party would then have the opportunity of showing the country that in office they would practice the principles they had advocated while out of office. [Great cheers.]

Sir Oliver's Reply.

Sir Oliver Mowat congratulated the mover and seconder upon their happy efforts and expressed his surprise at the doctrine that these gentlemen should have given the house further information than was contained in the Speech from the Throne. The leader of the Opposition had evidently had great difficulty to find questions to discuss. He denied that the seconder had opposed prohibition, and he agreed with his hon. friend, Mr. Conmee, that it would be impossible to enforce a prohibitory law with elected officers. [Hear, hear.] This was the result of experience; it was not theory. [Hear, hear.] It would, however, be proper enough to elect officers for other duties. The temperance people would not be satisfied with the enforcement of the law by elected officials. The Government claimed no credit for spending public money as if it were their own; but they did claim credit for a wise expenditure of it, for good legislation, for good administration generally, and nothing more. [Hear, hear.] The leader of the Opposition made foundationless charges in order to coin some smart sentences. [Hear, hear.] The study of the Government during the whole time they had been in office had been to be economical. [Cheers.] They had scanned every item carefully; in order that there might be no waste no, improper application of public money. [Cheers.] The leader of the Opposition said a committee to enquire into the value of the timber had been refused. Why, it was unnecessary. [Hear, hear.] The cost of that investigation would have been pure waste. The Government had full information on the subject from their surveyors and officials. But they had nothing to conceal. [Cheers.] The sales of timber were all made at the best possible time, and the highest possible prices were obtained. The sales were at public auction, not private as with the Ottawa Government, who controlled more valuable reserves. [Hear, hear.] The Government did its best to preserve the timber and sales were only made for special reasons. Our timber would be a permanent source of revenue if well managed—as this Government had managed it. [Cheers.] It would not have been wise to hold reserves and borrow money. Timber was subject to much destruction. And it would have been wrong to tax the people for the benefit of future generations more able to bear those taxes. [Hear, hear.] He knew of no country where the interest on the proceeds of timber sales was alone expended. The Dominion Government did not do so. [Hear, hear.] Experience was, therefore, against the hon. gentleman's proposition. The surveys were not made all at once, but a number every year.

The trouble with the mining interest was the want of a market ..... this was the fault of the policy of the friends of hon. gentlemen opposite at Ottawa, and their policy in Dominion affairs. [Hear, hear.] The Government fully recognized the importance of the mining industry. Biennial sessions would be very convenient for governments, but they were not suitable with responsible government. The American system was quite different from ours. [Hear, hear.] And there extra sessions were extremely common. His hon. friend objected that they had too much legislation, but they had never had any legislation which was not an improvement upon the previous state of things. [Hear, hear.] Nor was their legislation crude; it would easily bear comparison with that of any other country. [Hear, hear.]

They had every reason to believe that before another session there would be a decision on the questions relating to prohibition. Only two courts were to entertain the subject. [Hear, hear.] The points at issue had already been argued once or twice in a private case. He expected an early judgment. [Hear, hear.]

It was very extraordinary that the Provincial ballot was not secret, when it was so considered in so many other countries. [Hear, hear.] His hon. friend knew that it was precisely the same system which prevailed in Great Britain and Ireland—[hear, hear]—where there was no pretence that this was not a fair system. It also existed in Australia. When introduced, both sides of the House, and Mathew Crooks Cameron, a very able lawyer and zealous party leader, quite concurred in the course of the Government. [Hear, hear.] The Opposition were responsible for the feeling that this ballot was not secret.

The revenue was sufficient for the purposes of the Government and the administration of justice. [Hear, hear.]

The Minister of Agriculture was a most useful man and could not well be dispensed with. The same was true of the Minister of Education. And the change in the system had been very strongly urged by the late Dr. Ryerson. [Hear, hear.] They could not do without the Minister of Education.

Mr. Conmee charged the Leader of the Opposition with having in an unmanly manner misrepresented his statements.

Mr. Marter announced that he was prepared to defend every word he had uttered on the temperance question.

On motion of Sir Oliver Mowat the House adjourned until to-day.

COMMONS DEFY THE LORDS.

And Reject all Amendments Made by the Peers in the Parish Bill,

London, Feb. 16.—In the House of Commons, Mr. Fowler, President of the Local Government Board, moved that the House disagree with the amendment made by the House of Lords to the Parish Councils bill, providing that only parishes having 500 inhabitants and upwards should be entitled to have councils. The bill provided that a council should be established in any parish having 200 or more inhabitants. Fowler's motion was carried 260 to 191.

Most of the other amendments made to the bill by the House of Lords were rejected without a division. Fowler successfully moved the re-insertion of the provisions that had been altered by the House of Lords.

In consequence of the decision reached the Liberal-Unionists in the Commons supported Mr. Fowler, who had charge of the Parish Councils bill for the Government.

London, Feb. 16.—A loud explosion was heard just after nightfall by the keepers of Greenwich Park about six miles from London Bridge. A hasty search lead to the discovery of a man mutilated and groaning with pain on the hilltop near the observatory. His legs were shattered. One arm had been blown from his body, and he had been almost completely disemboweled. As soon as he became conscious of the keeper's presence he begged them to help him or kill him.

He became insensible within five minutes, and 10 minutes after being carried to the seamen's hospital he died. English and French papers found in the man's pockets showed that he was Martial Pourdin, a foreign Anarchist.

TOTALLY ECLIPSED.

A Case More Wonderful than Dr. Rose's—A Lady Dying of Bright's Disease is Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Portland, Feb. 12.—The people of this neighborhood have not yet finished talking of the remarkable cure of diabetes effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills in the case of Dr. E. A. Rose, of this village. The doctor is authority for the statement that his case is totally eclipsed by that of a lady, a patient of his, whom Bright's disease had brought to the verge of the grave. He prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills for her, and thanks to them, she is now cured. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Howard T, who has lived all his short life in a city, was taken recently to visit at a "real farm." The child was in ecstacies. Every animal on the place was a delight to him, but his affections especially centred about a Jersey calf.

"I would like to buy it," he said to the owner.

"But what would you give in exchange?" he was asked.

"My baby sister," replied the child with the utmost gravity. "We have a new baby nearly every year at our house, and we've never had a calf."

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

No one need pity you if you die of consumption, without having tried Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary diseases. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles 50c and $1,00, at all druggists.

A CHANGE IN THE MONEY TABLE.

"Those people down in Jacksonville, Fla., seem to have been trying to change our money table."

"How is that?"

"Well, at present it is ten mills to a cent, isn't it?"

"Yes."

"Down there they worked pretty hard to get assent for a mill."

SPECIAL MENTION.

What straits are most difficult to navigate? The Straits of poverty.

How may people be seated so as to make it unpleasant for others? When they are conceited.

—McKane, charged with election frauds in New York, was yesterday found guilty. The jury presented a recommendation to mercy.

—Sarah Gauley, a domestic employed by Mrs. Elijah Martin, Goderich, was burned to death yesterday. She went too near a stove while cleaning a lamp.

If headache is misery, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

—The Furness Liner Madura arrived at Halifax yesterday from London, after a stormy passage of 22 days. The vessel passed through 70 miles of ice on Saturday ast.

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

—The Legislature of Nova Scotia has been dissolved and a new general election ordered. Nominations will take place on March 8 and polling March 15. A plebiscite on the question of prohibition will be taken on the same day.

There is no article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

A gentleman had a cow which he wished to sell on account of her being very unruly at milking time. So he sent her to the fair with his man Pat, strictly charging Pat to tell no lies, but to speak the truth about the cow.

Pat returned in the evening with nearly double the sum expected for the cow.

"Pat," said the master, "you've been telling lies about her."

"The divil of a lie, sor."

"What did you say then?"

"They asked me was she a good milker, and I says, says I: 'It's tired milking her you'd be before you'd done, sor.'"

"She Looketh Well

to the ways of her household." Yes, Solomon is right; that's what the good housekeeper everywhere does, but particularly in Canada.

But her ways are not always old ways. In fact she has discarded many unsatisfactory old ways. For instance, to-day she is using the New Shortening, instead of lard. And this is in itself a reason why "she looketh well" in another sense, for she eats no lard to cause poor digestion and a worse complexion.

Cottolene

COTTOLENE is much better than lard for all cooking purposes, as every one who has tried it declares. Have you tried it?

A poetical and musical entertainment will be given by the Belleville Institute and Library Association in their hall on Monday evening, Feb. 19th. A feature of the programme will be a paper by Mrs. York on "Poets and Musicians," and illustrations of the prominent composers and poets will be given by some of Belleville's best local talent. The object is a worthy one and the entertainment should be well patronized. See programme.

"SAID PASHA."

The Beautiful Opera Successfully Presented Last Evening.

The California Opera Company opened a three nights' engagement at the Queen's opera house last evening in Richard Stahl's beautiful two-act opera "Said Pasha" to a large house. The opera is particularly bright and has many catchy airs which appeal at once to the popular sentiment. Miss Josephine Stanton, as Serena, the Pasha's Daughter, was charming. Miss Stanton has a sweet, pure soprano of more than ordinary compass, and her charms of face and figure add materially to her pleasing presence. Miss Adele Barker, as Bala Nojah, gave a good impersonation of a husband-seeker. Miss Willette de Chartres, as Alti, was exceedingly pleasing, her voice being a sweet mezzo soprano. Mr. Henry Hallam, gave a good portrayal of the character of Terrano, a Mexican nobleman. His voice is a strong tenor, and he is a clever actor as well. Mr. W. E. Hubbard has a strong baritone voice, and his acting left nothing to be desired. Mr. John Saunders, as Hadad, an adventurer, was mirth-provoking in the extreme; he is one of the cleverest eccentric comedians a Belleville audience has had the pleasure of listening to for some time. The centre of attraction last evening was Mr. Jno. Henderson, an old Belleville boy. His many friends were pleased with his clever acting, his role being particularly difficult. The fact that the character was not overdone, was a feature of his impersonation; he sang a topical song, which was loudly encored. Mr. Jack Springer has a strong bass voice, and his singing gave general satisfaction. The chorus is also very good, and the performance throughout was heartily enjoyed by the large audience.

To-night the company will produce the "Bohemian Girl." They will give a matinee to-morrow afternoon, and another performance to-morrow evening.

The Rev. J. M. Hodson, M.A.

The former pastor of Bridge St. Church commenced his labors as pastor of the Reformed Church of Fordham, New York city on Sunday last and yesterday evening was installed. A programme of the proceedings is before us, and Mr. Hodson's new church is Presbyterian, the form of installation is similar to that in all Presbyterian churches throughout the world. The sermon was preached by the celebrated Dr. Burrell. The branch of the Presbyterian church with which the Reformed Church of Fordham is connected is the Reformed Church of America, or better known as the Dutch Reformed Church. Bellevillians visiting New York will like to know that Mr. Hodson's church is on 185th St., Fordham being the name of the vicinity. It is above Harlem and therefore near the various public parks in the northern part of the city. Mr. Hodson intends pursuing his literary work still. His books "How to Live Forever" and "A Mission Exodus" are meeting with a sale beyond his most sanguine expectations, and his success brings demands for his pen from various publishers.

Again Arrested.

James Hodgins, who has been figuring as the defendant in a seduction case that has been pending in the police court for some time past, was to-day arrested on two charges—that of non-appearance at court yesterday, being under bail, and a charge of seduction of Bella Ray, the adopted daughter of Warner Simmons, of Thurlow, (who was formerly brought to this country by the Hill Knowe Home, Brockville.) The offence is alleged to have been committed last spring. The girl was located in Saginaw, Mich., by High Constable Johnson, who deserves credit for the way in which he prosecuted the search. The girl is willing to come here and testify against Hodgins. Hodgins was liberated on $500 bail to appear on the 23rd inst. for trial.

Lecture.

The first of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union course of lectures was given last evening in the Y. M. C. A. rooms and was a decidedly auspicious beginning. The chairman, Rev. J. L. George, spoke very kindly of the organization under whose auspices these lectures are being held and the object they have in view and announced the speaker of the evening, Dr. McColl. The lecture on the subject of bandaging was one of great practical interest and all points were so well illustrated and explained that at the close everyone felt that they had really gained a great deal. Besides the lecture vocal solos were rendered by Miss Price and Miss Coleman and a piano solo by Miss Emberson.

Bloomfield Joint Stock Cheese Co.

In response to the call issued last week, a large number of the patrons of Bloomfield cheese factory met at the town hall, Bloomfield, Monday last, to organize a joint stock company. Peter Burr was appointed Chairman, and Manly Yarwood, Secretary. The following were elected as directors for the ensuing year: Peter Burr, Webster Talcott, Nathaniel Branscombe, A. G. McDonald, H. M. Williams, Manly Yarwood, Isaiah Tubbs.

There's Nothing Like it.—TEA.

As in thy laudation tea we all agree, in thy consumption let us all unite, calm the politician, sooth the afflicted, revive the weary, steal with thy fumes like a gentle charm through the distracted brain of the lover, and soften with thy influence the obdurate heart of her whom he adores—T. G.B. in London Society. Stroud's delicious teas the best value the year round. Have you tried them? Strouds, the tea dealers.

At Home.

A delightful "at home" was held yesterday at the residence of Mrs. Adam Henry, Church street, the number in attendance only limited by the invitation list. The house was handsomely decorated with lights and flowers, and the table with pink, made more attractive by the handsome young lady attendants, the Misses Dora Frost, Julia and Maud McFee. The refreshments were varied and tastefully arranged.

Clergy and Laity.

The clergy and laity equally divided the speech making at the Kingston Road Methodist church tea meeting last night, Messrs. R. Richardson, Wm. Johnson, Revs. D. O. Crossley and E. N. Baker being the speakers. The Rev. Amos Campbell was the chairman; the choir of the church gave good music; Mr. Minore a vocal solo; and Mr. Watts, of Albert College, a reading.

In the Legislature on the 15th petitions were presented from the town of Trenton to legalize and confirm the assessment roll of 1893, and from the townships of Wollaston, Madoc, Mayo and Limerick as to land values.

A large deputation of Canada Fair Association delegates waited on the Minister of Agriculture yesterday, and asked increased grants to township and district agricultural societies. The representatives of the West Hastings Society were present.

Mr. J. W. Johnson has resigned from the directorate of the West Hastings Agricultural Society, through a pressure of private work. A meeting of the Society will be called towards the end of this month, for the purpose of appointing another director, and also to hear the report of the deputation that went to Toronto, re grant.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Mr. Herbert Hulme, of Toronto, is in the city.

Mr. J. N. Diamond, of Toronto, is in the city visiting friends.

Mr. R. Mathison, jr., has gone to Toronto for a few days.

Mr. John E. Parks, Isabel St., has been seriously ill for several days.

Mr. W. H. Biggar, M. P. P., left last evening to attend the Legislature at Toronto.

Miss Louie Bodle, of Belleville, has been visiting at Mrs. W. S. Clarke's, N. H. Junction.

Miss Mathison and Miss Forin left on the noon train for a visit to friends in Brantford.

W. C. Martin, Kingston, and Robt. Thompson, Napanee, were at the Queen's last evening.

Miss Oronhyatekha of the "Pines," Deseronto, is the guest of Mrs. R. Mathison, of the D. & D. Institute.

Mr. David Sutherland, of Carlow, who is at present attending O. B. C., has been confined to his room through illness.

Mrs. Henderson, wife of Mr. John Henderson, of the California Opera company, is ill at Peterborough. Miss Chartres took her role in "Said Pasha" last night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Greenfield, of Belleville, are in town this week.—Mr. Jas. Anning and family are about to take up their residence in Belleville.—Picton Gazette.

The examinations of the Illinois State Board of Pharmacy took place in Chicago on the 13th of this month. Among those admitted to practice is a Belleville boy, Joseph Ward, son of M. D. Ward, Esq., dentist. As the standard of the board is a very high one, we congratulate "Joe" and wish him success.

SPORTING NEWS

The dates for the Grand Circuit have been arranged as follows: Pittsburg or East Saginaw, July 9 to 14; Detroit, July 16 to 21; Cleveland, July 23 to 27; Buffalo, July 28 to August 11; Rochester, August 14 to 17; Springfield, August 21 to 24; Hartford, August 28 to 31; Hartford, August 28 to 31; Fleetwood park, September 3 to 8; Point Breeze, Sept. 11 to 14; Pimlico, Sept. 18 to 21.

The Herreshoffs are building at Bristol, R.I., in supposed secrecy, a 10 rater cutter for the Messrs. Allan of Glasgow. This 10 rater is to be a fin, with a lead bulb for ballast. She is double planked, the outside planking being mahogany, and the inside white pine 7-16 of an inch thick. The fin is made of Tobin bronze, the lower plates being ⅜ of an inch thick, and the upper 1 inch thick. She is sixty feet in length, 12 feet 8 inches beam and draws 10 feet, the fin itself being 6 feet 6 inches.

That red hot free for all at Ottawa yesterday was finally won by Ben B., the final beat being trotted over a heavy track in 2:26¼. Martin was behind him. Budd Doble was alleged by a stable boy to have been drugged by him on Wednesday. There were six horses colored on the card for the 2:45 class, but only five started. Grey Jim, owned by R. Irvine, of Chicago, dropped dead on the track of heart disease just before the first score. He was valued at $800. The race was unfinished and Chico and Ansonina have two heats each in. Senator was favorite in the pools at $10, with $11 for the field. He performed badly, and the race lay between Chico and Ansonina with little to choose between them. The 2:32 class looked a picnic for Petition and it was. It was a good fight between Rocket and Rowdy Boy for second money, which the former won, but neither could get near the winner.

Fourteen curling clubs took part in the Ontario Tankard matches yesterday. Oshawa, Sarnia, Dundas and Toronto Granite are the survivors of the first day's play.

Mr. W. W. Pope's rink of colts challenged Mr. J. F. Wills' rink to a friendly game and they are playing as we go to press.

Puck Notes.

The hockey match at Peterborough between Queen's II and Peterborough resulted 8 to 3 in favor of Peterborough.

The "Rebels," a hockey team of Queen's University, Kingston, arrived in the city at noon and are stopping at the Huffman House. They played a game with the Bay City's this afternoon. The game was called at 3:30.

The Junior Y.M.C.A. hockey team play a game with the Junior Quintes on the rink between 7 and 9 o'clock this evening.

Your Spring Overcoat.

You men who intend buying a new spring overcoat this coming season, must not forget that the Oak Hall will have all the new popular shades and styles and at one half ordered prices. Any man can afford a light weight coat this coming spring at Oak Hall prices. Remember we will have the "very latest."

Unpleasant Experience.

The Albert College Glee Club and others, to the number of about fifty, started on Wednesday afternoon for Salem, in Prince Edward County, to give an entertainment. They lost their way, and wandered about the country for some time, but finally reached their destination about nine o'clock. They gave their programme, notwithstanding.

The White Man's Grave.

The Rev. J. S. Trotter will repeat his lecture on the above subject in the school room of Emmanuel R. E. church to-night. The lecturer will introduce some new matter this evening. The lecture is given at the request of some of his former audience, and will commence at 8 o'clock.

Fire at Picton.

The residence of Mr. James Dunlop, Mill st., Picton, was set on fire at 2 a. m. on the 15th by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp. The building and furniture were badly damaged. The loss is about $2,500. The house is insured in the Western for $1,000, and the contents for $700 in the Agricultural.

Rev. John Halliwell Resigns.

Rev. John Halliwell, incumbent of St. John's church, Vankleek Hill, who was recently prostrated by paralysis, has sent in his resignation and asked to be superannuated.

AMUSEMENTS

Those who attended the performance of "East Lynne" by the Sawtelle Dramatic Company at the opera house last evening could not but have been pleased with every act. The play is too well known for any explanation of the acts, but it can be said each was well put on in a realistic and beautiful manner. Clarence H. Geldert as "Archibald Carlyle," J. A. Sawtelle as "Francis Levison," and Miss Jessie Evans Sawtelle as "Lady Isabel" were the stars of the evening. They will put "Thrown on the World" on the boards this evening. It will no doubt be a good performance.—Peterborough Review.

At the opera house next week. Popular prices.

Ruptured and Deformed People.

There are ruptured people everywhere—they want the best truss for the least money and to make it convenient for them, I will be in their neighborhood. There is no doubt that your case will be attended to properly, as I am known from ocean to ocean on this continent as a man of rare ability and skill, in the mechanical line of overcoming rupture and all deformities of the human frame—spinal disease, club feet, knocked knees, white swelling, &c.

It is very hard, even in Europe, New York &c., to improve upon goods made under my superintendence in my factory. I am the inventor of 27 patents in the different lines of trusses and orthopedical appliances, and if you wish to have your case attended to, I would ask you to be on time, as I will be found on hand with samples and goods, as trusses in all varieties, to take measurements, &c. Will be at Queen's Hotel, in Belleville, to-morrow (Saturday), Feb. 17.

OH. YES, SAW SOME.

Wife—Such a dream as I had last night, dear!

Husband—May I hear it?

"Yes. I dreamed I was in a great establishment where they sold husbands. There were husbands in glass cases marked at fearful prices, and others at a less figure—they were beauties! Girls were paying out whole fortunes and getting the handsomest husbands I ever saw. It was wonderful!"

"Did you see any there like me, dear?"

"Yes. Just as I was leaving I saw a whole lot like you on the remnant counter!"

THROW IT AWAY.

There's no longer any need of wearing clumsy, chafing Trusses, which give only partial relief at best, never cure, but often inflict great injury, inducing inflammation, strangulation and death.

HERNIA (Breach), or Rupture, no matter of how long standing, or of what size, is promptly and permanently cured without the knife and without pain. Another Triumph in Conservative Surgery is the cure, of TUMORS, Ovarian, Fibroid and other varieties, without the perils of cutting operations.

PILE TUMORS, however large, Fistula, and other diseases of the lower bowel, promptly cured without pain or resort to the knife.

BROOMS! BROOMS!!

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst, over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

CLOSING DAYS OF THE CONFEDERACY.

BY

E. C. MEAD.

Mutterings of discontent and despondency were heard in many portions of the South as early as July 1863. Vicksburg and Port Hudson had fallen; the repulse and retreat of Lee at Gettysburg; the fall of Sumter and threatened condition of Charleston; the cutting in twain of the Confederacy by the enemy's gunboats on the Mississipi, and the death of Jackson, had cast a gloom over the country which was never afterward dispelled. Added to these were the hardships and privations of the country people as well as those in the army. A chief cause of discontent was the impressment tax, which, though not of itself oppressive to the farmer when rightly enforced, yet was made extremely burdensome by the army of quartermasters who, for selfish gains, extorted even the little the poor farmer had for his own support under the plea of army necessity.

The brave soldiers in the trenches, during the last days of the struggle, were still willing to live upon parched corn, putrid meat and musty bread, as they had been doing for a year or more; but when they received harrowing letters from home of sickness and actual want of bread in their families, they could stand it no longer and many desertions followed. General Lee himself felt this, when there was placed before him, for his signature, the death-warrant of a soldier who had been convicted of deserting to his home, but who had been driven back to his post by his starving wife. When these circumstances were made known the great commander at once pardoned him. That there was a general reaction of feeling throughout the South at this time, is shown by the following extract from the Southern Literary Messenger of September, 1863, the faithful exponent of the situation during the war:

'Our calamities, bad as they were singly, still worse combined, might be regarded with complacency, if the spirit of the people were what it should be. But this cannot be affirmed. In all parts of the country there is great depression, and in many States positive disaffection. * * * Our hope, we repeat, is not in man or measures. It rests in the protraction of the war, in spite of administrative folly, popular disaffection (however widespread—for it must increase) and a succession of retreats, most of which might have been avoided by putting the proper men in endangered places of strategic importance. Many will give up and consent to any terms for the sake of ending the war and saving their lives. But the courageous few will inevitably carry the day.'

Thus, we see, the Confederates were fighting, not only the large Northern army in their front, but also an army of grumblers and those in 'bomb-proof' positions at home, who were ever ready to give advice, but never were in sound of a gun.

In 1864, I was in Halifax County, the hot bed of secession in Virginia, when the false rumor came that the Hampton Roads conference between Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Davis had been successful and peace was assured. The expressions which followed on every side, and all along the Danville Railroad, were those of rejoicing and approval; the feeling was manifest that a great burden had been lifted from an afflicted people. But the hope for peace was not to be realized. It was here that the mistake of Mr. Davis was made; for it is believed that a large majority of the Southern people were willing, nay, anxious, for peace, an honorable peace, even without slavery, for the North knew, or ought to have known, that the South was not fighting for slavery per se.

To show that peace was the constant hope at this time, I give the following extracts from daily papers. A correspondent writing from Fredericksburg gives the following freak of nature:

'While speaking of peace, there is a legend connected with a spring near Fredericksburg which I will relate for the benefit of the curious. According to tradition, this spring was discovered running, three months before the Revolutionary War. Three months before a treaty of peace it dried up and ceased to run. It commenced running again three months before the War of 1812 and three months before its close, as in the Revolutionary War, it again dried up; and and so again with the Mexican war. Three months before the fall of Fort Sumter, it commenced running and a short time since dried up. I give as my author for this an aged man, who was born and is living near the spring, and who has considerable property, and offers to bet it all that we will have peace in three months from the drying up of the spring.'

A corresponnant from Kingston, N. C., describes the following phenomena:

'The moon rose cloudless. At a little before seven o'clock, two bright spots, some twelve degrees in extent, were visible, one north and the other south, and immediately thereafter a cross was seen in the heavens, the moon joining the four arms of the cross. About half past eight o'clock, the northern light went out, and the cross and the spot to the south remained until past ten, when I retired Can any one tell when the cross has appeared before since the days of Constantine, when the letters 'I. H. S.' accompanied the sign?'

'PEACE IN THIRTY DAYS.—This question has at last been settled. A more than Delphian oracle has spoken, and the prophetic announcement was vouchsafed to the people of Lynchburg, Va. It was mysteriously engraved on the shell of an egg in these words: 'PEACE IN THIRTY DAYS FROM EASTER SUNDAY.' This wonderful egg was exposed for sale at the market house, among common and uninspired eggs, on Saturday, and the gentleman was so delighted with the joyful announcement of pacific import which it bore, that he voluntarily gave twenty dollars for it, and has it now in careful keeping. The Lynchburg papers state that the vender, who is an honest man, declares that he knows nothing about the inscription. The letters are crude heteroclite, some of them almost hieroglyphic, and seemed to be ingrained and formed in the composition of the shell. They have no artificial look. The Viginian bows to the Syballistic wisdom of the hen that produced it, and blesses her for the glad revelation she has made. Glorious be her memory.'

In the opening spring of 1865, we find the country people preparing for even a larger area of crops than at any previous year. This they were impelled to do by the urgent necessities at home, and of the armies in the field, which were made known by appeals from the President and the generals commanding. The negroes were still tractable, obedient and respectful to their white supperiors, many of whom were only women and children. In the mountain districts and remote parts of the State the same order and routine of household and farm duties were performed as of yore, with little or no apprehension of the impending change; indeed, such was the ignorance of the true state of affairs, that master and slave continued to recognize their several positions for many months after the surrender. It was just one month previous to the surrender at Appomattox that Sheridan's troops made their celebrated raid through the heart of Virgina, being the first time to be traversed by an enemy. They met with no resistance and seemed to have a jolly time stampeding the negroes who, when the report that Sheridan was upon then, would quickly unhitch their teams from the plough, and, instead of making for the 'Yanks,' would seek the woods and hide themselves and their horses until the danger was past. Sambo had as much an eye on his own interest as that of his master; his own family were dependent upon the teams for their bread, and knowing the importance at the time of retaining the animals, and not possessing a 'fighting humor,' he naturally kept out of the way. It was the general belief among the negroes that the lands and the teams of the old homesteads were to be divided among them; indeed, this had been told them in 1860 by the hordes of gypsies who infested the State at that time, and who afterward proved to have been Abolition emissaries sent for that purpose. With this firm belief that they were to be free, they were not disposed to leave their old homes, and hence their seeming loyalty in remaining on the farm and working so faithfully. This idea was forcibly expressed by an old darkey, who, being asked if he was in favor of the prosecution of the was, said:

'Of course I is; fur ef de war ain't proscute', an' dat sudden, dese Dixies will git us, an' de Yankees too. Yes, I say pros'cute tell you white trash kills one anudder up, an den de cullud pop'lation will hab de lan' an' de money to deyselves. Yes, I say, pros'cute! pros'cute!'

Being asked if he was in favor of putting the colored people in the army, he said:

'No, sah! Dis war is de war ob de white fur de benefit ob de black. We is de invited gues', an' you gwine ax us to chop de wood an' cook de dinner? No, sah! dey wants us to set fire to de property an' 'stroy it ain't we to hab all de property, an' what we gwine 'stroy all our own property for?'

But when their long expected freedom was made actual, this large mass of dependent, ignorant beings could not realize the fact, and were still loath to leaving the spots where they were born and raised. There was much rejoicing among the young blacks, who were greatly elated by their newly acquired freedom, but among the old, gray-headed 'mammies' and 'daddies' there were many sad scenes at parting from 'old marster' and 'old mistiss,' when honest tears of sorrow were shed. To the white people the surrender was not entirely unexpected. The raid of Sheridan, which made certain the fall of Richmond; the knowledge of the weakened condition of the army; with the last link connecting with the South severed—the minds of all were prepared for the worst: but it was a bitter disappointment and a hard trial to those who had sacrificed husband and sons for such a result. The brilliant Southern victories of the first two years of the war had made all hearts feel certain of final triumph, hence the disappointment was made the more keen when that hope was so suddenly blotted out; and yet there seemed to be a general sigh of relief to escape, as if the long drawn agony of apprehension and suspense was over, and that, at least they had still their homes left to them in peace. The immediate effect of the surrender, therefore, was one of deep despondency. Many of the weary, footsore men of Lee's army staggered home but to droop and die, having no spirit left to face anew the battle of life. It was only the young men of the army who could boldly face the situation, and who have ever since proved themselves a bulwark of defence to the South in peace as well as in war.

Highly Praised.

GENTEMEN,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, sprains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. I have recommended it to many friends and they also speak highly of it.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT"

was issued.

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

Testimonial from the wife of John Creigh J. P.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Saved Her Life.

MRS. C. J. WOOLDRIDGE, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"One of my children had Croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it strangling. It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicines given, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and, in a short time, she was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. C. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

RUBIES SURPASSED.

REV. DR. TALMAGE PREACHES ON WISDOM.

A Dissertation on the Precious Stones—The Deep Carmine of the Ruby Suggestive of the Great Sacrifice.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 11, 1894.—In the Tabernacle this forenoon Rev. Dr. Talmage preached to a crowded audience, that filled the great building to overflowing, the subject of his sermon being, "Rubies Surpassed," and the text: Proverbs 8; 12: "Wisdom is better than Rubies."

You have all seen the prescious stone commonly called the ruby. It is of deep red color. The Bible makes much of it. It glowed in the first row of the high priest's breast-plate. Under another name it stood in the wall of heaven. Jeremiah compares the ruddy cheek of the Nazarite to the ruby. Ezekiel points it out in the robes of the king of Tyre. Four times does Solomon use it as a symbol by which to extol wisdom, or religion, always setting its value as better than rubies.

The world does not agree as to how the precious stones were formed. The ancients thought that amber was made of drops of prespiration of the goddess Ge. The thunderstone was supposed to have dropped from a storm-cloud. The emerald was said to have been made of the fire-fly. The lapis lazuli was thought to have been born of the cry of an Indian giant. And modern mineralogists say that the precious stones were made of gases and liquids. To me the ruby seems like a spark from the anvil of the setting sun.

The home of the genuine ruby is Burmah, and sixty miles from its capital, where lives and reigns the ruler, called, "Lord of the Rubies." Under a careful governmental guard are these valuable mines of ruby kept. Rarely has any foreigner visited them. When a ruby of large value was discovered it was brought forth with elaborate ceremony, a procession was formed, and with all bannered pomp, military guard and princely attendants, the gem was brought to the king's palace.

Of great value is the ruby, much more so than diamonds, as lapidaries and jewelers will tell you. An expert on this subject writes: "A ruby of perfect color weighing five carats is worth at the present day ten times as such as a diamond of equal weight." It was a disaster when Charles the Bold lost the ruby he was wearing at the Battle of Grandson. It was a great affluence when Rudolph the Second of Austria inherited a ruby from his sister, the Queen Dowager. It was thought to have had much to do with the victory of Henry the Fifth, as he wore it into the Battle of Agincourt. It is the pride of the Russian court to own the largest ruby of all the world, presented by Gustavus the Third to the Russian Empress. Wondrous ruby! It has electric characteristics, and there are lightnings compressed in its double six-sided prisms. What shall I call it? It is frozen fire! It is petrified blood! In all the world there is only one thing more valuable, and my text makes the comparison: "Wisdom is better than Rubies."

But it is impossible to compare two things together unless there are some points of similarity as well as difference. I am glad there is nothing lacking here. The ruby is more beautiful in the night and under the lamplight than by day. It is preferred for evening adornment. How the rubies glow, and burn, and flash as the lights lift the darkness! Catharine of Arragon had on her finger a ruby that fairly lanterned the night. Sir John Mandeville, the celebrated traveler of four hundred years ago, said that the Emperor of China had a ruby that made the night as bright as the day. The probability is that Solomon, under some of the lamps that illumined his cedar palace by night, noticed the peculiar glow of the ruby as it looked in the hilt of a sword, or hung in some fold of the upholstery, or beautified the lip of some chalice while he was thinking at the same time of the excellency of our holy Religion as chiefly seen in the night of trouble, and he cries out, "Wisdom is better than rubies."

Oh, yes, it is a good thing to have religion while the sun of prosperity rides high and everything is brilliant in fortune, in health, in worldly favor. Yet you can at such time hardly tell how much of it is natural exuberance and how much of it is the grace of God. But let the sun set, and the shadows avalanche the plain, and the thick darkness of sickness, or poverty, or persecution, or mental exhaustion fill the soul, and fill the house, and fill the world; then you sit down by the lamp of God's Word and under its light the consolations of the Gospel come out; the peace of God which passeth all understanding appears. You never fully appreciated their power until in the deep night of trouble the Divine Lamp revealed their exquisiteness. Pearls and amethysts for the day, but rubies for the night.

All of the books of the Bible attempt in some way the assuagement of misfortune. Of the one hundred and fifty Psalms of David at least ninety allude to trouble. There are sighing in every wind, and tears in every brook, and pangs in every heart. It was originally proposed to call the President's residence at Washington, "The Palace," or "The Executive Mansion," but after it was destroyed in the war of 1814 and rebuilt, it was painted white, to cover up the marks of the smoke and fire that had blackened the stone walls. Hence it was called "The White House." Most of the things now white with attractiveness were once black with disaster. What the world most needs is the consolatory, and here it comes, our holy religion, with both hands full of anodynes, and sedatives, and balsams, as in Daniel's time to stop mouths leonine; as in Shadrach's time to cool blast furnaces; as in Ezekiel's time to console captivity; as in St. John's time to unroll an apocalypse over rocky desolations. Hear its soothing voice as it declares: "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning;" "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth;" "They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more, neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat; for the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall lead them to living fountains of water, and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes." The most wholesome thing on earth is trouble, if met in Christian spirit. To make Paul what he was it took shipwreck, and whipping on the bare back, and penitentiary, and pursuit of wild mobs, and the sword of decapitation. To make David what he was it took all that Ahithophel and Saul and Absolom and Goliath and all the Philistine host could do against him. It took Robert Chambers' malformation of feet to make him the literary conqueror. It was bereavement that brought William Haworth, of Wesley's time, from wickedness to an evangelism that won many thousands for heaven. The world would never have known what heroic stuff Ridley was made of had not the fire been kindled around his feet, and, not liking their slow work, he cried, "I cannot burn; let the fire come to me: I cannot burn." Thank God that there are gems that unfold their best glories under the lamp light! Thank God for the ruby!

Moreover, I am sure that Solomon was right in saying that religion, or wisdom, is better than rubies, from the fact that a thing is worth what it will fetch. Religion will fetch solid happiness, and the ruby will not. In all your observation did you ever find a person thoroughly felicitated by an encrustment of jewels? As you know more of yourself than anyone else, are you happier now with worldly adornments and successes than before you won them? Does the picture that cost you hundreds or thousands of dollars on your wall bring you as much satisfaction as the engraving that, at the expense of five dollars, was hung upon the wall when you first began to keep house? Do all the cutlery and rare plate that glitter on your extension dining-table surrounded by flattering guests contain more of real bliss than the plain ware of your first table, at which sat only two? Does a wardrobe crowded with costly attire give you more satisfaction than your first clothes-closet, with its four or five pegs? Did not the plain ring set on the third finger of your left hand on the day of your betrothal give more gladness than the ruby that is now enthroned on the third finger of your right hand? If in this journey of life we have learned anything, we have learned that this world neither with its emoluments nor gain can satisfy the soul. Why, here comes as many witnesses as I wish to call to the stand to testify that before high heaven and the world, in companionship with Jesus Christ and a good hope of heaven, they feel a joy that all the resources of their vocabulary fail to express. Sometimes it evidences itself in ejaculations of hosanna; sometimes in doxology; sometimes in tears. A converted native of India in a letter said: "How I long for my bed, not that I may sleep; I lie awake often and long, but to hold sweet communion with my God." It so mighty is worldly joy that Julius the Second hearing that his armies were triumphant, expired; and if Talva hearing that the Roman Senate had decreed him an honor, expired; and if Dionysius and Sophocles overcome of joy, expired, and if a shipwrecked purser waiting on the coast of Guinea in want and starvation at the sight of a vessel bringing relief, fell dead from shock of delight; is it any surprise to you that the joys of pardon and Heaven rolled over the soul should sometimes be almost too much for the Christian to endure and live? An angel aunt said to me, "DeWitt, three times I have fainted dead away under too great Christian joy. It was in all these cases at the Holy Communion." An eminent Christian man while in prayer said, "Stop, Lord, I cannot bear any more of this gladness: it's too much for mortal. Withhold! Withhold!" We have heard of poor workmen or workwomen getting a letter suddenly telling them that a fortune had been left them, and how they were almost beside themselves with glee, taking the first ship to claim the estate. But, oh, what it is to wake up out of the stupor of a sinful life and through pardoning grace find that all our earthly existence will be divinely managed for our best welfare, and that then all Heaven will roll in upon the soul. Compared with that a spring morning is stupid, and an August sunset is inane, and an aurora has no pillared splendor, and a diamond has no flash, and a pearl no light, and a beryl no aqua-marine, and a ruby no ruddiness. My gracious Lord! My glorious God! My precious Christ! Roll over on us a few billows of that rapture. And now I ask you as fair-minded men and women, accustomed to make comparisons, is not such a joy as that worth more than anything one can have in a jeweled casket? Was not Solomon right when he said, "Wisdom is better than rubies?"

There is something in the deep carmine of the ruby that suggests the sacrifice on which our whole system of religion depends. While the emerald suggests the meadows, and the sapphire the skies, and the opal the sea, the ruby suggests the blood of sacrifice. The most emphatic and startling of all colors hath the ruby. Solomon, the author of my text, knew all about the sacrifice of lamb and dove on the altars of the temple, and he knew the meaning of sacrificial blood, and what other precious stone could he so well use so well to symbolize it as the ruby? Red, intensely red, red as the blood of the greatest martyr of all time—Jesus of the centuries! Drive the story of the crucifixion out of the Bible and the doctrine of the atonement out of our religion, and there would be nothing of Christianity left for our worship or our admiration. Why should it be hard to adopt the Bible theory that our redemption was purchased by blood? What great bridge ever sprung its arches; what temple ever reared its towers; what nation ever achieved its independence; what mighty good was ever done without sacrifice of life? The great wonder of the world—the bridge that unites these two cities—cost the life of the first architect. Ask the shipyards of Glasgow and New York how many carpenters went down under accidents before the steamer was launched; ask the three great trans-continental railroads how many in their construction were buried under crumbling embankments, or crushed under timbers, or destroyed by the powder-blast. Tabulate the statistics of how many mothers have been martyrs to the cradle of sick children. Tell us how many men sacrificed nerve, and muscle, and brain, and life in the effort to support their households. Tell me how many men in England, in France, in Germany, in Italy, in the United States have died for their country. Vicarious suffering is as old as the world, but the most thrilling, the most startling, the most stupendous sacrifices of all time and eternity, was on a bluff back of Jerusalem when one being took upon Himself the sins, the agonies, the perdition of a great multitude that no man can number, between twelve o'clock of a darkened noon and three o'clock in the afternoon, purchased the ransom of a ruined world. Dive in all the seas; explore all the mines; crowbar all the mountains; view all the crowned jewels of all the emperors, and find me any gem that can so overwhelmingly symbolize that martyrdom as the ruby. Mark you, there are many gems that are somewhat like the ruby. So is the cornelian; so is the garnet; so is the spinel; so is the balas; so the gems brought from among the gravels of Ceylon and New South Wales; but their is only one genuine ruby, and that comes from the mines of Burmah." And there is only one Christ, and he comes from heaven. One Redeemer, one Ransom, one Son of God; only "one Name given under heaven among men whereby they can be saved." Ten thousand times ten thousand beautiful imitations of that ruby, but only one ruby. Christ had no descendant. Christ had no counterpart. In the lifted-up grandeur and glory, and love, and sympathy of his character, he is the Incomparable, the Infinite One? "The Only Wise God, our Saviour!" Let all hearts, all homes, all times, all eternities bow low before Him! Let His banner be lifted to all our souls.

In olden times, Scotland was disturbed by freebooters and pirates. To rid the seas and ports of these desperadoes, the hero, William Wallace, fitted out a merchant vessel, but filled it with armed men, and put out to sea. The pirates, with their flag inscribed of a death's head, thinking they would get an easy prize, bore down upon the Scottish merchantman, when the armed men of Wallace boarded the craft of the pirates and put them in chains, and then sailed for port under the Scottish flag flying. And so our souls, assailed of sin and death and hell, through Christ are rescued, and the black flag of sin is torn down and the striped flag of the Cross is hoisted. Blessed be God for any sign, for any signal, for any precious stone that brings to mind the price paid for such a rescue!

Another room of mortal exit. Religion and no rubies. She never had money enough to buy one of these exquisites. Sometimes she stopped at a jeweler's show-window, and saw a row of them incarnadining the velvet. She had keen taste enough to appreciate those gems, but she never owned one of them. She was not jealous and unhappy because others had rubies while she had none. But she had a richer treasure, and that was the grace of God that had comforted her along the way amid bereavements, and temptations, and privations, and trials of all sorts. Now she is going out of life. The room is bright, not with pictures or statues, not with upholstery, not with any of the gems of mountain or of sea, but there is a strange and vivid glow in the room; not the light of chandelier, or star, or noon-day sun, but something that outshines all of them. It must be the presence of supernaturals. From her illumined face I think she must hear sweet voices. Yea, she does hear sweet voices—voices of departed kindred; voices apostolic and prophetic, and evangelic, but all of them overpowered by the voice of Christ, saying, "Come, ye blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom." From her illumined face, I think she must hear rapturous music. Yea, she does hear rapturous music—now soft as solos, now thunderous as orchestras; now a saintly voice alone, now the hundred and forty and four thousand in concert. From her illumined face, I think she must breathe redolence. Yes, she does inhale aroma from off the gardens whose flowers never wither, and from the blossoms of orchards, every tree of which bears twelve manner of fruit. From her illumined face, I think she must see a glorious sight. Yes, she sees the wall that has jasper at the base, and amethyst at the top, and blood-red rubies between. Good-bye, sweet soul! Why should you longer stay! Your work all done; your burdens are carried; your tears all wept! Forward into the light! Up into the joy! Out into the grandeurs! And after you have saluted Christ, and your kindred, search out Him of the palaces of Lebanon cedar, and tell Him that you have found to be gloriously true what thousands of years ago he asserted in this morning's text: "Wisdom is better than rubies." In those burnished palaces of our God may we all meet. For I confess to you that my chief desire for Heaven is not the radiance, or to take the suggestion of the text, not the rubescence of the scene. My one idea of Heaven is the place to meet old friends, God our best Friend, and our earthly friends already transported. Aye! to meet the millions whom I have never seen, but to whom I have administered in the Gospel week by week through journalism on both sides of the sea, and throughout Christendom, and through many lands yet semibarbaric. For the last twenty-three years every blast of injustice against me has multipled my readers all the world over, and the present malignancy printed and uttered because our church is in financial struggle after having two great structures destroyed by fire, and we compelled to three large churches—I say the present outrageous injustice in some quarters, will multiply my audience in all lands if I can keep in good humor and not fight back. A gentleman tapped me on the shoulder summer before last on a street of Edinburgh, Scotland, and said, "I live in the Shetland Islands, North Scotland, and I read your sermons every Sabbath to an audience of neighbors, and my brother lives in Cape Town, South Africa, and he reads them every Sabbath to an audience of his neighbors." And I here and now say to the forty millions of the earth to whose eyes these words will come that one of my dearest anticipations is to meet them in heaven. Ah! that will be better than rubies. Coming up from different continents, from different hemispheres, from opposite sides of the earth to greet each other in holy love in the presence of the glorious Christ who made it possible for us to get there. Our sins all pardoned, our sorrows all banished, never to weep, never to part, never to die; I tell you that will be better than rubies. Others may have the crowns, and the thrones, and the sceptres; give us our old friend back again, Christ, "the friend who sticketh closer than a brother," and all the kindred who have gone up from our bereft households, and all our friends whom we have never yet seen, and you may have all the rubies, for that will be "better than rubies." Instead of the dying kiss when they look so pale and wan and sick, it will be the kiss of welcome on lips jubilant with song, while standing on floors paved with what exquisiteness, under ceilings hung with what glory, bounded by walls facing us with what splendor, amid gladness tolling over us with what Doxology. Far better, infinitely better, everlasting better than rubies.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 17.—A large number of logs, the property of W. L. Loud, an extensive lumber dealer of Au Sable, Mich., have passed over the Horseshoe Falls and are now on the Canadian side of the river on the ice bridge. They came down from Tonawanda, and their loss will be a most serious blow to Mr. Loud. The extent of his loss here is estimated at 1,500,000 feet of Norway pine lumber, valued at $21,000. Some of this lumber has undoubtedly passed through under the ice bridge and will hardly be recovered again. The logs were in rafts when swept away by the ice.

Terrible Boiler Explosion on the German Cruiser Brandenburg—Bodies of the Victims So Scalded and Swollen As To Be Unrecognizable—Engineers Testing the Boiler Were Killed.

KIEL, Feb. 16.—A terrible boiler explosion occurred Friday on the cruiser Brandenburg at this port. With the usual secrecy that pervades naval affairs the officers of the ship refused to give any details in regard to the accident, but it is known that many of the crew were killed and that considerble damage was done to the vessel. The Brandenburg was on her trial trip when the explosion occurred.

Forty one men were instantly killed and nine others were fatally wounded. Among the dead are three chief engineers, who were on the vessel to report on the work of the boilers, and several other officers. Most of the bodies were badly scalded, in some instances the faces being so swollen out of shape as to be unrecognizable.

Five steamers went at once to the assistance of the disabled warship and towed her back to Kief.

Prince Henry of Prussia went aboard the Brandenburg and helped in the work of relieving the wounded. The steam tug Pelican, which was the first vessel sent to the Brandenburg's assistance, returned to the quay with 30 dead bodies. The news of the accident had spread through the city and thousands were gathered at the landing place. Four other steam tugs brought the wounded ashore.

Many of the crew were injured critically and several are likely to die in the next 48 hours. All were taken to the Military Hospital for treatment. Emperor William is expected to arrive here to-morrow.

UNIONISTS AND THE PEERS.

The Parish Bill Amendments By the Peers Went Too Far.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—It is learned that the Liberal-Unionists, in their meeting at Devonshire House, concurred that the amendment of the Parish Councils bill by the House of Lords had been carried too far, and that the passage ought not to be imperilled. The Duke of Devonshire undertook to confer with Lord Salisbury on the subject of a compromise. The opinion of the meeting as to the Employers' Liability bill was that the smallness of the Government majority for the Cobb amendment in the Commons justified the action of the peers on the contracting-out clause. The hope was expressed that the House of Lords will adhere to the Earl of Dudley's contracting-out amendment.

Workers Favor the Employers' Bill.

CHESTERFIELD, Feb. 16.—At a meeting of Derbyshire miners here Mr. Harvey, leader of the miners, said the Government misjudges the feeling of the workers, who decidedly favor Home Secretary Asquith's Employers' Liability bill. If the bill is dropped, he declared, the blame will rest with the Government for accepting the Cobb amendment. Had the Government refused all amendments the House of Lords would finally have given way.

Terrible Sufferings of Little Baby. Seven Doctors and two Hospitals Fail. Cured by Cuticura.

My baby boy, 5 months old, broke out with eczema. The itching and burning was intense; the eczema spread to his limbs, breast, face, and head, until he was nearly covered; his torturing agonies were pitiable to behold; he had no peace and but little rest night or day. He was under treatment at different times at two hospitals and by seven doctors in this city without the least benefit; every prescription of the doctors was faithfully tried, but he grew worse all the time. For months I expended about $3 per week for medicines, and was entirely discouraged. I purchased CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT and followed the directions to the letter. Relief was immediate, his sufferings were eased, and rest and sleep permitted. He steadily improved and in nine weeks was entirely cured, and has now as clear a skin and is as fair a boy as any mother could wish to see. I recommend every mother to use it for every Baby Humor.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The Ontario estimates will no doubt provide for a liberal expenditure on roads. Such is always the case in election year.

The Hollanders are the greatest tea and coffee drinkers, using 240 ounces to the inhabitant every year.

The tallest company of soldiers in the British army belongs to the Scots Guards. This comprises ninety men, averaging 6 ft. 7 inches. Not a man of the ninety is under 6 feet.

The number of religious sects entered by the Registrar General of Great Britain at Somerset House in 1873 as having places of worship in England was 125. In twenty years they have more than doubled, the number last year being 270.

General Millinet, whose death occurred recently at the age of 92, is said to have been the last survivor of the French officers who took part in the battle of Waterloo. He had been twice decorated for bravery on the field.

The sad predicament of the man whose hiccoughs cannot be stopped, as reported in recent telegrams, recalls some of the homely remedies in use among the French-Canadians. They insist that if you want to break a fit of hiccoughing, all you have to do is to grip the sufferer's wrists with both hands, and look him squarely and fixedly into the eyes. For chilled feet that are too cold to be toasted before a fire, they recommend the victim to simply kneel upon a hard-bottomed chair for a few minutes. To warm one's self all over after a chilling ride in winter, they say the best thing is to sit down, double both fists, and hammer your knees vigorously for five minutes. They believe in these little tricks as heartily as any other people believe in medicine.

In deciding to retain the township fairs, irrespective of locality, the Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibitions made a grave mistake. Township fairs in the front townships have outlived their usefulness. Central exhibitions, the large and varied prize lists in connection with which bring out the latest inventions in connection with agriculture, and township fairs in remote districts, ought alone to be encouraged by grants of public money.

Good results should follow the clear, business-like address of Mr. Bowell before the manufacturers, remarks the Toronto Star. Canada can compete with the United States in carriages, canned fish, fruit and vegetables, leather, lumber, machinery, and several other items upon the list of goods which our neighbors send to Australia. The Pacific steamship line has already done enough to show that a large trade can be built up between Canada and Australia, and the construction of a cable that will overcome the long delay of the mails will do much to promote interchange of products. The suggestion that a Canadian trade agent be sent to Australia is a wise one, and an Australian agent in Canada would be equally valuable.

HOW THE ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS SAVED A BROTHER.

The Startling Experience of Mr. Isaac Briggs of London—A Sufferer for Four Years—His Lodge Came to the Rescue After Doctors had Failed—He is Again Able to be Out.

From the London Free Press.

The home of Mr. Isaac Briggs, at 501 Charlotte St., this city, is one of the most prettily situated and well kept of the many homes of the workingmen of London. The front is carefully boulevarded, and at the side and rear of the cottage home is a lattice work covered with vines, and there is also a garden. Within view are fields and woods, and in fact there was nothing needed upon the occasion of an autumn afternoon visit to make the lot of a sick man amid such surroundings as pleasant as possible.

And so it was not to be wondered at that Mr. Briggs was found in a cheerful mood. But a conversation with the gentleman revealed the fact that there were very good reasons why any man under the same circumstances, and enjoying the same bright hope, could not but allow his face to beam forth with what he felt. The story as told will be found most interesting, and that it is absolutely correct there are many of the friends of Mr. Briggs will testify, should such testimony be needed. Mr. Briggs has been an invalid for four years and has been unwell and under medical treatment for eight years. It was in 1885 that he first felt the twinges, the aches and the pains that foretold trouble. He secured medical attendance, and learned that his liver was out of order, his kidneys were bad and that he suffered from dyspepsia. However he worked along for nearly four years, when the terrible malady affected his system in a way painful to relate. It came directly after an attack of "the grip." Mr. Briggs was yet in his "fifties," and to all appearance was a well preserved and strong man. But almost without warning the joints in every part of his body were as solid and immovable as though they had been padlocked, and the strong man became as helpless as a babe. Many doctors were consulted, and they all promised relief and occasionally a slight relief did come. But it was only temporary, and the unfortunate man, in consequence of these relapses, was gradually losing his hold upon hope. The days were long and weary that he spent upon his bed, with the dismal prospects ahead of being held a close prisoner, to be released only by death.

The family, too, began to lose faith in medical skill. They had given a trial to some of the foremost practitioners of the city, but always with the same unhappy result. Patent medicines of various descriptions were likewise tried, but in vain. Then about Christmas tide came news that had almost been expected. Mr. Briggs had not long to live, the doctors said. Gradually he grew weaker until early in the spring so seriously ill did he appear to be that the end was daily looked for.

Court Forest City, A.O.F., of which Mr. Briggs is a member, proved just at this juncture to be a friend indeed. During all his illness the brethren had looked carefully after his wants, and had been very attentive. And no one regretted more than they the unhappy prospect. One night court was discussing the case when it was suggested that Pink Pills should be tried. Stories had been told of what they had effected in other cases. Then why not in this? Finally the court agreed to present one dozen boxes of the pills to Mr. Briggs. The attending doctor told his patient that the pills were only good for cases of paralysis, but he consented to their being given a trial as a last hope. Accordingly Mr. Briggs began taking them. Very soon a change was noticed. He grew more cheerful and suffered much less. His whole system seemed to be awakened to new life, just as was the world outside, for it was the glad spring time of the year.

With renewed strength came renewed hope, and the invalid began to look upon Pink Pills as his deliverer. He used them faithfully, taking six a day. In a month he was able to leave his bed, and he did so with a thankful heart. Only those who have been forced to undergo long confinement between bedclothes can realize the pleasure and joy there were in that first day spent in the neat little parlor, seated in a big arm chair beside the window where the sun sent in its warm, bright rays. Since then Mr. Briggs has been about daily. He uses crutches yet, but he grows stronger every day. Now he can use his hands, eating with a knife and fork, and the joints continue to grow looser and pliable, giving only a faint idea of the veritable knots into which those of the hands and feet were tied. There was a cessation of the pains too, a most pleasing fact to the invalid—and the blood vessels that had become lost to view and dried up are now quite healthy looking.

Mr. Briggs has only used twenty boxes of the pills, at a cost of $10. Certainly his bill for medical attendance shows a marked decrease.

Mr. E. W. Boyle, druggist, 652 Dundas street, who is also secretary of Court Forest, was also interviewed with respect to the case, and his statements were all confirmatory of what Mr. Briggs had said. He said he had had a tremendous sale of the pills. No other similar medicine ever approached to the same demand.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a perfect blood builder and nerve restorer, curing such diseases as rheumatism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus' dance, nervous headache, nervous prostration and that tired feeling therefrom, the after effects of la grippe, diseases depending on humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. Pink Pills give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions, and a specific for the troubles peculiar to the female system, and in the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of any nature.

Bear in mind Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are never sold in bulk, or by the dozen or hundred, and any dealer who offers substitutes is trying to defraud you and should be avoided. Ask your dealer for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and refuse all imitations and substitutes.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y., at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

Ho tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. # TRAIN WRECKED AND ROBBED.

THE OPEN SWITCH AND DYNAMITE IN COMBINATION.

Locomotive and Two Cars Ditched—The Fireman Shot Down—The Express Car Blown Up With Dynamite—Most Cool and Daring Train Robbery for Many Years.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 16.—A gang of train robbers wrecked passenger train No. 2 on Southern Pacific Railroad at Roscoe Station, 12 miles north of here, at 1 o'clock yesterday. They blew open the express car with dynamite and fired several shots at the trainmen, who attempted to escape. Those shot by the robbers or injured in the wreck were: Fireman Arthur Masters, shot and killed while extricating himself from the wrecked locomotive; — Granger, who was stealing a ride on the train, shot and killed by the robbers; Engineer David Thomas, probably fatally injured by falling off his locomotive; Brakeman Foster, cut on head and badly bruised.

The robbers escaped with several boxes belonging to the Express Company, but the total amount of cash is not more than $1000. The robbery was the most daring and cool piece of work done in the west in years. Several rough-looking men boarded the train at Burbank, and it is believed they were the accomplices of the robbers who were waiting further north to throw the train from the track.

At Roscoe is a short spur, used for switching. As the locomotive neared the junction Engineer Thomas saw by the glare of the headlight that the switch was open. He reversed the engine and tried to stop the train, but the locomotive and two fruit cars left the rails and fell a wreck into the ditch. Before the passengers could realize what had happened three masked men jumped into view, with rifles in their hands. A volley of shots was fired at the engineer and fireman, who were struggling to escape from the tangled wreck, and then the gang kept up a fusilade of bullets to terrify the passengers and prevent them from leaving the cars. Fireman Masters was instantly killed at the first fire. The tramp Granger was also struck by a bullet and died on the spot. The engineer was badly hurt, but managed to crawl into the brush out of sight.

When the shock was felt the accomplices on board hurried to the express car, which stood on the rails unharmed. They placed bombs under the car and the explosion tore off the doors. Express Messenger Harry Edgar was uninjured. The robbers then rifled the car of all its contents and, mounting horses, galloped north. Foster, the brakeman, quietly slipped from the train and made his way to a farm house. Foster drove to Burbank and notified the deputy sheriff at that place. A train was sent at once to the scene.

THE YANKS PANIC-STRICKEN.

The "Government" of Hawaii Terribly Scared.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—A special from Honolulu, under date of Feb. 8, says:

After a period of quiet this morning saw Honolulu thrown into intense excitement by reason of a threatened royalist attack on the executive building. The story, which was told by Provisional Government detectives, is that the royalists devised a plan to throw dynamite bombs into the executive council chamber this morning while President Dole and his assistants were holding possession. This could easily be done, as the windows are generally open. The room is not large, and bomb cast into the chamber would kill or maim all the Government leaders. Then the plan was to have a strongly armed force under Marshal Wilson, or some other resolute leader, fall upon the executive building and take possession at at the point of the bayonet. The moment the royalists were in possession word was to be telephoned to Mr. Wodehouse, the British minister, who would not only recognize the new government, but would order England marines landed, ostensibly to protect the property of British residents. When this was accomplished, the plot included an appeal to Minister Willis to recognize the Queen's Government, which the plotters had been assured would be done.

Although many canards have been circulated about Royalist plots, this conspiracy was given in such detail and and from such trustworthy sources that it created great alarm. The military were ordered to be ready to turn out at a signal. Soon after the order was given a loud explosion was heard in the executive building. Instantly the streets and the square in front of the building were filled with provisional government troops, as this was regarded as the signal for carrying out the royalist plot. It was soon found to be a false alarm, as the explosion was caused by a soldier dropping a cartridge to the floor.

Up to 3 o'clock no attempt had been made by the royalists to carry out their plan. One entire company of National Guards is now marching up and down in front of the building, and other guards are stationed at all points which command the building.

The incident has unsettled everybody and has aroused much bitter feeling. Since the publication of the Queen's talk with Minister Willis about beheading the Provisional Government leaders, everyone recognizes that Liliuokalani will stop at nothing to gain her end. She knows that the only way to secure a foothold would be to kill off the provisional leaders and in the resulting panic seize the Government. Dynamite in the hands of bold and unscrupulous men would accomplish this. It is the fact of her savagery that makes the provisional leaders fearful of an attack.

MURDERED HIS WIFE AND TWINS.

Confessed to the Crime With the Noose Around His Neck.

FREDERICK, M.D., Feb. 16.—William Leonard, an Englishman who shot and killed Jesse Anderson in September last, was hanged in the jail yard yesterday. Before dying Leonard confessed that he murdered his third wife and her newly-born twins. The man also asserts that his name was not Leonard, but that he assumed the name to keep disgrace from his family. He states that he was born near Liverpool, England, in 1844. He has a brother an officer in the British army, and an uncle and six cousins in Philadelphia. Leonard was a seaman and miner most of his life. He had been in this country for 12 years. He said he was the father of 17 children.

Checks "Certified," But Bogus.

BUFFALO, Feb. 16.—A clever confidence man is working a novel check scheme on business men of the smaller cities of Canada and various states west of here, the Third National Bank of this city being used as a catspaw. The scheme is new in that nothing but alleged certified cheques are used. According to descriptions the swindler is a smooth-faced young man about 25 years old and a glib talker. He goes under the name of "Seth M. Smith," and his bogus cheques have been coming to the Third National Bank with great regularity, showing that he is meeting with big success. They, of course, are returned stamped "No good." The checks are all for $25 each. Last week one was received from London, Ont., and another from Grand Rapids, Mich. Bankers here say it is the cleverest dodge that has been worked in years, the certification making it unique in its line.

500 Adrift on an Ice Floe.

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—A despatch from St. Petersburg says that on Tuesday an ice floe broke adrift from the coast of Ingermannland, Province of St. Petersburg, and carried off many fishermen and their families. More than 500 persons are said to be in danger. The persons along the coast are making every effort to rescue them and are hopeful of success.

Tips From the Ties.

On March the 1st and thereafter the Wagner tourist sleeping-cars will be provided with rattan seats and backs instead of slats as at present. The rattan seats will make the cars as comfortable as a first-class coach.

The longest reach of railway without a curve is claimed by travellers to be that of the new Argentine Pacific Railway from Buenos Ayres to the foot of the Andes. For 211 miles it is without a curve and has no cutting or embankment deeper than two or three feet.

A man who lives in Canada sold land to the Canadian Pacific and expressly stipulated that a station should be erected at his place, otherwise he would fight for higher land damage. So the station was built according to contract—at which no train ever stops.—Buffalo Express.

According to an Italian newspaper, the introduction of freight cars of 30 tons capacity of the American type has been attended with great success and has demonstrated their economy as compared with the small 10 and 12 ton cars of the European type with rigid wheel base.

A statement has been published of westbound shipments of freight from New York over the trunk lines during the month of January, including everything going as far west as Buffalo, Salamanca and Pittsburg, as follows:—1894, 98,141 tons; 1893, 125,025 tons; decrease, 26,911 tons; per cent., 21.5.

Asst. Supt. Rossiter, of the New York Central, has devised a pocket memorandum which is of untold use to a superintendent. He has made a detail plan of the tracks at each station within his jurisdiction, showing every track, its uses, each station building, water tank, trestle, etc., so that at a glance the facilities of any station can be seen.

The letting of the Grand Trunk coal contract had a decidedly unpleasant termination for some of Buffalo's coal and railroad men. For the first time in many years, Bell, Lewis & Yates failed to get a piece of the contract, and nearly all of the Bridge coal has been given to Pittsburg-region operators, the Lake Shore, as a result, capturing the haul of nearly all of this coal.

The Lake Shore has made a considerable reduction in its force in Buffalo, about 35 men being dropped, the men in the freight offices being compelled to take a lay off of a week apiece. In the dispatcher's office in the depot all the copyists have been dropped, the train dispatchers being compelled to handle the wire and do their own copying. The force along the entire line has been similarly reduced.

The Deaf and Dumb.

The report of the Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb covers the year ending 30th September, 1893. The Inspector's report contains interesting information respecting the deaf and dumb in Canada. An analysis of 943 cases showed the cause of loss of speech to be congenital in 368 cases, and accidental in 575 cases. Of this total number, divided according to families, two families contained five each, and four families contained four each. The parents were in 57 cases first cousins, while in 803 cases there was no blood relation between the parents. The proportion of deaf mutes to population in Canada, was 10.5 to every 10,000 people. The foreign population, which is one-seventh of the whole, has one-fourth of the deaf and dumb. In the older provinces the deaf & dumb have not increased as rapidly as the population. The pupils in the institution at last inspection numbered 252, of whom 119 were girls, and 113 boys. There was no sickness at that time among the pupils except one case of measles of a mild type. The institution is reported as being in a satisfactory sanitary condition, and the pupils attentive, anxious to learn, and making good progress. The cost per pupil for maintenance was $176 11, as compared with $166.01 the previous year.

Cottolene

A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

PORTLAND, Feb. 12.—The people of this neighborhood have not yet finished talking of the remarkable cure of diabetes effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills in the case of Dr. E. A. Rose, of this village. The doctor is authority for the statement that his case is totally eclipsed by that of a lady, a patient of his, whom Bright's disease had brought to the verge of the grave. He prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills for her, and thanks to them, she is now cured. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

'Bilkin's is a strong face, or I'm no judge of physiognomy.' 'It ought to be; he and his family are living on it.'

Real estate agent: 'Why do you pay rent?' Tompkins: 'If you knew my landlord you'd never ask that question.'

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

No one need pity you if you die of consumption, without having tried Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary diseases. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles 50c and $1,00, at all druggists.

'How is it you don't keep a refrigerator in your house?' 'I don't need one; you see I married a Boston girl.'

With pure, vigorous blood coursing through the veins and animating every fibre of the body, cold weather is not only endurable but pleasant and agreeable. No other blood medicine is so certain in its results as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. What it does for others it will do for you.

Schiffmann's Asthma Cure.

Instantly relieves the most violent attacks facilitates free expectoration and insured rest to those otherwise unable to sleep except in a chair, as a single trial will prove. Send for a free trial package to Dr. R. Schiffmann's, St. Paul, Minn., but ask your druggist first.

BELLEVILLE 7—KINGSTON 3.

The Hockey-ste, of This City, Repulse the "Rebels" From the Limestone City.

Our hockey players have received very little encouragement from the citizens at large, but the brilliant game put up by the boys yesterday afternoon should awaken an interest in this popular winter sport. The "Rebels" of Queen's University, Kingston, came up on the noon train and, although the game was set for 3:30 it was after 4 p.m. before the teams lined up. Following were the teams and their positions:

| Belleville. | Position. | Rebels. |
|---|---|---|
| Jamieson, | Goal, | McDonald, |
| Taber, | Point, | Rigney, |
| Phippen, | Cover Point, | Gage, |
| Kelso,Weller,Powell,H. Armstrong, | Forwards, | Ferguson,Irving,Dean,Kinghorn. |

H. Twining, Referee.
Fred Smith and E. Fraleck, Goal Umpires.

The first game was the shortest on record. Fifteen seconds from the "face" and Weller had it through the Kingston goal. This gave the boys encouragement and one minute was the time it took Phippen to score the second goal. The next game went to Kingston in 1 min. 30 sec. The Belleville boys braced up again and took two straights in four and three minutes respectively. Then in seven minutes more the "Rebels" got another, but it was some time before they scored again. Both teams from this out played better hockey, although one man on the Kingston team was warned several times for slashing, but our "chasers" took it all good humoredly and scored three straights in fourteen, five, and twenty one minutes. Kingston got another in four minutes and there being only about one minute to play, no more goals were scored. Following is a summary of the goals, time and who scored by:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Belleville | 15 sec. | Weller |
| Belleville | 1:00 | Phippen |
| Kingston | 1:30 | Gage |
| Belleville | 4:00 | Powell |
| Belleville | 3:00 | Weller |
| Kingston | 7:00 | Ferguson |
| Belleville | 14:00 | Weller |
| Belleville | 5:00 | Powell |
| Belleville | 20:15 | Weller |
| Kingston | 4:00 | Ferguson |

The Belleville team put up a great game and had it not been for the clever work of McDonald at goal and Rigney at point the story would have been different. Weller and Kelso played a beautiful combination, and although Kelso did not score a goal it is no criterion of the work he performed. Phippen did some star work and was loudly applauded time and again. Powell and Armstrong played great hockey, as did also Taber at point. Jamieson was at home every time in goal. For the Kingston team Ferguson, Gage and Dean did good work, but they must get a hustle on if they want to defeat many teams. The Kingston boys are a manly lot of fellows and took what they got with the best grace.

CANIFTON'S VS. SHANNONVILLE'S

A rather humorous hockey match took place on the skating rink this morning. The teams were composed of young ladies calling themselves the Shannonville and Canifton hockey clubs. They use the regulation sticks and puck and strictly adhere to the rules that govern the game. The Shannonville's won, by a score of 3 goals to 1. The following were the participants and their positions:

| Canifton's | Position | Shannonville's |
|---|---|---|
| Clara Carrol | Goal | Norah Lozier |
| Bessie Cook | Point | Edna Fish |
| Ethel Johnson | Cover Point | Eva Burrows |
| M. MacounM. FraleckN. FoleyM. Nash | Forwards | Grace PontonE. HanwellK. HamiltonE. Sutherland |

W. Conger, Referee.
Goal umpires: F. Robertson, R. Gorman.

Another Milestone.

The Germans declare that one of the causes of their national greatness is the observance in the home of the birthdays of its members, and the public celebration from year to year of great events in their country's history. In the same way we suppose the Bridge St. church people estimate anniversaries, for it seems to outsiders as though they were very often holding them. To-morrow it is the Sunday School that remembers its 71st birthday, and the Rev. W. J. Crothers, of Port Hope, has been invited to preach the anniversary sermons. The choir, also, will add to the attractiveness of the services by contributing special music; a soprano solo by Mrs. Dingman, and a trio of ladies' voices—Misses R. Phillips, E. Garratt, and N. Yeomans—will render Mendelssohn's "Lift up thine Eyes," it being on the musical programme. In the afternoon at 2:30, those who were scholars in the school sixty or seventy years ago, are expected to be present.

Police Court.

The case of Adolphus Burgoyne, hack driver, charged with soliciting passengers at the G. T. R. depot on Thursday night, was dismissed.

John Farrel was ordered to clean the snow from his sidewalk forthwith or pay a fine. Mr. Farrel grew quite voluble on the unfairness of the by-law, but his arguments did not have the desired effect.

Philip Thrasher, of Canifton, was charged with furious driving on Front St., on Wednesday last. The defendant did not appear, but upon hearing the evidence for the prosecution, the Magistrate imposed a fine of $10 or thirty days.

Michael Kerby, of Stirling, was to-day charged in the police court with having in his possession a weighing machine that was false and unjust. The case was still in progress as we went to press.

Belleville Music and Poetry on Monday Evening.

An intellectual and aesthetic treat awaits those who will attend the Belleville Institute on Monday evening to hear Mrs. York's paper on Poets and Musicians with interpretations by such talented performers as Mrs. Campbell, Miss Wilson, Miss Casswell, Miss Jones, Miss Holton, Mr. Young, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Doyle. The Poets will be illustrated by Dr. Wright, Rev. M. W. Maclean and Messrs. Ponton, Yeomans, Bogart, Johnson, Flint and Stewart. This programme should attract a very large audience to the comfortable hall over the Institute.

Among the Colts.

Two rinks of colts played a game at the curling rink yesterday afternoon. They are both good rinks and were well skipped by Messrs. J. F. Wills and W. W. Pope. Following is the score:

| | |
|---|---|
| P. Harrison, | W. Brown, |
| J. Brasier, | H. Smart, |
| J. McFee, | T. W. R. McRae, |
| W. W. Pope, skip—13. | J. F. Wills, skip—10 |

Train Cancelled.

On and after Monday next No. 4 train from Toronto to Montreal will be cancelled, when No. 6 will leave Toronto at 8:50 a.m., arriving at Montreal at 8:05 p.m. A new time table will be issued to-morrow.

New Children's Clothing.

We have received at the Oak Hall three large cases of Sanford's celebrated children's clothing. These suits we will have in stock in a few days. Parents who wish the latest styles in boys' suits can get the new goods this early in the season. Inside two weeks all our new spring goods will be ready.

THE "BOHEMIAN GIRL."

Another Artistic Performance by the California Opera Company.

Pleasing as was the performance given by the California opera company at the Queen's opera house on Thursday night, that of last night far excelled it in every respect. The opera was Balfe's delightful composition "The Bohemian Girl," and it was rendered in such style as to bring out the beauties of the score in a very satisfactory manner. Miss Josephine Stanton was a charming Arline, and not only sang the music of the part sweetly but acted it with spirit. Mr. Hallam's Thaddeus ranked with the best renderings of the part seen here, he being equally effective in that tender theme "You'll Remember Me," and in the declamatory aria "The Fair Land of Poland." Mr. W. E. Hubbard's Count Arnheim was on a par with the Arline and Thaddeus and Mr. Henderson gave an artistic rendering of the insipid dude, Florestein. The minor characters were well filled, whilst the choruses were effectively rendered, and the costumes were new and appropriate.

The season will close to-night, when the beautiful opera "Girofle Girofla" will be presented. It ought to be witnessed by a large house, not only because of the merits of the company and the fame of the opera, but as a recognition of the enterprise of the managers in presenting a high class entertainment, which enables the poorest lover of music to witness the gems of the operatic stage at prices unheard of before.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

A Former Well-Known Belleville Lady Passes Away in Rochester.

A telegram from Rochester, received by Mrs. Chas. Addison, Cedar St., this morning announced the sad intelligence that Mrs. James F. Sager had died suddenly at five o'clock this morning. The deceased was a daughter of the late Henry Jones, front of Sidney, and was about fifty-six years of age. She married Mr. James F. Sager about thirty seven years ago, and her husband and eight children (three girls and five boys) survive her. The family removed to Rochester about ten years ago. Mrs. Sager was well and favorably known in the city and many friends will unite in sympathy with the bereaved family. The interment will take place at Rochester.

The death is announced of "Choppy" Warburton, the veteran English pedestrian and trainer. In his palmy days Warburton had few peers, and when an amateur he bowled over the famous W. G. George and won the four-mile championship of England. He died in Paris, where he was handling the English distance bicyclist, Linton.

A Legend—Coffee.

There is a legend about coffee of which the pious Mussulman is the hero. He used to get sleepy during his devotions, but observing a herd of goats, he noticed that when these animals ate the berries of the coffee tree, they became frisky and excited, bounded about all the day in fact. The Mussulman took the hint, ate the coffee berries and no doubt prayed better; we doubt if there is a more refreshing and invigorating drink on a cold morning than a cup of Stroud's French Coffee, only 30c. a pound. No Breakfast table is complete without it.—Stroud's tea store.

AMUSEMENTS

LAST NIGHT'S FIRE.

One of the finest dramatic productions ever presented in Peterborough, was that presented by the Sawtelle Dramatic Co. in the "Streets of New York," at the Opera House last night. Every act was greatly applauded by the large audience present. The realistic fire scene was especially deserving of mention; its effect was grand and greatly delighted the spectators. The singing was also a feature meriting repeated encores from the house.—Peterborough Review. Opera house all next week. Popular prices.

Carbuncles Large as Hen's Eggs!

MRS. NANNIE GOULDMAN, of Beulahville, King William Co., Va., writes as follows:

"For about eight or ten years my father, Col. T. U. Fogg, of West Point, Va., was laid up with carbuncles, the worst that I ever saw. He tried everything he heard of, his doctor could do nothing for him. Had six or seven carbuncles at a time, as large as hen's eggs. He got so weak and suffered so much he could not walk a step. In 1872 he had his bed put in the middle of his room and got on it to die. No one expected him to get well. He saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advised for all blood disorders. Before he had taken half-a-bottle of 'Discovery' they began to go away. Two bottles entirely cured him. He is now 78 years old, and enjoys good health."

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst., over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

NO EBB IN THE TIDE OF TRADE

CANADA'S EXPORTS THREE MILLIONS AHEAD OF LAST YEAR.

Senator Howlan Mentioned For the Governorship of Prince Edward Island—The Appointment to Be Made Next Week—Re-Establishment of the Twelfth Military District—Minor Ottawa Notes.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—The statement of exports entered for consumption for the month of January shows that both fell off considerably from the high figures of January, 1893. But taking the period of seven months of the fiscal year the aggregate trade of the Dominion based on exports and entered for consumption is still three million of dollars more than it was at this time last year, when the total trade was $148,725,119, the highest ever reached. The total this year is $151,729,326. This is certainly a wonderful showing when the great shrinkage of the trade of other countries, especially the United States, is considered, and fully bears out Sir John Thompson's statement before the Macdonald Club that Canada had weathered the commercial storm better than any other country. For January the exports were $4,657,593, and entered for consumption $8,573,554, which is a falling off of $317,582 in the former and of $587,310 in the latter. The duty collected in January was $1,690,691, and for the seven months of the fiscal year $11,869,263, a decrease of $370,512 as compared with the same period last year.

The deposits in the Government savings banks for the month of January were $272,108 and withdrawals $253,456, showing a small increase. The amount at the credit of depositors on Jan. 31 was $17,425,742.

On the recommendation of the Hon. J. C. Patterson, Minister of Militia, an order-in-council has been passed, and assented to by His Excellency, re-establishing the old 12th Military District. The effect of this order will be the re-establishment of Prince Edward Island as an independent military district, and will, no doubt, restore the good humor of the Islanders, which was somewhat ruffled by the amalgamation of the 12th district, which took place some time ago.

Mr. W. D. Dimock, secretary of the World's Fair Canadian Commission, left by the 4.25 train this afternoon for Colchester, N.S., where he will be one of the Conservative candidates in the coming general elections for the Nova Scotia House. The Liberal candidates have already been selected, Mr. F. A. Lawrence, M.L.A., the sitting member, and A. E. Dickie, lumberman. The Liberal-Conservative candidates will be nominated on Tuesday. They will be Mr. Dimock and Mr. E. W. Cummings. The fight will be a close one.

Hon. M. Bowell has returned from Toronto.

Hon. J. A. Ouimet has returned to the city from Montreal.

Lt.-Col. Tisdale, M.P., was in the city to-day on departmental business.

General Herbert left for Toronto this morning.

It is understood that following the precedent so recently set in the case of the death of Lieut.-Gov. Boyd of New Brunswick, no time will be lost in filling the vacancy in the gubernatorial chair of Prince Edward Island caused by the death of Lieut.-Gov. Carvell, and that his successor will be appointed early next week. The name of Senator Howlan is mentioned as that of the most likely candidate for the position.

SOUTH LANARK BYE-ELECTION.

Patrons Poll a Heavy Vote—The Reformer Returned By a Narrow Majority.

PERTH, Feb. 16.—In the by-election held to-day in South Lanark there were four candidates in the field, Conservative, Reformer, Patron and a "Farmers' Friend." The full returns are:

| | |
|---|---|
| Clarke, Ref | 962 |
| Lees, Con | 944 |
| Ferguson, P. of I | 800 |
| Burrows, Farmers' Friend. | 61 |
| Majority for Clarke, Ref | 18 |

One hundred and thirty more voters were polled than at last election.

At the general election held June 11, 1890, the vote polled was:

| | |
|---|---|
| N. McLenaghan, Con. | 1509 |
| D. Kippen, Ref | 1078 |
| A. Burrows, Farmers' Friend. | 7 |

In the former election, Dec. 28, 1886, Mr. Lees (Con.) was returned with 419 majority:

| | |
|---|---|
| William Lees, Con. | 1836 |
| F. T. Frost, Ref. | 1417 |

Mr. Lees represented the constituency from 1879.

KILLED BY A RUNAWAY.

A London Lady Meets Death in Toronto.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—Miss Mary Panton, aged 35, of London, who was visiting with Mr. C. H. Hebden, at 209 Westmoreland-street, was killed by a runaway horse in Yonge-street last evening.

Mr. W. H. Stone, the undertaker, was driving along Yonge-street about 5 o'clock, when a bolt came out of the cutter near Gerrard-street and the shafts fell. The horse immediately dashed down the sidewalk, leaving the rig behind. The thoroughfare was crowded with pedestrians. Miss Panton was unable to get out of the way of the horse and was knocked down at Gould-street. A few She was covered with hurts and bruises and had also sustained internal injuries, which resulted in her death three hours later.

Bradstreet's Report.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Bradstreets today says: Business is quiet throughout the Dominion, although Toronto reports drygoods merchants expecting an improvement soon. Travelers in that line from Montreal have returned home. Expected Canadian tariff changes next month incline to depress trade. No change is reported from Halifax, where buying is very conservative. There are 47 business failures reported from Canada this week against 56 last week, 44 the week before and 45 the week before that. Bank clearings at Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax aggregate $15,167,000 this week, 8 2 per cent. less than last week and 22.1 per cent. less than last year.

ON THE VERGE OF STARVATION.

Irish People on an Island Suffer For Lack of Food.

DUBLIN, Feb. 17.—Advices received here from the north of Ireland announce that a lifeboat after a perilous voyage has succeeded in reaching the island of Innistrahull, nine miles to the north of Malin Head, at the extreme north of Ireland, whose fifty inhabitants have been unable for weeks past to communicate with the main land and who were believed to have been in danger of dying from starvation. The lifeboat on its way to Innistrahull was buffeted by enormous seas which filled the boat and necessitated lashing the oarsmen to their seats. The lifeboat's crew found the people of Innistrahull in sore straits; they had been compelled to use the furniture and woodwork of their houses for fuel. So far as provisions were concerned, there was only a handful of potatoes left on the island. Happily, the inhabitants, with one exception, had managed to sustain life until the arrival of the lifeboat, which brought a small supply of food for the suffering people. As it was, one man died of starvation, and a number of others were found to be suffering severely from lack of food. The crew of the lifeboat did their utmost to relieve the sufferings of the unfortunate inhabitants of Innistrahull, left all the provisions they had with them and succeeded in returning safe to the mainland. An additional supply of food will be sent to Innistrahull immediately.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

A Dull Day in the House—A Batch of Petitions Presented.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—The Legislative Assembly sat for exactly half an hour yesterday and little business was transacted.

Among the petitions presented were the following:

Of the Toronto Railway Company, for power to increase or decrease the number of the directors—now limited to five; to make regulations with reference to the transferences of shares; and to establish among their servants and employes and to get power to assist the same with the funds of the company, a system of benevolent and provident allowances.

Of the town of Lindsay for a special act to enable the town to acquire the waterworks, the firm having the contract having got into difficulties—By Dr. McKay.

Of the County Council of the United Counties of Lennox and Addington, praying that the fees payable to the county and Government officials be reduced—By Mr. McLean.

Of the newspaper publishers of Brantford for amendment of the Libel Act—By Hon. Mr. Hardy.

Of the County Council of Wellington, for power to appoint or elect all officials paid by the people by salary or by fees—By Mr. Guthrie.

Of the County Council of Welland, for triennial assessments, subject to annual revision—By Mr. McLeary.

Of the County Council of Norfolk County, for the appointment of the officials whose salaries they paid—By Mr. Charlton.

Of the village council of London West, for authorization of an issue of debentures—By Mr. Tooley.

Of the County Council of Norfolk County praying that the maximum of first-class railway passenger rates be fixed at two cents and of second-class passengers at 1½ cents per mile—By Mr. Charlton.

Petitions in favor of the single tax were presented from the municipal councils of West Luther (by Mr. Kirkwood), of Oliver (by Mr. Conmee), of Collingwood (by Mr. Wylie), of Ailsa Craig (by Mr. Waters), and of Tilbury North and Malden (by Mr. Balfour). Also by the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, local Union No. 28, with the same object in view (by Mr. Tait). These petitions all set forth that such legislation had been enacted in British Columbia, Manitoba, Alberta, New Zealand, Queensland, New South Wales and South Australia, and declared that taxing land values would enable municipalities to encourage the beneficial use of capital and the employment of labor for the enrichment of the country, while discouraging the misuse of capital for the purposes of speculation and monopoly.

Hon. Mr. Gibson brought down a large number of returns. They included:

Showing as to what offices or services orders-in-council had been passed relating to fees, the dates of the orders-in-council, and the amount of the commutation allowance, with a schedule or table giving the amount paid to each official in each year since the order in council was passed and the amount received by the province in each year from the fees of his office.

Showing the number and names of the places visited in the different electoral constituencies by the traveling dairy. The total expenditure under this head in 1891 was $1311; total of salaries in 1892, $3031, and total expenditure for same year $7586.

Showing by townships the amount remaining unpaid on Dec. 31 last on lands sold and of Crown, Common school, Grammar school and railway lands, and the aggregate amount due in respect of each class of land distinctively and the amount due for principal and interest respectively; Crown lands, principal $143,646 and interest $185,583; Common school lands, principal $112,842 and interest $223,407; Grammar school lands, principal $25,072 and interest $40,515; clergy lands, principal $40,719 and interest $65,489, and railway lands, principal $66.66, no interest.

Total principal, $322,346.78, and total interest, $514,996.03, making in all $837,342.81.

Sir Oliver Mowat moved that a special committee of twelve members be appointed to prepare and report with all convenient speed lists of members to compose the select standing committees ordered by the House: Messrs. Gibson (Hamilton), Hardy, Dryden, Awrey, Baxter, E. F. Clarke, Clancy, Gibson (Hastings), Meredith, Monck, McMahon and Wood (Hastings.) Carried.

Sir Oliver Mowat moved that a select committee of ten members be appointed to act with Mr. Speaker in the control and management of the library, to be composed as follows: The Attorney-General, Harcourt, Ross, Clancy, Guthrie, Gibson (Huron), Meredith, O'Connor, Preston and Wood (Hastings). Carried.

Sir Oliver Mowat brought down a message from the Lieutenant-Governor respecting a vote of $500,000 for public purposes and it was passed through committee.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt announced that he hoped to place the public accounts in the hands of members in a few days.

On motion of Sir Oliver Mowat the House adjourned at 3.30 o'clock until Monday.

Lobengula's Death Confirmed.

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 15.—A special from Buluwayo confirms the report that Lobengula, King of the Matabeles, died in the bush, presumably from the effects of gout, to which he was subject, while fleeing from the British forces.

WELSH NATIONAL UNIVERSITY.

Resolution of the Chicago Eisteddfod Presented to Gladstone.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—William Abraham, Liberal, who represents the Rhondda division of Glamorganshire in the House of Commons, accompanied by several other Welsh members of the House, waited this evening upon Mr. Gladstone and the Right Hon. A. H. Dyke-Ackland, vice-president of the Committee of Council on Education, and presented to them copies of the resolution adopted by the Chicago Eisteddfod in September last in favor of establishing a Welsh National University.

Mr. Gladstane, who is one of the Lords of the Committee of Councils on Education, said he was in sympathy with the aspirations of the Welsh people. Mr. Eyke-Ackland made a similar declaration.

BROOMS! BROOMS!!

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

Testimonial from the wife of John Creigh J. P.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

TORN BY AN EXPLOSION.

A Young Lad Loses His Life by the Bursting of a Japan Oven.

HIS BODY FRIGHTFULLY MANGLED.

The Force of the Explosion Blows Out the Roof and a Portion of the Walls of the Factory—An Accident of a Like Nature Occurred at the Same Place Some Years Ago.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 19.—A terrible accident occurred at the McKinnon's hardware factory on Saturday morning from which Thomas Feeney, a lad of about 17 years of age, was so badly injured that he died a few hours afterwards.

The unfortunate lad was minding the japan oven and, without any warning, it exploded. The oven requires to be watched closely or the gas will generate quickly and explode, as was the case several years ago when a young man named Copeland lost his life by the same means. The building in which was the japan oven is only lightly constructed and the force of the explosion was so great that the room was almost completely wrecked. The roof and a portion of the walls, which are only the thickness of a brick, were blown out.

Young Feeney was badly mangled by the explosion. His side was torn open and his liver was disrupted. He was taken to his home, where he died soon after.

The deceased was a son of Mr. Thomas Feeney, of Vine street. He was a quiet young man, and his sad end causes a deep regret in the city.

DECLINE IN COTTON.

The Hochelaga Mills Close Down Owing to the Increased Demand for White.

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—Owing to the absence of orders for grey cottons the Hochelaga mills in the city have closed down, throwing a large number of hands out of employment. The reason for the remarkable falling off in the demand for grey cotton is because the farming community, which used to buy it exclusively, is now using white cotton instead, and hence the increased demand for the latter and the comparative neglect of the former. The consequence is that while there is not sufficient call for grey goods to keep the Hochelaga factory going the mills are running on white goods are very busy. The mills turning out colored cottons are also very slack just now, but this is partly accounted for by the inability of Canadian manufacturers to produce the variety of patterns required by the trade and in consequence the English manufacturers have to be relied upon in order to finish them.

INCENDIARISM IN GEORGETOWN.

Dan Campbell's Brother-in-Law Again Suffers Loss by Fire.

GEORGETOWN, Ont., Feb. 19.—A dwelling house owned by N. Brown, of Glenwilliams, was discovered to be on fire on Saturday morning. Citizens turned out promptly, but the flames had made such headway that the building was doomed and they turned their efforts to saving the large hotel close beside it. They succeeded in saving the hotel. N. Brown is brother-in-law of the deceased Dan Campbell. Brown took an active part in assisting the Crown in trying to run down Campbell's assailants. This is the second dwelling house that has been burnt on Brown's place since the Campbell investigation began. Both fires have evidently been the work of an incendiary.

It Was a Mad Scramble.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—There was a tremendous rush for tickets for the Irving-Terry performances here on Saturday. Nothing like it has ever been seen in this city. Several men took up their positions at Nordheimer's door before eleven o'clock on Friday night and stood until the door was opened at nine o'clock Saturday morning. One party paid two of his employes $10 each to stay out all night and wait the opening of the sale. About fifty people were admitted to the store, where they remained crammed for two hours. In the crush one man threw up his arms and cried "I'm smothered." He was with great difficulty carried out to the fresh air, and after coming to was sent home in a sleigh. Three others fainted before the sale opened. The floor was strewn with collars and ties and cuffs while some coat-sleeves, which had become detached, were also visible on the floor.

Valuable Horses Burned.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—The stables of Robt. Stewart, situated about four miles from Ottawa on the Aylmer road, were totally destroyed by fire yesterday. Mr. Stewart lives about half a mill from the stables, and after visiting the horses about 7 o'clock he found everything all right. He returned home driving with his fine horse Ansonia. Shortly afterwards the stables were in flames and all the horses were burned. Mr. Stewart puts his loss at $30,000. There was no insurance on the horses and only $1,500 on the barns. The trotting horses lost are: Ansonia, Redmond (which Stewart recently refused $5,000 for), Edmond, Crimonia, Remona, Ansonilla, Lucy Onian and two 2-year-olds by Ansonia Factory Girl, the property of Fred. Moore and Wm. Moore, was also lost in the fire.

Drowned in Two Feet of Water.

BRIGDEN, Ont., Feb. 19.—A sad accident occurred on Saturday night a short distance south of this village. Mr. James Campbell, recently employed at Mr. John A. Doty's lumber mill at Bradshaw, while returning home from this place with a horse and sleigh, was capsized into a ditch containing about two feet of water and was drowned. When found his face and only part of his body was in the water. It is supposed he was stunned by the fall. Mr. Campbell was a single man, about 38 years of age.

Crushed by an Elevator.

HAMILTON, Feb. 19.—A boy named John Harper, employed in the Hamilton cotton mills, was looking down the elevator shaft on Saturday when the elevator came up and caught his head, jamming it between the ceiling and elevator bar with such force that the elevator was stopped. His face and head are fearfully cut and bruised, but he will likely recover.

She Gets Her Kenneth.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 19.—Kenneth Vine, the young St. Catharines swain who eloped with Berta Baird, alias Madame Dunn, the clairvoyant, and married here here last week, returned to his wife on Saturday at Niagara Falls, N. Y. He intends going into the insurance business there.

Roller Mills Destroyed by Fire.

DUNNVILLE, Feb. 19.—The Byng roller mills, owned by Alvin T. Drake, were burned on Saturday night. Cause of fire is unknown. Everything was lost. Loss $12,000; insurance $1,300.

GERMAN COMMERCIAL TREATY.

Every Indication that it Will Pass the Reichstag—Agrarians Rally.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—The Agrarians rallied their thousands in Berlin on Saturday to make their final protest against the Russo-German commercial treaty. The demonstration was successful from the party point of view as the assemblages were enormous and enthusiastic. Nevertheless the expectations of defeat were apparent in the speeches. The Agrarians as well as the public at large do not longer doubt that the treaty will be ratified by the Reichstag. Even the ultra-Conservatives realize that their opposition will be in vain. The one question now is, "Who will make up the government majority?"

The Bundesrath or federal council debated the commercial treaty and practically gave its unanimous approval of the measure. The treaty will be placed before the Reichstag to-day and the debate upon it will begin on Thursday.

Baron Von Thurgen, a Bavarian Agrarian, recently published in the Wurzburg Landeszeitung an attack on the Chancellor. He was summoned to answer for his article in a Berlin court, but he declined to respond, denying that the Prussian courts had jurisdiction. He claims that if he is to be tried he should be tried at Wurzburg by a Bavarian jury. The entire Bavarian press supports the baron in the steps he has taken.

Patent Fenders for Trolleys.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—S. A. Darrach, a New York inventor, has been turning his attention to the subject of fenders for cable and trolley cars and working in a different line from other experiments. He has constructed a 35-pound fender which will pick up and carry a 200-pound man. It is a duplex fender, the front part of which consists of a couch of steel springs to catch a person who is struck and knocked down. This extends ahead of the car and rides nearly six inches from the ground. Should anybody pass under it, the wheels glide over the obstruction and automatically drop a light scoop behind them under the platform, which picks up the victim and protects him from the car wheels. Mr. Darrach's faith in the device is so great that he stood in front of a car to which it had been attached and was repeatedly picked up by it. One of his workmen submitted to the same test and was unhurt.

The Secret Comes Out.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Feb. 19.—Several days ago workmen while tearing an old log house down on the Hite farm, south of this city, discovered the skeleton of a man under the floor. An empty pocket-book was found near it. This showed the skeleton to be that of John McCallister, who lived in that neighborhood ten years ago. McCallister left for Texas with a large amount of money to buy land and was never heard of again. His wife and two children still live in Rock Creek township, this county. The old house under which the bones were found was inhabited at that time by a disreputable family, and it is supposed they murdered McCallister for his money.

Old Relics Unearthed.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 19.—A discovery of great scientific interest has been made in excavations being carried on in the district of Flaxiaco, State of Oajaca. A number of small images, formed in metal, were uncovered by the workmen in one of the oldest ruins a few days ago. The images represent people of Oriental appearance and dress as well as priests in their robes of sacrifice. They bear hieroglyphics of unknown characters, and are elaborately wrought with fine art lines shown in every curve. The images found thus far are of gold, either wholly or in part, and are coated with some unknown enamel which has preserved them from all harm in the many years they have been buried in the soil.

The Entombed Miners.

WILKESBARRE, Feb. 19.—The news comes from Plymouth at 11.30 o'clock last night that the rescuing party are making great headway and expect to find the entombed men or their bodies before noon to-morrow. Blankets have been sent to the shaft and every precaution is being taken for the rescue of the dead or living. It was reported late last night that the rescuers have reached a place in the shaft 350 feet from the roof of the plane and they find the cross-headings almost clear. Five brave miners at once went into this portion and are now making a thorough search for the men. Superintendent Rosser is of the opinion that they will find the men very soon.

Would Have Destroyed a Theatre.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The Echo de Paris says it has received information that Emile Henry, who on Monday night last threw a bomb in the cafe of the Hotel Terminus, had planned to cause an explosion in the Comedie Francaise. He intended to throw a bomb in the theatre last Monday, when a large crowd was in attendance watching the play, "Les Cabotins" ("The strolling Players"). Henry found it impossible to secure a seat and, taking an omnibus at the theatre, proceeded to the Hotel Terminus, where he threw the bomb intended for the theatre.

A Canal Project.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—A great canal project which if successful will entirely revolutionize the traffic of the great lakes is said to be in contemplation by a number of capitalists in Chicago, New York, Boston and London. The plan is to construct a canal directly across the State of Michigan from the eastern shore of Lake Michigan to either Detroit or Toledo.

Found Dead in His Office.

WIARTON, Ont., Feb 19.—James O'Brien, foreman for J. McCarthy, went into his office on Friday night at about 10 o'clock to do some writing and was found dead next morning sitting on some stovewood in one corner of the room. He had not lit the lamp. Dr. Fisher will hold an inquest. O'Brien leaves a wife and four small children.

Counterfeiters Arrested.

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 19.—United States secret service officers arrested four men on Saturday on the charge of making and passing counterfeit coins. The city has of late been flooded with counterfeit dollars, nickels, etc.

Italian Democratic Congress.

ROME, Feb. 19.—The Democratic Congress began its sittings here yesterday. They will perfect an organization "in the defence of liberty," which they say is threatened by the policy of despotism recently inaugurated by the government.

Seven Were Drowned.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The British steamers Clytha and Cadoxton collided in the British channel and the Clytha was so badly damaged that she sank almost immediately. Seven of her crew were drowned.

To End the Siege in Sicily.

ROME, Feb. 19.—It is reported that Gen. Morra di Lawriano, military governor of Sicily, since the agrarian outbreak has advised the government to end the state of siege in Sicily and Massa.

GOES BACK ON GLADSTONE.

Baron Burton, Formerly Brewer Bass, Joins the Liberal Unionists.

THE GOVERNMENT'S SILVER POLICY

Does Not Find Favor Among the High Financial Authorities of London—The Notorious London Anarchist, Samuels, Thinks the Explosion at Greenwich the Opening of an Anarchist Campaign.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Mr. Gladstone gave a dinner on Saturday to his colleagues to arrange with them the business of the coming session, which will begin on March 1.

The government's adhesion to its silver policy for India lacks the approval of high financial authorities in the city. It is predicted that the closing of the mints to silver and trying to control exchange must be dropped within the next three months.

The Standard says Baron Burton has formally joined the Liberal-Unionist party. Lord Burton before his elevation to the peerage in 1886 was Mr. Bass, the big brewer.

The Queen has ordered the court officials to adopt strict precautions to prevent the sale of instructions at court by women of title. Presentations at court have so long been matters of barter that the whole practice has become a public scandal. All presentations for which the chaperones receive money will be cancelled publicly if the court officials ascertain the facts. Hereafter but 200 presentations will be allowed at a drawing room.

The Queen will hold a council at Windsor next Saturday to approve formally the speech from the throne.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—A meeting was held in Trafalgar square yesterday to demonstrate the popular opposition to the House of Lords. As the weather was bitterly cold the crowd was not notably large or enthusiastic. The meeting adopted a resolution that in view of its repeated obstruction of legislation, the House of Lords was mischievous and useless and ought to be abolished forthwith.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Chronicle on Saturday said: "Lord Salisbury's passionate pilgrimage for landlordism is ended. In the course of it he ruined his character as a statesman and struck a blow at hereditary legislation from which it ought never to recover. The House of Lords has never within the last twenty years so completely exposed its real character, its venality, ignorance, incompetence and meanness. It is quite time that we should come to grips with the foe, so weak and insolent."

ANARCHISTS IN LONDON.

Bourdin's Brother-in-Law Interviewed Concerning the Explosion.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Samuels, the most blood-thirsty of London anarchists, was interviewed yesterday concerning the explosion near the Greenwich Observatory. He acknowledged the truth of the report that Martial Bourdin, the anarchist killed by the explosion, was his brother-in law, and had much to say in his favor. The explosion at Greenwich, he believed, was only the beginning of an anarchist campaign which had been carefully planned, and would be executed dispite all precautions of the police. The suspicion that London anarchists made bombs for use in France and Spain, he said, was an old and probably correct one. He himself did not doubt that bombs and infernal machines had been manufactured here for some time for the benefit of camrades across the channel.

Hard on H. M. Stanley

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Lieut. Theodore Westmark, an African traveller who spent six years on the Dark Continent, is in this city. In an interview he was very severe on Henry M. Stanley and said: "I can assure you from the best information that he will never again be sent into Africa by King Leopold. The work is going on and will go on under the King's direction, but Mr. Stanley will have to look to other sources for his supplies if he heads another expedition. I do not know his plans, or whether he cares to return again. He has made a great deal of money, and is said to be worth 5,000,000 francs. While I say that he is cold-blooded, cruel and insolent, I do not intend to detract from the results of his work.'

Preserved Meats for the French Army.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Several deputies urged the Chamber recently to pass a law that all the preserved meat used in the army be prepared in France under government control. The army committee, to whom their proposal was referred, has reported on it adversely. The report says that the preserve factories in France are too few to supply the army's demand and closes with the recommendation that the government take steps to develop the industry.

The Pope Celebrates Mass.

ROME, Feb. 19.—More than 100,000 persons gathered at St. Peter's yesterday morning to see the pope celebrate the last mass of the Jubilee year. During the mass the pope wore the mitre given him by the German Emperor, and afterward the tiara presented to him by Emperor Franz Josef of Austria-Hungary. He looked exceptionally well and his voice was clear and strong.

Rescued from the Ice Floe.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—The 500 persons who were carried off by an ice floe from the Ingermannland seashore last week were rescued on Saturday after 45 hours of uninterrupted effort. One part of the floe had drifted but a short distance.

France's Grain Tariff Bill.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The Chamber of Deputies passed the grain tariff bill through its first reading. This is the measure which proposed to place an import duty of seven francs per quintal on foreign wheat.

Wealthy Hebrew Dead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Gilbert S. Rosenbaum, probably the wealthiest Hebrew in America, died here on Saturday. He was 60 years of age. Mr. Rosenbaum was one of the largest tobacco importers in New York, and his wealth is estimated at $30,000,000.

Three Thousand Miners Out of Work.

MASSILON, Ohio, Feb. 19.—On Saturday every mine in the Massilon district shut down to remain closed, so the operators have formally declared, until the 3,000 miners dependent upon them for employment concede to the terms demanded.

Indians Threaten Trouble.

EL RENO, O.K., Feb. 19.—The Kiowas and Comanche Indians have assumed a warlike attitude and threaten to drive the cattlemen and stock from their reservation because they have received no grass lease payments since October.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 19, 1894.

Canadian securities are irregular.

Flour is unchanged. Choice straight rollers quoted at $2.65 to $2.70, and ordinary at $2.60 Toronto freight.

Business is quiet throughout the Dominion, although Toronto reports dry goods merchants expecting an improvement soon. Expected Canadian tariff changes next month incline to depress trade.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Grain receipts are moderate. Wheat steady, 200 bushels selling at 63½c for white, 61c for red and 58c for goose. Barley unchanged, with sales of 400 bushels at 44c to 45c. Oats dull, 300 bushels at 38c to 38½, and one load of black eye peas at 62c

Discount rates in London last week were 1¼ for three months and 1⅛ for thirty days. Gold still flowed in despite the lowness of the rates. Silver did not recover as America was offering and the east made little demand for it. Business on the Stock Exchange was maintained fairly and speculators were hopeful.

Earnings of St. Paul in New York for the second week of February decreased $11,700. Davis sold 1,500 St. Paul and Dominick a like amount. Clews sold 2,000 Erie and London bought. Wheeler bought 1,000 Distillers, and Brown and Gwynne sold. Orders to sell sugar came via Chicago. It is announced from Washington that no decision had yet been reached on the sugar schedules. It is said that in assessing R. T. $10 it is intended to give 25 per cent. in new bonds and 25 per cent. in new preferred stock. The Mills building people are giving out points to buy St. Paul.

Ice Harvesters Strike.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Feb. 19.—Nearly 200 ice cutters and ice harvesters struck at Verplanck's Point on Saturday. The men had been engaged to fill the ice house of the Knickerbocker Ice Co., located on the shores of Lake Mekehgh. Their wages were reduced from $1.75 and $1.50 per day to $1.25 and $1.20. The company will probably have a force of men at work to-day, and it is feared that there will be a conflict between the new men and the strikers.

From Toledo to Montreal.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 19.—G. F. Jacques, of Montreal, and A. B. Mackey, of Hamilton, Ont., are in this city with a view to the establishment of a steamship line between Toledo and Montreal. They have decided to put on the steamers Acadia and Melbourne and will make connections at the Canadian port with ocean steamers for Liverpool and other ports. The boats named are the largest that can pass through the St. Lawrence canal.

Trial of the Mansfield Rioters.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 19.—The jury in the case of the Mansfield Valley rioters returned a verdict on Saturday. Twenty-one of the fifty prisoners were acquitted, thirty-two were found guilty, two had entered pleas of guilty and three were acquitted by order of the court. They will be sentenced next Tuesday.

WILL THEY BE FREED?

Connolly and McGreevy Soon to be Released, it is Said, as Justice is Satisfied.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—It is learned on good authority that before next week is over N. K. Connolly and Thomas McGreevy will be free men. The petitions asking for their release will be considered by the Cabinet this week, and it is said that the Minister of Justice has prepared or is preparing a report which will recommend a pardon on the grounds that the prisoners have already suffered sufficiently to satisfy the ends of justice.

The snow on the north side of the Ottawa river is reported to be from four to five feet deep this season. The effect of this is that the output of logs will this season be materially reduced. In some places the making of logs has been altogether stopped. There is expected to be a reduction of from 15 to 20 per cent. in the output in consequence of this deep snow

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered And How He Was Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. C. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

How to Get a "Sunlight" Pictures.

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The Grits are jubilating over the result of the election to the Legislature in South Lanark. The fact appears to be that the Grit Patrons voted for the Grit candidate, in accordance with Mr. N. Vermilyea's delaration that "a Grit is a Grit, Patron or no Patron."

The county of Wellington House of Industry last year provided for an average of 67 inmates, at a cost of $1.28 each per week, including all expenses. In the Welland House of Industry, for an average of 40 inmates, it cost $1.27 per week. The farm connected with the latter institution is in a high state of cultivation, the surplus products during eleven months having sold for $686. Herein is some useful information for the municipal men of this county.

Sir Oliver Mowat has appointed commissions now on almost everything except nepotism, shrewdly remarks the Mail.

One of the subjects which has frequently engaged the attention of the Legislature, is the demand for a reduction of the number of county councillors. To throw light upon this subject, a return was ordered last session of the number of county legislators, and the indemnity they receive. It was brought down Friday, and shows that in 1887 there were 1,003 Reeves in County Councils. while in 1893 they numbered 1,149. The indemnity they drew in the former year was $54,235, and in the latter, $55,456. This was at the rate of 1.88 mills in the dollar of the assessed value of the various counties, which in 1887 was $591,816,006, and in 1893 was $601,457,158.

According to the report on tavern and shop licenses in Ontario, just issued, the number issued in 1893 was 4,313—a decrease of 51 as compared with the preceding year. The decrease is chiefly in the shop licenses, while the wholesalers have increased by four. The total revenue derived was $664 169, as compared with $665,609 for the preceding year. Of this the municipalities received $289,996. Drunkenness, which has been gradually on the decrease, shows also this year a falling off of 74 cases. The figures for 1893 were 2,652, and when it is remembered that in 1877 the commitments numbered 4,032, the improvement is fully apparent.

The advice given to the farmers by the William Davies Company, of Toronto, the well-known packers, is both timely and true, says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. It is advice which has often been given them before, but which has not been universally followed by our breeders. Fat pork is no longer wanted, except, perhaps, in the lumber woods—and it is not for the lumber woods that Canadian farmers raise hogs. The Ontario packing houses want only one class of hogs, such as Mr. Davies describes. When this is the case, it is folly for our farmers to go on raising what is not wanted, or feeding the right style of hogs untill they are excessively fat. Our cheese-makers succeed by producing exactly the quality of goods demanded in the British market; and our butter makers have been learning by bitter experience that there is no profit in producing anything which is not in quality and flavor what the public asks for. It is the same with the pork raisers. They can make money out of hogs if they raise the kind of animals that are wanted. It is just as easy to raise these as a class which the pork packers will not buy, and which the British market does not want. In a word, if our farmers are to make money out of pork they must both breed and feed for the markets of the present day.

ALL THREE CURED.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys are such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY IN BRIDGE ST. CHURCH.

A Large and Prosperous School—St. Andrew's Pastor Continues His Special Subject—Notes From Other Pulpits.

Yesterday was the seventy first anniversary of Bridge St. Sunday School, and Rev. W. J. Crothers, M.A., of Port Hope, preached an appropriate sermon in the morning from Proverbs, VIII—17—"I love them that love me; and those that seek me early shall find me." In his introductory remarks the preacher said it always gave him pleasure to speak to Sunday Schools. This was an important anniversary. When seventy-one years pass away we generally look for decay, but in the present instance we see more vitality in the school than ever before. The solution of the great christian problems was the gathering in of the children while they were young. The book from which this was taken was the greatest book in the bible, because it was written by Solomon, the wisest of men. The most important work of this text was "seek." We have several illustrations of this word in the bible, and the speaker instanced the parable of the shepherd who had lost one of his hundred sheep and sought until he found it. In a sermon, he said, it was customary to divide it into parts and he would divide his into four parts. The principal word in the first division was "whom." Whom should we seek? We should seek Christ. The wisdom of the school was all right, but the wisdom of Christ was of far greater importance. Jesus Christ does not bring young children to life as he did of old, but takes them home to himself. Christ was ready to speak to and bless every child. It was a great honor to serve our Queen, but it was a much greater honor to serve Christ. The next word he would call their attention to was the word "Why." It was a most important word. Why should the children seek Christ? To act aright, and guard against such sins as violent temper, Sabbath breaking, using bad words, and cigarette smoking; and another strong reason was, because if the heart was not right, there could be no happiness. Religion was not for old people alone. The next word he would call their attention to was "How." How are we to seek Christ? The best way to seek Christ is by prayer. Prayer was very simple; it was solely talking to the Lord. We not only need to pray, but also to have faith. A great many people thought the promises of Christ were too good to be true; we should also work for the cause of Christ. "When" was the last word he called their attention to. When should we seek Christ? The children should begin at the earliest possible moment of their lives. Mr. Baker had said that the object of the church was to have an ideal Sunday School, and he asked the co operation of the congregation.

Six hundred and seventy voices with cornet and organ accompaniment singing "All People that on Earth do Dwell" to the never-wear-out tune "Old Hundred" was the song of praise with which the Sunday school was opened in the afternoon at 2:30. In addition to the choir, on the platform were a number of elderly people; these were introduced to and welcomed by the school as the representatives of the first generation of scholars. They were Mr. Francis Wallbridge, Mr. Hector Howell and Mr. John Ross, who entered the school as scholars 65 years ago and Mrs Jas. Nosworthy 55 years ago. Mr. E. Miles and Wm. Brenton represented the teachers of a quarter of a century ago. Mr. Wm. Reeves, the ex-superintendents. The school has had eleven superintendents in its life of 71 years; four of these are dead, Messrs. Asa Yeomans, Dr. Kellog, Mr. John Booth, and Mr. John Elmer, the six ex-superintendents alive are the Hon. Senator Flint, Mr. M. Sawyer, Mr. R. Richardson, Mr. Wm. Reeves, Mr. G. G. German (now of Strathroy) and Mr. James Ross (now of Picton). Two gentlemen have superintended the school for 55 years, the Hon. Mr. Flint 35 years and Mr. Wm. Johnson for 20 years. Mr. J. J. B. Flint read a letter from the Hon. B. Flint regretting his inability to be present, and expressing his attachment to and prayers for the school. The Rev. W. J. Crothers met with a kind reception as he was introduced and he then delivered a short, pithy, cheery address. A number of songs were sang with splendid affect, and special prayers were offered for former superintendents, teachers and scholars, for the sick ones, and thanks returned to God for His many blessings to the school.

The statistical report of the school on the 1st of February was:

| | |
|---|---|
| Officers and Teachers | 48 |
| Scholars in Primary Division | 130 |
| Scholars in Intermediate Division | 262 |
| Scholars in Senior Division | 397 |
| Total Scholars | 789 |
| | 789 |
| Total School | 837 |

This is the largest enrolment the school has had and the attendance yesterday was beyond any previous Sunday by over fifty.

The evening congregation was a test of the hold on not only Bridge St. church goers, but our citizens of other denominations. The Rev. Mr. Crothers was again the preacher. His style can truly be described as eloquent, as his diction is graceful and copious and he possesses the magnetism of the orator. He chose for his text Mark XIV: 8—"She hath done what she could." The church choir of 25 voices contributed excellent music at both public services.

The Rev. J. L. George preached at both services in John St. Church yesterday. He took for his subject in the morning "The Great Supper," from which he preached an impressive sermon. The evening subject was "The preaching of another gospel accursed." The choir rendered a beautiful anthem in good time at the evening service.

Rev. Canon Burke conducted the regular Sunday service at the hospital yesterday afternoon.

In the absence of Rev. D. O. Crossley, the pulpit of the Tabernacle was occupied yesterday by Messrs. Thompson and Neal, of Albert College.

St. Andrew's church—Proverbs XII:15, "The way of a fool is right in his own eyes" was the morning text of Rev. M. W. Maclean, minister of St. Andrew's, who convented on the prevalent unwillingness of the young (and sometimes the old) to hearken unto counsel. It seemed to him a hideous thing for people to do church work as though they were conferring a favor on the Almighty Creator instead of esteeming it their greatest privilege. "The Radiant Morn" was sung by the choir under Mrs. York. The evening lecture upon the creation—the third of the series upon the higher criticism—was most interesting, instructive and establishing in the faith and attended by a large congregation. The course will be continued next Sunday evening.

In Holloway St. Methodist church yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. Mr. McCamus, preached a strong sermon from the subject "The Church at Ephesus." Rev. Prof. Dox ee occupied the pulpit at the evening service.

Rev. E. N. Baker conducted a Missionary service at Shannonville yesterday afternoon.

Rev. D. F. Bogert preached at both services in St. John's church yesterday. His subject in the morning was "Temptation of the Flesh," and in the evening "Gift of the Holy Spirit to Individuals." Next Sunday evening missionary services will be held in this church.

At Christ Church yesterday Rev. Mr. Daw preached two able sermons. The morning subject was "Mission Fund of the the Diocese." The text of the evening sermon was from James I: 12—"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation." Large congregations were present at both services.

Yesterday Rev. R. Marshall, of the Baptist church, preached two excellent sermons. In the morning he spoke from Romans VIII: 17, "And if children, then heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ." The text in the evening was Proverbs XV:38, "Hell and destruction are before the Lord, and how much more the hearts of the children of men." Next Tuesday evening Rev. Mr. McEwen, of Toronto, Superintendent of the Baptist Home Missionary Society, will speak in the interest of home missions. Everybody welcome.

THE CALIFORNIA OPERA COMPANY.

This organization closed a successful season here on Saturday and left by the night express for Kingston. At the matinee they gave "Said Pasha" and in the evening they presented "Girofle Girofla," both of which performances were excellent and were witnessed by good audiences.

A FIRST CLASS PLAY.

The Sawtelle Dramatic Company opened a week's engagement at the Opera House last night before a good audience. The play last night was the Golden Giant Mine and it was a good one, being heartily applauded by the audience. Singing was also a feature and during the evening several of the latest songs were rendered. The company has been getting great praise from the press all over Canada and the United States and deserve all they get and more too. Too much cannot be said in their favor.—Peterborough Daily Times.

At the Traps.

The Ameliasburg Rod and Gun Club had their first match at the traps on the 14th inst. The targets were artificial, thrown from a single trap, regulation rise; use of both barrels allowed; first barrel to count 5 points and the second 3. Following was the score:

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Their Name is Legion,

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's" and no other.

SIX WOUNDED MEN HAVE SINCE DIED

Making a Total Loss From the Disaster of Forty-Six—The Explosion Was Caused by a Break in the Apparatus Used for Turning Off Steam—The Cause of the Break a Mystery.

KIEL, Feb. 19.—Capt. Bendemann, of the warship Bradenburg, has received this despatch from Emperor William:

"Accept my warmest sympathy and condolence for the loss of our heroes. We must keep a firm trust in God and submit to the working of his inscrutable will. Then we may find consolation and confidence I shall cause a tablet commemorating the dead to be placed in the garrison church in Kiel. For those that are left, full steam ahead."

The Reichanzeiger, in Berlin, says that the explosion followed the breaking of a fastening in the apparatus used to turn off the steam. Nobody knows what made the fastening break.

Six of the men who were injured by the explosion on the cruiser died on Saturday at the military hospital. This makes 46 deaths from the accident.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

Free Sugar With No Bounty Will be Reported by the Finance Committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The indications are that the sugar schedule of the Wilson bill with absolutely free sugar and no bounty will be reported by the Senate Finance Committee without change, but with the understanding that the question is to be fought out on the Senate floor, the committee standing in the attitude of making no recommendation on the subject. This course, it is understood, has been practically decided upon because of the absolute inability of the committee to make any recommendation on the question that would be satisfactory. Senators representing the sugar interests of the Southern States and the beet and sorghum interests of the Northwest reluctantly admit that they have no hope now of any favorable action in committee, but they still threaten a "Kilkenny cat" fight in the Senate.

Until the tariff bill can be reported Hawaiian letters will probable engross senatorial eloquence almost to the exclusion of other topics.

The Treasury Department is advised that the Circuit Court of Appeals has decided that holy wafers as used in the Catholic Church are entitled to free entry as wafers unmedicated.

A DESPERATE CHARACTER.

Harris, the Yankee Forger and Robber, Captured on the Canadian Side.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 19.—The United States postoffice forger and robber, Wm. H. Clark, alias Leroy Harris, who made the United States commissioner and clerk of Buffalo, with deputy marshal, deputy district attorney and postoffice inspector, hold up their hands on Saturday at the muzzle of a revolver while he backed out of the commissioner's room, locked the door on the outside and made good his escape, was cleverly captured here by Ald. D. Fenwick, of this town, and Detective Griffin, of the Ontario police.

It seems that after the man's escape a description of him was wired all over the country. Ald. Fenwick, who runs a jewelry store with a restaurant in the rear, is also the manager of the C. P. R. Telegraph Company, over whose lines the telegram was received from Buffalo. The man presented himself at the restaurant on Saturday night to get something to eat. The alderman spotted him as the man wanted in Buffalo.

As soon as the man had eaten part of the oysters he got up and inquired when the next Grand Trunk train left for Hamilton and was told about 2 o'clock. He said this was not a very pleasant night to wait outside. Fenwick told him he could go over to the Grand Trunk waiting rooms, where he would find them very comfortable, and directed him there. As soon as the man left the place Fenwick, who is a county constable, placed two men to watch Harris in the waiting room and went for Detective Griffin.

Upon the arrival of the two men at the station Detective Griffin commanded Harris to stand up, that he was an officer of the law and wanted him. Harris stood up, and as he did so lowered his right arm to his overcoat pocket, when Griffin struck his arm upwards, and said, "Hold both hands above your head, sir, or I will shoot." The man obeyed, and Griffin ran his left hand into his right side overcoat pocket and pulled a long, glistening revolver, the one with which Harris held a room full of Yankee officers at bay until he made his escape.

While Griffin held his revolver in full cock, ready for action, Fenwick clapped the handcuffs on Harris and they marched their man to the lockup.

Chief of Police Chambers, of Buffalo, was communicated with and the man was escorted across the bridge by Detective Griffin and handed over to United States Marshal Watts and other officers, who took their man back to Buffalo yesterday.

An Absconder Traced.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—James C. Bain, the G. T. R. ticket agent who absconded recently with $1,100 in cash and $600 worth of tickets, the property of the G. T. R. Co., and who obtained $800 under false pretences from Mr. A. F. Webster, was arrested at San Juan, Porto Rico, Saturday, and will be extradited. Inspector Rogers, of the Attorney-General's office, who has been on the track of the fugitive ever since he left Toronto, left to-day with the necessary papers. Bain was traced to Washington, where he took a steamer to Florida. At Punta Gorda he took a steamer for Havana Cuba. The Attorney-General's Department cabled the British consul at Havana to locate Bain if he was on the island, but Bain had left the day previous by the Spanish royal mail steamer Alfonso XII. for Porto Rico, West Indies. It was evident that Bain was making his way to St. Thomas to take passage for South America. The authorities at San Juan were notified and upon his arrival Bain was arrested.

Prohibitionists at St. Catharines.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 19.—A prohibition convention was held here on Saturday when the following resolutions were passed: Expressing great satisfaction over the result of the recent plebiscite vote; appointing a member of the delegation to Ottawa to interview the Dominion Government asking for prohibition in the near future; opposing the proposed wine treaty with France and expressing approval that the Dominion Government has refused to ratify any such treaty to date; deciding to make all possible effort to secure the nomination and election to both Houses of only such men who are prominent prohibitionists. The committee on nominations submitted seven names as proper men to represent prohibitionists in the Local House. This committee is to interview the parties and report to the adjourned convention two weeks hence.

Burglary Near Petrolea.

PETROLEA, Ont., Feb. 19.—Yesterday morning a house owned by a farmer named Whitzel, in Plympton, was broken into by some one and about $35 stolen. Chief Jackson, of this town, arrested a man named Thompson on suspicion and when searched at the police station the stolen money was found on him, also a loaded revolver and a box of cartridges and a large knife, also a quantity of gold rings. Thompson says he belonged to York State. He is about 20 years old.

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Robert McCoy, Bailiff, of Napanee, died on Sunday of pneumonia after two days' illness.

The beautiful weather of yesterday and to-day gives a pleasant indication of the near approach of spring.

The whip reported lost by J. P. Thompson a few days since was recovered by Officer Stoneberg from a boy named Bird.

Albert Smith and Dennis Mandeville were arrested on Sunday morning for drunkenness. This morning they were remanded until to-morrow.

The mail per G.T.R. day east and offices on the Belleville and Madoc Railway, will close in future at 12.10 p.m., instead of 10.30 and 11.15 a.m., respectively.

Robt. Foy had a valuable dog shot in the Huffman House yard on Sunday. Some parties were practising with a small gun and took a shot at the dog. Mr. Foy promises to make it warm for them.

City Clerk Beasley, of Hamilton, has had printed and will send out to other cities and towns in the province 100 copies of a petition to the legislature, asking for the assessment of church lands.

Lester Simmons got too much liquor yesterday and started to drive up Front St. Through fast and careless driving the rig upset and Officer Cook nabbed the driver before he could get away. He will likely appear in court to-morrow.

There is no claim made for Ayer's Sarsaparilla which cannot be endorsed by scores of testimonials. This fact plainly proves that the blood is the source of most disorders and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best of blood purifiers. Try it this month.

Don't waste time, money, and health, trying every new medicine you may see advertised in the papers. If the cause of your trouble is in the blood, liver, stomach, or kidneys, take Ayer's Sarseparilla at once, and be sure of a cure. Take no other.

Consumptives, cheer up! You are not going to die, if you will but take Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis, and the first stage of consumption. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at druggists.

The international convention of the societies of Christian Endeavor will meet this year at Cleveland, Ohio. The date is now fixed, and the convention is summoned from July 11th to July 15th. Canon Richardson, of London, president of the Ontario Union, is doing all in his power to make the next international convention one of special interest to Canadians.

If you wish to allay that tickling cough or sensation in the throat, you should call at L. W. Yeomans & Co. and invest in some licorice pellets. The A.B.C. licorice pellets are of fine quality and will be found a convenient article for the pocket. Changes of temperature suddenly cause colds.—Use licorice pellets.

Mother's will find the Pain-Killer invaluable in the nursery, and it should always be kept near at hand in case of accident. For pain in the breast take a little Pain-Killer in sweetened milk and water, bathing the breasts in it clear at the same time. If the milk passages are clogged, from cold, or other causes, bathing in the Pain-Killer will give immediate relief. Ask for the New Bottle.

Dr. Wm. C. Finney, formerly of Cloyne, has been sent to the Kingston penitentiary from Toronto for twenty-five months, on a charge of false pretences. In addressing him, Judge Macdougall said he had made enquiries about him, and had come to the conclusion that it would be much better for his future life were he kept away from the temptation to drink for some time. The Doctor took his sentence quietly and seemed resigned.

Trade with Australia.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell's speech at the luncheon of the Manufacturers' Association was plain, lucid, sensible and patriotic. There was no straining after effect; it was a clear and comprehensive talk of a thoroughly business man, in which Mr. Bowell made no special claims to consideration for what he and the Government have done towards opening channels for the extension of Canadian trade.

Mr. Bowell sketched briefly his Australian journey and the results so far as they presented themselves to him. In 1891 Australia imported from Great Britain goods to the value of £33,000,000. The United States share of the trade in 1892 was, in imports, £8,492,306, of which more than a third was for wool, and in exports £11,246,474, showing that the United States is no small competitor with Great Britain for the trade of the colonies in the Pacific. Mr. Bowell furnished a list of forty-three lines of articles which the States supplied to Australia, comprising every branch of manufacture, and he pointed out that there was not an article upon the list which Canada could not furnish of as good, if not better, quality than that supplied by the States. He then drew attention to the steamship line which, with the assistance of the Government, had recently been established by Mr. Huddart between British Columbia and Australia, and predicted for the line a prosperous existence, always increasing in importance. By means of this line Canada is placed in a favored position to Australia, and through it has access to a market hitherto found too remote for profitable trading, but now within three weeks' journey.

The most important point of his address, to our mind, was this. Said Mr. Bowell: "You must not expect that any Government can be a purely paternal Government. The Government has established a steamship line by which you can reach foreign markets and you must do the rest yourselves." The extension of Canada's trade rests upon the diligence and enterprise of her merchants. The Government has opened up the way; it is for them to avail themselves of it. The Government has collected all information upon the subject; it is for the merchants and manufacturers to profit by it. China and Japan, the Sandwich Islands and Australia, and the lands touching on the Pacific are open to Canada's trade, and her traders will be at fault if they do not seize the opportunity to establish themselves. The Government has done all that can be expected of it. The field is open and fortune is there for whoever seeks it.

Canada is rich in everything these countries need, and he who, being in a position to do so, neglects to avail himself of the advantages presented is insensible to what is required of him as an enterprising and progressive citizen.—Empire.

BAY DISTRICT FAIR.

A Four Days Exhibition to be Held in September Next.

At a meeting of the Directors of the West Hastings Agricultural Society on Saturday, it was stated that arrangements had been made with the Trust and Loan Company for the use of the grounds and buildings for the holding of a four days' fair on the dates already arranged, namely September 18th to 21st inclusive. Mr. Jer. N. Hurley was appointed Manager and Secretary and Mr. John Johnston Treasurer. Other arrangements will be completed at a subsequent meeting.

PERISHED IN THE STORM.

A Young Man of Otonabee Township Found Frozen to Death.

Dan O'Leary, twenty years of age, went to Peterborough on Monday last with a load of wood and on his return home was caught in the blizzard that prevailed that afternoon and night. He evidently got off his sleigh to walk and it is thought the horses got away from him. He was found on Friday afternoon at the roadside between two large drifts—frozen stiff. He leaves a mother, four brothers and three sisters to mourn his loss. The horses have not been found and it is thought they have met the same fate.

Obituary.

George Henry Ford who, with his brothers, for several years carried on the paper mill on the Canifton Road, and some twelve years ago removed to Dundas, died on the 17th inst. at that town from Bright's disease. The deceased, who was well-known and respected here, was 48 years of age. He married a daughter of Mr. Henry Frost, Canifton Road, who, with one daughter, survives him. Funeral to morrow afternoon at 3:00 from Mr. Frost's residence.

The Masters and the Makers To-night.

Seldom are the citizens of Belleville offered such an opportunity of testifying to their appreciation of true culture and the higher education, as is offered by the entertainment entitled "Poets and Musicians" to be given in the hall of the Belleville Institute to-night by Mrs. York and sixteen talented associates.

HOG WEIGHING.

THE PUBLIC WEIGHER AT STIRLING CHARGED WITH USING AN UNJUST WEIGHING MACHINE.

He Admits, then Denies, his Culpability, Under a Misapprehension—The Scale was Wrong, but he Tried to Remedy It—An Interesting and Important Case.

On Saturday Mr. M. Kerby, hotel keeper and public weigher, Stirling, appeared before the Police Magistrate to answer to a charge by the Inspector of Weights and Measures for this division, of "having in his possession for use in trade a weighing machine which was false and unjust." Mr. W. Jeffers Diamond appeared for the crown and Messrs. E. Guss Porter and C. D. Macaulay for the defendant. The case occupied all day, and at 7 p. m. was adjourned until Thursday next for argument.

Mr. Stephen Garratt was the first witness. He served the defendant with summons, and defendant, after reading the charge, had signed a document, admitting his guilt. He did this to save costs, and to avoid publicity, as he wanted no one to know anything of it.

On cross-examination he admitted that he told the defendant "that if he was guilty the best thing he could do was to admit it," and he assisted Kerby in dictating the document produced in which he admitted his guilt.

Caleb Lloyd, farmer, Harold, being sworn, stated that he had known the defendant for five or six years. On the 12th of January he brought live and dead hogs to Stirling. He sold them to Mr. John Seeley, who, he understood, was buying for Mr. Ransom. The hogs were weighed on Kerby's scale by Kerby. He sold the live hogs at $4.85 a hundred. The scale was apparently all right and seemed to balance. After his brother's hogs were weighed he went to the scales to see if they balanced. He ran the pea out on the beam to see how much it would take to raise it, and it took 30 lbs. to balance. Kerby than came around and changed the balance ball of the scale so that it balanced correctly. He got his pay from Seeley and was paid according to Kerby's weight. He thought his hogs would be weighed on Black's scale. Had he supposed that they were to be weighed on Kerby's scale he would have weighed them at home. Before going home his brother and he tested the scale by first putting five pounds of nails on it, and they never budged it. His brother then got on the scale and he only weighed 100 lbs., although he generally weighs 160 lbs. His brother went into the hotel to ask Kerby what was the matter with the scale. Kerby came out and weighed his brother, holding the pea of the scale between his fingers until it came to 140 lbs. He then dropped the beam and fastened it down with the catch at its ends. I said, Kerby, that's not right, you can't fool me that way. Kerby said, I don't know what is the matter with the scale. I then got on on the scale and I only weighed 110 lbs., then went over to Mr. Meiklejohn's scale and by his I weighed 175 lbs. My brother's hogs, when weighed on Kerby's scale, only weighed 302 lbs., when put on Mr. Meiklejohn's scale they weighed 358 lbs. Seeley was there when I weighed the hogs on Meiklejohn's scale. Seeley refused to settle with him other than by Kerby's weights. They (Mr. Birds) were not satisfied. One of their loads that went 1100 lbs on Kerby's scale weighed over 1300 lbs on Meiklejohn's scale. Seeley settled with Mr. Bird by Mr. Meiklejohn's scale, but would not settle with me although I offered to pick out my hogs, which I could have done, and have them weighed on Meiklejohn's scale.

Cross examined by Mr. Porter.—His brother was paid by the weight of Meiklejohn's scale. Seeley would not now, and has not since paid me in that way, and refuses to do so. I stayed till dark to try and get a settlement. Kerby did try to get the scale to work right, but could not. Kerby cleaned it out all round, and poured boiling water on it.

Mr. L. Meiklejohn, hardware merchant, Stirling, was called to prove the correctness of the scale in his warehouse when the hogs were weighed.

Mr. George Bird, farmer, West Huntingdon, examined.—The hogs he brought to Stirling on the 12th of January weighed at home 1341. On Kerby's scales they were 200 lbs. less than that. Told Kerby his scale was wrong, and that he would not accept the result of his weighing by that scale. The pouring of the hot water on the scale did make some difference in it. Seeley paid him by the weighing on his own scale, which was within a pound the same as on Meiklejohn's scale.

Cross examined.—Kerby made every effort apparently to get the scales right. He didn't know of any object Kerby would have to put the scale wrong.

Jeremiah Bird, farmer, West Huntingdon, corroborated the evidence of his brother, the previous witness.

Mr. Johnson, Inspector of Weights and Measures, was called upon to give expert evidence. From his knowledge of scales and the evidence of the witnesses, he had concluded that the scale was partly frozen, and that it was unjust to the farmer to use a frozen scale, as the scale would work stiff and it would require a larger load than it should, to represent a given amount.

For the defence Mr. Kerby was called. On being sworn he stated that he was the owner of the scale; that it had been inspected in May last and again inspected by Mr. Slattery in November. He or his man examined the scale every day, cleaned it out all round and saw that there was no dirt around it. He kept it covered at night, and in every other way endeavored to have a correct, fair scale. When the Lloyds kicked on the 12th of January about the weight of their hogs, he went to examine the scale and found a stone stuck in between the platform and the sill. He had weighed other hogs on that day and no one complained. He believed that the gravel stone was the cause of the trouble. He had told Constable Garratt that he believed the scale was correct, yet rather than have any trouble he would admit the offence; but on second thought he decided it was foolish to admit the charge, as he was not conscious of having intentionally done anything wrong; so he came right down to Belleville the same day Garratt served him with the summons and withdrew the plea of guilty.

On cross-examination he denied having put water on the scale on the 12th of January. He also contradicted the evidence of the Lloyds and Birds in several particulars.

Wm. Watson, farmer near Stirling; Wm. Emmons, farmer, Rawdon; and Wm. Murray, farmer, Stirling, were called to prove that they had hogs weighed on Mr. Kerby's scales and that they were always satisfied with the result.

Wm. Seeley, hog buyer, Sidney, examined, stated that on the 12 of January he got to Kerby's scale at 11:30 in the morning. He was told Kerby's scale was wrong, and examined it. He told Kerby to get hot water to pour on the scale. Kerby did this twice anyway. He thought the scale was frozen. Got a crowbar and saw to pry the scale up and to make the platform work easy. He then found a stone between the platform and the sill of the scale. He believed that was where the trouble was. The stone was found between 2:30 and 3 o'clock. He paid by the result of the weighing of Mr. Meiklejohn's scale when he found Kerby's was wrong. He wouldn't pay Lloyd any more because he didn't think the scale was wrong when Lloyd's hogs were weighed on them. He thought that when Lloyd's live hogs were weighed a gravel stone had in some way got into the scale. Mr. Bird, of the Oak Hills, had weighed his hogs that day and they went within 4 lbs. of Bird's weight at home. It was no advantage to him to do otherwise than settle by correct weights, as he was paid a salary by Mr. Wm. Ransom.

On cross examination he stated that he believed the pouring of the hot water on the scale by Kerby froze the scale, as it was a cold day, but he did not believe it was frozen when the Lloyds' hogs were weighed on it.

----Clearing Out Sale----

The Stock amounts to $30.000, and there is no reserve as we are closing out the entire stock. Goods all sold for cash, and no goods will be sent out on approbation, but if the party, for whom the goods are bought, is not with the purchaser at the time the purchase is made, money will be refunded if they do not fit.

GOUGH, THE CLOTHIER.

Does It Pay?

Does it pay to buy worthless goods because they are cheap? Take tea for instance: You can buy it from 10cts. a pound up, but if you want value for your money and a good refreshing cup of tea, try a pound of Stroud's at 50c. or 60cts. per lb. They are the best and most economical—a good price, but as different as chalk is from cheese, compared with the cheaper grades. Try them, if you want an old-time luxury in the tea you drink.—STROUD'S, THE TEA DEALERS.

Ready in a Few Days.

At the Oak Hall we are making extensive improvements in our store. You will hardly know the place when you come in. In a few days, we will be in good shape. Our new goods are crowding in upon us, and such nice patterns! We will invite you you to inspect our complete new stock in a very short time.

ST. VITUS'S DANCE,

Spasms, Convulsions, Dizziness, Fainting Spells, Nervous Prostration and those nervous conditions brought on by functional disorders are permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a strengthening nervine and restorative tonic, prescribed by an eminent Physician for all those distressing "weaknesses" and irregularties common to women.

MISS MERKEL.

MRS. ADAM BERK, Albany, Berks Co., Pa., writes: "DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—My sister, Miss Cordelia Merkel, had St. Vitus's Dance. Her head and right arm moved or twitched constantly; she could not walk without being held under her arms. She tried four doctors, but without good. After fifteen months, having been given up as a hopeless invalid, I bought her Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; in two months she was well and strong."

PIERCE Guarantees a CURE.

TO THE LADIES.

Someone has said that "the nearest way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Now, while we do not in all cases accept the statement as true, we believe there have been instances where the truth of it has been verified. Doubtless scores of ladies who read this have epicurean husbands who come home to lunch and tea wearied and worried and occasionally it takes considerable to please them, and your minds are taxed to their utmost to know how to solve the problem. Let us assist you in your dilemma. Call in our store when down town and if you don't see just what you would like might we not suggest something dainty which could be made for you? Order it for tea, and when the "lord of the manor" puts in an appearance he will be so pleased it will be a question which will be the more so you or he.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT"

was issued.

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

BROOMS! BROOMS!!

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

MATCHES! MATCHES!! MATCHES!

Don't pay 12c. for the same, when you can buy the best in the city from us for 10c per box. Everyone a striker.

For the next two weeks we will give special value in our CELEBRATED TOWEL SOAP.

THE LOST MINE.

BY

GEORGE FREDERIC PARSONS.

It was fiercely hot on the Arizona desert. The air was quivering with the heat above the dull, sage colored brush and the dazzling alkali soil. No life was visible in any direction, when a weary traveller, standing dejectedly by his horse, which had fallen exhausted for want of water, carefully but hopelessly scanned the horizon, shading his eyes with his hand, and feeling them burn from the reflected furnace-heat that rose from the plain. Silence, the intolerable glare every where, and a monotony of sage-brush stretching mile upon mile to the feet of the mountains whose shadowy, bluish outlines rose spectrally in the dim distance: this was the whole prospect. The traveller, plainly a mining prospector, as the pick, shovel and black iron pan on his saddle indicated, muttered hoarsely to himself a moment; then stooped and detached from the fallen animal a water-keg, whose lightness showed that it was nearly empty. Searching it to see how much of the precious fluid might be left, the prospector poured grudgingly a half-pint of the lukewarm, muddy stuff into his tin pannikin and gave it to the fainting horse. The latter greedily and in an instant drank the scanty portion, but it was insufficient to revive the poor creature, which, after a futile attempt to rise, sank lower than before, dropped its heavy head on the scorching alkali soil, and, with some feeble gasps, gave up trying to live under difficulties.

Reuben Davitt was alone in the desert. He stood looking down upon the dead horse until a faint rustle in the sage-brush caught his ear, and to see an ugly lizard gliding away. At a little distance, something sprang and flashed through the air. He looked, and recognized a large tarantula, which was hunting its insect prey. Under the unbaked stones which lay strewn about he knew scorpions lurked, and he was aware that he could not have to search far to find a rattlesnake. No other life was present. The whole suffocating plain was abandoned to these venomous reptiles. Here and there whitened bones and skulls of horses and mules, with suspicious fragments of skeletons which suggested human remains but too strongly, were to be seen, but no sign of water or moisture in any form. There was little breeze, and what there was blew a withering heat, as from the mouth of the Pit.

The man poured out from his almost empty keg a few spoonsful of water, and sipped it slowly. Then he sat down upon the body of his horse and pondered, while the glare all around seemed to grow more blinding, and the heat that poured down fiercer, and the difficulty of breathing greater. The heat now penetrated his sombrero and seemed to be focused on the top of his head. His brain began to respond to this ordeal. He rose, not steadily, and with some trouble, for his hands felt awkward, removed the saddlebags. Out of them he emptied a quantity of ore specimens, and the greenest 'tenderfoot' would have perceived that this ore was exceedingly rich. The gold, in fact, so veined and filled the quartz that it was almost as heavy as solid metal. Clearly, the mine from which it was taken or the vein which it represented must be enormously rich.

Reuben Davitt, the owner of this useless wealth, all of which he could have gladly exchanged for a gallon of water and a fresh horse, had left his New Jersey home three years before the time of this story, after failing in an attempt to make a living out of a small country grocery store. Since his arrival he had drifted from Nevada to California, and thence to Arizona. The Apaches were troublesome in the latter Territory, but the mineral prospects were so fascinating that hundreds of bold adventurers faced the serious risk of death by torture and explored the mountains. Davitt has been of this number, and after various adventures, meanwhile making his expenses, he had stumbled upon the splendid deposit, specimens from which filled his saddle bags. He was on his way to Prescott, to organize a company and raise capital for working the new mine, when the death of his horse brought him face to face with the propect of a dreadful death in the desert. He sat now watching the specimens spread out before him and trying to think out some plan of escape for himself. But the heat was telling upon him. He could no longer control his thoughts.

Presently objects began to wear new and grotesque aspects. As he looked at a clump of sage-brush in his front the low shrubs suddenly grew and expanded until they became as large as forest-trees, and from their waving branches sounded the song of birds, while a soothing murmur, as of the ripple of cool water over gravelly or rocky shallows, made his parched throat drier and his swelling tongue more painful.

He turned to the keg. Alas! in his preoccupation he had forgotten to put the bung in after drinking and the vessel had rolled upon its side and discharged its last drops into the thirsty alkali dust. This meant speedy death, and put an end to all plans of rescue. But by this time the man was incapable of helping himself, had his keg been full and his horse alive. He could no longer see. A red mist obscured everything. He could no longer breathe freely. His tongue was swollen so as almost to fill his mouth; his lips had turned black and cracked open in many places; his feet and hands were swollen and stiff; his brain was in a delirium. A merciful oblivion fell upon the desert's prey, and before he sank into utter unconsciousness he thought himself cool and refreshed and surrounded by those he loved.

* * * * *

That same afternoon, a party of packers with a mule-train, having somehow wandered from the trail, found, as they supposed at first, the blackened corpse of a prospector who had clearly perished of heat and thirst. They would probably have passed on and left the body lying there, had it not been that beside it were strewn some of the richest ore specimens they had ever seen. Where did this ore come from? was the first question. Clearly, that was the secret of the dead prospector. Then arose the idea that he might not be quite dead after all, and upon this naturally followed the suggestion that, if he could be revived, he might share his great discovery with his rescuers. These considerations saved the life of Reuben Davitt. The packers, thoroughly familiar with such cases, took such skillful measures, that by the time they reached Prescott, he was able to sit up and eat and drink moderately. But it soon became apparent that all hope of winning the secret of the new deposit from him was vain, for his exposure in the desert had affected his mind in such a way as to destroy, or at least obscure, the memory of his previous adventures. He looked at the specimens with as much surprise and curiosity as the rest. He had no idea where they came from. He had no remembrance of having found them himself. It seemed that he must begin his life anew at Prescott, for his past had wholly escaped him. It appeared to him that he had been somehow born in the desert, for his first remembrance dated thence. Yet he retained, mechanically as it were, his knowledge of mining, and he turned to that occupation naturally when he recovered his bodily strength. So time passed, and Reuben Davitt prospected, sometimes successfully, sometimes without results, until, some two years later, he joined a party of four who were going on a tour of exploration in the Mojave mountains.

DIPLOMACY IN FRANCE.

ONE OF THE MOST REMARKABLE DEPARTMENTS OF STATE.

The Extensive Ramifications of the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs—Political Articles in Every Language Translated Daily for the Chief Executive.

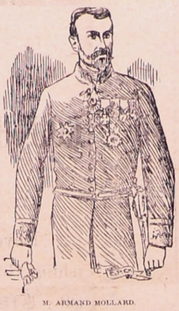
That department of state called the Ministry of Foreign Affairs is the most important one in France. In no other country, with, perhaps, the exception of Russia, is the Department of Foreign Affairs so active, so far reaching or so noted for bewildering complications and ramifications as the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs. It is the oldest department of the kind in the world. Under monarchical France the department was administered with a view to conserving the rights of the King rather than the interest of the people. These rights depended on state papers and diplomatic correspondence, and wherever the documents were there was the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.



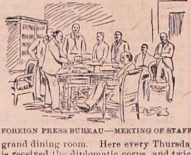
M. ARMAND MOLLARD.

They were usually kept in the King's private cabinet, and the papers and the secretaries who had them in charge followed the King wherever he went. They were always prepared for immediate transportation. Cardinal Richelieu was very particular how they were disposed and had everything numbered and lettered for ready reference. It was not until about the year 1710 that a permanent depot was thought of. It was in Paris, in one of the pavilions of the Louvre, that the diplomatic archives first found a resting place. In 1761 the Duc de Choiseul, who was obliged to reside at Versailles, near the King, proposed the construction of a building for the special use of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Two years after it was done.

In 1796 the archives were transferred to the Hotel de Gallifet, in the Rue du Bac, Paris, and three years afterward to the Hotel de Maurepas, in the same neighborhood. Napoleon I. conceived the idea of putting up a fine building on the Quai d'Orsay for the Bureau of Foreign Affairs, and Architect Bonnard designed the structure subsequently occupied not by the Foreign Affairs Bureau, but by other departments. It was not until 1845 that the present fine structure by the architect Jacques Lacornee was begun in the Quai d'Orsay.

That part known as the Hotel du Ministre is an elegant and majestic edifice. It is built in the extremity of a terrace which separates it from the quay. The facade is embellished with Doric and Gothic columns, with balustrades in the Italian style on each story, and at the top with medallions of the armorial bearings of the different powers. It was partly destroyed by the Commune, but restored in 1871.

Big as the magnificent building is yet it is not too large for the various services connected with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. On the ground floor are the apartments and offices of the foreign minister, with splendid reception rooms and a grand dining room. Here every Thursday is received the diplomatic corps, and twice a week—on Monday and Friday mornings—persons who have a claim to an audience. Here also take place the grand receptions, soirees and official dinners. In the Ambassadors' salon are to be seen the portraits of the plenipotentiaries who assisted at the famous congress in Paris of 1856. To the right of this chamber is the salon where the members of the Behring Sea Arbitration Commission held their sessions last year.



FOREIGN PRESS BUREAU—MEETING OF STAFF.

A broad, white marble staircase leads to the next floor, where, after passing a series of salons all luxuriously furnished and ornamented with old Gobelin tapestries, we come to the Yellow Room, where the wife of the foreign minister receives once a week. This chamber is one of the most beautiful in Paris. Among other rare and precious articles we see is a beautiful brean or chest of drawers which came from Trianon. It belonged to Marie Antoinette, and it is attributed to Reisner, the famous cabinet maker of Louis XVI.

Highly Praised.

GENTEMEN,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, sprains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. I have recommended it to many friends and they also speak highly of it.

Mrs. HIGHT, Montreal, Que.

If there was no cowardice there would be little insolence.

In his VEGETABLE PILLS, Dr. Parmelee has given to the world the fruits of long scientific research in the whole realm of medical science, combined with new and valuable discoveries never before known to man. For Delicate and Debilitated Constitutions Parmelee's Pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

The brightest sunshine of success is not without a cloud.

Cured his Boils in one Week.

DEAR SIRS,—I was covered with pimples and small boils, until one Sunday I was given ½ of a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters by the use of which the sores were sent flying in about one week's time.

FRED CARTER, Haney, B. C.

I can answer for the truth of the above.

T. C. CHRISTIAN, Haney, B. C.

"Is that piece of bric a brac all your rich relatives left you?" inquired the visitor "Yes, sir," sighed the poor relation; "my vase is my fortune."

Excellent Remedy.

GENTLEMEN,—We have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our house for over three years and find it an excellent remedy for all forms of coughs and colds. In throat and lung troubles it affords instant relief.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst., over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

Testimonial from the wife of John Creigh J. P.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

TO THE LADIES.

Someone has said that "the nearest way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Now, while we do not in all cases accept the statement as true, we believe there have been instances where the truth of it has been verified. Doubtless scores of ladies who read this have epicurean husbands who come home to lunch and tea wearied and worried and occasionally it takes considerable to please them, and your minds are taxed to their utmost to know how to solve the problem. Let us assist you in your dilemma. Call in our store when down town and if you don't see just what you would like might we not suggest something dainty which could be made for you? Order it for tea, and when the "lord of the manor" puts in an appearance he will be so pleased it will be a question which will be the more so you or he.

THEY APPROVE OF BALLOTS

Movement in Ottawa for Their Use in Separate School Elections.

IMMEDIATE ADOPTION PREFERRED.

A Greater Interest Would Be Taken in the Elections Under the Ballot System Than Now Exists—The Supreme Court to Adjudicate on the Manitoba School Case.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—Hon. R. W. Scott was seen by the reporter and asked if he had any objection in stating for publication the particulars of the movement made in Ottawa in support of the ballot for separate schools. He replied: "As there seems to be a misconception of the action taken by some of the supporters of separate schools in this city, I may say that the movement consisted of the preparation of a confidential memorandum on the subject of the ballot for the consideration of His Grace the Archbishop, and was not intended for publication. It represented the views of those only who signed the paper, and the reason why it was not signed by a large number was that the subscribers to it desired to preserve its confidential character. I may add, however, that the ready approval expressed by those who saw the memorandum convinced me that a large majority of the supporters of separate schools in Ottawa were in favor of either the immediate application of the ballot or at least of allowing the provisions of the Public School Act with regard to the election of trustees to apply to separate schools. It would then be optional for each board of separate school trustees to introduce the ballot by resolution and give it a three years' trial, when, if it did not prove satisfactory, the trustees could by resolution revert to open voting. Nine tenths of those who signed the memorandum on the subject preferred the immediate application of the ballot by statute in cities, towns and incorporated villages, believing that a greater interest would be taken in the elections under the ballot than now prevails and that a better choice would be secured."

Dairy Stations.

The question of how much and what kind of work can be undertaken by the dairy service of the Department of Agriculture to promote an extension of stock raising, swine feeding and the co-operation of the dairying interests in Manitoba and the Northwest is now under favorable consideration. It is understood that several dairy stations will be established and that travelling instructors will give information of a directly practical sort in both butter-making and cheese-making. In connection with this matter Professor Robertson will spend several months of the summer in the western provinces personally directing the work.

Poultry Commission.

A resolution was passed at the meeting of the Poultry and Pet Stock Association here that the Dominion Government should appoint a poultry commissioner for Canada, and recommending that Mr. A. G. Gilbert, of the Experimental Farm, receive the appointment. The duties of the office would be the working up of the poultry trade in all its branches, the giving of lectures, the collection of statistics, etc.

Manitoba School Case.

Representatives of the wringer manufacturers waited on the tariff committee of the Cabinet yesterday.

In the afternoon there was a meeting of the Cabinet, but the committee did not sit. The Supreme Court sits to-day, and it is expected judgment will be delivered among others on the Manitoba school case. The chief justice, though still on leave of absence, will sit in those cases where Justices King or Sedgewick are ineligible by reason of having previously passed on them.

THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

Bills Read a First Time—Notices of Bills and Questions.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The following bills were introduced and read a first time: Mr. Tait—To amend the municipal act. Dr. Gilmour—To exempt homesteads. Dr. Gilmour—To abolish personal covenants in mortgage. Mr. Whitney—Respecting witness fees.

Mr. Meredith—I would like to ask the leader of the Government when we may expect any of the bills mentioned in the speech from the throne?

Sir Oliver Mowat—Next week, some of them.

Mr. Meredith enquired what had become of a return asked for by Mr. Marter some two sessions ago regarding the number of commissioners appointed by the Government and the expenses connected therewith, and which had not yet been laid upon the table. There was no reason why there should be any delay in bringing down the return.

Mr. Gibson replied that it was being prepared, and if the members only had a little patience it would be down shortly.

Mr. Meredith—A delay of two years is a little too long.

Mr. Gibson—It is nearly ready. It is not a matter of supreme importance whether it came down yesterday or whether it comes down to day or to-morrow, but it will be down probably to-morrow.

Mr. Meredith—There is no reason in the world why the return should not have been down last session, as the House ordered it to be done.

Dr. Ryerson gives notice of a bill to abolish all exemptions on church property.

Dr. Ryerson gives notice of a bill to amend the Public School act, so as to provide for the amalgamation of the high schools and public schools. It is proposed that all property in the possession of the High School Board shall pass under the control of the Public School Board, and that after 1st January, 1895, all teachers employed at the high school shall be placed under the Public School Board.

Hon. Mr. Gibson laid on the table the annual report of trustees of Upper Canada College. The statement of the bursar is the same, sets forth: "The trustees regret that the financial statement of the college is not as satisfactory as they would desire. The receipts for the year 1892-3 show a decrease of $8,305.95 as compared with the year 1891-2. The entire revenue of the college in 1891-2 was $46,253.20, and in 1892-3 $37,977.25. In our report of last year we were able to make the gratifying announcement that the college, out of its own resources, and without any endowment or public aid whatever, showed a surplus of $4,000 over and above expenditure. This year we regret to announce a deficit of $7,681.15, arising mainly from the reduced attendance of boys in residence, the number of 1891-2 being 165, and in 1892-3, 138. The reduction in attendance, in the opinion of your board, was owing to several causes: First, the financial depression which prevailed throughout the province; secondly, the increase in the number and efficiency of the high schools and collegiate institutes of the province during the last few years; thirdly, the establishment of a number of additional residential schools for boys; fourthly, the opening of two large collegiate institutes in Toronto, where formerly there was but one. In view of the reduced attendance, your board has very carefully considered how best to maintain the financial standing of the college. Two courses were open: one to secure, if possible, an increased attendance, and the other to effect a substantial reduction in the expenditure. So long as the financial depression lasts your board is of the opinion that the attendance at the college can not be very largely increased. Care, however, has been taken to place its advantages as a residential school before the country, both by circular and by advertisement. Should the attendance of the first two terms of the present academic year continue, the college will have an assured income of $3 ,000, and taking the expenditure of the first six months of the financial year as a basis the total expenditure for the whole year should not exceed $33,000.

Notices of Questions.

Mr. Meredith—1. Has the commission referred to in the speech of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor at the opening of the session with respect to the mode of remunerating and appointing certain provincial officials been issued? 2. If so, who are the commissioners?

Dr. Willoughby gives notice of this question; In how many cases since the introduction of the ballot have petitions been filed against the return of members to this Legislature, and in how many cases has a scrutiny taken place, and what was the cost in each case of scrutiny?

Mr. E. F. Clarke made the following enquiry: Did the Government in the year 1892 or 1893 instruct Mr. I. K. Stewart, inspector of licenses, to enquire into the operation of the license law in the city of Hamilton, and as to the accommodation provided by the places to which licenses were given in the said city? Has the said provincial inspector made a report to the Government respecting the matters, and if so did he find that places were licensed which had not the requisite accommodation?

Hon. Mr. Gibson laid on the table yesterday a return asked for last session by Mr. Preston, M.P.P., giving the report of a committee of the senate of Toronto University, appointed to enquire into the erection of the biological building, also copies of correspondence with the Government regarding the proposed Park Hospital, and copies of correspondence with the Government having reference to matters pertinent to medical education in Ontario, and the relation of the University of Toronto thereto. The correspondence is voluminous, and much of it has already been published.

In the bill to exempt homesteads, introduced by Dr. Gilmour, the limit of the value of such homesteads to be exempted is placed in the country at $1,500, and in cities at $2,000. A measure of such a character, Dr Gilmour says, is in force in most of the states of the union and in Manitoba.

Dr. Gilmour's other bill, of which notice has been given, to abolish the personal covenant in mortgages, provides that when a personal covenant is made in a mortgage, the instrument is invalidated, and if there is such a covenant it must be contained in a separate instrument.

The bill introduced into the Legislature by Mr. Whitney, of Dundas, yesterday, seeks to increase the witness fees paid in Division Courts to mechanics, artizans, laborers, farmers and school teachers. At present these classes of witnesses are only entitled to 75 cents a day and mileage allowance one way. The bill provides that school teachers shall be paid fees in proportion to their salary, and that in order to cover the cases of mechanics, artisans, laborers, etc., the county judge of each district shall in January of each year draw up a schedule of fees founded upon the then prevailing rate of wages, and that this shall be placed in the Division Court clerk's office, and the witnesses whom it affects paid in accordance therewith.

Hon H. G. Joly was a visitor in the House yesterday afternoon, and was entertained at lunch by Mr. Speaker at 1.30. Amongst the guests present were Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. Messrs. Hardy, Gibson, Ross, Harcourt and Dryden, Mr J. K. Kerr, Q.C., Mr. Robert Jeffray, Mr. J. D. Edgar, Mr. William Mulock, Mr. J. S. Willison, Dr. McKay, M.P.P., Mr. Whitney, M.P.P., and Mr. Frank Pedley.

At 3.30 the House adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Scarlet Fever in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—The scarlet fever epidemic is spreading in Montreal. The mortality was greater last week than ever before, there being twenty-seven deaths among the Catholic population alone. The highest record from both cemeteries in any previous week was twenty five. The provincial authorities will take precautions against the disease spreading beyond Montreal.

James Somerville Re-Nominated.

ST. GEORGE, Ont., Feb. 20.—The Reformers of North Brant and Wentworth met in convention here yesterday to nominate a candidate for the Dominion Legislature. Mr. James Somerville, M.P., who has represented the riding for the last three parliaments, received the nomination.

Western Dairymen's Association.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 20.—The auditors' report of the affairs of the Western Dairymen's Association for the past year shows as follows: Receipts $4,564.56; balance on hand, $623.96; assets, $693.66; liabilities, $653.57; assets over liabilities, $40.39.

France and the Vatican.

ROME, Feb. 20.—The Vatican has asked the French Government for an explanation of the reports that an entente is pending between France and the Quirinal. The French ambassador to the Vatican has assured Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State, that France will maintain reserve on the subject until the expiration of the time for which the triple alliance was formed. He further informed Cardinal Rampolla that France desired complete concord with the church.

The Victims of the Kiel Disaster.

KIEL, Feb. 20.—The funeral of the men killed by the steam pipe explosion on the cruiser Brandenburg on Friday last took place to-day. Emperor William ordered that the victims be buried with all the honors that attend the burial of men killed in battle.

Anarchists Threaten.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 20.—The mother superior of the Convent of the Sacred Heart has received a letter threatening to blow up the convent. A number of rich land-holders have also received threatening letters. The writers of these letters proclaim themselves anarchists.

EUROPEAN INTELLIGENCE.

British House of Lords Reject Mr. Cobb's Amendment.

EMPEROR WILLIAM VISITS BISMARCK.

The Old Ex-Chancellor and His Emperor Again Exchange Courtesies—The Brazil Insurgents Fire on the Nictheroy—Balfour's Extradition—Other Topics of European Interest.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The House of Lords considered last evening the changes made by the House of Commons in the employers' liability bill. When the bill went back to the House of Commons Henry Cobb proposed as a compromise that workingmen having special agreements with their employers concerning accident insurance be exempted from the operations of the bill. This compromise was rejected in the House of Lords last evening by a vote of 137 to 23. The House also reaffirmed the Earl of Dudley's amendment that workingmen might exempt themselves by special contract. This action of the Upper House means that the measure must be abandoned.

KAISER WILLIAM'S VISIT.

The German Emperor Returns the Call of the Iron Chancellor.

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—The long-expected visit of Emperor William to Prince Bismarck took place yesterday. Prince Bismarck, Dr. Schweninger and Dr. Chrysander awaited at the station the coming of the Emperor. When the imperial train stopped His Majesty, who was attired in a naval uniform, sprang from the platform, Prince Bismarck taking the hand the Emperor extended to him bent low and kissed it. The party immediately proceeded to the Prince's residence, where Princess Bismarck warmly welcomed His Majesty. Neither Count Herbert nor Count William Bismarck were present.

After the special trains had landed an immense throng at Friedrichsruhe, the railway managers received direct orders from the Emperor to stop all such trains. The Emperor brought a number of presents for Prince Bismarck. Few persons were allowed on the station platform at Friedrichsruhe. Barricades were erected to prevent the crowd from approaching.

Emperor William was in high spirits when he reached Friedrichsruhe. More than 5,000 persons had gathered outside the barricade before the Imperial party arrived, and they cheered tumultuously when the Emperor and the old Chancellor appeared.

Bismarck looked cheerful and fairly strong. He was wrapped in a great gray cloak, made at the Emperor's orders, after the style of the new army mantles, and sent to Friedrichsruhe with his Majesty's compliments. He expressed his disapproval of the police efforts to push back the crowd, and remarked to two or three of the zealous officers: "If these people wish to see let them see as much as possible."

The Imperial party, accompanied by Bismarck, left the castle at 9.30 o'clock. While driving between the station and the castle the crowds along the road cheered repeatedly for "Bismarck, founder of the empire." The firemen, who had been drawn up to keep back the spectators, were unable to hold them back. The people broke through the lines and thronged the roadway close to the carriages. The Emperor and old Chancellor smiled and bowed repeatedly in response to the constant cheering. The parting at the station was as cordial as the welcome. The Imperial train arrived in Hamburg an hour later. Thousands filled the streets near the station and all the houses in the neighborhood were ablaze with electric light. The train stopped but a few minutes and nobody alighted. While it was at the station the crowd outside cheered incessantly for the Emperor and Bismarck.

MERCIER'S RANK REGIME.

English Confidence in Quebec Being With Difficulty Retored.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—A cable from London says: The arrangements have now been completed between Messrs. Coates, Son & Co., bankers, through Hanson Bros., financial agents, of Montreal, and the Quebec Government for the purchase of £600,000 of four per cent. province of Quebec bonds, which will probably be shortly put on the London market by the Coates. Coates, Son & Co. say that the terms obtained by the Quebec Government show a marked advance upon those obtainable last year. The people interested here represent investors of the best class, indicating a notable recovery of confidence in the securities of the province of Quebec.

Other city experts say that the harm done during the Mercier regime is incalculable and that confidence is only with difficulty being restored.

Crops Destroyed by Fire.

GEORGETOWN, Ont., Feb. 20.—Mr. John Correy, grain buyer of Acton, sustained a heavy loss yesterday by the destruction of his barn and outbuildings by fire. Mr. Correy owns a farm in Trafalgar township and sold his season's crop of hay last week to a Milton buyer. Shortly after the hay press was put in position and when some three bales had been pressed sparks from the portable engine set the barn on fire. The flames spread to the driving shed, which was consumed with contents. Loss $1,000; insured for $250.

Death from a Fall from a Horse.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 20.—Mr. Michael Purtill, a respected farmer of Grantham township, met his death in a very sudden manner on Saturday evening. Purtill was mounting a horse and overbalanced himself and fell to the ground, lighting on the back of his head and breaking his neck. He expired almost immediately.

Fatal Accident in Bowmanville.

BOWMANVILLE, Feb. 20.—An immigrant from one of the homes, named William Ingram, was trampled to death by a horse on the farm of Mr. J. Clemens, east of this town, yesterday. Young Clemens in his efforts to rescue him was also badly injured.

Thomas Feeney's Death.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 20.—An inquest was held on Saturday evening touching the death of Thomas Feeney, who was killed by the explosion at the McKinnon sash factory. The jury returned the following verdict: "That the deceased, Thomas Feeney, came to his death by the explosion of a japanning oven in the McKinnon sash works, through which he was fatally crushed and wounded, and they further find that the explosion was due to the faulty condition of the furnace, and that the parties responsible for such faulty construction were guilty of culpable and negligent conduct in not remedying the defects which led to the death of the said Thomas Feeney."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 20, 1894.

The security market yesterday was quiet and generally steady.

Flour is unchanged. Choice straight rollers quoted at $2.60 to $2.65 and ordinary at $2.55 Toronto freight.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Grain receipts are small. One load of white sold at 61c; red is quoted at 60c, and goose at 58c. Barley unchanged with sales of 200 bushels at 45c. Oats wanted at 38½c to 39c, and peas nominal at 58c to 60c.

Stocks in New York opened very weak, in the absence of buying orders from London. Sugar was sold by the bears, while insiders bought out every ½ decline. N. Y. C. is being sold "seller 60 days." It is believed that 2 per cent. dividend on St. Paul will be declared two weeks next Thursday. There is a good deal of monkeying going on in Distillers; insiders are not in favor of any advance at present.

English wheats have dropped 4d. and foreign wheats 6d per quarter. Flour is steady. Barley has declined 7d. Corn is down 6d and oats 4d. The tone at yesterday's market was quiet. Wheats were unchanged. American corn was 3d dearer. Oats were firmer. The prices of barleys were in buyer's favor.

HON. PETER MITCHELL'S LETTER.

He Denies Authorizing the Publication of His Correspondence With Mr. Gault.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—Hon. Peter Mitchell, having been accused by the Star of bad faith in publishing the correspondence between himself and A. F. Gault of this city, in which he attacked the late Sir John Macdonald, telegraphs from New Castle:

"The letter was written solely for my personal vindication to such gentlemen as Mr. Gault and others of his class, who believe that I was to blame for the differences that existed between the late gentleman and myself and not for publication by me, although I gave Mr. Gault permission to do what he liked with it. It is true that it has been read in private circulation by over 500 persons since it was written, comprising cabinet ministers, bankers, judges, lawyers, editors, politicians, merchants, brokers, members of parliament and other leading men of our commercial centres. I have repeatedly refused permission to have it published and have always exacted a promise from those to whom I gave it for perusal that they would neither copy it nor publish it. The only person who had permission to publish it was Mr. Gault himself and I know that he was too averse to its publication. Some one therefore who obtained its perusal must have broken faith and I again state that it was not published with my consent nor connivance in any way."

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Signed, T. S MCINTEE.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT"

was issued.

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

"AS OTHERS SEE US."

Under this heading we publish in another column a report of an interview had with Mr. M. J. Hendrick, U.S. Consul for this district, by a reporter of the Rochester Post-Express. There are a number of errors in the statements credited to Mr. Hendrick, which will be apparent to the reader; but as they were made in a good-natured way and with the object of saying a good word for Belleville and the Bay of Quinte district, they will be readily excused. Mr. Hendrick is a worthy and creditable representative of the great country which has accredited him to us.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL PROGRAMME.

Although the new shipbuilding policy of the British Admiralty may not be entirely announced until the naval estimates are presented in March, the decision reached to devote $35,000,000 to strengthening the fleet is a fact of crowning importance. The leading details of the new programme are already well understood.

It is now demonstrated that, in spite of the confident declaration of the Government that England's navy is more powerful to-day than the navies of France and Russia combined, there will be new and costly outlays to strengthen it. The truth is that the practical question is not what the French and Russian navies now are, but what they will be, under the plans contemptated.

Last year, Great Britain launched the protected cruisers Astræa, Cambrian, Charybdis, Flora, Forte, and Hermione, each of 4,360 tons, or making 19½ knots; she also launched four 220 ton torpedo-boat destroyers, the Havock, Hornet, Daring, and Lynx, of 26½ knots, and two gun vessels, the Speedy and Dryad. But France that same year launched the battle ships Charles Martel, 11,800 tons; Jaureguiberry, 11,820 tons, and Trehouart, 6,610; the armored cruiser Charmer, 4,750; the protected cruisers Bugeaud, Chasseloup, Laubat and Friant, each of 3,720 tons, and 19½ knots; the Suchet, 3,430 tons and 20 knots; the gun vessels D'Iberville and Fleurus; the torpedo-boat destroyers Lansquenet, 26 knots; Archer, 20½, and Mousquetaire, 24.7. Russia launched the battle ships Tri Sviatitelia, 12,000 tons and Ushakoff, with the 21 knot vessels Gaidamak, Griden, and Vadaik.

Of course, comparisons of the launchings of a single year are imperfect, and may be deceptive. England had, in fact, nearly completed last year the programme, involving upwards of $100,000,000, undertaken by the Naval Defence act of four or five years ago. But we find the Russian construction expenditures for the present year '94, including ships and naval guns, figured at $27,500,000, and those of France, in round numbers, at $15,300,000. The British projected expenditure for 1894, as voted last year, is about $14,685,000—this being a little less than that of France alone. Now the Government proposes nearly two and a half times as much for next year.

France has now under construction or in immediate contemplation ten first-class battle ships, four coast-defence battle-ships, nine first-class, fourteen second-class, and four third-class cruisers, besides many smaller craft, including torpedo boats. England has now under construction the three fine battle ships Renown, Majestic and Magnificent, and gave orders a few days ago for a fourth; the first-class cruisers Powerful and Terrible, three second-class cruisers, two sloops, and many fast torpedo-boat destroyers of the Havock type, with other torpedo craft; finally, the remainder of the ships provided under the Hamilton programme of 1889.

While the English newspapers urge that such comparisons show that their Government must bestir itself to avoid being surpassed by France, even without the aid of Russia, some of the French look at current statistics from a different point of view, in order to stimulate activity on their side of the Channel. Thus M. Bertin, Director of the Higher School of Naval Engineering, finds that France and Russia combined have only 22 modern cruisers, of 111,000 aggregate tonnage, against England's 81 cruisers, with 362,000. Should the Triple Alliance join her against France and Russia, it would add 37 cruisers of 200,000 tons. In either case France and Russia would be greatly overmatched, although France, on account of the quality of her 16 cruisers, would have a better chance against the Triple Alliance single-handed, Russia and England remaining neutral. But the value of such calculations is small, because battle ships and torpedo boats are factors that could not be left out of the reckoning in hostilities.

More worthy of consideration, perhaps, is a comparison of one of the leading Russian journals, which gave Great Britain last month 79 battle ships, armored cruisers, &c., of 620,340 tons and 2,447 guns, against 104 French and Russian ships of analogous types, of 605,771 tons and 2,184 guns. Of additions at that time ordered, it gave Great Britain three ships of 42,150 tons and 122 guns, and to France and Russia 19 ships of 183,920 tons and 631 guns. The allies would therefore have a superiority of 41 ships, 128,201 tons and 246 guns on that calculation. But here also the actual efficiency is not expressed by numbers, tonnage, and aggregate pieces in the batteries.

What is very clear is that British sentiment has been aroused to the necessity of strengthening the navy. In addition to the three splendid 14,000 ton battle ships, of which the well-named Magnificent, begun at Chatham last month, is the pioneer, with the Majestic to be laid down at Portsmouth, and a third at Pembroke, it is believed that five more will be constructed, making eight in all. These will cost about $5,000,000 each. Then come the Powerful and the Terrible, the former to be built at Barrow and the latter at Clydebank, the largest, swiftest and most effective cruisers in the world. Of a new type of station gunboats, known as the Linnet class, four may be built, while the twenty torpedo-boat destroyers of the Havock class, already ordered, will be augmented by a dozen.

There can be no question that England is wise in thus defending her naval supremacy. It means not only the maintenance of her prestige and pride as a nation and the continuance of the traditions of centuries, but the preservation of that enormous mercantile marine and that prodigious commerce which forms one of the marvels of modern times. It means the retention of her grasp on distant colonies, and, above all, the preservation of her little group of islands from the dangers of an invasion or of a blockade that would bring starvation and surrender. Besides, in keeping up her naval strength she avoids the need of the tremendous military establishment which her great neighbors are forced to maintain. Her provision of a possible coalition against her and her steps to be prepared for it are not to be considered as the outcome of a panic, but should be regarded as the fruit of a sound public judgment taught by experience.

"GOLDEN GIANT MINE."

A Clever Performance Given by the Sawtelle Dramatic Company.

The Sawtelle Dramatic Company opened a week's engagement at the opera house last evening with the four act comedy drama "Golden Giant Mine," to a large house. The play is one of those stirring western pieces which are always popular. Mr. Sawtelle has gathered about him a company of artists, as the performance of last evening evidenced. Jessie Evans-Sawtelle as Bessie Fairfax won the hearts of her audience by her gracefulness and simplicity. Mr. Sawtelle acted well the part of the easy-going Jack Mason, the gambler, and the audience seemed as pleased at his performance as though it were an event in real life. Ethel Fairfax, the wilful, spirited girl who defied her brother for the love she bore Jack Mason, was cleverly portrayed by Miss Belle Stevenson. Miss Phoea McAllister acted the rough-and-ready Mrs. Boggs to perfection. Clarence H. Geldert as Alex. Fairfax, gave a faithful picture of the honest, whole-souled westerner. Duncan Le Moyne, the handsome villain, was well taken by Mr. Jos. W. Girard. George H. Summers was a capital Tom Flynn, a smiling son of Erin. Harry Bewley showed his versatility in the impersonation of Jim Bixby, a humorous sot and later a raving maniac. The character of Max Wayne was well handled by Mr. S. H. George. The songs of Messrs. Summers and Bewley were loudly encored, to which they graciously responded. The performance was a highly creditable one and they should play to good houses during the balance of the week. The company produce to-night "Michael Strogoff" or the Courier of the Czar.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys are such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. ### At a Good Old Age.

The Hamilton Times of the 19th inst. says: "Nicholas H. Davis died at his residence on Jackson street west to day in the 88th year of his age. He was born on the banks of the Hudson in New York State on April 5th, 1806, and came to Canada when he was 21 years old, settling at Picton, Prince Edward County, where he carried on business as a merchant tailor and dry goods merchant. He subsequently lived in Dundas, Whitby and Prince Albert, and came to Hamilton over thirty years ago to engage in the sewing machine business. Mr. Davis was twice married, and is survived by a widow and four daughters—Mrs. Prinyer, of Prince Edward; Mrs. Morse, of Rochester, and Mrs. John B. Fairgrieve and Miss F. Davis, of Hamilton."

And the Bat Still Lived.

A queer story comes with first-class recommendation all the way from England. Thirty three years ago, in 1860, a member of the Chaplin family died at Blankney, Lincolnshire, and was laid in the family tomb. This particular Chaplin was a naturalist, and among his other pets, had a large gray bat. That bat was permitted to enter the tomb and was sealed up alive along with the corpse of his dead master. In 1866 the vault was opened, and to the surprise of all the bat was alive and fat. On four different occasions since the Chaplins have looked after the welfare of their dead relative's pet, and each time it has been reported that the bat was still in the land of the living, although occupying quarters with the dead. He was last seen in 1892.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

SIX YEARS IN SING SING.

The Sentence Received by the Notorious King of Coney Island.

HIS DESPOTIC REIGN IS ENDED.

He Was Indicted for Perpetrating Frauds in Connection With the Voters Lists—But There Were Other Serious Charges Laid at His Door—Efforts Being Made to Obtain a Stay of Execution.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Feb. 20.—John Y. McKane has been sentenced to six years in Sing Sing prison.

McKane, who was Supervisor of Gravesend, L. I., was practically monarch of the place, and owing to his possessions at Coney Island and elsewhere carried a tremendous political influence, which he swung to one or other of the great parties as his interests directed him. That influence became such a terror that at the last elections, after displaying a more than usual temerity, McKane was proceeded against and indicted for frauds in connection with the voting lists. There were also charges of intimidation, but the prosecutors pushed the former charges alone, and after much obstructions and ingenious delays succeeded in securing a conviction.

McKane was the Pooh Bah of Coney Island, being magistrate, chief of police, license commissioner, etc., and as all the dive owners were his tenants they enjoyed a rare immunity from punishment. McKane was also a regular church attendant, being rarely absent from class and prayer meetings, and was in fact the strong pillar of the Gravesend Methodist congregation. He was a most indefatigable superintendent of the Sunday school, and none expounded a Bible story with better effect.

McKane's lawyers will make a strong effort to keep him from going to Sing Sing, but unless they get a stay or time to prepare exceptions on which to base a motion for a stay, he will have to go to Sing Sing in a few days. His lawyers said they would apply some time to day to a Supreme court judge for delay.

It has been decided to allow McKane to remain in Raymond street jail until next Monday, pending the efforts of his counsel to secure a stay of the execution of his sentence. Unless they are successful in this effort by Monday he will be taken to Sing Sing.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Senator White Nominated for the Supreme Court—Hawaiian Matters.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Mr. Daniel (Dem., Va.) addressed the Senate in defense of President Cleveland's action in regard to Hawaii, stigmatizing Minister Stevens' conduct as: "The presumptuous, vicious freak of an eccentric minister."

A message from the president announced the nomination of Senator White of Louisiana as associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. Mr. Daniel yielded the floor in order that the Senate might go into executive session for confirmation of the nomination.

The nomination of Senator White to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States came in the nature of a surprise to the Senate. All sorts of rumors were afloat during the morning relative to this appointment, and the names of Senators Gray and Faulkner were mentioned, but not that of the Louisiana Senator.

A member of the sub-committee at work on the tariff bill is authority for the statement that the bill would not be laid before the Republican members to-day. This senator declined to name any day this week. The same committeeman is also authority for the statement that no conclusion has been reached on the subject of coal, sugar and whiskey.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes' Condition.

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—Regarding the conflicting statements as to the health of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Judge Holmes, the poet's son, said yesterday that the truth of the story is that about two weeks ago his father was seized with a slight attack of grip. He has since recovered from the attack, but is suffering to some extent from the languor which sometimes results from the disorder. He is in other respects in his usual health, is not confined to his bed and his condition is not such as to cause any alarm.

Death of a Veteran Comp.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 20.—William T. Stansbury, who was probably the oldest printer in active service in the United States, died suddenly yesterday. He entered the service of the Sun in 1837 and remained in its employ without interruption until his death. He was at his case as usual Friday night. He was 78 years old.

Blew Up the House.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20.—Some unknown person placed a keg filled with gunpowder, cotton and kerosene oil under the floor of Paul Keuhl's house last night and applied a fuse ignited at one end. Fortunately Keuhl and his family had left the house to go to church. When the fire reached the powder the house was blown to pieces.

Died from Eating Beefsteak.

STAMFORD, Conn., Feb. 20.—Daniel Bain, a tramp, died at Stamford hospital yesterday from eating beefsteak. He was taken there last week suffering from hunger and exhaustion and was fed on gruel. When an attendant was absent Friday he seized some beefsteak and devoured it, resulting in his death.

THE CHARGE AT BATOCHE.

The General Replies to Lieut.-Col. Houghton's Charges of Cowardice.

GATELY, Feb. 20.—Major-General Sir Fred Middleton has been interviewed in regard to Lieut.-Col. Houghton's charges of cowardice and incapacity. Sir Fred said that the statements were absolutely untrue from beginning to end. Regarding Dr. Orton's corroboration of Lieut.-Col. Houghton's accusations the General said he could state positively that Dr. Orton spoke falsely when he claimed to have had a conversation with him. Sir Fred said that he had never conversed with either Houghton or Orton on any military matters. He was at a loss to know why Dr. Orton had used such language, but was not surprised at any remarks made by Lieut.-Col. Houghton, whose peculiarities are known and understood by all who have been brought in contact with him.

General Middleton concluded by saying, "I always had, and still have, the highest opinion of the Canadian volunteers who served in the Northwest in 1885."

Burrows had an Adventure.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review says :—"Daniel Shultz, night watchman at the G. T. R. station, saved the life of S. Burrows of Belleville the other day, and was rewarded with a $5 bill. Mr. Burrows was about to board a moving train when his foot slipped, and he would have certainly been dragged under the wheels and killed, but for the timely assistance of the watchman."

One Hundred Dozen.

The above quantity seems quite a lot of one line of goods to receive at once, but here is one of the secrets of the way the Oak Hall sells cheap. Every one knows of the great socks we sold last year for 5 cts. per pair. We start off this season with one hundred dozen. We will sell two hundred dozen during the summer.

A RARE ENTERTAINMENT.

A Feast of Reason and a Flow of Soul at the Belleville Institute.

The poets and musicians were well represented and interpreted, last night by a galaxy of local talent, which very few cities in Canada could exhibit. The programme was headed by a quotation from Faust, "Tis delightful to transport one's self into the spirit of the past." But last night past, present and future were all touched upon in glowing words and inspiring music. Mrs. York's paper on the poets and masters was rhythmical in language, and profound in thought, and rendered more beautiful by its charming delivery. "The world is greater for Shakespeare and Beethoven; the world is better for Milton and Handel; Shakespeare was the greatest genius; Tennyson the greatest writer of beautiful verse; Shelley the most ideal poet," these are only one or two of the many contrasts and analogies brought out by Mrs. York, who closed with an invocation to thought, which will never be forgotten by those who heard her. Schiller and Mozart were interpreted by Dr. Wright and Miss Florence Jones, respectively; Shakespeare and Beethoven by Mr. W. N. Ponton and Mrs. Campbell; Goethe, Schumann, and Wagner, by Mr. L. W. Yeomans, Miss Holton, and Mr. Doyle (Miss Wilson being unable to be present); Milton and Handel were to have been represented by Mr. J. W. Johnson and Mr. Young, but Mr. Young was absent through illness, so that the aria from the Messiah was omitted. Shelley and Schubert were illustrated by Mr. J. J. B. Flint and Mr. Lewis. Tennyson and Mendelssohn fell to the lot of Mr. Curtis Bogart and Miss Caswell, while Browning, Burns and Gounod, were introduced to the audience by the Rev. W. M. Maclean, Mr. Thos. Stewart, and Mr. Doyle. Where all did so excellently it may perhaps be invidious to particularize, but universal accord will not grudge an extra meed of praise to Mrs. Campbell for her beautiful sonata from Beethoven in which the adagio was simply exquisite; and to the Rev. M. W. Maclean for his strong presentation of two of Browning's most beautiful pieces. It is to be hoped that a similar evening may be given next month, as the fund of rich resource developed by the literary and musical pioneers of last night is only opened up and not by any means exhausted. About one hundred people attended the entertainment and it is safe to say that not one went away who was not the better and the wiser for having spent the evening in the association of the master minds and masters of melody whose works are immortal.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Rev. J. Halliwell continues in about the same condition at Vankleek Hill.

The late W. H. Howland, of Toronto, left $40,000 to his widow.

Ald. Wilson, of Kingston, one of the sub-contractors to the hotel "Quinte," was in the city to-day.

Miss Lena Mallory, of Campbellford, is the guest of Miss May Price.

James Tufts, of Kirkton, and his son Charles, arrived in the city last night. He proceeded to Tuftsville this morning to visit his brothers.

Fraser Aylsworth, Madoc, and J. Everett, Toronto, are registered at the Huffman House.

Mr. Thomas Ritchie has returned from his semi-annual business trip to Europe. He came out by the famous liner Etruria and reports the trip as being the roughest that he ever made across the Atlantic. From the time of leaving Queenstown until New York was reached the decks were constantly swept by tempestuous billows. One man was thrown from the main bridge 60 feet above the water mark by a giant wave and one of the fore and aft bridges was torn from its fastenings by the furious seas.

A Masonic Funeral.

The funeral of the late George Henry Ford, whose death at West Flamboro we mentioned yesterday, took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence of his father-in-law, Mr. Henry Frost, Canifton Road. The remains arrived on the midnight train last night. He was buried at the cemetery under Masonic auspices. Following were the bearers: Capt. Waters, H. Hogle, S. E. Haight, Alf McCrodan, O. Schuster and O. L. Dunning.

John St. Church Association.

Last evening the John st. Church Association held a social gathering of the congregation. The President of the society, Mr. Geo. Fax, presided. The principal feature of the evening was a debate: Resolved, Music exercises more influence for good than oratory. Prof. Coleman, aided by Miss Flora Tourgis, ably expounded on the wonderful persuasive powers wielded by music, while Mr. W. J. Campbell, supported by Miss Jessie McRae, brought clearly before their listeners what a powerful agency oratory is in bringing about great reforms and universal good. On the request of the leaders of the debate no decision was given as to which is the more influential. Miss Graham's instrumental solo was highly appreciated and Miss Falconer greatly delighted her hearers by her sweet voice. Miss Edna Wilson charmed the audience by her superior elocution, while Mr. W. McLean shows himself to be a young artiste of great talent. Mr. Fax, who at all times pleases his hearers, gave a vocal solo. The association paper, "Our Opinion," was edited by Mr. W. Heber Campbell, who is to be congratulated on his success. Cake and coffee were served by the ladies, and all left expressing themselves highly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Curling.

Two matches were played yesterday afternoon for the pair of stones presented by Mr. Jos. D. Clarke, the President. Owing to illness Mr. F. Dolan, who was appointed skip for one of the rinks, was unable to play and Mr. W. W. Pope was substituted and succeeded in defeating his opponent Mr. Thos. Thomson. Both of the winning rinks obtained a decided lead, which they maintained until the completion of the match. The players and score were :

AS OTHERS SEE US.

MR. M. J. HENDRICK U.S. CONSUL, INTERVIEWED AT ROCHESTER.

Interesting Statements Concerning our City and District—Its Agricultural, Manufacturing and Mining Industries—Politics in the Province.

Rochester Post-Express, Feb. 10.

Michael J. Hendrick, United States consul at Belleville, Canada, has been enjoying a thirty day leave of absence, visiting friends at Penn Yan, Auburn, Union Springs and Livonia. Yesterday he returned to Rochester, where, until Monday, he will stay with his brother, Rev. Thomas Hendrick. Consul Hendrick was seen today by a Post Express reporter, and in the conversation he gave some interesting facts regarding the city across the lake, where he represents the interests of "Uncle Sam."

Belleville is a city of 10,000 inhabitants and is situated in the Midland district of the Province of Ontario on the Bay of Quinte. It is almost at the beginning of the Thousand Islands and is frequently visited by tourists from Rochester in the summer season. "A new hotel has been built," says Consul Hendrick, "which will be opened in the spring. This will be the finest hotel between Toronto and Montreal and ought to attract many summer visitors from this side of the lake." The city is only one degree north of the latitude of Rochester but in the winter much colder weather prevails. "Sleighing began about December 1st and it will continue all winter," he added. "There were several days when the thermometer in January fell to 15 degrees below zero, but no one notices the cold there. The air is dry. Belleville is a great place for winter sports. Curling is a favorite game. There are regularly organized clubs that play hockey on the ice, while skating is the common amusement from the beginning of December to the end of February. The people expect the cold weather, prepare for it and don't seem to mind it as much as you do in Rochester. I don't believe there are three men in the city of Belleville besides myself who wear a stiff hat. They all wear caps in the winter and kept well bundled up."

"The Midland district," continued the consul, "is a great agricultural centre. At Chicago the district took at least three fourths of the awards given on cheese. It is a great butter country, too. The farmers are organized and working to raise good products. They have secured a large trade with England and they seek in every way to maintain the quality of their exports. I was surprised at the exhibition made at some of their agricultural shows."

"What are the natural resources of the district aside from agriculture?'

"There are all sorts of ores to be found. Actinolite, and asbestos are there in abundance. There is magnetic iron ore. Slate and marble also exist. Not twenty miles from Belleville gold is found. But none of these mines have been developed. The gold ore is refractory and hard to reduce. But I understand that a company has now been organized that will by a new process undertake gold mining on a large scale. It is claimed that the mines can be profitably worked for arsenic and that the gold will be a by-product and all clear profit. The lumber interests are large, too, and they are well developed. The Rathbun company, which is the largest in Canada, was formed by parties who came from Auburn, in this state. They manufacture sash and blinds, railroad ties, cement and all sorts of articles of this nature. The company is composed of Americans, but they have become Canadian citizens now. At Trenton, near Belleville, is the Gilmour Company, composed of gentlemen who came from Scotland. These companies buy vast lumber tracts and clear them."

"What effect will the free lumber provision in the Wilson bill have on the lumber industry?"

"Not as much, I am inclined to believe, as is claimed. There is ready sale for all the lumber now and the Wilson bill will not affect this business very much."

"What manufactories are there in your city?"

"There are two carriage factories, a furniture factory and two very large canning works. Belleville has a number of smaller industries and is, in fact, quite a manufacturing city."

"Its educational and other public institutions are famous," added Consul Hendrick, "Albert College under the auspices of the Methodist church has 200 students and is one of the largest colleges in the province. The Provincial Deaf and Dumb Asylum, situated at Belleville, is the largest in the world, I am told. Then there are two large business colleges, the Ontario and the Belleville, containing in the aggregate at least 400 students. There are four Episcopal churches, four Methodist churches, two Presbyterian, one Baptist, and one Catholic. The Catholic church is large in Belleville, although the Midland district is the strongest Protestant district in Canada. There is no trouble in the schools on account of religion. One general school tax is raised every year. Then the money is divided and given to the parochial or separate schools in proportion to the Catholic population in the district. The people seem to pay more attention there to religious influences. You know there are no street cars allowed to run on Sunday and the barber shops are closed."

"What is the political situation in Ontario?"

"There are two parties there, as here, the Liberals and Conservatives, and they differ on the tariff as radically as the Republicans and Democrats in the United States. The biggest political demonstration I ever saw in a small city was in Belleville in honor of the local member of parliament, Hon. Henry Corby. It was in the shape of a supper, to which 700 men sat down. The general provincial election will probably be held next summer. Sir Oliver Mowat, the present Premier, heads a Liberal ministry. There will be a lively contest at the next general election. The Dominion election will not be held for a year or two yet. The Canadian people are just as much interested in politics as are the citizens of the United States and their elections are just as spirited and interesting."

"How do you like the province as a place of residence?"

"Very much indeed. The people are hospitable and friendly. At Belleville the majority of the population is of English descent and the people exhibit the English hospitality with the well-known English conservatism and solidity of character. In the summer the Bay of Quinte, too, is charming. I think that it compares favorably with the Hudson river."

Consul Hendrick has appointed an old Rochester man, Charles A. Millener, to be his consular agent at Deseronto, a town near Belleville. Mr. Millener is the manager of the Rathbun Company and is an American citizen, although he has lived many years in Canada.

Removed.

The store recently occupied by the late E. Harrison, bookseller, is being renovated and refitted in the most modern fashion for the reception of the gents' furnishing stock of Mr. Geo. P. Minaker. Mr. Minaker says this store, when completed, will be the best appointed for the business in this section of the country. The stock in his present stand will be sold at and below cost for the next thirty days to clear.

A PERMANENT PAVEMENT.

A Movement That Should be Endorsed by the City Council.

A movement has been started for a granolithic pavement around the new hotel and on the north side of Bridge St. from Church St. to Front St. The hotel company are favorable to the scheme and we understand a majority of the property owners on the street above mentioned will sign the petition.

The question of permanent improvement is one that should be endorsed by the Council, and this is only the first step towards a pavement on Front St.

As to the sidewalk around the "Hotel Quinte" and to Church street, it will have to be re-built during the coming summer at any rate, and that the walk may be in keeping with the interior and exterior of this house, which is modern in every particular, something more durable than pine boards should be laid.

The property owners will ask the city to pay only forty per cent. of the cost of laying the pavement. which, the Street Surveyor says, is about the amount requisite to maintain a board walk, to say nothing of the constant annoyance of broken plank, high nails. etc., in connection with the latter.

The hotel company have shown a great deal of enterprise in their undertaking, and now let the Council show them that their public spirit is appreciated by the citizens.

Magistrate Flint's Court.

The two young men Albert Smith and Dennis Mandeville, who were arrested on Sunday morning for drunkenness, were brought before Magistrate Flint for trial. Mr. Flint gave them a severe lecture and warned them if they ever appeared before him again he would give them a year in the Central. They were allowed to go.

A man named Fisher, who claimed to hail from Oshawa, was arrested while stealing a ride on the "blind" on the midnight express. He was a very respectable looking young man and said he had a family and was a moulder by trade. He had heard there was work at Smith's Falls and he was making his way thither. The Magistrate believed his story and recommended him to the Mayor for a pass.

What Tea do you Use?

Do you like Black tea? If so, we recommend our fine new India and Ceylon Teas, from the finest tea estates in India, and that pearl of the sea, "Ceylon." These teas are remarkable for their fine rich flavor, and great strength—7 lbs. equalling 10 lbs. of other teas—and for good value are excelling all other black teas.—STROUD'S TEA STORE.

DR. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I suffered untold misery with bleeding piles. I could get no relief night or day, until I commenced using your "Pleasant Pellets," and now for two years or more, I have not been troubled with the piles; if my bowels get in a constipated condition, I take a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and the trouble is all dispelled by next day.

Out of Sorts—Symptoms, Headache, loss of appetite, furred tongue, and general indisposition. These symptons, if neglected, develop into acute disease. It is a trite saying that an "once of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and a little attention at this point may save months of sickness and large Docter's bills. For this complaint take from two to three of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills on going to bed, and one or two for three nights in succession, and a cure will be effected.

Nothing which has life for its basis can boast much stability.

THE LOST MINE.

BY

GEORGE FREDERIC PARSONS.

The Apaches were, as usual, making mischief, and they were particularly hostile to prospectors. After some days of toilsome travel over difficult ground, Davitt's party found that they were followed, and by Indians. Now the bravest men feel uncomfortable upon making a discovery of this kind, for the Apaches are the fiercest, willest and most cruel of all savages, and when they camp upon a trail they never abandon the pursuit. They are most crafty at the preparation of ambuscades, moreover, and they are so hardy and well trained, that it is impossible to run away from them even when they were on foot and their destined prey is mounted. To realize that these Indians are upon one's track is to fear a frightful death at close quarters, and this, Davitt's party, composed of veteran prospectors, well knew. They were well armed and had ammunition and provisions enough to stand a siege of some duration, if only they could reach a safe place. But they were in the mountains where water was terribly scarce, and they knew that without water it would be impossible to hold out more than forty-eight hours or so. Had the party been stronger, they might have taken a bold measure, and hunted the Apaches instead of being hunted by them; but with only five rifles this was quite out of the question, and the more the situation was discussed, the graver it appeared. Desperate as the case might be, however, it had to be faced. All were resolved to make the best possible fight for their lives; but they dared not stay more than a night in any one camp so long as their approaches were uncovered, for they knew that keen hostile eyes were upon all their movements and that at every step they must guard against surprises.

So, very cautiously and with many precautions, they crept through the mountains, avoiding all beaten trails, taking the least likely routes, only concerned to keep a certain direction to their march, so that if they escaped ambush or assault they might be near enough the skirts of the hills to make a final dash for life. As they proceeded, a sharp lookout was kept for any natural fastness, cavern or high-walled cul de sac which might serve the purpose of a last desperate stand in case of need. Thus they felt their way for three days, during which they had intimations that the pursuit was growing stronger, that fresh Indians were joining it, and that consequently every hour aggravated the danger and brought nearer the impending attack, open or covert. At last it was felt to be impossible to push on any farther. The prospectors became aware that the Apaches were now in front of them as well as behind and that the toils were being drawn closer all around them. It became necessary, almost on the spur of the moment, to take up vantage ground where the battle might be joined under the most favorable conditions. Within the next mile, at the outside, they must take to cover and prepare for the worst.

At this time they were about the middle of a gulch or ravine running parallel to the mountain-side and having for its left flank the steep, rocky mountain wall, while on the right the surmounting cliffs fell away to lower ground. It was an ugly spot for an ambush, and the opportunities for successful defense appeared very poor. As the party advanced slowly, examining every bush, rock and tree, Reuben Davitt suddenly uttered a low exclamation, startling his companions, who naturally thought he had seen Indian signs. But he only shook his head in a perplexed way in answer to their questions and stared round him more and more confusedly. The truth was that he seemed to himself to have recognized the landmarks of the place as somehow familiar; and when the path following the curve of the mountain turned almost at right angles, a light broke upon him.

'Boys,' he whispered, excitedly, 'I don't know how it is, but I feel that I've been here before; and what's more, I seem to remember that we are within a hundred yards of a cave where there is room enough for us all, and water, too.'

Then, suiting action to word, he left the bottom of the gulch abruptly and began to climb up the left bank among the loose boulders and great fragments of rock that lined it. At a height of about seventy-five yards he stopped, carefully examined the ground and beckoned to his comrades, who silently followed him. Without further hesitation, he now led them to where a huge rock stood so close to the mountain wall as to appear, at a little distance, joined to it. There was, however, a narrow space between the wall and the rock, and the latter covered the entrance to what seemed no more than a fissure in the mountain. The five men made their way into the opening, which, after a little, widened into a considerable cavity, too deep to be measured by the eye, but at the farther end of which could be heard the welcome sound of falling water.

The shelter was gained none too soon; for while the fugitives were barricading the narrow entrance as best they could, the Apache warwhoop was heard rising, now to the rear, now in front, and the men knew that their foes had joined hands and were preparing for the last scene in the drama. But Reuben Davitt's party was safe for the time and might hope for ultimate escape, unless the cave had another entrance, known by the Indians. That the latter were familiar with the refuge could not be doubted, for they knew every spring and watercourse in the mountains, and if they had not guarded this one, it was, doubtless, because they believed it entirely unknown to white men. As it was, surprise was out of the question; nor could the cavern be taken by assault from the front, since one man could hold the narrow entrance against a regiment. But their provisions would only last a few days, and unless the troops, known to be out on scout, should hear firing and come to the rescue, the issue of a regular siege must be more than doubtful.

After entering the cave Reuben Davitt relapsed into silence, and seating himself apart seemed to be meditating profoundly. There was no further sign or sound from the Apaches, but they were, no doubt, busy enough devising mischief. They were not likely to risk a front attack, and as the day was closing, they would probably do nothing until the next dawn—their favorite time for assault. Meantime, the beleaguered party could safely refresh themselves, and this they did, afterward setting a regular watch at the entrance passage and another in the rear of the cave, with the extent of which they were unacquainted.

The night had nearly passed, when a noise at the back of the cave attracted the attention of the guard, who was surprised to hear the voice of Davitt, raised in great excitement, exclaiming:

'I remember everythings now! I have been here before; and, boys, we have struck the lost mine!'

As he spoke he came forward with a pickaxe in one hand and a piece of rock in the other. A small fire had been lighted to cook with, and by it light the richness of the ore could be plainly perceived. Davitt's report was true. The sight of the place had recalled all his old associations with it, and the excitement had completed the process of restoration and revived his puzzled memory completely.

After a desultory siege of three days, in which the Indians gained no advantage, a troop of dismounted cavalry came to the relief of the besieged. The Apaches, after a short, sharp fight, vanished into the recesses of the mountains, and Reuben Davitt, himself once more, hastened to write to his so long forgotten wife in New Jersey, and to tell her how he had lost and found the mine and his memory together, and with this double recovery fortune beyond the dreams of avarice.

DIPLOMACY IN FRANCE.

Near this salon is what is now known as the "Chamber of Gambetta." The furniture belonged originally to Prince Talleyrand, is in the empire style and was made by Jacob, the cabinet maker of Napoleon the Great. Chateaubriand, Thiers, Guizot and Lamartine have slept in the bed and written at the bureau. Among other curiosities is a clock which was sent by Louis XVI. to Tippoo Sahib, the sworn enemy of the English. The ship conveying it was wrecked at the entrance of the Bay of Bengal. It was recovered 1799, but Tippoo Sahib having been killed it was returned to France. On the other side of the Yellow Room is the private apartment of the Minister, very plainly furnished.

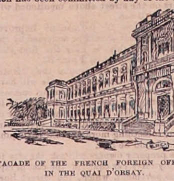
The department comprises the personnel of the staff—the special secretaries, the translator's bureau, the foreign press bureau, the cipher bureau and the courier's bureau. The whole is directed by a chief and assistant. Their functions are the opening of the despatches and correspondence of the Ministry, the reading of the French newspapers, the press reports, the editing and publication of the annual report and the disposition of the secret service fund. These functions demand special tact, a rare faculty of assimilation and absolute certainty in passing judgment.

The present Minister of Foreign Affairs is M. Develle. His principal aids are M. Revoil and Paul Lafargue, chiefs, and M. Gavarry, assistant. M. Revoil, who has lately been named Sub-Director of Consulates, has been succeeded by M. Lafargue, who, with M. Edmond About and M. Sarcey, was one of the founders of Le Dix-Neuvième Siècle. The chief secretary is M. Tirard, who is very highly esteemed.

The translation foreign press bureau is of special importance. We give a picture of it. It is divided into two sections. The business of one section is to make translations of all documents offered the service into French, or into the language of the countries to which communications may be sent. The press section makes every day a summary in French of all political articles published in English, German, Russian, Italian, Spanish, Roumanian and all other newspapers, as well as presenting a summary of political articles in French papers published in other countries. This service requires a profound knowledge of international law and jurisdiction, as well as of foreign languages. Its direction is confided to M. Duca.

The cipher bureau is occupied solely with making and deciphering secret despatches. Cipher writing was used by the ancients. Cæsar, we know, carried on a correspondence with his friends by its means. This he did by advancing the letters of the alphabet by fourths. The cryptograph was employed in diplomatic correspondence in the thirteenth century. There are many systems, among these the transposition of letters, the grille (or blank spaces), and the cipher code or dictionary. In the last century the grille was principally used. This process consists in covering the paper with a gridiron, of which the other person has a double. One writes in the open spaces, and then taking away the grille, the blank spaces are filled in with words which completely hide the sense of the despatch. The person at the other end has but to cover the paper with his duplicate gridiron to make the meaning clear.

The cipher code, however, is deemed the best. It was often used in the eighteenth century in diplomatic correspondence, and is employed to-day. When a diplomatic agent is sent to an embassy or legation the department usually sends with him three ciphers—a written cipher, a key, and a common cipher. The first ought to serve him for the reading of his despatches, the second gives him the clew to those he will receive, and the third, less complicated, will permit him to correspond with his colleagues abroad. Formerly the political bureaus themselves deciphered the despatches. To day its special cipher bureau does that and that alone. It is said that since its institution, not the least indiscretion has been committed by any of the employes. While all the other employes are recruited in the usual way, those in the cipher bureau are fixtures, the positions being handed down from father to son, the cipher keys being regarded as a sacred heirloom.



FACADE OF THE FRENCH FOREIGN OFFICE IN THE QUAI D'ORSAY.

The greater part of the despatches, preserved in the archives of the Ministry or in the libraries, have been deciphered at the moment of their reception. The translation is ordinarily interlined. Yet there are some which have not yet been translated owing to the loss of the key.

Then there is the "Service du Protocole," or precedent bureau, which embraces matters of ceremonial and etiquette, reception of ambassadors, audiences, foreign decorations, the expediting of treaties, conventions, the admission of foreign consuls and so on. This, it will be seen, is a most important bureau. M. de Bourgueney is the head, and his chief assistant is M. Armand Nollard, than whom no one is better known in the official world. He has been a long number of years in the service.

The direction of commerce is also a special and important feature of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

THE BRAZILIAN SITUATION.

Early Decisive Action Hoped for Between the Opposing Forces.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 20.—The dynamite cruiser Nictheroy left this harbor at an early hour last night. As she passed out she exchanged signals with Forts Santa Cruz and San Joan at the entrance of the bay.

Before she reached these forts she was compelled to pass Fort Villegaignon, which is held by the insurgents. The gunners at this fort fired two shots at the cruiser, but their aim was bad and they did not succeed in hitting her.

The Nietheroy had on board 300 regular troops. It is supposed that her destination is Santos. Strong hopes are entertained of an early and decisive action between the government forces and the insurgents.

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 20.—The Hamilton Woollen Co., of South Bridge, employing 1,000 operatives when running in full force, started upon its cotton and worsted departments yesterday.

Sailed for the Behring Sea.

GIBRALTAR, Feb. 20.—The United States steamer Bennington sailed hence for Behring Sea, where she will do guard duty under the provisions of the Behring Sea tribunal of arbitration.

Gallows Cheated of Its Prey.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 20.—Matthew Ashton, a convicted murderer held in jail pending an appeal to the Supreme Court, died of smallpox yesterday. He was worth $350,000.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst., over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

Testimonial from the wife of John Creigh J. P.

Calgary, Oct. 21st, 1893,
Templeton Pink Powder Co.
Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.
Yours truly,

Someone has said that "the nearest way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Now, while we do not in all cases accept the statement as true, we believe there have been instances where the truth of it has been verified. Doubtless scores of ladies who read this have epicurean husbands who come home to lunch and tea wearied and worried and occasionally it takes considerable to please them, and your minds are taxed to their utmost to know how to solve the problem. Let us assist you in your dilemma. Call in our store when down town and if you don't see just what you would like might we not suggest something dainty which could be made for you? Order it for tea, and when the "lord of the manor" puts in an appearance he will be so pleased it will be a question which will be the more so you or he.

MANITOBA SCHOOL CASE.

The Judges of the Supreme Court Render Their Decision.

DOMINION NO RIGHT TO INTERFERE

Is the Opinion of Three of the Five Learned Justices—The Six Questions Submitted to the Court—Chief Justice Strong Answers all Questions in the Negative.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.—In the Supreme Court yesterday Chief Justice Strong delivered a long, elaborate and learned judgment or rather decision in answer to various questions submitted by the Dominion Government to the Supreme Court in regard to the Manitoba school case. To all these questions the answer of the Chief Justice was in the negative.

The Six Queries.

There were in all six questions. The first was as to whether there was an appeal as referred to in the memorials and petitions admissable by sub-section 3 of section 93 of the B. N. A. Act, or by sub section 2 of section 22 of the Manitoba Act of 1870.

Second—Are the grounds set forth in the petitions and memorials such as may be the subject of appeal under the authority of the sub-section above referred to in either of them.

Third—Does the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in the case of Barretts v. City of Winnipeg and Logan v. City of Winnipeg dispose of or conclude the application for redress based on the contention that the rights of the Roman Catholic minority which accrued to them after the union under the statutes passed by the province have been interfered with by the two statutes of 1890 complained of?

Fourth—Does sub section 3 of section 93 of the B. N. A. Act apply to Manitoba?

Fifth—Has the Governor General-in-Council the power to make the declaration or remedial orders which are asked for in said memorials and petitions, or has the Governor-General-in-Council any other jurisdiction in the premises.

Sixth—Did the Acts of Manitoba relating to education, and passed prior to the session of 1890, confer on or continue to the minority a "right or privilege in relation to education" within the meaning of sub-section 2 of section 22 of the Manitoba Act; or establish a system of separate or dissentient schools within the meaning of sub-section 3 of section 93 of the B. N. A. Act if said section 93 be found to be applicable to Manitoba, and, if so, did the two Acts of 1890 effect any privilege of the minority to allow an appeal to the Governor-in-Council.

Chief Justice Strong's Opinion.

The Chief Justice in giving an answer to all these questions in the negative spoke strongly in favor of the province having the right to pass its own laws, and against any imposition of any disabilities by the Dominion Parliament beyond that which existed at the time of union. The Dominion ought not to take away from the province that which was given to the province as its organic life, and therefore it had a right to repeal its own laws the same as any of the other provinces of the Dominion. He admitted that any appeal would lie to the Governor-in-Council from the taking away of the rights which existed before the union, but not for anything established by Legislature after the union and afterwards repealed.

Justice Fournier.

Justice Fournier followed. He dealt with the state of affairs at the time of the union, and held that the intention was to grant Separate schools in the province. To all the questions set forth he gave the answer "yes," except to question three, to which he answered "no."

Justice Taschereau.

Justice Taschereau said that he would not discuss the question of making the Supreme Court as an advisory board to the executive of the Federal Government, as was being done in this case, since anything that the court said or did in the matter did not really amount to anything. No one would be bound in any way by the answers of the court, the court was to give no judgment, and it did not determine anything. It ended no controversy, no matter what the court said Manitoba would be in no way bound by the answers. The courts of the country remained open for the province to look to if its legislation were interfered with. Going into the merits of the case rather fully he concluded that his answer to all the questions was "no," except the third question and to that he answered "yes."

Justice Gwynne.

Justice Gwynne next read a long decision. He answered all questions in the negative except question three. His answers agree with Justice Taschereau.

Justice King.

Justice King delivered a very able judgment, agreeing with Justice Fournier and answering all the questions in the affirmative except the third, which he answered in the negative. He was of the opinion that an appeal was admissable.

The Seizure of a Sealer.

In the case of the Oscar and Hattie, decided in the Supreme Court yesterday, an appeal was taken against the judgment of the Admiralty Court of British Columbia, which condemned the vessel for a violation of the modus vivendi for fishing in illegal waters. The sealer was returning from finishing the fishing season in the neighborhood of the Copper Islands. The captain with his boat called at an island on his way to Victoria for the purpose of getting water. The island was partially within prohibited waters. While there the vessel was seized by the United States revenue cutter. As there were skins on board the court below held that the vessel was liable, since it had not shown conclusively that they were not caught in prohibited waters. The appeal of the owners of the vessel against the Admiralty Court judgment was allowed with costs.

The Copyright Act.

Messrs. R. L. Patterson, Dan A. Rose and James Murray are here as a deputation from the Canadian Copyright Association to urge the Dominion Government to proclaim the Copyright Act. The visitors had an interview with Sir John Thompson.

Inquest on the Death of Dr. Davidson.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 21.—The coroner's inquest to inquire into the cause of the accident which caused the death of the late Dr. Davidson, concluded its meeting on Monday night. The jury went out at 11 o'clock and were out all night. At 6 o'clock yesterday morning they announced that they could not agree and asked to be discharged. There were seven who thought the G. T. R. employes were guilty of neglecting their duty. The others thought they were not guilty of neglect of duty. The jury was discharged.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

The Whereabouts of Jack Wright Still Remains Undiscovered.

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 21.—It is now nearly five weeks since Jack Wright, a porter at the Caister House, mysteriously disappeared, and in spite of all the efforts of his friends and the police to locate him—in spite of the publicity given to the matter by the local and provincial press—no one seems to have seen him, and no one has heard anything that can lead in any way to the conclusion that he is still alive. A more mysterious case has seldom been heard of, and the revealed facts are so slim, besides the interval of time being so prolonged since his disappearance, that, unless something turns up soon, it is possible he may never again be identified, alive or dead.

It was on Thursday, Jan. 18th, that the young man went away. About 10 o'clock that night he asked the proprietor, Mr. Henderson, to be relieved from duty for a few minutes, and that if any of the guests wished to go to their rooms in the interval before his return, he said he had arranged with Widdifield, another employe, to attend to their wants. He was in his shirt sleeves at the time and simply drawing on a house coat, took his hat and stepped out into the night. Since this time, as far as can be ascertained, not one of his acquaintances has seen his face or obtained any reliable information regarding his whereabouts.

His absence was certainly not premeditated. According to information received from the proprietor of the Caister House, it would appear that on the afternoon of the day he disappeared, Wright obtained a suit of clothes from F. L. Sanagan, paying $10 cash and giving an order signed by Mr. Henderson for the balance. On examination of his room the suit was still there, having never been worn, as were also some shirts and neckties which had been purchased a few days previously.

The ugly rumors that Wright had been unduly familiar with some married woman, and that he had been frequently threatened by her husband, would favor the idea that if he has not met foul play he is secretly hiding in some out of the way place which neither friends nor detectives have been able to locate.

His relatives and friends believe now there is no other theory possible, except that he has been cruelly done away with. The police, however, do not share this view of the matter, and even yet believe he will turn up somewhere.

A private detective is working on the case and some startling disclosures may be expected any day.

The Explosion on the Brandenburg.

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—The Reichsanzeiger says that according to the report of the expert who has examined into the causes of the accident on the Brandenburg, no blame attaches to anybody who was on board the warship when the explosion of the steam pipe occurred. Both the engines and the new boilers had been properly supervised on the trial trip. There is scarcely a doubt that the disaster was due to defective workmanship employed in the putting of the new boilers and their connection in the ship.

Forged to the Amount of $15,000.

FREDERICTON, N.B., Feb. 21.—It is now positively asserted that Geo. H. Davis, the druggist, has skipped to the United States, and his obligations amount to about $15,000. This was floated in paper purporting to carry the endorsement of Fred. P. Thompson and J. D. Pinney. Both men repudiate all paper bearing their names and say the same is forged. Thompson and Phinney are brothers-in-law of Davis.

McCarthyite Nominated.

MILBROOK, Feb. 21.—A political convention in the interests of the McCarthy party was held here yesterday. When the meeting had been called to order it was decided to nominate candidates for both Houses. George Campbell, Esq., M.P.P., was selected the standard-bearer to contest the coming Local election. The nomination of a candidate for the Dominion House was left for a future occasion.

Hudson Bay Company Loses Its Appeal.

QUEBEC, Feb. 21.—In the Appeal Court yesterday judgment was confirmed in the case of W. Joannette v. the Hudson Bay Co. The case arose from a seizure of $15,000 worth of furs made by Preventive Officer Joannette on the ground that the skins were out of season. The Hudson Bay Company sued for the possession of the furs and lost in the first and second instances.

Italian Cabinet Difficulties.

ROME, Feb. 21.—Thirty-five interpellations have already been presented in the Chamber concerning the state of siege in Sicily, the arrests of Deputy de Felice and other matters. The ministers are confident of the support of a good majority. Two hundred and thirty deputies have declared in favor of an increase of the tariff on cereals.

Lennox Patrons Nominate.

NAPANEE, Ont., Feb. 21.—The Patrons of Industry held a meeting here yesterday at which Allen Oliver, reeve of Richmond, was nominated to contest Lennox at the next election for the Ontario Legislature and William Brandon was nominated to contest Lennox in the next Dominion election.

Chicago's Criminal Cases.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Junior counsel Donahoe began the opening arguments for the defence in the Coughlin case yesterday. Attorney Darrow, junior counsel for the defence, concluded his argument on the motion for a new trial for Patrick Eugene Prendergast. Judge Brentano adjourned court until Saturday morning next, at which time he will announce his decision.

French Corn Duties.

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—The Frankfurt Zeitung says that Russia recently notified France that if the proposed increase of French corn duties should interfere with Russian grain exports Russia would terminate her commercial treaty with France. The French government replied that they must consider the prevailing feeling of the French people, but that they would nevertheless limit the increase of duties as far as possible.

The Funeral of Bourdin.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—The funeral of Martial Bourdin, the anarchist who died in a hospital last Thursday night from the effects of the explosion of certain chemicals that he was carrying in Greenwich Park, will take place on Friday in St. Pancras. The funeral will be made an elaborate one by anarchists and their sympathizers, and speeches will be made at the side of the grave in English, French and German.

Buried Under a Snow Plough.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 21.—A snow storm is raging in the Sierra Nevada mountains. A heavy snow plough jumped the track near Truckee and plunged into a snow bank. Three men are missing and are supposed to be buried under the plough.

THEIR COURAGE IS OOZING.

The Brazil Insurgents Are Getting Tired of the Fray.

ADMIRAL DA GAMA'S WOUNDED ARM.

It Has Become So Serious That He Will be Compelled to Have it Amputated—The Young Fellows, Always Spoiling for a Fight, Seem to be Now Wearying of the Fun.

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 21.—The United States cruiser Detroit, which has been cruising south, has returned to Rio Janeiro. The government is in peaceable possession of all southern points except Desterro, where Admiral de Mello has appointed a president and two ministers. The Detroit was unable to find Admiral de Mello. At each port she visited the officers were informed that he had just left.

Admiral da Gama says that he has countermanded the order placed in the United states for supplies for the reason that the war will be at an end before the order could be filled and delivered. The church leaders who have contracted with the insurgents, should they triumph, for the restoration of church privileges that were abolished upon the establishment of the Republic and who have supplied the insurgent leaders with large sums in gold have notified Admiral da Gama that the supply of money furnished by them will cease unless decisive progress is made soon.

Admiral da Gama, who was wounded in the neck and left arm during the recent attack on Armacaco, expects that it will be necessary for his arm to be amputated. His general health is good and he will probably survive the operation. He promises to push the fighting, but he plainly is unable to do so. He seeks an honorable road to escape from the consequences of the insurrection, but it is probable that he will not be able to find one. Even some of the younger officers among the insurgents, who have hitherto refused to listen to anything but warlike proposals, are now anxious for the struggle to be brought to an end.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 21.—A despatch received here says that secret partizans of Admiral de Mello in Rio Janeiro have attempted to blow up the offices of the Tempo newspaper with dynamite.

HOUGHTON AGAIN SPEAKS.

He Reiterates His Former Attack Upon Sir Fred Middleton.

MONTREAL, Feb. 21.—Lieut.-Colonel Houghton, D.A.G. for the Montreal military district, whose charges against Major-General Middleton recently caused a sensation in militia circles, in an interview here yesterday said: "I confess I was somewhat astonished on reading the report of an interview with Gen. Middleton. I fully expected an outburst of Billingsgate from the old man, as I am well aware that in that branch of warfare he is a perfect artist, but I never for one moment anticipated his having the effrontery to deny either his conversations with Dr. Orton or myself on the occasions referred to in my letter, or the fact of the retreat having been actually ordered by him and in process of execution until countermanded by him for the reasons stated by me. Fortunately, as I said in that letter, I am fully prepared to prove the truth of all I stated though up the present moment I have not thought it necessary to correspond with any of the officers, from whom I expect to receive ample corroboration of all I said in my letter. I am not aware that in that letter I accused the General of cowardice, for I have invariably when speaking of him upheld his character for true 'British pluck' at least. Nor am I aware that I ever referred to his incapacity, though of that I may have more to say hereafter, when he comes out with a reply to my letter over his own signature, until which time I mean to reserve my ammunition. As to his personal reference to myself, I can well afford now to treat that with the same silent contempt with which I have always treated it, even when he was my commanding officer. In fact it is far too vague, as reported in the cablegram, to permit of my taking any present notice of it."

They Will Fight a Duel.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 21.—From information received here it is evident that steps are being taken to get on a duel between Fred May, the New York club man, and Col. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). A telegram was received from Col. Cody, asking a well-known physician here to act as his second in a duel. The friend, whose name is withheld, consented.

Measures Against Anarchists.

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—The Post approves the declaration made in the British House of Commons by Herbert Asquith, Home Secretary, to the effect that Great Britain was inclined to co-operate with other nations in adopting measures against anarchists.

Incendiary Fire Near Lucknow.

LUCKNOW, Feb. 21.—The Lucknow cheese factory, about one mile north of this place, was consumed by fire yesterday morning with all machinery. The work was that of an incendiary.

The Consular "Sealing" System.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—A bill to abolish the consular "sealing" system on foreign goods passing through Canada was introduced by Mr. Cullom (Rep., Ill.) and referred to the committee on finance.

The Result of a Wife's Infidelity.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 21.—Jim Mitchell's young wife recently left him and went to live with a man named York. Mitchell met York in a crowd at the Grand Central depot on Monday night and opened fire. York replied. The result was that in addition to York being killed, Milton Sparks was shot to death, his brother fatally wounded, and Dan Gleason, an omnibus driver, also lies dead. Mrs. Sparks was badly wounded, as was also a child she carried. Mrs. McDowell, an aged lady, received one of the death-dealing bullets, and her chances of recovery are slight. Mitchell was locked up in the city prison and there was considerable talk of lynching him.

The Emperor's Visit Insignificant.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—The correspondent at Berlin of the Daily News says that not a single one of the Berlin papers had anything to say editorially in regard to the Emperor's visit to Prince Bismarck. The papers contain only brief details of the reception of his majesty. This is taken to indicate that the visit was regarded by the Emperor as simply a personal one.

Famous Cartoonist Dead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Joseph Keppler, the cartoonist and editor of Puck, died suddenly on Monday at his home in this city from spinal trouble. He was born in Vienna on February 1, 1838.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Signed, T. S MCINTEE.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. O. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tight ness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

Scratching Boy on fire with eczema will find instant relief and speedy cure by using Cuticura Remedies

When the best physicians, hospitals and all other remedies fail. To those who have suffered long and hopelessly from torturing, disfiguring, humiliating humors, and who have lost faith in doctors, medicines and all things human, the CUTICURA REMEDIES appeal with startling force. Their success has excited the wonder of physicians familiar with the marvellous cures daily effected by them. They have friends in every quarter of the civilized world. People in every walk of life believe in them, use them and recommend them. They are in truth the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers and humor remedies of modern times.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst., over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT"

was issued.

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The "economical" Grits of Nova Scotia, after attaining to office in that province, added one to the number of Provincial Ministers and increased the amount for salaries by $2,500 per year.

That change in the Grand Trunk time table, whereby the arrival of the morning mail from the west has been postponed for two hours daily, is a decided step backward and a cause of loss and annoyance to business men. Here we are proposing to give an annual subsidy of $750,000 or so per annum for the quickening of transit between Canada and the mother country, and yet a railway company is allowed to interfere with our business interests in the manner above complained of. This ought not to be permitted. In return for the benefits bestowed on them by the public—including lands and money and good pay for carrying the mails—the Government ought to exact of the companies that on every main or trunk line at least one train per day, carrying the mails, shall be run at certain hour each way—that which will best suit the convenience of the public—at a speed of not less than 35 miles per hour; and that no change shall be made in the hour of running such trains, unless it be to increase their speed.

The low price of horses in Canada is sometimes attributed to the absence of reciprocal trade with the United States. Yet at Lexington, Kentucky, the other day, one of the most famous stables in that famous horse centre, that had cost the owners over two hundred thousand dollars, sold for less than four thousand dollars. Two of the well known Hambletonian family sold for forty-five and fifty dollars respectively, and one mare, with a record of 2.20½ and not so old as to have altogether outlived her usefulness, brought just two dollars. Horses are now selling for a song all over the United States.

It is announced from Ottawa that several dairy stations will be established in Manitoba and the Northwest territories under the control and direction of the dairy commissioners during the coming summer, and the travelling instructors will give information of a directly practical character on both butter and cheese making. Professor Robertson will spend several months of the summer in the west personally directing the work.

It is understood that invitations have been sent to the Governments of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, South Australia, Western Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania to send representatives to the inter-Imperial conference to be held at Ottawa in June. The crown colony of Fiji and the Imperial Government have also been asked to take part in the gathering, and it is not at all unlikely that the Hawaiian islands may be invited to send a delegate, the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce having already put itself upon record as in favor of such a step. It is expected that beneficial results will follow from the assembly at Ottawa of gentlemen representing the different Governments, and that the cable scheme will take practical shape.

The Independent Toronto Telegram remarks: "Such a mere trick as pretending to give the Separate school electors the ballot and forcing them to ask for it by open vote would be unworthy of Sir Oliver Mowat. And it would be an insult to Roman Catholics to force the ballot upon Separate School Boards, and at the same time leave Public School Boards free to choose the ballot or retain open voting. There must be one law for all, and the true way is to enact a law that will apply the ballot to all Public and Separate School Board elections in towns and cities." Quite right, and a large and useless expenditure of public money can be saved by decreeing that the school elections shall take place at the same time as the municipal elections.

ADAMS'.

ADAMS', Feb. 20, 1894.

We are having very good sleighing at present, but it is still very cold.—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Baker, of Brighton, spent the 12th at Mr. Peter Alyea's.—Some of the sportsmen of our eastern locality (Centre) caught a fine deer on Wednesday, 14th. This is the first specimen of the kind that has visited this part of Prince Edward for a number of years. May I ask what is the Ameliasburg Rod and Gun Club for?—Mr. and Mrs. Gould, of Hillier, are visiting relatives in this vicinity.—The Misses Bonter, of Belleville, spent Sunday at home.—Mr. J. M. Roote, of Picton, made a call on us Sunday last.—Those who have been sick are recovering, and mastered Mr. la grippe.

FOXBORO.

We are having fine weather, but the sleighing is very poor.—The special services have closed; quite a number have been converted.—On Sunday evening the Rev. S. Sing delivered an eloquent sermon on "The Two Masters."—Miss Tilly Foster has accepted the position of organist in the South church.—Miss Hattie Gowsell, who has been teaching school in the 3rd concession of Thurlow, is home suffering from erysipelas.—Mr. Chas. Ashley is shipping several car-loads of wood this winter.—Mrs. Bellmore, who has been very ill with la grippe, is slowly recovering.—Mr. T. B. Faulkner and family have been spending a few days at Deseronto, visiting friends.—Mr. Harford Ashley is driving some fine colts this winter.—Our merchants are all doing a good business this year.

CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 21, 1894.

Mrs. Chester has moved into Mr. C. Smith's new block, where she is carrying on the restaurant business as usual. She keeps a very nice place.—John McGrath has the office this year of Township Assessor.—Mr. E. Morton, who was in partnership with Mr. C. Turner in the hardware business, has bought the business which is now carried on by him, (E. Morton)—A sad accident happened here last night to a farmer named Bronson, who lives in Seymour East. Returning home from the town his team got into the river above Rathbun's mills, where the ice had been taken out, and were drowned. Bronson had a narrow escape himself.—A new Collector of Customs has been appointed. The fortunate man is Mr. H. Durham of this township.—Mr. Jno. Arnold, the collector of taxes, has nearly completed his business for the year.

DESERONTO.

Feb. 20th, 1894.

Mr. W. C. B. Rathbun leaves this morning for California, where he will remain for a few months.—Mr. John Irvine, of Campbellford, has been visiting friends in town.—Mr. D. W. Dart is having several new and improved machines put into the shingle mill.—The Deseronto car works have orders on hand that will keep them busy for several weeks. A number of the members of Craig lodge A. F. & A. M. paid their Napanee brethren a fraternal visit last Friday evening and were hospitably entertained.—Jennie Puller, aged 3 years, daughter of Mrs Puller, St. George St., had her thumb pinched off by a closing door last Thursday.—Large numbers of farmers are coming to Deseronto daily, being attracted here by our good market for produce, grain, etc., our fine flour mill and enterprising merchants. Merchants state that there is a steady increase of farm trade.

SIDNEY.

Feb. 21.—The "Trip to the World's Fair" was well attended by an appreciative audience last night (Tuesday, 20th inst.) at Aikin's church, 3rd concession. The views under a most powerful lime-light were simply grand and the best ever seen in this part of the country. The description, comic sayings and recitations by Mr. Retallack were enjoyed by all, and will be remembered by the people as an entertaining and instructive evening. The exhibition closed by all singing God Save the Queen.—The roads are all open and we are able to get about again.—The Albert College glee club rendered some very fine choruses at the 4th concession entertainment. Refreshments were served, then all returned home after a good time. They will always be welcome.—Sidney Town Hall Methodist church will give an entertainment Friday evening, 23rd, when a large turnout is expected.

TUFTSVILLE.

TUFTSVILLE, Feb 19, 1894.

We have it on good authority that the G.T.R. will work the "Crookston gravel pit" next summer. The intention is to ballast a large portion, if not the whole, of the Madoc branch. Work will commence as soon as practicable in the spring. This will be good news for the working man.—G. J. Carter, of Deseronto, was here on business last Friday.—S. J. Tufts, of Belleville, was home on a visit last week.—Mrs. Sparrow, of West Huntingdon, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. James Juby.—Our school trustees have shown their appreciation of Mr. LeRiche's services by engaging him for another term. He has taught in this school for more than ten years and has been a great benefit to the people generally. Ratepayers, pupils and teacher are all satisfied.—Herbert Eggleton received a severe cut on his foot, from an accidental blow from an axe in the hands of his mate as they were making timber. "Herb" lost a good deal of blood, but bore up bravely under the pain. No serious results are anticipated.—Old Mr. Fox is very sick; he is receiving every attention from kind neighbors and a generous Township Council.

MADOC.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. F. G. Lynd, who owns the tannery, jumped into a vat that he supposed was empty. Instead there was about 3 ft. of hot liquor. Mr. Lynd was severely scalded and suffered extreme pain. It will be some time before he is able to be out.—The True Blues of Madoc intend to hold a monster demonstration here on the 12th of July. We understand the True Blues of the surrounding country are to be present.—Last Friday evening L. O. L. No. 905 on the eighth concession line Rawdon gave their annual oyster supper. The attendance was large and everything passed off pleasantly. The chair was ably filled by the Master, Mr. Halliwell, of Stirling. Prof. Munro favored the audience with some choice selections. The speakers were Mr. Geo. Wiggins, ex County Master, Mr. Wm. Martin, Reeve of Stirling, and County Treasurer, A. W. Carscallen, M. P., James White, Madoc. Mr. Carscallen's address was short but interesting and was well received.—The long talked about event has passed, the great Dalton was absent and the tail of the kite, the long Algoma man, did the best he could for a poor cause. Mr. O'Brien's arguments were like himself, long drawn out, and he did not make a single convert. Our Grit friends who were at the bottom of the affair, feel disappointed, for they were in hopes of dividing the Tories. Even the Grit address presented by our Grit Councillors, fell flat, notwithstanding Mr. Fred Seymour, in writing the address, made the great effort of his life.

PLAINFIELD.

The West church was filled to the doors on Sunday evening to listen to the song sermon by the choir assisted by the Smith family.—The Orange tea meeting on the 14th ult. was a grand success.—Mr. E. N. Gould's shop caught fire on the 9th inst. and had a narrow escape from being burnt.—The Smith family concert here on Saturday night was attended by a large audience.—The assessors paid our village their yearly visit this week.—Mr. James O'Hara has leased his hotel to Mr. Farrell, of Tyendinaga, who is to take possession March 1st.

(From an occasional Correspondent.)

Feb. 20.—Plainfield has been well supplied with entertainments this season; so far there have been four—tea meeting, two parlor socials, and Christmas tree—and all well sustained.—Last Saturday night the celebrated Smith family gave one of their concerts in the East church, with views of the world's fair, which was a grand success.—On Sunday night a song service was held in the West church by the Smith family and the church choir, assisted by Mr. and Miss Moore; the seating capacity of the church was taxed to its utmost.—About dark on Monday night, the members of the official board of the Methodist church were seen dropping in at the parsonage; they were supported by their wives, who always make the hours pass pleasantly; at about 8 o'clock they all sat down to a bountiful spread, consisting of oysters and all the delicacies of the season; after ample justice had been done them, the Board transacted some business in the interest of the circuit. Then the pastor, Rev. W. P. D. Wilson, was presented with a pleasant address, to which he made a suitable reply. The hours being well advanced by this time, all went home, much pleased.

HOW A BRIGHT LITTLE GIRL'S LIFE WAS SAVED.

A Terrible Sufferer From St. Vitus Dance—Could not Feed Herself and Had to be Closely Watched.

Recently says the Shelbourne Economist, Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsay, who live in Mono township, told a reporter of the terrible sufferings of one of their children and its restoration to sound health. It appears that during the winter 1891-2 the child, Fernie by name, contracted la grippe, and although she recovered from the usual symptoms of la grippe, she was never the same in health and strength. Her nervous system had become deranged, and as time passed the terrible symptoms of St. Vitus dance were noticed by the parents. Doctors did all they could for her, but instead of getting better she became worse. She could not feed herself, nor could she take hold of a cup when handed to her. She would frequently fall down when attempting to walk across the floor, and had to be closely watched for fear she might at some time fall on the stove. She completely lost control of her limbs. She could not turn herself in bed and her parents had to turn her. She was perfectly helpless and had almost lost the power of speech. When she did speak it was with difficulty she was understood, as her tongue was drawn to one side and she had lost control of it. The condition of the poor child was pitiable in the extreme. The father determined to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They commenced the treatment and by the time three boxes were used she had improved to a marvellous extent. In April last, the child having fully recovered, no more pills were given her. Several months have passed since then and there has been no relapse and no sign of a return of the terrible malady. The parents state emphatically that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved the life of their little girl.

For all nervous disorders Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the only thorough and reliable cure. They act directly upon the blood and nerves, restoring them to a sound condition, thus driving out disease. Sold by all dealers or sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2 50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

Montreal Markets.

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—FLOUR—Receipts, 705 bbls.; market quiet and unchanged. Quotations:—Patent winter, $3.40 to $3 60; patent spring, $3 50 to $3 70; straight roller, $3 to $3 10; extra, $2.65 to $2.85; superfine, $2.45 to $2 65; strong bakers' $3.40 to $3.50; Ontario bags, $1.35 to $1.50.

GRAIN—Wheat, No. 2 Manitoba hard, 70 to 72c; corn, 54 to 56c; peas, 66 to 67c; oats 39½ to 40c; barley, 50 to 55c; rye, 50 to 55c; oatmeal, $2 to $2.10; cornmeal, $1.20 to $1 30.

PROVISIONS—Pork, $16 to $17; lard 10 to 12c; bacon 11 to 12c; hams, 12 to 13c; cheese 10½ to 11½c; butter, townships, 21 to 23c; western, 18 to 20c; eggs 12 to 15c.

LIVE STOCK.

There were about 325 head of butchers' cattle, 15 calves and 100 sheep offered at the East end abattoir to day. The butchers were present in considerable numbers, and trade was more active than for several weeks past, and prices were higher all round. A few of the best beeves were sold at 4½c per pound, with pretty good stock at about 3½c per pound; rough steers and bulls at from 3 to 3½c, and the leaner animals at 2½c per pound.

The calves offered here to-day were a rather indifferent lot, and sold at from $2 50 to $7 each.

There is quite an improvement in the price of sheep. A lot of good lambs were sold to-day at 4½c per pound, and mixed lots brought about 4c per pound.

Live hogs continue in fair supply and sell at from 5 to 5½c per pound.

PUSHING GREAT PROJECTS.

Hon. Robert Reid Appeals to the Commoners of Great Britain.

CABLE AND STEAMSHIP SCHEMES

Receive the Emphatic Support of the Australian Minister—The Construction of the All-British Cable Would Assist in the Maintenance of Great Britain's Naval Supremacy.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Yesterday the Hon. Robert Reid, Minister of Defence and Health of the colony of Victoria, Australia, had an interview with the Right Hon. Arthur Morley, Postmaster-General in the Imperial Government, concerning the telegraphic and postal communication service between Canada and Australia. Later Mr. Reid addressed a meeting of the members of Parliament interested in the colonies, urging that an Imperial subsidy be granted to the Australian-Canadian line of steamships and also to the project of a direct all-British cable between Australia and Canada. He also urged the necessity of Great Britain maintaining her naval supremacy, which would be aided by the Pacific cable and steamship projects. He advocated also the removal of all commercial treaty stipulations with foreign countries, and all other restrictions preventing or standing in the way of Imperial preferential trade or of preferential tariff duties in favor of trade between the colonies and dependencies and the Mother Country.

The emigrants, information office has just published its annual report, which shows that there were during the past year an increased proportion of inquiries regarding Canada, a decreased proportion concerning Australia and a marked increase as to South Africa.

GLADSTONE'S DEFIANCE.

The Employers' Liability Bill Must be Preserved Intact.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Shortly after the formal opening of the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Gladstone arose and moved the discharge of the order of the day, which was the consideration of the amendments that had been made by the House of Lords to the employers' liability bill.

The Government's Attitude.

Mr. Gladstone said that he deeply regretted to have to make such a motion and that the Government had been obliged to make so many similar motions, since they showed that there was a lamentable degree of divergence between the two branches of legislation. The Government, however, must confront the facts before them, acting in conformity with what they believed to be the best interests of the people and the dignity of the House of Commons. Substantially the difference between the two Houses on the employers' liability bill was the question of contracting out of the provision of the act. There was a good maxim that "Half a loaf was better than no bread." "If they were dealing with a bill in parts which were completely separable and there was a question whether they could accept a limited bill, offering it to the country rather than to see the whole of our labors absolutely wrecked, the position might be different. But this is not a case of that description. In our view the chief amendment made by the House of Lords cannot be considered apart from the general working of the whole frame of the bill. Using a strong phrase to make my meaning clear," continued Mr. Gladstone, "it tends to poison the working of the bill and to seriously compromise the position of working people in the face of their employers. Therefore I hope this amendment will be rejected by a decisive majority. The workingmen are directly, almost exclusively, interested in the bill. What are their sentiments concerning the amendment? The opposition says that the workingmen are divided on the subject. The existing relations between some workmen, and the trades insurance funds have been used as an argument why the contracting outprinciple should be allowed to vitiate the whole bill. These workmen have been told, for instance, that the great railway companies will stop subscribing to the insurance fund if contracting out should be prohibited. The Government has received assurances from the official representatives of every workman's organization that they did not dread such results. Their dominant fear was rather that the bill would be nulified by allowing contracting out of the act."

A. J. Balfour, the Conservative leader in the House, held that the bill contained many valuable reforms quite independent of the contracting out clause. If the Government believed in these, he asked, did it desire to throw them overboard altogether?

Joseph Chamberlain, the Unionist leader, said if the House of Commons was decided not to receive any amendments at all from the House of Lords there would always be an opportunity for collision, if the Government so desired. The policy of the Government in the present instance was decidedly unsound. Mr. Chamberlain declared he was perfectly certain that the people were not going to rise in wrath against the upper House because it reserved liberty of action to one per cent. of the workingmen.

The motion made by Mr. Gladstone was adopted, 225 to 6.

The House rejected seriatim the majority of the Lords' amendments to the parish councils bill.

LOCKHART, Tex., Feb. 21.—The prisoners in the jail overpowered the guard on Monday night, took the keys from him and all escaped except one, a Mexican condemned to hang for wife murder, who was in a combination cell. Ten men escaped.

Henry Visited by His Mother.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—Emile Henry, who threw the bomb in the cafe of the Hotel Terminus on February 12, was visited by his mother yesterday. She wept bitterly over her son's awkward position.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 21, 1894.

Flour is unchanged. Choice straight rollers quoted at $2.60 to $2.65 and ordinary at $2.55 Toronto freight.

The talk in New York is less bearish, and while stocks may not show any buoyancy they will not decline materially. The feeling is bullish on sugar.

Wheat is unchanged, with white and red nominal at 55c to 56c west. Spring unchanged at 60c to 61c on Midland. No. 1 Manitoba hard quoted at 74c to 75c west and at 76c east.

The new government 5's sold at the Stock Exchange in New York for the first time yesterday; $10,000 registered and an equal amount of the coupon bonds having changed hands at 117⅜.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Grain receipts are limited and prices steady. One load of red wheat sold at 61c, and goose is nominal at 58c. Barley steady, 300 bushels selling at 45c. Oats firm, 300 bushels selling at 49c.

A London special says: Silver was weak yesterday and quoted at 29d, but the real price was 28⅞ and the April quotation was 28¾. The India Council hold a conference. It is believed that the reopening of the mints some time hence is receiving consideration.

Stocks in Wall street opened dull, with no orders from Europe. Quotations from London show no change. Traders are somewhat nervous. Henry Clews bought 1,000 sugar. Earnings of Mo. P. for second week of February decreased $131,000. Distillers is lower, being sold by Amory, no doubt for Moore and Schley. New England is being sold by Boston.

ALL THREE CURED.

Neil McKechnie, with his Wife and Mother-in-law Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys are such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

R. Bryce-Gemmel, M. D., F. C. S., Consulting and Analyticul Chemist, 288 Boylston St., Boston, Mass., says:

After a careful examination of Skoda's German Soap, I find it composed of ingredients of a chemically pure and healing nature. It cannot be too highly recommended, both for medicinal and toilet use. I also find Skoda's German Ointment perfectly pure and possessing high medicinal qualities. It can be used with perfect safety on the most delicate skin, and is an excellent ointment for general every-day use.

Mr. Raymore, whose picture appears above, and who for many years, was engaged in the manufacture of toilet soap, writes, under date of Feb. 4, 93: "I am surprised at its soft and purifying qualities. It is pure, unadulterated, and free from alkali, which most soaps contain."

Miss Alice L. Welton, a graduate of the Victoria General Hospital Training School for Nurses, Halifax, N. S., says: "Truly Skoda's Soap is soft as velvet and pure as gold. It makes the skin soft, white and beautiful."

HOSIERY.

We have just received a heavy shipment of hosiery from Germany. There has been a great struggle for existence between English and German manufacturers of hosiery, but the Germans seem to be the best fitted to survive. Their hosiery is better dyed, better shaped and equally as durable. We have German hose in black, tan, white, brown and mixed colors. Our 15c line is of special value.

There is no claim made for Ayer's Sarsaparilla which cannot be endorsed by scores of testimonials. This fact plainly proves that the blood is the source of most disorders and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best of blood purifiers. Try it this month.

Don't waste time, money, and health, trying every new medicine you may see advertised in the papers. If the cause of your trouble is in the blood, liver, stomach, or kidneys, take Ayer's Sarseparilla at once, and be sure of a cure. Take no other.

In future the street letter boxes will be visited by the collector at 10:30 a.m. and 9:00 p.m., instead of 9:00 a m. and 8:00 p.m. The exact hour at which each box is visited can be ascertained from the monthly postal sheet, copies of which can be had by applying at the post office.

Scientists have long been debating whether or not a sponge is an animal. The majority of people care very little as to the scientific name, but are greatly interested in the more practical question of where to procure a good sponge. L. W. Yeomans & Co. have a large stock on hand to choose from.

Consumptives, cheer up! You are not going to die, if you will but take Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis, and the first stage of consumption. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at druggists.

MOTHER'S WILL FIND the Pain-Killer invaluable in the nursery, and it should always be kept near at hand in case of accident. For pain in the breast take a little Pain-Killer in sweetened milk and water, bathing the breasts in it clear at the same time. If the milk passages are clogged, from cold, or other causes, bathing in the Pain-Killer will give immediate relief. Ask for the New Bottle.

PROBABILITIES

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—Winds mostly north and west; cloudy to fair and cold, with light local snow.

Not Flooded.

The coal sheds belonging to Thos. Stewart are on this side of the river and are not flooded, as reported in a local paper. There is no danger of a flood at his dock. The water came into Lazier's yard on the west side of the river yesterday, but has gone down to-day. There is about two feet of water in the Queen's hotel cellar.

Ward Reduction.

The special committee on the reduction of wards will meet to-morrow evening. The committee are open to receive suggestions as to a feasible division of the city into a less number of wards than at present.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

The condition of Mrs. Jas. Hamilton, Alexander st., shows no signs of improvement.

Miss Maud Burdette, a popular vocalist of Montreal, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. D. E. Burdette, Belleville, are visiting friends in town.—Peterborough Review.

Mr. Patrick Murphy, Reeve of Hungerford, will leave to-morrow for England on business in connection with the the cheese factories which he manages.

Mrs. G. Boyce, of Warkworth, will return home to morrow after a ten days' visit to friends here. She will shortly locate at Broadview, Assiniboia, near Regina.

Dr. Walker and J. E. Halliwell, are attending the A. O. U. W. convention at Toronto.

Mr. F. Lockett was in Napanee this week.

A special service in memory of the late Rev. Dr. Douglas, is being arranged for.

T. H. Robinson, Kingston; Geo. E. Maybee, and B. A. VanLuven, Napanee, are registered at the Anglo.

Mr. W. J. Hudson, of Toronto, traveller for Wylde, Grassett & Darling, was in the city to day.

Wm. Cross, Madoc; Richard Duke, Ivanhoe; and D. H. Preston, Napanee, were at the Queen's to-day.

A LONG SEARCH.

Robt. Holland, an elderly man, formerly of Sidney, was yesterday arrested by County Constables Johnson and Wagar, at the home of his son in-law, R. Jackson, in Wollaston. He was first arrested by a constable at Bancroft for stealing a horse from W. Maxwell, of Glamorgan, in the county of Haliburton. Holland was brought to Belleville, where the constable got incapacitated before placing his prisoner in gaol. He marched him around town until night, when he laid down on the sidewalk and went to sleep, and the prisoner went away. This was in 1887. In 1889 Holland again showed up at Trenton. Chief Hinde spotted his man, and ran him in. High Constable Johnson was telegraphed for, and he went up, and brought him down. It was decided, as the witnesses were all north, to take him to Bancroft for examination before Police Magistrate Cleak, who issued the papers. Holland was committed, and the constable again started for Belleville with his prisoner. At Rathbun they stopped for dinner. Jackson, Holland's son-in-law, was there, and a large number of shanty men. As the Constable was taking his prisoner to dinner, Jackson spoke to him for a minute. The crowd pushed in between him and his prisoner, and the prisoner made for the woods. After looking a couple of days, the Constable came home, but told Jackson that Holland was the only man ever got away from him, and he would have him yet if he lived. The Constable heard a few days ago that Holland was back. He took the train yesterday morning. Constable Wagar met him by agreement. They drove to Jackson's and found their man, and last night Holland was again behind the bars.

YOUNG TRUANTS.

Eight young lads ranging in age from eleven to sixteen years, were seen standing in front of the Queen's hotel this morning and Officer Hayes beckoned them to come into the police station. The unsuspecting youths ran nimbly across the street and into the jaws of the law, for as they ranged themselves around the stove they were each confronted by the question, "Do you go to school?" Of course they all answered in the affirmative, but when asked why they were not there to day they all had an excuse to offer. They were mostly bright, intelligent boys, though one or two of them who claimed to be fourteen and fifteen years old, said they were only in the high-first book. The leader of the wayward flock was Ed. Sprigge, better known by the street gamins as "Burglar Jack." He wore a smiling countenance and laughed to scorn the threats of the Chief to lock him up, but melted into tears when told he would be sent to the Reformatory. When asked what book he was in he replied "The third, straight!" but the manner in which he wrote "Pinnacle St." would not be considered strictly Spencerian. The Chief took their names, which were as follows: Arthur LaFabre, 11 years; Garnet Ballantyne, 14; John Armshaw, 13; Joseph Lazard, 14; James Johnston, 10; Fred Fairman, 15; Fred Coon, 14; Ed. Spriggs, 16. The Chief, who is Truant Officer, gave the boys a severe lecture and told them to go to their schools. He is going to make an example of truants hereafter, and parents who keep their children from school will be held liable.

The Life of Wesley.

A very entertaining and instructive lecture on "The Life of Wesley" was delivered last evening in Holloway St. Church by the pastor, Rev. J.A. McCamus. The lecture was illustrated by numerous beautiful lantern views which added to the enjoyment of the evening. The subject of the lecture, the able manner in which it was delivered and the views accompanying it, all merited a much larger audience than what greeted the lecturer last evening. Those who should have been there, but were not, missed a treat.

Talk About Cheap Neckwear.

The Oak Hall have just received and marked off 50 doz. neckwear. You want to see the fine new ties at 25 cts. We will stake our business reputation when we guarantee to sell you finer ties for 25 cts. than you can ever get at a 25c "sale," and no old stock. We ask young men who want 50c ties to call at the Oak Hall.

Out of Tea.

Try Strouds the tea dealers, we vouch for every pound of our tea being the standard for excellence. A good sweet tea 25c per lb. Our 30c per lb. tea a marvellous value! Try a pound of our 40, 50 or 60c tea, a little higher in price than you pay perhaps, but it's tea. Good tea goes the farthest, you relish it, and it's the cheapest in the end. Try a pound, they never fail to give satisfaction. Stroud's Tea and Coffee Store.

"Oh! doctor, I have sent for you certainly; still I must confess I have not the slightest faith in modern medical science." "Oh! that doesn't matter in the least. You see, a mule has no faith in the veterinary surgeon, and yet he cures him all the same."

Correspondence.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Since writing my last to you re House of Industry, I have been looking about a little as to where a suitable piece of land might be found to locate a home. It is a stipulation of the offer of 25 per cent by the Government that there must be not less than 40 acres of land attached, and there is now offered for sale only about 40 rods from the city limits a farm of 212 acres of land, reaching from the second concession road to the third concession road, known as the Severn farm and offered cheap, as I am told, less than half of the former valuation. The only building on it is a large barn, which would work in nicely if the county owned this whole farm. The south half is convenient to the city and gaol; the north half for a butter factory and dairy. Both the Dominion and Ontario Governments seem willing to assist in running an experimental butter factory and I know of no better place than the one I speak of. There is no cheese factory to interfere in its vicinity. A first class dairy country around, near to market, near to both water and rail shipping, convenient for any wishing to see the process of manufacture, good roads, east, west, north and south, and above all what better use can be made of the unfortunate souls (who are sent to prison or the Mercer to only learn seven times more evil than they knew before) than to place them under the charge of the Institution as apprentices to learn a useful trade to which, if I understand aright, they may be sentenced by the court, thereby made useful members of society, if not be compelled to earn an honest living while there, and any of them would prefer to work a year here rather than be sent to Toronto for six months. I would have in connection with the factory a first-class selection of dairy cows with all the best appliances for feeding, wintering and caring for them. In other words a miniature model farm, a slice off Guelph and Ottawa. Certainly not run by the county. But both Governments, to their praise be it said, seem to be vieing with each other as to which can do the most in furthering the dairy industry, and Mr. Editor I think there is not, out of Ontario, better facilities for establishing a model farm and dairy than the vicinity of Belleville surrounded as we are with the large counties of Hastings, Northumberland, Prince Edward, and Lennox and Addington. But as I have strayed away from a house of industry I leave that to my next.

Yours, &c.
G. S. JOHNSON.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Please make the following correction under the head of "Stricken Suddenly," Rev. J. S. Clarke, not Rev. J. S. Young. The facts are these:—

Rev. J. S. Clarke, Chairman of the Brighton District, arose early Monday morning in fair health, but when in the act of moving a scuttle of coal, fell over a chair and received an ugly wound on the top of his head. He remained unconscious for half an hour. Dr. Sanford was called, who sewed up the wound, and said that apoplexy was the cause of the fall. He is lying in a critical condition.

The Monetary Times says that "the suggestion of Mr. Bowell about a Canadian agent in Australia is worth acceptance."

The range of prices of horses in the United States is from $15.80 per head in New Mexico to $95.43 in Rhode Island, the average being $47.83.

It is said that Mr. A. McCracken, owner of the Temple Woollen Mills, Kildare, Ireland, purposes to erect a similar establishment at Mission City, B.C.

China buys largely of California flour and beans.

Enoch Noyes, a Maryland farmer, has felled a walnut tree 18 feet in circumference, 86 feet high, and believed to be 300 years old. The lumber is supposed to be worth $400, as walnut wood is now in good demand.

T. B. Terry says when he sends $100 worth of beef to the city he sends with it $15 worth of fertility, but when he sends $100 worth of potatoes he sends along only $7.40 worth of fertility.

The whiskey trust are now feeding 46,000 head of cattle on slops at their distilleries in the Western States.

At Portland, Me., there are now three large sailing vessels and one Norwegian steamer loading with spruce wood pulp for Europe. Within a short time no less than seven cargoes of wood pulp have been shipped from Maine to Europe.

Two counties in California have over 50,000 beehives and export 6,000,000 pounds of honey, besides 300,000 pounds of combs and 20,000 pounds of wax.

In one day last week beans to the value of $1,600 were sent from Chatham to the United States.

The Nova Scotia Government had introduced a measure for the promotion of co-operative dairying. The scheme as explained by the leader of the government provides that where any person establishes a cheese factory and combines a creamery with it the government will allow him $200 for the first year, $100 for the second year and $100 for the third year, being the sum of $400, extending over a period of three years, provided, however, that in no county shall there be more than two such establishments. Another limitation is that no grant shall be paid to any factory established after the first day of January, 1899.

The Peterborough Cheese Board has taken strong ground against members selling off the board and a committee has been appointed to draw up an agreement pledging salesmen not to sell off the board without permission, to be signed by all salesmen before they would be allowed to board cheese.

T. D. Miller shipped from Ingersoll recently six cases of Paragon, three boxes Stilton and six boxes Cheddars for Yokohama, Japan.

Presentation.

At the meeting of the Oxford Lodge Sons of England last night Bro. Hulme on behalf of the members of the lodge presented Past President Oliphant with a very handsome jewel and complimented him on the efficient manner in which he had conducted the business of the lodge during his term as president. Bro. Oliphant thanked Bro. Hulme for his kind remarks and the members of the lodge for the jewel.

AMUSEMENTS

"MICHAEL STROGOFF."

The sensational drama "Michael Strogoff" was presented last night at the opera house to a good house. Mr. Sawtelle in the character of "Michael Strogoff, or the Courier of the Czar," had ample scope to display his histrionic ability and his interpretation of the part was a revelation to the audience. Mrs. Sawtelle acted "Nadia Fedor" as only an artist can. The support throughout was excellent and the company are now assured of a liberal patronage for the rest of the week. To-night they will present "East Lynne."

Police Notes.

A whalebone whip is awaiting an owner at the police station.

Mrs. Wardhaugh reports a handsleigh stolen from her premises.

Peter Johnston, an Indian, was up for drunkenness, but the magistrate let him go, telling him not to do it again.

LOSS OF POWER and Manly Vigor, Nervous Debility, Paralysis, or Palsy, Organic Weakness and wasting Drains upon the system, resulting in dullness of mental Faculties, Impaired Memory, Low Spirits, Morose or Irritable Temper, fear of impending calamity, and a thousand and one derangements of both body and mind result from pernicious secret practices, often indulged in by the young, through ignorance of their ruinous consequences. To reach, re-claim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness, is the aim of an association of medical gentlemen who have prepared a book, written in plain but chaste language, treating of the nature, symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases. The World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., will, on receipt of this notice, with 10 cents (in stamps for postage) mail, sealed in plain envelope, a copy of this useful book. It should be read by every young man, parent and guardian in the land.

MARRIAGES

HOOEY—BENTLEY—At the residence of the bride's grandfather, David Pierson, Esq., Ameliasburg, on Wednesday, Feb. 14, 1894, by the Rev. S A. Duprau, MR STUART HOOEY, merchant, Trenton, to EMMA, only daughter of Lewis Bentley, New Smyrna, Florida.

A reporter in an article on the destitute poor spoke of great numbers of persons reduced to poverty by the "mysterious decrees of Providence." His astonishment may be imagined when he saw the printer had altered it to "mysterious decrease of provisions."

For Children and Adults.

DR. LOW'S Worm Syrup cures worms of all kinds in children or adults. It contains no injurious ingredients. Price 25c.

Spring Time Coming.

Before the advent of spring the system should be thoroughly cleansed and purified by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, which purifies the blood and cures dyspepsia, constipation, headache, liver complaint, etc.

Life has no pleasure higher or nobler than that of friendship.

Out of Sorts—Symptoms, Headache, loss of appetite, furred tongue, and general indisposition. These symptons, if neglected, develop into acute disease. It is a trite saying that an "once of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and a little attention at this point may save months of sickness and large Doctor's bills. For this complaint take from two to three of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills on going to bed, and one or two for three nights in succession, and a cure will be effected.

Nothing which has life for its basis can boast much stability.

Ease by day and repose by night are enjoyed by those who are wise enough to apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to their aching muscles and joints. A quantity easily held in the palm of the hand is often enough to relieve the most exquisite pain.

Every hand adds to the happiness or misery of mankind.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done oncee it will do again.

We must snatch the present moment, and employ it well.

Pleasant as syrup; nothing equals it as a worm medicine; the name is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. The greatest worm destroyer of the age.

Fatal Results of Delay.

Sickness generally follows the path of neglect. Dont be reckless! but prudently take a few doses of Scott's Emulsion immediately following exposure to cold. It will save you many painful days and sleepless nights.

FOR FATHER'S SAKE.

BY

REV. C. N. BARHAM.

Volney Beckner, who was born in 1748, at Londonderry, a town famous in history, was the son of a common sailor. As such he received no educational training beyond that which would enable him to follow in his father's steps. He was strong, active and robust in body, with mental qualities corresponding thereto; and, as a child, displayed such determined courage and resolution, that the captain of the vessel on which his father served was wont to point him out as a model to other boys, remarking: 'If this boy continues to display the same courage and good conduct, I doubt not that in time he will obtain a post superior to my own.'

The year was 1760; the season, autumn; the day, Sunday.

Volney Beckner, then twelve years old, was at sea with his father. The vessel was bound from Port-au-Prince, in the notorious West Indian island of St. Domingo, to France. It carried passengers as well as cargo. Among the former was a wealthy American planter, who, with his infant daughter, was making a voyage to Europe. After a few days of sea-sickness the child found her 'sea legs,' and frequently ran about the deck, amusing the sailors, with whom 'missy' speedily became a favorite with her infant prattle.

It was early evening: the ship lay almost becalmed; the ocean shone like burnished gold. The little American girl, with her nurse, came on deck. Suddenly the child sprang forward, ran to the head of the vessel, and, in a moment, fell overboard. The sailor, the elder Beckner, witnessed the accident, and, with the quickness of thought plunged into the sea to her rescue. With a few sturdy strokes he reached the child's side, and, seizing her, was about to make his way back to the ship, when, to his horror, he preceived the black fin of a shark above the water.

His shipmates, too, saw his danger. They did what they could. The boldest of them dared not share his peril, but they, with the passenger, began a brisk fire upon the cruel monster of the deep. Sailors, however, are proverbially bad marksmen. It may be the shark was aware of this. Certainly, he continued on his course until he had almost reached his intended victim.

It was an awful moment of suspense. The agonized planter was upon the deck, offering incredible reward to any who would rescue his daughter from her imminent peril. Men's faces were blanched with fear; their hearts stood still with dread.

Then it was that Volney Beckner, seeing his father's danger, did that which brave, strong men had not the courge to dare to undertake. Seizing a well-sharpened knife, the boy plunged into the sea to his father's rescue. Diving beneath the shark, he with skill, steadiness and resolution thrust his weapon into the monster. Writhing with agony, the voracious creature at once abandoned its intended prey, and turned with fury upon its youthful assailant, who, nothing daunted by the formidable appearance of his terrible foe, continued the unequal strife. Whilst the brute twisted and turned its unwieldy body in futile attempts to seize its adversary, Volney Beckner plunged his weapon again and again into its belly, in a vain endeavor to reach its vitals.

A fearful sight now presented itself to the horror stricken spectators on board the vessol. The sea, lashed into foam by the frenzied contortions of the monster, was flecked with blood. They dared no longer fire, lest they should hit the youthful combatant, whose heroism they admired, and for whose fate they feared. It was soon evident to all that the boy's strength was not sufficient to enable him to inflict a mortal wound. He became, apparently, convinced of this himself; for, reluctantly relinquishing the deadly strife, he endeavored to regain the ship.

Now, all was eagerness and haste on board. Ropes, life-belt and hen-coops were hurriedly thrown overboard, and the firing was recommenced. It was evident that the ropes were the only real means of safety available; for, as is sadly too common at sea, it would have been impossible to clear and launch the boats in time to effect a rescue. One of them had been utilized as a shelter for a cow, and the other was encumbered with lumber. For some time, the motion of the waves and the necessity of keeping away from the yawning jaws of the enraged shark prevented the swimmers from availing themselves of these means of escape. It was only after repeated efforts that father and son succeeded each in grasping one of the numerous ropes that were thrown out. All on board lent their assistance, and the two were soon above the water, suspended in mid-air. Their rescue seemed to be certain.

It was now that the awful tragedy occurred. The wounded fish, with the cunning peculiar to its bloodthirsty race, perceived that its assailant was on the point of escape. A moment more and its plan of revenge would be frustrated. With a tremendous effort, the shark almost threw itself out of the water, and catching between its horid serrated rows of teeth the unfortunate boy as he clung to the rope, it jerked its victim under the surface of the water and he was seen no more.

At this agonizing spectacle a cry of horror burst from the appalled spectators. Strong men fainted. Some, however, preserved sufficient presence of mind to render aid to the unhappy father, who safely regained the deck with the child who had been the innocent cause of the catastrophe.

It would afford me pleasure to be able to record the the capture of the murderous shark, the recovery of the mutilated remains and their decent burial at sea. But one must be true to one's fact. The monster, gorged with its meal, sank slowly into the depths, and the saddened crew, as good old John Bunyan would have said, saw it no more.

Thus perished the heroic boy, Volney Beckner, at the early age of twelve years; and, poor and unknown as he was, he leaves behind him a nobler name than many a titled leader who has sought the bubble, reputation, at the cannon's mouth. Short as was his life, it was sufficiently long to enable him to leave behind him a touching illustration of intrepidity, courage and filial affection which has seldom been surpassed, and to offer a noble example to the young of all ages.

'He, dying, left behind a name,
Great though unchronicled by fame.'

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

THE LOCAL ASSEMBLY.

Mr. Marter's Resolution to Lessen the Expenses of Government House.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—Mr. Mrter sprang a mine on the Government yterday. He introduced a resolution which will meet a universal echo in the country. He asked the members of the Government and House to vote for the abolition of he expenses in connection with the Goverment House.

The Speaker took the chair at 3.05 o'clock.

The following bills werentroduced:

Mr. Waters—For the prservation of life and property at railway cssings in cities, towns and villages.

Mr. Balfour—To amend the Pharmacy Act.

Mr. Waters—To amend the Assessment Act.

Dr. Ryerson—To amendhe Public School Act.

Dr. Ryerson—To amen the Assessment Act.

Mr. Clancy asked the Minister of Agriculture when the Housemight expect the report of the Agricultral College and farm.

Mr. Dryden—It willbe down in a few days.

Dr. Barr has given notice of a bill to amend the Coroners Ac It will seek to strike out that clause inhe Act requiring inquests to be held on pupers who die in jail, and to provide th an inquest need not be held if the jail srgeon gives a certificate of the cause of death, and the coroner certifies an inqiry be not necessary.

Dr. Barr proposes iroducing a bill to regulate the action of gents of implement manufacturers, in caseof dealing in kind with farmers and otlrs. For instance, where a horse or a loa of wheat is traded for a reaper, and the manufacturer is not paid, the bill will prvide that he shall seek recourse from hisrepresentative who made the deal. At psent the manufacturer cannot sue if mcey passes between the parties, but he can dealings in kind. Dr. Barr introducedthe same bill last year, but this session he will go further and apply its provisions to storekeepers as well.

Mr. Sol White gives notice of a bill relating to executions. he object will be to amend the law coerning executions, to make it broader inmost cases, and in the case of farmers to reserve their farming utensils and toolsexcept where they have been purchased uder contract.

Mr. Sol White's bil to amend the Act respecting Division Carts seeks to abolish inprisonment on the round of contempt of court, following thorder of a judge for a debtor to pay. Theill was brought in at a previous session, ut was voted down.

Mr. Bronson presered a petition from certain steam users inthe city of Ottawa praying for an Act respecting stationary engines. It provideshat engineers running engines of 15-hrse power and over should hold certificate.

One of the bills introduced by Mr. Waters provides for te abolition of the tax on personal propert, retaiing it upon income.

Mr. Meredith gave notice that he would move this resolution: 1. That the holding of alternate or biennial, intead of annual, sessions of the Legslature would sufficiently meet the requirements of the public service, and at the same time effect a large reduction in the expenditure of the province for legislation, ad in the opinion of this House the time as arrived when the change should be mae, subject, however, to the prerogative of the crown as to the summoning of the Legislature. 2. That it be referred to a committee consisting of——— to repare and report to this House with all convenient speed a bill for the purpose of iving effect to the foregoing resolution.

Mr. Meredith also gave notice that he would move this relution respecting Separate Schools: 1. hat in the opinion of this House the eldtion of Public and Separate school trusees in cities, towns and incorporated villges, and in townships in which township bards are established, should be by ballot. 2. That it be referred to a committee consting of ——— to prepare and report to te House, with all convenient speed, a bilto amend the Public and Separate SchoolAct so as to provide that in cities, town and incorporated villages and in townships in which township boards are establied, the elections of Public and Separat school trustees shall be by ballot.

The House adjouned at 8.30 p.m., until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Another Bomb in Paris.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—A bomb exploded yesterday in a small hotel, No. 69 Rue Ste. Jacques. The hotel is situated in the rear of the College of France. The proprietress of the place, a woman named Calabresi, and two lodgers were injured. A couple of strangers took a room on the second floor and went out again. Not returning, the landlady and the others proceeded to the room and saw the bomb on the mantelpiece, which exploded immediately afterwards, injuring the three and wrecking the house. It is thought that the opening of the door upset the equilibrium of the bomb, which fell to the floor.

Arrested for Shooting His Wife.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 21.—John Turner (colored), aged about 60, was yesterday arrested on the charge of shooting his wife. Jealousy is supposed to be the cause of their troubles. Mrs. Turner's injuries, it is thought, are not serious.

The Two Immigrant Girls.

HALIFAX, Feb. 21.—The young German female immigrant, who tried to commit suicide here, has been forwarded to Chicago, her destination. The other German girl is still here. The United States commissioners will not allow her to proceed.

Molecular Life in Diamonds.

It you think your polished diamond is a mere aggregation of inanimate crystals you are away wrong. If you imagine that its components are devoid of orderly, coherent motion, you are equally mistaken. It has come to pass that we are given to understand that diamonds are masses of active molecules. Inasmuch as every compact body is composed of multitudes of exceedingly small yet not indistinguishable molecules, it might be concluded that in a solid, at least, these particles would be clustered together in an indivisible mass. This theory as applied to diamonds is incorrect, and has been completely overthrown by the researches and experimentations of Sir Robert Ball, of Liverpool. The facts set forth by Mr. Ball with reference to the structure of the diamond are fascinating. He asserts that were the sensibility of our eyes increased so as to make them a few million times more powerful it would be seen that the diamond atoms, which form the perfect gem when aggregated in sufficient myriads, are each in a condition of rapid movement of the most complex description.

Each molecule would be seen swinging to and fro with the utmost violence among the neighboring molecules and quivering from the shocks it receives from encounters with other molecules, which occur millions of times in each second. The hardness and impenetrability so characteristic would at first sight seem to refute the supposition that it is no more than a cluster of rapidly moving particles; but the well known impenetrability of the gem arises from the fact that, when attempt is made to press a steel point into a stone, it fails, because the rapidly moving molecules of the stone batter the metal with such extraordinary vehemence that they refuse to allow it to penetrate or even to mark the crystalized surface.

When glass is cut with a diamond the edge which seems so hard is really composed of rapidly moving atoms. The glass which is cut is also merely a mass of moving molecules, and what seems to happen is that as the diamond is pressed forward its several particles, by their superior vigor drive the little particles of glass out of the way.

Highly Praised.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, sprains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. I have recommended it to many friends and they also speak highly of it.

MRS. HIGHT, Montreal, Que.

If there was no cowardice there would be little insolence.

In his VEGETABLE PILLS, Dr. Parmelee has given to the world the fruits of long scientific research in the whole realm of medical science, combined with new and valuable discoveries never before known to man. For Delicate and Debilitated Constitutions Parmelee's Pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

The brightest sunshine of success is not without a cloud.

Cured his Boils in one Week.

DEAR SIRS,—I was covered with pimples and small boils, until one Sunday I was given ½ of a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters by the use of which the sores were sent flying in about one week's time.

FRED CARTER, Haney, B. C.

I can answer for the truth of the above.

T. C. CHRISTIAN, Haney, B. C.

"Is that piece of bric-a-brac all your rich relatives left you?" inquired the visitor "Yes, sir," sighed the poor relation; "my vase is my fortune."

Excellent Remedy.

GENTLEMEN,—We have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our house for over three years and find it an excellent remedy for all forms of coughs and colds. In throat and lung troubles it affords instant relief.

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Every Dose Effective

TO THE LADIES.

Someone has said that "the nearest way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Now, while we do not in all cases accept the statement as true, we believe there have been instances where the truth of it has been verified. Doubtless scores of ladies who read this have epicurean husbands who come home to lunch and tea wearied and worried and occasionally it takes considerable to please them, and your minds are taxed to their utmost to know how to solve the problem. Let us assist you in your dilemma. Call in our store when down town and if you don't see just what you would like might we not suggest something dainty which could be made for you? Order it for tea, and when the "lord of the manor" puts in an appearance he will be so pleased it will be a question which will be the more so you or he.

The Advocate of Annexation and Reputed Millionaire Arrested.

FORGERIES AND EMBEZZLEMENT

Are the Serious Offences With Which He is Charged—A Long List of Irregular Transactions Which It is Claimed He is Guilty of—Sensational Sequel to His Recent Insolvency.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Erastus Wiman, formerly manager for R. G. Dun & Co.'s mercantile agency, builder of the Staten Island Rapid Transit railroad and a prominent advocate of annexation of Canada to the United States, was arrested yesterday charged with forgeries and embezzlements amounting to $229,000. He was arraigned before Judge Martins and committed to the Tombs in default of $25,000 bail.

The arrest was made yesterday afternoon at the office of Mr. Wiman's son-in-law, Norman S. Willer, in the Washington building, on a bench warrant, issued by Judge Martins soon after the grand jury had handed down the indictments charging Wiman with forgery in the second degree.

Mr. Wiman expressed some surprise at his arrest and then asked if there would be any opportunity to get bail. He said he ought to have a lawyer and would like to be represented by counsel. An effort was made by friends to get bail in the afternoon, but without success. Neither did Mr. Wiman have counsel when he was taken to the General Sessions by the detectives.

As soon as it was known that Mr. Wiman had been arrested Assistant District Attorney Lindsay made known the complaint on which the indictments were founded. The complaint is as follows:

11 Wall street.

John R. Fellows, District Attorney:

"I beg to submit to you for your official action this complaint of the firm of R. G. Dun & Co. against Erastus Wiman for the crime of forgery and ask you to send the same to the grand jury. I have taken great pains to investigate these charges for the purpose of satisfying myself whether any successful explanation or defence of them can be made, and I think you will agree with me that clearer cases more easily proved by reputable witnesses have rarely if ever been submitted to the authorities.

"The association known as the firm of R. G. Dun & Co., with which the defendant Wiman was connected during the period covering the act complained of, was formed on January 1, 1889, but Wiman for many years prior to that had business relations with Mr. Dun.

"Wiman was not a partner of Mr. Dun in the usual sense. Under the articles of association he had no right title or interest in the property and good will of the business or profits thereof, receiving only such sum for salary for faithful service rendered, and that the amount of profit should only be the basis of determining the amount of salary. It was also provided in the articles of association that he should not employ the name of R. G. Dun & Co. except in the regular and proper business of the said mercantile agency, and that he should not use the name of the said association in issuing, making, drawing or endorsing any note, bill of exchange, draft or other obligation, except only in endorsements of such papers for the account of the association.

"He also had a right to sign cheques for firm purposes only. All Mr. Wiman's relations to Mr. Dun, who was the sole owner of the business, its assets, property of every description, goodwill and profits were expressed in these papers. Wiman was a salaried manager for Mr. Dun with such powers only as the contract gave him with additional power to draw cheques. The property of R. G. Dun & Co. was not his property in any sense. The moneys of R. G. Dun & Co. were not his moneys in any sense, and the profits of R. G. Dun & Co. not his profits, and yet by various acts of embezzlement, through misrepresentations, concealments, breaches of his agreement, misuse of the powers confided to him, and gross usurpation of powers with which he was not trusted. He succeeded during the years 1888, 1890, 1891, 1892, and up to February, 1893, in stealing from Mr. Dun the enormous sum of $229,018.90.

"That sum he owes Mr. Dun to-day. That in view of his relation to the property of Mr. Dun, which Mr. Wiman helped to manage under the name of R. G. Dun & Co., he is guilty of the crime of having embezzled the whole or the greater part of this sum I have little doubt. He has committed so many crimes that the selection for prosecution is difficult, but out of the long list of his offences I have selected for presentation to you two forgeries and two or more larcenies so perfectly clear, so easily established, and so indefensible that they will serve the purpose of prosecution without reference almost to others.

"In February, 1893, R. G. Dun & Co. owed upwards of $10,000 to E. W. Bullinger of this city for materials purchased on the 6th of February, 1893. Wiman being in urgent straits for money directed the cashier of R. G. Dunn & Co. to make out a cheque to the order of Mr. Bullinger and instead of transmitting it to him in part payment of his account deliberately forged the name of E. W. Bullinger on the back of the cheque and deposited it in his own credit in his own bank. The account of Bullinger on the books of the firm was debited with that house in the usual course of time. I need hardly say that these acts of Wiman's were wholly without the knowledge of Mr. Dun or of any of his associates in the firm of R. G. Dun & Co. and that since then they have paid to Mr. Bullinger the sum which Mr. Wiman on the day named appropriated by means of forgery to his own use.

"A few days before the Bullinger case just recited, on January 20, 1893, Wiman committed another forgery under circumstances very similar. On that date R. G. Dun & Co. owed the Campbell Printing Press and Manufacturing Co. the sum of $5,580 for two printing presses purchased in May, 1892. Wiman procured from the cashier of R. G. Dun & Co. a cheque to the order of Ogden Brower, treasurer of the Campbell Co., on the pretext that he desired to pay the account. He then went to the Campbell Company, and telling them that R. G. Dun & Co. were short of funds, asked them whether they would like notes for their account instead of cash. On Mr. Brower acquiescing in his propositions, he made two notes covering the amount in his own name and delivered them to him. He then forged the name of Ogden Brower, treasurer, on the back of the cheque and appropriated it to his own use. All of these facts were concealed from the knowledge of Mr. Dun or any of his associates, but they subsequently, on discovering them, paid the Campbell Company the amount of their account.

Mr. Dun first learned of any of Wiman's crimes in the latter part of February, 1893. Neither he nor his assistants in R. G. Dun & Co. had any suspicion of the extent of them or of the amount embezzled by him. That could only be ascertained by a critical examination of their books, which has recently been completed. But on discovering some of them Mr. Dun immediately, on the 20th day of February, 1893, terminated his contract with Wiman, dismissed him from his employ and has never seen him since.

"On learning that his crimes had been detected Wiman offered to transfer to Mr. Dun certain real estates interests on Staten Island of doubtful value, but Mr. Dun, learning that Wiman was insolvent, refused to accept them or to receive any preference over his other creditors. Wiman therefore made a formal assignment for the benefit of his creditors, but his assets have amounted to almost nothing.

"Mr. Dun did not submit the proof of Wiman's crimes to the authorities on first discovering them for several reasons. In the first place he was moved by considerations of sympathy for Wiman's family, with whom he had been on terms of friendship for many years, and the piteous appeals for mercy which Wiman made to him in a letter. In the second place he had then no appreciation of the extent of Wiman's embezzlement nor of the length of time during which he had systematically abused his confidence and betrayed the trust reposed in him. The whole history of his many doings had to be unearthed from the voluminous records of the business of four or five years. It has required a vast amount of time and labor to find all the irregularities by which he succeeded in embezzling so large a sum of money. The whole account, with the history of each item, was not made up until a comparatively recent date.

"Again Mr. Dun was led to believe by the gross exaggeration of Wiman to the value of Wiman's interests in Staten Island, that it was possible to realize something substantial for his creditors, many of whom would suffer more severely than Mr. Dun himself, although not in so large a sum. In view of the fraud practised upon them as well as upon himself, and upon the conviction that a man of Wiman's bad character ought not longer to be allowed to masquerade as an honest man in this community, and as an adviser and exhorter of youth, and out of a sense of obligation to the mercantile world with which he is so closely identified, he has decided that his duty requires him to expose Wiman's conduct and to hand him over to the authorities that he may be dealt with as the law directs."

There was no signature to the foregoing complaint but its authorship is credited to ex-District Attorney Delancey Nicholl.

The names of the witnesses signed were: R. D. Douglas, E. W. Bullinger, Ogden Brauer, treasurer Campbell Printing Co. and cashier R. G. Dun & Co.

On being arraigned before Judge Martins last night Mr. Wiman was asked whether he would furnish bail. "No, sir," said Mr. Wiman, "I do not intend to."

Judge Martins then held him in $25,000 bail and he was committed to the Tombs prison. Before going to jail Wiman sent a despatch to his counsel, Benjamin F. Tracey.

If there is anything in this list of charges and complaints (and even Mr. Wiman's enemies would hope that there is not) he will be placed in a most trying position. His hitherto unimpeachable character for honesty and integrity will lead the large majority of people both in Canada and the United States to believe that the charges are less the result of justice that is sought than desire for the venting of personal animosity to Mr. Wiman.

Mr. Wiman asserts his utter innocence of any intention to willingly defraud.

THE BRAZIL REBELLION.

British Merchants Refused Assistance From Their Admiral.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 22.—The merchant vessels at this port are suffering extremely for want of water because of the refusal of the insurgents to allow a water boat to go about the bay and supply such craft with fresh water. The captain of the British merchantman Nasmyth made application to the commander of a British man-of-war for assistance necessary to enable him to obtain a supply of water and was contemptuously refused.

The merchant skipper proposed applying to Admiral Benham for aid, whereupon the commander of the war vessel sneeringly answered that he might do as he liked. The captain of the merchantman then appealed to Admiral Benham, who assigned Lieut. Kilbourn to guard the water boat under the American flag. Vessels of all nations are seeking the protection of the United States flag. British sailors are openly cursing the English officials, who, they declare, are sacrificing commerce to aid Da Gama. Evidence of the existing feeling in this respect is given in the fact that at the principal landing yesterday the British flag was trampled in the dirt by British sailors, whose officers expressed no word of disapprobation of their act, which was accompanied by cheers.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—A despatch from Montevideo, by way of Lisbon, says that all the vessels of the fleet of the Brazilian government, with the exception of the dynamite cruiser Nictheroy, have joined the squadron of the insurgents and sailed away from the harbor of Rio.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 22.—A despatch from Rio Janeiro says: The forts have prevented the insurgent warship Republica, with Admiral Mello aboard, from entering the bay. Three officers suspected of treason have been shot at Santos. Foreigners are still forced to serve in the army despite the energetic protests of the consuls. Many political prisoners have escaped and have joined the insurgents in Para. Hundreds are dying here daily of yellow fever.

Cut His Comrade Throat.

DANVILLE, Pa., Feb. 22.—Four young men from this place went sleigh riding the other night and one of them now lies dying with his throat cut. John Meyer is the victim and Stephen Hoffman, who wielded the fatal knife, is missing. Besides Meyer and Hoffman, a youth named McCormick and another named Lenhart were in the party. They formed a jovial crowd until they neared Washingtonville. Then a quarrel arose. They stopped at the Hedden hotel, and after struggling for a short time Hoffman threw Meyer to the floor. He drew a knife and cut the prostrate youth's throat from ear to ear. Since then Hoffman has been missing. Meyer was too badly injured to be brought to his home here, and he now lies at the hotel in a semi-conscious condition. Lenhart and McCormick have been arrested.

Died from Glanders.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Sophie Beresford, of this city, has just died here from glanders, which she caught from a horse purchased from a dealer named Forrester. Her face after death presented a horrible sight. Warrants will be sworn out for the arrest of Forrester, who, it is alleged, knew the horse was diseased at the time of sale.

THE RIGHT OF PROHIBITION

Argument of the Case May be Postponed Till the May Sitting.

MR. CURRAN AND MANITOBA SCHOOLS

The Solicitor-General Declares That the Government Has Stood by the Constitution—A Big Dairying Scheme—Applications for Free Seed—Other Gossip at the Capital.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Solicitor-General Curran moved in the Supreme Court that a day be fixed for the argument on the question of the jurisdiction of the provinces to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors. Mr. J. J. McLaren, Q. C., will represent Ontario, and Mr. Blackstock the brewer distiller. The Solicitor-General was instructed to give notice to Attorneys-General of the different provinces and the territories. The case will be placed at the foot of the Ontario list so as to fix time for all to be ready. Two counsel will be heard pro and con and no more. The Solicitor-General will represent the name of the Dominion Government. It is stated that Chief Justice Strong desires to hear the judgment and the case may be postponed until the first day of May sitting to enable him to do so at the expiry of his leave of absence.

Hon. J. J. Curran Speaks.

Hon. J. J. Curran, Solicitor General, delivered an address last night before the Macdonald Club. It was the third of the weekly series and there was a good attendance. Mr. Curran dealt with the leading political issues of the day at length. Speaking of the Manitoba schools question he said that the Government had stood by the constitution and were determined to stand by it.

A Big Dairying Scheme.

The farmers of Carleton, Renfrew and Lanark have a big dairying scheme on hand. It is their intention to start the largest creamery known in Canada during the coming summer. A convention of the leading dairymen of these counties was held a few days ago and a delegation was appointed to go to St. Albans, Vermont, to enquire into the management of the famous St. Alban's creamery, which is acknowledged to be the largest in the world. The delegation, which included Mr. Chas. Mohr, of Galetta, has returned, and are in high spirits over the proposed establishment of the creamery, having observed for themselves the success of the creamery at St. Albans.

Test Seed Applications.

The experimental farm has received between 12,000 and 13,000 applications for tree seed for test purposes from farmers all over the Dominion. They came in at the rate of 75 to 100 every day. Each year the Government farm makes a distribution of seed. Now they think they have sufficient of a list to fill and have been obliged to shut down. No further requests will be attended to.

McGreevy-Connolly Expenses.

Warden Conn, W. S. Hodgins, M.P.; J. W. Monk, M.P.P.; Reeve Ballantyne, of Ottawa East, County Clerk MacNab and County Treasurer Cowan will wait upon Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, on Friday, to interview him relating to the Government paying the costs of the McGreevy-Connolly trial instead of the county. The costs amount to over $1,200.

Ask for a Grant of Land.

Mayor Cox, accompanied by Hon. J. J. Haggart, Minister of Railways and Canals, viewed the improvements in course of operation on the banks of the canal yesterday. Mr. Cox asked the Minister to present the city with the piece of land along the west bank of the canal recently owned by Mr. Leseuer, comprising 1,400 feet in length and 200 feet in width, for a city park or terrace. The Minister seemed to be quite favorable to the scheme and will have his officials report on it, promising at the same time that the Government will either fix it up for park purposes or grade it and present it to the city.

Senator Howlan's Appointment.

Lord Aberdeen signed an Order-in-Council in Toronto yesterday appointing Senator Howlan Governor of Prince Edward Island. It is understood that Mr. Howlan will be sworn in at Ottawa, by his Excellency, to-day.

Press Men's Complaints.

L. W. Shannon, Kingston; P. D. Ross, Ottawa, and C. W. Young, Cornwall, a delegation from the Canadian Press Association, waited on the Tariff Committee yesterday. In support of their request for a reduction of the duty on type, cylinder printing presses and plates, the raw material of the printer and publisher. The delegates pointed out that these items at present bear an average duty of 30 per cent., the advantage of which protection accrues entirely to two or three concerns in Canada, employing in all not over 100 persons, while in 1,000 odd printing and publishing offices throughout the country probably 30,000 hands are employed. They asked that this important matter should be rectified, showing the unfairness of taxing the whole industry for the benefit of the ones mentioned. Messrs. Foster, Wood and Wallace promised to consider the matter.

Destitution in Massachusetts.

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—Owing to the closing down of factories in Three Rivers, Mass., a family named Lemay, husband, wife and three children, arrived at the central police station in a destitute condition. The husband told the police that the authorities in Three Rivers had shipped him to Montreal, as they could do nothing for him. Food was provided for the children and the wife while the husband was out trying to hunt up some friends he knew years ago in the city. Lemay said there were dozens of families in the town he had come from who had no means and were being housed and fed by charitable societies.

Well-Known Writer Disappears.

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—A. J. Pickard, one of the best known printers in the city, has disappeared and his friends believe that he drowned himself while temporarily insane. Mr. Pickard was well known as a humorous writer.

Omladina Members Sentenced.

VIENNA, Feb. 22.—The trial of the seventy-two members of the Omladina society charged with conspiracy in connection with the murder of Rudolf Mrva, has terminated. Twenty of the prisoners were sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from two to eight years, fifty received sentences ranging from two weeks to two months, and two were acquitted.

The Chicago Edison Company.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—The stockholders of the Chicago Edison Company met yesterday in special session, and voted to increase their capital stock from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. The proceeds are to be used for extensions and improvements.

THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

Mr. Speaker Too Ill to Perform His Duties—A Petition from South Wentworth.

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—The members of the House were very sorry to learn yesterday when the House assembled that Hon. Thomas Ballantyne was too ill to perform his duties as Speaker. He is suffering from a severe cold. Sir Oliver Mowat moved that in the absence of the Speaker Hon. J. Baxter, the former Speaker, should take the chair. The motion was adopted.

Mr. Awrey presented a petition from the County Council of South Wentworth, asking that in future county officials should be elected by the people.

These bills were introduced and read a first time:

Mr. Snyder—A bill to amend the Landlords and Tenants Act.

Mr. Barr—A bill to regulate the sale of goods in trust to agents.

Mr Tait—A bill to amend the Act incorporating the People's Life Insurance Co.

Mr. Conmee—A bill to amend the Separate School Act.

Mr. Paton—A bill respecting the railway debenture debt of the township of Floss.

Mr. Meredith asked: Has the commission referred to in the speech of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, at the opening of the session, with respect to the mode of remunerating and appointing certain provincial officials, been issued, if so, who are the commissioners?

Sir Oliver Mowat replied. He said that the commission had not as yet been appointed.

Mr. Clarke asked: Did the Government in the year 1892 or 1893, instruct Mr. J. K. Stewart, Provincial Inspector of Licenses, to enquire into the operation of the license law in the city of Hamilton, and, as to the accommodation provided by the places to which licenses were given in the city. Has the provincial inspector made a report to the Government in relation to these matters, and if so, did he find that places were licensed which had not the requisite accommodation?

Mr. Harcourt answered. He said that the Government had so instructed Mr. Stewart, that he had so reported and that he had found that there were instances when the law had not been complied with.

Mr. Stratton intends introducing a bill to amend the Assessment Act. At present the assessor returns the roll to the clerk of the municipality before the first of May. If this bill passes the roll need not be returned before September.

Mr. Harcourt said yesterday that he had not yet decided on what day he would deliver the budget speech.

A deputation of the Knights Templar waited on the Government yesterday and requested that a bill should be passed abolishing the retail sale of liquor. Sir Oliver Mowat, replying on behalf of his Cabinet, said that the Government had not intended moving in the matter this session, but since the request had been made by so influential a body he would reconsider the question.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 22.—Jacob Kapar, aged 55, met his death yesterday at the hands of Frank Geiser, a 16-year-old boy. Both were employed at the Sayers and Scoville carriage factory. Kapar, who was intoxicated, commenced quarrelling with Geiser and called him several vile names. Then he threw a hammer at the boy and started toward him. Geiser seized a pair of long trimmer shears and as Kapar reached him plunged them into the drunken man's left breast. Kapar died in a few minutes. Geiser was arrested.

Farmer Burned to Death.

QUEBEC, Feb. 22.—A farmer named Pepin was burned to death at Jeune Lorette on Tuesday evening while trying to save his stock from a burning barn. Pepin had been trying to thaw a pump which had been frozen, using for this work live coals, which he left in a tin vessel. While he was away one of the horses on moving about upset the can and this fire caught to the building. The farmer, perceiving the flames issuing from the building, rushed forth to save his stock, when the door locked upon him and he was burned to a crisp.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Signed, T. S MCINTEE.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

Thirty two kings and princes have borne the name of Albert. It is of Anglo Saxon derivation and means "all bright."

BROOMS! BROOMS!!

We have just received another large shipment of those 2 for 25c. brooms. These goods are now too well known to need any comment from us. We have also added to our stock a new line of brooms, for those who prefer a heavier one, than our old reliable No. 3. This, like the other is specially made for us, and will be known as our No. 4, and like our No. 3, will defy competition. It is made from selected, straight (not steamed) green stock, is 4 tie, and easily 2 inches longer than any other 25c. broom. This means considerably more wear, but the price instead of being higher, is lower; we have marked them down to 23c. each. One trial will convince the most skeptical.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

THE MANITOBA SCHOOL CASE.

The decision of the Supreme Court on the points submitted in the Manitoba school case has removed—virtually at least—an irritating question from the political arena. The opinions of the leading journals on the topic, as representing the various shades of political thought, are therefore worthy of perusal.

The Empire, in a short article, comments as follows:

In so far as this decision may finally settle the controversy, it removes from the arena of public agitation a case that has been attempted to be made in some quarters a political matter, and one which might have disturbed the peace and good feeling of the community. Since the question, however, was lifted into the higher plane of constitutional and legal right this danger has gradually receded, and now the judgment of the Supreme Court still further closes the door to profitless contention. The policy of the federal authorities in referring the question to the court was strictly in accordance with the rule unanimously laid down by Parliament on motion of Mr. Edward Blake a few years ago, that the proper settlement of such difficult and delicate matters lay in the judicial and not the political arena. The result, therefore, is reached purely on constitutional grounds, and will be accepted by the people at large in this sense.

The Globe speaks in a very moderate tone on the subject, saying at the close of a long article:

It would be well if the matter could now be closed, so far as the courts and the Federal Parliament are concerned. If the Catholics of Manitoba are suffering from an injustice they are not devoid of recourse. There is a constitutional place for the agitation and advocacy of their views, namely, the Legislature of Manitoba. They may be able to console themselves with the reflection that in the decision of such a matter both contentions could not be upheld, and that if the contention of the friends of Separate Schools had succeeded it is extremely unlikely that the hopes of re-establishing the schools would have been much increased thereby.

The decision should be accepted philosophically. Manitoba's right to arrange her Public School system according to her liking cannot be assailed. Friends of Separate Schools may be pardoned for feeling that they have sustained a loss, but it is just possible that those who succeed them in the next generation, seeing their children in the enjoyment of such efficient schools as only a unified system can ensure, will be quite unable to sympathize with the alarms and regrets of their predecessors.

There is just this to be said, in reply to the Globe's comments, that no one is likely to seek to arouse prejudice over this question except that burning and shining light of Gritism the renegade Tarte. Should he do so, we will then be able to gauge the sincerity of our contemporary in its advice to its party to accept the decision philosophically.

The Mail, which gives a brief but comprehensive review of the points involved, holds the opinion that there will be further agitation of the question. It says:

Now that a decision favorable to the Manitoba Legislation has been given the issue will proceed to the Judicial Committee once again. There, no doubt, the freedom of the province will be asserted. Unhappily, however, this will not necessarily end the difficulty. Mr. Justice Taschereau pointed out that the decision of the courts was only an opinion, binding nobody, and ending no controversy. This view of the situation is well founded. Although the courts may determine that the Federal power should not interfere the pressure for intervention will be continued. For this outlook there is the authority of Archbishop Tache, Mr. LaRiviere, and Mr. Tarte. The duty of defending provincial rights has, therefore, still to be performed.

We hope that our contemporary may prove to be wrong in the foregoing opinion. It must, however, be remembered, that the law against which Mr. Tarte, who is Mr. Laurier's First Lieutenant in Quebec, has been fulminating for months past, emanated from the Grit Government of Manitoba and that the Grits of Quebec are those who are trying to attach odium to the Conservative party in connection with the affair, in the hope of securing a majority in that province for Mr. Laurier at the next general election. That they will fail is beyound question. The people have heard the cry of "Wolf!" too often to be again deceived by any appeal to their prejudices of race or of creed.

Since the foregoing was placed in type, it has been learned that the French Conservative papers of Montreal have very little to say in regard to the Supreme Court decision on the Manitoba school question, and are evidently determined to stand by the Government in the matter. The Patrie, Liberal, denounces the Government in a violent article, and wants to know what action Mr. Ouimet and Mr. Angers intend taking. This bears out our opinion that further agitation is likely to proceed only from Grit sources.

That a final resort to litigation is to be made is announced by a despatch from Ottawa which states that a message was received there from Mr. Ewart, Q.C., who represented the Roman Catholic minority of Manitoba when the case was argued in the Supreme Court, who is at present in England, showing that the minority will exercise their right of appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Mr. Ewart cabled to the Supreme Court asking that copies of the judges' opinion might be sent to him in England by the first mail.

DR. J. G. BOURINOT, C.M.G.

HIS LATEST WORK "INTELLECTUAL STRENGTH AND WEAKNESS."

A Canadian Who Has Thoroughly Studied His Native Country—The Work He Has Done and is Doing—A Model Literary Official.

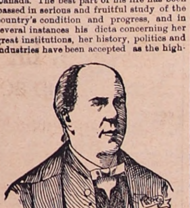
Dr. J. G. Bourinot, Clerk of the House of Commons, has recently added another to the list of able and useful works which have won him a wide reputation at home and abroad. Few men are better fitted than he to write authoritatively on the "Intellectual Strength and Weakness" of Canada. The best part of his life has been passed in serious and fruitful study of the country's condition and progress, and in several instances his dicta concerning her great institutions, her history, politics and industries have been accepted as the highest and most trustworthy evidence on record. Besides, by reason of his connection with the Royal Society of Canada, Dr. Bourinot enjoyed special facilities for handling the wide subject designated in the title of his new book. By virtue of that connection he has been for several years past brought into personal contact with the most representative minds in the country, and it may therefore be claimed for him that, more than another, he was able to gauge with at least approximate correctness the intellectual productive power of the nation.



DR. J. G. BOURINOT, C. M. G.

The expectations formed by the reader who takes up Dr. Bourinot's book, with an interest in the subject and confidence in the author, are not doomed to disappointment. It is a clear, comprehensive, and impartial review of the various works extant which constitute the intellectual output of Canada from her earliest days up to the present time. Exhaustive criticism has not been attempted. It would not have been in place in a work of this character, the main portion of which is, in fact, an address delivered by Dr. Bourinot last May before the Royal Society. But enough is said to present such works as are mentioned in a true light, and to furnish the intelligent reader with a valuable book of reference, almost the only one of its kind yet offered to the public. It is, besides, the work of a patriot, evincing a deep and unselfish interest in the progress of the country, and calculated to stir up a laudable ambition in the breasts of the talented youth of the rising generation.

Dr. Bourinot is a native of Cape Breton, an interesting section of country which has produced, by the way, quite a galaxy of notable men. His father was the late Hon. Lieut.-Col. John Bourinot, a Huguenot of Norman descent, who resided in Sydney for fifty years, where he filled the office of Vice-Consul for France. Previous to Confederation, he represented Cape Breton in the House of Assembly at Halifax, and afterward was called to the Senate. His son, John George Bourinot, was carefully educated, passing from the hands of an experienced tutor into Trinity College, Toronto, where he reaped many honors during his brilliant course. After leaving the university, young Bourinot adopted the profession of literature, choosing journalism as the most convenient avenue to success. He began as a parliamentary reporter. The work proved a valuable training for the young novice, who was naturally influenced by the speeches of such men and Joseph Howe and Charles Tupper, then in their prime.

Shortly after, he founded the Halifax Reporter, and combined with his editorial duties those of chief reporter of the Nova Scotia House of Assembly. After Confederation, he was appointed short-hand writer to the Senate, and removed to Ottawa, where he has since resided. In 1873 he took the post of second assistant clerk of the House of Commons.

Dr. Bourinot's literary labors have always kept pace with his official ones. He contributed various articles of interest to leading Old Country magazines, such as Blackwood, the Quarterly Review, the Westminster, the Scottish Review, and his writings were favorable commented on by the London press. His name is familiar to readers of the Magazine of American History, in which most of his historical papers appeared. His greatest work is his book on the Practice and Procedure of Parliament. He has also written an interesting monograph on Cape Breton.

Dr. Bourinot has been twice married, and is still in the prime of life. No doubt he will yet produce other works as interesting and valuable as those which have already been made public.

In 1893 the Queen, in recognition of Dr. Bourinot's distinguished services, bestowed upon him the order of Commander of St. Michael and St. George.

PARIS IS PANIC-STRICKEN.

Anarchists and Their Bombs are Creating Considerable Stir.

A NUMBER OF SUSPECTS ARRESTED

One, a Real Count, With a Harmless Box of Paint in His Possession, is Dragged into Limbo—The Woman Wounded in the Recent Explosion Dies of the Injuries Received.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—Five anarchists were arrested yesterday on suspicion of having caused an explosion in Avenue Saint Ouen. The explosion was attributed to the discharge of a bomb but it was subsequently learned that it was caused by the ignition of gas. The police however, found eleven sham bombs on the premises and these were taken to headquarters for examination with a view of ascertaining whether they were really intended to be filled with explosive material.

Mme. Calabresi, who was wounded by the bomb explosion on Tuesday, died last night.

Police Commissary Dresch, who arrested Ravachol and has been persecuted ever since by the anarchists, is tired of his office and has asked to be transferred to a country district.

A tin box, supposed to contain an infernal machine, was found in the corridor of the Comedie Francaise last evening. It was sent to the municipal laboratory for examination.

Paris is panic stricken. Everybody carrying a parcel is suspected and watched by the police. Metal boxes are regarded as presumptive evidence of evil intentions. Count Laveaux was arrested as a suspicious character because he was carrying a tin box under his arm and declined to open it at the command of a policeman. When opened the box was found to contain paints.

The police have arrested an anarchist named Rivoli who had just arrived here from England. A man declaring his name to be Etienne Rabardy called at the main police office in Rouen. He said that he was not and never had been an anarchist, and that the person who set the time bombs in Paris on Tuesday had assumed the name. Several months ago, the man said, he had lost his wallet, which contained his civil paper and electoral tickets. The anarchist who set the bombs, he thinks, found the wallet and used the papers to screen his identity. The police are inclined to accept this story.

IN THE ITALIAN CHAMBER.

Premier Crispi Replies to the Attack on Government Made by the Radicals.

ROME, Feb. 22.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday Premier Crispi delivered a stirring reply to the attack made upon the government by the Radical leader, Cavalotti, concerning the action of the government in declaring a state of siege in Sicily. Crispi declared that the government would resort to the most energetic measures to repress any revolutionary movement started by persons or parties whose aim was to weaken Italy. The government has acted entirely within the law in declaring a state of siege in Massa di Carrara without having been asked to do so by the people affected by the uprising. In taking this step the government had not conceded anything to its adherents or its opponents. The remarks of the premier elicited a storm of Radical protests.

Baron Sonnino, Minister of Finance and ad interim Minister of the Treasury, made a statement of the financial condition of the Treasury and the various governmental departments. Prefacing his statement he declared that he was about to reveal the absolute truth, which he would set forth without any attempt whatever to mitigate the gravity of the situation. During the presentation of his statement Baron Sonnino was listened to with the closest attention. He announced a deficit for the fiscal year of 155,000,000 lire, which he said was likely to be sensibly increased in the coming years nuless remedial measures were immediately applied.

Will Not Pay Another Visit.

BERLIN, Feb. 22. — The Hamburger Nachrichten states that Prince Bismarck will not pay another visit to Berlin for some time to come, the ex-Chancellor having expressed himself to that effect while awaiting the arrival of the Emperor at the railway station on Monday.

Prevent Anarchists Demonstrating.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—This morning's newspapers insist that the Government shall prevent the anarchists from marching in a body behind Martial Bourdin's bier to the grave. The anarchists are planning to make Bourdin's funeral the occasion of an elaborate revolutionary display.

Dynamite Factory Explodes.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 22.—The dynamite factory of James S. Miller at Sunneytown, exploded yesterday with a noise which was heard for ten miles. A man named Fritz was in the building alone at the time and he and the factory were blown to atoms.

POLITICS IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Work for the Coming Provincial Elections Begins in Earnest.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 22.—The political campaign opened here last night, the convention of the Liberal party nominating W. S. Fielding, M. J. Power and William Roche, the late members, as their candidates for Halifax County. All of them made speeches at a ratification meeting, accepting the nominations.

The Conservatives hold their convention to-day, when three candidates will be placed in the field by them. The whole province will be agitated for the few next weeks, and from present indications every seat will be contested.

Terrible Ending to a Row.

ITHACA, N.Y., Feb. 22.—The Cornell freshmen were to hold their banquet on Tuesday night and arrangements had been made to meet outside the town and march to the banquet hall. It was a noisy procession. The sophomores used every endeavor to spoil the parade and the uproar was awful. There were broken heads and noses and few retained their hats. The freshmen, however, reached the hall almost intact and everything went smoothly for an hour, when a sensation was sprung upon the people outside the hall. First appeared a colored woman led by two men. She was almost white, so bad was her condition. Means were taken to resuscitate her, but proved of no avail, and at 11 o'clock she died. Later a number of students were carried out, but all but one revived. Thomas McNeil, of Pittsburg, Pa., has just expired from the effects of the gas poisoning. The police investigated the cause and discovered that they were poisoned with gas. In a room directly under the hall some one had bored two holes in the floor and had connected rubber tubes to a jar containing chlorine.

Earthquake in New Jersey.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 22.—A slight earthquake shock was felt here yesterday morning. It lasted about 15 seconds. Houses were badly shaken but no serious damage was done.

LAMBERTVILLE, N. J., Feb. 22.—A distinct earthquake shock was felt in this city. The tremor was followed by a heavy gust of wind.

Sir Oliver Nominated.

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 22.—At the meeting of the North Oxford Reform Association, held in the town hall here yesterday, Sir Oliver Mowat received the unanimous nomination as standard-bearer.

THE QUEEN'S HOUSEHOLD.

What the Women Who Surround the Sovereign Do—How They Are Paid.

From a reliable guide to royal households you may see that Queen Victoria has the following ladies officially gazetted to their posts: The Mistress of the Robes, whose duties are confined to state ceremonials and official occasions, must be of the rank of Duchess, and as this is the only office held by a lady which is changed under each political administration the choice must lie between those ladies of that rank whose husbands are adherents to the existing Government. When, as at the present time, no Duchess has been named for the appointment, it has been the Queen's pleasure that the position should remain vacant, and upon the few occasions when the attendance of the Mistress of the Robes is an absolute necessity, her Majesty has appointed one of her ladies to act. The Mistress of the Robes accompanies the sovereign on state occasions, such as drawing-room, opening of Parliament, etc., and her place is close to the Queen at such times. A state carriage is always set apart for the use of the Mistress of the Robes, and is sent from the Royal Mews for her conveyance to the palace when her presence is required at the drawing-rooms, etc. Among many distinguished women who have held the office, which appears to have existed for many centuries, may be mentioned the Countess of Suffolk, Duchess of Dorset, Lady Harvey and the Duchess of Marlborough, who held not only the post of Mistress of the Robes, but also of Groom of the Stole and Keeper of the Privy Purse. It appears that the office of "Mother of the Maids" was eventually merged into the higher one, though of late years the Mistress of the Robes has been only associated with state ceremonials, and has not any authority or responsibility connected with other ladies of the household. Formerly the Mistress of the Robes wore a gold key as a badge of office, the same as is still worn by the Lord Chamberlain; and very unseemly quarrels are recorded when Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough, was requested to deliver up the key to her successor, the Duchess of Somerset.

The Duchess of Sutherland was appointed Mistress of the Robes on Queen Victoria's accession, and held the office for many years. The Duchess of Manchester, Duchess of Bedford, Duchess of Wellington and the Duchess of Roxburgh have also been Mistresses of Robes during Her Majesty's reign.

Eight ladies of the Bedchamber, who are usually called ladies-in-waiting, attend personally on the Queen during their waits, and during that time reside in the royal palace. These ladies drive or walk with her Majesty and are always in attendance to fulfill any duties which are required. Many letters and requests of all kinds are sent to these ladies which have to be acknowledged, and they often write letters for the Queen. During their attendance the ladies-in-waiting are always at hand, but if her Majesty drives or walks with any members of the royal family and does not require the attendance of one of the ladies, they are free to go out, and a carriage is always at their disposal at Osborne and Windsor and Balmoral.

In her Majesty's published "Dairy of Life in the Highlands" we see on what intimate terms these ladies are treated, and no one but a peeress can hold the office.

Bedchamber Women do not now fulfill the duties which apparently fell to their share when the office was created, or, indeed, as late as the reign of George II., when we know that the Queen's Bedchamber Women had to attend her Majesty's toilet at morning and evening. At present the duties are very trifling, and the eight ladies are only required to attend any court ceremonies or receptions which may occur during the time of waiting appointed to each during the year. Her Majesty has of late appointed several extra Ladies and Women of the Bedchamber without salary.

The eight unmarried ladies who hold office as Maids of Honor have some privileges. They are given the prefix of "honorable," and on marrying, receive from the Queen the gift of £1,000. One or two maids of honor reside for a fortnight at a time at Windsor or Osborne, but her Majesty seldom takes more than one to Scotland.

The distinctive badge worn by maids of honor is a bow of scarlet ribbon on the shoulder, while the ladies-in-waiting wear a white bow with the Queen's cameo portrait.

The dowry of a maid of honor has been given for at least 150 years, but is according to her Majesty's pleasure, and in 1768 it was refused to one lady who engaged herself in marriage without the consent of her royal mistress. In the domestic arrangements for the comfort of the royal suite a bed and sitting-room is apportioned to each lady, and the household dinner includes all who have not been specially commanded to join the royal circle.

The Face an Index.

Incomplete closure of the eyelids, rendering the whites of the eyes visible during sleep, is a symptom in all acute and chronic diseases of a severe type; it is also to be observed when rest is unsound by pain, wherever seated

Twitching of the eyelids, associated with the oscillation of the eyeballs, or squinting, herald the visit of convulsions.

Widening of the orifices of the nose, with movements of the nostrils to and fro, point to embarrassed breathing, from disease of the lungs or their pleural investment.

Contraction of the brows indicates pain in the head; sharpness of the nostrils, pain in the chest; and a drawn upper lip, pain in the abdomen.

To make a general rule, it may be stated that the upper third of the face is altered in expression in affections of the brain; the middle third, in diseases of the chest; and the lower third in diseases of the organs contained in the abdominal cavity. —Hygiene of the Nursery.

First Lady Physician in Turkey.

Miss Mary Eddy is the first woman admitted to the practice of medicine in Turkey. She was born in Syria 25 years ago, and is the daughter of the Rev. Dr. W. W. Eddy, a missionary at Beirut. She is a graduate of the University of the State of New York, and was a registered surgeon and physician in New York City. She passed her examination in the Medical Military School in Constantinople, and later before a board of 13 physicians, mostly pashas of high rank.

"Kisses."

The dainty little confections known as "kisses" are favorites, and while not exactly candies, are certainly not cakes. They are attractive mixed in with a prettily piled dish of homemade chocolates, so here is an easy way to make them:

Beat the white of six eggs to a froth, but not stiff; add a half pound of sugar and stir until the mixture grows very stiff; drop a spoonful a few inches apart on buttered paper laid upon baking tins; sift fine sugar lightly over them and slip into a very quick oven to turn a pale cream and grow firm; they must not brown. Run a thin, flexible blade—a palette knife is just right—under each little hemisphere and lift from the paper; scoop out the soft center, then let the kisses lie a moment in the mouth of the oven to dry; fill with whipped cream and put the two dry sides together. The pretty trifle when finished looks very tempting.

A 'Cycling Diet.

Harold Hagen, the Norwegian skater, does not appear to be the only athlete who trains on heavy diet. During the 24 hours, race in Paris, Williams is said to have consumed three chickens, 1½ kilos of hacked meat, 20 litres of tapioca buillon, 12 bottles of Bordeaux, two bottles of champagne, with tea, coffee, milk and lemonade thrown in. That is not a bad record for 24 hours, if it be reliable.

ALL THREE CURED.

Neil McKechnie, with his Wife and Mother in-law Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys are such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst., over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C., where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Robt. Smith, drunk, fined $2.

There was a small market in produce today.

Beaver Tobacco is the standard gentleman's chew of Canada. 250d1m.

Mr. J. W. Hyde, boot and shoe merchant, of Trenton, has assigned.

Hockey match—Napanee vs. Quintes—Friday evening, 7 to 8. Admission 10 cts. 249d2t

If absolute purity counts for anything Beaver Tobacco is the only gentleman's chew. 250d1m.

Go to Grant's cheap cash sale of boots and shoes. New goods at cost for sixty days only.

Prof. Shepard will meet his class in elocution in Albert College to-morrow, Friday, afternoon at 4 o'clock. 1t

There were at one time this morning eighteen loads of hay and two loads of straw on the market. Wood was also in abundance.

Put in stock to-day 25 doz. unlaundried white, dress shirts worth 75 cts., our price 50c, sizes from 12 to 17 inches.—A. E. Fish & Co. d2t

Chauncey Ashley, issuer of marriage licenses, Division Court office, Pinnacle street or at residence over Benmore & Benson's Store. d&w

Occasionally curses do come home to roost. One of our subscribers who gave us tally-whack and stopped his paper, has the grippe.—Colborne Express.

There is no claim made for Ayer's Sarsaparilla which cannot be endorsed by scores of testimonials. This fact plainly proves that the blood is the source of most disorders and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best of blood purifiers. Try it this month.

Now or never if you want wool and want it cheap, as the J. C, Overell sale will last but six days more.

Don't waste time, money, and health, trying every new medicine you may see advertised in the papers. If the cause of your trouble is in the blood, liver, stomach, or kidneys, take Ayer's Sarseparilla at once, and be sure of a cure. Take no other.

Four organizers, one of whom is here, are now getting Ontario license-holders into line to form a general association of all the liquor dealers in the province. A convention of the provincial retail liquor dealers has been called, to be held in Toronto, beginning on March 14.

James Berry, jr., aged thirty-one years, son of James Berry, sr., living at Sidney, near the corporation line, died yesterday of consumption. The deceased was a well known young man and much respected. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon to the R.C. cemetery.

The bright sunny days are coming and the reflection of light from the snow causes a dazzling which is decidedly uncomfortable. L W. Yeomans & Co. have a large assortment of colored and smoked glasses, which afford much relief. Eyes are tested free and properly fitting glasses ordered. "A stitch in time saves nine."

Consumptives, cheer up! You are not going to die, if you will but take Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis, and the first stage of consumption. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at druggists.

MOTHER'S WILL FIND the Pain Killer invaluable in the nursery, and it should always be kept near at hand in case of accident. For pain in the breast take a little Pain-Killer in sweetened milk and water, bathing the breasts in it clear at the same time. If the milk passages are clogged, from cold, or other causes, bathing in the Pain Killer will give immediate relief. Ask for the New Bottle.

The second of the course of lectures given by the Y. W. C. T. U. will be delivered this evening by J. W. Johnson. Subject "Bermuda." Chairman, Rev. Mr. Marshall. Miss E. Garratt and Mr. F. Lewis will assist in the musical programme. A limited number of tickets for course may be obtained at the door for $1, Y. M. C. A. rooms.

AMUSEMENTS

EAST LYNNE.

The emotional drama "East Lynne" was produced by the Sawtelle company to a large house last evening. This old but ever popular play was given a meritorious production and many people in the audience, particularly men, were moved to tears in the more pathetic passages. The dual role of Lady Isabel and Madame Vine was cleverly portrayed by Mrs. Sawtelle, while Mr. Sawtelle acted to perfection the character of Sir F. Levison. Miss Phosa McAllister, as the maiden lady, Cornelia Carlyle, was a faithful picture of the character. The other characters were equally well sustained, and every one spoke in the highest terms of the production. To-night the company will play "The Village Blacksmith," and they will undoubtedly receive liberal patronage.

Carnival in West Belleville.

A number of boys and girls in West Belleville have a nice skating rink on the commons, and can boast a fine sheet of ice; last evening they held a carnival, and a large turnout was the result. The costumes of the masqueraders were bright, and in many cases good representations. Following is a list of those who took part, and the characters they represented: Harry Mikel, Dutchman; Geo. Bennett, Clown; Bert. Simpson, Gentleman; Harry Roblin, Uncle Sam; Willie Black, Englishman; Harry McGuire, Satan; Harry Ham, Old Man; Harry Brown Half-past Nine; Nellie Roblin, Snowball; Jora McGuire, Milkmaid; Clara Sharp, Poppy; Eva Panter and Myrtle Mills, Twin Babies; Daisy Black, Little Buttercup; Florence Curlett, French Peasant; Emma Mikel, Swedish Bride; Lillie Black, Mother Hubbard; Julia Roblin, Luna's Ray; Gertie Simpson, Miss Canada; Maggie Black, Ghost.

"Green Goods."

Canadian towns are being flooded with type-written circulars offering "ones," "twos," "fives" and "tens" at "a great sacrifice." A foolscap type-written circular, very enticing in its way, a forged newspaper clipping and a yellow slip with the words "Important—send me a telegram according to enclosed slip and I will send you a sample of my goods," is enclosed. Those who have been offered these "green" goods may save themselves a long term in penitentiary by honestly treating such letters with the honest contempt they deserve. Canadians generally can get along very well without knowingly committing crime to satisfy criminal Yankees. This is the same scheme which has been tried in Belleville and several times exposed.

They Will be Punished.

As usual there was a crowd of boys loitering around the front of the opera house last. When an officer goes near the house they decamp, but are back again like flies as soon as the coast is clear. A boy named Paul Smith, about sixteen years of age, was running up and down the stairs leading to the upper gallery last night when Officer Morton grabbed him and locked him up. He also arrested another boy, but being of tender years he allowed him to go. Smith was let out to appear at court this morning, but at ten o'clock he was not there. The Magistrate said he would make an example of the first boy brought before him on this charge, as the nuisance had to be abated.

Harper's for March.

Following are the special features of the March number of Harper's: A Steel Tool. (In the "Great American Industries" series) Edited by R. R. Bowker; the Russian and his Jew, by Poultney Bigelow; a Rodeo at Los Ojos, by Frederic Remington; the welcomes of the Flowers, by W. H. Gibson; the New England Negro, a Remnant, by Jane DeForest Shelton; Tuberculosis and its prevention, by T. M. Prudden, M.D.; besides the third instalment of Mr. Geo. du Maurier's "Trilby," illustrated with fifteen pictures by the author, the number contains five short stories.

To Supplant the Farm Horse.

Recently there have been shown in Toronto drawings of a machine that will make the farmers stare with wide open eyes when they see it tested, as it will be before long. It is a machine that will do ploughing, reaping, sowing, threshing and all other farm work. The motive power is electricity. The feature about the machine is the unique manner of conveying the current to the waggon motor. The trolley idea is cast aside for a more effective and simpler device. It is expected one of these machines will enable a farmer to work 600 acres as easily as he now works 100.

One Hundredth Wedding Anniversary.

If the fiftieth anniversary of a marriage is a golden wedding, and the seventy-fifth is a diamond, what is the hundredth? Such a wedding was recently celebrated in Zsembeyl, in Hungary, and the local journalists are trying to find a mineralogical name for it. The venerable couple are 120 and 115 years old respectively, and have long enjoyed a pension in recognition of their great age and their fidelity to each other.

Oh, How Good it Tastes!

A cup of Strond's delicious 50c or 60c tea—the color is right—the flavor is fine—the quality is high, and they never fail to give you a delicious cup of tea. May pickings Japan, English breakfast blacks, Gunpowder and Young Hyson Greens, Indian and Ceylons, and Formosa Oolongs. Our stock is the finest and we are confident we can suit your taste with these high-class teas.—Strouds the Tea and Coffee Dealers.

Philharmonic Society.

The Philharmonic rehearsal this week gives evidence that the chorus are progressing rapidly with their part. The orchestra have had several rehearsals and will soon be ready to join with the chorus on Tuesday evenings. It is the intention to give possibly a double concert about the 1st May and it is desirable that those wishing to take part should be present at every rehearsal.

Cambric Shirts. 50cts.

Think of getting a nice cambric shirt with starched collars and cuffs at the above price. These shirts are sold everywhere for $1,00, but the Oak Hall by a quick, side movement, have struck a "big snap." Remember we have a large lot of these shirts, assorted colors and sizes, but we cannot get any more. Any man would be safe with one half dozen.

Where the Hay is Going.

A. McGuire was over to Cape Vincent this morning and states that he was told there was more hay drawn to the Cape from Wolfe Island yesterday than has been offered in Kingston all season. He says the farmers are making a big howl about the Wilson bill reducing the duty on hay to $2 a ton.—Kingston Whig.

A Reminder.

Mrs. Schuster is desirous of having a large attendance at the annual meeting of the City Mission to-night, Thursday, when a full report of the work will be given to the meeting. A. G. Northrup, Esq., will occupy the chair. Meeting to commence at 7:30 o'clock.

Correspondence.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

DEAR SIR,—Please allow me space in your paper to introduce a petition sent to me from the Friends of Industrial Freedom, of Toronto, for signatures. Will say that I will recommend it as a good one. The promoters mean to have a law passed by the manufacturers of law at Toronto to exempt the taxes on improved property or improvements on property. Although this don't do away with taxes altogether, nevertheless it has a tendency to equalize taxation, so that the man that don't improve his property and becomes to a high value from the improvement of his neighbor's, will have to pay as much taxes as his neighbor's that made the improvement. Another reason: enterprise and improvements have a tendency to circulate capital and should be encouraged. Although it would be worth millions to capital, it would be equally as valuable to labor. As twice 2 is the true result of 4 in figures, so is labor the true ratepayer in political economy. For instance, say the central wards in this city of Belleville is a business centre. The people of Foster, Murney, Coleman and Bleecker Wards are working people. They go to the business centre for supplies—for boots, clothes, sugar, tea, &c.—I won't say anything from the productive power of their dollar, but when they buy boots, clothes, groceries, &c, the purchasing power of their dollar is discounted. The discount goes for store tax, rent and all other expenses in connection with the store and store keeper. Now then, our aldermen that call capitalists ratepayers will know the difference between a voter and a ratepayer. It is said that income tax relieves labor. What is the result if a tax was imposed on income? If a grocer had to pay tax on income down would go wages in the sugar refinery so that the grocer could get cheap sugar; up would go prices for consumption of clothes; down goes sewing girls' wages; up goes the price of cloth. A manufacturer would reduce wages and lengthen the hours of labor, and so on in all branches of business that would be taxed on income. They would make labor help them pay the tax. One way to do away with taxes is to do away with expenses, and when I know that our city fathers are hanging on to standing debt for about 25 years that was imposed on our city by bonuses, it is a proof that our city fathers would rather pay interest to capital than pension to retired laborers that are too old to work. I might say that this petition is only a minor relief to labor. By the time that our Dominion Parliament have their next sitting I will be in possession of a petition that will, if it becomes law, be a relief indeed, namely, the Nationalization of the Land.

HE QUIT.

A Cornwall Boozer Scared Into Sobriety by an Animated Postage Stamp.

There is one man in Cornwall who has sworn off. He gives his reasons as follows:—"I had moistened a stamp and was about to stick it on a letter I had ready to post, when a puff of wind took it from my fingers and it dropped to the floor sticky side down. I stooped to pick it up, when what was my amazement to see it, as if an animate thing, run across the floor and begin to climb the wall. I had been drinking a good deal and that this manifestation frightened me you may well believe. I went to see my physician, who shook his head sorrowfully and then went with me to the office. There was the postage stamp far up the wall near the ceiling. The office boy was called and it was swept down with a broom. Then the mysterious circumstance was explained. The stamp had fallen on a live cockroach. But I had such a scare that I made up my mind to quit."

HOCKEY NOTES.

A friendly practice match was played last evening between the Quinte and Y.M.C.A. hockey teams in which the Y. M. C. A. were victorious, the score at the end of the fifty minutes play being 3 to 0. The game was very fast at times and devoid of anything like roughness. The teams were:

| Quinte | Position | Y.M.C.A. |
|---|---|---|
| Phillips | Goal | McDonald |
| Cook | Point | Taber |
| Phippen | Cover Point | Holton |
| WellerTwiningNashCampbell | Forwards | KelsoLockettThompsonJamieson |

F. B. Smith, manager of Y.M.C.A., has a card this morning from Arthur Savage, Sec. of the Athletics of Kingston, asking for a match here in the near future. The Athletics are very anxious to play here and the Y. M. C. A. will no doubt favor them with a match.

A DOUBLE WEDDING.

Two Sisters of Hungerford Married at the Same Time and Place.

The home of Mr. Richard Coulson, of Hungerford, was last evening the scene of two happy events, being the marriage of his daughters, Misses Mary and Jennie Coulson. There were about one hundred guests present. Miss Mary was married to Mr. J. H. Elliott, of Hungerford. They were supported by Miss Annie, a younger sister of the bride, and Mr. J. Elliott respectively. Miss Jennie was united in the holy bonds to Mr. James Arbuckle, of Tweed, the bridesmaid being Miss Minnie Reeves, and the groomsman Mr. O. Brickman, both of this city. Rev. S. McCauley, of Thomasburg, tied the knots, after which the company sat down to a sumptuous and bountiful supper of good things. After an evening spent in congratulations and social intercourse, the two young couples repaired to their future homes.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

In some parts of Australia earthworms grow to a length of 6 feet, and are 3 inches in diameter.

MRS. LEWIS.

Gentlemen—I cannot tell you how my wife has improved since she began the use of your "Favorite Prescription," coupled with "G. M. D." She has no more trouble with falling of the womb, and she never feels any pain unless she stands too long. She has no bearing-down pains since she began the use of your remedies. She does nearly all of her own housework now, but before she commenced taking your remedies, she could hardly walk across the room.

I do not know how to thank you for all the good your remedies have done her, for the best doctors had given her case up as incurable.

Yours truly,
ALFRED LEWIS.

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT"

was issued.

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

Out of Sorts.—Symptoms, Headache, loss of appetite, furred tongue, and general indisposition. These symptoms if neglected, develop into acute disease. It is a trite saying that an "ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and a little attention at this point may save months of sickness and large Doctor's bills. For this complaint take from two to three of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills on going to bed, and one or two for three nights in succession, and a cure will be effected.

Nothing which has life for its basis can boast much stability.

Ease by day and repose by night are enjoyed by those who are wise enough to apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to their aching muscles and joints. A quantity easily held in the palm of the hand is often enough to relieve the most exquisite pain.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

Capt. Patty Watkins, the Pretty Lass, Who Converted a Prince.

SHE WOULDN'T TALK OF LOVE

But She Let a Reporter Describe the Appearance of Her Kitchen, the Shape of Her Face and Other Points of Equal Interest—Capt. Patty on Marriage.

Capt. Patty Watkins was the subject of conversation in a little group of officers gathered in the headquarters of the Salvation Army, in Reade street, yesterday morning.

There was a gallant young captain and lieutenant of the bonnet-wearing sex, who had braved the storm; a grizzled male officer, all the way from Brooklyn; an animated blonde, evidently a recent convert, who still wore her old, worldly headgear and frizzes, but who had come for a blessing, and another young woman, who evidently belonged at headquarters.

"They say she is perfectly beautiful," said one.

"With great big eyes," said another.

"Did you ever see her?" asked a third.

"Haven't you a picture of her, Captain?" said a fourth to the man behind the desk.

But the Captain hadn't, and the little squad of officers, who had been reading glowing accounts of Capt. Patty's experience with her recent convert, Prince Galitzin, were as curious to see what manner of woman this was as ordinary citizens would have been. So was the reporter for the New York Times, who had an appointment with this interesting young woman at that very place, and had been waiting patiently for half an hour or more, while she indulged in her feminine prerogative of being late.

The reporter had called at Capt. Patty's citadel, in 4th Avenue, the day before, and from there had been directed to her home, a pleasant little apartment at No. 29 East 7th Street. Here, with two other Salvation army lasses, she holds the fort and superintends the work of one of the thirteen Salvation army stations in New York City, for Capt. Patty is one of the higher officers.

"Staff-Captain Watkins" is the name over the bell. A pretty young woman, wearing the "S. A." badge, opened the door, and, with apologies, ushered the reporter into the kitchen, where, it being wash day, a boiler full of clothes was steaming on the stove.

It was a nice, large, neat kitchen, with a panel picture of a plump advertisement baby hanging on the wall, and over the stove the motto, "Be as Good as You Seem to Be"—a very good motto for that position, though it is doubtful if, in Capt. Patty's kitchen, it had reference to culinary affairs.

Staff-Captain Watkins, however, was not at home to callers that day, and the reporter was just taking leave when there was manifested one of those touches of nature which make the whole world kin and delight ordinary mortals with the thought that even they, with an effort, might be a staff officer, or even convert a prince. As the door softly opened for the department of the departing guest, behold, just opposite, the door was also slightly open, and actually there was Capt. Paddy taking observations, just as any other woman would have done under the same circumstances.

Whether Capt. Patty dodged or not will never be known. Probably she did not—being a military leader, and possibly only following a regular line of military tactics.

But Staff-Capt. Watkins, when she is ready to be seen, is well worth waiting for. She is an earnest little lady, not lacking in a fine sense of humor. She has a small, oval face inside her big bonnet, a clear, olive complexion, and big, soft eyes. She has a trim little figure, carefully-manicured hands, and a voice that used to give her a good deal of special work in Herbert Booth's singing brigade in London.

As to Prince Galitzin—well, he was converted two or three years ago, she says, and she never met him until a few weeks ago, when she held a drawing-room meeting in the house of Mr. and Mrs. McFarland, in F street, in Washington.

"He is a very devout Christian, I think," said Capt. Patty. "He has done a great deal for his people in Russia, and the only hope for the poorer classes there, he says, is through the Salvation Army.

"On his way home to Russia he came to New York, had an interview with Gen. Booth, then came to my Thursday evening meeting and came forward for consecration.

"No, I didn't say anything in particular to him any more than to the rest of the people, and he is not necessarily a member of the Salvation Army after being consecrated. A great many persons from different churches are consecrated at our meetings."

Capt. Patty was a mere girl when she became interested in the Salvation Army. That was more than 14 years ago. She is a little Welsh maiden, and before she came to America she worked in her own land, in London, and in the Isle of Wight, "where I saw some good and glorious work done," she said.

She went with the army on its first visit to the island, and they had some exciting times waging war against the Skelington Army, which was organized to combat them. Capt. Patty was even knocked down and bruised and injured by blows that were intended, most of them, for the men. But they made converts of the rebel captain and lieutenant and came off with flying colors.

In this country, the Captain says, she is always treated with courtesy in her visits and at the meetings which she holds in 4th Avenue and Sunday evenings in the big hall in Cooper Union. Some of her girls, though, have been taken by the shoulders and decidedly placed outside the door when their uniforms proclaimed their errands in visiting.

Doesn't Capt. Patty think it would be a better and happier life to be married and settle down with a family to care for? she is asked.

But she doesn't think so at all, and she laughs a little at the idea.

"There are plenty of people who are anxious to do that, and they may," she says. "I am very happy in my little home and in the certainty of good I am doing. I should advise other girls to do just as I am doing."

"But a young girl like you must have had lovers and love affairs," it was suggested.

"No, no, no, no," says Capt. Patty; "I can't say anything about anything of that kind," and the reporter says good-bye and leaves her sitting on the stairs, listening and smiling as the testimony and songs come up from the meeting below.—New York Times.

Bright Eyes.

To keep the eyes bright and clear all sorts of things are necessary. A good digestion and plenty of sleep rank first. When the eyes are tired bathing them in very hot water is excellent. No sort of drops or washes should ever go into them except by the order of an oculist.

The Abuse of Perfume.

The woman who pours liquid scents upon her garments should be ostracised. The only permissible perfume for clothing is the faint, evanescent fragrance which suggests that the wearer has been living in a flower garden and has borne away the aroma of the blossoms in her attire. That fragrance is never obtained by putting perfume on clothes, but simply by letting them lie in sachets. The only place for fragrant waters is in the bath.

MISS MINNIE DUVAL,

Who is Known in the Cherokee Strip as "The Female Cowboy."

The openings of Oklahoma and the Cherokee Strip have developed many a heroine, and more than one deed worthy of praise has been performed by members of the fair sex. They have not, however, always consisted of single acts of distinguishing bravery, but have frequently been manifest in a steady observance of duty despite unpleasant conditions.

Such is the case with Miss Minnie Duval, who is known in the Cherokee Strip as "the female cowboy," and whose fame has been spread far and wide by the influx of newcomers to the new lands.

When the Duval family entered the territory the daughter was but a year old; now she is 20. By the good graces of the Indians her parents, coming from Missouri, were allowed to settle on Sawleg creek, and have made their home in the land of the redskin since. Mr. Duval started in 1875 with twenty-five cattle. They have increased to over 500 and make a large herd to care for. Minnie is the only child, and though so young, is her father's chief assistant. She does not simply take the cattle to the range and leave them there, but remains with them all day, looking after the herd as well as could any cowboy.

Her duties frequently take her a score or more miles from home, as the cattle must be kept moving to feed well. Often some of the cattle become mired in the mud along creeks where they graze, or where they wade in to drink. Then comes the hardest part of the work. With true cowboy skill she throws the lariat over the slender branching horns, while the other end of the long, but phenomenally-strong rawhide rope is fastened to the saddle. Then a steady pull on the part of her pony draws the imprisoned animal to a place of safety on dry ground. She has a large herd for one person to handle, but with the assistance of two well-trained cattle dogs she does it well.

While on the range she dresses in true cowboy fashion—wide brimmed white felt hat, long gauntlet gloves, a lariat coiled about the saddle horn and a revolver at her belt—and rides the wildest broncho with thorough ease. When off duty she is a modest, unassuming young lady, the last one that would be suspected of such masculine accomplishments. At the annual round-up she has, during the past two seasons, taken her place with the other cowboys and made a good record. In lasso-throwing, when the wildest of steers are turned loose and goaded into fury by matador methods, she has held her own, and was given a handsome saddle last fall by her masculine competitors as a testimonial to her exceptional dexterity and skill.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Women at the Antipodes.

The women of West Australia are trying to get similar advantages to those enjoyed by their sisters in New Zealand, and a deputation recently waited upon the Premier to ask that the franchise might be extended to women. Sir John Forrest said he would watch with interest the result of woman suffrage in New Zealand, and if it were successful there it would soon be introduced. He did not think, however, that a country so new to responsible government as West Australia should enter upon experiments not tried by the other colonies.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 22, 1894.

Flour is dull and steady. Choice straight rollers quoted at $2.60 to $2.65 and ordinary at $2.55, Toronto freight.

Wheat is firmer, with white and red nominal at 56c to 57c west, and white quoted at 58c, new markets. Spring unchanged at 60c to 61c on Midland. No. 1 Manitoba hard quoted at 74c to 75c west and at 76c east.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Receipts of grain small. One load of white wheat sold at 61c; red is nominal at 60c and goose at 58c. Barley steady, 400 bushels selling at 45c. One load of peas sold at 63c and oats will bring 39 to 40c.

The Manchester Guardian, in an article on British trade, says that only a very moderate business has been executed. Most of the offerings made have been at figures utterly impossible to consider. The difficulty experienced in securing exchange forward is the principal hindrance to business. The general outlook is not satisfactory enough to encourage freedom in operations.

Parties who recently invested in General Electrics are very bullish on the property. The stock market opened firm but inactive. Washington news indicate that lobby are hopeful of securing some consideration for sugar refining interests. Independent coal producers are restricting production in harmony with coal companies. The loaning rate for C. B. & Q. is high. Atchison earnings for second week of February decreased $179,000. London bought 1,000 St. Paul this morning.

If there was no cowardice there would be little insolence.

In his VEGETABLE PILLS, Dr. Parmelee has given to the world the fruits of long scientific research in the whole realm of medical science, combined with new and valuable discoveries never before known to man. For Delicate and Debilitated Constitutions Parmelee's Pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

I can answer for the truth of the above.

T. C. CHRISTIAN, Haney, B. C.

"Is that piece of bric-a-brac all your rich relatives left you?" inquired the visitor. "Yes, sir," sighed the poor relation; "my vase is my fortune."

Excellent Rmeedy.

GENTLEMEN,—We have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our house for over three years and find it an excellent remedy for all forms of coughs and colds. In throat and lung troubles it affords instant relief.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,
Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

SATISFIED WITH THE TARIFF

Soap Manufacturers Have an Interview With the Government.

TO APPEAL TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

A Report that the Minority is Not Satisfied With the Court's Decision in the Manitoba School Case—How Provincial Manhood Suffrage Works—Other Gossip at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—The soap manufacturers gathered here yesterday in large numbers from all parts of the country for the purpose of interviewing the Government on tariff matters. They had an interview with the tariff committee yesterday. They represented that the existing protection was not too heavy and that Canadians got their soap as cheap as any people in the world. They pointed out that while the protection in the tariff was one and a half cents a pound on laundry soaps, the manufacturer had to pay a duty of a cent on tallow, his raw material. The toilet soap men put as an offset to their protection of ten cents a pound and ten per cent. ad valorem the very heavy duties they had to pay on essential oils and perfumes. They also represented that a very heavy capital was invested in the business, which employs about 600 hands in all Canada.

Manitoba School Case.

It is stated here that Mr. Ewart, Q.C., who represented the Roman Catholic minority of Manitoba when the school case was argued in the Supreme Court, and who is at present in England, does not propose to let the matter rest, but on the contrary, the minority will exercise their right of appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Mr. Ewart cabled to the Supreme Court yesterday asking that copies of the judges' opinion might be sent to him in England by the first mail.

This is Manhood Franchise!

Three names have been struck from the provincial voters list by Judge Mosgrove. Two of these were Brother Napoleon and Brother Joseph, and the grounds on which they were refused was that being away, one for a week and the other for ten days, they had not resided continuously in the province for a year. This leads the Free Press to ask: Does this mean that to qualify under the Manhood Suffrage Act one must not have ventured out of the province for a few days, or perhaps one day, either for business or pleasure.

Seeing the Tariff Committee.

There are a batch of delegations in the city waiting on the Tariff Committee. J. & C. Hodgson, of Montreal, are here in connection with the duty on weight iron pipes. Robert Hendry, of Brantford, has a large delegation with him in regard to the tariff on soap. Noxon Bros., Ingersoll, have also a delegation on agricultural implements.

Father Lacombé, of the Northwest Territories, is here on business with the Indian Department.

WIMAN IN THE TOMBS.

He Receives No Visitors But His Family in His Cell.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Erastus Wiman steadfastly declines to receive visitors since his incarceration in the Tombs, with the exception of his lawyers and the members of his family. Warden Fallon says that Mr. Wiman, under the circumstances, does not appear unduly depressed and seems to take matters easy. After the first great surprise at his arrest he seemed to have summoned much courage, and does not betray any unusual amount of excitement. Owing to the present crowded condition of the Tombs, and on account of the late hour at which he arrived, Warden Fallon was compelled to put him in cell No. 3 on the first floor, in the short corridor, which is generally known as "Murderers' Row." Unless he succeeds in getting bail later in the day, Warden Fallon will transfer Wiman to a cell on the second floor, in the vicinity of Mr. Blant, the ex-president of the Madison Square Bank. Mr. Wiman spent a sleepless night, but he seems to retain a fairly good appetite and ate his breakfast in the morning as if he was quite hungry. Under the advice of Gen. Tracy, his counsel, Mr. Wiman declines to make any statement for publication at present.

Gen. B. F. Tracy said last night that he had been all day looking over the indictments and examining the papers relating to the charges made by Mr. Dun against Mr. Wiman and that he would endeavor to have his client released on bail. Mr. Wiman promises to speak when his turn comes and it is said that he will then give another color to the story already told of his alleged forgeries. He contends that he has committed no crime, but only did what he considered he had a right to do by reason of his business relations with the mercantile agency.

Patrons Nominated.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—At a meeting of the Patrons of Industry at Vars, in the county of Russell, Benjamin Rothwell, a farmer, was nominated for the Legislature. It is likely the Patrons will endorse his candidature. At any rate they have not nominated anyone else.

DUNDAS, Feb. 23.—The Patrons of North Wentworth met at Bullock's Corners yesterday. Mr. R. M. Biggs received the nomination for the Local Legislature. If Mr. Beggs will accept the Patrons of Industry platform he will be their standard-bearer. The convention pledged their candidate to prohibition.

BEAMSVILLE, Ont., Feb. 23.—Robert Thompson, of Grantham, was nominated yesterday by the Patrons as their candidate in Lincoln county for the Local Legislature.

Mansfield Rioters Sentenced.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 23.—The thirty-seven persons who were convicted of riots in the Mansfield Valley were sentenced yesterday, the terms ranging from one month in the workhouse to two years and six months in the penitentiary. The latter and longer term was alloted to Julius Phantier, a leader of the anarchistic element.

New Yorker Nominated in England.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Mr. Patton, formerly a banker in New York, has been nominated Gladstonian candidate for the constituency of St. Andrew's Burghs. In the last general election this constituency was won by the Liberal Unionists by a majority of 112.

Governor of Texas Arrested.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 23.—Sheriff White yesterday arrested Governor Hogg for alleged violation of the state game law while in Nacogdoches county a few weeks ago. The governor gave the required bail bond.

THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

The New Organ of the Liquor Dealers Interests the Government.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.—Hon. Mr. Ballantyne, though suffering from a very severe cold, returned to his duties as Speaker of the House yesterday.

For twenty minutes after the House opened Sir Oliver Mowat exclusively devoted his time to a careful reading of the Advocate, the new journal devoted to the interests of the liquor men of the province; the editor of which is Mr. L. P. Kribs. The new paper seemed to interest Messrs. Hardy, Dryden, Ross and Gibson. They all read its editorials carefully and then gathered about the Premier evidently to talk the matter over.

Hon. C. F. Fraser, who has been sojourning south for the benefit of his health, has returned, and occupied his seat in the House yesterday. Mr. Fraser's health has considerably improved by the trip.

These bills were introduced and read a first time:

Mr. Bronson—A bill respecting the Beechwood Cemetery of the city of Ottawa.

Mr. Balfour—A bill to incorporate the Portlock & Desert Lake Iron Mine Railway Co. The bill provides for a new railway to run from Portlock harbor, north of St. Joseph's Island, through the Desert Lake iron district.

Mr. Cleland—A bill to amend the game laws.

Mr. Tait—A bill to amend the Assessment Act.

Mr. Tait—A bill to incorporate the Toronto & Suburban Railway Co., limited.

Mr. Hardy—A bill respecting ditches and watercourses.

Mr. Hardy—A bill respecting drainage laws,

Mr. Barr (Dufferin) asked: "Did Mr. F. J. Dodds, who held the office of license inspector for the electoral district of Dufferin, resign that office, and if so when? Was he re-appointed to the office and if so when? What salary is now attached to the office and what was the salary at the time of Mr. Dodds' original appointment?"

Mr. Harcourt, answering, said that Mr. Dodds had on November 1st last resigned. His resignation had not yet been accepted. His salary was $400 per year.

Mr. Wood (Brant) moved for an order of the House for a return, duly compiled from the census returns for the year 1891, of the federal census for the province showing the population for each county and district and the municipalities situate there; also, the population of the unorganized territory.

Mr. Meredith opposed the motion on the ground that the House was already in possession of all the information asked. It would be a useless expense.

Mr. Hardy supported the motion. He said that while the Dominion census gave the total population of each county and district, more particulars were necessary.

The motion passed.

Mr. Balfour gave notice that he would move for a return showing the exact number of Catholics and Protestants in the permanent employ of the Government in any capacity.

The expenditure of the industrial institutions for 1891 was as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Toronto asylum | $ 99,459 |
| Mimico asylum | 54,207 |
| London asylum | 131,056 |
| Kingston asylum | 84,138 |
| Hamilton asylum | 122,851 |
| Orillia asylum | 56,917 |
| Deaf and Dumb institution | 43,960 |
| Blind institute | 35,991 |
| Central prison | 65,945 |
| Central industries | 59,574 |
| Boys' reformatory | 37,169 |
| Mercer reformatory | 29,244 |

Mr. Cleland's bill to amend the game law provides for an open season from September 1 to March 1, as under the Act in force prior to 1892. Petitions from a number of counties were presented to the House last year in favor of this change.

Mr. Preston is desirous of learning the amount expended in connection with the binder twine industry for buildings, machinery, material, labor and superintendents employed, and the wages or salary paid to each of them; also the total output of twine in quantity and the amounts realized therefrom, giving the names from whom the same were received, and the dates of the receipt of each sum; also the total quantities of twine and material in hand; the amounts (if any) remaining unpaid by the purchasers, with the names of the persons by whom the same are payable; the names of the agents employed for the sale or disposal of the twine, and the remuneration paid or payable, to each of them.

Mr. Sol. White has received a petition from a large number of ratepayers of the township of Rochester, county of Essex, protesting against the proposed division of the township.

A Government bill is promised on the subject of mines and mining. There has been considerable speculation as to what the proposed measure will contain. The Hon. A. S. Hardy, Minister of Crown Lands, is discretely silent as yet, but it is certain that the text of the measure will shortly be made known.

A Clergyman Absconds.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—A sensation has been caused in religious circles by the sudden disappearance of the Rev. Peter Williams, of the Congregational church in Hackney. Mr. Williams, who is a forcible and eloquent preacher, was frequently an occupant of Dr. Parker's pulpit in the city temple and is widely known in church circles. His disappearance is supposed to be due to financial troubles. Efforts to trace him have resulted in learning that he sailed for New York on steamer Paris and it is supposed that he proceeded on the steamer Berlin. He is 30 years old and left a wife and four children.

A Fortune After Death.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Feb. 23.—John F. Gibbs, 58 years old, the venerable father-in-law of A. E. Taylor, ex-superintendent of the Ohio Public schools, died of dropsy after a very short illness. A letter was received at the family residence for him shortly after his death. Mr. Taylor opened it and found that it had come from England to apprise Mr. Gibbs that he had fallen heir to an estate valued at $5,000,000. It requested his immediate departure for that country to identify himself. Mr. Taylor will look after the fortune and try to secure it for Mr. Gibbs' heirs, several of whom live in this city.

Urgent Call to Liberals.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—An urgent parliamentary whip has been issued to summon all Liberal members to their places at the opening of the House of Commons on Monday. The House will then deal with the parish councils bill in the form in which that measure has been returned again by the House of Lords.

According to the Scotch Unionist press the Conservative Unionist and Liberal election agents have been warned that a dissolution of Parliament will without doubt occur within thirty days, and instructions have been given to make preparations for a new election.

A FIGHT IN THE NIGHT.

Capture of Moucangue Island by Brazilian Insurgents.

ATTACKED THE SLEEPING GARRISON

Armed Tugs and Merchantmen Attack the Fort—Government Forces Driven from Their Position With Great Loss—Yellow Fever is Daily Becoming More Prevalent at Rio.

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 23.—There has been very little change in the situation since the last writing of January 7. As noted by cable, the Aquidaban came back to port, following which the crest of Conceicao Island theretofore unoccupied was fortified and Mocangue Island was recaptured from the government forces. The fight for Mocangue began in the night. Three armed tugs and an armed merchant ship run close in and began pelting the sandbag fort that stood of a rounded knoll.

The garrison to the number of 160 were about all asleep. The storm of projectiles was followed by a throng of sailors landing to take the fort. The government officers shouted: "Save yourselves who can," and there was a wild rush down the hillside toward the mainland. A ship's cutter and a steam launch lay at a pier and into these the soldiers tumbled. An insurgent tug appeared. A shot disabled the launch. The cutter sank under its load. A host tried to swim to the mainland, but many gave it up and only 20 succeeded. The prisoners taken by the insurgents 120 and 20 escaped. Over 20 are dead and missing, probably drowned in trying to cross to the mainland.

On the night of the 16th an attack was made on the part of Nictheroy (the mainland) where the railroad station stands. The landing party was very determined, and got to the station, but had to leave it before they could destroy either building or track. In this foray the government troops lost about 50 killed, while the number of wounded in the Nictheroy hospitals rose from some fewer than 100 to 257.

These two fights are the only aggressive ones that the insurgents have made that have accomplished anything. They have regained Mocangue with three cannon, of which the largest is a twelve pounder. The insurgents' sympathizers were at first greatly elated, but as a matter of fact the gain was insignificant, while their failure on the night of the 16th was really a serious matter.

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 23.—The bishop of Rio has issued a letter calling the various congregations in his diocese to the observance of an eight days' period of fasting and prayer that the war may be ended.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The British consul at Rio de Janeiro informs the government that yellow fever is daily becoming more prevalent there and that on the grounds of humanity owners and captains of merchant vessels in the Brazilian trade ought to be warned of the danger of visiting that port.

The Adulterated Molasses.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 23.—Collector of Customs Ruell has received from the Dominion Government a statement of the Dominion analyst touching the controversy here over Mr. Tousseg's Porto Rico No. 2 molasses. It is quite certain that the Government has decided in Tousseg's favor. Some further information is asked for. It is also understood that Mr. McIntyre, to whom the Ottawa correspondence has been shown, stoutly maintains that he is right and that theother analyist has not yet got at the bottom of the matter, and he will back up his contention by an appeal to the higher authorities.

American Publishers' Association.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The session of the second day of the eighth annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association was occupied mainly with a consideration of the type-setting machine. Ford Starring, secretary and general manager of the Rogers Typographic Co., manufacturers of such machines, explained what is claimed to be a novel piece of mechanical composition. I. Severn, of Boston, submitted a proposition to sell to the publishers the right to use process, recently invented, of cold stereotyping.

The Story Told in the Ruins.

BELFAST, Feb. 23.—In removing the ruins of a building recently destroyed by fire in this city the charred remains of four bodies were found yesterday. The building was used as a lodging house and the theory of the police is that the bodies are those of four would-be emigrants to America who were murdered for their money, the building having been burned to conceal the crime.

More Smallpox in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The sanitary authorities have discovered a nest of smallpox in the double tenement house No. 325 West Sixty-ninth street. A number of the inmates who had been attacked by the disease were removed to the pest house on North Brothers' Island.

Zanardelli Defeated.

ROME, Feb. 23.—Signor Biancheri was yesterday elected president of the Chamber of Deputies, defeating Signor Zanardelli on the second ballot. Zanardelli's defeat is considered due to his support of the late Ciolitti Ministry.

Wants $1,500,000 From a Gas Company.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.—J. T. Johnston, of the Toronto Type Foundry, filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday a decidedly unusual action. This action is against the Consumers Gas Company and is for the immense sum of $1,500,000. This sum, he claims, represents the moneys over-paid by the various gas consumers of the city to the company from October 2, 1886, up to this date. Mr. Johnston is a large gas consumer, burning some 300,000 feet a year, as the foundry is run with that kind of fuel. He claims that the company, under the statute, 50 Vic., chap. 85, which regulates it, has misappropriated the above amount of money. Some $800,000 should have been invested in a reserve fund, the interest of which would go toward reducing the price of gas. The interest on the balance should also go mainly to the same end. Mr. Johnston sues on behalf on himself and all other gas consumers of the city for a return of the moneys over paid for gas rents and other reliefs as above set forth.

He Fought the Burglars.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 23.—Dr. Francis Abbott had a fight with two footpads near the centre of the city on Wednesday night. When the thieves demanded the doctor's cash at the point of their revolvers he drew his own weapon. One of the robbers fired in his face, but missed him. Abbott fired, wounding the first robber, who fled; the second then fired three shots and fled. One shot took effect in Abbott's side and may prove fatal. The police later arrested one of the men, who gave his name as John James, of St. Louis.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 23, 1894.

Flour is dull and steady. Choice straight rollers quoted at $2.60 to $2.65 and ordinary at $2.55, Toronto freight.

The American Agriculturist will say in its March number that wheat prices should advance, taking into consideration the world's supplies and requirements.

Wheat is unchanged, with sales of 5 cars of white and red at 58c. Spring unchanged at 60c to 61c on Midland. No No. 1 Manitoba hard quoted at 74c to 75c west and at 76c east.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Grain receipts are limited. The offerings were 200 bushels of wheat, which sold at 61c for white, at 60c for red, and at 58c for goose. Barley firm, 300 bushels selling at 45c. Oats firmer, 200 bushels selling at 39½c to 40c. One load of peas sold at 61½c.

New York reports that it is impossible to work business for export above 59c for May at Chicago. There is, however, a different feeling in the air from that of a week ago. The world is beginning to digest the fact that wheat is very low and that it has a permanent intrinsic value, and while purchases around 59c might show a possible loss, yet we are inclined to believe that before the first of May it will show a good profit.

Smuggling Chinese.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Feb. 23.—The British steamer Fairy, of Victoria, was seized near Point Morrowstone on Wednesday by the U. S. revenue cutter Wolcott, and eight Chinese aboard were captured. Two white smugglers, who had command of the steamer, escaped by rowing ashore in a small boat. The Fairy is a speedy craft and has been engaged in Chinese smuggling for some time.

Another Paris Duel.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Several rumors are afloat concerning the prospects of a duel between Audinet Gibert and Senor Santa Maria. Santa Maria is absent from Paris and no date for a duel has been fixed or will be fixed before his return to the city.

Diabolical Deed of a Tramp.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb 23.—Mrs. Freda Rothschilds was assaulted at her home yesterday by a tramp who attempted to outrage her. She beat him off and finally the tramp for revenge thrust her into a closet, set fire to her clothes, robbed the house of jewelry and decamped. The woman is badly burned and will probably die.

Death-Bed Confession.

SPRINGDALE, Ark., Feb. 23.—Charley Creuch, who died at Fayetteville the other day, confessed on his death-bed that he murdered a woman named Gambetti here four years ago, and also that he murdered a man named Hodges and a negro at Fayetteville several years ago. He was tried for the Gambetti killing, but was discharged for lack of evidence.

Wagner Palace Car Company.

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 23.—The report of the Wagner Palace Car Company for the quarter ended December 31, filed with the State Railroad Committee yesterday, shows: Gross earnings, including all operations of the company in twenty states and the Dominion of Canada, $1,189,330; expenditures, $818,162.

Corbett Was Not Shot.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.—A report reached this city last evening that James Corbett, the prize fighter, had been shot at New York. Parson Davies, Peter Jackson's manager, at once telegraphed the sporting editor of the New York World and received in reply an answer stating that there was no truth in the report.

New Bishop of Hartford.

HARTFORD, Feb. 23.—At St. Joseph's cathedral yesterday Right Rev. Michael Tierney, D.D., was consecrated sixth bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Hartford.

Scratching Boy on fire with eczema will find instant relief and speedy cure by using Cuticura Remedies

When the best physicians, hospitals and all other remedies fail. To those who have suffered long and hopelessly from torturing, disfiguring, humiliating humors, and who have lost faith in doctors, medicines and all things human, the CUTICURA REMEDIES appeal with startling force. #### Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered And How He Was Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

Thirty-two kings and princes have borne the name of Albert. It is of Anglo Saxon derivation and means "all bright."

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

The news that Erastus Wiman, of New York, has been arrested on the charge of forgery at that city, will be received with a general feeling of regret in this country. Much as we have differed from Mr. Wiman as to the plans which he advocated for to the trade relations between this country and the United States, we cannot but hope that he will prove to be innocent of the criminal offence for which he has been placed in custody.

Lord Dunraven, after failing to win the America's cup with the Valkyrie last October, wintered his craft on this side of the water and gave her a larger sail plan, more ballast and a general refitting, with the object of meeting the Vigilant, which defeated the Valkyrie for the cup, in some of the spring races. This fine exhibition of sportsmanlike feeling ought to have been responded to in a like spirit by our American cousins; but unfortunately such has not been the case, the wealthy syndicate who own the Yankee cup defender having declared that they will not put her in commission this season. Under these circumstances, Lord Dunraven says: "I will not race the Valkyrie in America in 1894, because I cannot have the Vigilant as a competitor. The Vigilant is the only boat I desire to meet." The honors rest with the plucky Briton, who will be a challenger again next year, with Lord Wolverton as an associate.

In a paper read before the Western Society of Engineers, Capt. W. H. Jaques says: "The wire-wrapped type had the honor of firing the 'Jubilee rounds' in the Queen's Jubilee year, and gave wonderful results. On April 16, 1888, was fired at Shoeburyness the first of a series of rounds intended to investigate the conditions attending firing at very long ranges. The gun selected was a 9.2 gun, made under the direction of Gen. Maitland in the Royal Gun Factories. The weight of the gun was 22 tons, that of the projectile 380 pounds, which, fired with a charge of 270 lbs., gave a muzzle velocity of 2,360 foot seconds. The elevation of the first round was 40 deg. The projectile fell at a range of about 21,000 yards, or nearly 12 miles. On July 12, at 43 deg. elevation, a range of 21,600 yards was attained; and on July 26th, with 45 deg. elevation, the range was 21,600 yards, or about 12.4 miles. The projectile remained in the air about 69.6 seconds, and its trajectory reached a height of 17,000 feet, or about 2,000 feet higher than the summit of Mount Blanc."

"WOODMAN, SPARE THAT TREE."

An interesting paper was read at the Canadian Institute, Toronto, recently by Mr. Kivas Tully, C. E., on "The Fluctuations of Lake Ontario," being a continuation of a former paper read at the Canadian Institute on March 22, 1879. As the survey of the great lakes has been completed by the United States, Mr. Tully was able to give accurate information as to the water-shed, water surface, and levels of the lakes, which only could be considered approximate in the former paper, though procured from the best authorities. The great decrease of nearly three inches in the average rain and snowfalls in the last fifteen years, as compared with the previous twenty-five years, was ascribed to the destruction of the forests, without much attempt to replace them by planting trees. The decease in the average snowfall is corroborated by the decrease of more than 3 inches in the mean level of Lake Ontario for the last fifteen years. These decreases were substantiated by the records of the Meteorological observatory for the past fifty years, which show a diminution of 2.602 inches, the figures being 36.940 inches the mean of 17 years in 1858, and 34.338 inches, mean of fifty years in 1891. These facts deserve the serious consideration of the whole community, particularly the farming portion, as a diminution of rainfall means diminution in the fertilizing of the soil.

Samuel Richardson's novel "Clarissa Harlowe," published in 1748, is generally conceded to be the longest piece of fiction in the English language. It contains 1,134,000 words. The average novel of the present day contains from seventy thousand to eighty thousand words.

The Olympieum was a magnificent temple to the Olympian Zeus in Athens, Greece. The Athenians began this temple in the first period of their greatness, the Greek princess of Asia continued it, Augustus left it unfinished, and, 650 years after it was begun, Hadrian completed and dedicated it. During the Dark Ages it served as a quarry of building stone for the Athenians. Fifteen lofty Corinthian columns of Pentelic marble, rising to a height of more than sixty feet, are now standing as the remains of this colossal temple. Livy speaks of this temple as the only one in the world undertaken "upon a scale commensurate with the majesty of the god."

An interesting "incident" of the career of that great Napoleon has been brought to light by Prof. Rambaud, who has just been rewarded for his "History of Russia" with the cross of the Legion of Honor. Bonaparte, as is well known, was at one time disgusted with the slowness of his promotion, and entertained serious thoughts of directing his talents into other channels. Now M. Rambaud tells us that Napoleon applied for service in the Russian army, but that the petition, which he had addressed to Zaborowski, was rejected, as Catherine II. would not admit foreign officers on the same standing as that which they occupied in their own country. Napoleon would have had to accept an inferior rank, and this he refused to do. If Prof. Rambaud be correctly informed, and if Bonaparte had taken service in Russia, the whole course of the history of the century would have been changed, and a whole vista of curious possibilities would have been opened.

One Comfort: "How does your new girl like it with you?" asked the caller.

"She seems to be contented."

"Does she do the work well?"

"No; but she doesn't find fault with the way I do it."

"Have you had your new house insured, Mrs. Dwight?"

"Yes."

"Your husband is afraid of fire, then?"

"Mercy, yes; he will leave the house any time before he will make one."

"Now, my little children," said the Sunday school teacher, "all of you be very still while I tell you about it—so still that you can hear a pin drop." All was silence till a little boy shrieked out, "Let her drop."

Mrs. Preachly—What made you tell me that he was the carver of his own fortune, when he got every cent he has by marrying an heiress?

Mr. Preachly—Well, he had to cut out about 12 fellows to get her, didn't he?

Walter (to party from the country, just seated)—Here's the bill of fare, sir.

Gentleman—Now, look here! If you think I'm gwine to pay any bill of fare till I've had somethin' to eat you're foolin' yourself. Fetch on your vittles first.

THE TRANSPORTATION OF GOODS.

Proposal to Levy Tolls on Freight or Passengers Passing to or from British Possessions Across the United States—Bill Introduced With Respect to the Paris Tribunal's Award.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Representative McCreary, the chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, introduced a bill yesterday which is designed to carry into effect the award rendered by the tribunal of arbitration at Paris under the treaty between the U. S. and Great Britain which was concluded at Washington on Feb. 29 of last year. The purpose of the treaty was to submit to arbitration the question in dispute between this country and Great Britain concerning the preservation of the fur seals. It is understood that the bill has the approval of Secretary Gresham. An effort will be made to have it referred to the foreign affairs committee and if this be done it will be considered by the committee at their meeting on Thursday next.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Mr. Chickering (Rep., New York) introduced yesterday in the House a bill to amend the Act of July, 1892, to enforce reciprocal trade relations between the United States and Canada. The bill provides, in addition to the present powers, that whenever the President shall be satisfied that there is any discrimination in the use of the Welland canal, the St. Lawrence river canals, the Chambly canal, or the new Canadian Sault canal detrimental to the United States, it shall be his duty to suspend the transportation across the United States in bond of goods imported or exported from any foreign countries from or to the British dominions in North America. In case of the suspension tolls are to be levied and collected on freight of whatever kind or description at $2 per ton and on passengers at not more than $5 a head. No tolls are to be charged or collected upon freight or passengers carried to and landed at Ogdensburg, N.Y., or any port west of Ogdensburg, and south of a line drawn from the northern boundary of the State of New York through to the St. Lawrence river, the great lakes and through the connecting channels to the north boundary of the State of New York.

USED CANNED TOMATOES.

And as a Consequence a Whole Family Had to be Sent to a Hospital.

MONTREAL, Feb. 23.—A whole family of French-Canadians are at the Notre Dame Hospital and several of them are not expected to live from the effects of eating canned tomatoes. Antoine Dorion, a French-Canadian workman, lives with his wife and a family of six children at the corner of St. Dominique street and Duluth avenue. On Wednesday night they bought some canned tomatoes at the corner grocery and partook of them at supper. During the night the mother and children were taken violently ill and became so bad that they had to be removed to the hospital. The youngest child is not expected to recover.

THE SCARE IN PARIS

An Anarchist Who Would Have Repeated Vaillant's Act.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The police have arrested an anarchist named Rivols, who is presumed to be one of the leaders of the bomb throwers now operating in Paris. He is well known to the London police, who warned the Paris authorities to look out for him.

There is reason to believe that he intended to repeat the outrage of Vaillant, as Deputy Sauzet alleges that Rivols applied to him for tickets of admission to the Chamber of Deputies on Monday and Tuesday. M. Sauzet regarded the man with suspicion and refused to comply with his request.

A supposed bomb was found yesterday in the Galerie Montpensier, Palais Royal, and sent to the municipal laboratory to be examined. The police say that they have proof that the five anarchists arrested on Wednesday are responsible for the explosion at the police station in the Rue Des Bons Enfants in November, 1892.

One of the prisoners is Adrienne Chailly. She had long been associated with anarchists and the police say received the bomb made by Emile Henry, which she placed on the staircase of the building where the Carmaux Mining Company had its offices.

RUSSO-GERMAN TREATY.

Kaiser William Indignant at the Assertion of Conservative Deputies.

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—The Foreign Office authorizes the statement that on the occasion of the recent meeting of the Emperor and Prince Bismarck not a single allusion to political matters was made by either during the entire conversation.

The Emperor paid a visit to Chancellor von Caprivi yesterday. During the interview the Kaiser hotly expressed his indignation at the Conservative Deputies demonstration last Saturday in asserting that fear of Russia had guided the conclusion of the Russo-German commercial treaty.

A Husband's Awful Deed.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Feb. 23.—Frederick Westfall, a farmer, living in Riverside township, attacked his wife with a caseknife during a quarrel at the breakfast table. Mrs. Westfall was dangerously wounded about the face and neck, and her husband, supposing her dead, drove the children out of the house at the point of a revolver, poured kerosene oil about the room and overturned the cook stove, setting fire to the house. Westfall then cut his own throat and wrists and went to an old shed and hanged himself. Mrs. Westfall was rescued before the flames had reached her body, but she is in a critical condition and will probably die. The quarrel at the breakfast table is the only known motive for the deed.

Differences in the A.P.A.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 23.—The American Protective Association began a state conclave here Wednesday evening. There are 300 delegates present. There is a great fight on between Liberal and Conservative members of the order. The Liberals are in favor of making the fight purely political, and believe in countenancing those Catholics who are independent of the church in their political actions. The Conservatives are against the Catholics under all conditions. J. M. Jamison, a lawyer of this city, and several local lodges have been expelled from the Order on account of their liberal views. They will ask reinstatement at this conclave, and the fight promises to be exceedingly warm.

Struck by a Train.

ACTON, Feb. 23.—James D. McDonald, a farmer living near here, was badly hurt yesterday while crossing a G. T. R. crossing. He was driving across the track when the 2.30 express struck the sleigh cutting it in two, throwing each half on opposite sides of the track. McDonald was thrown as high as the smoke stack and came down on his head, receiving serious injuries. The horse was unhurt.

Five Killed in an Explosion.

COMITE, La., Feb. 23.—Five men, four colored and one white, were killed, and several others injured, by the explosion of a boiler in the oil mill of Freeman & Hayne here last night.

NEW WEAPONS OF DESTRUCTION.

The Army Rifle That Fires Explosive Bullets of Great Penetration.

The Paris Figaro says that a retired French naval officer has invented a rifle that is capable of firing two kinds of explosive bullets. These bullets have immense power of penetration, and one hundred of them weigh only 1,200 grammes.

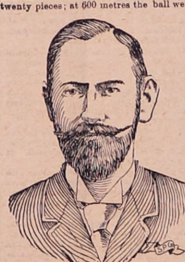
What will be the next excuse or pretext invented not to justify war, which is the negation of every right, but the researches and inventions which are daily rendering it more deadly and horrible? Up to the present time attempts have been made to excuse the persons who, with every faculty of their mind directed toward this one object, spent their life in discovering arms, projectiles and explosive substances of greater and greater power by stating that the new weapons would wound more but kill fewer men.

In future wars, it was said, the soldiers would be disabled in larger numbers, but there would be but few deaths; the lesions would be slight and would heal quickly and certainly. Then when peace was made the wounded would be found to be as good as ever, without any other damage than slight scars, just enough to bear witness to their bravery and keep it in their memory. The conclusion drawn was that the tremendous sums spent for arms that are constantly going out of fashion and being renewed, all this labor and effort that was thought to be lost for peace and the progress of humanity, were, on the contrary, serving the cause of progress, and to invent a gun, a ball or a new form of powder was claimed to be a work of kindness and philanthropy!

It seems now, however, that this is a mistake. The experiments made by M. Demosthenes, head surgeon of the Roumanian army, confirming those carried out in Switzerland, Germany and in France by MM. Delorme, Chanvel and Chavasse, have shown the falseness of these claims, which can no longer be advanced in good faith, even if we are to admit that they were ever anything else than the mask of hypocrisy. The distances used were those of a battle, and the cartridges the regular ammunition, so that the results were just what we shall get in a battle, and they are terrible enough.

At 1,200 or 1,400 metres, distances which M. Demosthenes did not exceed on account of the difficulty of hitting a single man at 800 or 1,000 metres, he noted complete perforation of the cranium with multiple fractures, and simultaneous rupture of the stomach and intestine. With living horses at the same distance the nickel steel covered ball of the Roumanian Mannlicher of 6½ millimetres went through the cranium and neck, grinding the vertebrae to pieces.

At shorter distances, a fracture of the cranium means that it bursts into about twenty pieces; at 600 metres the ball went through three bodies placed one behind the other at an interval of half a metre, striking them below the knee; the tibia of the first was found in fourteen pieces, while that of the second showed thirteen. If to this we add the fact that balls striking the bones with this terrific force break themselves into innumerable fragments, tearing the flesh, coming out at different places, and leaving in the tissues a lot of metallic fragments, some idea can be formed of the immense gravity of these wounds, and of the butchery that a battle of the future is going to be.



FERDINAND RITTER VON MANNLICHER.
[Inventor of the Austrian Army Magazine Rifle.]

And this is not all: a new danger hitherto unknown in wounds by firearms goes to complete the terrible destructive power of these new weapons. I refer to hemorrhage. Wounds inflicted on living horses show that not only the large vessels, but even the arteries of small calibre are opened as by a knife, giving rise to great loss of blood. A horse struck in the temple and killed in two minutes lost bright red blood in jets from the wound. A soldier killed accidentally at target practice at Bucharest, and who had merely been shot through the apex of the left lung, without any important vessels being opened, was found to have four litres of blood in his pleural cavity.

Such are the wounds with which army surgeons are going to have to deal in the future. To master this hemorrhage, to handle and set without too much pain or damage limbs of which the skeleton is reduced to fragments, will the good will, courage and devotion, as also the inexperience and lack of skill of the ambulance attendants, be enough? The surgeon's aid will be necessary.

Unfortunately the range of the arms of the present day will expose them to being killed to no purpose. The most that can be done will be to protect the wounded soldier from any further damage, while the first sanitary line will have to be 3,500 or 4,000 metres back of the battle line.

The cruel but true formula of the results obtained by the philanthropic inventors of new arms is, therefore, "more dangerous wounds and more difficult help to the wounded." The Roumanian surgeon develops this idea in these terms, which give a very good conception of his publication:—"We cannot help feeling that this so-called humanitarian projectile is a very perfidious one, as it shatters the cranium, smashes the bones, opens the vessels and splits itself up in the body into a number of pointed and cutting fragments impossible to extract; it wounds many persons at the same time, and while increasing the number of wounded and of their wounds, prevents us, on account of its great range, from helping the wounded with the quickness and security desirable."

For these reasons let us hope that the god of peace will be propitious to us!—Paris (France) Herald.

The Jackson-Corbett Fight.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.—It is not likely that the Jackson-Corbett prize fight will take place at Strawberry Island, near Orillia, next summer. Mr. Kennedy and Jake Gaudaur met Parson Davies and Jackson here last evening and offered $30,000 on condition that Corbett and Jackson would give an exhibition for points on Strawberry Island. Davies refused the offer, having received just an hour before a telegram from Mount Clemens, Mich., offering $45,000 to have a fight to a finish take place within three miles of that city.

Contempt of Court in Newfoundland.

ST. JOHN, Nfld., Feb. 23.—Justice Winter, of the Supreme Court, nearly committed Colonial Secretary Bond for contempt of court yesterday. Petitions against the return of members of the Whiteway Government are now being heard. That of Mr. Woods, Surveyor-General, was the first case and Bond refused to submit official books as evidence. The judge expressed the utmost indignation at the refusal and threatened severe penalty. The books will be produced.

ALL THREE CURED.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys are such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

A DENIAL!

We, the students at present attending the Belleville Business College, numbering 197, wish the public to know that the statement regarding the key and reference book which appeared in the Daily Ontario and the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 4th inst, over the signatures of W. B. Robinson and J. W. Johnson, of O. B. C., and which were evidently intended to apply to the Belleville Business College and its students, are not true. One of our present fellow students first started a course at the O. B. C. and was supplied with a key to assist him in his work. He subsequently chose the B. B. C, where the teachers do not allow him, or any other student, to use a key or reference book. This tirade of abuse about keys and reference books comes with a very bad grace from those who use keys or reference books and even guide books in their own college. The B. B. C. holds the highest reputation for thoroughness and we believe it is the best equipped and most honorably, liberally and efficiently conducted Business College in Canada. Its graduates have been more successful than those of any other College in Canada.

Mrs. Jas. Fuller is visiting at Robert McGowan's, Tweed.

Miss Sarah McCreary, of Rochester, is visiting friends in the city.

C. J. Boldrick and Albert Bird, Stirling, were registered at the Queen's to-day.

W. Kerr, Madoc, has been appointed D. D. G. M. of the A. O. U. W. for this (the Quinte) district.

Miss Lilly Burton, daughter of the Rev. John Burton, Toronto, is visiting at Mr. Wm. H. Lingham's.

Messrs. R. M. Roy and E. P. Hannaford, jr., Montreal, officials of the G. T. R., are at the Huffman House.

Mr. D. Morris, Asst. Supt. of the G. T. R., and Mr D. S. Russell, his secretary, are stopping at the Huffman.

Mr. H. T. Wills, of Orangeville, who has been visiting at Mr. Thos. Wills', Church st., left to-day for Kingston.

Mr. J. H. Laidlaw, of Montreal, is at the Huffman House, the guest of his brother, Mr. C. S. Laidlaw, of the Bank of Montreal.

Dr. Ruttan, Napanee, was in town yesterday arranging for the annual medical dinner to be held here shortly. He stopped at the Huffman House.

L. K. Thomas, Wellington; G. A. Booth, Trenton; M. S. Sutherland, Kingston; John A. Sprague, Demorestville, and R. S. Skinner, Keene, were at the Anglo to-day.

Mr. C. F. Gildersleeve and Mr. M. H. Folger, of Kingston, are prominently mentioned in connection with the managership of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company.

Miss Lee, of Belleville, who for some months past has been head book-keeper at Gough's, returns to her home to-morrow. Miss Lee has made many friends in Brockville, who will regret her departure. —Brockville Recorder.

One of the old attaches of the Sterling Business College was Prof. G. A. Swayze. Like many others, he apparently dropped from sight, was lost in the shuffle. To-day there comes to us from Belleville, Ontario, a catalogue of a business college there, and at its head the name of the old Professor. In the pages, too, we find a very neat biography of the gentleman, and the whole book filled and promising a large school.—Evening Gazette, Sterling, Ills.

Mrs. Isaac Pettet, and daughter, Libbie, of Belleville, are visiting friends in this county.—Rev. Mr. Daw and Mr. S. R. Gorman, of Belleville, were in town on Tuesday. The Rev. gentleman gave an excellent address in the Parish House and initiated nearly twenty young men in the Brotherhood of St. Andrews'. Mr. Gorman, who is a member of the Brotherhood in Belleville, also made a very appropriate speech.—The Rev. D. O. Crossley, of Belleville, occupied the pulpit of the Main st. Methodist church last Sunday, morning and evening. The song service in the evening was very much appreciated. —Picton Gazette.

Patrons' Meeting at Plainfield.

The Patrons of Industry held a public meeting at Plainfield on Thursday evening, 22nd inst. The meeting was held in the A.O.U.W. hall. The attendance was fair, and the chair was occupied by A. Hartan. The first speaker was E. N. Gould, who was followed by Mr. A. McLaren, the Patrons' nominee for the Local Legislature. Then came W. C. Mikel, barrister, of Belleville; although not a P. of I., he made a grand Patron speech; after which Mr. Jas. Balcanquel, the nominee for the Dominion, was introduced. He read a letter from Mr. W. Anderson, of Prince Edward Co., expressing regret at not being able to attend the meeting. After his speech, Mr. John Clapp read and explained the Patrons' platform. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. W. C. Mikel for his address.

Police Court.

Wm. Smith sued James Wallace for a week's wages, but the evidence was contradictory and the Magistrate dismissed the case.

The case of Jas. O'Neil, proprietor of the International hotel, for violation of the liquor law, was dismissed.

The case of the Walker Foundry Co. vs. Warner Simmons for appropriating a fanning mill was enlarged for one week to allow a settlement between the parties.

The Pope Hodgins and Ray-Hodgins seduction cases were called this morning, but were enlarged until two o'clock. Bella Ray arrived from Saginaw at noon to-day, but was too much fatigued by the journey to appear in court this afternoon.

A Dream of Fair Women on Monday Night.

An entertainment consisting of Tennyson's Dream of Fair [illegible] be given in the lecture room of St. Andrew's Church on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. J. J. B. Flint has kindly consented to read the selection from the poet, while the fair women will be represented by Belleville's fair women, who, in appropriate costumes, will render their respective parts both with elocutionary and literary talent. Admission 15 cents.

A Rush for Neckwear.

It is no wonder the Oak Hall is having a rush for neckwear. When clerks from other stores in the same line of business are buying, is it any wonder the general public appreciate the good value? We guarantee to give you as good a necktie for 25cts. as you can get any place for 50cts We are going to sell neckwear and sell it fast.

Colts vs Intermediates

An interesting curling match took place at the rink last evening between a rink of colts and one of the older heads, which resulted as follows:

Correspondence.

Whilst correspondents will be accorded space for the expression of their ideas on topics of public interest, it must be in all cases understood that the views so expressed are simply those of the correspondents themselves.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—Having an interest in the welfare of our city in which I have my life's earnings, not hidden away in securities or other investments which evade the keen scent of the assessor or collector, but which is visible to both and furnishes its share promptly every year for the requirements of the city.

This is my plea, that I ought not to be silent when radical changes are about to take place, which I believe to be a very serious mistake. Such a case is at present before the City Council in attempting to reduce the number of aldermen by reducing the number of wards.

You will remember, Mr. Editor, I wrote you before on this subject, a copy of which appeared in the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the 12th inst., but which found no place in the columns of your worthy contemporary. However, I am pleased to be informed that the omission was not intentional. Were it otherwise it would only confirm my suspicion that there is a hidden mystery about the change and that the pretext put forward is only surface matter.

This scheme is engineered by a few restless spirits who understand the ropes sufficiently well to pull the wool over somebody's eyes and to attract the attention of the remaining portion of the Council by their ingenious devices and theatrical sham squabbles, a free exhibition of which they gave at their last meeting, under the pretext that they could not agree as to the number of wards which would suit their convenience best, but the change must be made now or never. The victims are ready awaiting decapitation to offer themselves up a holocaust in the presence of their august masters.

In the new scheme of gerrymander the carving will be neatly accomplished following the course of the sun through the most populous parts of the city so as to attract business men to the Council, fearing that they have not enough to occupy their minds in attending to their own business. A happy thought! But is this fair to the outlying parts? Are Bleecker, Foster and Coleman Wards quietly going to submit to this arrangement, and be at the mercy of a star chamber where no plebeian voice can be heard in defence of our rights? We hope not.

To say that the change is made to shut out ignorant aldermen is a gratuitous insult to our representatives, which we hope they will resent when the proper time comes. To say that the aldermen are bound by the vote taken at the municipal election on that measure is to say what is not correct. They entered the Council unpledged. That pledge could only be exacted from next year's Council, but now that the scheme is ventilated that pledge will never be exacted.

Having now disposed of the only assignable reason for this outrageous attempt on the liberties of a free people, permit me to say that, judging the future by the past, when we had a less number of aldermen and only five wards, I feel convinced that a bold attempt is being made to again place the government of the city in the keeping of a lot of land sharks.

Human nature has undergone no change for the better. The necessity of bolts and bars is as great now as ever. Our prisons contain more educated scoundrels than ever, and the man that says Belleville is an exception does not know what he is talking about, but if he has any brains he can understand that it is much more difficult to satisfy twenty-two hungry men than it is to satisfy ten or twelve, besides it must not be forgotten that the city covers much more territory now than formerly.

This talk about not having business men in the Council is all nonsense. Are they not represented by their clerks and legal advisers, after the fashion of all aristocratic countries? and I make this remark without prejudice, knowing that the road to municipal honors is as open to the former as to the latter if they wish to avail themselves of it, so that there are no persons to blame but themselves. However, when an odd one happens to stray in there, he soon gets snuffed out by the men of law and leisure, in which the Belleville Council so fruitfully abounds.

JAS. MEAGHER.

BELLEVILLE, February 22, 1894

DOWN WITH THE DRIFTS.

A Prominent Resident of the County Makes a Strong Plea For Wire Fences.

DEAR SIR.—Being out some distance from Belleville on the Madoc road with two gentry from your city on a visit to our county legislators, we were delayed by a blizzard for two days and two nights on account of the great drifts, and although our hostess informed us at the outset she was pretty well supplied with the needful to stand a long siege, I found, by enquiry, the quarter of beef began to look pretty slim, there being nothing I believe left but the shank. Our host thought it prudent to begin to dig a track to the road, so as to give us no more excuse for staying. I might observe neither of us cared to use the shovel, as we were faring sumptuously. Our host had informed us he saw a team trying to make their way along the Madoc road and five young ladies plodding behind. They said they had to get home if they died in the attempt, but we thought it the better part of valor to enjoy the beef and let her blow; but after we had stayed about three days and the beef began to look scarce and the way opened to the road, we thought it would look better for us to make a start for home; and I might add in passing, I had no idea two of your denizens of so small a calibre could mallfather so much beef, etc., in so short a time. Nevertheless such was the fact and I presume our hostess thought so too, for I saw a beam in her eye when we were leaving as much as to say "I wish that road had not been blocked." Well, Mr. Editor, we got along by slow degrees till we came to the hill south of Luke's, when, behold you, we got stuck—could not go forward nor turn around. The citizens got somewhat perturbed. I suggested they open the fence, which was not very palatable to them, considering they had only slippers and overshoes on, which may do very well in Belleville, and I being driver sat in the sleigh during their modus operandi and glad to inform you that was the only casualty we had during our peregrinations. I forgot to say I suggested to the nabobs to put the fence up again, but they rather demurred, considering the depth of snow, but I gave them to understand we like to do as we would be done by in the country, and as there was a good Samaritan farther on shovelling there was no occasion to leave the fence. After some parleying they went into it again with their slippers, while I sat in the sleigh and enjoyed it tremendously. Now, Mr. Editor, every drift on the main arteries injures both the county and the city and I hope, for the sake of your fellow citizens and the interests of the county, you'll advocate the building of wire fences where the drifts are bad. Look, for instance, at the piece of road leading from the Stirling road to where Robt. Bird, Esq., Reeve of Sidney, used to live. There is a wire fence on both side, whereas before 'twas almost impassable. I remain

Yours truly,
JEHU.

EDITOR'S NOTE.

Our correspondent, who is one of the most respected residents of Sidney, has put his case in a strong and practical manner. We trust that his plea for wire fences in places where drifts occur, will influence all concerned to that end, and that the County Council will assist in a liberal spirit, as by so doing they will serve the public interest.

CAMP ROB ROY.

An Enjoyable Departure.

The members of Camp Rob Roy, Sons of Scotland, of Belleville, made a decided departure from their customary programme of business, last evening. At the previous meeting the question of inviting the friends of members was discussed and decided in the affirmative. Accordingly, when the Chief assumed his customary position, Thursday evening, there were ranged on either side of the hall, and comfortably filling it, a goodly number of both sexes, strangers to the place, but almost all well kent faces, who seemed to anticipate a treat of rare pleasure and interest; nor were they disappointed, for a more enjoyable and instructive programme has rarely been provided, in an unpretentious style, for a Belleville audience. Better songs than were sung by Mrs. A. Matheson and Mr. John McIntosh; more pleasing and humorous readings and recitations than were given by Miss Jessie Robertson, who has made for herself a reputation in that line; addresses both interesting and instructive by Mr. Stoddart, Chief of Deseronto Camp; Mr. Massie, Secretary of Kingston Camp; Dr. G. S. Wright, Bro. Smeaton, D. D. G. C.; and Mr. Allen T. Petrie, Belleville, have seldom been heard outside of a metropolitan city, free gratis for nothing. Miss Lloyd played the accompaniments for the singers very efficiently. The entertainment, as a whole, was a most enjoyable one, and the visitors were unstinted in their praises of the officers and members of the Camp for their "innovation."

THE MUTES AT HOCKEY.

They Played Their First Game Last Night and Showed up Well.

The D. & D. Institute has caught the hockey craze and they have now a team which will try conclusions with all comers. They played a practice game on the rink last night with a scratch team and although they have had but little practice and their ideas of the game are crude to a certain extent, they made their opponents hustle. They will no doubt make a fast team with practice. The teams lined up as follows:

| Mute's | Position | Scratch Team |
|---|---|---|
| J. Patrick | Goal | H. Hamilton |
| Fisher | Point | Hay |
| J. Smalldon | Cover Point | Holton |
| IsbisterLaBelleHenceGillam | Forwards | L. HamiltonMarksPowellThompson |

F. Doyle, Referee

In the first half no goals were scored, but Thompson put the puck between the Mutes' posts twice in the second half. Score 2—0.

CITY MISSION.

The Thirteenth Anniversary—A New Building Needed

The thirteenth anniversary of the City Mission was held in the Mission building last evening. Mr. A. G. Northrup occupied the chair. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises. A letter was read from Rev. Mr. Baker. Notwithstanding many other attractions, the attendance was good. A report was read, giving a full account of the work last year. Mrs. Dingman, and Mr. Baker, of O.B.C., delighted the audience with their singing. Miss Fleming, of Trenton, presided at the organ. Short addresses were delivered by Messrs. A. G. Northrup, J. F. Dingman, and C. Elvins. Cash receipts last year were $357.28, besides many gifts of clothing, &c.

The time has come when the building must be enlarged, to carry on the work successfully; and friends of the Mission will have an opportunity of contributing for that purpose.

Committee Work.

All the civic committees, except the Executive, met last evening.

The Fire Committee recommended the payment of accounts and also that an extension ladder be purchased for the fire department.

The Public Works recommended the payment of accounts and the consideration of the petition for a granolithic pavement on Front St.

The Industrial recommend the expenditure of $100 for testing the ores of North Hastings.

The special committee on reduction of wards recommend two plans for the division of the city into five wards.

The Water and Gas recommend the payment of accounts.

The Market and City Property recommend the payment of a few accounts. The committee discussed at some length the proposition of Mr. Robt. McGuinness re the old market building. Mr. McGuinness said if he did not get the market building for the business he would have to pull up stakes. The committee asked the Street Surveyor and the chairman to report as to the cost of preparing the building according to the plan submitted by Mr. McGuinness. The committee will meet on Monday afternoon to consider the report.

Curious Facts.

In 1890 the railroads of the world were estimated at 370,281 miles.

It is said that South Africa last year gave a profit of $20,000,000 from its gold mines, and $7,750,000 from diamonds.

The average weight of twenty thousand men and women weighed at Boston, was, men 141½ pounds, women 124½ pounds.

Humboldt describes an oak tree which he saw in France 90 ft. in circumference at the base, and estimated to be 2,000 years old.

The cave animals of North America, according to Prof. A. S. Packard, of Brown University, comprise 172 species of blind creatures, nearly all of which are mostly white in color.

The last English census enumerated about 5000 women who are professional gardeners in that country, and six who are employed in superintending the drainage of towns.

When the ostrich is to be divested of its plumage a long hood is placed on its head, and it is then confined in a railed inclosure about three feet square. The birds rarely show fight.

In the tanning industry electricity is beginning to play an important part. The largest tannery in Switzerland will soon be reconstructed and enlarged for the purpose of adopting the process of electric tanning.

The longest voyage on record in a balloon was made by Jno. Wise, from St. Louis to Henderson, N.Y., in July, 1859—a distance of 850 miles—which was made in 19 hours, or at the rate of 46 miles an hour.

A splendid record for safety of ships and cargoes was made during 1893 by the large fleet of grain carriers between Pacific ports and Europe. The voyage is the longest and stormiest of all routes in the world's commerce, yet out of 326 vessels which sailed from San Francisco and other Pacific ports for Europe, only one failed to arrive at her destination safely, and with cargo in good order. This one ship was stranded on a South Pacific island, and lack of wrecking facilities alone prevented her getting off and resuming her voyage; her crew was saved.

LECTURE ON BERMUDA.

Mr. J. W. Johnson Gives an Interesting Address in the Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

The second of the series of lectures under the auspices of the Y. W. C. T. U. was delivered in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. last evening by Mr. J. W. Johnson, his subject being Bermuda. The Rev. Mr. Marshall occupied the chair. During the evening Miss M. Jones, Miss E. Garratt and Mr. F. Lewis contributed to a short but very pleasant musical programme.

Mr. Johnson's opening remarks referred to the delights of travel and its results upon travellers physically and mentally. He named some of the best known books of travel that are so pleasant to read, among others Bayard Taylor's "Views Afloat," Russell Lowell's "Fireside Travels," Washington Irving's "Sketch Book," and the recent works of Henry M. Field.

For an hour the lecturer entertained the audience in an easy conversational way about Bermuda, by relating his own experiences there, and imparting a great deal of information.

Starting from New York he graphically described the short but trying voyage. Bermuda as a military and naval station of Great Britain was first alluded to and also the two other sentinels of the Empire, Gibraltar and Malta on the Mediterranean. The tropical scenery of Bermuda, the beauties of sea and sky, the fruits and flowers, the shrubs and trees were pleasantly presented, so that the audience could form a mental picture of one of the loveliest spots on the globe. The population, the habits and customs of the people, their agricultural products and exports, their charming social life and amusements; the history of Bermuda back to the 16th century were each dealt with.

The following is the lecturer's description of a drive he took with some friends on an afternoon in Bermuda, which presents a charming scene:

We had spent the afternoon very pleasantly at the house of a friend in the country, and had enjoyed intercourse with them in their charming home and lovely garden, where we plucked at will the fruits and flowers that grew in such luxuriance and variety. We delayed our return to Hamilton till the afternoon was well spent, in order to avoid the extreme heat.

We drove out through an avenue of oleanders and roses, past a field of Easter lilies, and a garden of bananas, on to the public road, lined with orange, lime and lemon trees. We stopped at Neptune's grotto (or the Devil's hole, as the vulgar call it) a sort of ocean cave where every variety of fish in Bermuda waters is kept, from the shark (he by himself, however) to the beautiful angel fish.

Keeping Harrington Sound on our right we drove on over roads as white as chalk, and level as billard tables, until we emerged from a deep cutting, and began a gentle ascent, at the top of which we stopped the carriage to survey a scene as beautiful as the eye could rest upon.

A gentle breeze was stirring, cool and refreshing, after the torrid heat of the day. The sun was going down into the ocean (as he has no where else to go in Bermuda) and was spreading a glorious golden radiance across the water and over the landscape. The moon's gentle silver rays were spreading modestly from the east to meet the glory coming from the west, and thus establishing that bi-metalism in nature which in the commercial world cannot be maintained. Before and behind us, almost the whole Bermuda group was in view, with the broad Atlantic on either hand. In Grassy Bay the great ships of war rode peacefully at anchor, and in the sound and harbor the splendid fleet which bears to and fro the commerce of these fruitful islands was well represented, from the stately full rigged barque and modern steamship, to the staunch cedar schooner that has breasted the billows of the Atlantic for half a century. The flyers of the Yacht Club and the homely but swift little dingy were out spreading their canvas to the breeze in friendly contest. The beautiful tints of the water, such as are seen only in the tropics, and there only over reefs of coral, completed this charming picture of a summer sea—this idyll of the ocean.

This was the comparatively distant scene, but in our immediate surroundings there was the inexpressible charm of tropical landscape without the discomfort of the tropical sun. We lingered here, and in memory linger still.

The young ladies of the Y.W.C.T.U., as well as the lecturer and the musicians may be congratulated upon the success of their meeting last evening.

AMUSEMENTS

The Sawtelle company played the "Village Blacksmith" last night at the opera house to a large audience. The characters were all ably sustained and the performance gave universal satisfaction. They produce to-night the five-act drama "Black Flag" and give a grand matinee tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A Local Writer.

The following poem appears in February Outing, a magazine published simultaneously in New York, London and Australia:

THE SNOWSHOER'S SONG.

Tighten the tuque and girdle the sash,
Lads and lasses the snow shoes lash;
Ring the chorus, and start the line,
The air is crisp and the night is fine.
Crystal snow, dazzling glow
Of diamond moon, the clicking shoon,
The echoing night,—Yo, ho!

Sparkling spire and silver fane—
Half the journey—and home again,
Stride we, never a tired limb,
But breasts afire and brain aswim.
Crystal snow, dazzling glow
Of diamond moon, the clicking shoon,
The echoing night,—Yo, ho!

Home at last! The moonbeams white
We soon shall leave, for the golden light
Of crackling hearth, but with a sigh,
For our souls are full of the night and sky.
Crystal snow, dazzling glow
Of diamond moon, the clicking shoon,
The echoing night,—Yo, ho!

SINCE LAST THURSDAY

The busiest time the publishing department of our business ever experienced has been since Thursday last, when the tenth edition of

"THE CANADIAN ACCOUNTANT"

was issued.

Since then we have shipped "The Accountant" by express and through the mails to the following countries, to fill orders that had accumulated since the ninth edition was exhausted:—Danish West Indies, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, British Columbia, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan, Washington, New Brunswick, New York, and all parts of Ontario.

On such substantial facts, of which the above are but examples, we base the claim that this Canadian book, this Belleville book, is the most widely circulated work on book-keeping and accounts published in the English language.

We have not yet reached Australia, but under the direction (kindly tendered unsolicited) of the Minister of Trade and Commerce we expect to shortly.

Before the advent of spring the system should be thoroughly cleansed and purified by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, which purifies the blood and cures dyspepsia, constipation, headache, liver complaint, etc.

Life has no pleasure higher or nobler than that of friendship.

Out of Sorts.—Symptoms, Headache, loss of appetite, furred tongue, and general indisposition. These symptoms, if neglected, develop into acute disease. It is a trite saying that an "once of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and a little attention at this point may save months of sickness and large Doctor's bills. For this complaint take from two to three of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills on going to bed, and one or two for three nights in succession, and a cure will be effected.

Nothing which has life for its basis can boast much stability.

Ease by day and repose by night are enjoyed by those who are wise enough to apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to their aching muscles and joints. A quantity easily held in the palm of the hand is often enough to relieve the most exquisite pain.

Every hand adds to the happiness or misery of mankind.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

We must snatch the present moment, and employ it well.

HOW I SAID "YES"

BY

AMELLA E. BARR.

My godfathers and my godmothers in my baptism called me 'Olive,' and they lived to be heartily ashamed of themselves for it, for never was there a child with a more mistaken name. A belligerent state was my moral condition. I do not remember my nurses but I have grace enough to pity them. The most of my teachers considered me 'unruly,' and you can ask Geoffrey what he thought of me a year ago. Now it is different. I have found my master, and I believe I rather like it. This is how it came about:

Geoffrey had asked me three times to marry him, and three times I had said 'No,' in the most decided manner. But that never made the least difference to him. He only laughed, and said I would know my own mind better next time.

'I suppose,' I said, 'you mean to ask me once a quarter?'

'Is that enough?

'Too often, a great deal, sir.'

'Well, then, we will say once in six months, Miss Olive.'

And then he walked smilingly away, and began some nonsensical talk with father about Doctor Koch and his bewildering theories.

This last asking was just at the beginning of warm weather, and father, who thought Geoffrey's opinion infallible, asked him where he would advise us to go for the summer.

I had made up my mind to go to Long Branch, and I said so, very distinctly; but Geoffrey proposed some out-of-the way place in the Virginia mountains. Then he painted it with such glowing colors that nothing would satisfy father but a personal investigation. It was all Geoffrey's doing, and I told him so at the railway station.

'It is your doing, sir,' I said, 'and I shall remember you for it.'

'Thanks, Olive,' he replied; 'there is nothing I fear but forgetfulness.'

I wanted to speak unmistakably to him, but the train moved, and I felt that it would be only waste material.

At the end of the second day we got to our destination. It was a pretty place; I must acknowledge that. Nature had done all she could for it, but art and civilization had passed by it. The men were simply 'frights,' and the women were—well, none too good for the men. The houses were log-cabins, through which daylight peeped and the wind blew as it listed. But there was, of course, a big white hotel—there always is. I have no doubt if we had gone to Stanley Falls or Guthrie we should have found a hotel and a proprietor—the institution is ubiquitous. We procured rooms, and my trunks were, with some difficulty, got up the hill and the flight of wooden steps into the hall.

'I suppose,' I said, with a resigned look at father, 'there is no use in taking them upstairs. I can have no use for my dresses here?'

'As you like, Olive,' he replied, in one of his meek and mild ways; 'as you like, dear; that gray thing you have on looks pretty well, and it does not show the dirt.'

After this remark, of course, I had every trunk, bonnet box and satchel taken up stairs; and the noise and confusion, and even the occasional bad word their size and weight called forth, were quite grateful to me.

'It is not my fault,' I exclaimed. 'If people will build stairs like corckscrews, I am not responsible.'

In this amiable mood we took possession, and I think, if Geoffrey had known what I was thinking about it, as I did up my hair and put on my white evening dress, he would have lost a trifle of his self-complacency—that is, if men ever do make a loss of that kind. The first thing that pleased me was the supper. It was really good, particularly the berries and cream, which are a specialty with me.

'But, sir,' I inquired, 'are there any Christians here besides ourselves?'

'It is to be hoped so, Olive. I saw a little church in the valley.'

'Pshaw, father! I did not mean church Christians; I mean society Christians.'

'Ah, they are different, are they? Well, what do you think of Augusta Pennington for a Christian?'

'Augusta Pennington! Is she here?' I asked, amazeds

'No, she is not, but her brother lives within two miles, and he has a daughter about the same age as yourself. Mrs. Pennington wrote them we should be here to-day; they will doubtless call in the morning.'

Well, I did not care if they did. The dresses in my trunk were sufficient to inspire any woman with comfortable assurance. The next morning I made a beautiful toilet, but neither Mr. nor Miss Lacelles called. Just after supper I heard a little stir and bustle on the stairs, a rippling laugh, the rustle of silken robes, and leaning on her father's arm, Miss Lacelles entered. She was beautiful; I saw that at a glance; tall and pale and lady-like, reminding you of a fair white lily. We soon struck up a friendship—a girl's friendship I mean. Some one has said that there is no friendship between the sexes, and some one is mistaken, I think, for the world holds no safer friend for a woman than an honorable man. A woman's friendship is contiguity, or of being, as my father rather sneeringly remarked, 'the only Christian within hail of each other.' Mary showed me all her dresses and told me her secrets, and I returned the compliment, mindful of Burns' advice to still 'keep something to mysel' I wanna tell to ony.'

Life settled down into an unexciting but endurable routine. Mary and I visited each other and arranged our next winter's campaign, for I had invited her to pass the cold weather with me in New York. One day, in the middle of one of these pleasant chats, a servant came in and handed me a card. The name on it roused at once all the antogonism in my nature. It was—

GEOFFREY GARDINER.

Now it so happened that the existence of this gentleman was the one thing I had kept back in my confidence with Mary. So I had now to explain who and what he was. I wanted her to come into the parlor with me; but no, she would go home first and dress; but she promised to be back to tea.

I disliked Geoffrey, yet I was glad to see him. My mental faculties were rusting for want of attrition. Father would not quarrel with me and Mary was my only face card. I could not throw her away. Besides, I rather liked to see his great, hand some figure in the room. He was so full of life that he seemed to vitalize even the chairs and stools; they tumbled about and got out of the way in the strangest manner. I told him about Mary Lacelles, and warned him that he would lose his heart. He gravely told me he had none to lose.

Imagine six feet two inches of manhood without a heart!

We waited tea for Mary, but she did not come till quite dark, and we had begun tea. She said she had been detained by company, but I knew better than that. She was dressed with reference to candle light effect, and would not lose its influence on her first appearance. I never saw her look so lovely; her rose-colored dress, with its broad shimmering bands of white silk, wonderfully enhanced her charms. Geoffrey looked delighted, and she gave him the full benefit of both her upward and downward glances.

When tea was over, I left the room a few minutes, and when I came back, found Geoffrey and Mary sitting opposite each other, with the chess-board between them as an excuse for flirtation. The move had been so rapid that I was astonished, and a little angry, too; and father did not improve matters by whispering, as I passed his chair,

'Checkmated, Olive!'

It was not a pleasant evening to me, and it was the beginning of many unpleasant ones.

'How it came let doctors tell,' but I began to like Geoffrey just as soon as he began to like Mary. I called up pride to the rescue, but it did no help me much, and I suffered a good deal in watching Geoffrey's attentions to Mary, and listening to her prattle about him. I thought her supremely silly, and I told her so. She was astonished at my petulance, but I don't think she suspected the truth. Only father did that, and he looked so: 'Serve you right, miss,' that I longed for him to be a woman for an hour or so, that I might talk back to him.

One day, after Geoffrey had been a month with us, a riding party was proposed to the top of the mountain. Father and I, Geoffrey and Mary—that would be the order, of course; and I was prepared for that; but there is a last straw in every burden, and my last straw was this incident: They were mounted and waiting for me, when Mary dropped her glove. From my window I saw Geoffrey picked it up, put it on the hand laid so confidingly in his, and then kiss it. After that I was not going to ride for king nor kaiser. I sent a positive refusal to all entreaties, and as soon as they were out of sight indulged in a good refreshing cry. I cried myself to sleep, and woke about dusk with a new-born purpose in my heart which comforted me wonderfully, the key-note of which was: 'She stoops to conquer.' Yet I did not dress again. I knew they were to take tea at Mr. Lacelle's; so I threw my dressing gown around me, and taking a novel in my hand, I ordered a cup of strong tea and went into the sitting-room As I walked in at one door, Geoffrey walked in at the other.

'I come to take you to Mr. Lacelle's, Olive,' he said.

'How do you propose doing it, sir? For unless you bind me hand and foot, and get a couple of darkies to tote me there, I really don't think you will succeed.'

'I could carry you myself.'

'Could you? I don't think you would enjoy the journey.'

'Will you dare me to do it?'

'Not to-night. I should like to insure my life first.'

'Olive, you have been crying.'

'I have not sir,' indignantly. 'And if I have, what is that to you?' reproachfully.

'A great deal. Oh, Olive, you teasing, provoking, bewitching little mortal! How often must I tell you I love you? How often must I ask you to morry me?'

'It is not six months since the last time, Geffrey.'

'I don't care; it seems like six years. And, oh, Olive, you know that you love me.'

'I do not.'

'You have loved me ever since you were eight years old.'

'I have not.'

'Now you must take me forever or leave me forever to-night. I have asked you three times before.'

'Four times, sir.'

'Well, four times, then. Odd numbers are lucky; here is the fifth time. You know what I want, Olive—your promise to be mine. Is it to be? Now or never!'

I suppose every one has a good angel. Mine must have been at its post just then, for a strange feeling of humility and gentleness came over me. I glanced up at the handsome face all aglow with love's divine light; at the eyes full of gracious entreaty; at the arms half stretched out to embrace me. Yet pride struggled hard with love. I stood up silent and trembling, quite unable to acknowledge myself vanquished, until I saw him turn away grieved and sorrowful. Then I said:

'Geoffrey, come back; it is now.'

That is the way I said 'Yes' and I have never been sorry for it. If I live to the age of Methuselah, I shall never be a meek woman; but still I suit Geoffrey, and I take more kindly to his authority than ever I did to paternal rule. Father laughs with sly triumph at Geoffrey's victory, and he sent me as a wedding present a handsome copy of The Taming of the Shrew.'

NOT SPOILED BY FAME.

Mrs. Amelie Rives Chanler a Lovable Woman. Fond of Literature and Horses.

Imagine a tall woman, willowy and graceful, strong-featured, large-limbed, with a face that is intellectual rather than beautiful, still possessed of a certain beauty and framed by a wealth of red-gold hair, set off by a complexion which reflects the yellow-white tints of alabaster, and you have Amelie Rives before you. The sound of her voice carries the listener's thoughts to Virginia, to the land of soft-tongued, musical speech, where she was born and where she still lives in a rambling old house which, says the New York Journal, has been the home of the Riveses for generations. Amelie Rives comes of a fine old southern family that prides itself on its long and illustrious descent. When only a child she was taken abroad and educated in France. Little was known of her until one day she bounded at a single step into fame, with the publication of "The Quick or the Dead." The renown that her first work brought her had no effect on her except to urge her on to do still better. She remained the sweet southern girl, unaffected and simple as she was, before some critics bestowed on her the high praise of condemning her book in lengthy reviews. She still loved horses and outdoor sports—she still delighted in all the things that had interested her once and was as fond of the quiet life in the old Virginia house as she had ever been. She married J. Armstrong Chanler, a nephew of the late William Astor, and has continued to reside in the south, occasionally visiting New York with her husband. She is feted and feasted by the Astors and society generally, and when she has had enough gayety she returns to Virginia to work and to the existence of her choice. The late William Astor was almost as attached to her as to any of his own daughters, and found in her an even more congenial companion who could share his fondness of horses and yachts and who could quickly discern the good points of either with the accuracy of a connoisseur. She is a capital horsewoman and can ride as well as any cowboy, and is almost as much at home in her saddle as out.

Highly Praised.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, sprains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. I have recommended it to many friends and they also speak highly of it.

I can answer for the truth of the above.

T. C. CHRISTIAN, Haney, B. C.

"Is that piece of bric-a-brac all your rich relatives left you?" inquired the visitor "Yes, sir," sighed the poor relation; "my vase is my fortune."

Excellent Remedy.

GENTLEMEN,—We have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our house for over three years and find it an excellent remedy for all forms of coughs and colds. In throat and lung troubles it affords instant relief.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. C. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont, writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

I tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to give me relief until I was induced to try the old reliable Ayer's Pills. I have taken only one box, but I feel like a new man. I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so finely sugar-coated that even a child will take them. ## LIGHTNING OF THE SEA.

THE SUBJECT OF TALMAGE'S LATEST GOSPEL SERMON.

"He Maketh a Path to Shine After Him" —Planting the Trees that will Yield Fruit Hundreds of Years After we are Dead.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 18, 1894.—In the Brooklyn Tabernacle this forenoon, Rev. Dr. Talmage preached an unusually attractive and eloquent gospel sermon to a crowded audience, who listened with rapt interest. The subject was, "The Lightning of the Sea," the text selected being Job, 41.32: "He maketh a path to shine after Him."

If for the next thousand years ministers of religion should preach from this Bible there will yet be texts unexpounded, and unexplained, and unappreciated. What little has been said concerning this chapter in Job from which my text is taken bears on the controversy as to what was really the leviathan described as disturbing the sea. What creature it was I know not. Some say it was a whale. Some say it was a crocodile. My own opinion is it was a sea monster now extinct. No creature now floating in Mediterranean or Atlantic waters corresponds to Job's description.

What most interests me is that as it moved on through the deep it left the waters flashing and resplendent. In the words of the text, "He maketh a path to shine after Him," What was that illumined path? It was phosphorescence. You find it in the wake of a ship in the night, especially after rough weather. Phosphorescence is the lightning of the sea. That this figure of speech is correct in describing its appearance I am certified by an incident. After crossing the Atlantic the first time and writing from Basle, Switzerland, to an American an account of my voyage, in which nothing more fascinated me than the phosphorescence in the ship's wake, I called it The Lightning of the Sea. Returning to my hotel I found a book of John Ruskin, and the first sentence my eyes fell upon was his description of phosphorescence, in which he called it "The Lightning of the Sea." Down to the post office I hastened to get the manuscript, and, with great labor and expense, got possession of the magazine article and put quotation marks around that one sentence, although it was as original with me as with John Ruskin. I suppose that nine-tenths of you living so near the sea-coast have watched this marine appearance called phosphorescence, and I hope that the other one-tenth may some day be so happy as to witness it. It is the waves of the sea diamonded; it is the inflorescence of the billows; the waves of the sea crimsoned, as was the deep after the sea-fight of Lepanto; the waves of the sea on fire. There are times when from horizon to horizon the entire ocean seems in conflagration with this strange splendor, as it changes every moment to tamer or more dazzling color on all sides of you. You sit looking over the taffrail of the yacht or ocean steamer watching and waiting to see what new thing the God of beauty will do with the Atlantic. It is the ocean in transfiguration: it is the marine world casting its garments of glory in the pathway of the Almighty as He walks the deep; it is an inverted firmament with all its stars gone down with it. No picture can present it, for photographer's camera cannot be successfully trained to catch it, and before it the hand of the painter drops its pencil overawed and powerless. This phosphorescence is the appearance of myriads of the animal kingdom rising, falling, playing, flashing, living, dying. These luminous animalcules for nearly one hundred and fifty years have been the study of naturalists and the fascination and solemnization of all who have brain enough to think. Now, God, who puts in His Bible nothing trivial or useless, calls the attention of Job, the greatest scientist of his day, to this phosphorescence, and as the leviathan of the deep sweeps past, points out the fact that "He maketh a path to shine after Him."

Is that true of us now, and will it be true of us when we have gone? Will there be subsequent light or darkness? Will there be a trail of gloom or good cheer? Can any one between now and the next 100 years say of us truthfully as the text says of the leviathan of the deep, "He maketh a path to shine after Him?" For we are moving on. While we live in the same house, and transact business in the same store, and write on the same table, and chisel in the same studio, and thresh in the same barn, and worship in the same church, we are in motion, and are in many respects moving on, and we are not where we were ten years ago, nor where we will be ten years hence. Moving on! Look at the family record, or the almanac, or into the mirror, and see if any one of you is where you were. All in motion. Other feet may trip, and stumble, and halt, but the feet of not one moment for the last sixty centuries has tripped, or stumbled, or halted. Moving on! Society moving on! The world moving on! Heaven moving on! The universe moving on! Time moving on! Eternity moving on! Therefore, it is absurd to think that we ourselves can stop, as we must move with all the rest. What influence will we leave in this world after we have gone through it? "None!" answer hundreds of voices, "we are not of the immortals. Fifty years after we are out of the world it will be as though we never inhabited it." You are wrong in saying that. I pass down through this audience and up through these galleries, and I am looking for someone whom I cannot find. I am looking for one who will have no influence in this world 100 years from now. But I have found the man who has the least influence, and I inquire into his history and I find that by a yes or no he decided some one's eternity. In time of temptation he gave an affirmative or a negative to some temptation which another, hearing of, was induced to decide in the same way. Clear on the other side of the next million years may be the first you hear of the long-reaching influence of that yes or no, but hear of it you will. You will make the path to shine after you or blacken after you. Every man, every woman, stands at a point where words uttered, or deeds done, or prayers offered, decide opposite destinies and opposite eternities. We are all planting trees that will yield fruit hundreds of years after we are dead: orchards of golden fruit, or groves of deadly upas. I am so fascinated with the phosphorescence in the track of a ship that I have sometimes watched for a long while, and have seen nothing on the race of the deep but blackness. The mouth of watery chasms that looked like gaping jaws of hell. Not a spark as big as the firefly; not a white scroll of surf; not a taper to illuminate the mighty sepulchres of dead ships; darkness 8,000 feet deep; and more thousands of feet long and wide. That is the kind of wake that a bad man leaves behind him as he plows through the ocean of this life toward the vaster ocean of the great future.

That scoffer who uttered the jokes against Christianity never realized what bad work he was doing, and he passed on through life, and out of it, and into a future that I am not now going to depict. I do not propose with a search-light to show the breakers of the awful coast on which that ship is wrecked, for my business now is to watch the sea after the keel has plowed it. No phosphorescence in the wake of that ship, but behind it two souls struggling in the wave; two young men destroyed by reckless scepticism, an unillumined ocean beneath, and on all sides of them. Blackness and darkness. You know what a gloriously good man Rev. John Newton was, the most of his life, but before his conversion he was a very wicked sailor and on board the ship "Harwich," instilled infidelity and vice in the mind of a young man, principles which destroyed him. Afterwards the two met and Newton tried to undo his bad work, but in vain. The young man became worse and worse, and died a profligate, horrifying with his profanities those who stood by him in his last moments. Better look out what bad influence you start, for you may not be able to stop it.

But I find here a man who starts out in life with the determination that he will never see suffering but he will try to alleviate it; and never see discouragement but he will try to cheer it; and never meet with anybody but he will try to do him good. Getting his strength from God, he starts from home with high purpose of doing all the good he can possibly do in one day. Whether standing behind the counter, or talking in the business office with a pen behind his ear, or making a bargain with a fellow-trader, or out in the fields discussing with his next neighbor the wisest rotation of crops, or in the shoemaker's shop pounding the sole-leather, there is something in his face, and in his phraseology, and in his manner that demonstrates the grace of God in his heart. He can talk on religion without awkwardly dragging it in by the ears. He loves God and loves the souls of all whom he meets, and is interested in their present and eternal destiny. For fifty or sixty years he lives that kind of life, and then gets through with it and into heaven a ransomed soul. "He maketh a path to shine after him."

And here I correct one of the mean notions which at some time takes possession of all of us, and that is as to the brevity of human life. When I bury some very useful man, clerical or lay, in his thirtieth or fortieth year, I say, "What a waste of energies! It was hardly worth while for him to get ready for Christian work, for he had so soon to quit it." But the fact is that I may insure any man or woman who does any good on a large or small scale for a life on earth as long as the world lasts. Sickness, trolley car accidents, death itself can no more destroy his life than they can tear down one of the rings of Saturn.

There were in the seventeenth century men and women whose names you never heard of who are to-day influencing schools, colleges, churches, nations. You can no more measure the gracious results of their lifetime than you could measure the length, and breadth, and depth of the phosphorescence last night following the ship of the White Star Line 1,500 miles out at sea. How the courage and consecration of others inspires us to follow, as a General in the American army, cool, amid the flying bullets, inspired a trembling soldier, who said afterwards, "I was nearly scared to death, but I saw the old man's white moustache over his shoulder, and went on." Aye, we are all following somebody, either in right or wrong directions. A few days ago I stood beside the garlanded casket of a Gospel minister, and in my remarks had occasion to recall a snowy night in a farmhouse, when I was a boy, and an evangelist spending a night at my father's house, who said something so tender and beautiful, and impressive that it led me into the kingdom of God, and decided my destiny for this world and the next. You will, before twenty-four hours go by, meet some man or woman with a big pack of care and trouble, and you may say something to him or her that will endure until this world shall have been so far lost in the past that nothing but the stretch of angelic memory will be able to realize that it ever existed at all. I am not talking of remarkable men and women, but of what ordinary folks can do. I am not speaking of the phosphorescence in the wake of a "Campania," but of the phosphorescence in the track of a Newfoundland fishing smack. God makes thunderbolts out of sparks, and out of the small words and deeds of a small life He can launch a power that will flash, and burn and thunder through the eternities. Many a babe that died at six months of age by the anxiety created in the parent's heart to meet that child in realms seraphic is living yet in the transformed heart and life of those parents, and will live on forever in the history of that family. If this be the opportunity of ordinary souls, what is the opportunity of those who have especial intellectual, or social, or monetary equipment? Have you any arithmetic capable of estimating the influence of our good and gracious friend who a few days ago went up to rest—George W. Childs, of Philadelphia? From a newspaper that was printed for thirty years without one word of defamation, or scurrility, or scandal, and putting chief emphasis on virtue and charity, and clean intelligence, he reaped a fortune for himself, and then distributed a vast amount of it among the poor and struggling, putting his invalid and aged reporters on pensions, until his name stands everywhere for large-heartedness and sympathy and help and highest style of Christian gentleman. In an era which had in the chairs of its journalism a Horace Greeley, and a Henry J. Raymond, and a James Gordon Bennett, and an Erastus Brooks, and a George William Curtis, and an Irenæus Prime; none of them will be longer remembered than George W. Childs. Staying away from the unveiling of the monument he had reared at large expense in our Greenwood in memory of Professor Proctor, the astronomer, lest I should say something in praise of the man who had paid for the monument. By all acknowledged a representative of the highest American journalism. If you would calculate his influence for good you must count how many sheets of his newspapers have been published in the last quarter of a century, and how many people have read them, and the effect not only upon those readers, but upon all whom they shall influence for all time, while you add to all that the work of the churches he helped build, and of the institutions of mercy he helped found. Better give up before you start the measuring of the phosphorescence in the wake of that ship of the Celestial Line.

With gratitude, and penitence, and worship, I mention the grandest Life that was ever lived. That ship of light was launched from the heavens nearly 1900 years ago, angelic hosts chanting, and from the celestial wharves the ship sprang into the roughest sea that ever tossed. Its billows were made up of the wrath of men and devils, Herodic and Sanhedrinic persecutions stirring the deep with red wrath, and all the hurricanes of woe smote it, until on the rocks of Golgotha that life struck with a resound of agony that appalled the earth and the heavens. But in the wake of that life what a phosphorescence of smiles on the cheek of souls pardoned, and lifes reformed, and nations redeemed. The millennium itself is only one roll of that irradiated wave of gladness and benediction. In the sublimest of all senses it may be said of Him, "He maketh a path to shine after Him."

But I cannot look upon that luminosity that follows ships without realizing how fond the Lord is of life. That fire of the deep is life, myriads of creatures all a-swim, and a-play, and a-romp in parks of marine beauty, laid out and parterred, and roseated, and blossomed by Omnipotence. What is the use of those creatures called by the naturalists "crustaceans" and "copepods," not more than one out of hundreds of billions of which are ever seen by the human eye? God created them for the same reason that he creates flowers in places where no human foot ever makes them tremble, and no human nostril ever inhales their redolence, and no human eye ever sees their charm.

And so I am led to believe that he loves our life if we fulfill our mission as fully as the phosphori fulfill theirs. The Son of God came "that we might have life, and have it more abundantly." But I am glad to tell you that our God is not the God sometimes described as a harsh critic at the head of the universe, or an infinite scold; or a God that loves funerals better than weddings; or a God that prefers tears to laughter; an omnipotent Nero, a ferocious Nana Sahib; but the loveliest Being in the universe, loving flowers, and life, and play, whether of phosphori in the wake of the Majestic, or of the human race keeping a holiday.

But, mark you, that the phosphorescence has a glow that the night monopolizes, and I ask you not only what kind of influence you are going to leave in the world as you pass through it, but what light are you going to throw across the world's night of sin and sorrow? People who are sailing on smooth sea and at noon do not need much sympathy, but what are you going to do for people in the night of misfortune? Will you drop on them shadow, or will you kindle for them phosphoresence? At this moment there are more people crying than laughing; more people on the round world this moment hungry than well fed; more households bereft than homes unbroken. What are you going to do about it? "Well," says yonder soul, "I would like to do something toward illumining the great ocean of human wretchedness, but I cannot do much." Can you do as much as one of the phosphori in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, creatures smaller than the point of a sharp pin? "Oh, yes," you say. Then do that. Shine! Stand before the looking-glass and experiment to see if you cannot get that scowl off your forehead; that peevish look out of your lips. Have at least one bright ribbon in your bonnet. Embroider at least one white cord somewhere in the midnight of your apparel. Do not any longer impersonate a funeral! Shine! Do say something cheerful about society, and about the world. Put a few drops of heaven into your disposition. Once in a while substitute a sweet orange for a sour lemon. Remember that pessimism is blasphemy, and that optimism is Christianity. If you cannot be a lantern swinging in the rigging, be one of the tiny phosphori back of the keel. Shine! "Let your light so shine before men that others seeing your good works may glorify your Father which is in heaven." You know a man who has lost all his property by an unfortunate investment, or by putting his name on the back of a friend's note? After you have taken a brief nap, which every man and woman is entitled to on a Sunday afternoon, go and cheer up that man. You can, if God helps you; say something that will do him good after both of you have been dead a thousand years. Shine! You know of a family with a bad boy who has run away from home. Go before night and tell that father and mother the parable of the prodigal son, and that some of the illustrious and useful men now in church and state had a silly passage in their lives and ran away from home. Shine! You know of a family that has lost a child, and the silence of the nursery glooms the whole house from cellar to garret. Go before night and tell them how much that child has happily escaped, since the most prosperous life on earth is a struggle. Shine! You know of some invalid who is dying for lack of an appetite. She cannot get well because she cannot eat. Broil a chicken and take it to her before night, and cheat her poor appetite into keen relish. Shine! You know of some one who likes you, and you like him, and he ought to be a Christian. Go tell him what religion has done for you, and ask him if you can pray for him. Shine! Oh, for a disposition so charged with sweetness and light that we cannot help but shine! Remember if you cannot be a leviathan lashing the ocean into fury, you can be one of the phosphori, doing your part toward making a path of phosphorescence. Then I will tell you what impression you will leave as you pass through this life and after you are gone. I will tell you to your face, and not leave it for the minister who officiates at your obsequies. The failure in all eulogium of the departed is that they cannot hear it. All hear it except the one most interested. This, in substance, is what I or some one else will say of you on such an occasion:—"We gather for offices of respect to this departed one. It is impossible to tell how many tears he wiped away; how many burdens he lifted, or how many souls he was, under God, instrumental in saving. His influence will never cease. We are all better for having known him. That pillow of flowers on the casket was presented by his Sabbath School class, all of whom he brought to Christ. That cross of flowers at the head was presented by the Orphan Asylum which he befriended. Those three single flowers—one was sent by a poor woman for whom he bought a ton of coal, and one was by a waif of the street whom he rescued through the midnight mission, and the other was from a prison cell which he had often visited to encourage repentance in a young man who had done wrong. Those three loose flowers mean quite as much as the costly garlands now breathing their aroma through this saddened home, crowded with sympathizers. 'Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord; they rest from their labors, and their works do follow them.'" Or if it should be the more solemn burial at sea, let it be after the sun has gone down, and the captain has read the appropriate liturgy, and the ship's bell has tolled and you are let down from the stern of the vessel into the resplendent phosphorescence at the wake of the ship. Then let some one say, in the words of my text, "He maketh a path to shine after Him."

Railway Accident in New Brunswick.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., Feb. 24.—The C. P. R. express from Presque Island crashed into the rear of a wrecking train about seven miles from this town on Thursday night. Allen Tracy, of McAdam Junction, was killed, and S. O. Mersereau, of Fredericton Junction, lost both legs. No one else were seriously injured. The wrecking train had orders to run ahead of the express.

The London Times Eulogizes the Canadian Pacific Railway.

IMPORTANT FACTOR IN THE EMPIRE

Its Success Has Been Won Only by a Hard Conflict and a Prolonged Risk—The Proposal to Take Over the Intercolonial Railway—No Danger of a Monopoly.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Times publishes an article on the Canadian Pacific railway as being an important factor in the affairs of the British empire. The article is very timely, following as it does close upon the misstatements made recently by Mudlock before a meeting at the Imperial Institute.

The builders and managers of the line, the article goes on to say, have won success only by a hard conflict and a prolonged risk. The Times shows in detail that the company deals fairly by the traders and farmers of Canada. It believes that the self-interest of the road will prevent Canada in any way suffering from a monopoly.

However the writer thinks it might be unwise for the company to press the proposal to take over the Intercolonial railway from St. John to Halifax as a part of the proposed fast Atlantic service. It is suggested instead that there should be some compromise in order to enable the company to forge an effective link across the Atlantic.

ESCAPED FROM A JAIL.

Prisoners Make a Desperate Break for Liberty—The Jailer Killed.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 24.—Henry Spencer, a condemned murderer, who had been confined in Thomas county jail, shot the jailer, Timothy Singleterry, and escaped. Singleterry has since died.

The jailer went to the cells to feed the prisoners, and while he was putting food on the table Jim Cassidy called on him to throw up his hands. As he said this the jailer struck him in the face with a lock, felling him to the floor. Henry Spencer seized the jailer's pistol from behind, and as he turned, shot him in the face and again in the neck. Five of the prisoners dashed out over the bleeding jailer and escaped in the woods. Sheriff Doss summoned a party of deputies, who left on horseback in hot pursuit.

Weekly Review of Trade.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "A waiting condition of business is one in which weekly fluctuations mean nothing. Business of all kinds is hesitating until more can be determined about the future and meanwhile orders which will keep hands at work for a time are given and accepted, this week increasing as in some others decreasing, without affording reasonable indications of the future. Prices are again greatly depressed as low or lower than ever, having been made in wheat, silver and some manufactured products, and neither cotton, wool nor raw iron have advanced. The glutted money markets continue to show that the volume of business is still inadequate to employ the circulation available and the withdrawal of about $60,000,000 from the New York market by the sale of government bonds does not cause the expected strengthening of rates. With gradually decreasing shipments of merchandise to other countries foreign exchange rises and some exports of gold are expected. The volume of domestic trade does not seem to increase."

About six months ago my little son, aged three, was very much troubled with a breaking out on his scalp and behind his ear. The places effected were about as large as a silver dollar, the flesh seemed raw and covered with little blisters. The child suffered considerably, and was naturally very fretful. I tried several remedies without obtaining any beneficial results, in fact the eruptions seemed to be spreading and new places breaking out. I concluded to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and bought a box of CUTICURA, a cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT. I washed the effected parts with the CUTICURA SOAP, taking care not to irritate the flesh, and applied CUTICURA. I noticed a change for the better in the appearance of the eruptions in twenty-four hours. I continued the treatment morning and night, and in two weeks the eruptions entirely disappeared, leaving the skin smooth and the scalp clean, in fact a perfect cure, as I have not seen any indications of any eruption or breaking out since. I gave the child only a few doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT. I consider your CUTICURA REMEDIES very valuable, and expect to keep a small supply constantly on hand. I believe CUTICURA would be excellent for applying to insect bites, which are very annoying in this country.

A FALSEHOOD EXPOSED.

Hon. Mr. Meredith says that if he becomes premier of Ontario—which the fates forfend—he will change the timber policy of the Mowat Government and introduce that adopted at Ottawa —Ontario.

The timber policy of the Dominion Government is easily capable of defence upon its merits; but that is not the question at issue. Mr. Meredith made no such statement as is alleged by the Ontario. What he said was:

What he (Mr. Meredith) wished to point out was that the Crown land reserves were to be kept as a permanent source of revenue to the province, and the condition was that they should husband these reserves and not put them on the market, in those districts which were not fit for settlement. But this policy had been entirely reversed by the Government of the day. Time and again, despite the energetic protests of the Opposition, the Government had kept it in their power to place millions of dollars' worth of timber, the domain of the province, upon the public market without consulting the representatives of the people. (Hear, hear.) This was essentially opposed to the principles of democratic government, and an infringement on the rights of the members of this Legislature. (Cheers) The Government had arrogated to itself the right to say that land worth two, three, four, or five millions of dollars of the patrimony of the province, with its value increasing by leaps and bounds as years went by, should be placed on the market, without deigning to consult the people's representatives. (Hear, hear.) If not suited, condemnation could be voted. Hon. gentlemen opposite had taunted the Opposition with want of success in their appeals to the electorate, but the people were beginning to wake up, and shake off their party shackles. (Cheers.) The charges made against hon. gentlemen opposite did not now fall upon deaf ears. (Hear, hear.) And the ears of the people were open, particularly to an understanding of the grave maladministration of the most glorious patrimony of any country on this continent, shown by the conduct of the Government in dealing with the timber reserves of this province. (Cheers.) These hon. gentlemen had converted sixteen million dollars' worth of our timber into money. True, they pointed to the buildings they had erected, etc., but these limits of twenty years ago, when these hon. gentlemen came into power, if unsold, would now sell for from twenty to thirty and forty times as much as they had actually brought. (Hear, hear.) These buildings were, no doubt, creditable, but they represented an annual tax upon the revenues of the Province. And how much better would it have been if, instead of sacrificing these timber reserves, they had borrowed the money, and had permitted these reserves to increase tenfold in value at that time! (Cheers.) And the money could have been got at a low rate of interest. (Hear, hear.) No part of the policy of these hon. gentlemen was more worthy of condemnation. (Hear, hear.) Then the Government had received nearly $1,800,000 from the Crown Lands, $704,000 odd from the clergy lands, $810,000 from the common school lands and $135,000 from the Grammar school lands, which made nearly $3,500,000 more of our capital obtained from the reserves of the province, which these hon. gentleman had expended. (Hear, hear.) Hon. gentlemen would see that our timber reserves originally were intended to be treated as a permanent, not temporary, source of revenue, and he would now call attention to the expenditure of the Crown Lands department, which was utterly unjustifiable. From 1890 to 1892 $844,746 had been expended in the survey of new townships. Here they had for 22 years an expenditure of nearly $40,000 a year paid out to the favorites of hon. gentlemen opposite for the purpose of surveying numerous townships in the wilderness, in the majority of which there was not a settler this day for settlement. (Hear, hear.)

The above eloquent and forcible remarks of our great leader have previously been given in these columns. That they embody a policy which will meet with public approval cannot be doubted. The Ontario, in its shameless attempt to belie Mr. Meredith, has overshot the mark and done that gentleman a service in giving occasion for the repetition of his remarks on the timber policy, whereby they will be more firmly impressed upon the public mind.

ABE LINCOLN'S HAT.

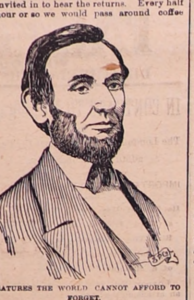
FEATURES THAT THE WORLD CANNOT AFFORD TO FORGET.

A Personal Habit of the Martyred President That Greatly Distinguished Him—The Funny Story of His Hat Which is "Fabled in Song."

PECULIARITIES of the President of the United States in personal habit or apparel are always interesting to the public, and it has read with relish many stories about Mr. Cleveland's collar and Gen. Grant's cigar. But none of these begins to equal in point and picturesqueness the pleasing tales that might be told of Abraham Lincoln's hat. The fact is, there are enough of funny incidents reported of Mr. Lincoln's hat to make it "fabled in song and illumined in story." For example, it served as a football on the night of his election to the Presidency, when the ladies at the old homestead testified their glee over his good fortune. The scene would have done credit to the great game that was played last Thanksgiving between Yale and Princeton on Manhattan field. This is the story as told by an eye witness:

"A few of us ladies went over and helped Mrs. Lincoln prepare a little supper for the friends of Mr. Lincoln, who had been invited in to hear the returns. Every half hour or so we would pass around coffee and cakes. About 1 o'clock in the morning enough had been learned to warrant the belief that the 'Rail Splitter' had been elected. I think it was when we heard the news from New York. The men rushed on Mr. Lincoln and shook his hands, while some of the women actually hugged him, and, I might as well admit it, I kissed him. Then some one went into the hall and took from the rack that old silk hat that he wore, and which was as long as a joint of stovepipe, and about as shapely to my mind, and it was thrown up to the ceiling. As it came down someone gave it a kick and then the women joined in the fun, and we played football with that hat until it was an indistinguishable mass. We were simply beyond control. What a ridiculous scene it would have been to one looking in without knowing what prompted it!



FEATURES THE WORLD CANNOT AFFORD TO FORGET.

Abraham Lincoln, born Feb. 12, 1809.

"It was all the more so, so far as I was concerned, for originally I had been a Seward woman. While the convention was in session in Chicago we were waiting to hear the news. It had been arranged, in case Lincoln received the nomination, to fire a cannon. My nearest neighbor was a Mrs. Dubois, with whom I had several friendly spats during the campaign preceding the nomination. I heard the cannon shot, and the next moment I saw Mrs. Dubois running across the street. She had been making a shirt for her husband, who was about the size of the late Judge David Davis, so you may have some idea of the size of the garment she was waving. She rushed into the house and flaunted it in my face. It made me mad, and I sat down and began crying. The good woman put her arms around me, begged my pardon and kissed me, and from that time we were Lincoln women. She took part in the football match."

As if not content with his six feet four or five inches of gaunt stature, Lincoln had his now historic hat made fully a foot high, with a rim almost as big as a Southern sombrero. It seemed to have been a combination of all styles then in existence, and in this respect it reflected his own early experience in having been a storekeeper, soldier, surveyor, and finally a solicitor. It was a veritable "joint of stovepipe," and its remarkable and romantic rim made it alike serviceable in rain or shine. It might have been called with propriety a "plug ugly," after the name of the mob in Baltimore that threatened him in his journey to the national Capital.

During Lincoln's great debate with Douglas, the hat fairly loomed into space. The smallness of the latter's stature caused him to be nicknamed "The Little Giant," and when Lincoln stood beside him with his hat on, the difference between the two seemed all but immeasurable. Curiously enough, when Mr. Lincoln came to be inaugurated at Washington, and took off his hat on the stand preparatory to making his inaugural address, Douglas held the high hat so that no careless person might put his foot in it.

Of the many legends current regarding the hat, one is that he literally knocked it "into a cocked hat" once when Lincoln leaped out of a window in order to destroy a quorum, and thus set an example for our present Congresses. Thus it was not exactly a "quorum hat" as Richard Vaux's was, when Tom Reed counted it; but, on the contrary, it helped to spoil a quorum, and was in turn spoiled itself.

Another story is that Mr. Lincoln happened in to a religious meeting one Sunday, and the regular contribution boxes having been missing, he permitted his trusty tile to do duty for the occasion. Yet another is that one day, in traveling home from the Legislature, his hat came within an ace of being used as a cuspidor by a drunken tough on the train—a fate that is said to have befallen Bob Burdette's hat once when he was riding through Pennsylvania to deliver one of his humorous lectures.

During the Lincoln and Douglas debate the Hon. Robert R. Hitt, now a member of Congress from Illinois, acted as official stenographer for the former, and Horace White of the New York Evening Post furnished the descriptive matter to the metropolitan dailies. Mr. Hitt, speaking of Lincoln's hat the other day, said: "He despised a woolen or slouch hat, and always wore a silk tile. In this he would keep the notes of his speeches and such memoranda as he found necessary for the debates."

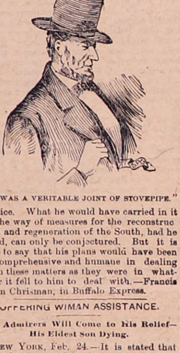
Representative Springer, who hails from Lincoln's old home, knew the hat well, and in speaking of it recently said: "Mr. Lincoln's high hat was the most indispensible thing of his whole outfit. In it he carried all his valuable papers. In fact, it was a sort of file rack. Here were all the briefs of his various law cases. Curiously enough, he carried the accounts in his head, and that is why he lost so much money. Had he reversed the process and kept his accounts in his hat and the cases in his head, he would have been better off. His hat served for his satchel on a journey, and all that was needed besides this were his saddle-bag and his horse. It was large and capacious, and a great many documents and data could be crowded into its without seriously discommoding the wearer."

But Mr. Lincoln had still a better use for his valuable tile, which seems to have had more virtues than those rehearsed in the nursery tales of "Jack and the Bean Stalk." When he was postmaster at New Salem his hat became a most important part of his office equipment. As soon as the mail was received each day the young postmaster would put the letters in his hat and take a stroll through the village. The villagers knew that he was a peripatetic postoffice, and, of course, everybody was anxious to know the contents of the hat, which seemed to promise as much to them as a hat in the hands of a sleight-of-hand performer.

Correspondents and cartoonists used to make the hat a subject of frequent jests. In the great collection of Lincoln relics owned by Capt. Oldroyd here, are some of the cartoons that were provoked by political campaigns in which Mr. Lincoln figured. In one of these Mr. Lincoln is pictured as being concealed by admiring Illinois friends on his trip to Washington. The artist makes his friends encircle him, and then portrays the towering tile somewhat after the fashion of the present Washington monument. In the collection, too, are several photographs of Mr. Lincoln's visit to the army headquarters at Antietam in 1862. There is no mistaking the fact that the hat was high, for Gen. McClellan and Allan Pinkerton look like children alongside of the President.

Capt. Oldroyd's collection is in the house in which Mr. Lincoln died, and is the most complete in the United States. The Government intends to buy it one of these days. Among the curiosities is the hat itself—that is, that hat that Mr. Lincoln wore on the night of his assassination. It stands under a big glass case, and suggests by its size the hat that ex-President Harrison's grandfather is sportfully reputed to have worn. It is of the same stovepipe shape and Quaker brim, and has neither comeliness nor comfort, so far as I could judge. Capt. Oldroyd let me try it on, and I found it very heavy and cumbersome. It fitted me loosely, and was a good 7 1 4 in size. Besides a heavy black band around it, there was a tiny band with a dainty buckle. It is in a remarkable state of preservation, and the maker's name on the lining inside shows it to have been manufactured by J. Y. Davis of Washington, D. C., which indicates that Mr. Lincoln believed in patronizing home industries.

Large and generous as the hat itself, we may be sure, was the use Mr. Lincoln put it to. He used it for the good of others. It is well known that he would throw up his brief whenever he found he had a bad case; so that he must have filled his hat only with briefs that he believed to aim at justice. What he would have carried in it in the way of measures for the reconstruction and regeneration of the South, had he lived, can only be conjectured. But it is safe to say that his plans would have been as comprehensive and humane in dealing with these matters as they were in whatever it fell to him to deal with.—Francis Leon Chrisman, in Buffalo Express.



"IT WAS A VERITABLE JOINT OF STOVEPIPE."

OFFERING WIMAN ASSISTANCE.

Old Admirers Will Come to His Relief—His Eldest Son Dying.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—It is stated that several Staten Island gentlemen have already signified a willingness to act as bondsmen for Mr. Wiman and that telegrams have been received from prominent millionaires of Toronto, Ont., where Mr. Wiman is well and favorably known, not only expressing great confidence in his innocence but offering to transfer cash in any sum necessary to trust companies here and have them furnished bail.

W. Dwight Wiman, Mr. Wiman's eldest son, is lying in a critical condition, at his home at Stuyvesant place, St. George, S. I., a victim of pneumonia. Dr. Jefferson Scales, the attending physician, says that he has only slight hope of his recovery. Owing to heart trouble, Dr. Scales said that the young man was likely to die at any moment. Young Wiman's mother, wife, and two brothers, Harry and Frank, are constantly at his bedside. The young man was manager of his father's interest in the electric power plant on Staten Island, and was extremely popular. Owing to his condition he has not been told of his father's arrest.

Mr. A. E. Chandler last evening presented a cheque for $25,000 as bail for Mr. Wiman. Acting District Attorney Davis refused to accept the cheque, saying it would have to be deposited with the comptroller who would give a receipt and issue a certificate of deposit which operates as a discharge of Mr. Wiman. It was then too late as the comptroller's office was closed.

R. D. Douglass, a nephew of R. G. Dun and a member of the firm of R. G. Dun & Co., was seen by a reporter at his office yesterday. He said that five other forgeries by Mr. Wiman had been discovered besides the two which were reported to the district attorney.

Mr. Wiman was seen by a reporter late in the afternoon. He showed a pile of about 100 letters and telegrams of sympathy which he had received from various parts of the country.

AN OLD MAN BURNED TO DEATH.

A Family Escapes from a Burning House, But Their Lodger is Forgotten.

PETERBOROUGH, Feb 24.—A disastrous fire, accompanied by loss of life, occurred yesterday morning at the residence of Thomas Gray, situated on the 11th concession of Otonabee, about two miles from town. The house was occupied by Mr. Gray, his wife and five children. They also had living with them Mr. David Scollie, an old gentleman, 61 years of age.

After the members of the family had retired to rest, Mr. Gray, being absent from home, Mrs. Gray was awakened by a daughter calling her. She arose and found the house full of smoke. She procured an axe and knocked the window out. Herself and children barely escaped in their night clothes.

In the hurry and excitement of saving themselves their lodger, Mr. Scollie, was entirely forgotten. Several of their neighbors were aroused by the flames and immediately went to the scene of the fire but too late to render any assistance to Mr. Scollie, whose remains were found afterwards burned almost to a crisp, the head and limbs being burned from the body.

Mr. Scollie was in the habit of reading for some time after retiring to rest and it is supposed that either the lamp exploded or that he had fallen to sleep and the paper came in contact with the lamp.

A London Man's Disappearance.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 24.—The whereabouts of Mr. M. Cannon, of South London, has not yet been revealed. Between noon and 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon he left his grip at Mrs. Carrother's grocery store, saying he would return for it. This is the last seen of him so far as can be traced. It is feared that he has fallen into the river.

SHOCKING DOUBLE MURDER

A Tragedy Closely Resembling the Middle Road Affair.

OLD COUPLE POUNDED TO DEATH.

A Huge Stick of Wood and a Barn Shovel the Implements of the Horrible Deed—The Old Couple Terribly Mutilated by the Assassins—After a Suspicious Character.

MONTIBELLO, N. Y., Dec. 24.—Sullivan county is again called upon to chronicle a double murder. The victims of this tragedy are Jacob A. Moore and Mrs. Jane Raymond, his housekeeper, two aged residents of Bushville, five miles north of here. Mr. Moore was 85 and Mrs. Raymond was 90 years of age.

The crime was discovered by William Beebe, a young son of Richard Beebe, a farmer residing near by yesterday morning. Young Beebe had been sent by his father with a basket full of potatoes to the old people and on reaching the house knocked for admittance. No one responded and he opened the door. A horrible sight met his gaze. On the floor with upturned faces the old people lay only a few feet apart. They were evidently preparing to retire for the night when the assassin did his work as Mr. Moore had removed his boots and the shavings and dry wood, the last act of a farmer's duty before going to bed, were placed in their accustomed place.

Under the left ear of the aged man was found a pistol wound. The ball had passed through a window pane. It was not fatal in its effect. A huge stick of wood was lying on the ground at the side of the door, covered with blood, and it was evident that it had been used freely over his head and shoulders. The room bore evidence that a terrible struggle for life had taken place.

Mrs. Raymond presented a most ghastly and sickly spectacle. She had evidently tried to aid the old gentleman and was struck down by the assassin before she could be of service. Her face was terribly mutilated and her neck was cut in several places to the bone. A common barn shovel was used as the bungling instrument of death.

The coroner was notified and will hold an inquest to-day. No cause for the crime can be assigned unless it is that the old man had only a few days previous drawn his quarterly pension of $45.

A suspicious-looking character was seen in the neighborhood on Wednesday and the authorities are looking for him.

EXPEDIENCY, NOT PRINCIPLE.

The House of Lords Reconsiders the Parish Councils Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The House of Lords yesterday resumed consideration of the parish councils bill. The Duke of Devonshire urged that before attempting to go into the details of the measure with a view of amending it, their Lordships shall consider the general position. He claimed that their Lordships had done their duty in making the amendments they had thought desirable, but how far they should insist on going in that direction must, in his judgment, be determined more on the grounds of expediency than upon principle. They could not, however, leave out of account the fact that the bill had been accepted by a large majority of the people.

Lord Salisbury thought it was possible to interpret the canons of conduct laid down by the Duke of Devonshire in a manner absolutely depriving the peers of the power of amending any bill that might be sent to them. Still he did not differ in the main from the drift of the Duke's advice. He agreed that many of the amendments that had been made though they improved the bill did not involve any question of principle. He could not, however, admit that all of the amendments which the House of Commons had restored to the bill should be accepted. It was especially the duty of the House of Lords to see that the interests of the peers were not sacrificed, as they would be under the provisions of the bill as it passed the House of Commons. The tribunal to which the provision for compulsory allotments was referred must carefully consider another question of vital importance—the control of charities. These the Lords must safeguard.

The Lords in the evening agreed to permit the parish councils to hold their meetings in the parochial school-houses. Several other new amendments were passed, when the Lords finished their work on the bill and sent it back to the House of Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Daily Chronicle this morning expresses the opinion that the peers last evening confessed their defeat and the triumph of the Commons. It says: "Lord Salisbury presented the eccentric mixture of strength of speech and weakness of character which belongs to him. The nation will rejoice in the humiliation of the House af Lords."

The Times says: "The spirit of compromise was in the air. The House of Lords gave way on all minor questions, on some that were by no means such. We shall now see what sincerity there is in the Government's expressed desire to save the measure."

Serious Coasting Accident.

TROY, N.Y., Feb. 24.—A bobsled on which was a party of eight coasters, collided with a carryall loaded with sleigh riders on a long hill just outside the village limits of West Troy on Thursday night, and John Moore, 19 years of age, was so badly injured that he will die. His face and head were smashed frightfully, one of his eyes being completely torn from its socket. The eye was removed at the Troy hospital, where he now lies with little prospect of recovery. Charlie Senecker had both knee-caps torn off, and his legs were so badly injured that it is thought amputation will be necessary. Another young man and three young women escaped with slight bruises.

Dr. West Sentenced.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Dr. Eugene West was sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary yesterday for the murder by malpractice of Miss Adelaide Gilmour, a young milliner.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 24, 1894.

Bar silver in London reached the lowest price on record yesterday, namely 27½d per oz. This makes the intrinsic value of the American silver dollar 51 cents.

Wheat is unchanged, with sales of white and red on the Northern at 58c. Spring unchanged at 60c to 61c on Midland. No. 1 Manitoba hard quoted at 74c to 75c west and at 76c east.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Receipts of grain a little larger yesterday. About 200 bushels of wheat sold at 71c for white, at 60c for red and 58c for goose. Barley firm, 300 bushels selling at 45c. Oats are higher, 200 bushels selling at 40½c. One load of peas sold at 62c.

The remarkable fall in the price of silver is due partly to the lower rate of exchange coming from China, and partly to the fact that as the last steamer carrying silver that can possibly reach India before the budget is announced has sailed. The banks do not care to purchase the metal until it is seen what will be the nature of the budget.

The Price Current in its weekly crop summary says: The wheat crop advices continue chiefly favorable. There is a lessened area of free offerings of wheat and a reduced marketing. Revised calculations make the exportable surplus from March 1 to July 1 48,000,000, reducing to a minimum on July 1. The week's packing was 245,000, against 195,000 the same week last year.

The J. C. Overell closing sale will soon be a thing of the past. Only three days more of the biggest bargains Bellevillians have ever known.

Books, Bibles, English and R. C. Prayer Books, Albums, Jewellery, Purses, Dolls, Games, Carts, Bicycles, Sleighs, Barrows, etc., etc., at less than half price.

Never again will you likely have the opportunity of purchasing so much wool for so little money as now at the J. C. Overell closing sale.

Berlin and Saxony Wool worth 10c. for 5c. oz.

Fingering worth 8c. for 3c. oz.

Vandyke Braid, 2½c. bunch, worth 10c.; Mending Cotton worth 3c. for 1c.; Pompons worth $1.00, for 10c. doz.; Ladies' Collars and Cuffs worth 24c., for 2½c.; Fancy Cord worth 10c., for 1c. yard; do. worth 40c., for 5c. yard, and a hundred, yes! a thousand other such bargains, at this, the clearing sale of the century.

Remember only 3 days more of such bargains, at J. C. OVERELL'S Closing Sale.

ALL THREE CURED.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys are such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Ladies' Aid Entertainment.

Last Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Bleecker Street church, a very large company met at the residence of Mr. R. D. Watson, 2nd con. of Thurlow. After a well rendered programme and a good increase, financially, to the funds of the Ladies' Aid, cake and coffee were served in abundance. About 200 soon after left for their homes, delighted with the successful proceedings of the evening. Mr. Watson had very kindly arranged to convey the people to and from the social. The congregation will, in a few days, have their heavy debt reduced to $200.

A Furious Runaway.

A team belonging to Eli Lent, of Ameliasburg, started from the Marchmont Home and ran down to Front st. to the market. When near the square they came in contact with Dr. Clinton's cutter and raked the side of the box, but they continued on around the city building to the south side, where they were brought to a standstill by running into a load of hay. No damage was done the team or sleigh, but it will cost about $5 to repair Dr. Clinton's cutter.

Police Notes.

Phil Hart reports the loss of a St. Bernard bitch from his kennels on Everett street.

The case of Pope vs. Hodgins was called yesterday afternoon and enlarged until next Thursday. The case of Ray vs. Hodgins was next taken up and some witnesses testified, when it was also enlarged until Thursday next.

Robinson vs. Huffman, a wage case, was enlarged until Monday.

Hastings County Patrons.

At the county meeting of the Patrons of Industry held at Madoc on Feb. 6th, the officers elected for 1894 were as follows:—J. M. Farley, Belleville, County President; E. W. Hawkins, Stirling, Vice-President, North Hastings; P. McAlpine, Marysville, Vice-President, East Hastings; B. Mallory, Frankford, Sec.-Treas'r; S. Holden, Glen Ross, Sentinel; L. A. Denike, South Hastings, Auditor.

New Goods to Hand.

New goods are coming in at the Oak Hall these days very fast. We are all through fixing up our store, and our clothing is all in proper place again. In nearly every department now, we are able to show you new goods. In hats and men's furnishings we have a beautiful new stock all ready to show.

No P. I Candidates For West Hastings.

The Patrons of Industry of Sidney met at Sidney Town Hall yesterday afternoon with a good attendance. The meeting was of the opinion that the time was inopportune and decided not to nominate candidate to run in their interests for the Commons and Legislature.

Two driving parties went out to Thurlow last evening. One sleigh load went to Mr. Wm. Chapman's, the other to Mr. Isaiah McKim's, both of whom live near Plainfield. The young people report an enjoyable time.

The Prince Edward County Prohibition Convention was held at Picton on the afternoon of Feb. 3rd. Letters were read from the Liberal and Conservative candidates for the Legislature, both of whom promised to support measures for the prohibition of the liquor traffic.

A horse belonging to Officer Downs, attached to a milk sleigh, driven by his son, ran away on Front st. this morning. It turned at the corner of Campbell st. and upset the sleigh and strewed the cans in every direction. The animal was caught by some carters before any damage was done.

Four young ladies—Kathleen Vanorman, Patricia Spearman, Agnes St. Charles and Katie Brennan—assisted by the scholars of Loretto Convent, gave a pleasant entertainment in St. Michael's church last evening. There was a good attendance and the programme was refreshing and thoroughly enjoyable.

As a first direct result of the world's fair at Chicago J. C. Wilson & Co., of Glenora, have received an order from Christiania, Norway, for one of their Little Giant Water Wheels, which the firm had on exhibition there. They have also had correspondence from Russia, South America and several of the States of the Union.

E. J. Madden, Newburgh, says the prospects for the cheese market the coming season were never brighter. The market will open well and it is altogether likely will continue so. Canada had a big harvest in cheese last year. There was an exceptionally big make. The small make in the old country made an excellent market for Canada.

"NAPANEE" WENT UNDER.

The Quinte's Show the Hockeyists From the East a Thing or Two.

A team of hockeyists, presumably from Napanee, but virtually from Kingston, as those who know them say there were only two Napanee men on the team, came up last evening for a game with the Quinte's and were defeated. The greater the team the greater the glory and the Belleville boys deserve it. The teams did not line up until nearly eight o'clock and their formations were as follows:

| Quinte's | Position | "Napanee" |
|---|---|---|
| Wolever | Goal | Walkem |
| Nash | Point | McDougall |
| Phippen | Cover Point | Irvine |
| Weller | Forwards | Merritt |
| Kelso | | Grange |
| Campbell | | Trimble |
| Twining | | Rockwell |

H. O. Powell, Referee

The play started pretty brisk, with the Quinte's holding their own, although one young player from the east with about three hair cuts on his head tried some dirty tricks and the referee let him off. After twenty minutes of hard play Twining made the shot that counted 1—0. Five minutes from the "face" Rockwell did the necessary for "Napanee," score 1—1. The next goal was the most stubbornly contested of the lot and Weller scored after fifteen minutes of play mostly around the "Napanee" goal, score 2—1. Twining did the trick once more in ten minutes, score 3—1. The spectators were now jubilant, as the game seemed safe, but Rockwell, who is a very fast skater, got in another in eight minutes, score 3—2. There being only two minutes more to play both teams made a rush, but no more goals were scored. Following is a summary of the game:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Quinte's | Twining | 20 min. |
| "Napanee" | Rockwell | 5 " |
| Quinte's | Weller | 15 " |
| Quinte's | Twining | 10 " |
| "Napanee" | Rockwell | 8 " |

For the Quinte's all the forwards did good work, the Kelso-Weller combination being effective, while Campbell and Twining were both in their places at the right time. Phippen at cover point was excellent, but did a little too much individual work. Nash will make a good point with more practice, while Wolever in goal is hard to pass. For the visitors Rockwell, Trimble and Irvine put up a splendid game, although they do too much body checking.

A Strong Man.

The Lindsay Watchman says; The strong men are not all dead yet. A short time ago the cook in Gray and Millard's camp at Wahnapitae was returning home from one of the neighboring camps when he was somewhat startled to see two full-grown lynx standing in the pathway and evidently determined to dispute the right of way with him. Roderick Findal, who by the way is a regular Hercules, standing six feet in his stockings and stoutly built in proportion, was not to be daunted by a couple of wildcats. He advanced steadily upon them, but when he was about fifteen feet away from them the largest one leaped straight at his throat. Findal was too quick for it, however, for he dodged, and seizing it by one of the hind legs as it flew past him he dashed its brains out against a tree. The other one sprang at him, but fell a little short, and before it could recover, a kick from Findal's heavy boot ended its career. The boys were somewhat surprised on his arrival at camp with the two animals.

Should be Muzzled.

On Front Street, near the market, this morning, a big bulldog seized a small Scotch terrier, which it carried off in its mouth. The screams of the suffering terrier attracted a large crowd, who pursued the bulldog, which ran into a yard behind the saloon of Burke brothers, one of whom is said to be its owner. The terrier was rescued, otherwise it would have been killed. A policeman said that the same bulldog had previously killed one or more small dogs, which it carried off. So savage a brute ought to be shot. In fact, no bulldog or bull-terrier should be allowed upon the streets unless securely muzzled.

Raw Furs.

Business at Montreal, as reported by the Trade Bulletin, is very quiet in this line in both buying and selling, shippers are holding their skins in the present depressed state of the market, expecting the March sales to do better, and the consequence is very few prime skins are arriving. We quote as follows:—Beaver, per lb. $3 to $3,50; bear, per skin, large $10 to $15; bear cub, $2 to $4; fisher, $3 to $5; red fox, $1 to $1,25; lynx. $1 to $2; marten, 80c to $1; mink, $1 to $1,50; muskrat, 10c to 12c, otter, $8 to $12; racoon, 50c to 75c; skunk, 25c to $1,25.

Searching for Her Brother.

The Empire says: "Maria Thrasher, of Spencerville, Grenville county, is searching for her brother David, who was 21 years old when she last saw him, and would now be 38. She is at present sojourning at 420 Euclid avenue. Her brother left home 17 years ago. Hearing that there was a lawyer named Thrasher in the city, she sought information at Osgoode hall. The only lawyer upon the rolls of that name is Mr. Walter Thrasher, of Chatham. There is also a student named George Thrasher, at Belleville. As neither of these was the missing brother Miss Thrasher will continue her search elsewhere."

"He is Improving."

A friend in the city received this morning the following note from Mrs. Clarke, wife of the Rev. John S. Clarke, of Brighton: "Mr. Clarke is improving every day; he will answer your kind letter in a few days. He expects to get up after Saturday. The doctor wishes him to remain quiet until the stitches are removed from the wound on his head. He has not had paralysis. On Monday morning he fell, struck on the coal scuttle, and perhaps the stove. He was threatened with inflammation of the brain, but consider all danger now over."

Perfection in Tea.

Said the kettle to the tea pot, unless your tea is fine you'll make our labor useless, indeed both yours and mine.—Wilton.

Try Strouds, the tea dealers, for your next tea if you want a real luxury in the tea you drink.

Gifts for the City Mission.

Mrs. Schuster desires to thank the proprietors of the Belleville Canning Factory for the gift of twenty-eight dozen of canned goods received by her during the past two years for distribution among the poor.

The Keefe Fund.

The subscription to this fund will be closed with this month. Any further contributions for this worthy object must be sent in to this office before March 1st.

SPORTING NEWS

Stubbs defeated Burdick in a handicap three evenings' pool match at Peterborough this week. A three-cornered match is talked of between the two former and Sutton of Toronto.

In speaking of the action of the Executive of the Ontario Hockey Association, which is composed wholly of Toronto men, the Kingston Whig says: "Some think it would be a good idea if a league was formed between Port Hope, Cobourg, Belleville, Peterborough, Kingston, Brockville, Morrisburg and Ottawa, next year. Toronto could be left out of it entirely. This would show the hockeyists of the Queen city that they were not the only ones alive in Ontario and that the sport could be indulged in without their co-operation. There are good chances of the scheme being carried out."

ALBERT COLLEGE.

Charter Day Concert—A Great Success.

The annual entertainment at Albert College known as the "Charter-day Concert," given in the college chapel last evening, was in every way successful. Every available seat in the chapel was occupied and the entertainment was universally conceded to be one of the very best ever given by the students.

The young men taking part in the debate did exceptionally well. Their addresses showed careful preparation and the subject "Resolved that Cromwell was a better man than Napoleon" was handled in an able manner. Mayor Walmsley, Mr. W. H. Gordon and Prof. Doxsee were appointed as judges and their decision was in favor of the affirmative. Prof. Shepard was present and gave a humorous recitation "My first and last appearance on the stage." The Professor never appeared to better advantage than he did last evening. In response to an enthusiastic encore he gave a selection in true southern dialect. The Professor has been teaching for some months in Atlanta, Georgia. He left there on Monday and reached Belleville yesterday and met his class in elocution for the first time yesterday afternoon at four o'clock.

Never were the students more enthusiastic in the study of elocution than at present. The Professor has over fifty present pupils. Miss Brignall, a pupil of Prof. Shepard, gave a recitation in her usual captivating style. At the close of the entertainment the students were given the customary social, which is always to them the most enjoyable part of the evening. The programme was as follows:

Piano duet....."Italien in Algiers".....Rossini
Misses Robinson and Pettit.
Recitation, "From David Copperfield"..Dickens
Miss Vincent.
Piano solo........"Valse No. 6"........Chopin
Miss Alleyn.

Extensive Operations.

The Rathbun Co. are carrying on extensive wooding operations in the immediate district, says the Beaver. Mr. Timothy Murphy's shanty of sixty men will get out in Hungerford 2,500 cords of hardwood and ship the same to Deseronto by train. In addition to this they will take out 50,000 feet of elm timber and 2,000 pieces of basswood and maple sawlogs. The Company will also purchase from Hungerford farmers along the line of the Bay of Quinte Railway 2,000 cords of hardwood and 1,000 cords of soft wood, besides seven thousand sawlogs, etc. In Adolphustown they are also buying large quantities of wood, timber, etc., in the Hay Bay section, and at Sydenham they have also secured quantities of wood and sawlogs which will be shipped over the Sydenham branch to Deseronto.

AMUSEMENTS

The Sawtelle Dramatic Company presented to a large audience in the Queen's Opera House last evening the sensational five-act drama "The Black Flag." To-night they will play "Lost at Sea." They have been distributing coupons to their audiences during the week for a parlor set of furniture and to-night it will be given to a member of the audience.

Home Sweet Home.

Oh to be there!
Where the weary feet shall rest at last;
Where the grief and the pain are ever passed;
Where the parted hands are again linked fast;
Oh to be there!

O Saviour dear!
When the tired heart is sad with care,
When Satan tempts us to dark despair,
Give us bright thoughts of the Home up there—
O Saviour dear!

Jesu, our Lord,
When our eyes are tearful and hearts are sore,
When we mourn o'er the loved ones gone before,
Oh, speak of that land where they die no more—
Jesu, our Lord

Lord, bring us there;
There, to the sunshine, and life, and light;
There, to the city where all is bright;
There, where our faith will be turned to sight;
Lord, bring us there!

LIFE BECAME A BURDEN.

The After Effects of La Grippe Developed Into Inflammation of the Lungs and Chronic Bronchitis—Four Years of Great Suffering.

(From LeMonde, Montreal.)

Mrs. Sarah Cloutier, who resides at No. 405 Montcalm Street, Montreal, has passed through an experience worthy of wide-spread publication for the benefit it may prove to others. Up to four years ago, Mrs. Cloutier's health had been good, but at that time she was attacked by that dread scourge, la grippe. Every fall since, notwithstanding all her care to avoid it, she has been afflicted with inflammation of the lungs, which would bring her to the very verge of death. This was followed by bronchia for the rest of the year. Her bronchial tubes were affected to such an extent that it was with difficulty she could breathe, and a draught of outside air would make her cough in the most distressing manner. "There was," said Mrs. Cloutier to the reporter, "a constant rattling in my throat, and in the state I was in death would have been a relief. It was in vain that I tried the numerous remedies given me by various doctors, and when I think of all the money they cost me I cannot but regret I have ever tried them. I had read frequently of the cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I felt that they must contain the truth, for if they were unfounded none would dare to give the names and addresses of the persons said to be cured in the public manner in which these are given in the newspapers. I decided to try Pink Pills, and only those acquainted with my former condition can understand the good I have derived from their use. As a proof that I am cured I may tell you that on the first occasion of my going out after my recovery I walked for two miles on an up hill road without feeling the least fatigue, and since that time I have enjoyed the best of health. Last fall I was afraid the inflammation of the lungs to which I had been subject at that period in former years might return, but I had not the least symptom of it, and never felt better in my life. You can imagine the gratitude I feel for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I earnestly recommend them to all who will heed my advice.

A depraved and watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves are the fruitful sources of almost every disease that afflicts humanity, and to all sufferers Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are offered with a confidence that they are the only perfect and unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer and where given a fair trial disease and suffering must vanish. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of 50 cents a box or $2,50 for six boxes by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Beware of imitations and refuse trashy substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

AN OLD CHARGE.

Wm. Mitts, of Crookston, Arrested Yesterday on a Bench Warrant.

Officer Stoneberg, acting under orders of Sheriff Hope, went to Crookston yesterday to arrest Wm. Mitts, a man twenty-eight years of age, on a bench warrant, charging him with having criminal knowledge of a girl under twelve and over ten years of age. The offence is alleged to have been committed in 1889, but Mitts skipped out and the matter dropped. He since returned, hence his arrest. Stoneberg arrested his man yesterday afternoon, but there being no train to Belleville last night he was forced to stay all night at Crookston. He brought the prisoner down this morning and lodged him in gaol, pending a hearing of his case.

IF HEADACHE IS MISERY, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their worth. They are small and easy to take.

—Reports of terrible famine come from Starr County in the arid region near the Mexican border.

PAIN FROM INDIGESTION, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

—Three Chinamen who had been smuggled over the Canadian border were captured in Chicago yesterday.

THERE IS NO ARTICLE IN THE LINE OF medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

There is no claim made for Ayer's Sarsaparilla which cannot be endorsed by scores of testimonials. This fact plainly proves that the blood is the source of most disorders and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best of blood purifiers. Try it this month.

Don't waste time, money, and health, trying every new medicine you may see advertised in the papers. If the cause of your trouble is in the blood, liver, stomach, or kidneys, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla at once, and be sure of a cure. Take no other.

Consumptives, cheer up! You are not going to die, if you will but take Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis, and the first stage of consumption. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at druggists.

MOTHER'S WILL FIND the Pain Killer invaluable in the nursery, and it should always be kept near at hand in case of accident. For pain in the breast take a little Pain-Killer in sweetened milk and water, bathing the breasts in it clear at the same time. If the milk passages are clogged, from cold, or other causes, bathing in the Pain Killer will give immediate relief. Ask for the New Bottle.

ALL ALONE,

both in the way it acts, and in the way it's sold, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

A long procession of diseases start from a torpid liver and impure blood. Take it, as you ought, when you feel the first symptoms (languor, loss of appetite, dullness, depression). As an appetizing, restorative tonic, to repel disease and build up the needed flesh and strength, there's nothing to equal it. It rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, braces up the whole system, and restores health and vigor.

Mrs. SUSAN GOEDERT, of Rice, Benton County, Minn., writes: "I have taken three bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and feel quite well and strong now, so that I am able to do my work without the least fatigue."

Out of Sorts.—Symptoms, Headache, loss of appetite, furred tongue, and general indisposition. These symptoms, if neglected, develop into acute disease. It is a trite saying that an "ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and a little attention at this point may save months of sickness and large Doctor's bills. For this complaint take from two to three of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills on going to bed, and one or two for three nights in succession, and a cure will be effected.

Nothing which has life for its basis can boast much stability.

Ease by day and repose by night are enjoyed by those who are wise enough to apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to their aching muscles and joints. A quantity easily held in the palm of the hand is often enough to relieve the most exquisite pain.

Every hand adds to the happiness or misery of mankind.

THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

A Public Servant Who Was Dismissed After Twenty Years of "Incompetence."

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—Yesterday's session lasted only half an hour. All the members seemed in a particularly happy mood.

Mr. Meredith moved for an order of the House for a return of copies of all correspondence and reports with regard to the application or claim of Samuel Spicknell, formerly an employe in the Insane Asylum at London, for a gratuity or allowance on his ceasing to be employed in the public service of the province.

Mr. Meredith said that an invidious distinction had been made in this case. No gratuity had been granted although Mr. Spicknell had served over the required number of years. He wanted to know the reason why.

Mr. Gibson said that when the papers came before the House it would be seen that Mr. Spicknell was not entitled to the usual gratuity. He was found to be incompetent and wasteful of material and was therefore discharged. Gratuities were only paid to employes who had grown old in the service.

Mr. Meredith said that it was a most extraordinary thing that if this man was wasteful and incompetent that he should have been retained in the public service for over twenty years.

The motion carried.

Mr. Clarke moved for an order of the House for a return of a copy of the report made to the Government in 1893, by Mr. J. K. Stewart, Provincial Inspector of Licenses, respecting the operation of the License Law in the city of Hamilton, and the accommodation provided by the places licensed in the city.

The motion carried.

These bills were introduced and read a first time:

Mr. Clendenning—A bill to amend the Insurance Corporations Act of 1892.

Mr. Waters—A bill to amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Barr (Dufferin)—A bill to amend the Act respecting mortgages.

Mr. White—A bill to amend the Act respecting executions.

Mr. Monk—A bill to amend the Assessment Act.

Mr. Barr—A bill to amend the Coroners' Act.

Mr. Wood (Brant)—A bill to amend the General Road Companies Act.

Mr. White—A bill to amend the Division Courts Act.

Mr. Monk—A bill to facilitate the registration of mortgages and reduce the expense of registration.

A deputation from St. Thomas waited upon the Government yesterday and if their request should be granted gas company stocks all over the country will go down several points. They asked that the gas mains in St. Thomas should be taxed according to their value, the same as other private property. The matter had been before the county judge, who held that the mains could not be taxed. Judge McDougall, of Toronto, held that they could, while Judge Senkler, of St. Catharines, held that they could not. Sir Oliver thought that in cases where the companies were rich enough to pay dividends they should be taxed on their mains. Mr. Hardy thought that if it were proper to tax gas mains it would also be right to tax telephone wires. The Government decided to consider the matter.

Mr. McCall asked for a return yesterday which will elicit all the facts in connection with the prevalence of tuberculosis in the herd at the Agricultural College, Guelph. He asks seven questions, which if answered, will throw light upon the whole matter.

A prominent member of the Reform party said yesterday that evening sessions would begin not later than Wednesday next. The Government, he said, was anxious to rush their measures before the people in order to make a good impression.

It is stated on good authority that Hon. C. F. Fraser will oppose Mr. Conmee's Separate school bill tooth and nail. It is almost certain, however, that every other Catholic member in the House will support the measure.

RAISED THE BRITISH FLAG.

And Put up the Bust of George II. on Washington's Birthday.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 24.—There was a great commotion in the twenty-third ward of this city when A. T. Wadsworth, a member of the common council for that ward, unfurled a British flag over his house on Washington's birthday. A number of neighbors held an indignation meeting and a committee was appointed to wait upon him and request him to haul it down. The council man was not at home but his wife informed the visitors that the flag had been put up and it was going to stay. The committee withdrew, but the councilman who had heard something about the angry threats of his constituents returned to his home and hauled the flag down.

A recent act of the vestry of Christ's Protestant Episcopal church, one of the oldest churches in the country, is also causing considerable comment. Washington was a worshipper at the church when he was in Philadelphia. In 1777 the bust of George II. which had adorned the front of the edifice was taken down and stored in the attic.

Within a few days the vestry caused the bust to be cleaned up, and it again occupies its former place in front of the church.

Trouble in an Orange Lodge.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 24.—The New Brunswick Orange Lodge in session here are debating on the question of the Provincial School law. Some time ago there was trouble in the town of Bathurst, over the operation of the school law, and charges were made that the Protestant minority were unfairly treated. The Local Government appointed Judge Fraser to look into the matter and two Orange commissioners accompanied him. They recommended a compromise that would suit both Protestants and Catholics in Bathurst, but this the Grand Lodge will not accept. A committe was appointed and a resolution passed that the Grand Lodge would be satisfied with nothing less than the entire wiping away of all concessions to the Roman Catholic church. They do not wish to have concessions made to any creed or church.

Interesting Manuscripts.

ROME, Feb. 24.—The Pope has been presented by J. C. Heywood, an American residing in Rome, manuscripts containing in complete form the correspondence which passed between the Popes and the King and Queen of Spain on the subject of the voyage of Columbus.

East Huron Candidates.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 24.—At the convention of Patrons of Industry held here yesterday, William Milne, Reeve of Grey township, was nominated to contest the riding in their interests. The other candidates are, Thomas Gibson, M.P.P., Reform, and E. M. Dickenson, Conservative.

Killed by a Runaway.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 24.—A spirited team of horses owned by Henry Kottmyer, milkman, ran away yesterday. Burton Stewart, a lad of 14 years of age, who was driving, was thrown head foremost from the rig, breaking his neck. Death was instantaneous.

West Durham Reformers.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Feb. 24.—The Reform convention of West Durham met here yesterday. Mr. W. T. Lockhart, the sitting member, was nominated to again contest this riding in the Reform interest.

Failures for the Week.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—The failures during the past week numbered in the United States 288, against 193 last year, and in Canada 51, against 37 last year. Both in number and in magnitude commercial disasters have diminished.

MERCIER SHOWS HIS HAND.

He Delivers a Violent Speech on the Manitoba School Question.

AIMS TO SHAKE CONFEDERATION.

The Quondam Ruler of All Quebec Takes Exception to the Ruling of the Supreme Court, and Claims That the Rights of the Catholics of Manitoba Have Been Sacrificed.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.—Ex-Premier Mercier, of Quebec, delivered a violent speech last night before the Club National on the Manitoba school question.

He claimed that the rights of the Catholics of Manitoba had been sacrificed and that the Roman Catholic bishops were largely to blame. He said that the French Canadians if they wanted to obtain their rights would have to forget their divisions and unite against the other provinces of the Confederation. The influence of the French-Canadians was gradually growing less in the Confederation and their interests would soon all be sacrificed unless they now took a firm stand.

Mr. Mercier's remarks aroused great enthusiasm and he was frequently cheered.

Mr. Tarte, M.P., also spoke and defended the bishops. He expressed the opinion that the Catholic cause was not yet lost and that by firmness and courage the French-Canadians would yet win.

There was a large gathering in attendance and the speeches caused much excitement.

OTTAWA ITEMS.

An Interesting Statement Regarding the Beet Sugar Industry of Essex.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—Mr. P. Beneteau, of Windsor, Ont., an Essex county brandy distiller, is in town, and makes the following interesting statement: "I am here in the interest of the beet sugar industry, Essex being the county where the root can be produced to the best advantage in the Dominion, besides having the best facilities for reduction, and is but a short distance from the coal beds of Ohio, from which the freight is but a trifle. The beet root of Essex upon being analyzed proved the richest of any yet tested, the first test showing 17 per cent., which you will see by referring to the blue book is 6 or 7 per cent. better than the roots raised in the eastern townships. In addition to this we have a class of farmers inclined to cultivate that class of product, and as the Northwest develops, where grain and stock can be raised so cheaply, the more urgent will become the necessity for sectional industries." Mr. Beneteau had an interview with some of the Ministers. The bonus of two cents per pound to beet sugar expires on the 1st of July, and he is endeavoring to get it renewed.

McGreevy-Connolly Expenses.

Yesterday a deputation from the Carleton County Council, Warden Conn, Councillor Ballantyne, Treasurer Cowan and Clerk McNab, waited upon Sir John Thompson. The deputation was introduced by Mr. J. Hodgins, M.P. The treasurer presented an account for $1,300, the expense borne by the county in the Connolly-McGreevy trial, and explained that as the offense had not been committed in the county that the council were of the opinion that the Dominion Government should assume the expenditure. Sir John Thompson scanned the account and stated that he would look into the matter and let the gentlemen know in a few days.

Northwest School Ordinance.

Rev. Father Lacombe, the well-known priest of the Northwest who is now in the city, expresses his disappointment at the Dominion Government in not disallowing the Northwest school ordinance. The rev. father says in regard to the presentment made to the Dominion Government by Premier Haultain, that the other side of the question was not yet given to the public. It would be in a short time. He had already written a number of prominent newspapers in Ontario and Quebec correcting erroneous impressions and announcing that the Roman Catholic statement of the case was in preparation.

Oil Refiners.

A deputation of oil refiners from the vicinity of Petrolea, including Mr. N. K. Fairbanks and others, waited on the Tariff Committee to urge that the duty on oil be kept up.

Present for Lieut.-Gov. Howlan.

Senator Howlan was presented with a fur-lined overcoat by his numerous friends in Ottawa yesterday on the occasion of his being appointed Lieut.-Governor of Prince Edward Island.

A SUSPICIOUS DEATH.

Forty Grains of Arsenic Found in the Body of a Colored Woman.

HAMILTON, Feb. 24.—A colored woman named Jackson died at Bridgetown recently under suspicious circumstances and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Stephen Jackson, also colored, was arrested on suspicion of having poisoned her. At resumption of inquiry at Bridgetown yesterday, which had been adjourned to allow of analysis being made. The doctor who made chemical analysis stated he found about 40 grains of arsenic in the stomach; two grains were sufficient to have caused death.

A Clergyman Dies of His Injuries.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Feb. 24.—Rev. Dr. Fitzgerald, 81 years of age, died yesterday from injuries received a few days ago from being thrown out of a sleigh. He was born in Ireland and was ordained a priest in the English church in 1846. The next year he came to Prince Edward Island as rector of St. Paul's church at twenty-eight years of age. He was noted for his great strength of principles and Christian integrity.

Highly Praised.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, sprains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. I have recommended it to many friends and they also speak highly of it.

Cured his Boils in one Week.

DEAR SIRS,—I was covered with pimples and small boils, until one Sunday I was given ⅔ of a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters by the use of which the sores were sent flying in about one week's time.

FRED. CARTER, Haney, B. C.

I can answer for the truth of the above.

T. C. CHRISTIAN, Haney, B. C.

"Is that piece of bric-a-brac all your rich relatives left you?" inquired the visitor. "Yes, sir," sighed the poor relation; "my vase is my fortune."

Excellent Remedy.

GENTLEMEN,—We have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our house for over three years and find it an excellent remedy for all forms of coughs and colds. In throat and lung troubles it affords instant relief.

Testimonial from the wife of John Creigh J. P.

Calgary, Oct, 21st, 1893,

Templeton Pink Powder Co.

Dear Sirs,—For some time I have been very much troubled with rheumatism in my feet and knees. The rheumatism I consider inflammatory in its nature, at least the doctor told me so. I have also been very much troubled with neuralgia, and have used several remedies but of no avail. At last my daughter wrote me from Ontario to try Templeton's "Pink Powders." They gave me rapid and sure relief. I recommend Pink Powders whenever I hear of any one being troubled with rheumatism or neuralgia. Three boxes cured me.

Yours truly,
MARIA CREIGH.

Only the Scars Remain.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc.," writes HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., "none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

CANARD FROM THE CAPITAL

A Rumor of Disruption Among the Members of the Cabinet.

IN HAS NO FOUNDATION IN FACT.

The Three Ministers in Question Are Found Industriously Engaged in Their Several Duties—A Deputation From a Law Association Seeks Sir Oliver's Serious Consideration.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—A story was circulated in the city on Saturday that Hon. Messrs. Angers and Ouimet have resigned on account of differences of opinion in the Cabinet over the school question. It was also stated that Mr. Costigan has resigned because of the Premier's refusal to release Connolly and McGreevy. When the reporter called at the State Department Mr. Costigan was attending a meeting of the treasury board and along with him was Mr. Ouimet. The reporter asked Sir John Thompson when the meeting of the board was over if there was any truth in the story, and he replied that there was not. Mr. Angers was also at his department. It is scarcely needless to say there is no truth in the report. If Messrs. Angers and Ouimet intend to take such a step it would have been before they consented to allow the Northwest ordinance to stand.

Will Wait on Sir Oliver.

Messrs. Hogg, Wyld and Latchford left for Toronto last night to interview the Attorney-General about some changes in the sittings of the court here. They are a delegation from the Carleton County Law Association. They want a Divisional Court judge to sit here weekly and hear motions, etc.

Informal Applications.

Both the Liberal and the Conservative party managers here got a surprise on Saturday from County Judge Mosgrove, who threw out the two lists of names presented of parties to be placed on the provincial voters' list. Both applications were declared informal.

Lieutenant-Governor Howlan was sworn in by His Excellency at Rideau Hall on Saturday.

VERDICT FOR $150 DAMAGES

For Publishing a Report that the Jury Says Was in the Public Interest.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26.—The case of Pelland v. the Star was settled on Friday, the jury awarding $150 damages to Pelland. The Star published a report of a speech by Hon. Mr. Ouimet in which he (Ouimet) referred to Pelland in terms damaging to the latter's character.

The finding of the jury was in effect as follows:

That the report of the public meeting complained of was a true and faithful report.

That the report was published in good faith, without malice and in the public interest.

That the publication of this true report, made in good faith without malice and in the public interest, has damaged the plaintiff to the extent of $150.

The opinion of the learned judge who tried the case may be gathered from his statement to the jury: "Election proceedings have always been held to be privileges. This view of the matter is in accord with common sense and in harmony with recent Canadian legislation. The new Dominion criminal code expressly recognizes the right of the press to publish a fair report of public meetings, a right long recognized by British law. If the plaintiff has been injured in the Star doing something which it was right for the Star to do and in the public interest for the Star to do so it entitles him to the same heartfelt sympathy that he would get if he met with any other misfortune, but it by no means follows that he is entitled to get any money from the Star as a balm for his wounded sensibilities. In this particular case no hardship is involved upon Mr. Pelland, because there was nothing to prevent him suing Mr. Ouimet if that gentleman's remarks about him were untrue and injurious."

Peixoto is Deserted.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The report from Buenos Ayres that the vessels fitted out in New York for service in Brazil, with the exception of the dynamite cruiser Nictheroy, had gone over to the insurgents is partially confirmed in a letter received here from one of the American officers in the service of the Brazilian government. This officer says that while the American, the Piratany and the fleet of torpedo boats are not actually in possession of the insurgents their officers have such a high personal feeling for the rebel naval officers that they are unwilling to take any steps against the forces of Da Gama, although they would not turn over the ships to the admiral.

British Canadian Stores Company.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26.—The British Canadian Stores (Limited) has issued a prospectus to the public with a capital of £200,000 and the first issue of stock amounting to £150,000. The object is to establish a number of retail stores in Montreal, Toronto and elsewhere in Canada on the cash trading system of the English army and navy, the civil service and other stores. The company will also open British wholesale depots for Canadian produce.

Endorsed by Three Parties.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Feb. 26.—Mr. Robert Thompson, farmer of Grantham township, who was nominated by the Patrons of Industry at Beamsville last week for the Local House, is also the choice of the Reform convention, which met in this city on Saturday. In all probability Mr. Thompson will be endorsed by the temperance party as well, as he is known to be a pronounced temperance man.

Train Blown Into a River.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—A despatch from Port Louis, Mauritius, reports that a cyclone swept the island, doing almost incalculable damage to property and killing and injuring many persons. A crowded railway train was blown from the track and rolled down an embankment into the Coromandel river, killing 50 persons and injuring a large number of others.

Fire in Bowmanville.

BOWMANVILLE, Feb. 26.—A fire occurred here yesterday in the Misses Dingman's millinery store and had made such headway before being discovered that nothing could be saved. The family resided over the shop and only awoke in time to save their lives. Mr. Manning's hardware store adjoining was also badly damaged by fire and water.

MR. WIMAN RELEASED.

His Eldest Son's Wealthy Father-in-Law Furnishes the Bail.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Erastus Wiman, who was arrested Wednesday charged with forgery in the second degree, and who has been confined in the Tombs prison, found a bondsman yesterday in the person of Charles H. Deere, of Moline, Ill., who deposited $25,000 in cash with the City Chamberlain a few minutes before noon. Charles H. Deere, who furnished bail for Mr. Wiman, is a wealthy manufacturer of Moline, Ill., and an old friend of Mr. Wiman. Wiman's son William, who is dangerously ill, married a daughter of Mr. Deere. Mr. Wiman will be called up today to plead to an indictment for forgery in the second degree. He has not permitted anyone to ask whether he will plead guilty or not, but his friends assert that it has been settled since his release that he will plead not guilty.

Mr. Wiman, who had been removed from the Tombs to the District Attorney's office, was taken before the Clerk of the General Sessions Court to go through formalities necessary, and at noon was declared a free man. He at once left the building with Mr. Deere and his son-in-law, Norman S. Walker, jr., and went to the office of Tracy, Boardman & Platt, the second member of which firm will act as his counsel when he is arraigned to plead to-day.

Although declining to discuss the case Mr. Wiman spoke freely during the short walk from the prison to the General Sessions building. He seemed cheerful, although showing the effects of the strain he has undergone. He was not annoyed during his walk by the staring of passersby, no person who was met appearing to recognize the prisoner. Mr. Wiman spoke of the comfort he had received from hearing of the improved condition of his eldest son.

He alluded also to the circumstances in which he was placed, saying: "Aside from the fearful feeling of indignity and shame which comes over a man in prison, and the added trouble I have had through the illness of my son, I have actually enjoyed my stay in the Tombs. They have been most kind to me there, and I consider it a valuable experience to add to a busy and checkered life. A man should be judged not by what he does for himself, but by what he is able to do for others, not by one episode in his life, but by the whole sum of it. If this were not so, would there be a heaven? They call me a criminal. Does the course of my career indicate that I am that kind of a man? My good friend, Mr. Deere, came to me last night with money to secure my release, but I had heard from home and I told him to wait. I promise you that when my side begins to talk some one will be surprised."

After Mr. Wiman's release he was closeted with his solicitor, Gen. B. Tracey, who subsequently gave out this statement: "I have seen for the first time to-day the indictments against Mr. Wiman and have learned the history of the case and the facts upon which the indictments are found. I am entirely satisfied after such examination that Mr. Wiman has committed no crime, and unless I am greatly misinformed the trial will develop a state of facts which will show that Mr. Wiman is not only not a criminal but has done nothing that can seriously reflect upon his honor or integrity as a man. I am not in the habit of trying my cases in the newspapers, but in view of the extent to which this course has been taken by Mr. Wiman's enemies and certain of his supposed friends I think it only just to him that I should make this statement publicly."

Mr. Wiman spent Sunday with his family at his home in St. George street, S. I. His son, W. Dwight Wiman, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia, suffered a relapse yesterday afternoon and it is feared that he will not long survive. Mr. Wiman received no one during the day.

Mr. R. G. Dun in an interview in regard to the arrest of Erastus Wiman stated that the report sent out from New York was so entirely correct that it left him nothing to say, as he did not deem it necessary to enter into further particulars. The report referred to was verified in every particular. Wiman's peculations were known, Mr. Dun said, before his connection with the mercantile agency was severed and were the cause of such action on the part of the agency officers. This was in February, 1893. When questioned as to why the action in the case had been so long delayed Dun said it was largely on account of Wiman's wife and relatives. With reference to the circular published and industriously circulated about a month ago by some person unknown, in which were revealed many hitherto very dimly understood facts in regard to mercantile agencies and their methods of doing business, Dun said he did not attribute its authorship to Wiman, nor did it have the slightest bearing on pushing the case against him. He, however, thought Wiman had given the author some valuable suggestions.

CHANGE OF VENUE.

The Second Trial of Hooper Will Take Place in Montreal.

THREE RIVERS, Feb. 26.—A letter was received by John R. Hooper, in jail here awaiting his trial on a charge of attempted murder, from his lawyer, Mr. Renaud, informing him that he may have a change of venue. Hooper will be tried in Montreal. The Attorney-General, Hon. I. Chase Casgrain, and the Crown counsel, Messrs. Cornellier and MacMaster, have consented to the change. Hooper will accept gladly, and the $100 which is necessary for such change has been furnished.

Hooper's reason for accepting the change of venue are on account of his ill-health and the firm conviction that if tried in Montreal he will pass the ordeal and obtain freedom. He expects to be called from here to Montreal to day or to-morrow. An indictment citing the facts of the attempt upon the life of Mrs. Hooper by her husband at Louiseville on Sept. 13 or thereabouts will be laid before the grand jury in Montreal on Thursday next, March 1, and the trial, if a true bill be returned, will take place soon thereafter.

Blizzard in Tennessee.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 26.—A blizzard struck this section Thursday night and Saturday the wind blew a gale, accompanied by snow flurries and sleet. Great damage was done in Mississippi, and it in feared the fruit crop has been ruined. Peach and apple trees, and strawberries and tomato plants were in bloom. The thermometer had never before been known to fall so low at this season.

Brave Rescuers Drowned.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Three officers and three men belonging to the coastguard crew at Inverness, Scotland, were drowned by the swamping of a boat on Friday, while attempting to rescue the crew of a vessel in distress.

An Embezzler Suicides.

VIENNA, Feb. 26.—Cashier Ferles, who embezzled 102,000 florins from the Department of the Public Debt and fled during the official inspection, has committed suicide.

FIGHT WITH SLAVE DEALERS

British Sailors and Soldiers Meet With Disastrous Repulse.

DESERTED BY THEIR NATIVE GUIDES.

The British Were Surprised by the Notorious Chief Fodisilah and Make a Determined Resistance—Three Officers and Ten Men Killed and Forty-Seven Wounded—Several Reported Missing.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The rumors in circulation on Saturday based on despatches from Bathurst, West Africa, that a number of British officers and sailors had been killed in battle with slave dealers on the west coast are confirmed by official despatches.

The despatches state that the cruiser Raleigh, the flagship of the British squadron on the West African coast, commanded by Rear Admiral Frederick C. D. Bedford, and the screw gun boat Widgeon, commanded by Lieutenant Commander William J. Scullard, arrived on Friday at Bathurst, capital of the British West African colony of Gambra. Though the admiralty officials refused to make public their despatches it was learned that the sailors of these two vessels had been defeated on shore.

Further details leaked out which show that landing parties from the Widgeon and Raleigh had been sent ashore to punish Chief Fodisilah, a notorious slave-trader who had been carrying away and selling into slavery numbers of natives of the villages in that section of the coast over which he rules.

The sailors landed in force, marched some distance inland and in a fight with Fodisilah's followers were repulsed with the loss of three officers and ten men killed and forty-seven wounded.

The humiliating feature of the defeat of the British sailors is the fact that Fodisilah's men were comparatively few and armed with primitive rifles. Fodisilah has the reputation of being a fearless and desperate fighter. Further details of the disaster since received state that the force which landed were fully equipped for a march inland and for remaining ashore for some time. Several machine guns were taken ashore with provisions for four days and an ample supply of ammunition. A reserve force was left at the landing place, which was protected by the guns of the cruisers and the gunboat. The beginning of the march disclosed no signs of armed natives, but when the sailors had advanced several miles inland the native carriers bearing the ammunition, water, provisions, etc., deserted one by one and finally all of them disappeared.

The force continued to march, despite the desertions, and was finally led into an ambush. The party had penetrated a country thickly wooded with high ground on either side when suddenly fire was opened upon them from every direction. An attempt was made to use the machine guns, but the attack was so sudden and so fierce that the British were unable to do so, and were quickly routed.

Lieut. William H. Arnold of the navy and Lieut. Francis W. Hervey of the marines were the first two officers killed, and sub-Lieut. Francis W. Meister and ten men soon shared their fate. Lieut. Hon. Robert F. Boyle was dangerously wounded, and Lieut. Herbert J. Saville was badly wounded. Captain Gamble, Surgeon W. R. White, Midshipman Arthur Chambers and party of sailors were slightly wounded during the retreat. The latest despatches say that in addition to those of the party killed and wounded (already accounted for) a number of marines and part of the West Indian infantry regiment are missing and great fears are entertained for their safety.

The officials at the Admiralty office are informed by Rear Admiral Bedrord that another and much more formidable expedition is making preparation to march inland to search for the missing men and avenge the death of their comrades who were slain in ambush by Fodisilah's followers.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

Three Important Matters for the Week—Mr. Wilson Ill in Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. — The present week in the Senate promises to be barren in legislation but fertile in action, looking to the shaping of the policy of the party in power on the tariff question. Three very important matters are expected to transpire to-day—the presentation of the tariff bill to the Republican members of the Finance Committee; the Democratic caucus with that same bill as a basis for the discussion in which dissatisfied Democrats are expected to be most active, and the report of the Committee on Foreign Affairs on the Hawaiian investigation. It is not unlikely that in presenting this report Mr. Morgan may make a brief speech.

Mr. Wilson Has Typhoid.

The Secretary of State on Saturday received a despatch from the United States Consul-General at the City of Mexico to the effect that Congressman Wilson is now ill in that city with typhoid fever. His condition is grave although the fever is of a mild form.

Irish Evicted Tenants.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, has refused to receive a deputation from the Evicted Tenants' Association. He based his refusal on the ground that the Government had decided to introduce a reinstatement bill in the next session of Parliament. The Evicted Tenants' Association of Cork resolved yesterday to return to the principles of the Land League. The association appointed a vigilance committee to render more effective the boycotting of the land grabbers.

Luck for an Aged Negro.

FOSTORIA, O., Feb. 26.—Another phenomenal oil well put in an appearance in the Fostoria field on Saturday afternoon. It is now flowing oil at the rate of 7,500 barrels per day. For the first half hour it spouted oil as high as the top of the derrick and was a wonderful sight. It is known as the Carter well and is on the property of Davis Carter, an aged negro who heretofore has made a living by peddling vegetables. He will receive one-eighth of the production, which will insure him a small fortune. The well is owned by Emerson & Steele, of Fostoria.

Matthew Johnson Electrocuted.

SING SING, Feb. 26.—Matthew Johnson, the negro murderer, was executed in the electric chair to-day. The dynamos and apparatus had been properly tested and worked well, the doomed man dying apparently without a sign of pain. Johnson showed remarkable nerve and went to his death without flinching. He was a West Indian negro and had no relatives in this country. A negro clergyman from New York attended him, and was the only friend who visited him.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 26, 1894.

The Montreal grain market is quiet.

Canadian securities are dull and generally steady.

May wheat in Chicago closed 60c, May corn 36⅝c, May oats 29¼. Market generally quiet.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Wheat sold at 71c for white, 60c for red and 58c for goose. Barley firm, selling at 45c. Oats selling at 40½c and peas from 60½c to 62c.

Sales of white and red wheat on the Northern are at 58c. Spring on Midland unchanged at 60c to 61c. No. 1 Manitoba hard quoted at 74c to 75c west and 76c east.

The rates of discount in London last week were 1¼ for three months and 1 for 20 days. Gold was plentiful and further shipments from Africa and Australia were expected to arrive. Silver fell. It will be difficult to find any market at all for it as India is likely to cease purchasing. Trading in American railroad securities was almost stagnant. The Senate's delay in acting upon the Wilson bill causes general disappointment and reluctance to buy.

A Negro's Double Murder.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Feb. 26.—Richard Prior, a negro employed on the Wilkesbarre and Eastern railroad, shot and killed Christian Ehler, a merchant, at the latter's residence at White Oak run, and fatally wounded his wife. Mr. Ehler's son escaped by jumping from a window. The double murder was committed as the couple rose from supper. The negro took what money he could find and escaped.

An Anarchist Writer Sentenced.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Jean Graves, an anarchist of letters, was tried in the criminal court on Saturday for having published a book entitled "Societe Mornate," which it was charged contained matter calculated to incite to revolution and overthrow existing institutions. Graves was sentenced to two years in prison and to pay a fine of 1,000 francs.

Fire in Kaslo, B. C.

KASLO, B.C., Feb. 26.—Fire Saturday night destroyed all the buildings on Front street, between Third and Fourth streets, excepting three stores. Thirty buildings were consumed. The loss will reach $200,000.

Italian Statesman Dying.

ROME, Feb. 26.—Baron Giovanni Nicotera, ex-Minister of the Interior and one of Italy's foremost statesmen, was stricken with apoplexy on Saturday evening.

Disastrous Fire in an Oil Town.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 26.—Three-fourths of the business portion of McDonald, an oil town on the Panhandle Railroad, was burned on Saturday. Loss $100,000; insurance $14,000.

The G. T. R. Has a Fight On.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Feb. 26.—A big fight between the Grand Trunk Railway Company and the Central Vermont Railroad Company, involving the control of the latter road and incidentally the issue of one million capital stock voted by the Central Vermont and the issue of a lot of first mortgage bonds has been begun by a suit entered in the United States Circuit Court at Brattleboro by A. A. Strout and S. G. Shurtloff, counsel for the Grand Trunk Railway Company. Judge Wheeler has issued a restraining order and set the case for a hearing next Tuesday.

Thousands of Tons of Grain Destroyed.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—An immense warehouse at Rotherhithe, a southeastern suburb of London, was burned last evening. Thousands of tons of grain poured from the storerooms into the Thames. Loss, £120,000.

Baby's Burning Skin

My little girl was troubled with itching, burning sores. Doctor called it Italian itch. He doctored her three months, did not do her any good. Every part of her person was covered with sores, excepting head. After taking CUTICURA REMEDIES two weeks the itch stopped, and in four weeks the sores were all gone.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. C. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont., writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

TOBACCO CULTURE.

It is not as generally known as it ought to be that very excellent tobacco can be grown in Canada, especially in Ontario. The report of the horticulturist, Mr. John Craig, of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, states that tobacco raising may become an important industry. It says that some preliminary experiments were undertaken in its cultivation, with a view of obtaining information with regard to the varieties best suited to the climate of Eastern Ontario and the Province of Quebec; and the most approved methods of handling the young plants previous to setting out. Seed of thirty-one varieties was sown in a mild hotbed, on April 24th, 1893, in rows six inches apart. Germination took place very uniformly in ten days. On May 30th half the number of plants of each variety were transplanted, picking them out in a cold frame in rows eight inches apart and three inches apart in the row. On June 6 they were transplanted to the field, which was a thoroughly tilled piece of gravelly loam, that was cropped with beans the previous season, ploughed in the autumn, and dressed in the spring with barnyard manure at the rate of 50 tons to the acre.

The ground was cultivated sufficiently with a horse cultivator to keep down all weeds, and as long as the cultivator could pass between the rows without injuring the plants, which were set three and a-half feet apart each way. This distance was found to be sufficient for the smaller and more upright varieties, such as "Canadian" and "Gonnelle," but did not afford enough space for large-leafed, vigorous kinds like "Conqueror" and "Pennsylvania Seed Leaf." A striking difference was noted in relative rapidity of growth of plants which had been transplanted in hotbeds and those of the same variety set out from the original seed bed. Those transplanted in hotbeds were much stockier and stronger, as might reasonably be expected, did not flag after setting in the field, and lost no time in becoming established.

Out of thirty-one plants the yield was as high as 1,826 lbs. of dried leaf to the acre, which at current prices would make a handsome return for labor and capital.

The development of this industry has proceeded with great rapidity in some parts. With the French colonists of the Detroit River region and the Province of Quebec came seed of this plant to eastern North America. In the eastern portion of this province long-continued selection of home-grown seed has given rise to varieties peculiar to the region. These are usually smaller, hardy varieties that do not attain a height of southern forms. The yield, however, is usually very satisfactory, and with the exercise of skill in harvesting and curing there is no doubt that an easily marketable product of good quality can be produced.

PRENDERGAST WILL HANG.

The Murderer of Carter Harrison Must Pay the Penalty.

MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL DENIED

March 23 is the Date Fixed for the Execution—The Doomed Murderer Stands Up in Court and Makes a Statement—His Extraordinary Peculiarity Which Looks as Much Like Insanity as Anything.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Judge Bretano on Saturday denied the motion for a new trial in the case of Eugene Prendergast, the murderer of Mayor Harrison, and sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on March 23.

After Judge Brentano's decision Prendergast was ordered to stand up. He staggered to his feet and read from a paper containing notes as follows:

"I suppose you imagine you have done your duty in denying this motion. This plea of insanity was set up without my consent."

Then after repeating this statement he glanced around the court room and in a firmer voice continued:

"The question was and is, Did I do right or wrong at that particular time? Did I do my duty or did I not? Did I do the will of God or did I not? That question has never been touched. If I did wrong I should be convicted. If I did right I should be justified. So far as concerns the doctors, they came to me without invitation. I did not ask them to come to see me in jail and say whether I was sane or not.

"They say Harrison was a great and good man. I deny it. A great and good man is generally faithful to his friends, and he was not. Harrison was not such a man. Had he been he would not have shown such hostility to me."

All this was said in a jerky, fragmentary way, the prisoner's voice at times dropping until those at his elbow could scarcely catch his utterances. He went on to say that the defence had been attacked by the newspaper trust, and no doubt the judge and everybody else would be at his mercy. It would save no man's character—and blackmail and intimidation would thrive in the city.

At this point a bailiff seized him, and in another second he was hurried through the door into the county jail, and the door of his cell in the murderers' row clanked behind him.

Prendergast's attorney asked for and was granted until March 22 in which to file a bill of exceptions upon which to take the case to the Supreme Court.

THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

The Question of the Power of the Peers Will be the Coming Vital Issue.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Cabinet has prepared the Queen's speech and has decided on the order in which the government measures will be introduced at the next session. This sequence of bills was determined on: Registration reform, Irish evicted tenants, Welsh disestablishment, local option.

The difficult financial questions which will arise from the budget deficit and the simultaneous increase of naval expenditure will fill out the programme which bids fair to be voluminous enough to protract the session far beyond the usual limits.

The retreat of the peers on Friday evening will undoubtedly moderate the popular movement to abolish them. Nevertheless the whole Liberal party, while not sharing the eagerness of the Radicals for immediate action, have now determined that the power of the peers to control parliamentary legislation must cease.

Out of deference to Mr. Gladstone the Liberal party may continue to give Home Rule the first place on its programme, but the question of the peers will be regarded as the most vital and urgent issue of the hour.

The Speaker has broached a plan which was suggested by several cabinet ministers and is approved by many Liberal Commoners. The plan is as follows: The power of the House of Lords to veto bills passed by the House of Commons shall cease. The House of Lords may continue its revisory and suggestive functions, may even initiate legislation, but when a bill once amended shall be returned by them to the Commons the decision of the Lower House shall be final. In the event that the peers absolutely reject a bill sent up by the Commons the Lower House may reaffirm the measure by resolution and thus over-ride the rejection of the Upper House.

There are five peers in Mr. Gladstone's cabinet and none of them would support a measure to overthrow the Upper House. Three of them, however, while prepared to stand by their class, are known to be willing to reform the peers. The ministers in question are the Earl of Roseberry, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Lord Herschell, Lord High Chancellor; and the Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for India.

Leaders of the movement against the Lords have arranged for two popular demonstrations in Hyde Park. The Trades Council will hold meetings there on March 18 and the House of Lords Abolition League will have processions and meetings on Easter Monday.

The Chronicle is authority for the statement that Lord Salisbury's attitude in regard to the employers liability and local government bills has aroused a strong feeling of opposition to his course on the part of the Queen and the Prince of Wales. The reigning family, the Chronicle adds, has always taken a sense of its own interest and more than once has exerted its influence to prevent the peers from engaging in a conflict which might have its end in totally readjusting the constitution.

THE ONTARIO INSOLVENCY ACT.

The Privy Council Decides in Favor of the Provincial Government.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council gave judgment on Saturday declaring the Ontario act respecting assignment and preferenced by insolvent bankrupts to be valid.

Their lordships declared that said provisions at issue—enactments relating to assignments purely voluntary—do not infringe on the exclusive legislative power of the Dominion government.

The merits of the case were heard on December 15, when Hon. Edward Blake appeared for the Province of Ontario and Sir Richard Webster presented the arguments on behalf of the Dominion. The question was whether the jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament on the subject of bankruptcy and insolvency was so exclusive that though not exercised the Provincial Legislatures were powerless to give even partial relief. Canadian judges had differed on the subject.

The Dominion Government was not anxious to maintain the opposite view, though as a matter of official duty they had to contend, and through their counsel did contend for exclusive jurisdiction despite the Ontario Insolvency Act of 1887.

THE MONTICELLO MURDER.

A Young Neighbor of the Dead Couple Suspected of the Crime.

MONTICELLO, Feb. 26.—Floyd J. Carr, of Bushville, a young farmer residing near the home of the aged couple who were murdered on Thursday night or Friday morning, is suspected of having committed the crime and was arrested yesterday. He has behaved very strangely since the murder and the people of Bushville attribute this conduct to remorse. Sheriff Beecher arrested Carr at the house of Louise Cantrell, a young woman of unsavory reputation, and lodged him in jail at Monticello. He was searched and a five dollar bill to every appearance bearing bloody finger marks was found on his person. The bill had evidently been washed to remove the soiled spots. The Cantrell girl was also placed under arrest as an important witness.

Railroad Wreck in Nova Scotia.

PICTOU, N.S., Feb. 26.—A short line train leaving Pictou on Saturday evening, eight hours behind time, met with an accident, resulting in a bad smash, about one mile out. The train was composed of a snow-plough, two engines, box, baggage, and passenger cars. The plough left the rails at the curve, going off on the harbor side and being badly stove in and broken. The engine following was thrown off the track on the other side, running high upon the deep snow bank. The wreck tied up the trains from Halifax and Oxford, but passengers and mails were transferred at midnight. The accident was the worst of the kind which has ever occurred on this part of the road. Fortunately no one was seriously injured.

Escaped Prisoners Recaptured.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb 26.—Three of the prisoners who escaped from jail at Thomasville on Thursday afternoon have been recaptured. One of the men recaptured is Spencer, the murderer. He drew a pistol and had to be shot before he would surrender. His wounds are not dangerous. John Williams and Alex. Glass were made prisoners after a short run. A fourth prisoner, Jim Kennedy, refused to surrender and was shot and killed. Another of the fugitives succeeded in getting away. The sixth man was not with them.

LA JUNTA, Col., Feb. 26.—Steele Mackay, author and dramatist, died yesterday morning near Timpas, on board a Santa Fe Railroad train while en route to San Diego, Cal., where it was hoped that he would be able to build up his health. Mr. Mackay was born at Fort Porter, now a portion of the city of Buffalo, 47 years ago.

Dressing Shop Windows.

English women are gradually absorbing the entire trade of shop-window dressing, an occupation still in the hands of men here, as in the business of table decoration, which in London is usually the work of a woman in the employ of the florist who provides the greens and blossoms necessary. The London decorator finds her efforts very much assisted by the electric light, which is now used instead of gas in nearly all the better dwelling-houses in the English capital. A very much admired decoration for a ducal dinner party lately was made with a long, low gilded basket heaped with maiden-hair ferns and lilac cattelayas; a great lilac sash was tied around the basket, the ends straying far down the long table, and the purple orchards overflowed the basket and trailed among the ribbons.

The table of beautiful old oak, very black and polished, and no tablecloth, as is the fancy now, being veiled only with two long strips of old lace. But the unique feature of the decoration was made possible by the electric chandelier over the table. This had been tapped by six electric wires, which were wound with lilac silk floss, and they furnished the illumination to six little globes of delicate-frosted lilac glass that reared their heads among the orchids and gave them the most beautiful unearthly sort of transparent brilliancy.—Philadelphia Times.

A MUSICIAN AND CYNIC

HANS VON BULOW WHO DIED IN THE LAND OF THE PHARAOHS.

Brilliancy, Genius, Disease—Story of His Artistic Life and His Marriage With the Present Mme. Wagner—His Place in Musical History.

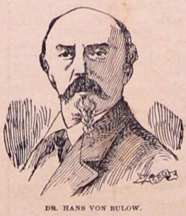
With Hans Guido von Bulow, the distinguished pianist who recently died at Cairo, Egypt, dissappears the most remarkable and characteristic musical genius of the last half century. His life was an enigma, his talents extraordinary, his closing years eras of paretic brilliancy and musical revelations. In his most recent concerts his splendid educational interpretations as Kapellmeister, especially of the Wagner numbers, created artistic surprise and astonishment. His life as a musician was, however, embittered from his early years. Strive as he might to achieve greatness, his brain could not carry him to successful rivalry with the men who three and four decades ago made the musical conquest of the world.



DR. HANS VON BULOW.

In his earlier years he was as a pianist praised as the only living rival of Rubinstein, but he went no further, and the great Russian has nothing to fear from him from the judgment of posterity. He created nothing, but his interpretations of the great musicians, classic if modern, were the oases in the musical educational life of the present day.

His Marriage with Cosima.

The romance of his life became Dead Sea fruit. Married to Cosima, the daughter of Liszt and the Countess d'Agoult, she was taken away from him after a few years of wided misery by a greater man, by Richard Wagner, whose indispensible helpmeet and alter ego she absolutely became.

Not only did he not regret this desertion, but he became one of the staunchest friends and adherents of the great musician of the future. Somebody has well said that Von Bulow was never a model husband "because he worshipped with such fanatic devotion a mistress whose sway was more powerful than a wife's—music—and to whom he remained constantly faithful. Moreover, his intimacy with Wagner, the man of excessive and extravagant genius; with his father-in-law, Franz Liszt, whose romantic imagination indulged in fantastic flights, unfitted him more and more for a humdrum conjugal life. In his exalted veneration for two such powerful and unconventional individualities the young man became estranged from ordinary occupations and commonplace duties, and when he passed from the heights of enthusiasm to the prosaic plain of domesticity he became irritable, violent and morose. One day Cosima (now Mme. Wagner) quietly informed him that she had grown weary of the life she led, and that she would no longer bear his continuous ill temper. Furthermore, she announced not only her intention of obtaining a divorce, but of contracting another marriage. The man she had chosen was Richard Wagner himself, Bulow's bozom friend."

"Liszt opened his arms to his second son-in-law as warmly as he had opened them to the first, without, however, any abatement of his affection for Bulow. Stranger still, the two husbands saw no reason why Cosima's determination should alter in any way the tenor of their mutual friendship, which was continued on the old footing, and, as if everything was to be extraordinary in this singular episode, Mme. Richard Wagner, with the full consent of their father, carried away to her new home the three children born of her union with Bulow. Later on, when she was lying dangerously ill at Lucerne, after the birth of a fourth child, she begged her second husband to send for her first, who was brought to her bedside by his successor." Of Wagner's children it may here be said that only the last one, Siegfried, who is now the representative of his father in Bayreuth, is the acknowledged offspring of the great composer. The others, girls, have all the characteristics of Von Bulow.

The story of Von Bulow's musical life, educational and creative, may be compassed in a very short space. He was born at Dresden January 8, 1830. He began his musical education under Frederick Winck. In 1848 he was sent to the University of Leipzig to study jurisprudence, his parents having always regarded music as a mere pastime, but he continued his studies in counterpoint under Hauptmann. In the following year he entered the University of Berlin, and took great interest in the political movements of that time, contributing to a democratic journal, Die Abendpost. In this paper he first began to defend the musical doctrines of the new German school, led by Liszt and Wagner. After hearing a performance of "Lohengrin," at Weimar, in 1850, he threw aside his law studies, went to Zurich, and placed himself under the guidance of Wagner. In June, 1851, he became a pupil of Liszt, and two years later made his first concert tour. From 1855 to 1864 he occupied the post of principal master of pianoforte playing at the Conservatorium of Professors Stern and A. B. Marx, as Berlin. In 1864 he was called to Munich as principal conductor of the Royal Opera and director of the conservatory there. He there organized performances of Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde" and "Die Meistersinger von Nurnberg." In 1869 he left Munich, and afterward gave concerts in Italy, Germany, Russia, Poland, England and America. In January, 1878, he was appointed Koenliglicher Hofkapellmeister at Hanover. Among his most important compositions are "Nirvana, Symphonisches Stimmungsbild;" music to Shakespeare's "Julius Cæsar;" "Des Sanner's Fluch," "Vier Charakterstucke fur Orchester" and "Il Carnovale di Milano."

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten years' Suffering from Kidney disease—Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim from the Grave.

BROCKVILLE, Feb'y 26.—Any one who asserted a year ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure, would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, that was so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, near here, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years, and Bright's disease had developed, when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

TEETH

Extracted Absolutely Without Pain.

No charge for first tooth for each person.

O. W. KENNEDY L.D.S., of Toronto, will be pleased to demonstrate in the office of J. A. MARSHALL, Surgeon Dentist, of Belleville, the efficacy of his Local Anaesthetic "ANTAKINE" for the painless extraction of teeth.

This preparation does not produce unconsciousness, but when simply applied to the Gum renders the tissues around the teeth numb, and even the most difficult teeth may be extracted without any pain. ANTAKINE is absolutely harmless, containing no dangerous drug or causing any bad after-affects whatever.

This presents an unprecedented opportunity to have Teeth Extracted skilfully and painlessly without the danger and discomfort of inhaling gas, ether, or anything of that kind.

Dr. Kennedy will be in Dr. Marshall's office, the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of March.

Positively no pain or no charge.

PAIN KILLER.—The testimony borne to the efficacy of this valuably medicine are sufficient to warrant its introduction into every house. Our own opinion is that no family should be without a bottle of it for a single hour. In flesh wounds, aches, pains, sores, &c., it is the most effectual remedy we know of. A 25c. bottle will last for a long time, and its low price places it within the reach of all.—News, St. Johns, Que.

ONTARIO MINES.

Gold at Belmont and Bruce Mines—Rich Iron Deposits in Belmont.

Within the last year, says a writer in a recent number of Once a Week, remarkable developments have been made in some of the gold bearing ores of Ontario. The Ophir mine, situated about 16 miles north of Bruce Mines, in the district of Algoma, is being worked by the Ophir Mining Company, of Chicago, with an authorized capital of $3,000,000. The quartz vein is from 30 to 46 feet wide, showing free gold and a small percentage of sulphurets, copper, iron and galena. It is for the most part free milling, and can be mined and milled for $2.50 per ton. The vein outcrops for a length of 450 feet, and has been developed by several cuts showing a quarry of gold bearing quartz. An inclined shaft, 80 feet deep, sunk on the vein, shows extremely rich quartz all the way down. The amount of quartz in sight is estimated at 200,000 tons, which, at the average yield per ton, would pay a handsome dividend on the full capital.

BELMONT GOLD MINES.

But gold has been found much nearer. In the township of Belmont, about 100 miles east of Toronto, several important discoveries of gold-bearing quartz have been made.

The Crawford mine, in which A. W. Carscallen, M. P., is interested, has been worked for some months, yielding $10 per ton by the Crawford mill process. A shaft has been sunk to the depth of 120 feet on what is known as the main vein, running east and west. Professor Chapman, of the School of Science and University College, Toronto, pronounces this, as well as two other veins to be true fissure veins, continuous across the property. These veins consist of a gauge of white quartz carrying a considerable amount of iron pyrites, some parts being much decomposed. These decomposed sulphurets are rich in gold, an assay by Professor Chapman showing $94 gold per ton.

A large deposit of magnetic iron, known as the Belmont iron mine, occurs to the south of the Crawford property, on lot 19 in 1st concession of Belmont. The ore here is of first-class Bessemer quality, suited to make the finest steel, being rich in iron and very free from impurities. The Belmont Bessemer Ore Co., of New York, have leased this mine on royalty from T. D. Ledyard, of Toronto, and have built a railway to connect with the Central Ontario railway, 10 miles distant. On the east of this same lot, 19, several gold veins have lately been discovered and are being developed under the name of the Ledyard gold mines. A shaft has been sunk to the depth of 45 feet on an east and west vein, which is from four to six feet wide, and very clearly defined against the walls of talcose schist. This vein is found cropping out in several places, and has been traced for 600 feet west of the shaft. A good deal of honey comb quartz occurs here, carrying free gold and iron pyrites. These sulphurets are very rich, having assayed at different depths, $117, $193, $195, $198, $318, $338 and $922 in gold to the ton. About 200 yards west of the shaft is a knoll intersected with quartz veins, also containing visible gold and rich sulphurets, samples of which have assayed $210 gold per ton. Besides these are several other gold bearing veins, which have as yet been only slightly developed. These mines are well situated and easily accessible, being within ten miles both of the Canadian Pacific railway, and are situated in a well settled country where labor and supplies are cheap and where even lower grade ores would pay handsomely.

THE CITY CHURCHES.

"HE BEING DEAD YET SPEAKETH."

Memorial Service in Bridge St. Church Last Night—The Rev. Dr. Douglas' Goodness and Greatness—His Life and Character by the Rev. Wm. Hall, M. A., and Rev. J. B. Clarkson, M. A.

It has been customary in Bridge St. church when a memorial service was held to have the church draped ; out of respect for the Rev. Dr. Douglas' request that no crape should be used at his funeral, there was no display in the church yesterday. The congregation—which was a very large one—took part in as appropriate a memorial service as has been held in our city. The hymns sung, Miss E. Garratt's solo, the choir's anthem and the organ voluntaries all spoke of the church's triumph over death. Two of Dr. Douglas' most intimate friends and former pastors of Bridge St. Church—the Rev. Wm. Hall, M.A., and Rev. J. B. Clarkson, M. A., of Montreal,—had been requested to write letters to be read to the congregation and a perusal of these will show how well they performed the loving task.

The Rev. E. N. Baker read these letters and then took as the text of his sermon Hebrews xi : 14, "He being dead yet speaketh." Mr. Baker's analysis of Dr. Douglas' life, his eulogies of him, and the lessons he drew from Dr. Douglas' life and work were apt and telling. Following are the letters :

REV. J. B. CLARKSON, M.A.

For 37 years I have enjoyed intimate friendship with the departed. During the last five years the only social visits I have made were to his study, where we discussed everything that was useful, healthful and elevating. My ideal of my friend surpasses infinitely my power to express the admiration of his genius which I have always entertained. The press is full of eulogy and the city re-echoes with admiration for the man. He has passed out of great tribulation, having been washed white by the sanctifying power of affliction. Surely Heaven is rest to this weary pilgrim. The malaria of the West Indies had so touched his nerve centres that sensation was gone in the arms, hands and feet, yet I never heard him murmur. For over ten years the gloom of blindness, which was produced by the seductive effects of medicines, taken to reduce his nervous disease—rested upon him, yet in all his darkness he was never known to lament, but like Scio's old bard, he plumed an ampler wing and touched the melody of deeper strains in his constant midnight gloom. Of his mental resources I need not write; he had a massive brain; a capacious memory, and a rare fancy of delicate and every expanding beauty, with a gift of utterance which coined elegant diction at every turn, and a voice of searching power, and singular tenderness.

He knew everything. The majority of his profession go through college once. He put a college through himself about every four years. Like an electric ball which snaps fire at every touch, he was always charged on every important subject, and freely poured out the wealth of his information.

Here are a few features of his character, but on none have I time to enlarge:

1. His profound humility—Self abnegation was his native air. 2. His compassion for the suffering—You never heard such prayers as broke from his aching heart when comforting the afflicted. 3. His passion for souls—As his colleague, I could give astonishing testimony to his anguish for others, which the Holy Spirit had produced in him. 4. His mastery over difficulties—in this we see the immense will power which bore him through and over every obstruction. His decisions were carefully and calmly made and his object was always secured, no matter how much patience and pluck were required to effect the achievement. 5. The sterling worth of his friendship. He never sold anybody. There was diplomacy in his methods, but always true and thorough honor towards everybody. Here is an episode. Twenty years ago, and during my absence in London, as a patient of Dr. Morrel McKenzie for throat troubles, Dr. Douglas had been very ill indeed; I was the first allowed to see him. After a few words he said, "I expected to die." "Then how did it appear to you?" I asked. This was his significant answer, as he raised the right arm, "I just turned over some of those blessed truths which I had used to strengthen others, and death was over." How glorious the Gospel which can put you mentally and spiritually "over there" before you are actually gone! Such sublime elevation of soul can only come from the Lord Jesus Christ, who ever liveth to receive his people. One day I said to him, "You are the best proof that the doctrine of materialism is a lie." "How so?" he asked. "Why, you almost live without a body." This was noticed by his physicians during his last illness, when he said that "a very small quantity of nourishment would sustain his life a long time." Dear Mrs. Douglas and daughters are graciously sustained. It took the whole family to meet their dear father's varied wants. Now they have lost their loving occupation and are desolate.

REV. WM HALL, M.A.

The Rev. Dr. Douglas was born 14th Oct. 1825, at Ashkirk, Scotland, and came with his parents and family to Montreal in 1832, so that at the time of his death he had been connected with the metropolitan city of Canada for nearly 62 years. To the Rev. Wm. Black, Presbyterian minister of Laprairie, a little village 9 miles up the river from the city, he was indebted for his early education. Here he manifested a wide taste for reading, and his mind became unfavorably tainted toward religion by the writings of Paine and Voltaire. His parents diligently trained him in the shorter catechism, and he attended his father's church, old St. Gabriel's—where on the 14th March, 1866, when the congregation were leaving the old site, he preached one of the farewell sermons. In order to save himself a very long walk on Sundays—not by any means from love of the doctrine taught there—he attended a Methodist Sunday school on St. Charles Borrommee St. Soon he came under the searching and convincing pulpit ministrations of the Rev. W. Squire. The arrows of God stuck fast in him. The conflict was fierce between the powers of darkness and the Spirit of God. He horrified the Hon. James Ferrier by giving expression to some infidel views while kneeling at a penitent bench. For six weeks he presented himself for prayer. The now sainted Dr. Slade Robinson, well known in Toronto, encouraged him to expect deliverance, while others less hopeful feared that some mental peculiarity would prevent his finding mercy. At last the light came—Mr. James Ferrier, then Mr. James Ferrier, jr., remembers still the glow of heavenly light that shone on his countenance when after the severe storm there was a great calm. Immediately after he was enlisted in tract distributing, Sunday school teaching and exhorting. That he was called of God many observed before the conviction came to his own heart. Desire for a full theological training resulted in his finding his way to the Wesleyan Theological College, Richmond, Eng., in 1848. His entrance examination indicated so thorough an acquaintance with the doctrines and discipline of our church that he was after two years' residence sent to the West Indies for missionary service. His station was Bermuda in 1850. Greatly did he enjoy the toils, privations and perils of negro work. In after years he loved to refer to the deep piety and affectionate offices of the colored people. He was here enabled to be of good service to Her Majesty's troops, notably the Scotch regiment "The Black Watch," to whom he acted as military chaplain. But the tropical climate told upon his system. The disease from which he suffered for 40 years commenced its slow insidious approach and he was compelled to leave the West Indies. When unable to preach he gave himself to the study of medicine in Montreal, and in a measure re invigorated his system by long walks along Sherbrooke St. on cold winter days. With improved health he again entered the itinerant work and Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, Montreal furnished many souls to prove the faithfulness and fruitfulness of his apostolic labors. Mighty was he in the scripture, mighty in the pulpit, very hard working in his preparation and as devoted to his pastoral work as if by that alone he expected to accomplish success. Appreciated as a public speaker he nobly represented his church and the country of his adoption in the most prominent cities of the United States and in the old country, and no grand movement such as the Evangelical Alliance, the Young People's Christian Association, the Deaconesses service, the White Cross work, temperance work and Christian Endeavor ever appealed in vain for his powerful assistance. Devout, skilled and successful preachers of the gospel in Canada, the States and even in foreign fields attest his unquestioned success as a teacher of homiletics and Principal of the Montreal Theological College. Honored and dearly beloved by his brethren, all the chief places in his church's gift were at various times apportioned to him. As chairman of the District, co delegate to the English Conference, representative to the General Conference of the United States, President of Conference, President of General Conference, he served the brethren without stint of labor, and often at exceeding personal inconvenience, and how greatly his brethren are indebted to his noble daughters and more than noble wife, only his personal friends can appreciate. A mighty will, almost indomitable energy, loving care of dear ones, and the Grace of God kept him up to the end. He died in the harness. Calmly and peacefully on Saturday after noon, the 10th Feb, 1894, the weary wheels of life stood still. Not to him, but to loved ones about him were read a few passages of the word of God, which had been his solace and strength. Prayer was offered by the Rev. John B. Clarkson and the Rev. Wm. Hall and "at even time there was light." As the heart ceased to pulsate and evidence was clear that the spirit had already departed, the triumphant words of the Doxology were heard, "Now unto the King, eternal, immortal, invisible, the only true God be glory and dominion for ever and ever Amen."

OTHER CHURCHES.

Rev. Mr. Leitch, of Montreal, conducted the service in John st. Presbyterian church in the morning, and preached an eloquent sermon on Evangelistic Work in Lower Canada, and Rev. Mr. Marshall, of the Baptist church, occupied the pulpit very acceptably in the evening. The choir sang two anthems, "Hear us, O Father," and Woodward's "The Sun shall no more be thy light by day," in which Mrs. C. Strom took the solo in fine form. At the conclusion of the service Mr. Brignall formally bade adieu to the choir, of which he has been leader for some years, and with which he has been connected over twenty years.

Rev. M. W. Maclean, the minister of St. Andrew's, preached yesterday morning upon the deep sympathy and lessons expressed in the text "Jesus Wept." In the evening he continued he continued the series of lectures on the bible and the critics by taking up the subject of The Flood, basing his remarks upon Genesis 6: 8–9, and pointing out the difference between the monotheistic account of the Hebrews and the polytheistic and inferior yet confirmatory accounts given by the records of other ancient nations. Large congregations evince the interest taken in these subjects. This evening Tennyson's Dream of Fair Women will be given in the lecture room by a number of ladies assisted by Mr. Flint and with an appropriate musical programme.

Yesterday was missionary Sunday in St. John's church and special addresses were delivered by Rev. F. E. Woodcock, of Camden East in the morning and Rev. Arthur Jarvis, of Napanee, in the evening. The congregations were large at both services and the sermons were highly interesting.

In St. Thomas church yesterday Rev. Mr Powell preached in the morning and Rev. Canon Burke in the evening.

Rev. E. N. Baker exchanged pulpits with Rev. D. C. Crossley yesterday morning. Rev. Mr. Baker preached a missionary sermon in the Tabernacle from Matthew, 28th chap. 19–20 verses. Rev. Mr. Crossley occupied his pulpit in the evening.

Rev. T. J. Edmison, B.A., B.D., preached in the interest of the general mission fund at both services in Holloway street church yesterday.

Missionary services were conducted in Christ Church yesterday. Rev. A. Jarvis, rector of Napanee, preached an eloquent sermon in the morning. The pulpit was occupied in the evening by Rev. Mr. Woodcock, of Camden East.

A Dream of Fair Women To-night

At St. Andrew's Church lecture room to-night Tennyson's celebrated dream story will be presented, the narrative being read by Mr. Flint and the parts being spoken and sung by the ladies to whom they have assigned, who will appear in costumes historically correct. A musical programme will also be given and a rare pleasure may be anticipated. The following is a list of those who are to take part : Messrs. Flint and Frank Lewis ; the Misses Elliott, Kathleen Bell, Mabel Wilson, Bell, Biggar, Pearl Brown, Jessie Hay and Eva Kent, Mrs. W. Heber Compbell, Mrs. A. A. Campbell, Mrs. T. Duncan, Mrs. A. D. Walker and Mrs. Lyons Biggar,—a galaxy of talent. Admission 15 cents.

Children's Clothing Complete.

The Oak Hall stock of children's and boys' short pant suits for spring is already complete. Parents wanting suits for their boys can now have choice of all new goods. Remember we have control of Sanford's clothing. We sell it at the price of ordinary made goods, notwithstanding they are worth $1,00 more a suit.

Carnival.

The last carnival of the season will be held at the skating rink on Tuesday eve, Feb. 27th. 1st prize, (lady) best costume, $3,00; 2nd prize, (lady) most original costume, $2.00; 1st prize, (gentleman) best costume, $3,00: 2nd prize, (gen'l man) most original costume, $2 00. Admission 25 cents, ticket holders, whether in costume or not, 15cts. Band in attendance.

Recovering.

A gentleman who called on Rev. J. S. Clarke at Brighton on Saturday informs us that he found him performing a wedding ceremony. Mr. Clarke has been over taxed, and his ailment was heart failure, owing to that cause. He will not resume his pulpit ministrations before conference.

MONTEAGLE.

MONTEAGLE, Feb. 20th.

Monteagle, situated in the northern part of Hastings, is a fine agricultural township and ranks first in this respect of any north of Rawdon. Thirty years ago it was an unbroken forest; but its vast hard-wood bush attracted many young and industrious men, principally from Renfrew County, who were in search of new homes. These men have now from one hundred to two hundred acres under cultivation and still have land to clear. Though thirty five miles from the nearest station (Rathbun) they have not been timid in starting the cheese industry, driving their produce to Rathbun, and five years trial has proved an inducement for an extension of this work. This district is among the best for grazing, consequently a large number of cattle are kept, and these of no inferior stock, for during the last twelve years several thoroughbreds, including Holsteins, Durhams and Jerseys have been brought in from Rawdon, Tyendinaga, Markham and other places. The want of a railway is now more keenly felt since lumbering work now consumes very little of the farm produce; yet there are even here several farms worked mainly by machinery of all sorts from the turnip cultivator to the selfbinder. Of the latter several are in use and prove a decided success. Education, though not justly valued, is comparatively well looked after, and now experienced teachers are more called for. The teachers of North Hastings labor under many disadvantages, not being able to share in the yearly conventions held in the front for the benefit of public schools and all look forward to a help in this direction. Monteagle Valley school have now employed their third teacher from S.S. No. 17, Rawdon, all being pupils of Miss E. Harkins during her three years' term from 79 to 81 inclusive, the first being Miss M. A. Todd—1881; second, Miss Agnes Linn—1887; third, G. A. Jordison—1894.—The Patrons of Industry are an enthusiastic band here and are pushing their work.—F. E. Jordison leaves on Thursday for Belleville, where he intends taking a four months' course in Ontario Business College.—Mr. Robt. Bartlett has a pair of young pigeons now, they being hatched and cared for in an old barn loft, and are a thriving pair at present.

SPORTING NEWS

The Athletic hockey team, of Kingston, will play a game with the Y. M. C. A. team here on Thursday commencing at 3 p. m. sharp. This will be one of the best games of the season, as the Athletics are a strong team and the local team are determined to win.

The Mutes and Y. M. C. A. play a practice match to-night.

For Children and Adults.

DR. LOW'S Worm Syrup cures worms of all kinds in children or adults. It contains no injurious ingredients. Price 25c.

Spring Time Coming.

Before the advent of spring the system should be thoroughly cleansed and purified by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, which purifies the blood and cures dyspepsia, constipation, headache, liver complaint, etc.

Life has no pleasure higher or nobler than that of friendship.

Out of Sorts—Symptoms, Headache, loss of appetite, furred tongue, and general indisposition. These symptoms if neglected, develop into acute disease. It is a trite saying that an "once of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and a little attention at this point may save months of sickness and large Docter's bills. For this complaint take from two to three of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills on going to bed, and one or two for three nights in succession, and a cure will be effected.

Nothing which has life for its basis can boast much stability.

Ease by day and repose by night are enjoyed by those who are wise enough to apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to their aching muscles and joints. A quantity easily held in the palm of the hand is often enough to relieve the most exquisite pain.

Every hand adds to the happiness or misery of mankind.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

We must snatch the present moment, and employ it well.

Pleasant as syrup; nothing equals it as a worm medicine; the name is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. The greatest worm destroyer of the age.

ON SHROVE-TUESDAY.

BY

KATE M. CLEARY.

"Oh, did you see how swift it came,
How swift it came like sudden flame,
That smile to me, to only me,
The little lass who blushed to see?"
NORA PERRY.

Bessie Milward had thrust the last jeweled pin in the elaborate coiffure of Miss Havemeyer, clasped the clumsily set old necklace of diamonds, which was an heirloom in the Havemeyer family, around the rather scrawny neck presented for its reception, and now drew back with a little sigh of relief that her task was finished.

It was the evening of Shrove-Tuesday, and Miss Hilda Havemeyer was arrayed for the Mardi Gras ball.

'How do I look?' she asked anxiously of Bessie.

'Dazzling!' replied Bessie.

The one word of reply was accuracy itself. Hilda did look dazzling, simply that. She rose with a satisfied smile, and regarded herself in the full length mirror that stood between the lace draped window. The reflection therein was that of a tall, erect, well-preserved woman of forty, attired with a youthfulness of shade and style that detracted not a little from the dignity which should have given her years a charm of their own. Her gown of pure white silk might have been worn more suitably by a girl graduate or a debutante. It contrasted quite unkindly with the portion of brown skinned arm, visible between the glove and shoulder puff. She had once been handsome. Her features were regular. But a certain rigidity now characterized them, and the lines about the corners of the mouth and eyes were becoming distinct. Her complexion had been artistically applied, but not so artistically that the art was quite concealed. The studied simplicity of her dress was belied by the profusion of jewelry she wore. Bracelets, chains, sprays, brooches, all adorned her person. Indeed, it would seem that not one of the famous Havemeyer jewels could have been left within the old silver jewel-case. The pink bloom of her cheeks, the brilliance of her gems, the snowiness of her gown, the glowing crimson of the great bunch of roses she carried, all combined, had induced Bessie's pertinent criticism.

'I do look well,' she said, with satisfaction, 'and Harry, dear Harry, always liked to see me in white.'

Bessie winced. She remembered when her parents were living, and her father a man of weath and position, that handsome Henry Lounsberry was a frequent visitor at their house. He was a distant, a very distant cousin of hers, and he was also of Hilda Havemeyer. Indeed, the name of a relationship had been retained more as a matter of courtesy than that it was authorized by kinship. He was much older than Bessie Milward, and, by the way several years younger than Hilda Havemeyer. As a sensitive and emotional child Bessie had regarded him as a veritable hero. Why, it would be hard to tell, unless for the womanly and illogical reason that some one must be adored. She blushed now, recalling her admiration, and remembering the incense of homage she had given him.

'I think I hear carriage-wheels,' she said. Miss Havemeyer put her hand to her heart and caught her breath with an affectation of most delicious embarrassment.

'I cannot meet him—yet. Except for our brief interview the other day, when he invited me to the Mardi-Gras ball, I have not seen him since he went to India, five years ago. Go down, like a good child, and keep him in talk till I come.'

'I? Oh, no!' protested Bessie.

Hilda turned on her quite a blank and incredulous stare.

'Why not?' she demanded.

Bessie crimsoned. Why not indeed?

'You remember him, of course,' said Hilda. 'If I do not mistake he used to visit your father frequently.'

'Yes,' answered Bessie, vaguely.

She was forgetting her position, she told herself, bitterly. She was paid to do what she was told. She was only a dressmaker, who went out by the day's work. Her cousin, it is true, never acknowledged the relationship before her household, and paid her no more than an ordinary charge; but Bessie made herself useful whenever her services were needed, and played maid on occasions like the present, with a dexterity and a skill which Hilda, if she did not requite, inwardly recognized and appreciated.

'Go down, then. I am afraid my complexion is a shade too—too healthy. A pretty pallor is considered in better taste nowadays. Don't you think so?'

'No!' responded Bessie, quickly, 'I don't!'

But Miss Havemeyer was anxiously busy with the powder-puff. When she laid it down, she took up her gloves.

'I declare,' impatently, 'I always forget this awkward ring!' She hastily drew the bauble in question from her finger, and put it on the malachite slab of her dressing-case. Bessie took it up and slipped it admiringly on one of her slim, white little fingers. She turned her hand so that the stone, a large blue sapphire, would catch the light and sparkle. How delightful it was to be rich like her cousin Hilda, and possess such exquisite things! If she were only rich again! But oh, the tiresome routine of cutting, basting and sewing! She grew so utterably tired of it all. In her reverie she quite forgot the errand assigned to her. Miss Havemeyer's sharp and angry voice recalled her to herself.

'Have you forgotten I told you to go down and entertain Mr. Lounsberry, while I am getting these horrid tight gloves on?' she demanded.

Bessie Milward slipped off the ring, laid it down, turned, and went out of the room and down the thickly carpeted and softly lit stairway. The gentleman in full evening dress, sitting in the long, luxurious drawing-room, rose as she glided in. It was with an expression deferential but bewildered that he faced her. When and where had he seen her before, this slender little lady, gowned softly as a thrush, with the pale sweet face and great, timid brown eyes, and soft, dark hair, and gentle, sensitive rose-lips?

Suddenly he remembered. He strode accross the room. He held out his hand.

The voice, the words, the kind, grave, lofty, unforgotten face momentarily wrecked her self-control. Her mouth trembled. For just a moment something hot and blinding shut him out from her. Then in a few minutes, they were talking away quite rapidly and gayly. Many memories they had in common. And those that were merry came uppermost. When Hilda sailed into the room, observed their evident friendliness and heard their spontaneous laughter, a steely flash widened suddenly those pale blue eyes of hers. How young Henry Lounsberry looked! Well, no one could call him old. He was at least five or six years her junior. And a man who spends much of his life in travel and in contact with all that the best of society and art retains his youth wonderfully.

'I shall see you again,' he said to Bessie, as he took Miss Havemeyer's wrap and bouquet. 'Of course, you live here with your cousin.'

Bess smiled, a queer, faint little smile, that expressed a great deal.

'No,' she replied. 'I work here occasionally. I go out sewing for a living.'

'What!' he cried.

He looked inexpressibly shocked.

In that moment, Hilda Havemeyer bitterly regetted having made her pretty cousin useful in entertaining her guest.

'We shall be late, I fear,' she remarked, at the same time sending a scorching glance toward Bessie. 'Come, Henry.' And she turned away.

With a few low-murmured words to Bessie, he followed her.

Bessie went up to Miss Havemeyer's room, where she had left her hat and cloak! A feminine figure standing by her dressing-case started as she entered.

'Oh, how you scared me, Miss Milward. I thought you were Miss Havemeyer.'

And the housemaid withdrew her hand from her pocket, wherein she had hastily thrust it on being disturbed.

'Only I, Teresa. Have you seen my hat and wrap? Thank you.'

Ten minutes later, she was out in the street, and walking toward the corner where she was to take her car. The spring night was bright, clear, and almost warm. She felt no sensation of fear. But she had had a tiresome day, and by the time she reached the home of the old nurse with whom she boarded, she was looking very white, weak and dragged.

'You are tired, dearie,' Mrs. Burnam said. 'This life is too hard for you.'

For once Bessie's bravery failed her. She broke down in passionate, womanish crying.

'Yes, it is too hard,' she said. But the next day she was her own bright, busy self again. All day long she worked on a dress she was remodeling for Miss Havemeyer, and that evening she took it home. She rang the basement bell. Teresa, who opened the door, stared at her in a frightened, half resentful way she did not understand. She nodded pleasantly and went on up the stairs, intending to carry her parcel straight to the room of the mistress of the house. As she passed the portiered library, however, voices, and the sound of her own name, brought her to a standstill.

'It does seem almost incredible,' Hilda's smooth accents ran on, 'that with her birth and breeding, Bessie Milward should be a thief! But she was the only one in my room after I left last night. Just before she came down to speak to you she put on the ring, and was evidently admiring it very much. Though I have made and have had made the most thorough search, I have failed to see or hear of it since. Bessie must have stolen it!'

That was all and more than Bessie could stand. She dropped the bundle from her arms. She thrust aside the portieres. She flung into the room. Rose red with wrath from brow to chin, she faced the occupants of the library.

'I a thief!' she panted. 'I!'

There was a moment of embarrassment, of the most painful silence. Then Harry Lounsberry crossed swiftly to Bessie's side.

'No!' he said, in a low, intense voice. 'The very idea is monstrous. Dear little girl, no!'

His impassioned defence went straight to her heart. All the indignant color faded from her face. She went white as death,

'Who else was there to take it?' in fierce, quivering tones questioned Hilda Havemeyer. 'Who else?

'Me!' quavered the timid voice of one who had followed Bessie up the stairs, and had since been crouching in conscience-stricken terror without. 'Me!'

'Teresa!'

'It was this way, miss. Seein' as how it was Shrove-Tuesday night, me an' the cook an' the coachman had a few friends in for a bite of supper an' some fun. An' cook she was makin' pancakes an' puttin' a ring to see which of us would be married inside a year. An' I lent her the ring to use that the undertaker's young man gave me. miss. An' cook—she says: 'He'll think you've give' the ring away, when he notices you ain't got it on'—meaning Theophrastus, miss. An' I says: 'I'll make him think I've took up with another gentleman,' I says. 'I'll get the ring mistress never wears when she has gloves on, an' make believe to Theophrastus that I got it from a rival.' An' I did. An' we had pancakes; an' the stone cum out of the ring in the pancakes, and Theophrastus he got the ring an' I got the stone. An' then he knowed his ring an' that I was only foolin,' An' we had a lot of laughin' an' a dance. An' I lost your ring!'

'Yes'm. It must have flew off my finger. But I'll find it, I will, or, if I don't, I'll buy you another!'

This assertion was so absurd in view of the value of that trinket in question that Lounsberry roared out laughing.

The outcome of the affair was that Bessie took an indignant departure; that Teresa was dismissed in disgrace, and that Mr. Lounsberry paid no more visits to Miss Havemeyer. One day, several weeks later, Bessie received a note from Hilda.

'DEAR BESSIE: It seems that horrid girl told the truth, for cook found my ring under the refrigerator to-day, where it must have rolled. I have half a dozen new dresses to make, and no one fits me as you do. I wish you would come and see about them. Yours sincerely,

"HILDA HAVEMEYER."

This was Bessie's note in reply:

"DEAR MISS HAVEMEYER; I am sorry I cannot oblige you, but I am so busy with my trousseau. I am to marry Harry Lounsberry on the twentieth. We shall spend a few years in Europe. You must be delighted at the recovery of your ring. Sincerely yours,

"BESSIE MILWARD."

The Modern Invalid

He tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician; constipated he uses the gentle family laxative, Syrup of Figs.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you got it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

Have you Asthma?

Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., will mail a trial package of "Schiffmann's Asthma Cure," free to any sufferer. He advertises by giving it away. Never fails to give instant relief in worst cases and cures where others fail. Name this paper and send address for a free trial package.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Pictures.

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

Highly Praised.

GENTEMEN,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, sprains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. I have recommended it to many friends and they also speak highly of it.

MRS HIGHT, Montreal, Que.

If there was no cowardice there would be little insolence.

In his VEGETABLE PILLS, Dr. Parmelee has given to the world the fruits of long scientific research in the whole realm of medical science, combined with new and valuable discoveries never before known to man. For Delicate and Debilitated Constitutions Parmelee's Pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

The brighest sunshine of success is not without a cloud.

Cured his Boils in one Week.

DEAR SIRS,—I was covered with pimples and small boils, until one Sunday I was given ½ of a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters by the use of which the sores were sent flying in about one week's time.

FRED. CARTER, Haney, B. C.

I can answer for the truth of the above.

T. C. CHRISTIAN, Haney, B. C.

"Is that piece of bric-a-brac all your rich relatives left you?" inquired the visitor "Yes, sir," sighed the poor relation; "my vase is my fortune."

Excellent Remedy.

GENTLEMEN,—We have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our house for over three years and find it an excellent remedy for all forms of coughs and colds. In throat and lung troubles it affords instant relief.

Only the Scars Remain.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc.," writes HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., "none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

BOILED IN A COPPER KETTLE

Farmers Partake of Poisoned Meats at a Country Sale.

TWO DEAD AND MANY VERY SICK.

A Copper Kettle Was Used in which to Boil the Meat Which Was Allowed to Stand Over Night—Two Hundred and Fifty Farmers Sit Down to the Sickening Repast.

SOMERSET, Pa, Feb. 27.—Two farmers are dead, ten or twelve are seriously sick and fifty more are suffering from the effects of eating poisoned meat at a sale held February 22, in Quemahoning township. Jeremiah Ringler, a prominent citizen of Quemahoning township, died yesterday morning and Alex Rhodes a leading farmer of Jenner township is reported to have died during the day.

Last Thursday a public sale took place at Wm. Holder's in Janner township. As is the custom on such occasions a lunch was prepared the day before. Among other articles of food prepared was a lot of beef that was cooked in a copper kettle and stood in the vessel over night. About 250 people attended the sale and most of them partook of the beef. Shortly after eating a large number became violently ill.

A rumor reached here last night that at least ten or twelve other residents of Jenner and Quemahoning townships cannot recover.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

French Fisheries at Newfoundland—Lords and Commons in Accord.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—In the House of Commons last evening Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, called attention to the official journal of St. Pierre, Miquelon, directing French fishermen wishing to fish on the French shore to register for fixed places on the coast. He also called attention to a newspaper statement that France was going to improve the position of the fishermen assuring them fixed places on shore. Concerning questions whether the treaty rights of France were confined to the drying on shore of fish caught by Frenchmen of French vessels; whether the proposal to bring fishermen ashore did not constitute a breach of treaty and whether it was not contrary to treaty for the French to live or stand on shore, the Government held that the thirteen articles of the Utrecht convention limited the rights of France to the erection of stages made of boards and huts for drying fish. It was a question, therefore, whether the proposed French arrangement was consistent with existing treaties. The Colonial Government had stated that while they had no intention of levying a duty of goods brought by French citizens in fishing boats solely for the sustenance of the crew during the season or for the purpose of drying fish, they intend in future to exercise the right of requiring vessels entering Newfoundland ports to conform to the customs of the colony, and will collect duties on all goods imported for whatever purpose. This decision had commenced with France and there was no ground upon which to interfere with the Colonial Government's exercise of its right (cries of "Here, here.")

A division was taken on the Lords amendment to the parish councils bill, enabling parishes of from 200 to 500 inhabitants to dispense with parish councils, and it was rejected by 212 to 161.

The amendment which provided that parish councils might choose but a third of the trustees of local charities was taken up. Joseph Chamberlain, supported by Arthur J. Balfour, averted a conflict on this point by moving a compromise to which the House ultimately agreed. This compromise was embodied in the optional (not obligatory) provision that the majority of the trustees of the local charities should be nominated by the British Council. The Government accepted this compromise without hesitation.

The amendment to vest in the county council the control of the compulsory purchase of allotments under the Allotment Act and the hiring of land was agreed to.

The concession thus made by the Commons virtually completes the accord between the Houses. The sitting was adjourned until Thursday, when Parliament will be prorogued.

Premier Crispi, of Italy, Thought He Was Called a Liar.

ROME, Feb. 27.—An exciting incident occurred in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, which at one stage promised to lead to a personal encounter.

Signor Imbriani interpellated the Government on the Porate incident, in which he declared that the soldiers had needlessly and without provocation fired upon the crowd. Premier Crispi denied this, saying that the best sources of information agreed that the soldiers were attacked and that they only fired in self-defence. Signor Imbriani violently disputed the Premier's assertion and reiterated his former statement, throwing the blame on the soldiers. Premier Crispi, thinking that he heard the word "liar" from the lips of Signor Imbriani, interrupted him and cried, "I can only protest here, but outside of the Chamber I will answer you."

Signor Imbriani denied having used the offensive word, saying he had only charged that lying information had been sent to the Minister.

They Hissed Jane Hading.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—It is hardly surprising that Paris should be the scene of one of the most remarkable demonstrations of recent days. In spite of warnings and public protests, Carvalho, the director of the Opera Comique, selected Mlle. Jane Hading for the principal part of Phryne in Saint-Saens' opera of that name. Mlle. Hading has a good voice, but her fame in Paris comes not from the stage. When she made her appearance a wild chorus of whistling, hisses and cat-calls came from all parts of the house. A shower of dead rabbits, fish, cabbages, eggs and vegetables poured upon the stage from across the footlights. One woman, a countess, openly declared that "she took my husband and spent my fortune; no one shall prevent me from hissing her off the stage." The storm was renewed as soon as she reappeared. A woman in one of the boxes and the men in the stalls seemed to have a perfect arsenal of cabbages, turnips and other missiles. Mlle. Hading will not continue her career as an operatic star in Paris at present.

Verdict of Suicide.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The coroner's jury inquiring into the death of the anarchist Martial Bourdin, who was killed by the explosion of a bomb in Greenwich park on the night of February 15, returned a verdict of suicide.

THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

An Inquisitive Opposition Causes Uneasiness in the Government Ranks.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—The session of the House did not last long yesterday, but business which will greatly interest Dr. P. H. Bryce, of the Public Health Board, was transacted. Two years ago Mr. G. A. Dorian retired from the service of the Government. He was employed as a clerk under Dr. Bryce. He made serious charges against the doctor and demanded an investigation. For two years no attention has been paid to his demand, though it is said that he offered some very convincing proofs of his charge.

Dr. Ryerson set the ball rolling yesterday by asking if a commission had been appointed to inquire into the charges.

Mr. Harcourt answered that Mr. Fleming, inspector of legal offices, had been appointed to be commissioner.

This did not seem to please the Opposition. Later in the day Mr. Harcourt informed the House that the Government had decided to add Dr. Rae to the commission.

The following new bills were introduced and read a first time:

Hon. Mr. Ross—An Act respecting Upper Canada College.

Hon. Mr. Gibson—An Act respecting mortgages and sales of personal property.

Sir Oliver Mowat—Respecting councils of conciliation and arbitration for settling industrial disputes.

Mr. Balfour—To prevent the taking of natural gas from the ground or forcing it from the ground by any other means than the natural flow.

Mr. Balfour moved for a return showing the number of persons employed, temporarily or permanently, by the Government, in the service of the province on the 31st of December, 1893, together with their names, ages, nationality, religion, salary, occupation, place of residence and date of appointment; but not including mechanics, artisans, laborers or like employes, whose engagement or employment was of a merely temporary character. Also, a similar return as to all persons not included in the foregoing and who have been appointed by the Government to any permanent or temporary office or position under the crown, either for or within the province, or in, or for, or in respect of any county or any district or other locality in the province. Also, a similar return as to all sessional clerks now employed.

After considerable discussion it was decided that the return should include all employes for 1894 as well.

Mr. Meredith asked when it would be convenient for the Government to discuss his resolutions regarding the holding of biennial sessions of the Legislature and the granting of the ballot for separate schools.

Sir Oliver Mowat agreed to Wednesday week being fixed.

Mr. Balfour moved that the returns provided for by the orders of this House relating to the public service, passed on the 10th day of April and 19th day of May last, shall contain, in addition to the information for the year 1871 and 1892, provided for by the said orders, like information regarding the year 1873.

Mr. Meredith said the return was one ordered by the House last year on his motion, and the information desired was for the years 1871 and 1892. He did not know what was the object of having information with regard to 1873, or whether the present motion was likely to delay the bringing down of the previous return. He did not understand why the return he (Mr. Meredith) desired was not presented last session. The order was made six or seven weeks before the House prorogued, and at all events should have been down at this period of the present session. Possibly the object was that hon. gentlemen opposite might do, what apparently they were now desirous of doing, disclaim responsibility for what Mr. Blake's Government did in the first year after the formation of the Liberal Government under that gentleman's leadership.

Mr. Hardy contended that the return asked for would give the expenditure in the last year of the Sandfield Macdonald Government and the first full year of the present administration, so that instead of making a showing against the Blake Government it would tell, were comparison necessary, against the Government of Sir Oliver Mowat.

Mr. Preston moved for a return showing what amounts the Government had expended in connection with the binder twine industry at the Central Prison. How much for buildings, machinery, wages, etc.,

Mr. Gibson requested that the matter should stand over.

Mr. Meredith agreed and the matter rested.

Sir Oliver Mowat announced that the Provincial Treasurer was prepared to deliver his financial statement on Thursday next, but said that the public accounts would not be ready on that day.

Mr. Meredith objected to the speech being made until the accounts were at least two days in the hands of the members.

The matter was left unsettled.

Mr. Dryden said that the annual report of the Ontario College of Agriculture would be ready to-day.

Mr. Balfour's bill respecting natural gas has been prompted by the rumored attempt of a company to pump gas from Essex county to the city of Detroit, a like attempt to that threatened in Welland county. "The bill prohibits the use of pumps and compressors for the extraction of the natural gas faster than it would flow," said Mr. Balfour to a reporter. "We have larger wells in Essex county than they have in Welland, and a company has started putting in pumps, with the intention of building a pipe line to Windsor and Walkerville, and obviously over to Detroit. The supply carried to that city from the Ohio and Indiana wells is rapidly becoming exhausted. The use of these compressors, it is claimed, creates a vacuum in the wells, which prevents the further accumulation of more gas, and fields which would last 12 or 15 years would by their use be exhausted in four or five."

The main features in the bill introduced by the Hon. G. W. Ross respecting Upper Canada College is a provision for the election of four of its trustees by the "old boys" of the college. This provision, Mr. Ross says, if it passes, will have the effect of placing in the hands of the trustees, more fully than heretofore, the management of the college. At present the board is composed of nine members, of whom five are appointed by the Ontario Government. Hon. Mr. Ross' bill also provides that all recommendations for appointment on the staff of the college shall be made by the trustees.

Hon. Mr. Gibson's bill respecting mortgages and sales of personal property is a general revision of the statute on these subjects.

Patrons Nominate a Reformer.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 27.—The Patrons of Industry of North Brant held a convention at Cainsville yesterday. There was a large attendance present. S. G. Kitchen, Reformer, of St. George, was nominated as their standard-bearer for the Ontario House.

ACCIDENTAL EXPLOSION OF A SHELL

Carried in the Hands of One of His Own Men, Blows Up a Magazine and Tears a Hole in the Side of the Vessel—The Careless Sailor Instantly Killed.

MONTEVIDEO, Feb. 27.—A despatch from Rio de Janeiro, dated Feb. 23, states that the insurgent steamer Venus was off Engenho Island on that morning bombarding the government fort at Madama Point. Her ammunition was stored in a magazine constructed with bags of sugar piled high from the floor and about seven feet thick on every side. A sailor who was taking a shell from the magazine dropped it on the floor. The shell exploded and the magazine was blown up. The sailor who dropped the shell was instantly killed and several other men were injured. Everything near the magazine was wrecked and a hole was torn in the side of the vessel. She began filling at once, rolling slowly to starboard, and soon afterwards went to the bottom. The crew was saved by the small boats from the insurgent steamer Jupiter.

Confessed to Other Murders.

SING SING, Feb. 27.—Matthew Johnson, who died in the electric chair yesterday for the murder of Emil Kukelhorn, of New York, in December last, admitted a day or two ago that he had committed two other murders for which he was never tried, nor so far as he knew even suspected. He said that some twelve years ago he was intimate with a married woman named Lizzie Frazer at Key West, Fla., and on one of his visits to her, during the absence of her husband, he wished to get her ten year-old daughter out of the way. He accordingly took her a few yards away from the home to the dock and pushed her into the water. The girl was drowned. He left Key West and went to a place on the west coast of Florida, called Chokoliska. While there he worked as charcoal burner. He got into a quarrel over a woman with Samuel Kellogg, another charcoal burner, and killed him. He then came north and never heard of the Florida murders again.

After Chief Fodisilah.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Government is in receipt of despatches from Rear-Admiral Bedford at Bathurst reporting the renewal of the operations against Chief Fodisilah. Another expedition, composed of 100 soldiers with a field gun, destroyed the stockades surrounding the villages of Sukutta and Eusamballa with only slight resistance on the part of the natives, and without any casualities to the British force. The expedition returned to Bathurst leaving a guard outlying British at Combo pending the arrival of reinforcements.

London's Missing Man.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Thomas Draper, the London West market gardener, who left home last week without saying where he was going, has not yet returned and no word has been received as to his whereabouts. While they consider his departure a strange one, his relatives do not fear that he has met with any mishap. Matthias Cannon, the missing South Londoner, has not returned, and fear is expressed that he will not return alive. The opinion prevails that Cannon has been drowned in the Thames above Hunt's dam.

Not So Serious a Disaster.

LONDON, Feb. 27—Later despatches from Port Louis show that the effects of the cyclone which passed over the Island of Mauritius last Thursday were not as disastrous as at first reported. A passenger train consisting of an engine and nine cars was blown from the Port Louis bridge into the river and five passengers were killed and ten injured. All of those killed were employes of the Midland railway.

After President Vasquez's Blood.

LA LIBERTAD, Salvador, Feb. 27.—Orders have been sent by Gen. Pelicarpe Bonilla, who is now supreme in Honduras, to all his forces and to all officials of the overturned government, to pursue the conquered President, Vasquez. Escape seems almost impossible, and Bonilla declares he will have Vasquez shot to death.

Another French Duel.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—A duel was fought yesterday between M. Papillard, a writer on the Libre Parole, and Gustav-Adolphe Hubbard, member of the Chamber of Deputies for Seine-et-Oise, in which the latter was wounded. The duel was caused by an article written by Papillard reflecting on Hubbard.

Interstate Commerce Law.

MEXICO, Feb. 27.—Congressman W. L. Wilson's condition is unchanged. His physicians say he is as comfortable as could be expected at the present stage of the disease.

Wiman Pleads Not Guilty.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Erastus Wiman was arraigned before Judge Martine yesterday and pleaded not guilty to the indictments found against him. He is still at liberty on the bail furnished Saturday.

No Sign of the Entombed Miners.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 27.—This is the 13th day and not a sign has yet been discovered of the thirteen victims in the Gaylord mine at Plymouth.

Will There be Change of Venue?

THREE RIVERS, Que., Feb. 27.—Officials of the court here say they have no instructions yet as to the change of venue in the Hooper affair. The report that he was to be removed to Montreal is unfounded. The only basis for such a supposition was that the prisoner received a letter from Mr. Renaud, advocate, of Montreal, intimating that he hoped to be successful in obtaining the trial at Montreal.

Conservatives Nominated.

SHARBOT LAKE, Feb. 27.—The Conservative convention of the riding of Addington assembled here yesterday for the purpose of nominating candidates for both the Dominion and Ontario Parliaments. Mr. J. W. Bell, of Campden, was nominated for the Dominion and James Reid, of Campden, the present member, received the nomination for the Local House.

They Lynched Slaughter.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A special from Raleigh, N.C., says: Daniel Slaughter, of Carroll county, who stabbed two men to death and cut the bride at a wedding in Alleghany county, in this state, two weeks ago, was taken by a mob from the jail in Sparta Saturday night and lynched.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 27, 1894.

Local stocks are active and strong.

Oats are firm. Car lots are quoted at 33c to 34c outside and at 37c on track.

Wheat is unchanged, with white and red held at 57c west. Spring unchanged at 60 to 61c on Midland. No. 1 Manitoba hard quoted at 74c to 75c west and at 76c east.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Receipts of grain small. Wheat unchanged, 100 bushels selling at 62c for white, at 61c for red and at 58c for goose. Barley steady, 200 bushels selling at 45c. Oats firm, 100 bushels selling at 41½c. One load of peas sold at 41½c.

New York long stock came out of Distillers. Union Pacific officials believe the low point in earnings has been reached. There is a feeling that everybody will be better off after the Senate Committee report has been made.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

Democratic Senators Still Grappling With the Tariff Question.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Democratic Senators met in conference yesterday morning and afternoon without reaching a positive conclusion in any matter connected with the tariff bill. They did, however, take a long stride in the direction of getting together, and it is probable that at the meeting to-day much progress will be made.

The discussion was on general lines and was freely participated in. No proposition of any sort was put to the conference, and no vote was taken, but before the bill is laid before the Finance Committee every disputed schedule will be disposed of and action taken that will ensure the united support of the party.

Sugar, as it has been in the past, was a bone of contention, and while the committee has gone some distance to meet the sugar men they have not, as those senators look at it, gone far enough.

It is definitely settled that coal will have a duty of 50c a ton. A number of other changes have also been made by transfers from the free to the dutiable list of such articles as will yield revenue. Among them may be mentioned apples, green and ripe, dried and evaporated; pineapples, dates, cocoanuts, olives, green or prepared.

It is thought that it will be impossible to go over the whole bill before to-morrow afternoon.

World's Skating Records Broken.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—J. S. Johnson, of Minneapolis, the champion skater, succeeded in breaking another of the world's records here yesterday. The quarter-mile track was in fine condition and after some preliminaries Johnson started out on a ten mile spin against time. He succeeded in covering the distance in the unprecedented time of 31 minutes 11 1-5 seconds, lowering the record of 32 minutes 37 seconds, which was made by Smith the other day at St. Paul. Johnson's time is all the more remarkable from the fact that he made it entirely without the assistance of any "pacers." Norweldt, of St. Paul, lowered the world's record for the half mile professional, covering the distance in 1 minute 25 seconds. As the time in these trials are world's records the officials are here given: Time keepers, T. Z. Paton, J. A. Taplor and W. S. Weldon, scorers, D. J. Watson: starter, Louis Rubinstein.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont, writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY FEB. 27.

MUST BE CONDEMNED.

The Mowat Government has taken from the people a large part of the power which they formerly enjoyed, and which ought to be exercised by the municipalities. The tendency of modern government is to leave in the hands of the people control of their purely local affairs—to grant them that "ample measure of home rule" which can be exercised without interfering with the proper function of the provincial and Dominion legislatures. But the Mowat government acts in the opposite direction. It takes from the people powers which they formerly exercised with prudence and with benefit to themselves. It takes the control of the police from the people, virtually telling them that they are not wise enough or not virtuous enough to manage their own municipal business. It appoints county officers who ought to be chosen by the people; and in every case it turns the power it so usurps to serve party ends.

The Mowat Government has made the most shamefully corrupt bargains, and established the most odious monopolies ever made by any Government in modern times. By granting monopolies in school books to its political friends, it compels the people to pay prices heavy for books, and thus robs them of hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. There is not a family in the Province sending children to the public schools which is not plundered by this monopoly. It is unnecessary to say that the supporters of Separate schools will not permit Sir Oliver to tyrannize over them as he does over the supporters of the Public schools. He dare not give any monopoly in books for Separate schools to his party friends.

The Mowat Government has dissipated the surplus left by John Sandfield Macdonald; the timber resources of the province are being wasted, and the Government has been compelled to borrow money for current needs, besides imposing new and odious taxes upon the people. For its extravagance, the Mowat Government must be condemned.

Entertainment in St. Andrew's.

The entertainment at St. Andrew' church lecture room last evening was beyond doubt one of the finest of the season. Mrs. S. S. Lazier, President of the Association, occupied the chair and in a pleasant speech welcomed the large audience to the entertainment. The first part of the programme was music and singing and consisted of two songs from Mr. Lewis which, as usual with his singing, brought well merited applause and he very kindly responded to the encore.

Instrumental pieces were given by the Misses Elliott, Mrs. Campbell, Miss Wilson, Miss Kathleen Bell and Miss Chamberlain, which delighted the audience.

The second part of the entertainment consisted entirely of Tennyson's Dream of Fair Women. Mr. J. J. B. Flint read the poem and explained the different characters to the audience. Mr. Flint rendered the poem in a manner which few can approach, His elocution was perfect and his complete knowledge of the author was shown by the ease with which he did his part? But what could have been finer than the impersonation of the different characters by the ladies who took part. It would be impossible to say who acquitted themselves best, all were so good—the costumes so correct and the whole a scene which those who had the pleasure of seeing it will never forget. The following ladies took part: Miss Bell, Helen of Troy; Miss Biggar, Iphigenia; Mrs. T. Duncan, Cleopatra; Mrs. A. D. Walker, Jephthah's Daughter; Mrs. J. L. Biggar, Fair Rosamond; Miss Pearl Brown, Margaret Roper; Miss Robertson, Joan of Arc; Miss Kent, Queen Eleanor.

Death Bells.

For the Intelligencer.

A gloom has been cast over our vicinity this week by the death of Mrs. David Rose, of Rednerville, who passed away on the afternoon of Monday, Feb. 19th, after a short illness. The funeral service was conducted in the Rednerville Methodist church by our kind and sympathetic minister Rev. S. A. Duprau, who preached a very appropriate sermon from the 14th chapter and 22nd verse of Job—"Man cometh forth as a flower and is cut down." The funeral was largely attended by sorrowing friends At times the voice of the minister was scarcely audible above the weeping of the vast congregation. She will not only be missed in her home, where she was a devoted wife and mother, but throughout the vicinity, particularly in the church, of which she was a useful member. Young, beautiful and beloved by all. Of fairest flowers that come forth none was more fair than Jennie. Our Heavenly Father has taken her. She is gone. We will see her on earth no more. She is not dead, but gone into the suburbs of "the life elysian, whose portals we call death." She has gone through the gate, and now, robed in garments celestial, and wearing one of the brightest crowns, is singing with the angels around the great throne of the God she loved and served so faithfully. The floral gifts were numerous and beautiful, especially one from the Epworth League, of which she was for some time the honored President, by the members of which she was loved and respected as only one of her lovely character and virtues can be. The memory of her work and the pure, noble example she has set, will live in the hearts of all who knew her. The Rednerville Lodge C.O.O.F., of which Mr. Ross is a member, attended the funeral, and by kindness and a beautiful floral tribute, expressed their sympathy for the bereaved brother. The choir also added a beautiful floral wreath. After the services, the body of our beloved friend was interred in the Albury cemetery, there to await the resurrection day, when all will be called forth—but none can give a fairer account of stewardship than she. "The Lord giveth, and the Lord taketh away. Blessed be the name of the Lord."

A Model Store.

The store occupied by M. C. H. Vermilyea, but better known as the Oak Hall, is at present one of the most modern and elegantly appointed places of business in the city. Last fall Mr. Vermilyea had his show windows removed and double oblique windows set in their place, thereby giving him more outdoor space for the display of goods. The inside has just been renovated throughout. The second flat is nicely finished in natural wood, varnished, and is used as the overcoat department, and for surplus stock. Down stairs there are two rooms, one in the rear for children's clothing, and the other in front for the general retail trade. The front shop is a work of art, the decorating being simply exquisite. The walls and ceiling have been papered in white and gold, which is set off with a handsome blue and gold moulding on the side walls. The wood work has been painted a solid white, with gold and cherry relief. The interior is bright and refreshing, and speaks well for the enterprise of the proprietor.

Anniversary Services.

On Monday evening, the members of the church and congregation of the Baptist church held their annual gathering on the twenty first anniversary of the church. Tea was served in the vestry at 7 o'clock, after which the gathering repaired to the body of the church, where a sociable and pleasant evening was spent, interspersed with music and addresses by Rev. J. L. George, Rev. R. Marshall the pastor, and members of the church. Mrs. York gave one of her very pleasing original sketches, entitled "Dusky Norman," being one of a series entitled "Large hearts in small bodies," the spirit of which will not soon be forgotten. The proceedings were brought to a close about 10 o'clock, after which all retired, having passed a very enjoyable evening.

Worthy of Attention.

Mr. Walter Fanning says he has had several inquiries from horse dealers in the Eastern States, within a few days, for an ordinary class of drivers, "blocks" and general purpose horses. Of these, Mr. Fanning says, he can sell several car loads, but the horses must be in a good condition and well cared for. American buyers will not look at horses that have not been properly attended to. Let all interested govern themselves accordingly.

—By a boiler explosion in an iron foundry five miles south of St. Petersburg, 25 workmen were killed and 10 injured.

THERE IS NO ARTICLE IN THE LINE OF medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

—All the foundrymen of Cleveland, Ohio, have decided to close their shops until the moulders accept a reduction in wages.

People troubled with sick and nervous headaches will find a most efficacious remedy in Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They strengthen the stomach, stimulate the liver, restore healthy action to the digestive organs, and thus afford speedy and permanent relief.

—W. R. Meredith, Q.C., was appointed Corporation Counsel by the City Council of Toronto, at last evening's session.

An obedience to the simple laws of hygiene and the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will enable the most delicate man or sickly woman to pass in ease and safety from the icy atmosphere of February to the warm, moist days of April. It is the best of spring medicines.

You Can't Get Too Much

Of a good thing. This is eminently the case with Polson's Nerviline, and great pain cure. It is an honest remedy, for it contains the most powerful, the purest, and most certain pain subduing remedies known to medical science. It is honest, for it does all it claims to do. It is honest, for it is the best in the world. It only costs 25 cents to try it, and you can buy a bottle at any drug store. Nerviline cures toothache, neuralgia, pain in the back and side. All pains are promptly relieved by Polson's Nerviline.

A Railway Deal of Importance to Shipping Interests.

ERIE AND HURON CHANGES HANDS

And Will in Future be Operated by a Syndicate Composed of New York and Cleveland Capitalists—Shipments of Lumber and Coal, it is said, Will be Principally Affected.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—A railroad deal of vast importance to shipping interests has been consummated. It is the purchase of the Erie and Huron railway by a syndicate of New York and Cleveland capitalists.

The railway is in the Province of Ontario. It is 80 miles long and runs from Rondeau Harbor, Lake Erie, directly opposite Cleveland, to Sarnia, opposite Port Huron, on the St. Clair river. The road is crossed by all the trunk lines of Canada.

It was reported yesterday that the company had succeeded in floating bonds in the London market and a revolution may be seen within the next year in the shipments of lumber and coal. The company is figuring with the Cleveland Shipbuilding Company for the building of a steel transfer boat, capable of carrying 21 loaded cars and 600 passengers. This it is proposed to operate between Rondeau Harbor and the port of Cleveland. The distance is 55 miles. This will make a true line for lumber from Upper Michigan to Cleveland, via Port Huron and Rondeau. The Erie and Huron railway will be operated in connection with the transfer boats so that coal, merchandise and other freight can be transferred in the cars in bulk without change to the Province of Ontario, Michigan and the Northwest.

KIDNAPPED.

The Prince of Nouri's Startling Experience in California.

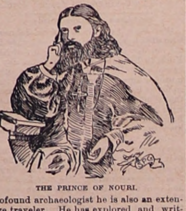
The Prince of Nouri, or Chaldean Patriarch, as he is also called, is still a young man, having been born February 7, 1865. Besides being a great linguist and profound archaeologist he is also an extensive traveler. He has explored and written much about the African countries south of Abyssinia. He arrived in San Francisco by way of Hawaii about eight months ago, and it was there that he made the acquaintance of the Rev. Dr. Easton. Dr. Easton was much impressed by the Patriarch's profound learning. He was, however, particularly interested in the Oriental prelate's magnificent collection of jewels and rare manuscripts, which are valued at at least $50,000.



THE PRINCE OF NOURI.

According to the story told by the Patriarch, he was approached shortly after his arrival in San Francisco by a man who professed the deepest interest in his manuscripts, and seemed to discover profound satisfaction in his society and conversation. This man won the Oriental entirely, so much so that the latter confided to him the immense value of his jewels, and spoke freely of the almost priceless character of his manuscripts. A number of persons were concerned in the abduction plot, but the man whom Dr. Joseph first met acted as manager, and it was he who chiefly succeeded in gaining his entire confidence. The conspirators had little difficulty, it appears, in persuading the Patriarch to accompany them on a night expedition to Napa City, Cal., where, it was alleged, there were some remains of a fossil nature which would greatly interest him. The kidnappers had made all their arrangements beforehand, so that there was little danger of any hitch. The Patriarch was conducted under cover of the night to an insane asylum in Napa City, and there was incarcerated as a violent lunatic. The conspirators then made off with the jewels and manuscripts, and it is charged made an equal division of the spoils.

The kidnapping was done so quietly that for a time not even the friends of Dr. Joseph felt any uneasiness over his sudden disappearance. They inferred that he had resumed his travels. By accident some friend learned that the distinguished churchman was confined in an insane asylum, and Professor Joseph Arbeely, president of the Greek Patriarchal College in Beyrouth, Syria, went to New York from California and consulted with his son about the matter. As a result of this Dr. Joseph's predicament was laid before Mavroyeni Bey, the Turkish Minister in Washington. The latter took action, at once, and about a month ago Dr. Joseph was released from the asylum and one of his kidnappers was arrested and locked up. He is now said to be in the Napa City jail awaiting trial for conspiracy and robbery. But while Dr. Joseph regained his liberty he was unable to get any trace of the missing jewels and manuscripts. He is hopeful, however, that his visit to Washington will result in a thorough exploration of the affair by the United States Government.

Notorious Character Dead.

HAMILTON, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Frederick Mandelbaum, known in New York city as a notorious "fence," and who did a flourishing business there in that line for a number of years, died here yesterday. Mrs. Mandelbaum was about 65 years of age. She was very wealthy, having accumulated a considerable fortune as a go-between for the shady element of New York society and as a receiver of doubtfully acquired goods. She came to this city about ten years ago, when the New York authorities had begun proceedings against her and her conviction was probable. A big legal fight ensued here for her extradition, but with the assistance of Attorney Hummel Mrs. Mandelbaum was enabled to continue her residence in Canada and has resided here with her family ever since. For a time she carried on a small business here, but has lived retired for several years past. During her enforced residence in Canada she never ventured across the border, but her remains will be taken to New York this afternoon for interment there on Wednesday morning.

GALT, Ont., Feb. 27.—In view of the fact that the result of elections in Waterloo county for the Local House has for many years been the return of supporters of the Reform party, the resolution passed yesterday by the executive council of the Waterloo County Temperance Association will hardly prove of adequate service to the Government. The resolution was as follows:

"Resolved, That in view of the pronounced and acceptable attitude of the present Provincial Government of Ontario on the prohibition question, they having granted every concession that the advanced prohibitionists have asked for, we, irrespective of political bias, hereby declare that in our judgment we are in honor bound to support the Government at the coming election, and we hereby declare our purpose to do so by all honorable means, provided the candidate commends himself personally."

GOSSIP FROM OTTAWA.

Messrs. Connolly and McGreevy Suffering from Their Confinement.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—Dr. Church, the jail surgeon, has examined Thomas McGreevy and Nicholas K. Connolly, with a view of reporting to the Government the condition of their health. It is understood that the doctor's report to the Government is that the prisoners are suffering in their health through the confinement, and it is thought probable that the result of this report will be to release the prisoners.

The friends of Thomas McGreevy and Nicholas Connolly say that both men are suffering severely in health from their confinement and that a petition will likely be sent to his Excellency the Governor-General-in-Council, asking that they be liberated on that ground. N. K. Connolly especially is in very poor health. He is suffering worse than McGreevy. It is not officially known here yet how the former petitions have been disposed of by the Minister of Justice, but it would appear that the petitioners now do not expect a favorable answer when another petition is talked of.

Northwest Mounted Police.

Three new officials have been appointed to fill vacancies in the Northwest Mounted Police, namely: Captain E. Gilpin Brown and Lieut.-Col. William Williams, to be inspectors; and Dr. G. Pearson Bell, of Qu'Appelle, to be assistant surgeon.

Log Industry Impeded.

Advices from the Upper Ottawa and the Gatineau district to lumbermen in the city state that the great depth of snow in the woods is considerably lessening the cut of logs and square timber. The cut of saw logs will, it is estimated, be 22 to 30 per cent. less than anticipated, and this will probably mean 60,000,000 feet reduction in the cut and a shorter season's work for all concerned.

Steel Manufactory Resume Work.

TROY, Feb. 27.—The Bessemer steel works, a part of the Troy Steel & Company's plant, resumed work yesterday. The full force of men was employed at the old rates of wages. The plant will probably be in operation for three or four weeks until orders which have been received are exhausted.

Parricide Takes His Own Life.

HONESDALE, Feb. 27.—Lawrence McDonald, who murdered his father at Prompton on January 5, committed suicide by hanging in the Wayne county jail. He was found dead by Sheriff Murphy yesterday morning. McDonald had opened the window lattice, stood on a chair and tied a sheet around his neck and to the lattice, and then kicked the chair from under him. One side of his body was badly frozen. He left a letter stating that he and his father were alone in the house when the crime was committed, and that he was intoxicated. The dogs began fighting and he took a club to part them. He said he struck his father by mistake, and continued to hammer him, thinking that he was striking the dogs. He thanked God that he would soon be out of his troubles.

A Palpable Fraud.

The "ornamental china cup of which Napoleon drank his last drink at St. Helena" was put up at auction at the Hotel Druot in Paris recently and discovered, by an examination of the manufacturer's mark, to have been made in 1840.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten years' Suffering from Kidney disease—Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim from the Grave.

BROCKVILLE, Feb'y 26.—Any one who asserted a year ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure, would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, that was so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, near here, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years, and Bright's disease had developed, when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

TEETH

Extracted Absolutely Without Pain.

No charge for first tooth for each person.

O. W. KENNEDY L.D.S., of Toronto, will be pleased to demonstrate in the office of J. A. MARSHALL, Surgeon Dentist, of Belleville, the efficacy of his Local Anaesthetic "ANTAKINE" for the painless extraction of teeth.

This preparation does not produce unconsciousness, but when simply applied to the Gum renders the tissues around the teeth numb, and even the most difficult teeth may be extracted without any pain. ANTAKINE is absolutely harmless, containing no dangerous drug or causing any bad after-affects whatever.

This presents an unprecedented opportunity to have Teeth Extracted skilfully and painlessly without the danger and discomfort of inhaling gas, ether, or anything of that kind.

Dr. Kennedy will be in Dr. Marshall's office, the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of March.

Positively no pain or no charge.

PAIN-KILLER.—The testimony borne to the efficacy of this valuably medicine are sufficient to warrant its introduction into every house. Our own opinion is that no family should be without a bottle of it for single hour. In flesh wounds, aches, pains, sores, &c., it is the most effectual remedy we know of. A 25c. bottle will last for a long time, and its low price places it within the reach of all.—News, St. Johns, Que.

OUR CITY LEGISLATORS.

THE COUNCIL DO A GOOD NIGHT'S WORK.

Memorials Without End—The Old Market Building—An Extension Ladder for the Fire Department—A Permanent Pavement on Front Street—Minor Matters.

The City Council held a regular meeting last evening. Present—His Worship Mayor Walmsley, Ald. Doyle, Foster, Diamond, Moon, Hart, Robinson, Petty, Shevlin, Luscombe, Lazier, Landenberger, Haight, Collins, Graham, Green, Marshall, Starling, Ponton and Clarke.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS AND PETITIONS.

From the City Council of St. Thomas asking for the co-operation of the Council of Belleville re memorializing the Government for an amendment of the Assessment Act.

From Hamilton City Council asking the co-operation of the Council of Belleville re the assessing of church property.

From S. E. Lennox asking for the privilege of excavating for a water pipe across Front St. to the river.

From John Taugher, account.

The reports of the several committees were read.

The Market and City Property Committee asked that the application of Robt. McGuinness be laid over for further consideration.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole on reports, Ald. Luscombe in the chair.

The account of Wm. Thompson for $10 in 1892 was brought before the committee. Ald. Diamond said this account needed some explanation. A man named Crysdale was killed in 1892 and Mayor Bogart telephoned Mr. Thompson to take charge of the remains, the family not being able to conduct the funeral. The account had not been presented that year or since till the present time and the committee had passed the account but did not admit the liability. The account passed.

The recommendation of the Public Works Committee re pavement was read.

Ald. Doyle said the Council should take some steps toward permanent walks and moved that the matter be referred back for consideration.—Carried.

Ald. Collins said he had the estimates for the improvements to the old market building asked by Mr. Robt. McGuinness. The work would cost in the neighborhood of $600 The committee wanted the opinion of the Council whether they would recommend the improvements or not.

Ald. Landenberger said Mr. McGuinness had made no offer as far as rent was concerned, but wanted the Council to set a figure for rent. He would suggest that if the improvements were made they should ask $250 a year.

Ald. Diamond said if the Council could get $144—the present rental— and 10 per cent. on their investment, he thought they should go on with the work. It was an industry and Mr. McGuinness would spend a lot of money.

Ald. Robinson said he did not think the terms suggested by Ald. Diamond would pay.

Mayor Walmsley said this man was offering an industry and the Council should meet him in a business like way. He thought the Council should let him make his own improvements and charge him $200 rent or the Council make the improvements and ask him $320.

Ald. Landenberger said he thought $320 was too high and he moved that the Council make the repairs and ask him $250 per year rent.

Ald. Collins said there was not a town in Canada that had not a meat market and he said he had seen meat offered for sale on the market recently that he would not feed to a dog. Now if there was a meat market the poor people would be able to get better meat at the price at which they now buy inferior. He believed in a high license fee for transient butchers.

Ald. Ponton was in favor of letting Mr. McGuinness have the old market building. Mr. McGuinness was no stranger and we should let him have the building at the present rental—$144— and 20 per cent. on the investment in repairs. Mr. McGuinness had spent about $100,000 since he had been in this city. He did not believe in a high license fee for butchers, but the meat spoken of by Ald. Collins should have been reported to the health officer. The industry of Mr. McGuinness is only half what it would be if we assisted him.

The matter was referred back to the committee.

The clause of the Fire Committee's report asking that an extension ladder be purchased for the fire department, was explained by Ald. Starling. He said that the department had no ladder that could be handled by less than six or seven men. The Chief said the ladder was needed. The cost would not exceed $100. The clause carried.

The report of the Industrial Committee asking for $100 for the purpose of testing iron ores of the County of Hastings was spoken to by Ald. Ponton. He said he had asked the Grand Trunk for their price for conveying two cars of ore to Philadelphia for a proposed test, but he had not received any answer yet. He thought if the ore were sent to Philadelphia it would be an advertisement for Hastings. Kingston had granted $500 for advertising that city as an industrial centre and he thought it would be money well spent.

Ald. Landenberger said he thought the ores of North Hastings had been already well tested. He thought it would be an unnecessary expenditure. Our ores were well known in Pittsburg and other iron centres and it would not pay to work them. If the ore could be reduced on the grounds without having to bring in coal it would pay, but otherwise it would not.

Ald. Collins said the man who proposed to test the ore had a process, by which, he claimed, he could manufacture steel direct from the ore cheaper than pig iron used to be manufactured. He would vote for the grant of $100.

Ald. Clarke said he did not think we would get a fair show if the test was made in Philadelphia. He would rather expend more money to have the test made at home. He would move that the matter be referred back to the committee.

Ald. Diamond was of the same opinion as Ald. Clarke in reference to the Philadelphia test. He thought the mine owners should bear some of the expense of the test. There were lots of mines in North Hastings well worth the test and they should bear the expense.

Ald. Robinson was not in favor of spending money for this purpose. This man had had this patent for some time, but had failed to interest any American capital. This did not speak very well for the patent. He would vote for inducements to any tangible industry, but he would not favor this expenditure.

Ald. Lazier said he had seen a letter from this man from Philadelphia and he said the patent was only just completed. He would come here and make the test if the city would pay the cost.

Ald. Diamond said this man would ask the city or citizens to come down handsomely for his patent if the test were favorable.

Mayor Walmsley said if this patent were good the owner would not sell it, but if it were a fraud the Industrial Committee would unearth it.

Ald. Landenberger said he was in favor of spending $100 for advertising the industries of the city, but was not in favor of taking the money for advertising outside industries.

Ald. Hart was in favor of granting the $100, but he would prefer to see the test made in the city.

Ald. Ponton said his committee only asked for $100 to be expended at their discretion. They had to be prepared for emergencies. This man who had the patent had not asked for any sum of money. The committee did not ask for the money for any specific purpose. We had to go abroad for these tangible industries. He knew Trenton had held out inducements to this man to come there and make the test.

Ald. Doyle said we should have confidence enough in the Industrial Committee to vote them $100. He thought they would spend it judiciously.

Ald. Robinson asked the chairman of the Industrial Committee how much he had on hand.

Ald. Ponton—"Not a cent. I'm out my postage for 1893."

Ald. Clarke moved in amendment to the report that the sum of $400 be substituted for the $100 and that the test be made in Belleville.

Ald. Diamond moved in amendment to the amendment, that $100 be placed to the credit of the Industrial Committee to be used at their discretion.

Ald. Clarke said we had as good ore in North Hastings as there was anywhere, but what we wanted was a cheaper mode of manufacturing iron and steel. This man had acted in good faith in writing to Belleville and was endorsed by a prominent citizen. He did not want to sell his patent to have it locked up, but was acting as an astute Yankee in wishing to make the most of it.

Ald. Ponton said he was in favor of Ald. Clarke's amendment.

Ald. Hart said if the test were made here the brick used in the furnace could be sold at a small loss.

Ald. Diamond's amendment carried.

The petition of Mr. S. E. Lennox was referred to the Water and Gas Committee.

The petition from the Hamilton City Council re memorializing the Government that church property be assessed was taken up.

Ald. Diamond moved that the memorial be entertained.

Ald. Collins was not in favor of any memorial that would tax a piece of ground on which a church was built.

The memorial was entertained by a vote of the committee.

The memorial from Council of St. Thomas asking for the co-operation of the Council in memorializing the Government for an amendment to the Assessment Act so that gas mains, telephone poles, etc. could be assessed.

Ald. Robinson moved, seconded by Ald. Diamond, that the Provincial Government be memorialized to so amend the Municipal Act as to place beyond doubt the taxes on plant of electric light, gas and water works companies and on all gas and water mains laid down through the streets of the municipalities, and that a small deputation be immediately sent to Toronto for the purpose of promoting such amendment in the Ontario Legislature. And at the same time any other municipal matters thought advisable to be brought to the attention of the Government be attended to by such deputation.

Ald Robinson read an account of the visit of a deputation from St. Thomas to the Premier of Ontario.

The memorial was adopted.

Ald. Shevlin said it would be difficult to seize electric wires for taxes when the current was on.

Ald. Landenberger said he thought this sending deputations to Toronto should be stopped.

Ald. Collins moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Landenberger, that if a deputation go to Toronto they pay their own expenses.—Lost.

Ald. Ponton said it was often necessary for us to visit legislative centres, but he was in favor of waiting and bringing down all the matters the city wanted set right at one time.

Ald. Diamond said if the memorial went to Toronto it should be backed up by a deputation.

Ald. Doyle said he would be in favor of sending a deputation to the Ontario Government asking for restitution of the amount voted the Grand Junction railway.

Ald. Robinson's motion was defeated.

The reduction of wards was left with the committee till next meeting.

On motion Mr. John Johnston was heard in regard to the arrangement arrived at with the Trust and Loan Company with regard to securing the agricultural grounds for a fair this coming fall. Mr. Johnston said he and Mr. J. N. Hurley had gone to Toronto and waited upon the manager of the company and he had agreed to let the Association have the grounds for one tenth of the gross receipts. He asked the Council to remit the taxes, and if they did so the grounds would be secured.

Ald. Diamond said the offer made by the Trust and Loan Company was very fair. If the Council was able later on to make a grant there was no doubt they would do so. He thought the taxes should be remitted.

Ald. Collins said he would vote against the company getting any grant from this Council. He thought if they were punished again this year as they were last we might get them where we wanted them.

Ald. Doyle said he did not think this was a question of a grant to the company, but was assistance to the Agricultural Society.

Ald. Green did not think it necessary to take any action in this matter then. The company should be held responsible for the taxes.

Mayor Walmsley was in favor of the remission of taxes. A fair would be of benefit to the city and also the bridge.

Ald. Ponton moved, that the taxes be remitted for this year.—Carried.

The committee of the whole rose and reported. Report received.

On motion that the report be adopted, Ald. Collins moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Landenberger, that the report be not now adopted, but referred back for further consideration of the memorial reassessing church property.—Lost.

The yeas and nays resulted as follows: YEAS—Ald. Collins, Doyle, Graham, Landenberger, Ponton and Shevlin.—6.

NAYS—Ald. Clarke, Diamond, Foster, Green, Haight, Hart, Lazier, Luscombe, Marshall, Moon, Petty, Robinson and Starling.—13.

Ald. Robinson moved in amendment that the report be not now adopted, but referred back to consider his resolution re memorial on assessment.—Lost.

The yeas and nays were called for and the amendment carried on the following division:

YEAS—Ald. Clarke, Diamond, Foster, Haight, Hart, Marshall, Moon, Robinson, Shevlin and Starling.—10.

NAYS—Ald. Collins, Doyle, Graham, Green, Landenberger, Lazier, Luscombe, Petty, Ponton.—9.

The committee of the whole resumed. The resolution of Ald. Robinson was carried by striking out all words after "streets of the municipalities."

The committee rose and reported. Report received and adopted.

Ald. Robinson asked if it were the duty of the city to clean drains to take the water away from people's cellars. He had seen a man working three or four days in front of Wallbridge & Clarke's store on Bridge St. to let water out of their cellar.

The Street Surveyor said the drain had been frozen and would overflow into the cellar and he had had it opened at a cost of $1.25.

Ald. Clarke asked if there was a by-law to prevent children catching on sleighs.

The Solicitor said he did not think there was.

Ald. Clarke also asked when the hydrants had been tested.

Ald. Collins—"To-day."

Ald. Diamond said in reference to the matter of securing terms for getting money to carry the debentures now falling due that the committee had seen Mr. Richardson, of the Bank of Montreal, and he would advance the money at 5%. He moved the suspension of the rules for the first and second reading and passing of a by-law for the borrowing of a sum to meet current expenses.—Carried.

Ald. Robinson's by law re appointment of an assessor as introduced at last meeting was read a first time.

The time of the Council was extended one half hour.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole on By laws, Ald. Luscombe in the chair.

The by-law introduced by Ald. Diamond was passed clause by clause.

The committee rose and reported. The report was received and adopted.

The by-law was read a second and third time and numbered 776.

Ald. Ponton moved, seconded by Ald. Marshall, that a special committee consisting of the Mayor and the chairmen of the standing committees, wait upon Mr. Mathison of the D. & D. Institute regarding the visit of Lord and Lady Aberdeen and use their influence to have the date of the visit put forward to a time when Belleville and the Bay of Quinte district would be at their best.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Ponton, seconded by Ald. Clarke, that the Council, through His Worship the Mayor, do memoralize the Postmaster General of the Dominion Government to secure for Belleville and other eastern cities the delivery of the morning western mails at a reasonably early hour and that the co-operation of other localities similarly disadvantageously situated with Belleville under the present unsatisfactory arrangement be invited to remedy this grievance of the business community, and that Mr. Corby's influence be asked in endeavoring to effect this needed change.—Carried.

Ald. Landenberger introduced his motion re the obstruction to the railway crossing on Franck St., as he gave notice at last meeting.

Ald. Diamond said if the matter was to be brought before the Railway Committee our City Solicitor and the Mayor were the proper persons to present the case.

His Worship said, as the matter was a purely legal one, he thought Mr. John Bell was the proper one to refer to.

Ald. Landenberger withdrew his motion in favor of the suggestion of Ald. Diamond.

Ald. Robinson moved for the suspension of the rules for the introduction of a resolution. The motion required a two-third vote and was lost on the following division:

YEAS—Ald. Diamond, Doyle, Haight, Lazier, Luscombe, Marshall, Moon, Petty, Robinson, Shevlin, Starling—11.

NAYS—Ald. Collins, Foster, Green, Hart, Landenberger, Clarke—6.

Ald Robinson gave notice of a motion that the Ontario Government be memorialized to amend the Municipal Act so as to relieve municipalities from responsibility for accidents that may be caused or occasioned by reason of the slippery condition of the streets of the municipality, as it is impossible with the varible climate we have in our province to keep the streets and sidewalks at all times in a safe condition in this respect.

Council adjourned.

BELLEVILLE GAS CO'Y.

AN INTERESTING HISTORY OF THE ENTERPRISE.

It was Established and Run Under Difficulties—Yet it has Been of Great Public Benefit—The City's Investment has Been a Good One—The Concern is Under Lease on Favorable Terms.

The annual meeting of the stock holders of the Belleville Gas Company was held yesterday afternoon at the office of Bell & Biggar. The statement presented was very satisfactory. The following gentlemen were elected to the Board of Directors: Mayor Walmsley, Messrs. John Bell, J. W. Johnson, F. Dolan and J. L. Biggar. At a meeting of the Directors, Mr. John Bell was elected President, Mr. J. W. Johnson, Vice-President, and Mr. J. L. Biggar, Secretary-Treasurer.

The following history of the Belleville Gas Company, which was laid before the stockholders, and before the City Council last night, will be read with interest:

The Belleville Gas Company was incorporated in January, 1854. The whole subscribed stock was $30,000. The shares were $20 each. In April of that year (1854) the town subscribed first for 600 shares and after that for 120 shares, making in all 720 shares or $14,400. The works were commenced at once, but owing to their location and the character of the excavation for the works and mains, etc., the whole being in rock, the works cost more than the company contemplated.

The Mayor of the city from the first was a member of the Board of Directors and attended and voted on the shares held by the city, which at that time was close on one half of the whole stock. Being without funds, the company, with the consent of all parties, took the earnings, after paying working expenses, to pay the interest on the floating debt and also the outlay caused in extending the works, etc., required for the purposes of the town.

When the works were commenced I do not think the population of the town exceeded 6,000. I think it was less. In 1877 the shareholders directed the board to borrow money to cover the then indebtedness of the company and mortgage the works for the loan. This was done and a mortgage given to a loan company for about $12,000, payable with interest by instalments. The shareholders then claimed that for the profits put into the works they (the shareholders) were entitled to stock paid up in full, and accordingly a stock dividend was declared and issued to each shareholder according to the amount of his holding, that is for the sum he would have received in dividends had the profits been divided.

On this the city received what was called dividend stock amounting to 540 shares fully paid up, amounting to $10,800, which added to the amount subscribed as stated, made the city the holder of 1260 shares of the value of $25,200. On this the company began paying dividends. The then earnings paid the working expenses, the interest on the loan and a dividend, I think, of 8 per cent. per annum on the stock, including the dividend. This continued from year to year; some years, indeed most of the time, the dividend was from 7 per cent. per annum to 8 per cent.

In the meantime the price of gas was reduced but no reserve was made to meet accidents, extensions or renewals, the coal duty came in and demands were made for extensions for the accommodation of and to meet the requirements of the growth of the city. It will be remembered that the time the works were built the population did not exceed 5,000 or 6,000. The first large extension was to the station. For this money was raised partly by a small issue of stock at par and partly by a loan. The character of the work, being rock excavation all the way, made the outlay larger than was expected. Next came the extension to the Institute. Next the City Council demanded electric light. The company provided and extended these as demanded. Next came the incandescent light; this the company also provided.

It was found we could not manufacture from coal at a reasonable price, therefore we had to provide a plant for making from petroleum, etc. The money had to be borrowed. The town demanded additions and, as there was no reserve, the company, with the full assent of all the shareholders, borrowed enough to pay what was outstanding on the first mortgage and the outlay made on the items I have named, which in all amounted to about $41,000.

Notwithstanding all this, the interest was paid and up to 1889 a dividend on the stock was paid never less than six and one half per cent. per annum.

For two years no dividend was paid. The shareholders, including the city, agreed to lease the works to Mr. Pearson, who pays insurance, keeps the property in good repair, adds another cupola for making gas, an incandescent plant, pays six and one half per cent. on the borrowed capital and six per cent. on the capital stock. Since the making of this lease we have paid four and five per cent. in dividends and reduced the debt by $2,900. All the works and improvements made during the lease come to the company at the end of the term.

It will be observed that, as we reduce the debt for every $1,000 we pay off, $65 is added to our dividend. If we pay it all off the six and one half per cent goes to the dividend on the share capital, because the rent is not reduced.

The city had been supplied with light at a rate not exceeding that paid by any individual. They have not contributed to the additions which the company have made, and taking the actual cash paid for the stock, viz., $14 400, they have since 1875 and up to 1889 had not less than nine per cent. per annum, and for part of the time from eleven to fourteen per cent. on their money. With very few exceptions the present holders of the stock have paid dollar for dollar for their holdings. Since the lease the city have had on their outlay not less than seven per cent.

JOHN BELL,
Pres. Belleville Gas Co.

The Y.M.C.A. and Mutes hockey teams played a practice game last evening. The teams lined up as follows:

| Y.M.C.A. | Position. | Mutes. |
|---|---|---|
| Macdonald, | Goal, | J. Patrick, |
| Taber, | Point, | J. Fisher, |
| Holton, | C. Point, | N. Labelle, |
| Weller,Lockett,Thompson,Jamieson, | Frawards, | J. Isbister,J. Smalldon,H. Hence,C. Gillam, |

The Mutes have gained much in experience and put up a good game last evening, although they play a little too rough in regard to checking, but this defect will no doubt be eliminated when they come to understand the rules. The Y. M. C. A. team, although they played without Kelso, who is incapacitated with a lame arm, put up a strong game and their combination work was a feature. The score was 3—1 in favor of the Y.M.C.A.

The Y.M.C.A. team will be in good shape to give the Athletics of Kingston a warm reception on Thursday afternoon.

A BAD TEMPER and a bad liver—you'll always find joined together. Make a note of this, and see if it isn't true.

Now, why not give your naturally sunny disposition a chance? Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will do it for you. They correct your disordered liver, clear up your system, and make life look different to you. They do it in a pleasant way, too. They're the smallest, the easiest to take, and the most natural remedy.

Keep a vial of these tiny Pellets in your vest-pocket. They'll give you a permanent cure for Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Indigestion, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and every derangement of the liver, stomach and bowels.

The makers are so sure you'll be satisfied that they'll agree, if you're not, to return the money.

For twenty-five years these Pellets have sold on their merit. Why buy other pills, when P. P. P. are "guaranteed"? There's nothing likely to be "just as good."

KING DAVID'S FRIEND.

BY

WALTER BESANT.

CHAPTER I.

'Have you got your letters by the mail, Longdon?'

'No, I haven't, my son. I never do get any letters. I have left off expecting letters.'

His chum, who was a new arrival, looked surprised.

'Why, man, I've been here fifteen years—fifteen years; think of that! Fifteen years. If I were a coolie, dead and buried fifteen years ago, my grave trodden level with the ground, I couldn't be more forgotten!'

'But you've got friends at home. You must have people—'

'I have. There's my elder brother, the prig—I've got him. And there are cousins by dozens, first and second, and second once removed. And I had a father, but he is dead, poor old man! Friends? Plenty of friends. As for friendships—well—but once I had a true friend. We outdid David and Jonathan. So far as I know, David never—but then Jonathan died young and perhaps there were passages. Ours was a divine, an ideal friendship—no two friends ever more so; because, you see, in the higher planes of friendship what one gives the other has got to accept. The world doesn't understand this, for there is no friendship in business, and we are mostly business men, therefore there are no friends.'

'I don't understand.'

'No more do I now. It was magnificent, but it wasn't business.—Well, as I said I had a true friend once, a more than pal, a closer than brother. Where is that true friend now?'

'When you go home again—'

'I never shall go home again, sonny. This is my home. Very thankful I ought to be to have such a home. What more can a man desire? From ten to four the healthful labor of the office. Home to this elegant mansion at five. A stroll on the shore till half-past six or so; dinner, the finest dinner in the world, with the best claret in the world. No promotion, even, to agitate the soul.'

'You will get promotion some day. You must. Oh! it is shameful.'

'You will, my boy. As for me—what does it matter? I draw two hundred rupees a month. I am a junior in the audit office. We live in this agreeable mansion of three rooms, and a veranda. Its walls are made of packing cases; and the roof is made of the tin which formerly lined those cases; it is surrounded by a lovely compound containing three ragged bananas and a prickly pear, and it is furnished sumptuously. Behold! Style, second empire, for the most part.'

The speaker, a man with a contenance still ruddy, spite of his tropical experience, and a big brown beard, a large limbed man, lay back in his chair and replaced his pipe between his lips. He spoke bitterly, but his face was not bitter, and his eyes were as kindly as the eyes of any silver king or lord of a nitrate boom could be. The other was a young man of one and twenty, just beginning his career in the same splendid service which had taken away the elder man's youth. The united resources of their mess were slender, and when the rent of twenty rupees a month had been paid and the wages of their one servant and the dhobie and the claret (which was dear at 5l the bottle) and the whisky and the stringy beef and the skinny chicken which graced the board, there really was very little left for the minor luxuries. Yet in lands where twice a year there falls no shade or any side of rock or house, the minor luxuries are to most the simplest necessities. On the two sides of the room were two small bedrooms, in each a bed a mosquito curtain, an arm wire, a chair and a wash-stand. The room in front opened upon a small veranda.

'Well, my boy,' Longdon went on, 'you shall have better luck; you shall get promoted early; you shall leave me and mess with other promotions; chief clerk presently in your department; acting head of department; sent off to some other colony as head; colonial secretary somewhere else: lieutenant governor, C M. G.; governor, K. C. M. G. Heart up, sonny. The world is all before you.'

The younger man was a little disconcerted at this outburst; when one is twenty it is hard to understand that a man of five-and-thirty, which seems an age so advanced, and a man who has 'stuck' in his upward flight, and one who is invariably cheerful and apparently contented, should ever have had ambitions.

Longdon's case was exceptional. There are plenty of shady Englishmen who get taken on in the colony, in obscure branches of the government service with never a chance or a hope of promotion; but for a young man to be actually sent out by the colonial office at the age of twenty, to begin, as he should, with his foot on the lowest rung, and then to be left there, is not common. After fifteen years he remained a junior in this department; he drew, it is true, two hundred and forty pounds a year, or double his original pay, but he had been passed by all his contemporaries, and now remained stuck fast, apparently forgotten. It was said that there was some scandal about him which stood in the way of his promotion—something he had done. What that was did not take a definite form. Here, however, was the fact: An English gentleman, of good family, left in the lower branches of the colonial service, five and thirty years of age, possessed of every quality that should command success. What did it mean?

'There's some news in the Commercial special,' said the young fellow. 'We've got a new governor. He comes out next mail. Here's the orders.'

He tossed it over. There was a half column badly printed with a summary of this month. Longdon glanced down the paragraphs. Suddenly he started, sat up and dropped the paper.

'Good Lord!' he cried.

What is it?' asked his companion.

Longdon sprang to his feet. Then he stepped out upon the little veranda before the cottage and began to walk up and down with an energy worthy of his native land in an east wind.

Presently Longdon came back and took up the paper and read slowly a second time the paragraph that had startled him.

Henry Overtton Dunkeld, K. C. B., is the newly appointed governor. Sir Henry Dunkeld, the eldest son of Maj. Gen. Dunkeld, R. A., was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge, where he obtained a first class and a fellowship in the year 1875. He was called to the bar in 1875; he sat in the House of Commons for the borough of Chester on the Conservative side, from 1879 to 1882. He was then appointed lieutenant governor of the Leeward Islands. Sir Henry is believed to possess great administrative abilities. He is personally popular; he is said to possess great charm of manners, and his sympathies with any religious and philanthropic movements are well known.'

'Good lord!' said Longdon once more. 'And I am assistant clerk in his audit office.'

SKODA'S LITTLE TABLETS Cures Headache and Dyspepsia.

A MUSICIAN AND CYNIC.

More than for his undisputed genius as an interpreter and commentator of the works of the great masters, Von Bulow will always be remembered for his biting sarcasms, incisive utterances on his contemporaries and his capacity for creating hostility by his often too outspoken malapropos. During his concert tour in Florence years ago his success was enormous, but he entirely destroyed his popularity just before he left by a violent condemnation of Verdi, who at that time was considered by the Italians to be a demigod. In Spain he exposed himself to a similar fate. When he returned to Berlin he was equally caustic in his criticisms. One day, somewhere about 1871, he ironically compared the orchestra of the Royal Opera to the orchestra of Renz's circus, and pronounced it shameful and disgraceful. The manager of the circus, incensed at what he considered an affront to his musicians, took up the cudgels and called Bulow to account in print. Von Bulow, without a moment's hesitation, again seized his pen, and wrote a letter of apology to the manager of the circus, humbly begging his pardon for having thoughtlessly compared his excellent orchestra with the very inferior one of the Royal Opera. This occurred in 1873, when Bulow was occupying the post of Kapelmeister to the Emperor. The scandal caused by this indecent polemic was so great that intimation came to Bulow to send in his resignation, which was promptly accepted.

But Von Bulow often returned to Berlin to give the people artistic enjoyment and delight in his erratic sayings and doings. The last time he was there, after the conclusion of the concert, he took his handkerchief out of his pocket and deliberately dusted his boots and marched out of the hall, thus indicating he shook away the last remnants of Brandenburg soil from his artistic personality. This probably occured after the concert, when, after having been recalled three or four times by deafening cheers, he was prevailed almost by force to sit down again before the piano and play another piece. Satan knows what deviltry possessed him, but in mad defiance of the public he began the "Marseillaise" and went through it with intense energy and feeling, unheeding the auditors, who, after the first moment of incredulous surprise, rose to their feet and attempted to drown the hated strains of the French revolutionary hymn in groans and hisses.

He once played in New York one of Beethoven's sonatas which contains a passage calling for an unusually long trill. The pianist was not well started on the trill when suddenly he stopped. He got up from the seat and walked all round the piano, stooping over it and peering into the case. Having done this he resumed his seat and began again. When the same point in the trill was reached he desisted once more, jumped up, stamped so violently that he made the dust fly, and rushed off the stage with furious gesticulations. German cuss words in abundance were heard from the stage door, until he reappeared with two men, who shoved the offensive piano aside and moved another into its place. Then he sat down and played the sonata through.

AN INDIAN WITH A USEFUL RECORD.

But, Like Many of a Paler Hue, He Let Liquor Run Away With Him.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 27.—Among the passengers of the Labrador, that arrived Sunday from England, was an Indian, who presented a letter to the immigrant agent dated Liverpool February 15, from the agent there of the Canadian Government, saying that the Lord Mayor of Liverpool had communicated with Sir Charles Tupper, who ordered a passage to America to be provided for Frank Adams, the bearer of the epistle.

Adams is 53 years of age, comes from Caughnawagha, near Montreal, and is a noted Indian. In 1870 he accompanied Lord Wolsley to the first Northwest rebellion and intended going to Egypt with that General, but was sent back to Winnipeg to join a geological expedition, which surveyed the road commonly called "Dawson route" over the Rockies. Adams was one of the native escorts that attended the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise's party when that Governor-General and his royal bride visited Winnipeg in 1880.

Last year, the Indian says, he got drunk in Vancouver and was taken on board the ship County of Yarmouth, bound to London. Arriving there he came to the notice of Sir Charles, who forwarded him to Halifax.

A Farmer's Wife, of Unsound Mind, Cuts Her Throat With a Razor.

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Feb. 27.—Mrs. Geo. Jeffrey, wife of a respectable farmer a few miles from here, suicided by cutting her throat with a razor. The deed was committed yesterday morning while the family were engaged with the duties of the household. Her windpipe and throat were completely severed, and although Drs. Hillier and Hughes were promptly on hand they could do but little to prolong life, and she expired in a few hours.

The deceased had been of unsound mind for some time, and this was the second attempt upon her life, the first having taken place about a year ago. She leaves a large family to mourn her loss.

SIR WILLIAM MEREDITH DEAD.

He Was Once Chief Justice of the Superior Court, Quebec.

QUEBEC, Feb. 27.—Sir William Meredith, ex-Chief Justice of Superior Court of Quebec, died yesterday, aged 82. Sir William Meredith was born in Dublin, Ireland, in 1812. He came to this country in 1824 with his stepfather, the Rev. Edward Burton. He retired from the Bench in 1884. He received the honor of knighthood in 1886.

Only the Scars Remain.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc.," writes HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., "none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE REPORT

Notably Brief as Touching the Recent Prevalence of Tuberculosis Among the Cattle—Public Accounts Brought Down—Debate on the Budget To-morrow—South Lanark Election Returns.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—Mr. Ryerson rose in the House yesterday to move the second reading of his bill providing for the amalgamation of the Public and High schools. Mr. Ross, however, requested that the bill should stand and the member for Toronto agreed.

Sir Oliver Mowat stated that the debate on the question of abolishing the grant to Government House would take place on Friday next.

These bills were introduced and read a first time:

Mr. Paton—To amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Bishop—To amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Garrow—To amend the Ontario Election Act.

Mr. Garrow—Respecting writs of execution.

Mr. J. M. Clarke, newly elected member for South Lanark, was introduced by Hon. E. H. Bronson and Mr. Caldwell, and took his seat.

Mr. McKay (Oxford) moved for a return giving the number of votes cast "yes" and "no" for prohibition on January 1 last, and for various other particulars regarding the vote.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Clancy asked: How much of the sum voted by the province in aid of railways has been paid by direct cash payments? How much have railway aid certificates been issued for, in lieu of direct cash payments respectively to the 31st December, 1893?

Mr. Harcourt—In aid of railways the cash payments to 31st December, 1893, amounted to $5,959,084.13, namely, Direct payments where no certificates were issued, $1,704,195.16; certificates paid, $4,254,888.97. The total amount of certificates issued has been $5,567,038.85, of which certificates now outstanding amount to $1,312,149.88. The present value of outstanding certificates is $922,071.82.

Mr. Willoughby inquired: How many cases, since the introduction of the ballot have petitions been filed against the return of members to this Legislature, and in how many of such cases has a scrutiny taken place, and what was the cost in each case of the scrutiny?

Mr. Gibson replied. He said that the ballot was first used in Ontario in 1875. There had been 82 contested elections since. He could not tell what the cost had been.

Mr. Meredith—Before the House adjourns I would like to draw attention to a return that was brought down yesterday of an order in council ratifying a printing contract with the Methodist book room. I do not know why that contract is not made, subject to the approval of the House, like other contracts. I notice the contract for departmental legislative printing expressly states that it shall be subject to ratification by the House, but in the present instance there is nothing to show what the contract is—nothing but the bare order in council. I submit the contract ought to be brought down, otherwise the order is unintelligible. There is another matter I want to draw attention to at this stage. I observe the practice is growing of undertaking the printing of documents at very considerable expense to the province without any sanction by the proper committee of the House. Now, I have in my hand a book—"Schools of England and Germany." I do not know what this book cost, but I must protest against expenditures of this kind being made without the sanction of the proper authority.

Mr. Ross replied that with regard to the contract referred to, the order in council came down in the form required by statute. The usual practice when a contract was required was to move for it and then it would be laid on the table. None of the departmental contracts required the ratification of the House and the Government had followed the practice in vogue for many years. There was not the slightest objection to bringing down the contract in question. The custom of the Education Department had always been to publish any reports which had been considered of sufficient public interest without waiting for the sanction of the Legislature.

Messrs. Wood (Hastings), Balfour, Clancy, Whitney and Hardy also spoke on the subject.

The correct returns of the votes polled in South Lanark, as received by the Clerk of the House, are as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Burrows | 64 |
| Clarke | 961 |
| Ferguson | 803 |
| Lees | 945 |
| Rejected ballot papers | 16 |
| Spoiled ballot papers | 3 |
| Total votes cast | 2,793 |

Majority for Mr. Clarke, 15.

The object of Mr. White's bill to amend the law relating to police magistrates is to prevent these officials from practising their profession in conjunction with their court duties, and to disqualify them from voting at elections.

Mr. Paton's bill to amend the Municipal Act seeks to provide that all persons who auction real estate shall be licensed.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt brought down the public accounts yesterday, and it is now absolutely certain that the Budget Speech will be delivered Thursday.

Mr. Clarke, South Lanark, asked for a return from each municipality in the province, other than counties, showing the rate of taxation therein for municipal and school purposes.

Mr. Field gave notice of a bill to amend the Act relating to births, deaths and marriages.

Mr. Willoughby asked for a return giving an itemized statement of all expenditures and disbursements in connection with East Northumberland registrary office for the years 1891, 1892 and 1893.

Mr. McColl gave notice of a bill to amend the Act respecting the establishment of houses of refuge.

Mr. Ryerson gave notice of an enquiry as to (1) what Protestant hospitals and charities are receiving Government aid? (2) What general non-sectarian hospitals and non-sectarian charities are receiving Government aid? and (3) what Roman Catholic hospitals and charities are aided by the Government?

A deputation of Young Liberals waited upon Sir Oliver yesterday and asked him what date would be convenient for him to fix for their coming annual dinner. Sir Oliver said that he was sorry that at present, owing to press of business, he could not say.

Guelph Farm Report.

The report of the Provincial Agricultural College and Experimental Farm was presented by Hon. Mr. Dryden. It is preluded by the report of Superintendent Mills, who says: "Those who have visited our college from time to time have observed, above everything else, that our history has been one of continuous progress in the improvement of our equipment, the enlargement of our staff and the extension of our work. The year 1893 has not been an exception in this respect. It has been marked by progress on several lines—the completion of our greenhouses, the construction of a large farm piggery, the erection of a dairy building and two dairy cottages, the appointment of a lecturer on horticulture, the organization of a summer school for teachers, and the commencement of a home dairy course for farmers' sons and daughters. The attendance of students is quite satisfactory. We began the year with all rooms occupied, and in October last we had applicants for every vacancy. The total number on the roll in 1893 was as follows: Regular students, 186; dairy students, 60; total, 246. To these may be added an attendance of 34 at our summer school in July last, making a grand total of 280."

Curiously enough, only incidental reference is made in the report to the serious depredations of the tuberculosis among the dairy herd last fall.

Prof. J. Hugo Ross, in his report, says: On December 31 I was asked to examine two cows that were not doing well. I condemned them as presenting very strong symptoms of tuberculosis and ordered their isolation. On my return from institute work about January 21 I found one of these animals much worse, and on gaining your permission I slaughtered her and found on holding a post mortem that she was very extensively diseased. The other cow was thriving tolerably well, and we kept her isolated. She gave birth to twin calves, one of which lived. Under instructions from the Minister of Agriculture I tested this cow, and some more of which I was suspicious, with Prof. Koch's lymph, or tuberculin. My experience with the test has been that it can be depended on in all cases. If the Government should see fit to class this disease in the Contagious Disease Act, and endeavor to stamp it out by slaughtering all diseased animals, this test will be of great value. As there is no doubt that the trouble is more common in cattle than is generally supposed, the subject is worthy of the most serious consideration of the Government.

The report of Mr. H. H. Dean, professor of dairying, contains the following: "At the present time our stock consists of:—Cattle—Three Jerseys (two cows and a heifer), four Holsteins (three cows and a heifer), three Ayrshires (two cows and a heifer), four Guernseys (two cows and two heifer calves), two Red Polled (a cow and a heifer calf), six grades (four cows, one heifer and one heifer calf). Besides these we shall offer in the annual sale three Ayrshire calves, two Holstein and two Jersey calves."

Public Accounts.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt laid the public accounts for 1893 on the table yesterday. Copies were distributed among the members immediately. The following is a statement of the receipts and expenditures:

SANG "GOD SAVE THE QUEEN."

Lord Aberdeen Leads the Singing of the National Anthem.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.—At the performance given by Madame Patti at the Academy of Music on Monday evening Lord Aberdeen, Lady Aberdeen and family, occupied a box and at the end of the first act went behind the scenes to congratulate Madame Patti. When the curtain fell at the conclusion, however, the orchestra did not play the usual "God Save the Queen." The audience stood in embarrassed silence for a few minutes, when Lord Aberdeen himself sang "God Save the Queen," in which he was joined by the audience, who afterwards dispersed with cheers.

Lord Aberdeen went behind and remonstrated with Mrs. Thomas, who manages the Academy of Music, and the latter apologized, stating that the omission had occurred probably because the orchestra was an American one.

Before the performance there was a row at the gallery door, owing to the management demanding $2 a seat, while they had been advertised at $1. The students formed and barricaded the doors for a time preventing anyone from getting admittance.

Groans and hisses were given for the management.

A Jealous Husband's Deed.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 28.—W. N. White, a prominent contractor, on Monday evening fired three bullets from a revolver into James S. Holt, formerly his foreman, and a few minutes later shot himself through the heart. Holt will probably die. White charged Holt with being too intimate with his wife.

Valuable Library Burned.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The residence of the Earl of Farnsfort, Elton Hall, in Peterborough, was burned yesterday. Among the property destroyed was one of the most extensive and valuable libraries in England, and many other things were burned which cannot be replaced.

RESTLESSNESS IN IRELAND

Morley's Management of Its Affairs Fails to Satisfy the Nation.

GLADSTONE CALLED A HUMBUG.

And the Government Accused of Failing to Make Good Their Promises—Fenians in Cork Grow Demonstrative in Their Resentment and Clamor For the Fulfillment of Promised Legislation.

DUBLIN, Feb. 28.—The Dublin branch of the Irish National League held a special session on Monday night, at which the following resolution was passed:

"We avail ourselves of the presence of Mr. Morley to point out that he and the Government have failed to keep the promises made to Ireland."

John Barry, M.P. for South Wexford (Parnellite), made a speech, in which he expressed a lack of confidence in Mr. Morley and alluded to Mr. Gladstone as "the grand old humbug."

CORK, Feb. 28.—The visit to Ireland of Right Hon. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, has caused a demonstration of the feeling of resentment which the Home Rulers have cherished against him since his refusal to receive a deputation of the Evicted Tenants' Association.

On Monday the Fenians placarded the city with green posters, headed in large type with the word "Amnesty." The placards declared that Daly and other Irish martyrs are dying by inches in English prisons while Mr. Morley's promise to release the political prisoners is still unfulfilled. Continuing, the placards read:—"France and the United States have granted amnesty to political prisoners. Shall England be the only nation in the world to refuse? Speak, John Morley! Ireland demands an answer. God save Ireland!"

WILL GLADSTONE RESIGN?

A Report to that Effect is Again in Circulation.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The subject of Mr. Gladstone's resignation was revived yesterday in a way suggesting that there may be some foundation for the report. The Pall Mall Gazette, the St. James Gazette and the Westminster Gazette publish articles almost identical in substance, indicating that Mr. Gladstone will resign at an early day. The reason given in each is that the Premier's eyesight is failing so fast that his vision will become wholly obscured if he does not immediately retire from active political duty. It is also stated that it was the intention of Mr. Gladstone to allude to his approaching resignation in the House of Commons on Monday, but he was dissuaded by his colleagues from doing so.

The Manchester Guardian, the Yorkshire Post and many other provincial newspapers publish these rumors, and accompany them with articles expressing belief that they are well founded.

The Chronicle and the Sun claim to have information that Earl Roseberry will be Gladstone's successor, and Sir William Harcourt the Government leader in the House of Commons.

The Edinburgh Evening News claims to have been informed upon authority that Mr. Gladstone has already resigned the premiership, but will retain a seat in the Cabinet. Upon the same authority it was announced that Mr. Gladstone had an audience with the Queen, when he recommended Lord Roseberry as his successor.

Although the condition of Mr. Gladstone's eyes is regarded as a sufficient reason for his wishing to lay down the cares of office, it is not believed to be the real reason for his resignation, if the persistent reports that he intends to resign are true. Owing to his great age and waning physical power he is unable to withstand the shafts of criticism hurled at him as he was a few years or even a few months ago. Where then they would glance from him as from an armor they now pierce him. It is also true that he has recently been deeply affected by the comments of his political friends on his course in regard to several party measures. These evidences of ingratitude have pained him severely.

His course in withdrawing the employers' liability bill when many of his followers were clamoring for a Parliamentary fight against the House of Lords, with the ultimate view of compelling the abolition of the hereditary body, has driven the more radical of his adherents to declare that his democracy has undergone a change, and this accusation they have taken great pains should reach his ears. The private secretary of the Premier will neither affirm nor deny the reports as to Mr. Gladstone's resignation. The most he will say is that the positive statement of the Edinburgh Evening News that Mr. Gladstone has resigned is entirely unauthorized.

The fact that the Earl of Rosebery, while on his way to visit the Prince and Princess of Wales at Sandringham last Saturday, was handed a despatch at Newmarket and immediately returned to the Foreign Office, while attracting no attention at the time is now believed to have had a direct bearing on the question which is now causing so much agitation in political circles. The excuse given out at the time for Lord Roseberry's sudden return was that he was summoned back for a consultation made necessary by the defeat of the British sailors on the west coast of Africa. It is now said, however, that the reason for the return of the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs that it was an important announcement had been made by Mr. Gladstone, the effect of which is that he intended to resign. Mr. Gladstone was visited yesterday by a physician, who remained with him for some time. The Premier attended to his official duties during the morning and received several visitors, among whom was the Liberal whip, Edward Majoribanks.

The Evening News says unqualifiedly that Mr. Gladstone has resigned, and that his resignation will go into effect at Easter. The paper says that the premiership was offered to Lord Roseberry, but he declined it. The position was then offered to Earl Spencer and he accepted it.

An Official Denial.

The Central News is authority for the statement that the rumor that Mr. Gladstone will resign from office is denied. The statement is also made on the same authority that the report that the Premier has had any interview with the Queen on the subject of his final resignation or temporary retirement, is absolutely without foundation. The interview had by Lord Roseberry with the Queen on Saturday had no political significance whatever.

Gave Birth to Five Children.

KITTANING, Pa., Feb. 28.—The wife of David Roseberger, a farmer living near here, gave birth yesterday to five children, three girls and two boys.

Killed by a Falling Tree.

MONCTON, N.B., Feb. 28.—Wellington Sprague, of Port Elgin, died on Monday night from the effects of a blow on the head from a limb of a falling tree, received while working in the woods at that place.

Fight Between Russians and Germans.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 28—Rumors of a battle between Russian and German troops on the frontier has been current in military circles in Moscow for several days. One version of the reported fight is as follows: A squadron of Russian dragoons saw a party of Prussian Uhlans making a target of a frontier post on which the Russian arms were displayed. The Russian commander requested the Prussians to stop firing at the post. The Prussians ignored the request. A skirmish followed, in which several men on both sides were killed. The Russians pursued the Prussians for some distance after the fight.

Temporary Cessation of Hostilities.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—In his despatch from Rio concerning the reported capture of Sapo, Minister Thompson says: "State of siege extended to 28th." This is interpretated to mean that active hostilities will end to-day for the time being, and peace proclaimed during the pendency of the general election, which will be held March 1. It is supposed at the State Department that Sapo was captured by the insurgent vessels Aquidaban and Republica, which left Rio Janeiro last week.

Invading British Congo.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—A despatch from Rear Admiral Bedford, commanding the British West African fleet at Bathurst, Gambia, says a large force of natives under Chief Fodisilah have invaded British Combo. The Legislative Council of the colony has decided to organize patrol parties, to be led by members of the council.

Championship Scull Race.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—A London cablegram received yesterday says that Sullivan and Harding will race Hanlan and Gaudaur in double sculls for $25,000 and the championship of the world, the race to be rowed over the Thames championship course.

Mr. Bayard's Resignation Denied.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—A report which has been circulating here that United States Ambassador Thomas F. Bayard intends to resign has been promptly and emphatically denied by Mr. Bayard himself.

SING SING, Feb. 28.—There are three cases of smallpox in Sing Sing prison among the convicts. The patients have been isolated.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 28, 1894.

Oats are dull. Car lots are quoted at 32 to 22½c outside and at 36c on track.

At Chicago the tone of the wheat market is better. Exports are fair, and Minneapolis and Duluth markets rose a cent.

The speculative markets are stronger. At New York there is a better feeling, with securities of all kinds higher. The Grangers are becoming favorites.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Receipts of grain are a little more liberal, and prices rule steady. About 400 bushels of wheat sold at 62c for white, at 61c for red and at 58c for goose. Barley dull, 400 bushels selling 43c to 45c. Oats active, 1,200 bushels selling at 40c to 41½. One load of black eyed peas sold at 62c.

At New York St. Paul's statement for January is believed to foreshadow 1 per cent. dividend in March. Those who are bullish on Distillers believe that the upshot will be an increase in tax of 20 to 35 cents gallon. Gladwin bought 1,000 and Kirner 1,500 shares of St. Paul. The strength of the Grangers is due to covering. The loan market indicates the return of B.O., W.U. and Distillers.

What is Eczema?

It is an agony of agonies.

A torture of tortures.

It is an itching and burning of the skin almost beyond endurance.

It is thousands of pin-headed vesicles filled with an acrid fluid, ever forming, ever bursting, ever flowing upon the raw excoriated skin.

It tortures, disfigures and humiliates more than all other skin diseases combined.

Tender babies are among its most numerous victims.

They are often born with it.

Sleep and rest are out of the question.

Most remedies and the best physicians generally fail, even to relieve.

If CUTICURA did no more than cure Eczema, it would be entitled to the gratitude of mankind.

It not only cures but

A single application is often sufficient to afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure.

CUTICURA works wonders because it is the most wonderful skin cure of modern times.

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY believing that the persistent use of it will cure Dyspepsia.

Bronchitis Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—Having suffered for months from bronchitis, I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the trouble and feel that I am cured.

C. C. WRIGHT, Toronto Junction, Ont.

Nothing so evidently proves esteem as imitation.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which, cause difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety trouble and expense let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

Very near admiration is the wish to admire.

James Cullen, Bethany, Ont, writes:—"I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction in this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success has been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady especially) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

THAT TRADE POLICY.

It is not so long since the last Dominion election that the policy promulgated by the Reform party should be forgotten; and certainly the country must be congratulated upon the fact that the people declared at the polls that they did not believe the policy of unrestricted reciprocity or commercial union, was in the interest of Canada. In fact the leaders of the Liberal party, by their silence on the subject, now give evidence that their policy was a failure. Yet that party, led by Mr. Laurier are not without at least some subterfuge to attempt to gull the public into the belief that their party's success would lead to prosperity. The same plan was adopted in the United States by the Democratic party, who took advantage of the low price of cereals to revolutionize the trade policy of the country, when farmers by hundreds of thousands were hoodwinked into voting against the McKinley tariff, which was framed in their interest.

We at present see demagogues here of the same stamp, flinging stones at every manufacturer who has made a success of his business; and even Mr. O'Brien, M.P. for Muskoka, who was one of the supporters of a policy that made success possible, is reported as belittling Mr. Massey, who is so nobly distributing what he has made by his industry, while not a word is said of those manufacturers who have fallen by the wayside—not a mite of praise given to the manufacturer who has done so much for the farming community in reducing the price of agricultural machinery, which was only possible by accumulated capital. Yet the Liberal press does sometimes mention in gloating terms the downfall of a manufacturing industry—as for instance the Daily Ontario refreshed its readers with the following:

"Another Candian industry, the Wilkinson Plow company, of Toronto, has gone to the wall. This industry flourished under a revenue tariff, but under protection has failed. So have a dozen others during the past few months. The protective system not only robs the consumer, but seems to be losing power to benefit even the few supposed beneficiaries."

What a glorification in the fall, and what a reflection that under a revenue tariff it flourished. The fact is the factory in question has only been in operation some eight years, starting with a capital of some $100,000, which has been swallowed up in competition. Yet this is a sample of argument used by the Liberal press to attempt to ride into power on the manufacturers' ruin.

It is the policy pursued by the Democratic party in the States, the fruits of which have been disaster to the manufacturing interests and consequently unprecedented hardships to the farming community, to whom a home market is as great a necessity as the product of the farm is to the consumer.

AFTER TWO YEAR'S SUFFERING.

A Young Lady is Restored to Perfect Health—Speaks for the Benefit of Others Afflicted.

Miss Jessie McGregor, daughter of Mr. James McGregor, of Big Island, Pictou, N.S., says the New Glasgow Chronicle, relates an experience which should go far towards giving hope to other sufferers. Miss McGregor took sick in 1890 and for a considerable time was attended by the family physician, but with no improvement. Another doctor was then called in, but no better results attended his ministrations, and a third was sent for but still no improvement. Indeed she was rather growing steadily worse. She seemed to be in a condition of decline. Then a large gathering commenced on her neck which was opened and discharged considerable matter but did not heal. This with the suffering she had undergone for over a year and a half brought her to the very brink of the grave. At this juncture her brother insisted on her giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and sent for a supply. Although well nigh disheartened Miss McGregor began the use of the Pink Pills, and soon found that they were helping her, and joyfully continued using them for some time longer, until she found herself as well as she had ever been in her life. She says she feels very thankful that after two years of suffering, during which she had almost despaired of recovery, she again finds herself enjoying the blessing of perfect health.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a wonderful efficacy in building up the system, when shattered by a depraved condition of the blood or impaired nervous forces, and there is no case of this kind they will not cure if given a fair trial. Ask for this great blood builder and nerve restorer, and positively refuse all imitations and substitutes said to be "just as good," or "just the same." These substitutes are only offered by a few unscrupulous dealers because of the larger profit they give them. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had from dealers, or by mail post-paid, on receipt of 50 cents a box, or $2.50 for six boxes, by addressing the Company at Brockville, Ont, or Schenectady, N. Y.

Montreal Markets.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—FLOUR—Receipts, 1,100 bbls.; market quite and unchanged. Quotations: Patent winter, $3.40 to $3.60; patent spring, $3.50 to $3 70; straight roller, $3 to $3.10; ex'ra, $2 65 to $2 75; superfine, $2.45 to $2.65; strong bakers' $3.40 to $3.50; Ontario bags, $1.30 to $1.50. Grain: wheat, No. 2 Manitoba hard, 70 to 72c; corn, 53 to 55c; peas, 66 to 67c; oats, 40 to 41c; barley, 50 to 55c; rye, 50 to 53; oatmeal, $2 to $2.10; cornmeal, $1.20 to $1.30. Provisions: pork, $16 to $16 50; lard, 8 to 10c; bacon, 11 to 12c; hams, 12 to 13c; cheese, 10½ to 11½c; butter, townships, 21c; western, 18 to 20c; eggs, 10 to 12c.

LIVE STOCK.

There were 350 head of butchers' cattle, 30 calves and 50 sheep offered at the East end abattoir to-day. A few of the best animals sold at about 4½c per lb., with pretty good stock at from 3½c to nearly 4c per lb; rough half-fatted steers and common dry cows sold at about 3c and the leaner animals at about 2½c per lb. There is an active demand and high prices paid for calves; a mixed lot of eight calves were sold at $6 each; prices ranged to-day from $2.50 to $9 each. Fat hogs are selling at from 5c to nearly 5½c per lb.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Pictures.

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why does a woman look old sooner than a man") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

An obedience to the simple laws of hygiene and the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will enable the most delicate man or sickly woman to pass in ease and safety from the icy atmosphere of February to the warm, moist days of April. It is the best of spring medicines.

The Greatest Yet

One of the greatest discoveries ever made in the medical line for the cure of scalp diseases and dandruff, is now getting introduced into this country, and placed on sale by the drug trade. There is nothing more nasty than a scurvy scalp, and nothing more disagreeable than to see dandruff falling down on gents' coats or ladies' black dresses. Many remedies have been offered from time to time to stop this evil, but without effect. A specialist—one of the world's greatest scientists and specialists in scalp diseases—of Vienna, Austria, has been successful in discovering Dandruffine, which is now on sale everywhere. DANDRUFFINE WORKS QUICK AND SURE, and is at the same time most desirable to have. Ask your druggist for it, and when you get it tell your friends, that all may know how successful it works.

THEIR FREEDOM SECURED.

Messrs. McGreevy and Connolly Will Be Set at Liberty.

THE MINISTER OF JUSTICE'S REPORT

Recommends That the Two Men Be Released—Colorado Capitalists Will Operate the Gold Mines Near Buckingham—Report of Prof. Fletcher, of the Experimental Farm—Manitoba School Case.

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—Lord Aberdeen returned to the city yesterday from Montreal. A special message in the afternoon was despatched from the State Department to Government House with the report of Sir John Thompson in the McGreevy-Connolly case, recommending their release. His Excellency had not returned the document when the State Department closed. The two men, it is expected, will be liberated to-day.

All that is necessary to make them free men is the signature of Lord Aberdeen to the report of the Minister of Justice. Beyond saying that the matter is on the way of being finally disposed of the Ministers of the Crown refuse to communicate anything further about the matter. However, the position of the case is as stated, no matter what the result may be. While it is not thought that his Excellency will refuse to sign the report, still it is one which he is likely to consider well before doing so.

Manitoba School Case.

Dr. Cassells, Q.C., registrar of Supreme Court, has forwarded copies of the judges' decisions in the Manitoba school case to Mr. Ewart, Q.C., who is now in London, Eng. Mr. Cassells also made his report to the Department of Justice, forwarding the answer of the judges to the questions submitted by the Government.

The Experimental Farm.

The report of Prof. James Fletcher, entomologist and botanist of the Experimental Farm, has been published. It is a very valuable and interesting document comprising some forty pages. In the division of entomology Mr. Fletcher deals with the horn fly, fruit insects and the insect exhibit at Chicago. In the division of botany, he discusses the experiments made with grasses and woods. During the year Mr. Fletcher delivered nine addresses at agricultural meetings.

Gold Mine Syndicate.

It is reported that a syndicate of Colorado capitalists are about to take over and operate the gold mines in the vicinity of Buckingham, which showed good assays a few years ago. It is their intention to build crushing and smelting works on the property. This, if it is carried out, will be a great boon to the district, as phosphate mining is dull at present. These properties are conveniently situated on the bank of the River du Lievre, and near the Canadian Pacific railway. Their development should also be the means of inducing foreign capital to come in and develop the beds of graphite, mica, phosphate, hematite and magnetic iron ore, of which there is large quantities lying undisturbed.

MR. WIMAN'S CASE.

He is Entitled to Six Canadian Jurors—Trial Probably in April.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—When Erastus Wiman comes to trial it is probable that as he is a Canadian his counsel will take advantage of the treaty of 1812 between the United States and Canada, by which Wiman may have six of his own countrymen on the jury, the others being residents of this country.

Mr. Wiman spends the greater part of his time at the bedside of his son, Wm. Dwight Wiman, whose death from pneumonia is looked for at almost any moment.

Gen. Tracy promises that some startling facts will come to light when Mr. Wiman is placed on trial for the alleged forgeries. It is generally believed that the revelations are in the nature of facts implicating some prominent men, who have been intimately connected with Mr. Wiman in his business and public life. Gen. Tracy still stoutly maintains that his client is innocent, and says he has no fear as to the outcome.

It has not yet been decided in the District Attorney's office at what time the case will come to trial, but it will probably be at some time during the April term.

Nurden Remanded.

HAMILTON, Feb. 28.—Express Messenger John H. Nurden, who was arrested on Monday evening on the charge of having stolen two money packages containing $1,500 on January 26th, has been remanded a week, bail being accepted for $3,000. The Guarantee Company are the real prosecutors. The missing money packages were consigned to parties in Alliston and Nurden acknowledges having received them from the express clerk in the Hamilton office, but when he arrived at Beeton the packages were missing. Seven or eight railroad men were in the same car as the express messenger.

Drowning Near Port Stanley.

PORT STANLEY, Ont., Feb. 28.—On Monday evening James Morgan, aged 17, son of James Morgan of the Lake road, four miles west of this place, went skating on the lake near his father's farm. The young man failed to come home at night and yesterday morning his hat was found floating in a large hole in the ice. Grappling irons were procured and the body was found in about ten feet of water. No person was with him, and it is supposed he did not discover the hole till he was so close to it that he could not stop.

Victoria Woodhull-Martin's Case.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The trial of the case of Mrs. John Biddulph Martin (Victoria Woodhull) against the trustees of the British Museum, the plaintiff charging the trustees with exposing upon the shelves of their library books containing statements libelling her character, was concluded yesterday. The jury brought in a verdict awarding Mrs Martin £1 damages, but the court reserved judgment pending argument by counsel upon points arising from the jury's answer.

Railways Snowed Up.

MONCTON, N.B., Feb. 28.—All small branch railways in this section of the province are now blocked by snow, some of them with disabled rolling stock. The tracks are now shut in on both sides by snow banks ten to fifteen feet high, and as the rails are badly iced it is unlikely it will open until spring. The expense of keeping the Intercolonial clear in February is estimated at $5,000 a day.

Dishonest Clerk Asconds.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.—J. A. Beldue, a clerk employed in the wholesale house of Riddle & Co., is said to have skipped last night with $1,500 of the firm's money. He is believed to have gone to the States and the authorities have been notified.

Threw Himself from a Window.

PARIS, Feb. 28.—A convict named Lesteven committed suicide in the Grande Roquette prison yesterday by throwing himself from a window. He was a notorious erotomaniac, and had been condemned to death for murdering a prostitute by throwing her out of a window.

The Kaiser Interested in Bi-metallism.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—A despatch from Berlin says Emperor William is giving a great deal of attention to the subject of bi-metallism, and is bringing all his influence to bear to prevent a further decline in the price of silver.

Cholera in Germany.

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—A despatch from Wandsbeck, three miles from Hamburg, says that two cases of supposed cholera have been found in the Poolstrasse in that town and that the patients have been removed to the hospital.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Two Men Drowned While Crossing the St. Lawrence River.

PRESCOTT, Feb. 28.—Two men were drowned while crossing the St. Lawrence river on Monday night on the ice. The men left the Grand Trunk depot at Prescott in a single sleigh for Ogdensburg. They were Sam Lavier and Frank Clark, of Ogdensburg, and Henry P. Berg, a commercial traveller in the employ of the American Clock Company of Montreal. Berg and Clark were both drowned; Lavier was saved. The bodies of the two young men, together with the horse and sleigh, are at the bottom of the river in about forty feet of water.

The sad accident occurred by the parties leaving the usual travelled road and driving into an air hole or open space of water. Mr. Berg arrived at Daniel's hotel on Monday from Montreal and was attending to his duties about town during the afternoon. He was about 25 years of age and hails from New York. He was a bright, kind and genial young man and quite a favorite with all who knew him.

Shot His Assailants.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—D. Chamberlain, formerly a Torontonian, who lives in this city, while on his way homeward on Monday night was attacked by three footpads, who demanded his money. When refused they all piled on to him. In the fight that followed he shot one of his assailants dead and badly wounded the other two. Chamberlain is himself so badly wounded that his recovery is doubtful.

Lynched a Thirteen-Year-Old.

SHERMAN, Ala., Feb. 28.—Thos. Douglas, the 13-year-old colored boy who on Monday shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Cowlett, who attempted to levy upon a cow which belonged to Douglas' mother, was hanged by a mob and his body riddled with bullets.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

POSITIVELY LAST ANNOUNCEMENT

Of the OVERELL CLEARING SALE.

When we commenced the GREAT CLEARING SALE that has been going on for some days at J. C. Overell's Fancy Emporium, we fully intended to close the store promptly upon the last day of this month (upon which date our lease expires), and had decided if the entire stock had not been disposed of, to consign the balance to some one of the large Commission Houses in Toronto, to be auctioned for anything it would bring.

Everybody admits that there has never been such a bargain sale in Belleville (think for instance of a 40 cent bunch of wool for 5c), and thanks to the people they have come in crowds and bought generously, but little do they dream of the immense resources of the place, nor the magnitude of the stock. Considering the crowds that have thronged the store, it seems almost incredible when we tell you the half has not been sold.

Notwithstanding we have done everything to make this sale known, and our well pleased customers have done as much or more for us by spreading the good news, still there are a lot of people who have not investigated for themselves, and think it is all too good to be true.

Now it remains with you whether these goods go to Toronto next week or whether through your encouragement we are enabled to clear out the entire stock here.

We have made arrangements with our landlord to continue for a few days' longer, but we are tired and sick of so much work and worry, and no money in it, besides we have other business to attend to, and we do not want to continue the sale one hour, nor one minute longer than we are forced to. We will be thankful if you will permit us to put the key in the door for the last time Saturday night next.

Although we have been earnestly requested by many who have not had much money at their disposal during the sale to continue it longer, so as to give them an opportunity, nevertheless we will positively close the store at once if there is no prospect of a speedy clearing out of the goods.

Store open till 9 p.m. for the balance of the week.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten years' Suffering from Kidney disease—Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim from the Grave.

BROCKVILLE, Feb'y 26.—Any one who asserted a year ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure, would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, that was so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, near here, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years, and Bright's disease had developed, when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

TEETH

Extracted Absolutely Without Pain.

No charge for first tooth for each person.

O. W. KENNEDY, L.D.S., of Toronto, will be pleased to demonstrate in the office of J. A. MARSHALL, Surgeon Dentist, of Belleville, the efficacy of his Local Anaesthetic "ANTAKINE" for the painless extraction of teeth.

This preparation does not produce unconsciousness, but when simply applied to the Gum renders the tissues around the teeth numb, and even the most difficult teeth may be extracted without any pain. ANTAKINE is absolutely harmless, containing no dangerous drug or causing any bad after-affects whatever.

This presents an unprecedented opportunity to have Teeth Extracted skilfully and painlessly without the danger and discomfort of inhaling gas, ether, or anything of that kind.

Dr. Kennedy will be in Dr. Marshall's office, the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of March.

Positively no pain or no charge.

Remember "The Temple of Fame," one of the most attractive entertainments ever given in the city, will be produced in the Queen's opera house on Thursday evening, March 8th. Over 50 persons will take part. This entertainment wherever given has attracted large crowds. Hundreds were unable to gain admission on the second night in Picton. Remember the date.

PAIN-KILLER.—The testimony borne to the efficacy of this valuable medicine are sufficient to warrant its introduction into every house. Our own opinion is that no family should be without a bottle of it for single hour. In flesh wounds, aches, pains, sores, &c., it is the most effectual remedy we know of. A 25c. bottle will last for a long time, and its low price places it within the reach of all.—News, St. Johns, Que.

The Philharmonic Society.

Another treat is in store for the music-loving citizens of Belleville. Two concerts—one secular and one sacred—are being arranged for by the Philharmonic Society and the work is moving on well indeed. The programme for the first concert will consist of McFarren's captivating "May Day," a few selected operatic choruses and secular songs. On the second evening will be given Gaul's "Holy City," one of the most beautiful sacred compositions. In this work is found every variety of chorus, the tender and pathetic and the spirited and heroic. The orchestra parts, which are now in the hands of the different members of the orchestra, are in every way equal to the voice parts. It is the intention of the Philharmonic Society to make these two the finest concerts ever given in Belleville. The secretary is corresponding with soloists in Toronto and Montreal who, with our own artists, our choruses and orchestra, ought to be able to give first-class musical performances. The conductor is anxious that every member of the chorus shall be in his or her place during the March and April rehearsals.

THE HOG WEIGHING CASE.

Mr. Kerby Convicted of Using an Unjust Scale, but no Improper Motive Shown.

In the police court this morning Mr. J. J. B. Flint, P. M., read a written judgment in the case of the Queen vs. Kerby. We regret that space restricts us to presenting a summary of the very able review of the case given by the Magistrate.

Defendant is a public weigher in Stirling, owns the scale and holds himself out to the world as a person who will weigh anything brought to him for a certain sum fixed by by-law of municipality. It is charged that on the 12th day of Feb. instant deft. had in his possession scales that were unjust.

His Worship concluded as follows, after considering the arguments of counsel, the law on the subject and the evidence:

Mr. Kerby, Mr. Seeley's, and Messrs. Lloyds' evidence prove the scales were wrong; clearly they were wrong when Lloyd's load was weighed. If wrong, what necessity of enquiring further; a conviction must follow. I wish to say no charge of fraud was laid against Mr. Kerby. The witnesses all swore that he made every effort to discover what was wrong. I think he should have raised the platform and examined the bearings. Taking the evidence of the gravel stone causing the scale to be unjust in the first place one must conclude that the water which was thrown on afterward froze on the bearings. It is not a question of intent to do wrong, it is simply the fact that the scales were erring, although Kerby might have nothing to do with making them wrong. No motive whatever was shown which could be assigned as a reason for Kerby making the scale unjust. The case is this: a man using a scale for dealing with the public must see that at all times his scale is accurate and just. If it becomes unjust he must make it just or not use it. The statute is severe, but parties have the power of exercising caution to prevent injury to themselves or others. I fine deft. $10 and $15.55 costs of suit.

FANCY DRESS CARNIVAL.

A Happy Throng of Gay Masqueraders at the Rink.

The second fancy dress carnival of the season on the skating rink took place last evening and was a most successful affair. The costumes were bright and carefully chosen and in many cases original. The masquers disported themselves from 8 to 9 o'clock, when they lined up before the judges, Messrs. M. J. Sage, T. P. J. Power and A. Vandervoort. These gentlemen had a difficult task to perform and their decisions were universally endorsed by the spectators. Following is the result of the judging:

Best costume (gentleman) Harry Hanwell, as "Corporal of Zouaves of 18th regt."

Most original costume (gentleman) Alf. Holton, as "Hobby Horse."

After the judging, masks were removed and all joined in the merriment. The I.O.O.F. band played a number of lively airs during the evening.

THE McGUINNESS INDUSTRY.

What the Promoter Asks the City Council to do for Him,

Mr. Robt. McGuinness has, as many of our citizens are aware, been engaged in the purchase and curing of pork in the city for a year past, in the shop at the corner Pinnacle and McAnnany Sts., but his business, he says, has outgrown his present premises and he now asks the city to rent him the old market building, which will require to be remodelled to suit him.

He wants the upper portion or ground floor fitted up with refrigerators and plate-glass windows put in and the front part remodelled into a retail shop, with counters, etc. The cellar will have to be cleaned out and a drain cut to the river for proper sewerage. He proposes to use the cellar for packing and curing.

Ald. Collins stated in Council on Monday that the cost of the proposed improvements would be something less than $600, as he had two estimates and they both came within that figure.

Mr. McGuinness to day made an offer of $250 per year for a term of five years for the building. The offer is now in the hands of the Market and City Property Committee, who will consider it and report to the Council.

SPORTING NEWS

The Quintes and Mutes play a practice game of hockey on Friday evening.

To-morrow afternoon the Athletic hockey team, of Kingston, will try conclusions with the Y.M.C.A. team of this city.

A Warning.

Farmers should be warned against using applications as washes for cattle without knowing the possible consequences. As an instance Mr. John Cooley, of the 3rd Con. of Thurlow, made a mixture of 2½ ounces of quicksilver to one pound of lard, which he rubbed on several cows and other animals. As a result three of the cows are already dead. Had he not run short and rubbed on smaller quantities before he got through he would not have a four-footed animal living.

Their Net Incomes.

The net incomes of the Registrars of Deeds in this and the adjoining counties for 1893 were as follows: Hastings, H. W. Day, $2381.09; Lennox and Addington, S. Gibson, $1150.15; Northumberland East, E. A. Mallory, $969.36; Northumberland West, F. W. Field, $787.80; Peterborough, B. Morrow, $2506.69; Prince Edward, W. Mackenzie, $819.05.

They Sell Fast.

Those 50ct. shirts the Oak Hall are advertising are selling very fast, notwithstanding the fact that it is very early for them. A nice cambric shirt, with starched collar and cuffs, good assortment of nice, neat colors for 50 cts., is a snap you do not get every day. This shirt would be considered cheap for 75 cts. All sizes from 14 to 17.

At Home.

Mrs. W. H. Gordon's class, of the Tabernacle Sunday school, gave an "at home" last evening in the school rooms. About seventy-five were invited. There was an excellent programme rendered, after which refreshments were served. There are over twenty young men in this class, of whom she may be justly proud.

The Late Prof. Greene.

MY DEAR SIR,—The hearts of those who loved Professor Greene are still sore from mourning over his "untimely taking off." His friends will be pleased to know how highly he was appreciated by Lord and Lady Dufferin. I quote from Lady Dufferin's Canadian Journal, which I have recently read:

"Then out to a great institution for the deaf and dumb. The building is on a fine site, and is most airy and cheerful. The pupils were collected in a large room, and on the wall in green letters was written, 'Accept our silent welcome.' A deaf and dumb teacher next came forward to show us the sign language, and in pantomime told us a story. It was a wonderful piece of acting. He afterwards (in the same way) told the story of Christ stilling the storm; and I don't think that the reading of the passage could be more impressive than the way in which he conveyed the narrative to us by signs. I thought when he began, that coming after the comic story it might seem irreverent, but it had a most solemn and reverential effect." I am, yours,

JOHN J. B. FLINT.

TUFTSVILLE, Feb. 27, 1894.

DEAR SIR,—I notice a letter in your issue of the 23rd in which a correspondent gave your readers a very interesting account of the experience which he had while on a visit to one of our county legislators and found a quarter of beef there—not at all an uncommon thing to find in this part of the county. A storm came on but they fared sumptuously and let her blow, but the beef began to vanish and the visitors cut their sticks and vanished too. And now commenced their troubles. They got stuck and could go neither forward nor turn around and they began to whine; had to get out in the snow, "poor things." At the same time five young ladies—good luck to them—were seen walking along the road and I dare say they didn't feel half as bad as the gentry from Belleville. From the visitor's own words it could not have been so very bad, for he says "I remained in the sleigh and enjoyed it tremendously." No doubt they got home all right, for they rush into print and enlist your powerful pen in what they call the interest of the county in advocating the building of wire fences where the drifts are bad. Now, Mr. Editor, in my humble opinion I think our gravel roads cost too much as it is and we will always have our drifts anyway, more or less. If your correspondent was to visit that part of the road now where he got stuck he would find the best sleighing and I think if a wire fence had been there during the last snow storm the wind would have blown it off and left the road bare—something that the farmers dread more than a drift. For my part, I hope our County Council will take no notice of this appeal because two slippered nabobs from Belleville had to get into the snow. You say down with the drifts, I say down with the expenditure. I remain, Sir,

Yours faithfully,
S. TUFTS,
Lot 38, 9th Con. Sidney.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

DEAR SIR,—Our attention has been drawn to an article from your Adams correspondent in the last issue of your paper which speaks of a deer being killed at a recent date in the 2nd concession of this Township, and as it has an implied accusation against the Ameliasburg Rod and Gun Club, it will doubtless be in order for us to explain. The Ameliasburg Rod and Gun Club was organized a short time ago, having for one of its objects the protection of game by seeing that the Game and Fisheries Laws were enforced. As we have only recently been organized we are not as yet in full running order as regards committees to act; but on our hearing of the killing of this deer we called a special meeting and appointed a committee to investigate. They reported as follows: An animal was seen about noon on Wednesday, the 14th inst., near Centre Church, which was first taken for a fox by some parties who were accompanied by their dogs, which took the scent and gave chase, going westward. Other parties about a mile west heard the dogs and saw it was a deer. It has then being pursued by about eight dogs. They procured their guns and started after them. After going about three miles west they overtook them, the dogs having caught the deer and had devoured part of one of the hind quarters. They drove off the dogs and secured the dying deer. Now as this is not a deer district, dogs are allowed to run at large and as it would be impossible for a deer to live in this locality, there being no woods sufficiently large for their protection, we cannot see that these parties are much to blame, as the deer would only have been destroyed by the dogs if they had been let alone. We might state, however, that we have the parties' names and have communicated the result of the investigation to the game warden at Belleville. This, we trust, will be a sufficient answer to your correspondent. We would be obliged if you will give this letter space in the next issue of your valuable paper. Yours sincerely

H. W. WEESE, Pres.
W. H. STAFFORD,
Ameliasburg Rod and Gun Club.

Local Legal.

Neilson v Trusts Corporation of Ontario—At Toronto yesterday W. B. Northrup (Belleville) for the plaintiff. Hoyles, Q. C. and N. F. Davidson for the defendants. Argument of special case submitted for the purpose of determining the disposition of a fund of $1,000 arising from a certificate issued by the Ancient Order of Foresters upon the life of T. H. Dumble's daughter, Madeline R. Dumble, who is represented by the plaintiff in this action. In February 1888, Mr. Dumble endorsed the certificate changing the destination of the fund, and making it payable to his second wife; and in November, 1890, his wife having died, he again endorsed the policy, directing payment to his executors, administrators and assigns. The plaintiff contended that these endorsements of the policy were inoperative, and that the fund was payable under the original frame of the certificate to Madeline R. The plaintiff relied on Mingeaud v Packer, 21 O. R. 267. 19 A. R. 290, and re Cameron, 21 O. R. 634. The defendants, who are the executors, and the only child of Mr. Dumble, contended that the endorsement in favor of the executors, etc., was valid, and should prevail. Judgment reserved.

Fox.—The Misses Demill, of Wooler, are visiting relatives in this place.—The young people had a surprise party and taffy pull at the residence of Mr. H. Butler, on Thursday night.—Mrs. G. W. Baker was at Deseronto on Monday.—C. Baker and family were visiting at Wm. Baker's on Sunday.

REMINGTON.

Feb. 25.—There is a good deal of sickness here at present; Dr. Dafoe is kept very busy.—Mrs. Jno. McCoy is getting better of her illness, and it is thought she will get well again.—Mrs. Jas. Irwin and Mrs. Doughty are so ill that it is doubtful if they recover.—Special meetings are still going on here, and the best of all is that sinners are being converted in goodly numbers; Rev. R. Mallet is still holding the meetings, assisted by Mr. Deran and others.

DESERONTO.

DESERONTO, Feb. 27th.

Mr. W. J. Malley leaves to-morrow morning for Toronto on business.—Mr. R. H. Baker is bringing to town large quantities of hardwood.—There is great dissatisfaction expressed here on account of the late arrival of the mail from the west.—Mr. John Freeman, grocer, has removed to his new store on Edmund St.—Last week Irvine Sterling had two fingers of his left hand cut off by a circular saw at the sash factory.—Loyal Hastings Lodge Canadian order of Oddfellows hold an at home in their lodge room to-night to which a large number of persons in town and at a distance have been invited.—There was a large market this morning.

MAYNOOTH

Mrs. Carswell is still quite low—Mr. McConnell, who has had a severe attack of quinsy, is recovering.—Mrs. Murdock is also convalescent. The remains of Mrs. O. Carr were interred here on 15th inst. Owing to the minister being ill the burial ceremony was read by Mr. Creighton.—Shantymen complain of low wages and deep snow, and a large number have already left the shanties. It is plainly seen that shantying is fast becoming a thing of the past, and in view of this the people are making an effort to have a cheese factory erected on the joint stock principle. This is the next best thing to getting a railroad and it is hoped their efforts may be crowned with success.

FOXBORO.

Mr. Geo. and Misses Maud and May Megginson, of Stirling, spent Sunday at Mr. Austin Hubble's.—Mrs. Melzer Wickett is spending a few days at her father's, Mr. A. Cummins, of Rawdon.—Miss Liza Palmer and Mr. George Vaaallen were united in marriage on Tuesday last; we wish them much happiness in their future life.—The funeral of Mrs. H. Cummins was held in South church on Sunday, 25th inst., the sermon was preached by Rev. S. Sing.

COOPER.

Mrs. Robt. Rollins and Mrs. Jas Wright, of Madoc village, were the guests of their brother, Mr. Wm. Galway, last Sunday.—Mr. Alex. Harvey, insurance agent, of Ivanhoe, was through the neighborhood last week.—Rev. Mr. McDonald, from Queensboro, called at the store on Saturday last.—The members of the Orange Order gave an excellent concert last week in their hall at Eldorado. Miss Annie M. Allen, of this place, had charge of the musical part of the programme, and as usual gave them a great treat.—Mr. Robt Allen, of the O. B. College, was home on Saturday. He looks as if the city was good for h'm.—There is a great deal of sickness and colds in this vicinity. Nearly every family has an invalid corner.—John B. Thompson is seriously ill.—Mr. Wm. Agar cut his foot while working in D. S. Bird's shanty. He is not able to leave the house.—Sam Rollins is hauling logs to the mill this week.

PLAINFIELD.

PLAINFIELD, Feb. 26.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Napanee, occupied the Methodist pulpit on Sunday evening. Mr. Lewis is gradually improving. — A load of friends from Carmel spent a pleasant evening with Mr. and Mrs. Nobes on Thursday night last.—Inspector Johnston visited our school this week and reported to the trustees that our school was in the most perfect state that it had been for many years. He also spoke highly of the ability of Mr. Nobes and Miss Hunter as teachers.—Messrs. Brintnell & Shepherd have sold out their saw mill to Mr. Laton, of Tweed. We welcome Mr. Laton to our village, as he has several hundred acres of timber land north and will keep shingles and lumber of all kinds on hand to supply the local demand, which will be a great benefit to the people in this vicinity.—Mr. Hinds has the contract for building the Plainfield cheese factory.

ALBURY.

Tuesday evening was the time of a very pleasant event. About forty of our bay shore young people, with well filled baskets, visited the home of Mr. Wm. Ellison, where they are sure of a welcome from the kind-hearted host and hostess. About midnight a sumptuous lunch was served by the young ladies, after which the pleasure seekers resumed dancing and tripped the light fantastic until the "wee sma hours," when they departed, all having had a delightful evening.—Mr. and Miss Russell and Miss Webb, of Rawdon, have been guests the past week at Mr. L. Russell's and Mr. Wm. L. Peters'.—We regret the loss by death of Mrs. D. Rose, of Redner ville, and sympathize deeply with Mr. Rose in his great affliction. He buried his father just one week previous to the death of his wife.—There is a great deal of sickness about our vicinity. La grippe is s ill on the way.—The Nigger Island lighthouse, now being constructed, will soon be completed.—Revival services will be held next week in our church by Rev. Mr. Duprau.—Some of our young people took in "East Lynne" last Wednesday night.—Our moonlight nights will soon be over, and with them "good times."—Crows have been seen about here this week. Who says we will have an early spring?—Ice in the bay is in fine condition now for ice boating. The boys are taking the benefit of it.

HALLOWAY.

HALLOWAY, Feb. 27th.

It is to be hoped that after the remodelling of the grist mill farmers patronizing the same will return home feeling a consolation in knowing that their grain has not been split but cracked. It certainly does look more like business than child's play.—Miss Bela Rose, who has been confined to her room from an attack of la grippe, is able to again attend to her duties in the post office.

TUFTSVILLE.

TUFTSVILLE, Feb 27.

Three new bridges are in course of construction on the Madoc branch. They will be of the "Howe truss" pattern. Geo. Mitchell says they will be built to stay.—Tobias Stapley has returned from Alberta. He has travelled extensively in the States and the N. W. T. and says he will anchor in Ontario after all.—Hiram Ashley and George are home again after an absence of three months.—Arthur Tufts, of the O. B. C., has been home for a few days. He returned to his studies on Monday.—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cook, of Corbyville, have been visiting at John Juby's.—Matthew Tummon and family, of Ivanhoe, have been the guests of Mr. T. Pickett.—Several of our people attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Cummings, of Foxboro, last Sunday.—D. Stapley and A. Danford represented the P. I.'s of this neighborhood at the Sidney town hall on Friday last.

MILLBRIDGE.

A very successful tea meeting in connection with the Methodist church on the Eldorado circuit, was held in the town hall in this village on Friday, the 23rd inst. Notwithstanding the extreme cold the hall was full. Rev. Mr. McDonald, of Queensboro, took charge of the programme, which was taken part in by Mr. and Miss Allen, Mrs. R. Hannah and Mrs. O'Hara, of Madoc, besides local talent. Rev. Mr. Childerhose was also there and gave a very appropriate address on, "How we should govern ourselves in life." The proceeds of the entertainment exceeded $40 over all expenses, the object of which is to assist in finishing a new church in the village, which, when finished, will be quite a credit to the place. It is a frame 24x36, to be veneered with brick. There is great credit due to those who have this enterprise in hand for succeeding so well. The church is inclosed, windows and doors and floor in, and the pews and pulpit ready to be placed in. There is no debt on it, and there is nearly $60 on hand. The Methodists have the sympathy of the entire public in this matter in consequence of the fact that for nearly two years this section has been entirely destitute of religious services of any kind. It is to be hoped that the proper authorities of the church will, in the near future, see to it that both this village as well as other neighborhoods in these parts be again supplied with religious services, which have been left destitute as sheep without a shepherd for a long time.

MILLBRIDGE, Feb. 26.

GILEAD.

GILEAD, Feb. 26th

A highly successful entertainment, under the name of a prize social, was given on Friday evening, the 23rd inst., by the Ladies' Aid Society of our Methodist church. Rev. E. Farnsworth filled the chair in his usual happy manner. After justice had been done to the lunch sacks, a good programme of music, speeches, etc., was given by the young people of the church. The prizes were distributed then and the people went home after having voted the entertainment a complete success. The proceeds amounted to $30,50.—An open meeting of the Patrons of Industry, called with a view to re-organizing the lodge here, was held on Wednesday evening, the 21st. Addresses were delivered by Mr. J. Balcanquel, the Patron candidate for the Dominion House, Mr. S. Fargey, of Roslin, and several others. At the close of the meeting a number expressed themselves as willing to start the lodge again, but as yet no definite action has been taken.—Bradden Bros. are nearly done drawing gravel for the county roads.—Through the efforts of the Ladies' Aid Society and by voluntary subscription, the debt of the Methodist church has been paid off.—Miss Roxena Ross, of Tyendinaga, spent last week with friends in this neighborhood.—Mr. P. McLaren and sister, of Melrose, spent a few days visiting in this vicinity.—Miss Emma Huffman has returned home from staying a few weeks at her uncle's, Mr. S. Walker, of Corbyville.—Mrs. J. Homan is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. P. Ross.—Mr. R. A. Morton, our former school master, paid us a visit last Saturday and Sunday.—Messrs. Brintnell and Hurley, assessors, went through here last Wednesday.

MRS. ROGERS.

Stamps, La Fayette Co., Ark.
DR. R. V. PIERCE:
Dear Sir—I will say this to you, that Consumption is hereditary in my wife's family; some have already died with the disease. My wife has a sister, Mrs. E. A. Cleary, that was taken with consumption. She used your "Golden Medical Discovery," and, to the surprise of her many friends, she got well. My wife has also had hemorrhages from the lungs, and her sister insisted on her using the "Golden Medical Discovery." I consented to her using it, and it relieved her. She has had no symptoms of consumption for the past six years. People having this disease can take no better remedy.
Yours very truly,

KING DAVID'S FRIEND.

BY

WALTER BESANT.

CHAPTER II.

He stepped out again upon the veranda. The sea breeze had sprung up; the air was refreshing; he drew a long breath and looked out into the darkness. His memory went back some seventeen years. A morning came back to him; he saw what happened, not as he saw it, nor from the outside, here as the audience. The actors were two spectres of the past—young men both. The face of one was radiant, his eyes and cheeks flushed, his lips trembling. The other was also flushed but his eyes were dropped, his head hung, his voice faltered.

'Jack,' he murmured, 'I cannot let you do it. No friend can expect such a thing of another.'

'Why,' said Jack—Longdon's name, in fact, was Jack, but it was fifteen years since he had been called by his Christian name, and he had almost forgotten it—'why, man, what's the good of being friends if we can't stand by each other? Look here—it's a devil of a mess.'

'It is indeed. To me it is ruin—everything—everything is lost, including Eva. Good God! Who is to tell her?'

'Well, Harry, sooner than Eva should suffer—sooner than you should suffer—I would suffer myself. Now, look here; I've done this thing—you know—not you at all—not you at all.' He laid his hand upon his friend's

'No, no—I cannot. Think of the consequences.'

'There will be a bit of a shindy. I dare say it will blow over. My prig of an elder brother will groan and say he always knew; but you will be happy, old man, and—and so—what is the use of being friends, and sworn friends, too, if we are not to bear the burdens of each other?'

The other protested, but weakly and with tears and self accusations; it was too great a sacrifice. He had been a fool and wretch; he must take the consequences. Then Jack remarked that there was another person to consider, namely, a certain Eva. Above all things she was to be kept from the unhappiness which would fall upon her if she knew.

Then the other man gave way. But he made a condition; so much grace was left to him. He sat down and he wrote at headlong speed a certain little narrative. This he signed, dated, read through, folded, and gave it to his friend.

'Jack,' he said, 'I will accept your sacrifice on one condition. Here is a complete confession of the whole business. Take it. Do what you like with it. If you suffer from the consequences, reveal it; I am altogether in your hands. If at any time in the future you can advance yourself by means of that paper, use it. You have a right to use it.'

'He certainly said that,' mumured the audience. 'He said it—and I have the paper still—and he is governer and I am a junior in his audit office.'

Then he looked again and he saw a girl. She turned her eyes from one to the other in astonishment. A very beautiful girl she was. At the sight of her the audience caught his breath.

'Why,' she said 'what is the matter with you both?'

'Eva,' cried the man, whose burden was to be transferred, but said no more.

'Eva,' said Jack, 'I am sorry you have come at this moment. But you may as well hear the truth at once.'

'Truth? What truth?' She looked quickly, not at Jack, but at the other.

'The truth is,' said Jack, 'that a very disgraceful thing had been found out, and that one of us is going to say good-by—most likely forever.'

'What is it, Harry?' She caught him by the arm. 'Why do you look like this?'

'Because he is my friend, Eva. I have shamed him. It is I who have done this disgraceful thing. You had better go now, both of you,'

'Yes, he said that,' murmured the audience. 'And they went away and left the guilty man. And there was an end of everything!'

The guilty man folded the confession and placed it in his pocketbook. 'Well,' he said. 'I would have done more than that for Eva's sake, not to speak of Harry. I don't suppose she will ever know that I have ever done it or why. Now we must face the footlights.'

The scene disappeared and the black night returned. Longdon was on the veranda again looking out into the darkness; he heard the gentle lapping of the water on the coral reef and the knell of the bell buoy tolling out at sea beyond the harbor, and the filhaoc mourned and sighed in the fresh sea breeze.

'Yes,' said Longdon. 'He was eighteen, and he believed in friendship. What did the other man believe in?'

And he remembered how the thing which he had assumed was really a much more serious thing than he had believed, in fact, a thing which stains; a thing which will not wash off; a thing for which he was immediately sent home to his father who refused to receive him, for which in fact he was bundled off to a small clerkship in a distant colony, with no farewells except from his elder brother—the prig—who informed him that it was never too late to build up a new character on the ruins of one which had been destroyed.

'Then Jonathan died,' Longdon murmured, 'David wept and lamented. Suppose Jonathan had disappeared in disgrace only to be recovered when David was king over Israel?'

He went to his room and to his bed in the dark. But he slept little, and when he woke in the morning it was with an uneasy sense of having become King David, and of having found his old friend Jonathan adding up the accounts in the chief steward's chamber, and of being embarrassed by the discovery.

CHAPTER III

The monotony of life, praised so highly, was rudely broken by this strange event. The colony was so limited as to size, the officials so small in number, that the governor would certainly know something about everyone in the service. There was not the least doubt but what King David would discover Jonathan. Henry Overston Dunkeld, king, would discover his old friend John Lorimer Longdon among the scribes of the palace. What would the king say? Would he call for the purple robe and wrap it around that scribe, and send him forth upon a white horse richly caparisoned, with a trumpter proclaiming the honors done by order of the king? Or should Jonathan begin it? Should he bow himself down upon the ground, saying: "O king, live forever. I am Jonathan, friend of thy youth, and I am held down in low estate by reason of a thing.' How would that do?

Longdon pondered the subject long and doubtfully. What would happen? As for the confession, he had it still. The papers lay among other papers in the desk. There was a letter from his father casting him off; one from his brother preaching a sermon as to the condemned criminal.

AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE

JUVENILE LIFE AT THE RESIDENCE OF THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

Something About Recent Sports There, With a Running Sketch of the History of the Lives of the Children of Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

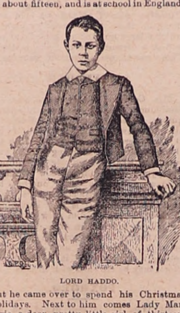
More than half the pleasure in life lies in anticipation. So when, some few weeks ago, pretty cards, bearing the crest and coronet of the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen, were sent out by the A.D.C. in waiting, inviting a hundred or more lucky boys and girls to a children's skating party, between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m., these lucky boys and girls were simply bubbling over with happiness. Little ones under eight were requested to stay at home. Poor little ones! how some of them cried, as if their wee hearts would break, because they were only seven. At a quarter to three on the eventful day, the electric cars, which run to the gates of Government House, were crowded with rosy-cheeked boys and girls, in blanket coats, and wild spirits which mamas and big sisters found it hard to curb. Of course, they all became more subdued when once within the grounds of Rideau Hall; and it was with a feeling of awe that they gave their names to the big orderly who guarded the door of the reception-room, and who called out in stentorian tones: "Master Johnny Jones," or "Miss Bessie Brown," as the case might be. But their nervousness quite vanished when they saw the kind face of her excellency Lady Aberdeen. She shook them warmly by the hand, and said some pleasant words of welcome to each. After I had seen my small charges safely on to the ice, I sat and watched the other children come in. It was very amusing, and also very pretty. The little boys held their caps, or toques, in their left hands, and bowed low; while the girls, who had been instructed beforehand by their mamas, made quaint little curtseys. And her excellency seemed so pleased to see them all. One little boy will never forget the pretty compliment she paid him. "What a lovely bow!" she said, as he bent low over her hand. "You are quite a little courtier."

Lord and Lady Aberdeen have four children. Lord Haddo, their eldest son, is about fifteen, and is at school in England; but he came over to spend his Christmas holidays. Next to him comes Lady Marjorie, a dear, pretty little girl of thirteen. You know she is the youngest editor in the world, and the paper she edits is called Wee Willie Winkie, after Rudyard Kipling's well-known child hero. The two little boys, the Honorable Dudley and the Honorable Archie Gordon, are dear little chaps, who act as train-bearers to their mams at big dinners or receptions. Lady Marjorie's outdoor costume is rather peculiar, but it is pleasing from its very quaintness. She wears a long bright-blue blanket cloak, with a cape edged with white fur, a large bonnet, or hood, of the same color, also edged with white fur, and she looks for all the world like a little blue Sister of Charity.



LORD HADDO.

There are two ponds at Rideau Hall; a big one near the house, fenced on one side by the curling-rink and reception-room, and on the other by the toboggan slide—a huge wooden structure rising high into the air. The smaller pond is much more picturesque, being among big trees, which shelter it from the wind. In the centre is a snow island, and at one side a pretty little log hut, designed by H. R. H. Princess Louise. This house is rented by Lady Marjorie and her small brothers from their father, and is called "Holiday Hut," in memory of their happy little "Holiday Cottage" at Haddo House, in Scotland. No doubt the rent is not very exorbitant, as I have heard the amount paid annually for Holiday Cottage was four ivy leaves. The hut is prettily, though not luxuriously, furnished, and a few favored friends are sometimes asked to tea. On such occasions Lady Marjorie boils the kettle and makes the tea, and washes the dishes afterward herself; for the tenants of Holiday Hut keep no servants. At the children's party, the little girls seemed to prefer this pond, while the boys took possession of the larger one. One rude boy found his way to the little tea-party in Holiday Hut, and—what will not boys say. He told Lady Marjorie that the cake was stale, and that she did not know how to make tea! But she has three brothers herself; so, perhaps she put it down to a boyish joke.

Although Lord Aberdeen was most careful about the children going down the toboggan slide, and had men stationed at the top to see that the toboggans were not over crowded, there were several accidents of the scratched-nose and blackened-eye order; nothing serious, however, and the household doctor was on the spot to administer sticking-plaster.

Lord Ava, who, though thirty years of age, is a regular boy, superintended the games and races. Small flags were stuck in the snow, at intervals round the rink. At a given signal the boys all started off, and he who got the largest number of flags was declared the winner and presented with a pretty silk flag. There was quite a joke about these flags. Lord Ava was told to buy them in town, and he bought American flags—Stars and Stripes—and after talking the matter over at Government House, they decided it would be unwise to use them. It might have led to international trouble. So pieces of white cotton were substituted, which made it all the harder for the boys, as the white cotton looked very like the snow. Then they had races, and the winner of each race was decorated with a blue ribbon. Some boys got three or four. The ponds never looked gayer or brighter than on that perfect winter's afternoon. The children all wore blanket coats of gay colors, and they skated so well! It was wonderful to see these small boys cutting 3's and and 8's and all the pretty figures that belong to
